Mrs. Ada L. Squires recently finished three days work at Coatsville. She gave an address Friday night, with music, and gave recital under auspices of the Union Saturday night. Sunday night she gave an address. She held two Women's Meetings, organized a "Y" of ten members and secured eleven members and one honorary for the Union; got the Sunday School Department work started, and interviewed the Principal of the school in regard to the Union introducing the Prize Essay contest work. The Superintendent is favorable to it, and they will start the contest work and L. T. L. very soon. All the new members are substantial, influential women.

The National Convention for 1900 has been asked for by the Indianapolis people and by the State W. C. T. U. Many invitations were extended, but the choice, we are assured, will be Indianapolis or Washington City. The following invitations were presented to the National Convention amidst much enthusiasm:

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Oct. 16, 1899.

My beloved State President—Kindly present the greeting of our County Woman's Christian Temperance Union to the National organization assembled at Seattle, Washington, and extend our most cordial invitation to meet in our beautiful state capitol in the first year of the new century.

Indianapolis is peculiarly situated for convenient access by the traveling public. The city is one of America's models, beautifully laid out, fine streets and electric railways, elegant hotels and state buildings. Our soldiers monument is said to be the finest in the United States, admired by all who see it. Our city is perhaps the cleanest; it is practically a smokeless city, natural gas being used for fuel. Our citizens have long been in the habit of entertaining conventions and well know how you should be treated, and will endeavor to do their best to make you comfortable and satisfied during your stay.

Come and do us good, as we know you can.

PHEBE R. CURRYER,
Secretary Marion County Union.

Mrs. L. M. N. Stevens, President National W. C. T. U.—Through you the Indiana Woman's Christian Temperance Union most cordially extends an invitation to the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union to hold its convention in 1900 at Indianapolis.

LUELLA F. McWHIRTER, President.

MARY HADLEY, Vice-President.

MARY E. BALCH, Corresponding Secretary.

MATTIE O. CAMMACK, Recording Secretary.

AMANDA T. WHITSON, Treasurer.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Oct. 13, 1899.

To the National Association of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union—On behalf of the citizens of Indianapolis, and through the proper representatives of the organization from this city, I desire to extend to your organization a most earnest and cordial invitation to select Indianapolis as the meeting place for your next annual convention. I assure you in advance that every effort will be made to make your stay pleasant and agreeable and the convention a success. Hoping that we will have the honor of entertaining your Association, I remain.

Very respectfully yours,

T. TAGGART,
Mayor.

INDIANAPOLIS, October 12, 1899.

Woman's Christian Temperance Union, Seattle, Wash.

LADIES—We urgently invite you to hold your next convention in Indianapolis. It is a beautiful city. You ought to know it. Sixteen railroads center here as spokes at a hub. You can come easily and get away easily. The Commercial Club's membership includes a thousand business and professional men. Their best efforts and its bank account are pledged to your adequate entertainment if you will come to us. We want you. We want you not for the money that you will spend here, but for the good things we know you will say about us and our beautiful city after you have abided here. In the event that the invitation is accepted, the Commercial Club will, at its expense, furnish Tomlinson Hall. Very truly,

EVANS WOOLLEN,
Secretary.

To the Woman's Christian Temperance Union in Convention Assembled, Greeting—In behalf of the great State of Indiana I extend to you a cordial invitation to hold your next annual convention in the city of Indianapolis. The heaven of love permeates the hearts of our people. Its influence is going forth to the remotest bounds of our great nation. Come and abide with us and catch the inspiration. Respectfully,

October 13. JAMES A. MOUNT,
Governor of Indiana.

THE STIRRING CAMPAIGN.

Recommended by Convention to raise running expenses of our Industrial School. See page 65 of State Minutes for 1899. The Central Committee passed resolution that the Unions be reminded to consider time limit October 10, 1899, to October 1, 1900; also publish the plan in MESSAGE and Phalanx. The State will give to any county having five or a less number of Unions, whose every Union holds a medal contest, a week's work by one of our organizers en route. To the counties having over five Unions whose every Union holds a contest, a lecture by our State President. The proceeds of these contests must be sent to our State Treasurer, Mrs. Amanda T. Whitson, 3335 N. Meridian Street, Indianapolis. We suggest that this work have your attention early in the year, that you may have your week's work and lecture this year and Hadley School the money it so much needs. Order books, medals and instructions from the State Superintendent of Medal Work, Mary E. Balch, 711 E. 11th Street, Indianapolis. Read carefully and follow plan. Take notice the three cents per member monthly for running expenses of our school can be made this way with the least friction and with least results. The premium of a week by our organizer and the lecture by our President will not be given unless the plan is carried out as here given.

The Y program will commend itself to the young people and no doubt cause them to do more aggressive work than ever before. Indiana expects much help from the young women and the young men. They are so capable and earnest.

Our new State Superintendent of Literature, Mrs. Etta Ayers, Upland, Grant County, has written a leaflet for the department which should be used in every Union. Send to her for copies. Price, 40 cents per hundred.

THE MESSAGE.

"Not by Might nor by Power, but by My Spirit."

VOL. IV. No. 1.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., JANUARY, 1900.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR.

ARE YOU THE WOMAN?

Four hundred (400) readers of THE MESSAGE, more or less, must re-new in January. To notify each one will cost $5 or $6 at a low estimate. Is it good economy to spend that money in that way when you can attend to your own renewal, and let when all renewals are attended to that money can be used some other way. Remember, you will lose a paper unless you do attend to this. Will you renew if your time has expired?

In 1899 the name of Mary Smith is sent in for MESSAGE. In 1900 the name of Mrs. John Smith is sent in. How can the manager guess that they are the same women, or guess that they are two persons? Mrs. Mary Smith should renew as Mrs. Mary Smith. Have a care in sending in names.

BUSINESS MANAGER.

Mrs. Etta Ayres, of Upland Union, writes: Enclosed you will find a list of sixty-five subscribers to the MESSAGE. Our Treasurer sent $12.50 along with her report and I now send the remainder, $3.75. Our Union had a market day and cleared the $12.50 and we pay the remainder out of the treasury, and so place the paper in every home represented in the Union. How I wish the paper could be a regular visitor to each W. C. T. U. home in the State!

REQUEST.

Will the Presidents of the Unions please arrange to have items sent to me for the MESSAGE about the first of each month? This will be greatly appreciated. By action of the State Convention a salary of $75 was to be paid to the editor of the MESSAGE for this year's service. The salary I decline, but earnestly desire the loving, hearty co-operation of the membership in making the MESSAGE newsworthy and interesting. This co-operation on the part of my co-workers will be worth much more to me than salary and will help to make our little paper indispensable to all.

Loyally and faithfully,
LUELLA McWHIRTER.

CHANGE OF MANAGEMENT.

With the beginning of the new year the MESSAGE passes into the hands of our Secretary, Mrs. Mary E. Balch. We bespeak for it a most prosperous year in her hands. The outlook for the paper was never brighter. It entered upon this year's work without a debt and a surplus in the treasury to meet expenses of the first issue. The renewals and increase in subscriptions from 2,300 to 2,400 has enabled the business managers to keep it on a cash basis, with no outstanding indebtedness. Never before during the months of October, November and December have the renewals and new subscriptions been so great. Ladies say, "We like the state recommendations and will make our subscription equal our membership." Upland Union sends a club of 65. These, with those of her members already subscribers, make their list equal to their membership and entitles them to five yearly subscriptions to the MESSAGE and one to the Signal and also makes them the banner Union in the state in regard to the number of subscribers to the State paper. Last year the subscription list in the State increased nearly 800. This year with the present outlook it can easily be increased a thousand more. There are about 400 whose subscription expired with the December issue. Many have already renewed. Others write, "We'll send our club after the holidays. Do not discontinue our papers. We are trying to make our list equal our membership." To those who have not already renewed, let me kindly ask you to renew at once, that you may not miss the January issue, containing Institute plans, etc. The first regular issue of the MESSAGE came out in January. Secure as many new subscribers as possible to begin with the anniversary number. Last year Greensburg was the banner Union in regard to number of subscribers. Her plan for making it equal to her membership was a fine one. Martinsville and Elwood ranked second, both securing the same number. Marion County had the largest list last year, Grant the second and Morgan the third. Some counties and many Unions made their list equal their membership. Of the ninety-two counties, forty-nine had a list equal to half or more of their membership. It has been a source of great interest to me to compare reports from the various counties and Unions with the subscription list to the MESSAGE from those same places, and I have said over and over again—may God speed the day when the State paper may enter the house of every White Ribboner. In closing my work as business manager of the little paper I have loved so well, I want, through its columns, to thank you one and all for your great forbearance and loving kindness to me. I shall miss the cheery, loving letters of encouragement that came with so many of the clubs and helped so much to brighten the work. Again I thank you and ask to still be remembered by your letters and by your prayers. AMANDA T. WHITSON.

SCIENTIFIC TEMPERANCE INSTRUCTION.

Will County Presidents please send, as early as possible, to my address, the names of their present County Superintendents of Scientific Temperance Instruction? If there are no acting County Superintendents send names of the local.

MRS. MARTHA N. BOND.

Indianapolis.

ATTENTION, LITERATURE SUPERINTENDENTS!

At the next W. C. T. U. State Convention I shall give a copy of one of Miss Willard's books to the County Superintendent of Literature who shall have sent in the best report. Let each County Superintendent call upon her Local Superintendents to help her win the prize and carry the honors home with her.

Very respectfully,
(MRS.) ETTA AYRES,
Superintendent.

NON-ALCOHOLIC MEDICATION.

Will County Presidents, who have not sent in reports, kindly send the names of Superintendents for the Department of Non-Alcoholic Medication. I wish to communicate with them at once. Dear Sisters, this is certainly one of the most important departments of our work. If we can only convince people that alcohol is not necessary in medicine and that there is something else to take its place, we will remove one of the greatest hindrances to legislative procedures for the abolition of the liquor traffic. So let us make a special effort this year to advance this part of our work. Send in reports promptly of all work done, be it much or little; report the names of Superintendents, new and old. If any are not supplied with a plan of work, I will send upon request.

L. F. JESSUP SMITH,
State Superintendent.

FIELD NOTES.

SOUTH BEND.

The Willard Memorial Y, though yet in infancy, is growing in numbers and enthusiasm. We are planning a campaign in this small corner of the State, hoping to reap a portion of the harvest by March 1st. Mrs. Katie Wert Holler, Superintendent of Sabbath Observance, gave a chart talk at Mishawaka and a Miss Ina Burton and others spoke in behalf of organizing a Y in that city. It was decided to hold a mass meeting there in the near future for that purpose.

We conduct a personal workers' Bible training at our regular business meetings, that we may grow in grace and prove ourselves worthy of the name of Christian temperance workers; also that when the storms come we will not fall.

This year Elkhart County won the banner. Next year St. Joseph County will have the banner. I say "will," because how many who say "I think we will" win the race, and then if we do not win, we will applaud the other side.

AGNES BUTTS,
Superintendent.

KNOX COUNTY.

Mrs. Julia Trish has received a most cordial welcome down in Knox county. She held gospel temperance meetings for a week in the North Vincennes Mission and met with the W. C. T. U. and Y. W. C. T. U. of Vincennes.

At Freelandville she held two Mothers' Meetings, one at Mrs. James McCormick's, the other at Mrs. Daniel Robin's. Both were well attended, and much interest taken in the work. She held a public meeting each evening. Prof. Hinkle and wife were among those who joined the "Y's."

Mrs. Trish held one meeting in Edwardsport, then went to Westphalia, where she made house to house visits. The people were delighted, and in the evening the schoolhouse was crowded to hear her.

We believe that she did us all much good. She visited the jail and the Orphans' Home; and on Thanksgiving went with Mrs. Bonsib and her sister-in-law on their mission of mercy and love to distribute necessities and luxuries to the worthy poor widows and orphans of Vincennes. NELLIE VIRTUE CHAMBERS.

By request the Frankfort W. C. T. U. furnished the program for the M. E. Sunday school, in which the L. T. L. took a prominent part. When they gave their salute, several voices in the audience called out, "Good! good!" and they were heartily applauded. Their songs and rallying cry were also well received. Another Sunday school was also favored by a song by the Legion. Their singing wins golden opinions wherever they are heard, and they are always given a cordial invitation to come again. The W. C. T. U.

has been invited to furnish the program for the M. E. Sunday school every temperance lesson Sunday, and the Legion has a standing invitation to come whenever it will.

While practicing for Temperance Sunday the Legioners amused themselves by stopping in front of a saloon and giving their rallying cry "with a right good will," then laughing at the scowls of the bar-tender who was standing in the doorway.

FLORENCE E. VANCE.

The Point Isabel W. C. T. U. met last Saturday afternoon, November 25, in their regular monthly session. The meeting was opened by devotional exercises conducted by Mrs. G. W. Kilgore. An interesting program followed, at the conclusion of which the President, Mrs. G. W. Kilgore, announced that a reception was in readiness at the home of the Treasurer, Mrs. J. H. Salyers. This announcement was a complete surprise to a goodly number, as it had been prepared by the charter members, in honor of those who had but recently joined the organization, the majority of whom were young ladies, whom we hope will ever prove loyal to the temperance cause.

After Divine blessings had been invoked upon the goodly motive of our assembling together, shortly followed by the singing of that beautiful hymn, "Blest Be the Tie," the forty guests present partook of the bountiful repast, which consisted of cake, pop-corn and fruits.

It is, indeed, very encouraging to see so many of our young ladies wearing the white ribbon—emblem of goodness and purity. To you, young friends, a new work is before you. In your own hearts do you not feel a responsibility resting on you in this great work, for which you may have to answer God?

You can go forward in the world with your means, your influence, your time and awaken thousands, who in turn will draw millions after them. On yonder summit you may take your stand, and let your light become a light into the world that will shine through this life and eternity. A NEW MEMBER—ETHEL.

The Frankfort W. C. T. U. observed Temperance Sunday. At the request of Mrs. Frances Boyer, one minister precluded his sermon with a talk on the Mormon question. Then, in response to his call for a rising vote, four-fifths of the large congregation expressed themselves as against the seating of polygamist Roberts in the legislative halls of our Nation. Another pastor preached a most eloquent sermon on the subject of "Mormonism and Marriage." It was a splendid admixture of anti-Mormonism, prohibition and woman suffrage. At the close of the sermon petitions against the seating of Roberts were circulated among the voters present and numerous signed.

Mrs. Ada Squires has spent some time in our county (Hendricks) in the interests of the W. C. T. U., doing excellent work for that organization, as well as giving recitals that were highly appreciated. She was aided in these recitals by her five-year-old daughter Emma. She visited Coatsville, Friendswood, Plainfield, Lizton, Brownsburg and Pittsboro, giving a recital one night and a lecture the next and holding an afternoon meeting for women. She also made many personal calls to increase interest in temperance and the work of the W. C. T. U. At Coatsville a Y was organized with ten members and their Union has doubled its membership. At Brownsburg a Union was organized with twelve members. Interested persons were found at Lizton and Pittsboro, but on account of a series of meetings at one place and a funeral at the other no attempt was made to organize.

The Jefferson Union gave an entertainment December 10, consisting of songs, readings and recitations. A collection was taken for the Hadley Home. $2.00 was pledged by that Union, which we received on that evening. LOUISE KENNEDY.

Mrs. Maud Salyers, Treasurer of Point Isabel Union, writing to Mrs. Whitson, State Treasurer, says: "When you wrote me August 23 that three other States were making rapid strides to secure our White Ribbon Star Spangled Banner, I thought something must be done—we do not want to give it up. I asked each member and the President to get one new member, or as many as they could. I went to work myself. I would do my work in the forenoon and try to get members in the afternoon. I drove out in the country from house to house. It was a task, but I got ten new members—one of them was an honorary. The President said that would not do; it took ten regular members; so I had to get one more; this I did. This is the way I secured ten regular and one honorary member for our Union, and helped to keep the banner and get a free lecture."

By the promotion to the Heavenly ranks of that valiant champion of peace, temperance and righteousness, Daniel Hill, of Richmond, the Indiana W. C. T. U. has lost a staunch friend and true brother.

SUPERINTENDENTS OF DEPARTMENTS.

"No weapon that is found against thee shall prosper."

PEACE NOTES.

We start upon a new year in behalf of home and humanity. Golden opportunities will open up before us. Let us improve them as they pass. May this be the best year of all for every department in the W. C. T. U. And now, to make it the best in our especial department, will not every Peace Superintendent, County or Local, send me her name with any item or suggestion in regard to the work which she may like to add? But please send without delay. A postal card will do and five minutes will do for the time you need spend on it. Our reports may come up better at the end of the year because of this good beginning.

Peace Sunday—O, that the church would recognize her privilege and her duty at this hour and speak with no uncertain voice for the "Cross against the Sword"

The Advocate of Peace, Boston, speaks in hearty approval of the action of the National Convention on the army canteen and the Philippine war. I quote with slight abridgement: "It must be remembered that the W. C. T. U. has taken up many different lines of humanitarian work; most of them because it was found impossible to promote the abolition of the drink traffic without striking at other evils by which intemperance is so powerfully supported. The women were, therefore, perfectly within their province when they took up the subject of the Philippine war and passed a resolution strongly condemning it. * * * The people, as a rule, who think they are hurting their cause are people who have no real desire to see their temperance work a success." By the way, the Advocate of Peace is a good paper for the family circle.

The W. C. T. U. has lost a valiant friend by the death—November 16—of Daniel Hill, of Richmond, Ind. The greater part of his long life was devoted to the advocacy of temperance and peace, and for many years he has been General Secretary of the Peace Association of Friends in America and editor of a peace paper published by that Association.

"Vainly look we for another
In his place to stand."

This is to us another call to be faithful in our work, each in her appointed place.

Yours for advance,
H. LAVINIA BAILY.

MOTHERS' MEETINGS.

There is no effect without cause and upon the mothers of to-day there rests a grave and important responsibility. Be assured the fathers are not exempt from this responsibility. It is not difficult to prove that physical qualities are transmitted from parents to children, for such is a matter of daily observation to every one. Oh, the unfortunate children of vice, how they witness against the sins of the parents! God has made parents co-partners with himself in the reproduction of the race. There is a sacredness in fatherhood and motherhood that cannot be violated without sin. The inherited evils make the fight for a clean, pure life doubly hard, yet this is the curse many a child carries and tries to throw off.

The only way to purify the stream is to purify the source. The origin of impurity is in the minds of the married—in the home that should be sacred and holy—and is transmitted to the offspring. Oh, how the unborn are pleading to us as Christian mothers for a better chance in life—for the attainment of virtue, wisdom, truth and purity! Every community has its mothers—mothers with anxious, burdened, questioning hearts. It is our duty to show them their danger and to enlist every mother in this warfare between sin and righteousness. Oh, for a patient, consecrated motherhood!

Dear mothers, let me appeal to you for help in this holy warfare. Will each County Union see that a County Superintendent is appointed and let the County Superintendent see that each Union has a Local Superintendent of Mothers' Meetings? Hold Mothers'

Meetings at least once a month and distribute literature, and thus we may carry Jesus the Light of the world, to darkened, sin-crushed hearts and homes and make the world better by our having lived in it. Dear Superintendents, write to me often. I will gladly respond in any way that will be helpful. I will send some literature to every one who will apply. Keep a record of all meetings, of all literature distributed and report promptly at the proper time. There is much literature available for the energetic Superintendent, which you will find helpful, such as "The Responsibility of Motherhood," "Rights of Offsprings" (and they all have rights), "Don't, Girls," and "Suggestions for Mothers' Meetings." If you will urge your Unions to adopt the "department fund" plan, you will find that it will not only furnish money for literature, but will be an educator. Let us be wise, but harmless. When shall we awake to the awful responsibility which rests upon every woman into whose keeping God has given a pure child soul? The triumphs of social life cannot for one moment be compared with the perfect bliss of that hour when the children of a wise and loving mother rise up and call her blessed.

If we knew the baby fingers
Pressed against the window pane,
Would be cold and stiff to-morrow,
Never trouble us again,
Would the bright eyes of our darling
Catch the frown upon our brow?
Would the little baby fingers vex us then as they do now?

MRS. S. M. STAHL,
State Superintendent.

FLOWER MISSION.

As we are entering upon a new century and are expecting to see and to hear of untold good being done for the cause of Christ, may we not forget the many little helpful things we can do. Many of us know some friend who has been sick for a long while. Take her a flower and a godly message. Some dear brother or sister may be out of food or proper clothing; search around and see if you can supply their needs. There are "shut-ins" all around us who have nearly ran their race. Their busy life is passed and they are no longer interested in the bustle of the world. Visit these "shut-ins." Take them flowers or some religious clippings, and be sure to say some comforting word to them about Jesus.

Several of the counties have new Flower Mission Superintendents. I wish as soon as possible each County President would send me the name of her County Superintendent, so I may know upon whom to depend for reports.

If at any time you would like to hear suggestions about the work please feel free to write to me, as I am very willing to do all I can for you. May this be the best year we have ever had in the Flower Mission work. The Lord bless and prosper you.

(Miss) ANNA L. CARE,
State Superintendent.

FRANCHISE LETTER.

I send you a letter of greeting this month and would gladly look into each of your faces and take your hand in mine and listen to your successes, and perhaps it may be failures, in securing names to our enrollment petitions. I am very anxious to hear a word from each of you and to know how you do. I beg of you to work harder than in any year past to secure names to the petitions, for so much of our success depends upon that. Now, dears, we shall need some money to pay our legislative expenses next year, for you must send in the petitions to me as soon as possible and I must have them copied with a typewriter and bound into books to take to the legislature, and that will cost money. Now, I am anxious that "Indiana's Plan" shall be first carried out in getting money, if you can do so, and in addition to that I have several schemes. Some have been tried, some not, and I have just sent you a sample menu (for women know how to prepare things to eat) for a Krazy T., which is novel and will attract many people. Will each one of you try it and send me the results? I will receipt and report and give an account of every cent at the next State Convention. Now, my dear Superintendents, do your level best for our Franchise Department, which means for yourself before the law and for all Indiana women.

M. A. TOMPKINS,
State Superintendent.

HOUSEHOLD ECONOMIES.

It scarcely seems possible that months have sped away since we talked and planned face to face at our blessed harvest home gathering as to the best means of advancing our cause, and I trust this fact will serve as a reminder that there is no time to lose. Those who accepted the catalogue of the Manual Training School at Indianapolis in the hope of presenting it to your respective school boards as an inducement to make a similar attachment to one or more of their school buildings, will do well to appeal to other societies of both sexes, the City and County Superintendents, etc. So obvious and plausible is this effort that you will doubtless receive the hearty co-operation of many who have heretofore manifested no interest in our work. In those Manual Training School lectures on the best methods of sanitation, personal hygiene forms a conspicuous part of the work—this shows how far-reaching the work may be made and in what close harmony it is with one in anti-narcotic and anti-stimulant work.

I wish to emphasize the paragraph in my annual report relating to the present mode of displaying our patriotism on the fourth of July. It is believed that the young people can be induced to accept as a substitute a well planned picnic—that less than half the money spent in fire explosives would equip pic-nics bountifully—thus avoiding the great loss to life, limb and property and promulgating lessons in economics, beside combating the war spirit by peaceful enjoyment in viewing nature in all her beauty, which is always elevating and ennobling. This is in harmony with the Department of Peace and Arbitration and offers a stepping stone for them to do something practical. I appeal to them for their co-operation.

MARY A. MOODY,
State Superintendent.

PRESS.

I want to extend to each and every one of you my hearty thanks for your noble, earnest work the past year, and for the loyalty and promptness with which you responded to every call. Because of your faithfulness the Silver Star Press badge came to Indiana, and how I wish you could see it. It was awarded to the State reporting the greatest amount of work accomplished in proportion to the membership and to the number of the workers. I am glad that we have won this honor, but realize that we must work harder than ever if we would keep it another year. There will be very little change in our lines of work this year. We will continue to "clip on, paste on and press on," but paper as a foundation upon which to paste the clippings is too frail and easily torn. Let us use muslin instead, as thin and light as possible, consistent with strength.

Let us continue to write, or have written, articles in favor of woman's enfranchisement, and also in the interest of our various other departments of work.

Endeavor to have as much as possible published that is uplifting in character, but I would be glad to see much more "in print" concerning our own beloved organization. Publish and explain its plans, and never fail to report its successes—every one.

Let me again urge the importance of keeping accounts of work done, either by lines, inches or columns. If we would receive full credit for the work we do we must report it all.

In a story I read not long ago, are the words of a young reporter impressing a young lady, in whom he is interested, with the importance of his high calling. They seem to have been written especially for our Press Department, so I pass them on to you. He says: "Consciously or unconsciously, the press is the greatest power of our day to mold public taste and opinion and morals. The humblest patent inside country weekly shares the power and the unescapable responsibility with the huge city dailies. Everything printed must reach some audience, must help give some lives their tone for good or evil. If the press of a nation takes up a reform it makes the progress of ten years in one; if the press lends itself to wrong and corruption and makes light of crime, it scatters the seeds of evil wherever one such paper goes. The low entertainment, the preacher or orator of high aims, alike have an audience of only a few hundred or thousands at most, but when the press reports the words spoken, they search out a much larger audience by its fire-sides, and instead of dying on the air after one hearing, they can be read again and again, and will endure as long as any one keeps the paper they are printed upon. It is worth being alive to have one's hand in any way on such a lever to move the world."

Yours for service,
FLORENCE E. VANCE,
Superintendent.

WORKERS IN EVANGELISTIC DEPARTMENT.

I intended to have had a letter in the MESSAGE for you ere this, but the pressure of many duties prevented me. I come to you with a sisterly New Year's greeting and a prayer that you may be freshly anointed by the Holy Spirit for a more successful year's service than ever before. I believe you all feel the importance of our Department and realize that it is the foundation upon which we have been enabled to build so magnificent a superstructure. We must all work in harmony with the plans formed by our World's and National Superintendents, so it is necessary that we have these plans. I trust each Superintendent will send to the Woman's Temperance Publishing Association, The Temple, Chicago, for a copy of Miss Elizabeth Greenwood's "Hints and Helps in Evangelistic Work;" fifteen cents per copy. This will prove a most efficient helper in suggesting plans for work. I trust every County will have a Superintendent of this Department and will send their names to me. The County Superintendent should see that each Local society has a superintendent and urge them to send reports promptly. It will hardly be possible for one to write often to you, but if I can help you in any way let me know and I will do my best to aid you. If you can arrange for revival services and would desire my help, I will go to you, if not otherwise engaged. I usually receive ten dollars per week, aside from railroad fare and entertainment. If I could arrange for two or three weeks' work in a county, the expense could be divided between the Unions having my services. Be as helpful as you can in your own denominational revival services. Work in harmony with the Church; remember that our work is in no sense to take the place of the Church, but to supplement her efforts in the upbuilding of our dear Redeemer's kingdom in the earth. I will close with the advice of Paul to Timothy, as found in 15, 2: 2 Tim.: "Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of Truth."

MRS. ELIZABETH M. HAUGHTON.

A COLUMN A WEEK FOR MARION COUNTY.

For some time there has been in the minds of Marion County White Ribboners the wish that our Unions might know more of each other's methods of work, and that we might in some way come in closer touch with each other. We meet in our semi-annual conventions and occasionally at called meetings of the County Union, but at these meetings the time is so short and the demands upon it are so many that we separate not to meet again for months, with many important questions unanswered and helpful thoughts unexpressed.

Again, in order to secure prompt and active co-operation between county officers and Superintendents and their respective local workers, frequent communication is indispensable. Our County Superintendents are now forming plans for getting the work of their departments started in the Local Unions. It is expected that these plans will be written out and distributed for study and for reference during the coming year. Copies of them should be not only in the hands of each Local Superintendent, but should be furnished each member of the Union. To do this successfully they should be in print. Miss Willard says: "The voice that speaks dies in the air almost before its echoes reach us, but the firm types and black ink hold through months and years."

Excellent papers, prepared at great pains by our women who have been placed upon programs of local or county meetings, are presented to us through the year. The wish is often expressed by those who are favored with hearing them that others might be privileged to receive like inspiration and instruction. Usually, however, the writer modestly puts her paper away, where it remains, never being given a second reading.

Is there a solution for this problem? Let us see. Our women have, at different times in the past, considered the feasibility of publishing a county paper, but the plan has always been abandoned because of the expense and time necessary for it. Besides, this might seem to conflict with the circulation of our State and National papers, a result which would be sure to harm our work.

The publishing in leaflet form of papers above referred to is sometimes ordered, but the expense for this is considerable and the circulation of the leaflets rarely extends beyond the membership of the Union having them printed. While the columns of our State paper gladly welcome brief reports of our work, yet each of our sister counties has equal claim with us to space therein.

Where there is a will is there a way? In the early experience of our State officers in sending out the MESSAGE it became evident that its pages were inadequate to contain all of the excellent matter sent in. Mrs. Balch found a way out of the difficulty by securing from the editor of the Phalanx, the State Prohibition paper, published in Indianapolis, a State W. C. T. U. Department, which has, during the three years since, been used greatly to the success of our cause. So now, in Marion County's dilemma, Mr. Clark has again been visited and has granted us space alongside of Mrs. Balch's columns. The County Executive Committee, at a meeting some time since, approved the plan and pledged its support, which has since been promptly given.

While we believe that when this year comes to a close we shall count our Phalanx column one of the most potent factors in the success which we hope to attain, yet, since this is but an experiment, we have arranged but for three months, beginning with the first of the year. Each Union is requested, if it has not already done so, to appoint at once a Press Superintendent, who will promptly forward to County Reporter, who has charge of all matter to be printed in the Marion County column, items of news and notices of regular or called meetings, or other material desired to be published. Until such appointment is made the President or Secretary will attend to the matter.

HAND SHAKE LETTER.

I want to acknowledge with love the numerous letters of congratulation received since the appointment to my old-new office of Secretary of the Indiana L. T. L. Branch. Remembrance and appreciation are encouraging. The familiar handwritings were read with tender feelings, as I thought how those had been plodding faithfully during my three years' rest. I thank each for the welcome and pledge of loyalty, particularly Mrs. Gordon, in whose home by invitation I spent several days, receiving from her lips and hands data concerning the charge she has faithfully held and gladly relinquished. Since then I have been in correspondence with the National and World's Secretary, have the report from the L. T. L. Conferences at Seattle, and am giving my best thought to preparation and to a careful, comparative study of the present status of the work and its needs. I have many plans in evolution for a stride in the L. T. L. State work this year, but oh, my sisters! I cannot make the work a success unless you help; I cannot go into your local Unions and carry out the plans. You must give me women who are willing to do the best they can while learning to do better. Therefore, in the name of pure childhood to be instructed and trained that they may remain pure and make straight the paths for others, I call upon County and local Presidents to appoint the best willing woman you can get and send her address to me, and please attend to it at once.

KATHRIN T. A. STRAW,
State L. T. L. Branch Secretary.

Mrs. Nettie C. Moore, of Lebanon, writes: A lecture was given at the M. E. Church at Lebanon on December 8, by Mrs. Hattie Brand, of Indianapolis. Mrs. Brand made an excellent talk and altogether it was a red letter night for the W. C. T. U. of that place. Quite a number signed the pledge and several new names were added to the Union.

The Eunice P. Wilson Union, of Upland, Grant County, is still living and doing well. Last year we raised our membership from 34 to 70 (active.) The quarter ending December 15, we reported 74 members. With our honoraries and delinquent members (for such we always have) our roll now numbers 102. Since the State Convention, we have been very busy. In order to supply our members with the MESSAGE, we had a market day. So the December number has gone into every W. C. T. U. home in our town. We also gave a social at the home of Mrs. Cartwright. A literary and musical program was rendered and refreshments were served in the way of conundrums, the answer to each being the name of some member of the Union. We took a collection and realized $4.10 for the Hadley Home. We have placed Frances Willard's picture in each of the public school rooms and in the Chapel Hall at Taylor University. We have put the Physiology Journal in the hands of our public school teachers. We observed Temperance Sunday with appropriate services in all the churches and temperance literature was distributed in the Sunday schools. Our regular meetings are well attended and much interest is manifested on the part of the new members. It is popular to belong to the W. C. T. U. in Upland.

The Porter County Convention of the W. C. T. U. was held in Valparaiso, December 14. The weather being bad, not as many were in attendance as would otherwise have been; however, two new numbers were added. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. J. Hall; Corresponding Secretary, Elizabeth Rice; Recording Secretary, Jane Sampson; Treasurer, Miss Alice Keach.

TREASURER'S LETTER.

Space in the MESSAGE is at such a premium I find I must condense my report, and give only the yearly summary and comparative statement. My trip to the National Convention in Seattle, immediately following our State Convention, and the stop over on my return trip to visit brothers and sisters that I had not seen for years, made it impossible to get my report ready for the November MESSAGE. The December MESSAGE was so full of other matter that it was thought best to leave this until the January issue.

However, if it is late, I am sure you will all take great interest in looking over the comparative statement. Every County and Union that has gained in membership will be glad to know they appear on the Honor Roll. Those that do not appear on it will, I am sure, make every effort possible to be placed there this year.

Please compare this with the Treasurer's report in the State Minutes and ascertain if there are any Unions in your county not on the Honor Roll. If so, let me urge you to make plans at once to place them there this year. A fine plan is to secure a certain number of new members (the number decided upon by the Union) each quarter. The results will be gratifying. Please note how many counties there are whose every Union gained. Is yours one of them?

Grant county is the banner county in having the largest paid membership; it is also the banner county in having gained more members than any other county. The five Unions making the largest gains in the county secured them by holding membership contests.

Peru Union is the banner Union in having made the greatest gain of any Union in the State, the gain having been made by a membership contest.

North Manchester is the banner Union in having paid for more members than any other Union in the State. A membership contest also. Many other Unions in the State had fine success in membership contest work. The entire number of counties that gained last year, 57; number of Unions that gained, 183; number of counties that paid dues last year, 76; number of counties that paid dues this year, 82; number of Unions that paid dues last year, 266; number of Unions that paid dues this year, 294. The fifteen Y. Unions and branches paid for 212 members last year. The twenty-nine Unions and branches paid for 427 members this year. The amount of dues paid by the L. T. L.'s last year was $28.79; the twelve Legions paid $29.00 this year. These results are indeed gratifying to us. The efforts of these noble women made it possible for Indiana to again be the banner State.

A comparative statement of the present year's work will be furnished at the close of the year. May I suggest that you file this paper away that you can make comparisons at that time? It is very fitting that the National Convention should be held at the National Capital the centennial year. This will be a notable event in the history of the W. C. T. U. Shall Indiana be the banner State and bring home the White Ribbon Star Spangled Banner?

Most loyally yours to help,

AMANDA T. WHITSON.

THE MESSAGE.

"Not by Might nor by Power, but by My Spirit."

VOL. IV. No. 2.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., FEBRUARY, 1900.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR.

DEAR WHITE RIBBON SISTERS—Our beloved President, Mrs. Luella F. McWhirter's, physician says: "Absolute rest from the work must be taken at once; even life is at stake." I am sure with one united voice we say, Take the rest, and we will every one do our part to make the conditions possible to keep the work moving forward, while our united prayers will go up to God for the perfect recovery of our President and comrade in service. The disease is a nervous disorder. I am sure we all understand what the term "perfect rest" implies.

Dear Secretaries, read this to your Union.
MARY E. BALCH.

The picture shown tells its own story. Mrs. Amanda T. Whitson for more than two years was business manager of our MESSAGE. She seemed to give a mother's devotion to it, not sparing any effort for its best good, not counting any labor too hard or sacrifice too dear to secure its prosperity. She thought much of and about the paper and little of her own health or ease. No one, only the person who performs the service, will quite understand the amount of labor involved in writing the wrappers, folding the papers, keeping the books, receipting for orders and urging renewals. Largely, yes, almost entirely, with Mrs. Whitson, it was a labor of love most faithfully performed.

Indiana is highly complimented for her plans and methods. From the four points of the compass come complimentary letters. Our gain in membership for two years has drawn the eyes of the nation upon us. That we may be circumspect and not overestimate ourselves, I have taken the annual reports of Michigan on the north, Kentucky on the south, and Ohio on the east, with Illinois on the west, and made some comparisons. These sister States pay salaries to their secretaries and treasurers, but do not have an appropriation committee, and without giving more time than I could well afford in the study of their annual minutes, I could not get the amounts. Ohio in 1899 gave their president $400, their secretary $200 and their recording secretary $20, while the treasurer received $200. A foot note explained that after the claims of the year were met, if there was a surplus these salaries were to be increased pro rata to equal those of 1897, hence we see that our State is not the only one which pays the workers liberally.

Kentucky in 1898 carried 24 departments and appropriated $41 for their support. Ohio in 1899 had 31 departments and gave them $68. Illinois for the same year had 24 departments and appropriated to them $319 and a few cents. Michigan 32 departments and gave them $62, and their constitution fixes the amount their departments receive and it cannot be over $5 each, except by special legislation. Indiana had 32 departments and appropriated $215. Indiana's departments, however, made the best showing of work of any State in the National Convention, receiving more compliments and more promotions.

Our sister States have nothing to put in the place of our Mid-Year Conference for our Department Board. Ohio and Indiana are incorporated and organized by counties. The others are not incorporated and are organized by district and county. The more intricate the machinery, the greater the running expense and the more friction. Expense and friction will count on the side of loss any time.

Kentucky and Indiana have each $1 membership, Ohio and Illinois 60 cents, while Michigan does not have a uniform membership. Some Unions have 50 cents, some 60 cents and others $1. Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky local Unions send 25 cents per member to their State treasury. Illinois sends 30 cents and our State 40 cents. We have no special funds to meet our annual outlay, except the support of one Industrial School. Our sister States do not have a similar institution, but have special funds to which Unions, counties and districts must or are expected to contribute. The 25 cents sent to the State treasury does not meet the needs of these States.

Going back as far as 1896 Ohio and Indiana have gained in members, our gain being made in the last two years. Illinois, Michigan and Kentucky have lost members and the small gains made by them in the last two years does not give them the membership they had in 1896. Ohio being the Crusade State, and Illinois having the publishing house, the National headquarters and the home of our promoted chieftain, must always have some advantage over, not only these States under consideration, but every State. In our State any white ribbon sister, if she receives the suffrage of her peers, may go as a delegate to the National Convention. In these sister States the place the woman fills largely determines who shall have that honor.

MARY E. BALCH.

THE MESSAGE AND THE W. C. T. U.

Every woman of the five thousand white ribboners of Indiana ought to receive a MESSAGE every month—not an expensive telegraphic or telephonic message, not a letter bearing a two-cent stamp, but a message having great advantages over all these methods of communication.

Our little paper comes to us each month, bearing messages to us from a number of our State officers. It publishes letters from State superintendents to county and local superintendents. It contains suggestions for work, blank reports for county workers, reports from Unions all over the State, field notes and general notes. It keeps its readers in touch with the World, the National and the State workers. All this may come to you each month for less than the cost of a letter, merely the price of a stamp, for in clubs of twelve the price is only 25 cents a year. Think of it, two cents a month. And there are W. C. T. U. women with dead birds on their bonnets who "can't afford it." A woman once gave that excuse to the writer when at the moment her white ribbon was pinned on an elegant silk waist that must have cost $8 or $10.

Mrs. Whitson, Former Business Manager of the MESSAGE, in Her Sitting Room, Getting the Papers Ready for Mailing.

Not only should every woman take the MESSAGE, but she should read and study it. Every letter and request from a State Superintendent to the workers in her department should receive the same courteous treatment you would show to a personal letter. One of the objects of the MESSAGE is to save the labor and expense of personal letters. If our good women would appreciate this and act accordingly, our State Superintendents would not complain so loudly because county superintendents do not report. Take the MESSAGE, read it, follow its instructions and you will be a better, a happier and a more useful woman.

HARRIET F. KIDD.

Wabash, Ind.

ATTENTION, Y's.

Will the local treasurers please make a special effort to collect dues to send in for the quarter ending March 15? One-half of your year gone. What kind of a record are you making? Doubling your membership, I trust. Miss Nellie Dawson, President of Mt. Vernon, Miss Della Smith, Corresponding Secretary Mt. Vernon Y, and Miss Ida Loveall, County Y Secretary Vigo County, Terre Haute, attended Y Conference at Vincennes.

Recommendation of Plan of Work read as follows: "That each member of the Y pledge herself to bring in one new member before March 15," carried. Now let us work—1000 Y's for 1900.

The Y. W. C. T. U. Conference Program was carried out in full, supplying the places of those who could not be present. We were very much disappointed that our Mrs. Balch, State Superintendent of Medal Contest Work, could not be present. Very helpful and profitable suggestions were given on the topics, which cannot but help strengthen the Y work of our State. Mrs. Ellen K. Denny, Mrs. Emma Joice, of Vigo County, and Mrs. Steers, of Vincennes, were the W. C. T. U. members that attended all day, and Mrs. McJimsey afternoon session. Mr. Henry Bonsib, of the Phalanx, gave us a spirited talk on material for the press. He said, "Say just what you intend, and say it at once, and leave off the interludes."

The paper on "Purity and Physical Education and Care of the Body," by Mrs. Alice Bierhouse, was one of the most helpful ever listened to by an audience of young women, and never will they forget her earnest words.

"Purity in Literature and Art," by Mrs. Joice, was good, as was Mrs. Arrie Polk's on "Anti-Narcotics," read by Mrs. Denny, Mrs. Polk having met with an accident and could not be present. The prayer services and songs, the beautiful thoughts brought out by the girls will result in an abundant harvest. Terre Haute, Mt. Vernon and Vincennes Y's were represented by their talented workers.

CLARA M. SEARS.

IN MEMORY OF FRANCES WILLARD.

To win one woman with a conviction against the liquor curse means much. The lives affected and influenced by her prayers, plans and purposes can only be counted in eternity. I hope that each member of your Union will carefully and prayerfully consider the importance of winning one woman, especially one young woman. Our places must be filled. Some of us will need substitutes soon. Let us seek the girls. One girl who has had the advantages of the present day system of education is usually competent to do more work with less effort than those of us whose education was necessarily more limited on account of fewer advantages. Girls everywhere are interested in many phases of our work. If each member would resolve, by God's help, to do all in her power to win one woman and one girl for the W. C. T. U. before February 17, Frances Willard's heavenly birthday, it would mean a lasting and magnificent donation toward the monument being erected in human hearts to the memory of her whose Christ-like life shed its radiance over the womanhood of the world, especially our own beloved America.

How many will earnestly make the effort? Will you? When you decide to try, remember God will help you. Let the new members gained be reported at the services held in commemoration of our Leader's heavenly birthday. Seek women with conviction. Seek girls for Indiana W. C. T. U.

INSTITUTES.

JENNINGS, LA.

DEAR WHITE RIBBON COMRADES—In this land of sunshine and pleasant weather, where I have been kept so busy in Institute work for a while, my mind wanders back to Indiana. But as I do not have time to be sentimental nor the ability to be poetical, I must be pardoned for saying a few practical things abruptly and pertaining to our Institute work, which we are so soon to enter upon again. If there is no poetry in this, I am sure our Indiana women have been able to bring excellent prose out of it. A greater victory could scarcely come to us than to organize a good, live Union at each point where the Institute is held and thus carry out our plan for this year. To this end let us think, pray and work.

PROGRAM—First, let the County Executive make a careful invoice of its resources for a program, not only from the standpoint of membership, but other local available material should be considered, including ministers, teachers, editors, etc. Do not crowd the program, but take such topics from the outline program as will be most helpful in your locality, and have them followed by discussion. Use department Superintendents and available State Superintendents.

Correspondence in regard to Institutes should be addressed to the Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. M. E. Balch, 711 E. 11th street, Indianapolis, after Institutes open on Feb. 23, excepting that relating to the filling of the program. This should be sent to the Leader of each section. Remember who your Leader is and thus avoid the unnecessary delay and writing which must occur when the wrong person is addressed. For the Leaders of the different sections see January issue of the MESSAGE.

EVENING MEETINGS—First evening, a contest by a well-prepared class, with every detail arranged, from bell-ringing and door-keepers on time to good music, well-chosen judges, a large number of tickets sold in advance, a wide advertisement by the press, bulletin boards and announcements in churches, young peoples' societies, schools, etc. Personal invitation and ticket-selling up to near the time the doors are opened are most fortunate ways of harvesting the results of all former efforts. About the same kind of an advertisement should be given the day meetings and the meeting on the second evening, care being taken to have it understood that this meeting and all others of the Institute are free, excepting that of the contest, and that no collections are taken at day meetings. The time of the second evening need not in every instance all be occupied by the Leader or her assistant, but a symposium, in which ministers and other local speakers take a part, may sometimes be used with most pleasing and helpful results. See Outline Program for symposium topics; also the subjects for evening meetings to be discussed by the workers, as follows:

Five Boys in Knee Pants.

Scientific Temperance Illustrated, by Rev. Mattie Cammack-Gibson.

Woman's Work for Temperance, by Mrs. Hattie Brand.

FEBRUARY, 1900.

War and Twentieth Century Civilization, by Miss Mell Newlin.
The Enfranchisement of Woman, by Rev. M. A. Tompkins.
The Economics of the Liquor Traffic.

The Origin, Purpose and Methods of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union—What has it Accomplished? By Miss Mary Hadley.

Each County President is requested to bring (or send if illness or like misfortune prevents her attendance) a statement of the entire paid membership of her county, including W's, Y's, Honorary W's and Honorary Y's. Also number of L. T. L's and membership of each; number of copies of the MESSAGE, Union Signal, Young Crusader and New Crusade taken. In making such a record give each local Union proper credit for membership and periodicals.

This work will be light, if local. Presidents, assisted by their Treasurers, go to work promptly on call of County President and furnish her with the proper information. Approximate lists of this kind were contributed to each Institute last year by our State Treasurer and all Institute workers found them most helpful, but the State Treasurer has not all of the up-to-date information which the county and local workers have, so these lists should come from them.

THE FILLED PROGRAM—As soon as the program is filled with the names of those who are to take a part plainly written in, send a copy of it to the leader of your section. Do not fail to indicate what subject you wish her to present at the evening meeting.

Gleanings from Institute Discussions of last year:

- Honorary members should be personally invited.
- Y's and L. T. L. should be used on the program and as pages, etc.
- It should be the first concern of the County Executive to give a full attendance throughout the session, and second, to see as far as possible that the membership is in attendance. Visitors sometimes feel lonesome on account of the conspicuous absence of the members and are not won to an organization which does not call out its own membership.
- Whatever strength and nervous energy is expended by the workers in carrying baggage long distances or in re-packing and moving from home to home, is subtracted from the success of the work.
- The lunch should be so simple as not to keep the members from the sessions of the Institute to prepare it.
- Each local Union whose members are not provided with the MESSAGE should come to the Institute with such a subscription list as will make this provision and then claim the premium of an annual subscription to the Union Signal, as the State has offered this premium for such lists presented at Institutes, whether they are large or small.
- The completed program should be published in two issues of local and county papers, with brief interesting notices given editorially or otherwise for three or four weeks and extending up to the time the Institute opens. Publish, announce, invite.

The foregoing gleanings are not new, but have been successfully carried out from year to year by many counties. But others have had failure written all over their work because the details have not been well planned and faithfully carried out. This is true of Indiana, Louisiana and the world around.

The mercury for some time here has been ranging from 60° to 72°. By midday the fires are allowed to go out and people throw open their doors to get the breeze, see the swelling buds and hear the birds sing. This is delightful! But another quarantine is about to be instituted and I must cancel my gulf dates and come north, not that I am fearful of being swallowed up by the quarantine or the alligators, either, but because I have about reached the time limit for work south. While this has proved good soil for Institute work, with hospitality unbounded, I am quite content to return home and enter the work with my dear Indiana comrades, leaving behind me the most pleasant memories of Louisiana and its dear White Ribboners.

MARY HADLEY,
Superintendent of Institutes.

AMONG COLORED PEOPLE.

DEAR SISTERS—How I wish we could meet face to face and talk about our work, but as this is impossible, I shall make our dear State paper my messenger to you. I want to thank you who have written to me for your kind letters and ask as a favor that those who have not written will do so, as I want to know what you are doing and help you if I can. Remember, dear co-workers, that I, who am so new in this work, need your help to keep it up to the standard already attained by my predecessor. We can't afford to lose any ground and should work faithfully and prayerfully to get more of our counties organized for this most important work. Will all County Presidents who have not already done so, please appoint a County Superintendent of Work Among Colored People and report the same to me?

Yours for this work in His name,

MRS. CHARLOTTE A. SEARLES,
State Superintendent.

FIELD NOTES.

Mrs. Cammack-Gibson spent a week in Noble County, Feb. 1-8.

Aurora has a very flourishing Y and Mrs. Vayhinger, of Moore's Hill, is to give them an address in the near future.

On account of lack of space this month, as last, Mrs. McWhirter's account of the trip to the Seattle convention must be omitted.

South Marion held a gold medal contest at the Military Home on Dec. 31, and Mrs. Flora Woodard, of South Marion, won the medal.

Mrs. Mollie Kiger, of Oxford, is much improved in health and able to take charge of the new L. T. L. started by Mrs. Cammack-Gibson.

Homer Thomas is the brave young President of the Senior L. T. L. at South Marion. This Legion is large and strong and well advanced in Loyal Temperance Legion work.

The splendidly arranged and beautifully designed local Union programs this year indicate something of the wonderful advancement made by the Indiana Unions during the last three years.

Benton County—Mrs. Cammack spent a week at Oxford in December with good results. She had the co-operation of the ministers, and all worked in harmony for the overthrow of King Alcohol.

Marion Central Union has beautiful programs out for the year. Mrs. Cammack-Gibson gave a strong gospel temperance sermon in the Second Friends' church Sunday night, Dec. 31. Fully 100 college students were present.

From the District W. C. T. U. Convention held at Jennings, La., the following telegram was received by Mrs. McWhirter:

GREETING—Miss Hadley is with us; great enthusiasm. Acts 17: 6; Prov. 1: 5. KATE E. WILKINS

White Ribboners of South Bend recently organized a Y at Mishawaka after an address by Mr. Chas. Holler and a chart talk by Mrs. Holler. The following officers were elected: Mrs. Ira Lattimer, president; Miss Mertie Andrews, vice president; Miss Bertie Cross, secretary; Miss Ella Goodling, treasurer.

Moore's Hill. Rev. John Guy, of Louisville, Ky., delivered an address on "The Necessity of Organization Against the Liquor Traffic" to a large and appreciative audience. His argument was unanswerable. At the close of his address seventeen persons pledged themselves for membership in the local W. C. T. U.

January MESSAGE contained an item from Upland Union, which has been read and re-read by some of our friends. It is pronounced a "model for condensed news." All Unions can not report so much work done, but all who report what work is done help thus to encourage some other Union. Press Superintendents, please send items and condense them like the "model."

South Marion is not only holding the fort, but stepping up. They have a W. C. T. U., a Y. W. C. T. U., an L. T. L. and a Senior L. T. L. and keep a Suffrage contest class in the field, have a Gospel Temperance meeting the last Sunday night in every month, have a night at the Soldiers' Home once a month, keep up their mothers' meeting, and, well, we can't tell the rest this time. "Go thou and do likewise."

Otterbein Union gave a New Year's social Monday night, which was indeed an enjoyable affair. The W. C. T. U. socials are always looked forward to with pleasure by the young people as well as old. Several were held last year and greatly increased the influence of the Union. Our Union is in the midst of a membership contest, which promises good results. Printed programs for the year are being prepared. The County sent $12.00 to the Hadley Home this month.

Mrs. Ada L. Squires and little daughter Emma spent two days with the Carp Union as guests of the President, Mrs. Anderson. An interested audience in the Presbyterian church enjoyed a good program on Saturday evening. Little Emma recited. Considering her age, her great talent for speaking and her memory, she is truly a wonderful child. Mrs. Squires' lecture in the same church on Sunday evening was right to the point and much appreciated. The Union was strengthened and has planned to do more aggressive work.

On the 29th of December Mrs. Cammack-Gibson and Mrs. Mary Eaton organized an L. T. L. at Jonesboro with the following officers: Master John Thistle, President; Maud Iliff, Secretary; Anna Burch, Treasurer; Carl Anderson, Captain. It was a very cold day, but eighteen brave children faced the cold wind and came out to be charter members. Mrs. Eaton had just given a children's Temperance Rally here, which greatly interested the children, as well as the fathers and mothers, and prepared the way for the organization. Jonesboro may have been a little behind in the past, but she is coming bravely to the front now.

Morgan County President, Mrs. Sophia Toner, writes: One year ago Martinsville Union decided to have the MESSAGE sent to every member, paying the subscription from the treasury. A few thought we could not afford it, as we would not have much left for work, but we have found, as the women know about the work and the need of money, they give, and our work has not suffered from the experiment. You may expect as many subscriptions as we have members. We like the plan to support Hadley Home—3 cents a month per member. We have distributed our envelopes and will send our proportion in a few days. We are in a healthy condition.

Elkhart County has filed two successful remonstrances against saloons in Nappanee and Middlebury. They intend to fight every application that is made, and have employed attorneys for the purpose. Goshen will publish the liquor law in the newspapers and is agitating the curfew law. Although not very active, at present we are preparing for an earnest effort to organize new Unions in the near future. Most of the Unions observed universal temperance Sunday in November. Middlebury had an especially fine program under the supervision of our efficient County President, Mrs. Phoenix. Our Y's and L. T. L's are flourishing and we are yet very much alive.

Dillsboro W. C. T. U. presented to the Dillsboro Public Schools a large picture of Miss Willard, handsomely framed. One of the High School pupils prepared a short biography of Miss Willard and then Dr. White, of the Presbyterian church, made the presentation speech to the school in a few well chosen words. This was responded to by another of the High School young ladies in a most excellent manner. The Secretary of the School Board then in a short speech of commendation and approval accepted it for the School Board. A few visitors and members of the W. C. T. U. were present and were delighted to have our Chieftain once more held up to the young of our land as a model of excellence.

Madison County Executive met December 15 with Mrs. Retta Jones, County President. It was decided to leave the time of meeting of Spring Convention to each Union. After much discussion it was the opinion of the Executive that the subscription list of the MESSAGE could not equal the membership. The Hadley Home thank offering was left to the consideration of each Local President. A resolution was passed, that Madison County will not participate in the sending of chain letters. The report of our Treasurer was very encouraging. We hope to soon have Mrs. Sarah Roberts, of Pendleton, to visit each Union and give a report of the National Convention at Seattle, Washington.

Miss Estelle M. Brainerd, one of the State officers of Maine W. C. T. U., writes: "I have read a large part of your State minutes and intend to read every word. Besides the Normal Institute and Department Conference, I have found many new and helpful ideas and plans. Truly, Indiana is a wonderfully wise and progressive State in W. C. T. U. work. I think it must hold some very bright women who can conceive and carry out such grand plans. I am very desirous that we should adopt some of your fine methods, if possible, in our own State. I enclose 35 cents, for which you will kindly credit me with a year's subscription to your State paper, the MESSAGE. You see I intend to borrow all your bright ideas."

The ladies of Dillsboro Union and friends circulated a remonstrance against the only remaining saloon in Dillsboro and succeeded in securing the required number of signatures and about fifteen more. This was duly filed in the Auditor's office before the meeting of the commissioners. The day arrived for these gentlemen to pass judgment upon it and they, upon advice of their attorney, decided that this paper was illegal because the ladies had cut off the headings from all the papers and pasted the names all together under one remonstrance. Several of our women went to Lawrenceburg in the interest of their document, but without effect. Upon the advice of their attorney, they appealed to a higher court.

Brazil—The Mothers' Meeting held at the home of Mrs. Florence H. Hadley was much enjoyed. There were eighteen invited guests present, all of whom expressed themselves as being well pleased. Several joined the Union and others expressed themselves as intending to come in later. Fifty persons were present. We are looking forward to this year as being one of the best we have ever known. We hope to organize a Y here, and also to organize the county, as we have the "clay" at our disposal. With the clay in the hands of the potter and with the necessary spokesman at the wheel, we hope to march onward and upward to victory. We will have our delegate to the National Convention, Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, with us soon. We are hoping, with the help of God, to do more aggressive work than ever before.

Point Isabel Union gave an interesting entertainment on Jan. 13, consisting of temperance recitations, dialogues, marches, instrumental and vocal music. The entertainment was held to help the young ladies who have recently come into the Union. We charged an admission and the proceeds amounted to $17 and some cents. Everybody said it was good and asked us, "Why do you not go somewhere else and give your entertainment?" We had ten young ladies represent the ten virgins. This took well. On Jan. 16 and 17 Mrs. Mattie Cammack-Gibson came to us and visited the schools of Green Township to work up scientific temperance. She also lectured at night and gave one lecture in the southern and one in the northern extremity of the township. Her lectures were very instructive. She also organized an L. T. L. at Point Isabel with fourteen members. Point Isabel is not dead nor dying, but moving right onward. Pray for us, that we may have the same spirit that the W. C. T. U. was born of, then we can study to show ourselves approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth. Bishop Leighton says, "Fill the bushel with good wheat and there will be no room for chaff and rubbish."

LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION.

Now that we are to have this space for our L. T. L. corner let us together fill it with L. T. L. plans and news.

Since my letter in January MESSAGE I have received a number of addresses of newly elected L. T. L. Branch Secretaries. To these I have sent letters of greeting and instructions. One in reply says, "Your letter was full of information and suggestions that were just what I needed."

Each local president should hold a meeting of her union to consider L. T. L. organization. Use the Responsive Readings on Loyal Temperance Legion. Elect a woman as Branch Secretary and appoint a committee to assist her. According to our Local, County and State Constitutions, the L. T. L. Branch Secretaries come under the head of officers, and are to be elected by ballot the same as are the other officers.

In organizing a new union the corp of officers should always include a Secretary of L. T. L. Branch. Of course they are not ready to organize a Legion, but with an L. T. L. Secretary to acquaint herself and the union with the work, a Legion will follow. The L. T. L. committee from the W. C. T. U. can be appointed every month to assist the Secretary as leader of the Legion, attend the Legion meetings, help enforce order, plan the programs, act as substitutes for teachers and other regular helpers, secure teachers from Young People's Societies, and visit parents in the interest of the Legion.

We want to change the thought in the minds of the W. C. T. U. and others that the Legion is only for children, and that it is a children's society. It is not. It is an organization for the girls and boys, as young as they will come and until as old as they will stay in the Legion. Therefore, in connection with the L. T. L. instead of the word children, let us say girls and boys or young people.

How one Leader solved the problem of a place to meet, I quote from her letter: "We had hard work for a time to find a place for one of our Legions. We had secured on the last of June the Gymnasium of the Y. W. C. A. at 50 cents a meeting, but the rooms were so hot that the face of each child was painted red, which came off of their singing books, and we met there but a few times, as we could not stand the heat. At last the Church let us meet in their Sunday School room, but complaint soon came in that we would wear out the carpets, which the Ladies Aid Society had bought, and we must find some other place. We could not find any room without paying big rent, so I asked the union for a committee to go with me to the meeting of the Ministerial Association, which met every two weeks. Two went with me. We told the ministers all about it, and that if the church carpets were too fine and the pianos too nice for the children to touch we would have to let them go, and the saloons (one of which was in the third building from the church we were then in, and with as fine carpets and furnishings as any of the churches—the "finest" saloon in the city) would gladly welcome our girls and boys in and try to make it pleasant for them. Twenty-three pastors were present, among them the one who had turned us out of his Sunday School room, and every one of them stood up and gave us an invitation to come to their church; one gave us the use of five places. What a grand victory we had. Now we have the churches, the girls and boys and the supplies, but "Where are the Reapers and who will help us?"

Is not "no place to meet" and "no Leader" oftentimes rather an excuse for lack of conviction and energy on the part of the union, and if all the churches were open to the L. T. L. would the W. C. T. U. measure up to the opportunity?

KATHRIN T. A. STRAW,
General Secretary L. T. L. Branch.

HADLEY INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

Miss Lucretia Hobart, President, 1101 Virginia Avenue, Indianapolis.

Mrs. Maggie Cox, Recording and Corresponding Secretary, Westfield, Hamilton County, Ind.

Mrs. Rebecca Hessong, Treasurer, Broad Ripple.

DEAR SISTERS—The 21st day of December was an ideal winter day, which fact heightened the already high spirits of the inmates of Hadley Home, for this was the day on which an event of unusual interest was to take place—that of holding the first temperance contest by the inmates of the Home.

The Unions and friends of the girls had generously responded to the call for new clothing and bright ribbons, that our girls might look their best, which they surely did. The morning train from Indianapolis was on time and was met by conveyances, we hoping to bring many friends from the city to spend the day at the Home and attend the contest in the afternoon. Four loyal friends came, whereas we had hoped the number would be forty. Mr. Addison Hadley and wife and other neighbors came in and everything passed off well. Mrs. Balch made one of her forceful speeches and presented the silver medal to May Stevens, of LaFayette.

By request of citizens of the village of Hadley the contest was repeated in their church, and other friends at Danville and Amo have made the same request.

Excellent health, attended by earnest work in the day school, also in the domestic department, is the present condition existing at the Home.

As the older girls must necessarily lose some time from school by helping with the washing, they have one hour for study each evening, presided over by the teacher to see that the time is well spent. The younger girls have a half-hour study time.

You are doubtless desirous to hear report from laundry building. One month ago, owing to unavoidable delays in finding workmen or securing good results from workmen at this season of cold, short days, we decided to suspend work until conditions of weather were more favorable for the erection of a brick building. We decided it was better to suffer great inconvenience for a time rather than take the risk of cracked walls or increased expense in keeping fires to prevent damage to plastering. Most of the building material is on the ground, carefully covered to protect it from damage by freezing. The stone cellars are made and we hope for an early start in the spring to complete this much needed building.

A difficult question confronts us in regard to admission of more girls. When applications for admission are received from counties which have contributed much toward the support of our school, we feel that it is unjust not to take such girls, but how to make room for them and provide for the additional expense they will cause is where the difficulty lies. The past year has not brought us large gifts. What we receive from Unions and our farm are the only sources of revenue. The monthly pay-roll to our Superintendent, teacher, matron and farmer aggregates $65.00.

Loyalty and energy open the flood-gates of prosperity. Let us stand for this, our work, and be an inspiration and blessing to those whose lives are touched by ours.

System, contentment and industry seem to pervade all departments in the Home. Officers and pupils move along in perfect harmony. Mrs. Lydia A. Binford has spent some time in the Home helping with the sewing for the girls. She gives her time freely and disseminates her gentle influence over all in the Home, thereby brightening the days as well as replenishing the ward-ropes.

The day-school is in good working condition under a loving teacher and friend, Miss Myrtle Davis, of Fairmount. The evening study hour is much appreciated by the girls, as they must necessarily lose some time from day-school to assist in carrying on the domestic department. I send you the Roll of Honor, so that you may recognize your girls, and by next issue hope the names of all the girls may be in it.

Lovingly,

LUCRETIA HOBART.

REBECCA HESSONG,
Treasurer.

DEAR SISTERS—The plan I have for you next quarter for raising funds for our Industrial School is to have an editorial on the school in your town paper, with cut of building, asking for donations. Have some one solicit for offerings, placing names of donors in paper. I will furnish cut to any one sending for it. Address me in future, REBECCA HESSONG, Nora Rural Route, Marion County, Ind.

FROM THE SUPERINTENDENTS.

The new departure, or the new "take-up," of the Industrial School of the W. C. T. U. by its present Superintendents has required a great deal of thought on the part of one of its members, while the other one, you all know, has been connected with the School previously. Space and time have intervened since the change in affairs—that is, since the special department under Superintendents has been created. You are asked to be patient with us if we do not fall into line in perfect order. Yet we shall try and strike in the right direction.

We all are aware of the fact that the Hadley School, or Home, for protecting and educating needy and indigent girls of Indiana should be supported, and that the W. C. T. U. is the responsible party for the work. At the State Convention we listened to many reasons given for active work regarding the needs of the Home.

In the MESSAGE for December Mrs. Balch speaks of "The Stirring Campaign." I wish that all would read that item and conclude that that means me and at once comply with its suggestions. You should also refer to the State Minutes, page 55, and there acquaint yourselves with the wishes of the Executive Committee. It does not appear necessary to reprint those items, even in this article, for this MESSAGE, as the State Minutes should be in the hands of every Indiana W. C. T. U. worker. It is generally supposed that the Superintendents of this department will keep in line with the needs and plans of the Home and thus try to bring them before you all for action as best we can.

Mrs. Beck, of Bloomington, will comply with any request for lectures possible. Correspond with her in regard to them.

It will be well to understand that the desire of the Superintendents of this department is to aid and not to retard the work they have been asked to perform. Correspondence is solicited and will be carefully considered. (MRS.) IDA R. BENHAM.
MRS. L. M. BECK.

Do we read understandingly? MESSAGE, single subscriptions, 35 cents. In clubs of twelve, 25 cents. Do you send less than twelve names at 25 cents? If you do the State feels embarrassed about it. A union whose every member takes the MESSAGE can have a Union Signal free. If the union has less than twelve members, do you think it right to send names in at 25 cents and then ask the Union Signal free? If you do this you may gain as a union, but it is at a loss to the work at large.

Wallace Union, Indianapolis, has a Baby Circle. They give the mother a printed certificate which reads: "This certifies that ..... is a member of the Baby Circle of the Wallace Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Indianapolis, by the payment of ten cents per year, until at the age of six ..... becomes a member of the L. T. L. of the State of Indiana. Signed by the President and Secretary."

Now, this is too good to stay in one Union. It should be adopted by the State, and will be, no doubt, at the next convention. However, the regular order would be that the Loyal Legion have the Baby Circle. Wallace Union uses the money for literature, and it should become a literature fund in every instance. I can furnish these certificates for ten cents a dozen, postpaid. Central Union Loyal Legion must be put down for Baby Circle No. 2. MARY E. BALCH.

Greencastle Union was favored on the evening of January 25th with an address by Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley. Though the weather was very unpleasant and the hour of the meeting late, her earnest, convincing words seemed to rivet the attention of the audience. We feel confident that much of the good seed sown will bear fruit. A number of young men and women of the University remained with others at the close to meet Mrs. Stanley and to give their names for membership in the Union. We are entering upon the new year with some encouragement and with prayer for the success of the work that lies so near all our hearts. Our meetings are quite well attended and are both devotional and interesting. Several names have been added to our membership recently. In the future our meetings will be held monthly instead of bi-weekly. Annual printed programs have just been issued.

MRS. A. T. RILEY.

LaFayette Central met January 19 at Mrs. S. W. Elliott's. These meetings have always proved to be interesting. Mrs. S. N. Crouse was unable to be present on account of illness, and her Original Story will be presented at our next meeting. Excellent papers were read by Mrs. Anna Vaughn and Mrs. Elliott. Miss Kate Gregory presented an original poem on Temperance. Miss Chloe Phillips gave a pleasing recitation. Quite a number of our union are taking the MESSAGE. Another club was started at Mrs. Elliott's, which will reach the MESSAGE as soon as possible. Also a subscription fund in behalf of the Hadley Home is being paid by the members of this union. We are enthusiastic in our work, and feel there is no necessity of sitting with folded hands. We are also planning for an "At Home," so as to have extra change and not drain the treasury for the many needs of the union, such as leaflets, literature, etc. Our next meeting will be February 21.

Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, of Liberty, came to Eaton Saturday morning and was entertained at the home of Mrs. J. M. Carmichael. Saturday night at the M. E. Church she preached a beautiful sermon, subject "Who shall roll away the stone?" Sabbath morning her sermon was more than ordinary, subject from Isaiah, "The man of God who said, cry aloud and spare not." Sunday night she gave a lecture on "A trip to Seattle, Washington," which was listened to with great earnestness. The business men, doctors, lawyers, bankers and factory men complimented her by saying the lecture was beautiful; it could not be given only by an earnest, educated W. C. T. U. woman who is working for God and home and every land. The Eaton Union was happy to receive twenty-six new members, making a total membership of eighty-six. A reception was given in honor of Mrs. Stanley at the home of Mrs. J. M. Carmichael. It was well attended and every one went away saying, "we enjoyed the evening very much." Mrs. Stanley was called on to entertain the guests, which was beautifully done by giving a talk on the W. C. T. U. work. Elegant refreshments were served by the committee. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Lydia Carmichael. Everybody cordially invited.

PROGRAM QUARTERLY DEPARTMENT MEETING, MARCH, 1900.

Opening services by the Evangelistic Superintendent.

CONTEST.

No. 1. The American's Creed.
No. 2. Is the W. C. T. U. Worthy of Citizenship?
No. 3. Patriotic Sons of Temperance.
No. 4. The Drummer's Story.
No. 5. No Saloons up There.
No. 6. A True Story.

While the judges are out, distribute leaflet No. 1, furnished by Homer J. Hall, Franklin, Ind., at ten cents a hundred, and have the President of the Union read the Articles of Membership and solicit for new members. Close with temperance doxology and benediction.

These selections are all found in the National Educator No. 3. Let each Union try to sell 200 tickets. (See notice concerning tickets in this issue.) Make the regular division of the money. Use suffrage or matron's medal.

Is there any Union that does not understand the object of this department meeting? First, agitation; second, education; third, money to prosecute the department work. Half of the money received from this program goes to the Local Treasurer, one-fourth to the County Treasurer and one-fourth to the State Treasurer and every cent of it to be used in the interest of the departments. A Union having no County Treasurer retains three-fourths. We trust some one will bring this program before the Union and urge the carrying of it out. The meeting could be held in February if preferred. Dear Secretaries, read this in the Unions.

MARY E. BALCH,
Chairman Committee.

We regret that on account of lack of space some excellent articles could not appear in this issue and that others must be set in fine type. This, we think, will not occur again and hope our readers will think only "kind criticisms."

Auburn W. C. T. U. work still moves on with the usual amount of enthusiasm. Our meetings are held in the Mission rooms every two weeks. These rooms were kindly offered to us by Mr. Charles Eckart, who rented them and supports the mission work done here. They are pleasantly furnished. A large picture of the saintly face of Frances Willard adorns the wall. This picture was presented to the Union by a sister who formerly lived here and is active in the great work that is being done by the women of our country. Just at present the temperance people of our town are considerably wrought up over the remonstrance question. We have been circulating a petition for the power of attorney. We feel that we must come out victorious in this movement, for God is with us. We are greatly encouraged in our work, as the temperance sentiment was never so good as at this time, and we believe the people are awakening to the fact that there is a better way to live and a better atmosphere to live in, and the voters of the township are coming to the front and taking their proper places on the side of right, "For God and home and native land."

Indianapolis.—Frances E. Willard Union observed its first anniversary on the 16th of January at the home of Mrs. E. G. Cornelius, with an excellent program, consisting of addresses, recitations and special music. The prominent feature of the occasion was an address by our State President, Mrs. Luella F. McWhirter, who spoke over 30 minutes on the "Advancement of the work in this and other counties," which was delivered in such a charming manner that it was greatly enjoyed. One other very interesting address was given by the Rev. J. Cumming Smith, of the Tabernacle Presbyterian Church. The State Treasurer, Mrs. A. T. Whitson, in her cheery manner, gave "Echoes from the Seattle Convention," and displayed the White Ribbon Star Spangled Banner, also a Crusade Poster, a fac-simile of the one exhibited at the late National Convention at Seattle. The audience was large and appreciative. A good offering was taken for our Hadley Industrial School. New members were gained. After adjournment dainty refreshments were served by the hostess, who is an honorary member of the Union. A social hour was enjoyed.

Union County begins the glad new year with six new members. Held four mass meetings in the county in December. All churches are open to us. Nearly all the ministers are honorary members. We have Col. Geo. W. Barn and Hon. John G. Woolley already under engagement for our annual rally. We also expect to have Volney B. Cushing and Quincey Lee Morrow in the springtime. The latter comes through the State Prohibition Committee. Our voters are in favor of equal suffrage. Our schools hold Mothers' Meetings. Our churches have union services on most of our Red Letter Days. Sabbath Observance and Flower Mission are popular departments. I have two months' work planned outside of my own county, in which time I pledge to secure 100 new members to Indiana W. C. T. U. Secured thirty-eight members in December. Local Presidents promised to send clubs for MESSAGE. The name of my county is the motto in my work, "Union." If people knew what the W. C. T. U. is endeavoring to do they would unite in the effort to promote clean citizenship, pure patriotism and righteous public sentiment that will, ere long, banish the saloon from this and every nation under heaven. ELIZABETH B. STANLEY,
President.

SOMETHING NEW.

Yes, and untried; but they promise to be helps in "our peaceful war" or in our "do-everything policy." Tickets to sell for our medal contests. Small envelopes with five tickets therein. On the back of these envelopes are printed instructions. The envelope with money enclosed for the five tickets sold admits the seller when presented at the door. I can furnish you 40 envelopes and 200 tickets for 35 cents, postpaid. Order them for your next contest and see if they will not bring you a $20-house.

MARY E. BALCH,
State Superintendent.

711 E. 11th St., Indianapolis.

IN MEMORIAM.

Mrs. Mattie Armstead died at her home in Mishawaka, January 24. For years she was President of the Monon Union and for two years President of White County. One year ago her family moved to Mishawaka. There being no Union there, she paid her dues and kept her membership at Monon. She was faithful to the cause of temperance and was first in every good work. She fed the hungry, clothed the naked and visited all beds of pain. Surely the Master has said, "Inasmuch as ye did it to the least of these, ye have done it unto me." She leaves a husband and three children.

In loving remembrance of little Marcie, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Al. Moorman, who died November 26, 1899, at the home of her parents in Silver avenue. Little Marcie was the only infant member of West Indianapolis Union and was doubly dear to our members on account of the untiring efforts of her mother while President of our Union for the past three years.

Susan M. Garrigus, of Kokomo, went over into the new life January 3. This sister was the mother of our Lida Outland.

PRESIDENT'S LETTER.

DEAR SISTERS—If your Union has not tried the Membership Contest plan, will you please consider it? Some of our Unions have more than doubled their membership by this novel and interesting sweet-spirited rivalry. For details of plan see February MESSAGE.

Let nothing prevent your Union from having an active press reporter. If the sister appointed, for any reason cannot do the work, secure another. As members, seek to know the newspaper men, and always remember that their columns are their individual property. Tell them that the space given to our cause is appreciated. By vote of the Union have a letter of thanks sent them by the Secretary. In many ways seek to express gratitude for each little kindness shown our cause by the press, the power of whose scepter has not been measured. Whenever your Union has the co-operation of the press, the ministry and the teachers, you may be assured great strides have been made toward victory. Hold monthly gospel temperance meetings if possible; if not in the big churches, go to a mission church or school house—hold the meetings. Have a definite program and have recitations and songs by the children. National Leaflet No. 80 contains programs for such meetings. "Saloons Must Go," "We're for Home and Mother," and many other stirring songs with music, are published in leaflet form and sold at 15 cents per hundred. Send five cents for the leaflet containing programs and for song leaflets to Woman's Temperance Publishing Association, The Temple, LaSalle and Monroe streets, Chicago, Ill.

Please seek to bring in the young women and young men. Each year every member should secure the interest and efforts of at least one young woman or one young man for the W. C. T. U. To do this will perhaps require some definite and systematic work, but, sisters, when the roll is called up yonder, all of our efforts here will be counted as chaff except those which have been made to help immortal souls Heavenward. Seek to enlist a sister or a brother whose influence will go on and on after your labors have ceased. We need the efforts and influence of more girls and women and boys and men.

To every person who will secure five new regular members by May 1, and send me their names, stating their full membership dues are paid, I will give a life sized picture of Miss Frances E. Willard.

I am restricted from work and desire to show in a very small way my appreciation of my sisters who do work. Oh! this work must go on regardless of the workers. It depends largely upon the mighty enginery of the W. C. T. U. to push ahead in the great reform lines affecting our homes, our churches and our state.

Each local union should each year

1. Organize a Y. or W. and work and pray for its success.
2. Organize an L. T. L. whose membership should take the prescribed course of study for graduation.
3. Hold twelve medal contests.
4. Hold twelve public meetings, in churches school buildings and mission rooms, including Institutes and picnics.
5. Hold quarterly Department meetings.
6. Have annual programs upon which Red Letter Days are observed, Department work presented and World's National and State Superintendents considered, also the great plan of the W. C. T. U. discussed.

7. Have the "World's Wave Crests" read from the Union Signal in union meetings.

8. Arrange a plan by which the MESSAGE, Union Signal and State Annual Report would be in the hands of the members. The entire cost of all, $1.25 per year.

9. Have a collection taken at all public meetings and charge admission to all oratorical contests.

10. Request that at every public and regular meeting held by the Union, the President should have a box containing a liberal supply of membership pledge cards, bows of white ribbon and one dozen small lead pencils well sharpened.

If every one of our nearly 300 local Unions in Indiana would persistently carry on the above ten plans besides their other work for five years, the white ribbon host of our State would be largely instrumental in putting the ballot in the hands of women and bringing the glad day of State and National prohibition of the liquor traffic. This can only be done by united efforts. The added influence of each person over whose heart flutters the white ribbon is needed now as never before. The liquor element is each month becoming better and better organized, thus getting more fully equipped to carry on the work of blighting girlhood and debauching boyhood. The influence of this business contaminates the atmosphere of our homes and our churches. We can not free ourselves from this influence so long as the fathers and brothers of our State sanction the licensing of saloons and wine rooms. To the end that our cause shall win, dear sister, will you reconsecrate your life? Your influence and energies will help. A W. C. T. U. consisting of a membership with conviction that to license a crime is sin, that saloons must go, and seeking to have their hearts filled with the love of Christ (which brings love for humanity) so that there will be no place for jealousy, envy and malice, will bring victory to the soul of each individual, which is necessary for ultimate victory for God and humanity. "Only the Golden Rule of Christ can bring the golden age of man."

Lovingly,

LUELLA F. McWHIRTER.

REGULAR MEMBERSHIP ROLL OF HONOR.

Mrs. F. H. Frink, of Valparaiso; Mrs. A. T. Whitson, State Treasurer.

THE Y. W. C. T. U.

The second Y. W. C. T. U. Conference was held in Anderson February 17, at the Meridian street M. E. Church. Secretary Miss Clara M. Sears, of the State organization, presided during the day, opening the conference with a bible reading. Be wise, in sowing and reaping. Gal. 6, 7-8. Miss Lizzie Lenfesty acted as Secretary of Conference. Mrs. Hattie Coxen, President of Elwood Y, gave a good and helpful paper on Sunday School Work. Rev. Walter Carpenter took a place on program in the discussion of Sabbath Observance. Miss Nellie Whitney held a beautiful noon-tide praise service. Luncheon was served to about 45 in the church who spent the noon hour in a social way; 1:15 the afternoon program was opened by a service conducted by Rev. Carpenter. Mrs. Retta Jones, President of Madison County, gave a very helpful paper on Purity in Literature and Art. Mr. Ed. C. Toner, of the newspaper staff, spoke in an interesting manner on the Press. Mr. Toner was not understood by all, but those who did understand liked his plan and he received many compliments. Anderson Y's will endeavor to try his plan. Mrs. R. M. McMahan then gave a beautiful talk on Purity and Physical Culture—Care of the Body. Each one present was helped to higher and purer desires to care of this body. Mrs. Pittenger followed in prayer. The paper on Non-Alcoholic Medication by Dr. J. O. Morrison, a physician (who never uses alcohol, in any form, and is helping other to temperate lives), was next on program. Mrs. Pauline Pittenger gave a paper on Anti-Narcotics, also the Scientific Temperance Instruction Law and the way it is taught by Miss Vinna Colling, of Marion, was fine. All were helped and enthusiastic to go on with the good work; five new members were gained for the Anderson Union.

By arrangement of the Anderson Y, February 14, the Hon. John G. Wooley gave a lecture in the Christian church on "What Ails the Church," to a full house. Nearly all appreciated it; as usual a few did not.

February 26th the Anderson Y had an illustrated lecture by the Rev. R. M. Bentley.

To the corresponding secretaries of the Y Unions: The blanks are in your hands for second quarter's report; let it be the best we have had for years. Go and see your treasurer, and see if you can't send us dues for twenty members instead of fourteen.

South Bend holds the Third Y Conference on the evenings of March 1st and 2d. The program is well filled and it promises to be very interesting and helpful. Each member is a subscriber for the state paper, the MESSAGE.

Work and pray, girls. Secure all the new members you can and help bring up Indiana's membership to 1,000.

Yours lovingly,

CLARA M. SEARS.

SABBATH OBSERVANCE DEPARTMENT, NATIONAL W. C. T. U.

The Sabbath Observance Department of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union came into existence at the National Convention held in St. Louis in 1884, when the following resolution was unanimously adopted, giving to the department the support of the entire organization: "Since the sanctity of the Sabbath lies at the foundation of the commonwealth, the influence of our organization shall be earnestly, consistently and everywhere given in behalf of its right observance, and of the enforcement of all laws designed to guard it from desecration." At this convention Miss Willard, President of the N. W. C. T. U., spoke in her annual address of the close relation existing between the liquor traffic and Sabbath desecration, and so it was that through the remarks of this woman of God that the department was born.

Mrs. J. C. Bateham was made Superintendent of the department and served as such until the fall of 1896, when she was forced to resign on account of failing health and Mrs. Varila F. Cox, of Tallahassee, was elected as her successor. Mrs. Cox recognized in our Indiana State Superintendent of her department, Mrs. Katie Wert Holler, of South Bend, a woman of rare ability and consecration. By recommendation of Mrs. Cox, Mrs. Holler was elected as her associate by the last National Convention, held at Seattle. Thus Indiana was honored and the National department force strengthened.

It is the aim of the department to educate and evangelize and to improve the social and legal status of the day. The department now has over 15,000 superintendents, who distribute annually about one million pages of literature, and there has been secured over 30,000 signatures to the Sabbath Observance Pledge.

COUNTY INSTITUTE WORKERS, ATTENTION!

Will committees in arranging institute programs find room for a paper on "Statistics of Our Country"? Let the writer touch all the points mentioned below.

This will not only prove a valuable paper in calling the attention of your citizens to the cost of the traffic, but will be of inestimable value in compiling statistics for the State. Such a paper carefully prepared will prove one of the most interesting features of the Institute.

1. Number of saloons in the county.
2. Amount of license paid.
3. Number of arrests for drunkenness.
4. Amount of fines paid.
5. Number days spent in jail.
6. Expense of prosecutions.
7. Number of murders and other crimes committed through drink.
8. Number sent to state prison.
9. Number in poor house and orphans' homes brought there by drink.
10. Entire cost of liquor traffic in your county.
11. Number of known violations of law, as selling to minors, to habitual drunkards, on the Sabbath, etc.

It is hoped that great care will be taken to assign these papers to energetic women who will visit proper officials and search records in quest of information. Have the papers published in the county papers.

HARRIET F. KIDD.

SABBATH OBSERVANCE PLEDGE, RECOMMENDED BY THE NATIONAL W. C. T. U.

I agree, 1, to observe the Sabbath as a day of rest and worship.

2. To neither purchase nor patronize Sunday newspapers.

3. To use my influence by word and example against railroad and steamboat travel and excursions.

4. Not to patronize any store, news stand, drug store (except for medicine), bakery or any other place of unnecessary work on the Sabbath, and to use my influence to close them.

5. Not to send or call for mail on the Sabbath.

6. To make the Sabbath work at home as light and simple as possible, that all may enjoy the privileges of the day.

7. To use my influence for legislation that will protect the Sabbath as a day of rest and worship.

MEDAL CONTEST DEPARTMENT.

By MRS. MARY E. BALCH, State Superintendent.

BRING IN THE SHEAVES.

Unconscious of the weariness of labor, our young people acquire the graces of oratory; but better than all this is the stand it leads them to take on the question of the saloon in politics, where the last battle over the rum power must be fought. Men and women of strong partisan prejudices and unapproachable by every other method have been reached and converted by these contests.

Total number of Silver Contests, as given in the several annual reports of Indiana up to date of Oct. 6, 1899, 2,815; Small Gold, 347; Grand Gold, 22; Diamond, 7; total, 3,191. Books used in the work, 8,000. One book converted a German beer-drinker to a voting Prohibitionist. One contest led a dull, thoughtless boy to stand as a minister in the pulpit and preach the word of God, which includes prohibition of rum-selling. One contest led a thoughtless, Godless woman to seek and

SILVER.

GOLD.

GRAND GOLD.

Now turn to the financial side. The vexing point of all reform is how to support it. One year, over and above cost of medals, books, advertising, hall rent, etc., there was turned into the local treasuries $1,239.75. This item has not been kept sufficiently correct other years to give it, and it never has been what it should be, for so many delight to make the contests free and have not charged the ten cents admittance; while others have been ceaseless in reporting receipts, as their returned certificates show. Is your Union asleep? Hold a contest. Is your treasury empty? Hold a contest. Do you wish to enlist the young? Hold a contest. "We just can't do anything!" Hold a contest.

MARY E. BALCH.

NATIONAL BANNER AND PRIZES FOR 1900.

In awarding the National Banner the following conditions will be taken into consideration.

1. Number of Contests of highest order, Gold, Grand Gold and Diamond. Those finishing the course to receive diplomas.
2. Number of Contests held at County, District and State Conventions.
3. Number of Contests held in the month of June as a memorial to Mr. and Mrs. W. Jennings Demorest.
4. Number of Contests in proportion to membership.

The following prizes are for any W. C. T. U. worker in our State.

Prize, "The Beautiful Life of Miss Willard," will be given to the one holding the largest number of contests during the year.

To the County Superintendent whose county holds the largest number of contests, a gold medal.

We believe in stimulating the use of W. C. T. U. Educator and Demorest recitation books. To the state or territory using most books, name will be placed on roll of honor.

STATE PRIZES FOR 1900.

The County or Medal Worker who will hold four Diamond Contests will be entitled to a Grand Gold Medal, or a set of Miss Willard's books free.

The County or Medal Worker who will hold five Grand-Gold Contests will be entitled to a Small-Gold Medal, or a life-size picture of Miss Willard, framed, free.

The County or Medal Worker who will hold five Small-Gold Contests will be entitled to any Silver Medal free.

Work to begin October 7, 1899, and will close October 6, 1900.

It is a great injustice to contestants not to give them opportunity to complete their course and receive their diplomas. Let us do so this year.

HISTORICAL.

W. Jennings Demorest, a wealthy Prohibitionist of New York, became impressed with the idea that it would be an excellent thing if the children and young people of the country could, in some way, become interested in the temperance question and better informed in regard to it and its bearings upon the affairs of the nation. After mature deliberations concerning a suitable method of accomplishing this result, the Demorest Medal Contests were inaugurated. On May 9th, 1886, the first contest was held in New York, in Bedford street M. E. church.

serve Christ. 3,191 contests mean in the aggregate 25,000 young people who have committed and recited before audiences ranging from 50 to 5,000, selections giving the best thought of our pronounced thinkers. At least 75,000 people in our State have sat under this wonderful teaching and preaching. This is an influence which augments and increases in a wonderful ratio. These young people are or will be housekeepers, leaders of church, society and State. The heaven must leave the whole lump.

DIAMOND.

In the summer of 1887, Mr. and Mrs. Demorest visited the Pacific coast and introduced the work there. In the summer following, the contests were adopted among the "Bands of Hope" in London and Glasgow, and in November, 1889, but two and a half years after the award of the first medal, the work had extended from California to Maine, from Manitoba to Texas, and was flourishing in many parts of Canada, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, while missionaries in foreign fields were asking for and receiving the medals for use in Australia, Honolulu, South Africa, China, Norway, Burmah and elsewhere.

The work increased so rapidly, that to save labor at the general office, State Superintendents were appointed to fill all orders for supplies, answer all inquiries and keep the record of their own states.

DEMOREST MEMORIAL.

After Mr. and Mrs. Demorest had both passed away to their reward, the National W. C. T. U. took the Demorest medals and books and the Demorest Bureau was discontinued, and Mrs. A. E. Carmen, of Chicago, became National and World's Superintendent of the work, and established the Demorest Memorial day, June 10th, in memory of the founder of this system for temperance and prohibition education, which will prove a monument more lasting than any built of marble or granite.

INDIANA.

The National Woman's Christian Temperance Union endorsed the work and recommended that states appoint their superintendents, subject to Mr. Demorest's acceptance, October, 1887, at their annual meeting in Nashville, Tenn. The Indiana W. C. T. U., at its Mid-Year Executive Committee meeting in December following, appointed the present incumbent to fill this place. October, 1890, at the annual convention in Terre Haute, Mrs. Balch reported contests in every county of the State. Contests have been well received in all the large and many of the smaller cities of the State. The schools to some extent have given them recognition. Conventions, summer assemblies, camp meetings and the fairs have found the contests available and attractive. If the history of this work and its effects on those engaged in it could be carefully written out, it would convince the most critical skeptic that it is uplifting morally, spiritually and intellectually. There comes into the lives of the contestants a healthy ambition, a generous emulation, if the manager of the contest has the Christ spirit and teaches class and audience, "in honor to prefer one another." It is a schooling where they give and get; it lays the foundation of a structure that will shine in eternity. To many impoverished lives (and there are many such) it comes as a great event—a hopeful opportunity.

Diplomas have been awarded to Carl Rutter, of Terre Haute, at LaFayette, October, 1898, and to James C. Gipe, Indianapolis, October, 1899. The occasions were our State Conventions. These young men in accepting their diplomas made brief addresses, much to their credit and of promise to our cause—for if people can be judged by their words they will be for all time the champions of the prohibition of the liquor traffic.

The World's W. C. T. U. Convention will be held in Edinburgh, Scotland, June 20-23, 1900. Arrangements have been made for our American women and their friends to sail from New York on June 6, on the Royal Belgian mail steamship Noordland, of the Red Star Line. From western points and return the fare will be about one-half the regular price for those going in the party June 6. The ocean fare from New York to Edinburgh and return from Antwerp to New York will be one hundred and forty-two dollars and fifty cents for round trip. Those wishing to sail earlier or later than June 6, will be accommodated. The return tickets will be good for one year. For details of trip and plans for side trips, see Union Signal of March 1 and 8. For further information write to Mrs. Minnie B. Horning, The Temple, Chicago, Ill.

LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION CORNER.

I love to speak and write of the Loyal Temperance Legion members as the Girls and Boys, instead of the boys and girls—with the dignity of capital letters, and the Legion being a branch of a woman's society—girls first.

The Loyal Temperance Legion has three divisions or grades.

THE SENIORS.

Those of twelve years and upward belong to the Seniors and they are the advance guard of the L. T. L. They have their distinctive national motto "The Future is Ours," and Indiana Seniors have chosen "We Work to Win."

They have their Senior Pledge Cards and Senior Badges. Volume 1 of the Lesson Manual is for the Seniors to study and upon which they may receive diplomas by passing a written examination, answering not less than 75 per cent of the questions correctly and being a pledged member. While studying for diplomas they may at the same time be reading for a seal.

Mrs. Rice, in Senior L. T. L. page of Union Signal, gives the number of graduates of the different states and credits Indiana with 67. I am sorry she did not know the exact number, which is 214. We started in 1891 with four graduates, one of whom is Fred. Carter, Secretary of the State Legion; in 1892 we had eight; 1893, twenty-seven; 1894, sixty-two and nine seals; 1895, forty-six; 1896, eight; 1897, forty six; 1898, nineteen; 1899, not any, but 160 reported as "studying for diplomas." These and others who have since begun should be faithfully held to the work to the finish. To be an L. T. L. graduate means a great deal to the Girls and Boys and to the future of the W.C.T.U. Upon the women of the W. C. T. U. rests the responsibility of leading our young people in obtaining the knowledge and training required to become a graduate.

Where no leader can be found to take charge of a large Legion, Wisconsin is advising the "ten plan," which aims to secure the promise of several women each to invite to her home and instruct a class of ten legioners who desire to study for diplomas.

Whenever practicable the Seniors should be organized independently, adopting the constitution for Seniors (see Senior L. T. L. Leaflet) or the Seniors and Juniors may be organized as one Legion, divided into Senior classes with Lesson Manual Volume I to study and into Junior classes with Volume II.

THE JUNIOR GRADE

Is composed of girls and boys under 12 years of age and should study Volume II, using the numbers in the following order, Nos. 4, 3, 1, 2, and upon passing satisfactory examination on it, receive the Pink Oval Seal attached to the Junior certificate. The supplies mentioned in this article, and any other L. T. L. supplies, can be ordered of me. KATHRIN T. A. STRAW, General Secretary L. T. L. Branch.

MARCHING SONG OF THE L. T. L.

Tune—Marching Through Georgia.
By Mrs. Elizabeth Tipton Stanley, of Liberty, Ind.

1. We're a band of soldiers brave,
Enlisted for the fight.
We proudly wear a temperance badge,
We know our cause is right.
The Lord will be our helper
And will put the foe to flight,
And time will give us the victory.

CHORUS.

Hurrah! Hurrah! our faith is firm and strong!
Hurrah! Hurrah! we'll overcome the wrong!
Our aim is Prohibition and the end will not be long,
For God will give us the victory.

2. We'll never use tobacco vile,
Nor take God's name in vain.
King Alcohol must fold his tent
And hasten to the main.
Our homes must be protected
From all dens of vice and pain,
And time will give us the victory.
3. Then join the Prohibition ranks
And march against the foe.
Fling out a spotless banner,
Cry, "King Alcohol must go!"
And force the business to retreat,
Taking with it crime and woe,
And God will give us the victory.
4. Ho! every loyal temperance man
Who prays for righteous laws,
Just try a Prohibition vote
For home protection cause,
And then will all the dram-shops go
With no defiant pause,
For God will give us the victory.

Dear L. T. L.'s everywhere, but most especially those of our own beloved State, because you are now, for one whole year, under the protection of my earnest care for the promotion of one glorious cause—the Flower Mission.

First, let me thank the Executive Committee for giving me a work to do that I love so well and I hope to report a satisfactorily performed duty and pleasure.

Now, I would like to ask our L. T. L.'s how many of them have heard the old story of the clock? The face may tell the hours of the day as it passes away forever, but it could tell nothing if there were no little wheels back of it to give it something to tell. Now, dear comrades, I am going on with my own flower work and I want you all to do your share, too, and then tell me about it so I will have something to tell. We all like to hear good reports, but back of that and through it all is the comforting thought of what it all means. You must all remember that it does not mean flowers alone. These are grand when you get them; when they are scarce they will be prized the more. Little dinners, social visits and comforting messages to the sick are always in the line of the Flower Mission Work.

Out-grown clothing has brought joy into many a less fortunate home. Very many persons put into rag sacks cast-off clothing that is still really quite good and would lift a portion of the load from some sad life if only we would "think, and think properly."

I would like to have the names of Flower Mission Superintendents from every L. T. L. in the State. Will you please send them to me? LIZZIE Z. HOLLOWAY,
State Superintendent of Flower Mission of the L. T. L.

CIGARETTES CONDEMNED.

The Supreme Court of Tennessee declared the law forbidding the sale or giving away of cigarettes in that State constitutional, and said, in part, as follows:

"We think cigarettes are not legitimate articles of commerce, because they are wholly noxious and deleterious to health. Their use is always harmful; never beneficial. They possess no virtue, but are inherently bad, and bad only. They find no true commendation or merit or usefulness in any sphere. On the contrary, they are widely condemned as pernicious altogether. Beyond question their every tendency is toward the impairment of physical health and mental vigor."

YOUR REPRESENTATIVE.

Now is the time to urge those men who desire to go to the State Legislature, to pledge their constituents that, if elected, they will vote for and use their influence to have a prohibitory cigarette law passed.

FOR THOSE WHO DESIRE TO HELP.

At the next National Convention, our National Superintendent of Anti-Narcotics will give two gold medals. One to the state reporting the greatest number of boys pledged against tobacco. This will include boys in the Loyal Temperance Legion, Anti-Cigarette League, Sunday school, and boys not connected with any organization. The coupon attached to the pledge card must be returned. Price of pledge cards, 35 cents per 100. Also a gold medal to the State Superintendent sending in the greatest number of press clippings giving notice of death and insanity, or any injury, done by the cigarette.

Every White Ribboner can secure signatures to the pledge. Send postage stamps and get some cards; or, better still, get your Union to send for a few hundred cards. Send to our National Superintendent of Anti-Narcotic Department, Mrs. E. B. Ingalls, 4119 Westminster Place, St. Louis, Mo. Then let us each one save the clippings asked for. Every newspaper reader, including the boys and girls, can help. Get the exchanges from newspaper offices. Send all clippings to our State Superintendent of Anti-Narcotics, Miss Zella Miller, Martinsville, Ind. This will help the cause by securing testimony needed and may bring an honor medal to our loved Indiana.

HADLEY INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

Miss Lucretia Hobart, President, 1101 Virginia Avenue, Indianapolis.
Mrs. Maggie Cox, Recording and Corresponding Secretary, Westfield, Hamilton County, Ind.
Mrs. Rebecca Hessong, Treasurer, Broad Ripple.

FROM MRS. B. M. PARKER, SUPERINTENDENT AT THE HADLEY INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

We are glad for the opportunity of speaking to you again through the MESSAGE. Since our last letter we have been quite busy helping our girls in their contest and school work; then came Christmas with many bundles and packages to be opened and prepared for them. The Columbus Union kindly remembered us with home-made candies, oranges and dolls, which were enjoyed by all. On January 3d our dear sister from Westland Union, Mrs. Lydia A. Binford, came to us with willing hands to aid in our sewing room, donating to us more than two weeks of her time and strength, working from early morning until bedtime. In all we (or she) made and worked at over twenty-five garments. We, like the disciples of Joppa, were sorry when she went away. We do feel that the Lord is so good to us. He keeps every one in perfect health and we have so many sisters who are interested in us.

On the 28th we received from the benevolent hands of the Coal Bluff Mining Co., of Terre Haute, a car load of coal, which we are now enjoying on this zero morning. We know they will be richly rewarded. In November we were the happy recipients of a nice large soft coal burner from Elkhart Union, Mrs. Tomkins, President; and in December one from North Manchester Union, Mrs. Hesse, President. Our school is progressing nicely under the care of Miss Myrtle Davis.

The possibilities of "mother earth" are great.

The agriculturist must plan the coming campaign and be ready to improve the early opening of opportunities. This is what the managers of Hadley Home are striving to do. They are expecting to make the farm yield all that is possible, but they recognize the fact that they are dependent on the sunshine and showers, supplemented by pure seed, and the vigorous use of the hoe and plow. Our girls are regular little heroines in their battles with weeds. Our farm begins to look like somebody lived on it, but it is certainly true that a farm of 110 acres of land, tended by one man and several little girls, will not yield sufficient income to feed and educate a family of thirty children. If it were possible to do this, the price of land would be higher than it is now. So you are advised there is necessity for supplemental support, which our organization must provide in some way.

Let us be inspired by the example of the brave heroes of South Africa, who give everything, even life itself, in defense of their homes and liberty.

What is the matter of a few cents, when put in the scales against the rescue of innocent childhood? If you could but see the change which comes to the dear girls, after coming under the influence of our Christian home, you would feel fully repaid for all your sacrifice in helping to maintain it. LUCRETIA HOBART.

INDIANA'S OPPORTUNITY.

From mother National and our sister States Indiana has received praise and honor it would seem almost beyond her deserts. But her golden opportunity has now doubtless come to her to deserve all the praise she will receive. To go into unorganized territory and make the conditions such as to hold a successful institute session and organize a Union requires such persistence and self-sacrifice as comes only of "a faith which takes no denial." Tact, courtesy, common sense and consecration must all enter into the solution of the problem of how to do it with stick-to-ativeness to the close. But with all these appliances and the plan thoughtfully and prayerfully worked out in detail, one could almost afford to insure the desired result.

It has been a delight to watch the tactful engineering of County Presidents in untrodden fields. Some of these have been baffled and disappointed at almost every turn in the beginning, but never discouraged nor defeated. Not a Wellington or Alexander or a Dewey has planned for more certain victory and none of these for a conquest so noble or a goal so unimpeachable.

Indiana's Missionary Institute Campaign has opened as heroically and as breezily as the February and March winds which her workers must face until they are ushered into budding April and laughing May. Then let the good work go on—

With never a thought for the toil that it costs,
While we garner the gold and cancel the dross.

In the perfect days of June we shall recount our victories and rejoice in our new possessions. Our dear County Presidents, who must of necessity lead in this great work, will know for themselves and not for another the deep significance of the results which have been attained.

INSTITUTES

Are being held in new territory this year. A one-idea person can not make them succeed. County Presidents can. They go with plans and substitutes and other plans. They go with plans galore.

Mesdames Holler, Shelt and Pierce will assist in Institutes in territory convenient to their homes. Later Mrs. Tompkins, Miss Newlin, and maybe Miss Sears, will co operate in the work. See February MESSAGE for leaders in the different sections and send filled programs to them accordingly.

Do not confuse the subjects, which are as follows: "Women and the Temperance Reform," by Mrs. Hattie Brand; "Equality in Citizenship," by Mrs. M. A. Tompkins; "War and Twentieth Century Civilization," by Miss Mell Newlin; "Scientific Temperance in the Public Schools," by Rev. Mattie Cammack-Gibson; "Five Boys in Knee Pants," by Rev. Mattie Cammack-Gibson; "The Economics of the Liquor Traffic," by Miss Mary Hadley; "Scientific Temperance in the Public Schools," by Miss Mary Hadley; "The Purpose and Methods of the W. C. T. U.—What Has It Accomplished?" by Miss Mary Hadley.

MARY HADLEY,
Superintendent.

FIELD NOTES.

For lack of space the editor regrets not to be able to publish beautiful poems by Mrs. A. P. Daub, of Goshen and Mrs. Kate Gregory, of Lafayette.

Treasurers' report blanks were sent out March 1. If any Treasurer has failed to receive her blanks, please let me know immediately, that others may be sent. AMANDA T. WHITSON,
State Treasurer.

Have "Mothers Bow of Ribbon White," sung by a gentleman at your Institute and gospel temperance meeting. Sheet music 30 cents per copy of our State Treasurer, Mrs. A. T. Whitson, 3335 N. Meridian street, Indianapolis. Use White Ribbon Hymal or Fillmore's song books in gospel temperance meetings. Sing temperance sentiments.

Peru Union recently held an all day meeting at the home of President Mrs. Kilmer. Sixty-four members were present. The ministers and other honorary members were present. A most excellent dinner was served. An interesting program was rendered in the afternoon. All present were enthusiastic and the sweet spirit of unity among the churches was gratifying to see. The White Ribboners of Peru are doing much good work.

Dearborn County Unions have appointed efficient Superintendents of Sabbath Observance. Miss Mattie Bennett for Dillsboro, and Mrs. Anna Robertson for Guilford. The atmosphere surrounding Moore's Hill College does not savor strongly of Sabbath desecration.

Knox County Superintendent of Christian Citizenship, Miss Dee Polk, with the co-operation of some of the business men of Oaktown, have succeeded in getting stores and business houses closed on Sunday in that place, the first time in years.

Eunice P. Wilson Union, of Upland, is alive to every known interest. Through the persistent efforts of the Union a curfew law has been passed, and we are truly proud that we have so many loyal workers. February 14th the Union observed Frances Willard's Memorial day with a very fitting program.

Marion Union is greatly agitated over the unclean "shows." Committees have been sent to these shows. Oh, that every mother in every town would investigate the scenes presented behind the footlights. Our Mrs. Mattie Cammack-Gibson preached twice in Marion on a recent Sabbath, in the morning in the Christian church and evening in the Presbyterian church.

North Manchester Union rejoices over the encouragement received by the work of Mrs. M. A. Tompkins in a parlor meeting and Sunday services, all of which were well attended. The quarterly department meeting held by the Union was a success and aroused an interest in the departments which were presented, viz., Evangelistic, Sabbath School and Mothers' Meetings.

Morocco Union fills a column in the local paper each week. Presented the public school with a framed picture of Miss Willard, and keeps the wall pocket at the railroad station filled with literature.

Burlington Union held a silver medal contest which was a success. The class was composed of six girls, five of whom were members of the first-year high school class, and one was a seventh grade pupil. The medal was awarded to Rebecca Patton. The orchestra furnished several selections, besides solos, duets and songs. The receipts of the evening were about $10, besides the vast amount of good that may have been done. Burlington Union, with Mrs. J. O. Engleman as President, will no doubt accomplish much good this year.

Centre Union, in Marion county, held its February meeting at the home of a member. Mrs. A. T. Whitson, our State Treasurer (once a member) being present, a pleasant surprise was planned by the members and others, going in at the dinner hour with well filled baskets. After partaking of the bounties of a well filled table, all assembled to listen to a short program by the members and hear report of National Convention given by Mrs. Whitson. She also exhibited an advertisement bill of Crusade day in Ohio, all exceedingly interesting. We highly appreciated the presence of the brothers who met with us. Much more could have been said, but the lateness of the hour warned us to adjourn, dispersing with our baskets lighter than when we came.

The South Bend Willard Memorial Y issued 5,000 copies of an eight-page paper in the educational and financial interest of the Union. The editor was Miss Agnes Butts; associate editor, Miss Myrtle Huey. The business men liberally assisted by advertising and the interested citizens have purchased the papers at five cents per copy. Great good has no doubt been accomplished and about $100 will be put into the Y treasury. When young people take hold, as they always do, with enthusiasm and energy, victory is sure to come. The MESSAGE extends hearty congratulations to these young journalists.

Miss Emma W. Moore, of Kokomo, writes: After reading the article by the General Secretary of L. T. L. work in the last MESSAGE, I thought perhaps the W. C. T. U. women of the State might be interested in learning of Kokomo's L. T. L. Our Mayor says through his wife, "That it is the best organization for good and doing the best work of any in the city." We have an enrollment of 119; pledged, 90, with an average attendance of 70. They formerly met in a hall until it was desired for other purposes, then, without a home, the city officials gave permission to meet in the police court room, where hangs the roll of honor and pledge as a lesson for the transgressors who unwillingly frequent the room.

Valparaiso Union secured ten new members last fall, which entitled it to a free lecture. The good work went on until there are now seventeen new members since Sept. 1. Mrs. F. H. Frink secured twelve of these as a result of the inspiration received at the State Convention. On Thanksgiving Day the Union gave a public dinner to the city's poor, which was well attended. Religious services were held and much good accomplished. Each year the collection taken at the Thanksgiving services is turned over to the W. C. T. U. for distribution. This year it amounted to $20. Occasional meetings are held with the unfortunate poor at the county asylum, which seem to be much appreciated. The anti-Roberts mass meeting was a decided success, as also was our crusade anniversary meeting. Election of county officers took place here in December. Mrs. J. E. Hall, one of our local members, was elected President. Last month we held a meeting in the M. E. Church, which was well attended. The pastor preached a sermon on "Sabbath Observance," which was well received, and the Union was given a collection of $7.52, of which $2 was sent to the Hadley Home.

Mrs. M. L. Hobbs writes: I have been thinking of sending items from our county, but it appears so little good I had to send and do not like to send any other. Our county is largely German, but a few in the western part are trying to maintain our cause. Our members are scattered and with the cold and bad roads, we do not see much of each other during this season. But we are working with our might and I am planning largely for next spring. We are pushing the medal work and have organized one L. T. L. and planning for two or three more in the spring, also expect to get Mrs. Squires and little Emma soon as the mud settles. I am not well this winter and can't get out; have to do what I can with my pen. I am raising a club for the MESSAGE and will send it soon. We have had much sickness and some deaths among our members. We will raise our membership tax for the Hadley School and with God's help we are doing all we can. Do hope the Convention next fall will not be so far north that I can't get any of our women to go.

Montpelier Union recently had a visit from Mrs. S. M. Stahl, the County President, and Mrs. Anna Lee, of Hartford City. At a parlor meeting held at the home of Mrs. Dr. Wilt, there were 28 ladies present. Mrs. Stahl's address was inspiring and convincing. Five new members were secured. Elegant refreshments were served by the hostess, who was told that her provision for the physical nature was only equalled by that furnished the spiritual nature by Mrs. Stahl. The public meeting in the M. E. Church in the evening was a great success. Solos were rendered by Miss Anna Goodin and Mrs. Scott. The beautiful address of Mrs. Lee, in which she described her recent trip to the National W. C. T. U. Convention at Seattle, was greatly enjoyed by the attentive audience. Mrs. Lee is an able speaker.

Frankfort Union held a most successful parlor social at the elegant home of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Thrasher. The residence had been most beautifully and tastefully decorated for the occasion and was well filled by a large and intelligent company. A splendid program, consisting of music, recitations and graphophone selections, was rendered and greatly enjoyed. The superintendents of the Union also gave interesting talks in presenting the work of their departments. Delicious refreshments were served and a pleasant social time was enjoyed. Several new members were added to the Union, with the promise of more. This Union is holding a membership contest and the social was planned by the three captains for the purpose of facilitating the work of securing members and interesting outsiders in our work.

Washington Union is on the increase. In the early winter Mrs. L. M. Beck spent the Sabbath there and gave three lectures. Her work was very helpful. At a recent parlor meeting three new members were gained and a free-will offering taken for the work. In February a parlor social was held at Mrs. Palmer's, for which special invitations were issued. The guests represented all the different churches of the city, except two, and among the best families of the city. The program (for such a W. C. T. U. gathering is not complete without mental souvenirs) consisted of papers and selections on "Temperance in a Mental, Moral and Physical Sense." Interpersed with excellent music, refreshments were served and a delightful hour was spent.

Michigan City Union held a measuring social recently that was well attended and proved a very enjoyable affair.

The invitations which were sent out read as follows:

A Measuring Party will be given you
By the ladies of the W. C. T. U.
It's something novel and will be quite a treat,
And there'll be plenty of fun and good things to eat.
The invitation is in the sack,
For use in sending, and bringing back,
Three cents for each foot that you are tall,
A part of the proceeds to go to the "Hadley Hall."
An extra cent for each inch give,
And thereby show how high you live,
And if perchance you can't attend,
By some dear friend your sack please send.

One gentleman returned his sack with $1.50—twenty-five cents for each member of his family. The receipts were $18.50. The value of such enthusiasm and friendliness must be estimated in influences set in motion.

Delaware County, Selma, had the first Institute of 1900, Mrs. Cammack Gibson in charge. A Union of 17 members and 5 honoraries was the result.

Bourbon has the law of Indiana relating to the teaching of the effects of alcohol and narcotics in our schools printed in readable type and good form. This will be put up in every school building in the township, including the new musical college. These wise sisters expect to take a hand in electing the school board and work for the election of men pledged to enforce the Scientific Temperance Law. Every county or Union in the State could do equally well.

Walnut Ridge Union reports itself ready for active service for the year.

Indianapolis Central Union, at its last regular meeting March 1st, received three new members; one of the three was a Y. The evening of March 1st Baby Squier gave an entertainment under the auspices of this Union in Indianapolis and all who heard her were delighted. The new Blanket Report Blanks were quite an event in the Union. They at once named March 9th for the special meeting to fill these blanks.

Five hundred letters were sent out by our State President, Mrs. McWhirter, asking educators and friends to have letters and telegrams sent from teachers, ministers and other voters to Congressman Chas. B. Landis, who was our Indiana representative on the committee to investigate the charges against the Mormon Roberts, praying him to use his influence and vote for the home against polygamy. Also that letters be sent to other members of Congress from our State urging them to stand by the home in voting to expel Mr. Roberts from the House of Representatives. The aroused public sentiment of the people of the country brought the victory.

The Wabash Josephine Nichols Union having voted to invite Mrs. Conklin, gave all the work of planning and arranging for the meetings into the hands of Dr. Jessup Smith, our local Superintendent of purity work. (Dr. Smith is known throughout the State as our very efficient Superintendent of Non-Alcoholic Medication.) The Doctor's plan was to have thirty women take ten tickets each, for which they must receive ten cents each, thus giving us thirty dollars to start with. These tickets admitted to first lecture, all subsequent lectures to be free. Mrs. Conklin's terms were twenty-five dollars for three days, two meetings a day. Sometimes the plans of women, like the plans of "mice and men, will gang alee." Our prospective thirty dollars dwindled to about fifteen, but our collections were good, and if we count the dues from our thirty new members we more than paid expenses. Had it not been for the severe weather our gains, both in members and money, would doubtless have been doubled. We rejoiced that we were able to pin our badges on so many good women. Some of them we had long coveted for our work. These, however, are not the measures of the good done. Thought was awakened and impressions made that with some will prove lasting as life. We were glad to be able to keep Mrs. Conklin another three days. She is bright, witty and eloquent. She is good medicine for any weak, sickly Union.

While writing I feel constrained to add a word concerning the Townsend (colored) Union of Wabash. Since the Seattle convention they have more than doubled their membership. Among the additions are six or eight honoraries. Mothers' meetings, L. T. L. work, flower mission and literature are the departments in which they are the most interested. Last night they gave a reception to their new members at the home of Mrs. Olivia Brown.

The writer was one of four of the Nichols Union honored with invitations. Miss Maggie Brown, daughter of our hostess, presided at the piano. Songs and short talks occupied an hour's time, after which cream and cake was served. During the evening two or three new members were added to the union. If I am not mistaken, there are but two women in the church that are not in the union. The Nichols Union has gained over fifty members since the convention. We expect to have our gain of one hundred in Wabash County.

Dear comrades who read this, shall we not all unite in more active work, that our State shall not lose ground during the period of rest which her physicians have imposed on our dear President? If we keep our glorious State right in the van, we will doubtless do more than the doctors in restoring her to health. Let us plan wisely and execute promptly.

HARRIET F. KIDD.

QUARTERLY REPORTS.

The Blanket Report blanks for the quarter ending March 15, 1900, have been sent to the Corresponding Secretary of each local Union. These will be sent on the first day of December, March, June and September.

The Union will hold a meeting before the fifteenth of these months, at which the general officers and local superintendents must be present, and every other member of the Union ought to be there.

Local superintendents will fill these blanks in the presence of the meeting and mail without delay—having come to the meeting with the stamped envelopes for that purpose.

The different department coupon blanks must not, under any circumstances, be detached until at this meeting.

Work having been done in a department not having a superintendent—the Corresponding Secretary will fill the blank at this meeting and state there is no local, and mail to the State Superintendent. Each department Superintendent must write a duplicate of her report and send to her County Superintendent; if there is no County Superintendent, send to the County Corresponding Secretary.

The Union must see the importance of following these instructions minutely.

When questions should be answered by figures, do not answer by giving "a little," "some," "a good many," and the like. If you are not positive, put down a small estimate. Any remarks or work not covered by the questions, write on a separate piece of paper and make full entry into the record book that each local superintendent absolutely needs to have.

The Medal and Normal Institute departments do not appear on this blank, as they are reported otherwise. The one from the several institutes on blanks provided by the State Superintendent, and the other by the certificate blank sent out with the medals.

This plan was decided upon as a means for getting fuller reports of the great work done by the Local Superintendents, some of whom have failed to recognize the importance of reporting all work done, many times counting their work of too little importance to report. Work is also done by Unions along several department lines that do not have a Superintendent. All this work reported will stimulate others to action. Let each Local Union President and Secretary arrange for a meeting where these report blanks will be filled, that the importance of this splendid plan will be considered and carried out promptly.

We need honorary members. If you want your union work to be a success, work for honoraries.

IN MEMORIAM.

At her home in West Lebanon, Feb. 11, the beautiful spirit of Mrs. A. S. Fleming went home. She was sympathetic, trustful, tactful and faithful. Openhanded to help every reform, only the last day will reveal all her benevolences. Her going leaves but one living representative in this place with dues paid up and wearing the white ribbon. She was our County Local President for many years. A crusader and always striving for the best, she had much to contend with at home and abroad.

THE MESSAGE.

"Not by Might nor by Power, but by My Spirit."

VOL. IV. No. 4.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., APRIL, 1900.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR.

The Mid-Year Executive meeting was held in North Vernon, April 3d and 4th. The attendance of County Presidents was large. The oratorical contest on the first evening was well attended. The medal was awarded to Mrs. Ella B. Wright, President of Decatur county.

On the second evening Mrs. Frances E. Beauchamp, of Lexington, Ky., President of the W. C. T. U. of that State and one of our National Secretaries, delivered a very able address to a large and appreciative audience. Subject, "Does it Pay?" It was indeed a rare privilege for us to have Mrs. Beauchamp present the principles for which we stand in such an interesting, logical and forceful manner to the people of North Vernon.

We were glad to hold our Mid-Year Meeting in North Vernon, because of our great desire to push organization in the southern part of the State. The North Vernon Union, composed of eight members, increased its membership and we hope as a further result of the meeting they will be able to rally to their support the christian women of North Vernon.

MID-YEAR EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE NOTES

The invitation to hold the Annual Convention at Frankfort was accepted.

The L. T. L. State Convention invited to meet with the State Convention of the W. C. T. U.

Saturday night of the Convention will be Y night and part of their program will be a diamond medal contest under the direction of the State Superintendent.

Miss Hadley, State and National Superintendent of Normal Institutes, reported 19 unions organized during the Institutes held in March. Total regular members added, 315; total honoraries, 68. Subscriptions to MESSAGE, 157; Union Signals, 33 Young Crusader, 4; New Crusader, 2.

Mrs. Mary Bonney, formerly of Marion, was elected to fill vacancy on the Hadley Industrial School Board.

CAREFUL ATTENTION—BLANKET REPORT BLANKS.

The committee, with few exceptions, regard the blanks favorably. It was decided to send two blanks to each Union, to save the Local Superintendent copying the report to send to County Superintendent. It is not the purpose of these blanks to ignore County Superintendents, and no one should so understand them. There are Unions that do not have the helpful influence of county organizations. There are other Unions—many of them, too, in our best organized counties—that carry departments which are not duplicated in the county. To insure uniformity and correct reporting, the Local Superintendent reports directly to the State and to the County Superintendent, when she has one. This does not in any way debar the County Superintendent from the most free and full correspondence with her State Superintendent, but it does insure that every Local Union will be heard from. It was the sense of the committee that the Union should only mail reports. Having no Superintendent and no work done in a department, the blank should not be forwarded.

The presence of Mrs. Frances E. Beauchamp, the loved President of Kentucky, and Assistant Recording Secretary of the National W. C. T. U., was inspiring and helpful. Her short address upon the work was appreciated by the Executive, as was her splendid lecture in the evening.

An appropriation of $25.00 was asked for the L. T. L. Branch. Mrs. Mattie Cammack-Gibson generously gave $25.00 of her annual appropriation as a State Officer, for that purpose.

In an address to the Executive, Mrs. McWhirter recommended that a permanent endowment for the Indiana W. C. T. U. be secured, the income from which should be used for organizing purposes. The recommendation was approved.

W. C. T. U. EXHIBIT AT PARIS EXPOSITION.

Early in January, our National Corresponding Secretary wrote to Indiana, saying her proportion for supporting the W. C. T. U. exhibit at Paris would be forty dollars. That amount for such purpose was not in our treasury and the State Secretary sent out personal letters, asking persons to give or collect a dollar and send in, and the list of donors published in the MESSAGE and Phalanx, which would be their receipt. List of donors to date: A. T. Whitson, Indianapolis; M. A. Tompkins, Elkhart; M. P. Bugbee, South Bend; Frances Boyer, Frankfort; Gulie Shugart, Jonesboro; J. W. Ridgeway, LaPorte; L. F. McWhirter, Indianapolis; M. E. Balch, Indianapolis; Sadie Eves, North Vernon; M. A. Omo, Harlan; Harriet Steckel; Mulberry; E. D. Hardy, Goodland; Ellen Rogers, Pendleton; Mrs. Cammack Gibson, Jonesboro—each one dollar. R. C. Travis, Elkhart; May Moser, Logoootee—each fifty cents. M. A. Moody, Indianapolis; J. R. Wood, Indianapolis—each thirty cents. Eaton, Greensburg, Crawfordsville, LaPorte and Indianapolis Frances Willard Union, each one dollar; Wells and Jay County, each one dollar; Jane T. Doan and several ladies at Plainfield, seventy-five cents. Total, $24.35. This does not cover any amounts sent direct to Mrs. Whitson. Read on. Many things have conspired to induce the World's W. C. T. U. officers to abandon an exhibit at the Paris Exposition, among the heavy duties which prevent the sale of temperance drinks, the great expense of a Kiosk—far beyond that which was anticipated—and the South African War, as stated by Miss Slack in her recent letter to the Union Signal. It is desirable, however, that the literature and money contributed at the request of the National W. C. T. U. and Mrs. Guild, remain where it is for the present. It is barely possible that the National may be able to secure again the space in Sociological Department of the United States exhibit, which it relinquished when the World's W. C. T. U. decided to erect a pavilion of its own. If this is not now possible, there is still ahead of us the International Temperance Congress in London in June, also the Pan-American Exposition in Buffalo next year, both of which desire W. C. T. U. exhibits. Therefore we trust that nothing sent in for the Paris exhibition will be recalled at the present time.—Union Signal.
March 15, 1900. MARY E. BALCH.

MARION COUNTY.

Spring Convention was held March 28 and 29 at the United Presbyterian Church, Arsenal Avenue, in Indianapolis. This closed a busy half year's work. Although the weather was very unfavorable the attendance was fine. Throughout the entire convention a deep spiritual atmosphere prevailed; the devotional services at the beginning of each session, at the noon-tide hour and praise service the last hour of the convention, were times of great refreshing and of wonderful spiritual power.

Reports from County Officers and Superintendents and from Local Presidents told of work carefully planned and energetically executed. Each Union has been busy with its own special work. The County Officers have been tireless in their efforts for the success of the county. Superintendents have studied and pushed their departments with greater zeal than ever before.

At a joint meeting of the County Executive Committee and County Superintendents in January, it was recommended by the latter and adopted by the Executive, that a series of not less than twenty-five Gospel Temperance meetings be held in the churches in various parts of the city during the quarter. Not quite this number had been held up to the time of the Convention, but others are to be held in the near future, which will complete the list. A great deal of our literature was distributed at the meetings. Not only White Ribboners, but pastors and lay members, participated in the exercises. The leading subjects brought out by these meetings were the growing use of the cigarette, especially by boys, the serving of intoxicants in the punch bowl at social gatherings, and the handling of liquors by grocers. On the program of the County Convention one hour was assigned for the presentation of these topics, under the head of "Liquor in the Home." After a discussion of the subject the following resolutions were adopted:

"Resolved, That we, the women of the Marion County W. C. T. U., will carefully endeavor to learn what grocers do and what grocers do not, in any way, handle either cigarettes or liquors of any kind; that we will give our patronage only to those who do not, and that we will use our influence in our churches, in other organizations and in every way possible to induce others to do the same.

"We recommend that each Union appoint a committee whose duty it shall be to secure a list of the names of grocers not handling liquor or cigarettes and report them to the members and friends of their Unions.

"That we will, in every way possible, discourage the name and use of the punch bowl at social gatherings or elsewhere. We ask, also, that a request from this convention be sent to our National Officers, asking that, in the columns of our National organ, the Union Signal, a campaign be opened against the punch bowl, and that some name and method be presented, by which harmless fruit juices may be served, without the suspicion that intoxicants are being used."

The financial condition of the county was very satisfactory. The obligation pledged at the State convention for Hadley Industrial School had been met and Unions were responding liberally to the request for funds for the running expenses of the School. The only plan for increasing the funds of the treasury, outside of county dues, was from collections at gospel temperance meetings and from a lecture given under the auspices of the county by Dr. Rebecca Rogers George, upon "The Profession of Motherhood." These two sources added materially to the county funds.

A committee appointed early in the year by the County Executive Committee to revise the Constitution and By-Laws so as to meet the needs of our county, reported and after some slight changes made by the convention the report was accepted and the Constitution and By-Laws adopted.

Through the efforts of the State Superintendent of Scientific Temperance Instruction, her own Union had furnished the School Physiology Journal to the teachers of the city schools. Unions of the county furnish notices of their meetings to the daily papers. A department for Marion County has been maintained in the Phalanx for the past three months, averaging two and a half columns per week. Besides W. C. T. U. news, letters and reports of County Superintendents have been published in these columns and sent to each Union in the county.

M. E. SIMS,
Press Reporter.

A generous friend of the W. C. T. U. sent to Mrs. McWhirter a letter containing a bank check for $500 for the Hadley Industrial School. We are requested to say that this gift is from a friend. It would rejoice our hearts to tell the name.

Noble County Institute was held at Avilla. The Unions of the county were well represented. Much interest was manifested by the people of the community. The subjects were ably presented and the discussions interesting. Proportionate Giving, by Mrs. Gorrel; L. T. L. Branch, Mrs. Halferty; Sabbath Observance, Mrs. Murray, and Organization by Mrs. Simons, indicated intelligent enthusiasm. The presence and helpfulness of the ministers was encouraging. The oratorical contest was a great success; the medal was awarded to Miss Cappa Krurs. Another contest will be held soon. The increased attendance on the second day indicated increased interest. The addresses of Rev. Murry of Albion, and Rev. Pearce of LaPorte, were much appreciated. The evening lecture was delivered by Mrs. Rose Pearce to a large and very attentive audience. As a result of the Institute a Union was organized.

FRANCHISE.

Is the influence of women in the world to be expected henceforth in a direct way or only indirectly, as has been the case heretofore? Have women power to expect a straightforward influence?

The leaders of thought among women have ever held that women had power enough, such as it was; the trouble, if any, laying in the lack of united effort. Margaret Fuller said, "Woman need only to be a good worker or a good scold to secure her influence." Demosthenes once declared that "measures which the statesman has meditated a whole year may be overturned in a day by a woman." Napoleon Bonaparte used to say to his diplomatic agents, "Look to the women."

It is the claim of one of Fredrika Bremer's heroines that a woman can obtain anything she likes of a man by always having something nice to pop into his mouth. But is it in this way that the women who have most nobly influenced the world around them have gone to work? When Madame de Stael faced Napoleon; when Harriet Martineau was besought by an English Lord Chancellor to write her book on Political Economy; when Florence Nightingale saved the British army in the Crimea; when Elizabeth Fry revolutionized the English prisons, and Dorothy Dix the American prisons, they did not accomplish their work by sugar candy or by pretty little attitudes. They paid the other sex the compliment of taking life in earnest, and the result was victory. They went straight forward, and they prevailed. It is the women of direct heroism, after all, who play a noble part in history. If they only do that, all other things may be added to their victory.

The ballot for women, the full franchise in four States of the Union, settled by popular vote, is a sign of the times and a milestone of human tendency. This fact is of the profoundest importance; and its greatest interest is in its involving, as has been said, the whole question of direct or indirect power. All the changes of law in regard to women during the last half century have led up to the same question; even the enlargement of school and business opportunities have blazed the way to the complete enfranchisement of women.

I am anxious that the Superintendents of Franchise, both County and Local, shall be encouraged to proceed with great energy in the three distinct lines of work set forth in this year's suffrage plan:

1. To secure the enrollment of many names, both of men and women.
2. To hold contests or a crazy T, or some entertainment by which they may help defray the next year's legislative expenses.
3. To use the press in every county and town in Indiana.

I will furnish suffrage articles to every woman who will act as Press Reporter or Superintendent of Press Work for Suffrage, that will write me that she would so do.

Dear County and Local Superintendents, let me urge you to press forward in these three lines of work. I will give prizes to the four women that have done the best and most work in each of these three lines of work. What twelve or which twelve women will do the best and most work?

M. A. TOMPKINS,
State Superintendent.

MOTHERS' MEETINGS.

I have been pleased with the response of the superintendents to my letter in January MESSAGE, yet I am sure I have not heard from a fourth of them. A card to-day says, "I want to be in touch with my State Superintendent." I am so glad to get such cards. I want to be in touch with every superintendent of mothers' meetings, and then if we are all in touch with God, what a host we will be for Him, and what a blessing to the motherhood of our land. Let us be much in prayer for our work, so we may have access both to the throne of God and the hearts of the mothers. One sister says, "What is your plan of work?" I have written twice to National Superintendent for instructions, asked many questions, but no answer. All the plan I have at present is a superintendent for every county and one for every local. Supply yourselves with good literature, hold meetings, agitate, educate. Don't always depend on the W. C. T. U. day for your meeting. Go into unorganized neighborhoods. Ask some good mother to let you have a mothers' meeting, for her to invite her neighbors; you send special invitations to young mothers, and you will have an audience. Take the Bible for your text-book, the Holy Spirit for your guide and you will have a sympathetic audience. Make your meetings very informal, let everybody feel free. Be prepared to give a talk, or have a prepared paper on some phase of child culture or responsibility of motherhood. Ask some lady to read a leaflet or a selection from "The New Crusade." Discussion of topics relating to duty of parents and children. Occasionally have "Parents' Meetings." In these meetings child culture should be studied, in order that fathers as well as mothers may become interested in correct home training. Every father should be reminded that God says He will "visit the iniquity of the father upon the children to the third and fourth generations of them that hate Me, but showing mercy unto thousands of them that love me and keep my commandments." (Deut 5-9-10.) Love is the test of our loyalty. Jesus says, "If ye love me ye will keep my commandments." Knowledge is power, and to be an intelligent worker we must have literature. "The New Crusade," by Dr. Mary Wood-Allen, Ann Arbor, Mich., one dollar per year, coming to us fresh every month, is an inspiration no superintendent can well afford to be without. "Forcible Facts," "Clean Hands," "Rights of Offspring," from Vanguard, 2335 Randolph street, St. Louis, Mo. "Christian Life," National Purity Association, 84 Fifth avenue, Chicago.

Dear Superintendents, let me urge you to keep a faithful record of all work done, if only a few pages of literature distributed, a meeting or Bible reading.

The blanket reports are out. Let us "gather up the fragments, that nothing be lost." Be prompt with reports. I gladly answer all letters or cards.

"Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God."

MRS. S. M. STAHL,
State Superintendent.

A GRATEFUL SUPERINTENDENT.

I am anxious to tell all my sister State Superintendents how much I have appreciated the help of a few and how I know we can aid one another and be blest.

Just recently by the aid of two of our Superintendents I've been able to add three more names of Superintendents to my department of "Foreign Work." A rather difficult department, as the English prevails, and I in turn was so pleased to appoint a Superintendent for them in my county.

If any State Superintendent can aid me by using some of my literature, do let me know and I'll send you free of cost some samples in any language you desire and let me know if I can help you.

MRS. ANNA KILMER,
State Superintendent.

LITERATURE.

In making out my plan of work for the Department of Temperance Literature, I failed to mention the Young Crusader. This is one of our official organs and it is just as important to push the subscriptions for it as for the others. Formation is better than reformation! Will you not help me, dear sisters, to make amends for the omission by trying to get it in every W. C. T. U. home and as many other homes as possible? Report the subscriptions for Young Crusader along with MESSAGE and Union Signal.

MRS. ETTA AYRES,
State Superintendent.

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, HEREDITY AND PHYSICAL CULTURE.

This department, this year, must be pushed vigorously. Let each Superintendent do her best and let each County Superintendent see that each Local Union in her county has a Superintendent, and send her name to me at once, that I may send her instructions.

The National Superintendent of Physical Culture will, at the next National Convention, present two names:

1. To the state making the largest gain in the number of County and Local Superintendents.

2. To the state holding the largest number of special meetings, in the interest of physical education and the most literature used in the work. These two items combined.

Let us see to it that Indiana gets this honor and thus give added glory to her already bright W. C. T. U. work.

Each W and Y should order one dozen copies of the Exercise for Busy Women, costing forty cents per dozen. These sell at 5 cents per single copy.

Each Superintendent should interest county teachers' Institutes, county, state and town medical societies, asking that a paper be presented on this subject. Send to me for literature.

MISS CLARA AGNES BOYD,
State Superintendent.

Y. W. C. T. U.

The fourth district Y Conference was held at Christian Alliance Church, Indianapolis, March 17th. Miss Sears took charge and opened the meeting with a Bible Reading, followed by a prayer by Mr. James Gipe, of Indianapolis. Miss Jennie Edwards, President Monrovia Y, was selected Conference Secretary. Committee to entertain resolutions: Misses Duncan, Greenfield; Clark, Monrovia, and Potter, Indianapolis.

Each paper deserved special mention. The beautiful thoughts, the helpful words, will revive the social and department work of loved organization. After lunch the Conference adjourned to the Century Club room at Denison Hotel, where we were more comfortable. After Scripture Reading, Susie McWhirter delighted the audience with a recitation. Mrs. Gipe's address on Purity was uplifting and the girls can't help but be better for having heard her, also Mrs. McWhirter's talk on Anti-Narcotics—how the girls should have a higher standard. The Conference was favored in having the State W. C. T. U. President, the Corresponding Secretary and Treasurer, also County President on the program. If space would permit, special mention ought to be made and points brought ought that were so helpful. Vote of thanks was extended for the use of the Church, also Club Room at Denison Hotel and to the State officers and W. C. T. U. friends who made it possible for such a meeting.

Attention, girls! Please send to me by the 28th of each month the bright things, the success of the new socials you try, the progress in membership, etc. Do you know we are to have a half-column in the MESSAGE each month? We must fill it and make it attractive. Double your membership by June 15th, put forth greater effort for the work, live for it, plan for it, give to it, and God will bless and reward you for your faithfulness. Pray each noon for the work and workers of the world.

CLARA M. SEARS.

LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION—THE INFANT GRADE.

In this grade are to be enrolled children from their birth to six years of age, when they will come into the Junior Grade. The mothers of these little ones are not to be asked to obligate themselves in any way, but only to pay an annual enrolling fee of ten cents. Of this fee, six cents is to be retained in the local treasury, as a special fund to be used in the purchase of enrolling cards and of literature for distribution or circulation among these mothers of the infant members; four cents is to be forwarded to the State L. T. L. Secretary, two cents of which she will send to the State W. C. T. U. Treasurer, and two cents to the National Treasurer, as L. T. L. membership dues.

All literature helpful to mothers should be distributed among them, such as that bearing upon purity, non-alcoholic medication, healthful food and dress, home sanitation, effects of alcohol and tobacco upon body and mind. The badge for the enrolled infant is a bow of blue ribbon.

It is evident, according to the article in our last MESSAGE on Baby Circles, that Indiana for once is not in the van. The Infant Grade was adopted at St.

Paul National. It is a part of the L. T. L. work and I can see no legitimate excuse that any Union can have for failing to adopt the Infant Grade of the L. T. L., even if it neglects to take up the Junior and Senior grades.

Miss Lottie Benner, Argos, Ind., has been appointed Treasurer of the State Legion in place of Ina Boyer, resigned. Only graduates' dues should be sent to her. Graduates only can join the State Legion, but are not members unless they pay annually twenty-five cents; of this fifteen cents remains in the State Legion treasury, five cents goes to State and five cents to National W. C. T. U. treasury. Leaders should send the L. T. L. dues, ten cents per member, to the general Secretary, Mrs. Katherine T. A. Shaw, North Manchester, Ind.

OUR L. T. L. CHAIN.

The Loyal Temperance Legion chain is a petition asking for signatures. It is the creation of the Wabash County, Indiana branch of the W. C. T. U. It is timely and therefore we print it in full:

Our earth undoubtedly would be a Garden of Eden, if only the flowers might bloom and no noxious weeds be permitted to sink their roots deep into the soil of the heart to weaken the life of the flowers entrusted to their care.

We thank the dear loving Father that all over this beautiful land there is a growing determination to stir the soil and kill the weeds, leaving for them no time to grow and gain strength, and that the youth of our country is more persistently being trained from the very cradle to fully understand the blessed promise, "the pure in heart shall see God."

Therefore, as a living monument to the memory of our dearly beloved Chieftain, who has gone on before, and in honor of all pure womanhood, we ask in the name of our blessed Lord and Master, the positive prohibition of all pictures of womankind on tobacco in any form, and on tobacco boxes, cases or other intemperate or narcotic receptacles. M. A. HOLLOWAY, Lincolnville, Ind.

INSTITUTES.

Howard County Institute, with Miss Mary Hadley as leader, was held in Greentown, March 23 and 24. We had a helpful and instructive two days with a well arranged and well carried out program. The only sad feature of the semi-annual meeting was the funeral of one of the local members, Mrs. Laura Evans, on the morning of the 24th. The County Union women were greatly pleased with Miss Hadley and her work. Several new members were added to the local Union and a Y branch, including among its members the pastor of the M. E. church and his wife, was organized. The splendid work of the Institute indicated much consecrated information among the White Ribboners of Howard County.

Fulton County Institute was held at Akron. The meetings were fairly well attended considering the bad weather, and were very interesting. Members from other points in the county were present and excellent papers were read. The County Convention was held on Saturday morning, and reports showed that the Fulton county sisters were very much alive to the needs of the hour. On Friday evening a contest was held, and on Saturday Mrs. Brand lectured to a large audience.

Union County Institute was held in Liberty and was a very profitable meeting. Despite the inclemency of the weather there was a fair attendance. Much interest was manifested. The oratorical contest Monday evening was very interesting and entertaining, and reflects great credit on Mrs. Dr. Phares and those who took part. Miss Mable Phares was awarded the medal. Quite a number were present from a distance.

LaPorte County Institute was held in Michigan City. The attendance was small, probably owing to sickness and the conditions of the streets, which were almost impassable.

The ladies were pleased with the quiet, gentle manners of their leader, Mrs. Hattie Brand, of Indianapolis, who presided.

The State program was carried out so far as the number present would permit. Excellent papers were read, and the discussions that followed were spirited and helpful.

A silver medal contest was held, which added much to the interest of the work as it was the first one ever held in Michigan City. Miss Maud Staiger won the medal. The eight contestants are eager for another. The convention decided to hold another in the near future and turn the proceeds over to the county treasury. It was suggested that the other unions in the county do likewise. The Institute was profitable to all who attended.

Newton County Institute was held at Goodland. Notwithstanding the weather of March 5th and 6th was about the worst of the season, the meeting showed interest and enthusiasm. On Monday night a class of six girls contested for a silver medal, which was awarded to Bessie Perkins.

At the close of this meeting there was accession to our regular membership, also honorary and Y's. Tuesday's meeting was interesting and instructive. In the evening Mrs. Holler presented an exercise on Sabbath Observance, Miss Hadley on Physiology and Hygiene, etc., illustrated by chart showing the condition of the different parts of the system and the effect of alcohol upon them. This was well received. The M. E. minister spoke on the subject "Can the Church Banish the Saloon?" and the Baptist minister on "Why is There so Small a Per cent of Young Men in the Churches?" At a meeting at the home of Mrs. Hardy, a Y was organized with 13 members. You will hear from them later and more fully.

Morgan County Institute was held at Morgantown, March 21 and 22, with Mrs. Cammack Gibson as leader. The inconvenient location was not conducive to a large attendance from the other Unions of the county, but Morgantown people turned out in large numbers to all the sessions, which were intensely interesting and instructive throughout. The three churches entertained the Institute in turn, and excellent music was furnished for all the sessions by the young people of the different denominations. All the ministers were present, took the lead on three of the most important subjects and took part in nearly all the discussions. Several names were added to the W and seven names presented for a Y. A large and appreciative audience greeted the Matrons of the Matrons' Oratorical Contest class. Mrs. Blankenship, of Martinsville, was awarded the medal. The proceeds of the contest at ten cents admission was $15.30. Mrs. Gibson closed the sessions with an interesting and instructive address on Thursday night.

White County Institute was held at Reynolds, March 8. Owing to a misunderstanding and the condition of the roads the convention was not as much of a success as had been hoped for.

A short session was held in the afternoon at the home of Dr. Delzel and a meeting in the evening at the M. E. Church.

A fairly good crowd was out to hear Miss Hadley and Mrs. Holler discuss two of the most important questions of the day, "Sabbath Observance" and "The Cruel Effects of Intemperance and Cigarette Smoking."

Both ladies had charts with them. Miss Hadley made it quite interesting for the children, as you could see by their bright faces and ready response to the questions which she put to them.

Mrs. Horner, County President, resigned and her resignation was accepted with regrets. Mrs. Bonar, of Wolcott, was elected to fill the unexpired term.

Franklin County Institute was held in the picturesque little city of Laurel. Rain, sickness and various discouragements hindered the preparations desired. Mrs. Gibson visited the high school at eleven o'clock on Wednesday; the principal kindly gave time for her chart talk on Scientific Temperance, which the children enjoyed very much. At two o'clock the Institute opened, after interesting discussions on the Value of the Printed Page, L. T. L. Work, Y Branch Department Plan, Sabbath Observance, Drills in Methods, How to Increase Membership, etc. In the evening Mrs. Gibson's address on The Modern Parable was listened to with rapt attention. At four o'clock the school children came to the church to listen to Mrs. Cammack conclude her talk on Scientific Temperance, which was interesting and instructive. Organized a Union with seven members. Seed was sown which we hope will reap a harvest by and by. Many people were interested in the presentation of the W. C. T. U. work.

Montgomery County county did not have an Institute, but sent the workers to different adjacent towns. Crawfordsville, New Market and Ladoga were visited. Miss Hadley spoke to a good sized audience in the Baptist church at Crawfordsville. Immediately after the meeting Miss Hadley and her assistant, Mrs. Holler, took the train for New Market, where they spoke in the evening, returning to Crawfordsville the next day, where they took the first train for Ladoga. There an afternoon and evening meeting were held. A strong Union was organized, which started out right and made each member a subscriber to the state paper, the MESSAGE. Mrs. Minnie McKnight deserves much credit for the good planning in Montgomery County.

Clinton County's Institute, under the management of the County President, Mrs. Emma Saylor, was very successful. The sessions were held at Farmer's Chapel, near Frankfort, and were well attended, notwithstanding the inclement weather. Seven new members were secured and Farmer's Chapel Union made its subscription to the MESSAGE equal to the membership.

Decatur County Institute was held at St. Paul, with a large number present. The County President, Mrs. Dr. Wright, presided, assisted by Mrs. Cammack Gibson. Devotions led by Mrs. Reibolt of St. Paul. Much interest was manifested in all the proceedings. The delegates were pleasantly entertained by St. Paul ladies. Mrs. Thompson, of Greensburg, spoke on "Prayer Answered" and also paid a beautiful tribute to Hadley Industrial School. Mrs. Gibson talked to us along the line of department work and showed that not by might, nor by power, but by the grace of God, we succeed. A discussion on "Non-Alcoholic Medication" was led by Mrs. Dr. Wright. A Parliamentary drill by Mrs. Gibson was very instructive. "Can the Church Banish the Saloon?" was discussed by the Rev. Hunt, of St. Omer, Rev. Reibolt of St. Paul and others. Nine new members were added to the St. Paul Union. A medal contest was enjoyed by an audience of more than three hundred people. An L. T. L. was organized with twenty-three members as the gratifying result of a children's meeting led by Mrs. Gibson.

DeKalb County Institute opened on Friday, March 23d, in the Christian church, of Corunna. The unions of Butler, Waterloo and Auburn were represented. The day sessions were well attended and the discussions entered into with much spirit. Mrs. Mary Ehlers, of Auburn, spoke beautifully on "Organization," as she did also on "Civil Government." The medal contest was a grand success; this was held on Friday evening and drew a crowded house. The medal was awarded to Miss Bertha Thomas, of Corunna. On Saturday a union of nine Ws and eight Ys was organized. The women of Corunna have taken up the work with an earnestness seldom seen, and we predict for the Corunna Union great prosperity. On Saturday evening a lecture was given in the Christian church by Mrs. Hattie Brand. The friends and workers of the W. C. T. U. are greatly indebted to Rev. E. E. Campbell for the many ways in which he helped to make the Institute a success. We understand that Rev. Campbell shortly removes to Millersburg, Ind. We extend our best wishes for his success in his new charge.

Whitley County Institute was held at Coesse. The majority of the people of Coesse were entirely ignorant of our work and previous to the Institute were very indifferent to it. The interest grew from the first meeting and at the closing meeting, when Mrs. Brand gave an earnest address, the house was crowded. The people were glad to get the literature, of which the good sisters of Whitley supplied a large quantity, and asked many questions about our organization. We were much helped by Dr. Ogle, who gave a splendid talk on "Non-Alcoholic Medication," and also by Rev. Mr. Homer, pastor of the M. E. Church, who was present at most of our sessions and gave an earnest talk on "Does the Prosperity of the Church Demand that Temperance Work Shall Have a Prominent Place in Church Activities?" Mrs. Mina Squires, the efficient President of Whitley County, will follow up the work begun at the Institute, and we trust will shortly be able to organize at Coesse.

Carroll County Institute was held at Burlington. Pleasant weather prevailed and there were good audiences. Everything was well done and all Unions in the county were represented. Our County President arranged for Prof. Engleman to talk on "Narcotics," which was much appreciated. The "Clergymen's Hour," in which two ministers took part, was much enjoyed. There were very spirited talks, which gave new life to the convention. The contest was good, the contestants being high school pupils. The orchestra played the class march as the contestants came in. In the afternoon the schools closed at recess so teachers and pupils could attend the Institute. The last evening the house was packed, and when Mrs. Voorhees, County President, made the plea for membership, sixteen young ladies came forward to the platform to have the white ribbon pinned on. How our hearts were rejoiced when we saw these enthusiastic young women thus pledging themselves to the uplifting of the race! Before leaving Burlington a Y branch with seventeen members was organized. The W membership was also nearly doubled. Burlington Union, Camden Union and Flora Union each made the subscriptions to the MESSAGE equal to the membership. Thus the county is solid for the State paper.

Tippecanoe County Institute was held at Battle Ground and was a success; most cordial was the hospitality. Through the efforts of Rev. H. S. White and wife, much interest was aroused. On Monday afternoon the pupils of the schools and their teachers were in attendance to hear Mrs. Holler's illustrated Sabbath Observance address. The next day the High School young people and a number of gentlemen came to hear the address on purity delivered by our State lecturer on that subject, Mrs. Sarah D. Curtis, of Lafayette, who is also President of Tippecanoe. The finances of the Institute were all arranged beforehand, so the good collections put money into the county treasury. Mrs. Curtis has since, by invitation of the Official Board, held a series of Purity meetings at Battle Ground.

Fulton County Institute was held at Akron. The meetings were fairly well attended, considering the bad weather, and were very interesting. Members from other points of the county were present and excellent papers were read. The County Convention was held on Saturday morning and reports show that the Fulton County sisters were very much alive to the needs of the hour. On Friday evening a contest was held and on Saturday Mrs. Bland lectured to a large audience.

Steuben County Institute was a real success. The sessions were held in the M. E. Church, of Hamilton, and opened on March 26th. Large audiences were present at each session and the discussions were well handled by both our brothers and sisters. On Monday evening an entertainment was given by the school children under the direction of Miss Fannie Beecher, which was most enjoyable. On Tuesday night Mrs. Brand gave an address which was—as usual—highly spoken of by all present. A strong union, with a Y branch, was organized, the women entering into the work with a zeal and earnestness not often seen. Steuben county has not a single saloon. May God speed the day when every county in our loved State shall be freed from this parent of every kind of crime—the licensed saloon.

FIELD NOTES.

Wabash Union is pushing the work. Mrs. Conklin was here a week; she lectured on purity. She held three Mothers' Meetings, one meeting for girls. Sunday afternoon meeting for men, subject "White Cross Work," and an address Sunday morning to our colored union. Mrs. Conklin has done a grand work for us.

Broad Ripple W. C. T. U. feels proud and wishes to announce that by hard work a Curfew Law has been secured and that it will be put in force by the first of April. Much has been accomplished, but there is still more for us to do. A Mothers' meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Cruse, March 21st, which was very helpful.

Burlington enjoyed an address on Sabbath Observance, by Mrs. Katie West Holler, which was illustrated with charts. The orchestra furnished several selections and we were favored with two solos. At the close of the service Mrs. Holler pinned the white ribbon on 16 young girls, giving us a Y branch. The white ribbon was also pinned on 3 W's, one an honorary. We were much pleased with Mrs. Holler and hope we can have her again.

Bloomington Union gave a measuring party, proceeds for the Hadley Home, which netted $46.00. Prof. Woodburn, of L. W., donated also $5.00. Now with the $25.00 Mrs. Beck herself pledged at our State Convention, is a good part for Bloomington, yet don't think we shall stop there—far from it. One of our faithful workers is planning to canvass for aid for the Industrial School. We often meet with discouragements, even in our own Union; one sister remarked "let the state run it, it's a state institution," as though we are not a part of the State. May God give us more consecrated workers, is my prayer.

Mapleton Union held its sixth anniversary at the home of Mrs. Whitson, our State Treasurer. The house was well filled, despite the mud and rain. A paper was read by Rev. Risley on George Washington. A talk was given by the Rev. Brown on the life of Frances Willard. The history of our Union, by Mrs. McClintock. Short talks were also given by Rev. Elliott, Rev. Benninghoff, Prof. McWhirter and Mrs. Balch. The house was tastefully decorated with palms and carnations. The color of the refreshments were pink and white. The programs were unique and beautiful, and we believe that much sentiment was created in our favor.

The Goshen Y sends dues for thirty-three members. Last quarter dues were paid for fourteen members. Mrs. A. Z. Vail, County Treasurer, writes: "The Goshen Y is the pride of our county."

Mrs. Catherine Warren, of Tipton, writes: "Five saloons have been closed here the past four months and others will follow." Good!

An L. T. L. was organized in the Hadley Industrial School by Mrs. Rebecca Hessong, Treasurer of the Board of Trustees.

Bourbon saloons were closed by enforcing the law, the result of continual agitation on temperance lines by the W. C. T. U. which created this prohibitory sentiment. Good citizens unitedly said these saloons must go. When the citizens of the other towns in our State consider the saloons of more harm to their homes than any other institution they will cease giving sanction to a license system.

Bedford at its last Mothers' Meeting had thirty-five present.

Mrs. E. M. Houghton, Richmond, State Evangelist, is now in Texas, and will be there until the last of May. Please write her at Lawrence, Texas, care of Mrs. Minnie Keitland.

Franklin County Fair Board is under promise to fit up a W. C. T. U. rest parlor during time of fair.

QUARTERLY REPORT FOR MESSAGE FOR THE MONTHS OF JANUARY, FEBRUARY AND MARCH.

The amount of money expended includes the compensation allowed the business manager, but the editor has refused to accept hers. Having sufficient stationary and newspaper wrappers for the next three months, the expenses will be somewhat less. The February supplement was necessary to give to our readers the matter sent in. It cost quite half the price of our usual edition, extra. We decided that the space in our paper was more to the cause than the money would be that we would receive for advertisements, hence we have none. If subscribers who do not get their paper, will drop a card at the time, we can see that they do get it. Only a few complaints have come; there should be none. We mean to do our best to have every subscriber get their paper. Every thing indicates that the paper is growing in favor with the women and the outlook is very hopeful indeed, for that good time when the subscription list will equal the membership. With but few exceptions the new Unions are doing this, and the number of old ones who put it in practice are increasing. Number of letters written, 167; number of cards, 137; number of new subscribers to the MESSAGE, 527; number of renewals, 385. These figures do not include the free copies sent as premiums. Number of subscriptions to Union Signal, not including the premium copies sent to Unions, 145; number to Phalanx, 12; number to Young Crusader, 21. Total amount of receipts, $342.79; total amount of expenses, $286.66; balance in treasury, $56.13. MARY E. BALCH, Business Manager.

White County Institute, held at Reynolds, had advertised only evening meetings and the day meeting, at which there was a representation from Wolcott, Chalmers and Monon. The workers made house to house visits and organized a Union of twenty members. This number includes six honoraries.

Miami County's energetic President decided to try to organize a Union at Denver, the place appointed for the holding of the County Institute. Accordingly a splendid Union, consisting of some of the best women of Denver, was organized weeks before the time scheduled for the Institute. This Union cordially welcomed the Institute and extended most generous hospitality to the delegates and State workers. The Institute was in charge of Miss Hadley, State and National Superintendent of the Department of Institutes. The program was very interesting and instructive. The subjects were ably presented and the discussions were participated in by representative men and women. Great stress was laid by the County President, Mrs. Anna Kilmer, upon the need of thorough organization. Miss Dunlap, of Peru, urged definite work among the children in the L. T. L. A paper by Mrs. Duckwall, of Bunker Hill, upon Increasing the Membership was read by Miss Shepherd, which made lasting impressions. Non-Alcoholic Medication, by Dr. Ward, of Peru, was both interesting and instructive. This paper ought to be heard in every county. The President of Denver Union spoke very encouragingly about the work already accomplished by the Union, especially in regard to defeating applicants for liquor license. On the first evening a well filled house greeted seven youthful contestants for the first silver medal contest held in Denver. The entertainment was good and the audience manifested deep interest throughout. The program for the second evening was mostly in charge of the ministers and greatly appreciated by the very large audience. Rev. Jesse Dunn and Rev. Baker spoke upon "How Can the Church Banish the Saloon?" These brothers in a forceful, energetic manner presented the duties of the Church. Miss Hadley followed in a beautiful address on Evils of Intemperance and Our Methods of Combating it. Increased interest and enthusiasm was manifested during the closing hours of the Institute. Many names were added to the membership list.

Monroe County Convention was held at Bloomington. Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley was present. We found her a very ardent W. C. T. U. woman and a good talker. We elected for the remainder of the year, Mrs. Beck, President; Mrs. Paul, Vice-President; Mrs. Dodds, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. Kitson, Recording Secretary; Mrs. Gerhart, Treasurer. Like the little boy who was interested in a mission, because he had a nickle invested, we are very much interested in our Hadley Industrial School. We have a good many dollars invested there, besides the interest we have in the good work. Our Bloomington Union gave a measuring party a short time ago, which was very profitable and enjoyable.

Let us hear often of the success of Hadley Home. Among the other things we are trying to do, we find our plan of jail work to be very successful. We have a superintendent who sends a postal to a sub-superintendent from each church the week before her church is expected to hold the service on the next Sunday. In this way the burden is shared by the different churches and helps our superintendent. Glad to hear of success in our great and noble work.

MRS. T. J. CLARK, President.

IN MEMORIAM.

Mrs. Mary Rogers Alexander, a loved and honored member of Bedford W. C. T. U., was called home, March 11, after a short illness. She had been a true, earnest worker in the W. C. T. U. since the early days of its organization. She faithfully filled nearly every office, from County President down, in the various departments of our temperance and rescue work. She was our Corresponding Secretary at the time she received the message, "Well done, good and faithful servant, enter into the glory prepared for you from the foundation of the world." Our union on earth is broken, but one more tie is added to the union in heaven, where the little white bow will be exchanged for the white robe and palms of victory. By order

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE W. C. T. U., Bedford, Ind.

The temperance workers of Richmond and especially the Frances E. Willard Union, have suffered what would seem an irreparable loss in the death of John C. Patterson an honorary member of the W. C. T. U. and a faithful worker in every line of temperance effort.

"Not by Might nor by Power, but by My Spirit."

VOL. IV. No. 5.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., MAY, 1900.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR

PRESS DEPARTMENT.

Indiana's press work has increased tenfold in the last two years and is still on the up-grade.

Nineteen States reported 30,000 columns furnished the press last year.

If the press of a nation takes up a reform, it makes the progress of ten years in one.

Many of our best temperance workers testify that they were first attracted to the cause through the influence of something read.

Our National President, Mrs. Stevens, was the first National Press Superintendent. We are pleased that we can present an article from her, written especially for this issue of the MESSAGE.

Indiana was awarded the Silver Star last year for the greatest increase in press work and for the greatest amount of work done in proportion to the number of her workers. Save your clippings. Other States are adopting this plan. We must not originate this plan in Indiana and then let some other State excel us.

The W. C. T. U. has the reputation of being the best advertised society in the world. Two-thirds of the newspapers in the United States take items and articles from the W. C. T. U.

The Outlook says: "The dailies, weeklies and monthlies of our country wield a wider influence than the pulpit and perhaps even than the schools, for the press is a school we all attend every day in the week from the time we learn to read to the end of our lives."

The press is one of the most potent and far-reaching influences in the world. Everything printed must reach some audience, must give some lives their tone for good or evil.

In regard to subject-matter, the press worker should consider the need and demand of the particular paper to which an article is to be sent.

Indiana's 776 feet of clippings pasted on muslin in column form and sent to the last National convention would have made our department famous for six months' work even if we had not won the Star. This plan has been recommended by the National Superintendent to all the States this year. The idea originated in the fertile brain of our beloved State President, Mrs. McWhirter. She is especially interested in the work of this department and does all she can to help it along.

The press is the advertising department of the W. C. T. U., and it has been demonstrated over and over that advertising pays—not in gold and silver, but in increased courage and activity among the members, as well as in the aroused interest and sympathy of those who were once apathetic or even opposed to the W. C. T. U. because of ignorance of its plans and methods and of what it has already accomplished.

An editor desires above all things that his paper be read and read with pleasure. His constant aim is to supply the demand of his patrons. He should not, therefore, be judged too severely if he sometimes prefers prize fights to equal suffrage or spicy details from the divorce court to temperance and purity, as subject-matter. It is not all his fault and we should be thankful for any favors shown us.

"The press of to-day is the greatest material power in the universe. When our Indiana women fully realize this fact, we shall have made a long stride toward victory. In every village, town and city, as a rule, there is published a newspaper. These papers go into almost every home in our State and would gladly carry with them items in regard to our work. In no other way can we so effectually spread the news of the gospel of temperance and purity, as through the newspapers. MRS. L. F. McWHIRTER."

Many good people, even ministers, condemn the W. C. T. U. because, they say, it does more talking than anything else. You say, "these persons ought to know better." That is true, but are you and I, as individuals, or as Unions, doing all that we can to educate these people and make them know better? Remember that the world outside is judging our organization, not by what it does, but only by what it knows of it, and its interest is in proportion to its knowledge.

Through some mistake, the most important question of the Press Department was left off the blanket report blanks. It is: "How many columns of W. C. T. U. matter furnished the press?" Unless this question is fully answered, we cannot hope to win the prize this year. The question, "How many W. C. T. U. columns maintained?" does not refer to the whole number of columns, but means, "How many papers set aside regular space for the use of the W. C. T. U.?" In giving the number of papers supplied with W. C. T. U. items, tell how many are daily and how many weekly. If the same office publishes a daily and a weekly, they count as two papers. If the same item or article is published in two or more papers, it counts as two or more items or articles. Clip from your local or county papers everything about the W. C. T. U., whether you write it yourself or not.

Some one has written of the Press Superintendent: "God bless her in her work—as responsible as any in the whole field. Who more than she must know thoroughly the inner workings of each department?" Yes, but how is she to know the inner workings of any department, even of her own, if she does not take and read our papers? It is a sad fact, brought out by the answers to questions on the report blanks, that fully half the Press Superintendents do not take the MESSAGE and a less number take the Union Signal. This state of affairs needs a remedy. The press worker cannot do her best work without the help that these papers alone can give. The National Superintendent suggests that each Union be urged to present to its Press Superintendent annual subscriptions to Union Signal and State paper. The necessary funds might be raised by holding a "Press" parlor meeting or social, using her outline program and taking a collection. Try it. Local Presidents are urged to see that every Press Superintendent receives at least a copy of this issue of the MESSAGE for her very own. Will you do it?

FROM OUR NATIONAL PRESIDENT.

I have always been interested in the Press Department of the W. C. T. U. I distinctly recall the painstaking efforts to secure places in the papers in the early days of our society, and I remember how prompt we were in reporting favors shown us by the press, so greatly did we value them. To-day it is somewhat changed. The meaning of the letters W. C. T. U. is well understood, and reports of our meetings and our doings are sought for as interesting news.

It is true that not all papers print freely communications that deal directly and favorably with our basic principles of total abstinence and prohibition, but so far as my observation extends, I think the majority of the papers are what we may well call friendly.

Our women do not fully realize the power of the press and sometimes fail to be thankful enough for the distribution of our ideas through this great avenue of public thought. Oftentimes in one issue of a secular paper, there is as much temperance matter as would cost a great many dollars at literature prices. We are dependent, to some extent, upon the newspapers and they in turn are dependent upon us for news of our work. Let us give it to them and give it promptly, while it is news and in the best possible form. I do not believe there is in existence a society, the work of which is so little "advertised" in proportion to what it does, as are the doings and the victories of the W. C. T. U. Let us aim to utilize the great power of the press and so give to the public more of what is good and pure and holy. LILLIAN M. N. STEVENS.

MRS. MINNIE BARKER HORNING,
Press Superintendent of the National W. C. T. U.

THE IDEAL PRESS SUPERINTENDENT.

It is well to have an ideal. The higher one aims, the higher the mark that is hit. The ideal in this case may be hard to attain, but in the attempt for attainment the real will be improved. I have in my mind's eye the ideal Press Superintendent, although I have never met her. She probably does not exist, for there are none perfect in this world.

In the first place, she is a woman of education and tact and a ready writer. By education I mean she writes a legible hand, spells her words correctly and uses good, plain Anglo-Saxon words, without unnecessary adornment. She is tactful, yet persistent, knowing when to desist urging a point that she cannot carry at that juncture, and understands closing an interview in such a way that she may return to the attack at a later date. She takes pains to know the newspaper people in a personal way and makes them her friends. She sees that they have the news of the society, and while giving them the news, she tries to work in some of the "uplift" part of our work, hoping that the news will carry it.

She is always present or has a representative at the meetings of the Union. She sees that the notices of coming meetings are in the local papers and reports the meetings to the press. In the preparation of her matter she is, first of all, on time. She does not wait until the news is stale and the march of time has made something else of paramount interest in the public eye. Her report is brief. She wastes neither her own time nor the editor's in reiteration of unimportant details. In being thus brief her articles find their way to the people through the printed page, and are not consigned to oblivion through the medium of the editorial wastebasket.

If she attempts to fill regular space in her local paper, she fills it regularly. Her copy is in early each week, that the editor's mind may be at ease in knowing that that column or half-column will not be left for him to provide for at the last moment. Her column will be bright, attractive and of general interest, and not fanatical and crude. She never finds fault nor criticises the editor if her news fails to appear or is "edited" until little of the original remains. She remembers that the space in a newspaper is worth money, that it is the editor's means of support and that he must use it as he sees fit. He must be his own judge of the value of the news and of the desirability of whatever goes into the columns of his paper.

In short, the ideal Press Superintendent never makes a mistake, never offends an editor and is in all things perfect. This we can never be, but let us "strive for the mark of the high calling," and improve the real by trying to measure up to the ideal.

MINNIE BARKER HORNING.

PRESS EVENING.

Mrs. Lillie Shields, the Local Press Superintendent at Washington, Daviess County, promised to try to arrange for a "Press" meeting. The following, taken from a personal letter written by her to the State Superintendent, shows how well she kept her promise:

"Our Press meeting went off quite successfully. We held a public meeting in the Masonic Hall and gave it in the form of an entertainment and social. Our postmaster and Mrs. L. M. Beck, of Bloomington, gave the principal addresses, and the recitation was given by a young lady of fine elocutionary ability. Our music was the best that Washington affords. Mr. Cogswell, a noble young man and a Y honorary, beautifully sang "Mother's Bow of Ribbon White" and was so pleased to be asked to do it. We asked the band to play for us, but they were honest enough to say they could not because some of them drank. We hope it will work on their consciences.

"The hall was beautifully decorated and there were three long snow white tables on which to serve the refreshments. Ten young ladies acted as waiters. They wore dainty white tissue paper aprons and caps and a badge across the breast, upon which was printed the names of various temperance papers. The word "Press" was also printed across one corner of the aprons. Pure white paper napkins with "Press" on one corner and W. C. T. U. on the other, were the souvenirs.

"Three sweet little girls, about five years old, were dressed in tissue paper of blue, pink and canary and represented our three city dailies. Our ministers and editors received complimentaries. The city press was very kind and did us many favors, also gave us a nice write-up. The affair took well, and I think gained for our Union."

Michigan City Union also gave a most successful "Press" meeting, an account of which has already appeared in the MESSAGE. Will not other Unions try to arrange for one? Programs may be obtained for a two cent stamp by addressing Mrs. Minnie B. Horning, Rest Cottage, Evanston, Ill.

NEED OF DEFINITE PRESS WORK.

The press is classed as educational, but when used in the temperance reform it becomes evangelistic as well. It carries the good news or sounds the note of warning to all who read. It is indeed good news to every one in this drink cursed world that such a consecrated, dauntless and determined army as the Woman's Christian Temperance Union is in the field, whether they will receive it as such or not. MAY, 1900.

MRS. FLORENCE VANCE,

press is the one great force in touch with the lives of the people, and as Miss Willard says, "There is not in the world another power where we can bring to a focus so much influence for the spread of temperance principles and temperance practice, as the newspapers, because they go everywhere and are read by all people." Why should the devil have so much printers' ink? I believe the reason he has so much is because he can get it and he takes all he can get. Is the reason why white ribbon women do not have more than they do, because they cannot get it? No, that is not the reason. It is because they will not or do not take what they can get. Newspapers everywhere, from the overgrown city daily to the modest country weekly, are opening their columns to our work if we will but avail ourselves of them. We have become a factor in the newspaper world. The work of the W. C. T. U. has become a part of the news of to-day and is welcomed as such by the editors even when they are not wholly in sympathy with us. Shall we not be held responsible if we refuse to avail ourselves of what is so freely offered us?

In the parable the cry was, "The fields are white unto the harvest, but the laborers are few." Where are the reapers? But in our ranks the cry seems to be, "The ground is prepared, there is an abundance of seed, but where are the sowers? We must sow before we reap and 'he which soweth bountifully, shall reap also bountifully.'"

When we learn, as we often do, that many women acknowledge that all they know of white ribbon work is what they read in our special corner of the paper, it is then that the press worker feels her responsibility and realizes what a great work is hers. How often, when a woman is invited to join the Union, she excuses herself by saying, "I'll wait awhile until I know more about it." I have heard this answer more than once. A well-cared for W. C. T. U. column in each of the newspapers of a town would soon spoil the practical utility of this excuse.

To be sure, we can give only glimpses of the work through this channel, for "that dignitary, the editor," lies in wait with a horrid implement called a blue pencil for the unwary press worker who has not learned to condense. But the glimpses, we hope, will create a desire for more.

A man being asked about the W. C. T. U. of his city, replied that he thought there was such an organization, "but," he added, "it is nothing—don't amount to anything." Now, how did he know it did not amount to anything? He did not know it. He merely thought it did not, because he knew nothing about it. The fact is, that the Union took up press work and was soon known as one of the strongest in the State.

Many people are not specially interested in any movement, no matter how deserving, unless they know it really means something—that its members live up to its principles and are accomplishing something. This class of people need the press department of the W. C. T. U.

It was clearly the leading of Providence that brought me into the W. C. T. U., for when I joined I knew absolutely nothing about it excepting what the name implies. I was always a great reader of newspapers and I am confident that if I had read something of the work, plans and methods of this organization I would have joined long before I did; and I believe there are thousands of other women in the world who are unconsciously waiting for the "word in season" that will cause an "arrest of thought" and ultimately bring them under our banner.

If our women would only work up to their privilege in this branch of the work, they could do more than anything else to disarm prejudice and blunt the points of the shafts of criticism, misrepresentation and cheap wit that is being constantly hurled against us. Many people believe wrong things because they have never heard the right things. Let us tell as many as we can the things they ought to know. There is no way by which we may reach so many as through the columns of the public press. FLORENCE E. VANCE.

A FRIEND AND BENEFACTOR GONE.

Mr. Robert Carmack died at his home in West Indianapolis, on the evening of April 23. The funeral services were conducted at his home by his pastor on the evening of the 24th, at 7:30 o'clock, and participated in by Mrs. McWhirter, State President of the W. C. T. U. He was buried at his former home in Illinois, beside his beloved wife. We extend our sympathy to the daughters and son thus bereft. Mr. Carmack was in the truest sense a practical christian man, seeking to do God's will in everything. He gave largely to our Hadley Industrial School and was ever interested in the success of the W. C. T. U. His earnest words at our last State Convention in regard to plans for improvements at our Industrial School will be remembered by all who were there. He spent the last Thursday of his life at the Industrial School. The trip down there seemed to cheer and revive him, but his summons came very soon afterward. He is now enjoying the companionship of the redeemed hosts of heaven. Our loss is his gain.

Y. W. C. T. U. NEWS.

The Warren Y. W. C. T. U. arranged meetings for April 24 to 27, in the interest of their work in that place. A reception on Tuesday evening, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thompson, was very enjoyable, and gave an opportunity for all to become better acquainted in the beginning. The President, Mrs. Clark, the Superintendent, Mrs. Ray, the earnest young men and women—God bless them—they can do a grand work in Warren.

Goshen Y. W. C. T. U., from all reports, is still growing in favor and interest with the young people. What Goshen can do every town and city can do, have a healthy Y. Union.

Miss Ella Coulter, President of Aurora Y., has been called upon to give up her beloved mother, fading away like an Easter lily, which she loved so much. Pray for Miss Ella, that in her sorrow the Saviour may be very near and precious. The wish of the father, sisters and the departed mother, that Miss Ella go to Edinburg, Scotland, will be carried out, and Indiana is proud to have such an earnest faithful Christian young woman as Miss Coulter, to represent us at the World's W. C. T. U. Convention.

At the Semi-Annual Convention of the Hancock County W. C. T. U., the Y's appeared on program in many places. The State Secretary, Clara M. Sears, will be present and spend the Sabbath in Greenfield, May 5 and 6.

Girls, we must increase our membership. Are you personally doing all you can to help another to join our ranks? Are you preparing to pay your dues by June 15, the end of the third quarter? Save and do your best to be prompt in the payment of dues. We must make a gain over last year.

April 30, the young men of the Anderson Y. had charge of the program on "Narcotics." Ask your young men to arrange a program; it is a change and you and they will enjoy it.

Send your material to me for publication in Y. column by the 28th of each month, please, and oblige your co-worker and friend, CLARA M. SEARS, State Y Secretary.

INSTITUTES.

Benton County Institute was not so well attended at the first meeting on account of the trains being snow bound. The interest and attendance increased from the beginning, however, and the session closed with an enthusiastic mass meeting, addressed by the State workers and others. The membership was doubled, new plans were adopted and Benton County bids fair to be at the head in the pioneer movement of holding local Institutes throughout the county, using local talent.

The State workers, Miss Mary Hadley and Mrs. Katie W. Holler went from Benton County to Newton County and were warmly received by the ladies of Goodland. Nothing daunted, storm and sleet was there, yet the class of contestants was full and entertained a good sized audience. The interest was good throughout the entire session, resulting in accessions to the membership of the W's. A very enthusiastic Y branch was organized, with Mrs. Sarah Mugg as leader.

LaGrange County dates were March 21 and 22, but being unable to make plans for same, the workers spent the time in Wolcottsville in house to house visiting, interviewing the preachers, etc., in the interest of the work. We found a good sentiment in favor of the W. C. T. U., several ladies expressing their desire to become White Ribboners should a Union be organized in their town. The preachers were kind, and we were assured that the churches were at our service should we wish to hold a meeting later. Literature was distributed, and the seed sown. May God water it and cause it to bring forth fruit.

Allen County W. C. T. U. Institute was held at New Haven, April 18 and 19, and as there is no Union there, the arrangements were made by the County President and Rev. Cocking, the local minister, both taking care to plan for the good of all. The State Program for Institutes was followed very closely. Several interesting papers were presented and quite spirited discussions followed by Mrs. Carpenter, Mrs. McIntosh, Dr. Banning and others. Miss Hadley, the leader, though wearied by her constant work for several weeks, was ready with helpful suggestions on all the subjects on the program. Although but four in number took part in the contest, it was thought to be a grand success. A little girl eight years old won the medal. Her subject was "Noble, Christian Womanhood." We are sure good seed was sown and in the near future we hope to see good results. The address on the second eve, on "The Hidden Path of Alcohol Revealed," by Miss Hadley, State and National Superintendent of Institutes, was enthusiastically received.

As the White Life Union originated at Valparaiso, we have concluded, owing to the numerous societies already existing, that it is not best to run this as a separate organization, but to introduce the White Life Union pledge into all temperance societies now formed and into any Sunday School or society, or to any individual who will sign the pledge and work for the cause. Our Union has already secured signatures to over a thousand of these pledge cards, and the work is branching out to other States. One enterprising W. C. T. U. in Washington sent $2 and requested 200 of the cards. The writer secured about 75 members not long ago just in one little talk to a Sunday School. These cards can be secured from the writer and will be sent post-paid to any address at the rate of $1 per hundred. Mrs. F. H. FRINK, 88 College Ave., Valparaiso.

Mrs. Shontz, of St. Joseph County, writes: "Excellent work is being done in South Bend by Mrs. Johnson, our Jail and Prison Superintendent. Meetings are held in the jail every Sunday morning, each local Union having appointed a Superintendent who assists in this work."

Mrs. S. M. Stahl secured nine new members for Hartford City Union in one week. Besides such work as this for her own Union, she has recently visited Royal Center, Lucerne, Kewana and Poneto, where many new members were secured and the workers greatly encouraged.

Our enthusiastic and energetic State Superintendent of Christian Citizenship, Mrs. Almira Staples, of South Bend, has issued a leaflet in the interest of her department which I hope will be used in all Unions of the State.

Bartholomew County Convention and Institute was held at Hartsville in Barger Chapel. We had with us Mrs. M. O. Gibson. Our County President, Mrs. Jennie Guffey, could not be with us on account of sickness in her family. The State program was carried out. Some who had been assigned subjects were not with us, but sent their papers. The papers were all good, as were the discussions which followed. The medal contest was participated in by three girls and two boys. The medal was won by John Carter. All of the contestants did well and were greeted by a well-filled house and an appreciative audience. Rev. John Sielig and Rev. C. C. Bonnell assisted on the program, much to the pleasure and interest of those present. The convention closed Tuesday evening with a lecture by Mrs. Mattie O. Gibson. At the close of Tuesday's meeting a W. C. T. U. was organized with seventeen members. The meetings of the convention were all well attended by both men and women. We wish also to make mention of the music, which was excellent.

Mrs. Julia A. Trish was at New Pittsburg a week and held a series of gospel temperance meetings. She spoke in her forcible and unique manner to large and attentive audiences every evening. Although the immediate result was small, we feel that a great influence for good will go out from this effort to bring the cause of temperance before the people. On the Sabbath she preached two excellent sermons and held a mothers' meeting, which was well attended. On Saturday afternoon, March 24, she attended the regular meeting of the W. U. T. U. and gave the White Ribbon sisters much encouragement by her sweet words of counsel.

L. T. L. CORNER.

The Mid-Year State Executive Meeting, composed of County Presidents and State Officers, expressed their faith and hope in the Loyal Temperance Legion in a most generous fashion, adopting the national plan of the Infant Grade of the L. T. L.; also voted to include the Young Crusader in the clubbing rates. This means that this young fellow is to go hand in hand with the MESSAGE and Union Signal in conventions, institutes, public meetings, letter heads, state minutes, MESSAGE, etc., as clubbing with the MESSAGE at 45 cents, with MESSAGE and Union Signal at $1.25.

A donation of $25.00 was given the L. T. L. Branch for printing of new State leaflet and circular letters, etc., and by unanimous vote, invited the State Legion to again hold its State Convention in connection with the State W. C. T. U. Convention this fall, in Frankfort.

I hope the Seniors will strive for great things and that Indiana will have a large number of graduates this year, and many of them present at State meeting to receive their diplomas in person.

KATHRIN T. A. STRAW,
General Secretary L. T. L. Branch.

NORTH VERNON W. C. T. U. RECEIVES A GREAT UPLIFT.

It was with much fear and trembling that our Union decided to invite the Mid-Year Executive Committee to meet in our town, but our hearts rejoice that so many consecrated workers have been in our homes. Many persons who thought the W. C. T. U. did not amount to anything were surprised to find that the best and most talented women of the State were enrolled with us.

The Matrons' Contest was highly appreciated and many favorable remarks have been heard of the contestants. Our beloved State President was with us on Wednesday. Her earnest appeal to us to be loyal and true during this campaign year will stimulate us to labor on with more zeal because of the opposition to our cause.

Mrs. Frances Beauchamp was admired by all. Her address was exceedingly fine, and those who were fortunate enough to hear it cannot praise it too highly. The Democratic Mayor said the women had converted him. Miss Sears met the young ladies on Monday evening at the home of Miss Sadie H. Eves. Her pleasant manner and loving words won all hearts. Mrs. Curtis, who was present at this meeting, spoke very beautifully of the purity of heart and life required of the Christian.

Seymour Union held a quarterly Gospel Temperance Meeting Sunday evening, April 1. We held the meeting in two large churches, both of which were well filled. One meeting was for women—women presiding, ushering, etc., with an address by Miss Smock of the Door of Hope and a chorus of ladies' voices. The other was an assemblage of men, with a male chorus and an address by Q. L. Morrow, of Baltimore. Mr. Lough, the singing evangelist, assisted. At each meeting we presented the "anti-canteen" petition, which was received with much favor. At the ladies meeting we circulated membership cards and received several additions to our Union. We are much pleased with the results.

Knox County Convention and Institute was held at Oaktown, April 20 and 21, with a very good attendance of W's and Y's. The Oaktown people were very cordial and enthusiastic, although they had no Union. This was the best County Convention we have ever held in Knox County. There were few disappointments on the program and those who could not come sent excellent excuses, and of course, we took up the work ourselves. Mrs. Cammack-Gibson was our excellent assistant and leader of the Institute. We decided to have our convention in the fall and Institute in the spring, which we think a good plan. I would like to give a report of the work done by the different departments, but there is not enough space, but will say we are doing excellent work and the reports do not tell half that is done. Our sisters in Oaktown permitted us to organize among them a W. C. T. U. Local of seven members, with Miss Dee Polk, President; Mrs. Fanny Bind, Recording and Corresponding Secretary; Miss Ida Sprinkle, Treasurer. Master James Gipe captivated the boys and girls completely. We, with his assistance, organized a Senior L. T. L., with Miss Ada McClure, President; Miss Ada Shephard, Vice-President; Miss Ethel McClure, Recording and Corresponding Secretary; Master Charles Ballance, Treasurer (to hold the balance.) The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: For Knox County, President, Mrs. Arie Polk, Freelandville; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Nellie Virtue Chambers, Westphalia; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Alice Bierhaus, Vincennes; Treasurer, Mrs. J. T. McJinisey, Vincennes. The following departments of work were taken up and Superintendents appointed: Evangelistic, Mrs. Alice Bierhaus, Vincennes; Franchise, Mrs. Maggie McGaughy, Freelandville; Contest, Mrs. Nellie Virtue Chambers, Westphalia; L. T. L., Mrs. Ora McArthur, Freelandville; Jail and Prison, Mrs. Belle Smart, Vincennes; Flower Mission, Miss Dora Simonson, Edwardsport; Press, Miss Mary Denny, Vincennes; Christian Citizenship, Miss Dee Polk, Oaktown; Purity, Mrs. Alice Scudder, Edwardsport; Narcotics, Mrs. Rush Bond, Oaktown; Communion Wine, Miss Helen Ritterskamp, Freelandville; Health, Heredity and Physical Culture, Mrs. Alice Bierhaus, Vincennes.

Wayne County W. C. T. U. held Institute and County Convention at Dublin, April 18 and 19. At the close of the convention we organized a local Union with ten members, with Mrs. Emma Henby as President, Miss Anna Hiatt as Corresponding and Recording Secretary and Miss Nellie Champ as Treasurer. The literature received and Union equipped. We hope to nurse and help it to grow.

St. Joseph County Institute was held in Grace M. E. Church, South Bend, March 9 and 10. The attendance was fairly good and the papers were excellent. The State program was carried out with few changes. A parliamentary drill by Mrs. Brand was very instructive. Devotions, led by Mrs. Pearce, were most helpful. The oratorical contest was enjoyable. Master Roscoe Dice was the successful contestant. On Saturday evening the institute and prohibition convention united. Mrs. Brand gave an excellent address to an appreciative audience on Sabbath morning. Each Local Union has appointed a Superintendent, who assists in this work.

Blackford County Institute was held at Millgrove, April 23 and 24, with Miss Hadley as leader. All the Unions of the county were represented. The day sessions were especially interesting, the discussions being entered into with much spirit and enthusiasm. Mrs. Lottie Racer, of Millgrove, Superintendent of Literature, gave an interesting talk on The Value of the Printed Page, as also did our County President, Mrs. S. M. Stahl, on Organization. Other members of the Union spoke on Proportionate Giving, Department Plan, How to Increase the Membership, Why Some Unions Discontinue, Narcotic Poisons, and Why is there so Small a per cent of Young Men in the Churches? These subjects were all profitably discussed by the Institute. Rev. R. S. Reed, of the M. E. Church of this place, spoke on the subject, Does the Prosperity of the Church Demand that Temperance Work Shall Have a Prominent Place in Church Activities? He held that it does and gave some splendid thoughts on this line. Rev. Greenwalt also gave us an earnest talk on Correlation of Reform Forces. The first evening we listened to a splendid lecture on Scientific Temperance; on the second evening to general W. C. T. U. work, by the leader. These lectures were both profitable and interesting. Millgrove Union was greatly built up and encouraged, sixteen new names being added to their numbers, ten of whom were honoraries. Several of the number being young people, we have organized what we have greatly desired—a nice and prosperous Y. We also raised the subscription list to the MESSAGE to equal the number of regular members in the Union. The splendid work of the Institute has encouraged all members to do more work this year in this great work for God and Home and Native Land.

Jay County Institute and Semi-Annual Convention of W. C. T. U. convened April 25 and 26, 1900, in Red Key, in the M. E. Church. Our State and National Superintendent of Institute Department, Miss Mary Hadley, was present and presided at the first two sessions. Mrs. Minnie Brotherton presided Wednesday night. A good program was rendered and much helpful work done. Miss Mary Hadley's presentation of her subjects was in her usual plain, practical, direct way, and characterized by her own gentle, winning manner which makes friends for herself and the cause which she loves and serves. At noon, Thursday, County President Gertrude Fulton, took charge of the convention and carried the work through to a finish. The Thursday afternoon and evening sessions "put on airs" to the extent of two fine addresses, one by Mr. Carey Ayers, of Red Key, the other by Prof. Bert Ayers, of Taylor University, Upland. The bills (Rev.) which came before the different sessions were received, indorsed and fully appreciated. The weather was ideal and the meetings helpful and harmonious.

Grant County Institute was held April 13 and 14, at Gas City. Leader, Miss Mary Hadley, State and National Superintendent of Institutes; Assistant Leader, Miss Clara Sears. In the absence of Mrs. Wilson, the loved County President, Mrs. Gulie E. Shugart, Vice-President, assumed her duties. The State program was carried out. "Value of the Printed Page," by Mrs. Heath, was practical and inspiring, followed by earnest discussion. "Conditions of Victory," by Mary R. Elliott. Here it was plainly shown that victory will come as the direct result of our diligence. "Tools of Our Guild," by Mrs. Etta Ayers, State Superintendent of Literature. Tools have been provided for W. C. T. U. workers in the way of papers, leaflets, etc. Our tool chest is full and many of them are sharpened. When we become efficient in the use of these tools, rum will tremble. Reporting by Elma Thomas. Reporting is the set of notes that give music to the work of W. C. T. U. Blanket reports explained by Miss Sears. Organization, presented by Miss Hadley; L. T. L., by Julia Overman, who paid her respects emphatically to Prof. Atwater. He deserves it. He ought to be hit so hard that he could not preside in the college. Mothers will be obliged to look beyond the day school for temperance to be taught their children, for the law is very poorly enforced. Give every child to the L. T. L. The discussion was animated and surely will cause the Unions to urge L. T. L. work and pray for women to have conviction for leaders. "Sabbath Observance" was ably presented by Mrs. Kilgore. Discussion led by Rev. Enos Harvey. The Grand Gold Medal Contest was a great success. The medal was awarded to Miss Ina Coggsall, of South Marion.

Why Some Unions Discontinue, was practically presented by Sarah C. Lenfesty, who recommends that the business of the Union be looked after as any other business that is a success. Miss Sears made a wonderful plea for the Young Woman's Work, which was discussed by Miss Sanders. Narcotic Poison, by Mary Coggsall. The Effect of Cigarettes was presented, also that of tobacco on mind and body. The scheme of the dealers and our anti-cigarette law was discussed. The Purpose and Claims of the Hadley Industrial School was presented by Louisa Rush. Much interest manifested. Non-Alcoholic Medication, by Dr. Votan, was presented from a scientific and practical standpoint.

Our Franchise Campaign, by Mrs. Roberts, who came to the platform with yellow streamers floating from her manuscript. Her words were inspiring. Scientific Temperance was presented by Rachel Lewis, who dealt in facts which ought to arouse the people to action. Civil Government, including Municipal Laws, was by Mrs. Wolf, who presented the existing conditions with clearness and great interest.

The different phases of the church and temperance work were ably and enthusiastically presented by Rev. J. W. Osborn, a courageous man and pastor of Gas City M. E. Church, Rev. T. W. Cox, a White Ribboner and pastor at Fairmount, and W. F. R. Farcer. Prof. Ayers, of Taylor University, handled the subject, "Can the Church Banish the Saloon?" in such a manner as to arouse Christians to realize that the church must stop voting for a continuation of the saloon business. The symposium for the second evening was fine. Ten minutes were allotted to each speaker, who presented the subject assigned in a masterly manner. They were: Vital Issues, Rev. E. L. Frazier; Why so Small a per cent of Young Men in the Churches? Mrs. Wolf; Economics of the Liquor Traffic, Rev. Harvey Ratliff.

Noble County Institute was held at Avilla. The county Unions were well represented. The afternoon session was opened with prayer by Rev. Cain, of Avilla. Following this were very excellent papers and talks by some of the members, namely: Proportionate Giving, Mrs. Goreel; L. T. L. Work, Mrs. Halferty; Sabbath Observance, Mrs. Murry; Albion Organization, Mrs. Simmons, LaOita. The audience was also favored with short addresses from Revs. Cain and Molier, which were greatly appreciated. The Medal Contest held on Monday evening was a decided success. The audience filled the house to overflowing and the contestants delivered their pieces in a manner which won great praise from all present. Miss Cappa Knirs, of LaOita, was the fortunate young lady who received the Silver Medal of the W. C. T. U., Miss Faye McCartney being second. Another contest will shortly be held. The judges were Mrs. Clapps and Rev. Murry, of Albion, and Mrs. Rose Pearce, of LaPorte. The sessions of Tuesday showed signs of growing interest, the audience being large and attentive. During the morning the ladies were favored with addresses from Rev. Murry, of Albion, and Rev. Pearce, of LaPorte, which added much to the interest of the gathering. The audience on Tuesday evening was large. Mrs. Rose Pearce was the speaker. As a result of the Institute, a Union was organized, officers elected and we have every reason to believe that Avilla will shortly have one of the strongest Unions in Noble County.

Royal Center had the good fortune to have Mrs. Stahl, State Superintendent of Mothers' Meetings, on the 7th and on Sunday. Sunday afternoon a most delightful soul-searching, soul-inspiring mothers' meeting was held in the Baptist church. Rev. Clem, the pastor, has been here only a short time, but he is a staunch prohibitionist, a young man, and his bright little wife gave her name as a member. Eleven new members were secured. Sunday evening the church was full and Mrs. Stahl's address was fine, inspiring and convincing. When the solicitors went through the congregation for members, a brother gave his name and said this lecture was worth a dollar to him. Nineteen new members were secured.

Adams County Institute was held at Decatur. The opening was saddened by the death and funeral service of Mrs. Patterson, a loved member. The State program was used. Miss Hadley as leader is an interesting speaker and has her subjects well in hand. The interest increased throughout. The contest on the first evening by the ladies was quite enjoyable. Dr. Marie L. Holloway won first honor and Miss Segner second. Mrs. Judge Studebaker appeared as Samantha Allen, in costume, and was greeted with applause. By special arrangement the closing meeting was held as a union service, and addressed by Miss Hadley, State and National Superintendent of Institutes. The different ministers of the city were on the platform and officiated in the opening and closing services. Also the local W. C. T. U. President, Mrs. Gilson, and other White Ribboners. The large and beautiful auditorium of the M. E. Church was filled and much of the space in the lecture-room occupied. Miss Hadley's address was forceful and inspiring. Her persuasive manner and her refinement and culture, dominated by a christ-like spirit, wins all hearts. The great interest manifested during the entire Institute resulted in the accession of 31 members and the organization of a Y Branch. The ministers and leading citizens were included in the honorary membership. A large subscription list was taken for the Union Signal and the MESSAGE.

STATE SUPERINTENDENTS.

The souvenir for our Board of Departments has been postponed until after the meeting in June. Superintendents will not send in their money or cuts now.

FRANCES E. BOYER.

SUMMER ASSEMBLIES.

Dear White Ribbon Sisters, give me your attention. Are you remembering that we have Assembly Unions at six points and will have a program at these places? Acton Park, August 2 and 3; Bethany, July 23; Battle Ground, Island Park, August 9; Winona and Zionville, July 10.

We are responsible largely for the success of these meetings. Are we planning to attend some one of them? Are we selecting memberships and arranging to take our banners, local and county? Do we fully comprehend the great opportunity these meetings offer for our educational work? Work up an excursion to these meetings, talk about them, think about them, and pray that we each do our best for them.

MARY E. BALCH,
State Superintendent.

BLANKET REPORT BLANKS.

Two sets will be sent this quarter—one filled and sent to State Superintendent as per instruction on blank, the other filled and sent to County Superintendent to save the writing of one as per instruction. Unfilled blanks not to be returned.

MARY E. BALCH,
Secretary.

Huntington County Institute, with Miss Mary Hadley as leader, was held in Andrews April 16 and 17. We had a helpful and instructive two days' meeting. We succeeded in organizing a Union of 17 members and 19 subscribers to the MESSAGE. On Monday evening eight young ladies contested for the silver medal, a young lady from Huntington winning the medal.

The Mid-Year Conference of State Superintendents will be held in the West Side M. E. Church, LaFayette, beginning Tuesday, June 12, and lasting three days. All our State Superintendents are urged to be present. Will each one please notify me as to day and train on which she will come, so that one entertainment committee may know just how many to provide for?

SARAH D. CURTISS,
President of Board.

The Executive Committee voted to bring Mrs. Mary Teats, of California, into our State for Purity work. Mrs. Teats writes that she will begin about Aug. 15, coming into the State from Chicago, and can give a month, leaving the State en route for Cincinnati. The work will be planned with these points in mind, to save travel. The terms are $5 a lecture, she paying railroad travel. Mrs. Teats writes that the Unions must see that she gets from and to the trains at their expense. If the Unions wishing the services of Mrs. Teats will write early so that a close route may be planned, it will be for the best good all around.

MARY E. BALCH,
Corresponding Secretary.

DEMOREST MEMORIAL DAY.

As the tenth of June, the birthday of William Jennings Demorest, falls this year upon Sunday, the oratorical contests with which the W. C. T. U. observe that day may be held June 11, or upon any day during that month. The National Superintendent of medal contests has prepared the following program for use upon that occasion, with the understanding that it may be varied by local unions to suit local needs and conditions:

- Opening Song—"Hail to Old Glory".....Kinsey
(Song for all voices and mixed chorus.)
- Scripture reading.
- Prayer.
- Song—"One Sweetly Solemn Thought".....
.....Ambrose Brierly
(Duet for alto and tenor voices.)
- Sketch of the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Demorest.
- Song—"Crossing the Bar".....Woodward
(Quartette.)

- Recitation No. 1.
- Recitation No. 2.
- Song—"The Pious Deacon".....Avis
(Chorus for mixed or male voices.)
- Recitation No. 3.
- Recitation No. 4.
- Song—"Save the Boy".....Cole
(Song and chorus for mixed or male voices.)
- Recitation No. 5.
- Recitation No. 6.
- Judges of the contest retire.
- Appeal for members of the W. C. T. U.
- Song—"What Are You Going to Do, Boys?"
(Duet and chorus for mixed voices.)
- Awarding the medal.
- Song—"All Hail the Starry Banner!".....Mowers
(Chorus for mixed voices.)
- Benediction.

It is a good idea to have as many singers in the choir, or chorus, as possible. The more there are the more effective the music. If preferred, a flag drill may be given while the judges are making their decision. The recitations should be on prohibition. For further instruction, if needed, and for recitation books and medals, send to your State Superintendent of Medal Contests. For music, send to the National Superintendent, Mrs. A. E. Carmen, The Temple, Chicago. A catalogue of music is now ready and will be mailed to any address on receipt of postage stamp.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

I wish you to know that our National Superintendent has just issued a manual entitled "Hints and Helps for Sunday School Workers," in which the plan of work of the department is very plainly set forth, including instructions in all lines of work and which can be secured of Mrs. Stella B. Irwin, of St. Paul, Minn., for 10 cents each.

I wish every white ribboner to have this book and will send one free to any superintendent who will send me her name and address before the 15th of June. If I can get this book in your hands, it will be the best work that I can do at this time. Our next quarterly lesson appears June 10th.

The quarterly leaflet giving the temperance teaching points and the blackboard circulars can be secured of Mrs. Irvine and will prove very helpful to the Union ordering them. The leaflet is 25 cents per 100, postpaid. The blackboard circulars 2 cents each or 50 cents per 100, postpaid. Put forth every effort to have this the best "temperance Sunday" in the year. It will be a good time for Sunday School rallies, addresses and pledge signing. Make duplicate pledge chain if you desire to retain one for an object lesson for the Sunday School. Report promptly.

ALICE G. GEARY.

HADLEY INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

The opening of spring is a time of gladness to the dear girls of this Home, as with it comes so much outdoor life with things of nature. School has closed with satisfactory results, the girls generally making their grades with credit to themselves and teacher. The night school of one hour or more duration proved a great help to the day school, and if the same untiring energy can be maintained next term, we shall have a graduating class at its close. This will leave the older girls free to take part in the general work of the Home, thereby lightening the burdens of the Superintendent and Matron.

The new laundry is now enclosed and will soon be finished. Spring planting has been pushed forward as rapidly as the season would permit. The wheat sown last fall was entirely destroyed by the unfavorable conditions of the winter. Much freezing and thawing and very little snow for winter covering brought about this disaster. The fruit prospect is now fair for everything except apples. Strawberries were well mulched in the fall and are promising a fair yield and will begin to ripen the last week in May.

The little calves and pigs are numerous and beautiful. The girls are healthy and happy and are learning to look upon the bright side of life and feel that they have a mission to accomplish here. But the lot of all persons in life is to suffer loss and bereavement of loved ones. The death of Mr. R. E. Carmack during the past week has brought sorrow to the hearts of all connected with the Home. His health had been failing for some time. Last fall he made the remark while at the Home that the thoughts of this Home kept him alive. He loved the girls personally, as he knew them all well. He believed that if the high ideals of Mr. and Mrs. Hadley can be successfully carried out in this Home, it will be a great power for good in the world. It is inspiring to have known one so truly unselfish and independent in benevolent action as was Mr. Carmack.

LUCRETIA HOBART.

Washington County W. C. T. U. Institute was held at Campbellsburg. The tidal wave of activity is rising higher and higher in our county. We were very happy to have with us Mrs. Mattie O. Cammack Gibson, who addressed a large audience at Hardinsburg, Sunday, April 8. The address was intensely interesting and suggestive, forceful and inspiring. Mrs. Gibson won all hearts by her gentle manner and persuasive eloquence. After the address one good brother came up and gave us his hand, to become an honorary member. It was encouraging to know that the extreme bad weather did not prevent the Washington County Union from holding its Institute. A County Institute, especially if it be one of marked interest and enthusiasm, is always an incentive to a higher and more diligent phase of work and life. All White Ribboners should make it a point to attend. If so, I will assure them they will go home with many good resolutions that will bear good fruit. The County Officers were all present and it was evident that our friends were praying for the success of the Institute. Mrs. Cammack-Gibson gave us great help on all lines of work. The remarks of Revs. Crow, Clinton and Monbeck, were the interesting features of the clergyman's hour. Their words were an inspiration to all present. The Silver Medal Contest was of unusual merit. All the recitations were excellently rendered and Mr. Will Bilyen was awarded the prize.

The following evening Mrs. Gibson addressed a full house on "Five Boys in Knee Pants," and it so stirred the hearts of the people that they put their hands deep down into their pockets to help the W. C. T. U. of Campbellsburg. A live Union was organized with nine active and one honorary member. President, Miss Flora Wines; Vice-President, Mrs. Mollie Wilkins; Secretary, Miss Addie Smith; Treasurer, Mrs. Emma Chamberlin; Superintendent of Contest Work, Mrs. Lydia Hiles. This new Union takes up the work bravely. By the way they have started out we feel that with God's help they will crown the coming year with successful efforts.

Floyd County Institute was held at New Albany, Mrs. Brand leader. The devotional services were led by Superintendent of Mothers' Meetings, McClain, who spoke very sweetly. Mrs. Dr. Jones was in the chair in the absence of the leader. She turned the house into a talking meeting, letting guests and local workers feel each other's pulse and diagnosing a very high temperature, dangerous only to the liquor traffic. Mrs. Brand was gladly welcomed. After noontide prayer the Institute adjourned for lunch at Mrs. Theo. Day's, prepared by our committee—Mrs. Roberts, Mrs. Teadon and others. Followed up program in the afternoon and at night with welcome address by Y. M. C. A. Secretary at night. Response by Mrs. Hattie Brand, followed by Green family illustrated song service, or concert. Evening of 24th had Mrs. Connie Hickson, of Louisville, for a talk to young people. Music by the Green family—two boys, father, mother and little daughter.

THE MESSAGE.

"Not by Might nor by Power, but by My Spirit."

VOL. IV. No. 6.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., JUNE, 1900.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR.

TABLE BLESSING IN SONG.

Be present at our table, Lord,
Be here and everywhere adored.
Thy creatures bless and grant that we May feast in Paradise with Thee.

A MAGNIFICENT GIFT.

Our co-laborer, Mrs. M. A. Omo, of Harlan, has given $500 for a permanent endowment fund to the W. C. T. U. of Indiana, in memory of her loved sister, Miss Hannah H. McDaniels. The earnest work in the W. C. T. U. and the L. T. L. of this sister was known and appreciated. The influences exerted by that beautiful life are still being felt. Mrs. Omo has for years been officially connected with the Allen County W. C. T. U., having served for a long time as County President.

As an endowment fund, this money cannot be used, the annual interest only being available. Thus, year by year, it will enable the State to do a certain amount of definite field work. To have such a gift for a permanent endowment fund for organization means much to the Indiana W. C. T. U. Surely other sisters who cannot push on in the fore front of the battle for God and Home and Native Land, will arrange to contribute of their means to the State W. C. T. U., so that each year the accrued interest will enable the State to carry on the needed work. May God send conviction into the hearts of some of our superannuated workers to thus help to provide a way for the work to go on. The battle wages, the conflict deepens and in all the history of the past there never has been so great a need of workers.

THE MESSAGE.

Mrs. M. A. Holloway, Lincolnville, says: "Do I like the MESSAGE? Yes, yes! I cannot do without it." Mrs. Haines, of Rockport, says: "I cannot afford to miss one number."

Dear sisters, have you attended to your renewals? The MESSAGES going to any one town are securely wrapped in packages, and if any reach their destination, all do. If your neighbor gets her paper and you do not, the fault is at the home office or with the one who gets your paper for you.

August 15th seems a long way off, hence you put off engaging Mrs. Teats, the Purity worker. Better write for dates at once. Write the State Secretary. Mrs. Teats comes into our State from Chicago, Aug. 15 and can spend a month crossing the State en route to Cincinnati.

Miss Margaret Wintruger, of Austin Station, Chicago, will give June to Indiana. Write Miss Wintruger for dates.

BLANKET REPORT BLANKS.

NOTICE—Mrs. Florence Vance is now at Crawfordsville. Mrs. Colton has resigned and Mrs. Ada B. Leck, 1801 North Capitol Avenue, Indianapolis, takes her unexpired term. Send Fair blanks to Mrs. Leck. Don't fail to fill one for the County Superintendent when there is one.

Monrovia Y has thirty members. A young man returned from the Philippines gave a talk to them on the canteen. The girls are rushing the medal work, ordering three silver medals at once.

Grant County has held her second grand gold medal contest.

BLANKET REPORT BLANKS.

Some State Superintendents say that their quarterly reports have already brought them accounts of more work done thus far this year than was reported for the entire four quarters of last year. This is certainly most encouraging and proves that the work done in the local Unions has always been much greater than has ever been reported to the State Superintendents. The annual program of each Union should provide for time to be given at the first meeting in December, March, June and September for the filling out of the Blanket Report blanks. Then each superintendent of a department and each individual member will make a special effort to be present and to report all the work done (much is done by the individual members which has never been reported.)

A table will be provided and upon it the Corresponding Secretary of the Union will place the blanket report blank and the pen and ink. When the time arrives for the reports, the Corresponding Secretary, who will be seated by the table, will read the name of the first department. The Superintendent will take a seat by the table, read aloud distinctly each question on her department blank and ask for all who have done any work in her department, not previously reported, to now report to her in figures. These figures she will add to her own list, as kept in her memorandum book, and proceed to fill out the report blanks. One of these she will enclose in a stamped envelope already addressed to the State Superintendent, and the others in like manner to the County Superintendent. Each Superintendent will, as her department is called, proceed in the same manner, each time reading the questions with emphasis. The names of the departments having no Superintendents will be called and the Corresponding Secretary herself will slowly and clearly read the questions, each time asking that they be considered, and calling for reports of all work done by the members in each department. She will fill out the blanks, if only a little has been done. One she will send to the State Superintendent and the other to the County Superintendent, if there be one. The Union will pay the postage for all reports of departments not having Superintendents. The officers of the Union will, of course, fill out their blanks, too, and forward them immediately.

To send the quarterly reports will cost each officer eight cents in postage a year, and each Superintendent sixteen cents in postage a year. This, I am sure, will be cheerfully given in order to help the State, National and World's work along. By doing this reporting quarterly and by the reading of the questions on the blanks at these meetings, greater interest and enthusiasm will be aroused in our department work. It cannot be otherwise. The Union that persistently follows this plan will never hear any of its members say, "There isn't any work we can do in this place." Members, friends and strangers will listen in amazement to the questions in the many departments. They will be led to exclaim, as did a minister in Howard County, who attended a convention and heard the Superintendents' reports: "I never knew before that the W. C. T. U. plans were so broad. I was astonished to know that such work was being done."

Local Presidents, consider this prayer fully, and you will perhaps be impressed with the fact that if each Superintendent was stimulated to greater activity, the success of the Union would be much greater. To this end plan your next meeting for making out reports, heartily co-operate with your Corresponding Secretary and close with a praise service for the much or little each has done and the great good accomplished as a union.

LUELLA F. MCWHIRTER.

Y. W. C. T. U.

Warren Y's have changed their meeting time to Tuesday evening. The President, Mrs. Clark, writes: "We go out to Miss Smith's, in the country, for the next meeting."

Through the untiring efforts of the President of the Lebanon W. C. T. U., Mrs. Dr. Henderson, a date was arranged and your Secretary spent the 31st of May and the 1st of June in that city. Although it rained, at the close of the address fifteen young people were organized into a Y branch and they will elect their own officers and become a Union soon. Pray for them, that God's rich blessing may attend their efforts.

Mrs. Anna Kilmer, President of Miami County, writes: The Peru Y is doing fine work, meeting every two weeks. They held a silver medal contest composed of four young women and two young men; paid their dues and are out of debt. The Y's and L. T. L.'s will help the W's observe their Flower Mission day. How our hearts rejoice as we learn of the successful work our young people are doing for Jesus' sake!

Remember, this third quarter must be the best in the payment of dues. Let us see which Union can collect and pay for the most members by June 15th. Have a self-denial week, girls, and save your dues, hand them in and see how happy it will make us.

The Goshen Y's are not very noisy, but they are firmly and quietly marching on; good temperance seed is sown in many families through our Y's, for which we often feel like praising God, and do praise Him for the enthusiastic Y branch He has given us. A number of our Y's have removed to other places; while we miss them here, we hope our work may go on through them in their new homes. We use the State programs and are delighted with them; our meetings are well attended and at nearly every meeting we are granted the privilege of adding new names to our list. Our pastors, superintendent of our city schools and our city teachers all seem glad to assist us on our programs. The Chairman of the next meeting has secured the services of a prominent minister to discuss the subject of narcotics. A profitable time is anticipated. I would like to add here that our meetings are not attended by young ladies only, but we always have a good attendance of boys and young men.

Word comes indirectly of the splendid Purity meeting held by the South Bend Y's.

Send to the Y Secretary items of news as early as the 28th of each month, so we can keep our columns filled. Spend much time in vacation in building up your Unions, help in every way and place you can and pray for the leading of the Holy Spirit's power in the lives of each one.

CLARA M. SEARS,

Secretary Y. W. C. T. U.

ORATORICAL CONTESTS.

Two-thirds of the work in the Department of Oratorical Medal Contests is done in the months intervening between the 15th of May and the 15th of October, beginning with the commencement exercises in schools and colleges, followed by Demorest Memorial Contests on the 11th of June and continued throughout the month; then the contests at summer institutes and outdoor gatherings, Fourth of July picnics, old settlers' reunions, etc.

Contests at county conventions are held in many States. One State held a contest at every institute last year to meet expenses. Last, are the contests at the State conventions.

The work is progressing, but as a further incentive the Columbia School of Oratory, through Miss Blood, a National Associate and President of the college, has offered half rates to contestants who have won a diamond medal, provided that they have a high school education or its equivalent and do not use liquor or tobacco in any form. This offer is for the regular diploma course. Several are working for these special rates. We have several scholarships at reduced rates in music and oratory in other schools, and will be pleased to correspond with any one expecting to take a course in either.

Many have written that they will hold a Demorest Memorial Contest sometime during June, and several have sent for music and will carry out the program as published in the Signal. Catalogue of music will be mailed to you for two cents. Nearly 30,000 children and young people, aside from the older classes, contested last year and over $11,000 brought into the local treasuries! What more can be said to interest local workers? Write to Mrs. Balch, your State Superintendent, for instructions and help us in this grand work for temperance and prohibition.

ADELIA E. CARMAN,

National Superintendent.

291 South Oakley Boulevard, Chicago, Ill.

EXCURSION TO HADLEY INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

The many friends of our school are cordially invited to join the Indianapolis party of White Ribboners and friends who will spend June 15 at the Hadley Industrial School farm. Round trip fare from Indianapolis, 75 cents; going at 7:30 A. M. and returning at 6:30 P. M. A good, wholesome dinner will be served for 25 cents by "our girls" in the dining-room of the School, including strawberries from the garden and cream from the dairy. The girls have arranged a short afternoon program which will interest all who attend. If the day is fair, the grounds will be greatly enjoyed, as well as a trip to the barnyard and over the farm. Let everybody who is interested in this splendid example of the plan of prevention and the illustration of the industrial training for worthy needy girls arrange to join this party and spend one day on the farm. Those who can meet us here in Indianapolis, do so; others can drive through. Come! If it rains on that day, go anyway, for the building is commodious, and the hearty welcome and great appreciation of the girls will make the day one of genuine pleasure. The good that your presence will do will be reflected back into your own soul.

Miss Mary Hadley, State and National Superintendent of W. C. T. U. Institutes, has gone to Minnesota for a month's Institute work, after spending some time in holding institutes in Ohio. Wherever Miss Hadley conducts an Institute the interest in the general work of the W. C. T. U. is greatly increased, new members—active and honorary—are gained and subscriptions taken to the State and National papers.

JULY 4.

Every Union should hold a picnic on July 4. Have speeches, music and recitations. Invite the young people, take the children. Have pledge cards, pencils and little white ribbon bows convenient, so that new members, regular and honorary, may be secured. Let us all help to make Independence Day a pleasant, profitable day, so that the young people will be inspired to be loyal, patriotic citizens.

In Martinsville the W. C. T. U. is waging a war against the cigarette. The parents and teachers are aroused upon the subject. Copies of the anti-cigarette law are posted in prominent business places. An editorial in one of the dailies, says: The evil effects of the pernicious habit soon shows its effect in the mental and physical condition of a school boy, and yet the parents are frequently deceived by their children as to the hidden power which brings about the condition. It is thought by the teachers that the parents cannot have knowledge of the habit or they would take severe measures to stop it. On Sunday, pledge cards will be distributed in the Sunday schools and an effort will be made to have the boys sign the pledge. The co-operation of the teachers, parents and business men in the work is strongly urged by the W. C. T. U.

FAIR WORK.

Written by Mrs. M. A. Colton before she resigned as State Superintendent of Fair Work.

Trusting that we shall be more enthusiastic than last year, and be really what our motto claims, "The women that publish the tidings are a great host." Psalm 6, 8-11. Revised version.

The first. The law of the State forbids the sale of intoxicating liquors at State or County Fairs. See that every privilege reads "exclusive of intoxicating liquors" and have the law enforced. I would recommend the holding of Medal Contests, getting one child from each township to form a class; a rest room where literature can be distributed and subscriptions to papers taken—Union Signal, MESSAGE, Patriot, Phalanx, and Young Crusader. The National offers a banner to the State having the largest increase in membership in our department. Honoraries count in this contest. The National has pledge cards at twenty-five cents per hundred; they are in red and white and should be strung together with blue ribbon to make a pretty decoration at State Fair. Let our department workers enter every open door. The cards you send to the National Superintendent. The money goes into the local treasury. Minnesota took the banner last year. I do so much want our dear Indiana to take the banner this year for our department. Dear Superintendents, won't you all try for the banner? We have 266 Local Unions, 61 County Unions, and an average of two to every Union would make 654 new members. Let me urge every fair worker to secure one new member in time to send all the pledge cards to our National Superintendent before our State Convention.

Will ask you through the medium of the MESSAGE to do what I would ask in a personal letter, which is for every Union in Indiana to appoint a Superintendent of Fair Work. Her duty is to plan and arrange for the W. C. T. U. to be represented at Fourth of July celebrations, picnics, harvest homes, reunions of all kinds, as well as the annual log-rolling of the Woodmen of the World. At these assemblies an opportunity is offered to see our superintendents, to distribute literature and make known their aims and methods to a class of people who seldom attend our meetings or hear our speakers. If each Union would secure only two new members I believe we will win the National Banner offered by this department. I will supply all the pledge cards you need at 25 cents per 100. That is what I pay for them. If a special effort is made in each Union, think of the increase in membership, in interest and the means to carry on the work loyally.

PROPORTIONATE AND SYSTEMATIC GIVING.

The following Bible reading was given at the Howard County Institute by Mrs. Amanda Turner:
God's ownership—Psalm 1, 10-12; Haggai ii, 8; Exodus xix, 5; Deuteronomy x, 14; Psalm xxiv, 1; 1 Corinthians x, 26 and 28.

Where people get their financial ability—Deuteronomy viii, 18; 1 Corinthians iii, 7; James i, 17.

First fruits—Proverbs iii, 9 and 10; Exodus xxiii, first sentence 19th verse; Nehemiah x, 35 and 37; Deuteronomy xxvi, 2.

Tithes—Genesis xxviii, 20-22; Leviticus xxvii, 30; Malachi iii, 10 and 11.

We are often told that the New Testament says nothing about giving tithes. Read Matthew xxiii, 23, and Luke xi, 42.

Some of the promises to those who give—Luke vi, 38; Proverbs xi, 24 and 25; Malachi iii, 10 and 11.

Texts on giving and on not giving—1 Corinthians xvi, 2; 2 Corinthians viii, 12; 1 Timothy vi, 17-19; Proverbs x, 22; Deuteronomy xvi, 10-17.

What is said of those who do not pay tithes nor give offerings—Malachi iii, 8.

What is said of those who acquire riches unjustly—James v, 1-4.

Shall we give the best or may we offer inferior offerings?—Malachi i, 7 and 8.

What is God's best gift to us?—John iii, 16.

PEACE AND ARBITRATION.

What are we doing, dear sisters, to advance the interests of our department in each county?

How many local Unions have held a parlor meeting, making peace the chief topic for consideration? How many counties have made this subject prominent in their spring conventions? One that I know of, at least. In Henry county, Miss Esther Cook presented the claims of this department very earnestly, and much interest was manifested as the subject was discussed. Our State Treasurer, too, was with us, and told us of discussions in the public schools of our Capitol city, which had awakened a very healthful interest. Subjects for debates were proposed in such form as this: Resolved, that war is a greater evil than intemperance; and youthful minds were set to thinking in a most profitable way. Shall we not try to introduce similar exercises in many of the schools, and see that real helpful literature is found for the debaters referred to?

How I do wish for some word from each county on this very important theme!

There are some hopeful signs in our horizon. But one of the best would be an awakening of our W. C. T. U. members and the sound of their voices pleading for the sweet return of peace. Indeed, I may tell you, sisters, that your voice has gone out in such a plea; for letters signed (to represent our more than 6,000 women in the State) by the State President, the Corresponding Secretary and the Superintendent of Department of Peace and Arbitration have been sent to the Marquis of Salisbury for England, and to President McKinley for our own country, asking for a speedy cessation of the deplorable wars now waging in South Africa and in the Philippines. Let me urge that many such letters be sent to those high authorities asking for peace. And please let me hear what you are doing, or in what way I can help you to do something in this "unrighteous, unpopular cause."

H. LAVINIA BAILY,
Superintendent.

FLOWER MISSION.

Winter with its cold and dreariness is passed and summer has come with its sunshine, birds and flowers. Let us take advantage of these beautiful days and try to make hundreds of lives more lovely by our visits and sweet flowers. June 9th was Miss Cassidy's birthday. As you all know, she was our first National Flower Mission Superintendent. I hope each one of your Unions had a regular Flower Mission meeting celebrating this occasion, and distributed bouquets to the sick and shut-ins, as well as at the jails, almshouses, hospitals, press offices, orphans' homes, etc.

ANNA CARR,
State Superintendent.

FAIR DEPARTMENT.

Please answer the following questions immediately after your fair closes. Write your full name and address and return to me:

1. Did you strive to secure the best class of agriculturists on your county board?
2. Does your county prohibit the sale of intoxicants on fair ground?
3. Have you any women on agricultural board?
4. Was your Union represented at county fair?
5. How many Unions were represented?
6. Mention Unions.
7. Did you provide a temperance program?
8. Was it carried out?
9. How many pages of literature distributed?
10. How many meals, or luncheons did you serve?
11. What revenue did you realize?
12. Did you furnish ice water free?
13. Did you have some one with a subscription book to take names for the Union Signal and our own State paper? Mention result.
14. How many signature to the pledge?
15. Did you have a check stand?
16. Did you contribute to the State fair?
17. Have you used the pledge cards especially prepared for this department?

MRS. A. B. LECK,
State Superintendent.

FIELD NOTES.

Mr. Gibson of Jonesboro, our friend and brother, the husband of our State Recording Secretary, met with a very painful accident which will probably cause him to lose the use of one of his arms for some months. We extend to him and to our loved sister our hearty sympathy.

Mrs. Mabel Conklin was three days at Logansport and was very much liked. Six names were added to the Union's membership and an interest manifested by those who never could be reached before.

Mrs. Anna Kilmer, Superintendent of Work Among Foreigners, is energetically pushing the distribution of literature. How many Unions consider the great need of work among this class? Surely, through their churches work could be done. Who will try?

Mrs. Holler writes that this year the circulation of daily papers printing Sabbath laws in Indiana is 25,000; circulation of papers publishing our call to prayer, 15,275; call to prayer leaflets sent out, 300; sermons, 177; public meetings, 97; S. S. and L. T. L. having special meetings for promotion of Sabbath Observance, 324. The Sabbath Observance Department has already this year sent 280,000 more pages of literature than during all last year.

The readers of the MESSAGE were no doubt greatly interested in the Press Department in the last issue, also in the looking into the pictured face of Mrs. Florence Vance, the brave little woman who won for Indiana the National Press star last year. Little did we think then that in a few short days that dear heart would be called upon to give up its life companion. The death angel took Mr. Vance very suddenly with heart failure. Thus our sister is bereft in her new home in Crawfordsville among strangers. We deeply sympathize with her and the dear little children thus early left fatherless.

Mrs. Opal J. Bowman, one of the District of Columbia Y's, has come to live in New Castle, Henry county, this State. We are delighted to welcome Mrs. Bowman into our Indiana ranks. Mrs. Clinton Smith, President of the District of Columbia, writes a letter congratulating us on our gain and deploring their loss. We need the girls to help us more than we can realize; we shall hope that through Mrs. Bowman's influence some of Henry county's girls will be organized into a Y.

The Christian Citizenship Department, under the wise leadership of Mrs. Almira Staples, our State Superintendent, is surely making itself felt in many communities. Recently the South Bend Presbyterian Missionary Society, with over fifty members, adopted the Christian Citizenship Department and appointed Mrs. Staples Superintendent. Other organizations have arranged for at least two meetings during the year for Christian Citizenship.

Logansport Central, under the auspices of the Flower Mission Department, held a unique entertainment on May 20. The results were $13.00 in money and four new members. Two young misses asked to be allowed to wear the white ribbon and agreed to take flowers to the sick and sometimes, when opportunity was afforded, to read to the sick. May the time soon come when every Union, W and Y, will seek to enlist young girls in like manner.

Mrs. Elizabeth M. Houghton, State and National Evangelist, has returned home after spending some time at work for the Texas W. C. T. U. We welcome her back and commend her to the Unions for most excellent service in special evangelistic meetings. It seems that we need much more of this kind of work now than we are having. Write to Mrs. Houghton, at Richmond, and arrange with her to spend some time in your community.

The World's W. C. T. U. convention will be held in Edinburgh, Scotland, in June. Our National Union is allowed one representative for every one thousand paid members, these to be elected by States. Our Indiana delegates will bear their own traveling expenses, but will receive entertainment in the homes of Scotland's famous old city. The following Indiana women will be our delegates: Mrs. Anna Buchanan Logan, Indianapolis; Miss Minerva Tomes, Shelbyville; Miss Ella Coulter, Aurora; Mrs. Putterbaugh, Peru; Miss Hallie MacNiel. Read carefully the accounts of the meetings in the Union Signal, for our cause is marching on.

St. Joseph County Conference, held in South Bend, May 22, was well attended and was a great success. Our energetic State Treasurer, Mrs. Amanda Whitson, was the leader, and she proved that she not only knows how to successfully manage the finances of the State, but that she is a leader of rare ability as well. The women of South Bend received an uplift and were filled with a renewed determination to push forward the work as never before. While much enthusiasm was imparted to the local workers, the best part of the conference was no doubt the helpful plans proposed for carrying on the work. The plans for organization suggested by Mrs. Whitson met with the approval of the St. Joseph county women, who heartily endorsed them. The leading topics discussed were: Summer Assemblies, Hadley Home, Non-Alcoholic Medication, Evangelistic Work, Medal Contest, L. T. L., Purity Department, Sabbath Observance, Jail and Prison Work and Scientific Temperance. It would be a hard task to sum up the value of this conference, and Mrs. Whitson's services were so much appreciated that we would be glad to welcome her to our county again soon.

Hadley Union, at Little Ridge, Grant county, once a month holds monthly meetings. We are a band of twenty-six loyal, enthusiastic and energetic workers. Our members are mostly mothers, who feel the responsibility of rearing children, and are anxious to aid in any cause for the uplifting of social and home influences. A most interesting mothers' meeting was held at the home Mrs. Nettie Hasty. Our regular meetings are held at our church house, and consist of recitations, select readings, papers and discussions on various interesting subjects. At our last meeting the idea was advanced of preparing ourselves with some kind of exercise, so if necessary each could be a substitute. I think in the country Unions, where attendance is unavoidably irregular, the idea would be a good one to put into practice.

Hamilton County Institute was held at Sheridan. Miss Mary Hadley and Mrs. Phebe Doan, County President, were present as leaders. The first session was small, but a good degree of interest was manifest, the gathering growing larger from session to session. The program was very ably handled by those having charge of the different topics assigned them, discussions of interest resulting in beneficial instruction to all. A silver medal contest was held on the first evening, with an attentive audience, which was very helpful to the cause financially and we trust that good and lasting results will follow. There were four girls and two boys in the class. Katie Huffman, of Sheridan, received the medal. On the second day we were permitted to have with us the State Treasurer, Mrs. Amanda T. Whitson, who gave us many valuable suggestions along the lines of work. Mrs. Maggie E. Cox gave a very encouraging report of the work being done by the Hadley Industrial School. A Parliamentary Drill was conducted by Miss Hadley. The afternoon was mostly given to county convention work. The reports of Superintendents of departments showed much good work done. The juvenile work was ably and energetically brought before the convention by a paper read by Mrs. Lizzie Henly, of Westfield. There was a gain of 20 new members. Sheridan Union reorganized with Leona B. Doan as President, and 12 of the new members were added to the faithful two who had carried on the work as best they could during the time there was no Union. All were entertained very nicely by the good people of Sheridan and returned home with a fresh inspiration to press on in the good work.

HADLEY INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

Miss Lucretia Hobart, President, 1101 Virginia Avenue, Indianapolis.

Mrs. Maggie Cox, Recording and Corresponding Secretary, Westfield, Hamilton County, Ind.

Mrs. Rebecca Hessong, Treasurer, Broad Ripple

It may be interesting to you to know that our laundry building is almost completed, and we, of course, will be delighted to move into it. It adds much to the appearance of things, and we know that rich will be the reward of the one who so kindly and lovingly gave us the $500.00 for its erection. We feel very much the loss by death of R. E. Carmack, who has so many years had such great interest in our girls and so many times given them kindly advice. He added to their needs by his benevolence and kindness.

We went over to Plainfield on the 17th of April, twelve miles away, with thirteen of our girls and gave an entertainment for the benefit of our home, our receipts being $14.90. It was a nice little outing for us. We were royally entertained by the W. C. T. U. of the place. We have some other invitations in the same line which we will accept soon. We are putting out plants and flowers, expecting our lawn to look inviting this summer.

BETTIE PARKER,
Superintendent.

HADLEY SCHOOL.

The time of roses and strawberries is with us, and thirty little girls in our home are now revelling in the delights of gathering them and inhaling the fragrance of the flowers while they feast on the juices of the berries. The month of May, with its extremes and caprices, has fled and June, with its longer days and warmer breath, is already here, inviting all to out-door life, for this is the month of all the year best suited to out-door sports and communion with nature. And happy are they who have shady groves and breezy lawns enlivened by the native birds.

A marked change soon comes to the pale cheeks and slender forms of the city girls who come to live with us. One of our troubles just now is, that we have more applications from needy girls, seeking admission to our home, than we can possibly meet.

The new laundry building is a great benefit and we feel grateful to all the dear friends who have helped in its erection.

The leading women of the village of Hadley are taking steps preparatory to organizing a W. C. T. U. union. We rejoice in this movement, believing much good will come to this vicinity from this union.

Also the Hendricks County prohibition organization will hold a rally, on the 4th of July, on the grounds belonging to our home. Our girls are invited to take part in the exercises, which they will gladly do, as they have begun the warfare against intemperance, and do not intend to lay the armor by until rum is routed.

AMANDA T. WHITSON,
State Treasurer.

TAKE NOTICE.

To the local Treasurers of Unions organized since Feb. 1, 1900, we offer the following premiums: If you will collect full dues from every charter member and forward 70 cents of the same to the County Treasurer for State and County dues by the 15th of June, we will present to you a free yearly subscription to the MESSAGE and Signal. The charter members are those that gave their names as members the day your Union was organized and does not include honorary members.

In addition to this we offer to Unions organized since Feb. 1, 1900, the following: If full dues are collected from every charter member and for as many more additional new members during this quarter and 70 cents of each due be sent to your County Treasurer by the 15th of June, for State and County dues, the State will give you two days' work by Mrs. Hattie Brand, State Organizer, for expenses and entertainment only. If county is unorganized, send the 70 cents to the State Treasurer.

Let me urge every member of your Union to give one day between this and the 15th of June to the securing of new members and secure both premiums. Let me earnestly ask each county officer to visit your new Union and give it a helping hand right now. Will your Union be one of the number that secures one or both premiums?

AMANDA T. WHITSON.

An Oratorical Contest for a silver medal will be held at Grace M. E. Church, Indianapolis, June 15, at 8 P. M. Urge your neighbors' young people to accompany you to this contest.

Blanks were sent to County Treasurers May 31. If Local Treasurers have not received the local blanks notify your County Treasurer by first mail, that others may be sent.

AMANDA T. WHITSON.

Hurrah for the new Union at Knightstown, Henry County. Seventeen charter members and nineteen members have paid full dues and reported. Who next?

South Bend Y. The second one of the course of lectures on Social Purity given under the auspices of the Y. W. C. T. U. was delivered by Miss Eva Hill (drawing teacher), at the Y. M. C. A. rooms.

The first lecture was given by Miss Maggie Brennen, Matron of the Epworth Hospital. Subject, "Care of the Body." Miss Hill spoke on Sea-Force. Some of the thoughts presented were, self-analysis as to the why's and wherefore's of the inner life, the spirit life, also be yourself what you want your neighbor to be. Her thoughts were beautiful and worthy of the deepest consideration and considered equal with some professors who have made it a life study.

This lecture, with others, will be printed in pamphlet form and any person wishing a copy can have it by sending ten cents to address below.

AGNES BUTTS,
Press Superintendent.

728 Park Ave., South Bend, Ind.

The conference of the State Superintendents, at LaFayette, June 12, 13, 14, in the West Side M. E. Church, promises to be of great interest and lasting benefit to the cause. There will be an oratorical contest on the first evening. On the second evening an address by Rev. Enfield on Political Economy, followed by Mrs. Helen Gougar on Franchise.

NEW UNIONS.

As a result of the heroic work of some County Presidents and the Institute workers this spring we have many new Unions. These should have been visited by every county officer before July 1. The County Superintendents will greatly help their departments and the cause by visiting the new Unions. Please consider how much effort has been expended to organize the Unions, and if this was done without your help, then I am sure your loyalty to the cause and to God will urge you to do much toward helping the work done to become a permanent source of good in your county. To help a newly organized Union to get enthusiastically to work against the common foes of our homes and of Christ will enable you to claim a part in the blessing promised her who has done what she could. Consider this well, and I think you will be convinced that if there has been a Union organized in your county that you have a responsibility in helping the membership to become informed upon the plans and purposes of the W. C. T. U.

MRS. STANLEY IN CLINTON COUNTY.

It rained four days almost incessantly, yet between showers our women somehow managed to rally the clans and present a very creditable army.

Clinton County women are well drilled. They have been waging an aggressive warfare in that county and have closed the saloons of Circleville and Sedalia, but Frankfort saloons were really benefited by it. I have little confidence in local prohibition, especially when it costs the temperance people so much to secure it. We secured thirty-eight new members for the W. C. T. U. in Clinton county; that means thirty-eight consecrated souls who are not afraid to stand out on the firing line in this battle for the home.

Decoration Day was beautiful. The G. A. R., of Albany, Delaware county, had employed the writer for the address on that sacred day, and we were glad to have an opportunity of talking with an organization of men who know what it cost this country in the past to compromise with wrong and tolerate the national sin of human slavery.

The time draws near when the final blow will be struck for the freedom of the alcoholic slaves, the industrial slaves and the "female" slaves. Yes, we will live to celebrate the "new emancipation." Courage, dear tired heart, the Lincoln who shall sign the proclamation of freedom lives to-day, perhaps not in Indiana, but he lives in a State where patriots are born of free mothers.

ELIZABETH T. STANLEY.

SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

If one time above another is worse for Sabbath desecration it surely is the summer months, when excursions and Sunday picnics are numerous; when people make the Sabbath a holiday instead of a holy day. Shame! Shame on our American people and especially the Christian part trampling God's laws under our feet.

David said, "open thou mine eyes that I may behold wondrous things out of the law." Now that we have seen and do know his law says, remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy, and this means do not forget, which some seem to have done.

Our State and Nation makes laws to protect a rest day, which, if violated, brings us under condemnation of the law. God gives us a law to protect both a work and a holy day, and a violation of that brings one under condemnation. Sin is the transgression of the law. Sow a thought and you reap an act; sow a habit and you reap a character; sow a character and you reap a destiny. Let us sow good seed beside still waters. This we can do by distributing literature. The Sabbath Observance department has more kinds of leaflets than any other line of work. They are suited to all occasions. Will not the superintendents do their duty and get them before the people? Let me get a full report from each one. Our National Superintendent has offered a prize to the state having the greatest number of superintendents. Why not let Missouri have it?

S. E. HUDSON,
State Superintendent, Missouri W. C. T. U.

A program for Red Seal Evening, in the interests of the L. T. L. room in the National Temperance Hospital, will be sent on application free of charge. All L. T. L. leaders are urged to use it. Address, Alice M. Guernsey, Custodian L. T. L. Hospital Fund, 17 Webster Place, East Orange, N. J.

The editor of the MESSAGE has received a beautifully printed card which contains the following, the name only being written:

Woman's Christian Temperance Union, South Whitley, Indiana, Greeting:

To all our friends, though far and near,
 We crave your kind attention;
 So please to lend us now your ear
 While we a subject mention.
 The ladies of this union hold,
 On a day not distant far,
 If we have been correctly told,
 A "Handkerchief Bazaar."

So this, then, is our plea in brief,
 To help our enterprise,
 You each shall send a handkerchief,
 Of any kind or size
 To be without a handkerchief,
 You know is quite distressing.
 From every State let one be sent,
 'Twill surely be a blessing.

Please send by June 20, 1900. Sent by Mrs. Ehna Emerson.

WHO IS KING?

While a tyrant still enchains us
 In the fetters of our woe;
 While wrecked and ruined victims
 Through the land reel to and fro,
 Shall we sit in mute submission
 'Neath his base, oppressive sway,
 When God's purpose points to conflict,
 And His Heralds lead the way?

No! Ten thousand gentle voices—
 Over land and over sea,
 Are responding to the summons,—
 They are saying, "Lord, send me!"
 "We are called; and we are coming!"
 —An army starred with white!
 Afar, our snowy emblems,
 "Are gleaming through the night!"

But the night wears a silver wing,
 And stars are a-glow with cheer;
 For we know our Mighty Helper
 Is most surely drawing near!
 Yes: we know that He is coming,
 All His healing help to bring!
 And that He,—He only, reigneth!
 And the Rum Power is not King!

MARY A. LEAVITT.

LIQUOR SOLD TO OUR BOYS IN THE PHILIPPINES.

The sale of intoxicating liquors in the army canteen is in defiance of the following action of Congress:

SECTION 17. That no officer or private soldier shall be detailed to sell intoxicating drinks, as a bartender or otherwise, in any post, exchange or canteen, nor shall any other person be required or allowed to sell such liquors in any encampment or fort or on any premises used for military purposes by the United States; and the Secretary of War is hereby directed to issue such general order as may be necessary to carry the provisions of this Section into full force and effect.

SECTION 18. That all laws or parts of laws which conflict with these provisions of this Act are hereby repealed. (Passed the Senate Feb. 27, 1899.)

When the Secretary of War issued the general order as required, all liquor selling stopped. Then U. S. Attorney General Griggs, by request (liquor element), gave his interpretation of this law to be that no soldier should be detailed to sell liquor, but that citizens could be employed for this purpose. An order went forth again which allowed the sale of liquor just the same as before the passage of the law, the difference being it was dealt out by a citizen as bartender.

As Commander-in-Chief of the army President McKinley was appealed to by representatives of many organizations. In response he said he would consider the subject. Finally when great pressure came upon him, he said the Attorney General's decision would have to stand. He thus allows the law passed by Congress to become a dead letter. The will of the best element of the United States was expressed plainly in petitions for such a law.

The force of these facts has become so powerful that the subject will become an issue in the campaign this fall. Wm. McKinley, the tool of the liquor element, will again be the president of the United States notwithstanding the efforts of the National Republican committee to supply the Associated Press with items like the following:

"Chaplain Chas. C. Pierce of the United States Army, has testified to the Adjutant General on the very beneficial effects that followed the establishment of the army canteen."

White Ribboners arise in your womanhood and cry out against this.

White Ribboners, get all the information possible about this affair, then tell it, urge your ministers to preach against the canteen liquor selling, suggest the subject for prayer meetings, agitate, agitate! Send for information to Hon. John G. Woolley, New Voice, 315 Dearborn street, Chicago, Ill. Those of you who can do so, speak against it in public. Everybody talk about the facts at home and in every place possible.

We must help to bring the crisis for right, for respect for law and for protection for the boys in camp in our own and other countries and in the islands under our control. Will you help? Will the girls help?

IN MEMORIAM.

Mrs. W. E. Alexander, Superintendent of Literature of the Bedford W. C. T. U., was called from labor to reward April 4, 1900. She was a member of the W. C. T. U. for many years, filling many of the offices of the organization very faithfully. She was loyal to the cause of temperance and everything that is right. She was sympathetic, truthful and a devoted Christian mother and wife. This is the second one of our White Ribbon sisters who has been called home in less than a month, so our Union is deeply afflicted. Heaven has gained another angel at the great white throne and we are left to emulate her goodness.

THE MESSAGE.

"Not by Might nor by Power, but by My Spirit."

VOL. IV. No. 7.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., JULY, 1900.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR.

ATTENTION! ATTENTION!!

Dear White Ribbon sisters, will we consider and act wisely and not allow one hour's time to go to waste during the time of this visit? Miss Margaret Winter, Austin station, Chicago, Ill., will give Indiana August 18 to 31, in the interest of the L. T. L. branch. Terms, $5.00 per day; $8.00 for two days, $12.00 for three days and railroad expenses and entertainment. Will hold afternoon and evening meetings, those for children preferred in the afternoon. Union mass meeting for children Sunday afternoon, Union Gospel Temperance meeting for Sunday night, chalk talks for children and adults. Write at once for dates. First come first served and the time is very limited.

MARY E. BALCH,
Corresponding Secretary.

OUR GIRLS.

There are thirty girls at our Hadley Industrial school. The brightest, most loving and lovable girls that could be there. Dear Mrs. Parker, our Superintendent, says they are all good. There is not one of the number that shows envy, malice or a spiteful disposition. The older girls, aged about fourteen, are kind and considerate of the little girls, giving them the preference in true sisterly fashion. Could you look into their sweet faces and listen to them tell what union sends them there, I am sure if you were a member of such a union you would rejoice in your heart for the little you had done. Those dear children look upon the W. C. T. U. that sends their clothing as a foster mother. I asked some of them to write letters to their unions and was surprised at some who said they didn't know to whom to write. Of course Mrs. Parker knew—but I really think each dear little girl would enjoy knowing the names of those who care for her. One little girl said, can you tell me who to write to in the union that sends me? I said, yes. Then she asked if I would address an envelope for her if she would run and get it. It was a pleasure to write the address of a mother hearted woman whom I knew would respond to the place in that child's affections.

The unions furnish the clothing for the girls, consequently they are all dressed differently. If the committee in each union having in charge the making of the clothes could know what an advantage it is to see a girl with her dress the right length and neatly made, I feel sure that there would be much pains taken to get the correct waist measure, the correct length of the sleeves and skirt. These could be obtained of Mrs. Parker. The girls are taught to be neat and keep their clothes in good repair. They take much pride in combing their hair and making the best appearance possible. Most of them are provided with hair ribbons, but some have washed and pressed theirs until they are unsightly. Some of them have white dresses and take care of them. I long for each mother and father who reads these lines to see and know our girls. Among them all, not a face but what you would love, not a girl that does not respond appreciatingly to all favors received. If you have books or pictures that have pleased you and you can spare them send to our girls. They take pride in arranging their rooms; some of them do not so much as have picture cards for this purpose.

The sitting room is large, with great west and north windows. Has a fire grate and nice mantel. It would indeed be made cheerful and home-like with pictures for the wall, a table for the center of the room and magazines, newspapers and games for the girls for the long winter evenings. Now the walls are nearly bare, the furniture is meager and the appearance is somewhat cheerless. Rugs are badly needed in the library and reception room; almost any size can be used. The dining room walls are entirely bare, the supply of linen is limited, the knives and forks are mostly steel with wooden handles and necessitate much effort to keep them nice. The supply of glass dishes and nice dishes is very small. The need of something for face and dish tueling is very great.

To teach the girls to do nice dining room service and clean systematic kitchen work some things are absolutely essential; not expensive linen, dishes and tueling, but a sufficient amount to work with. Flower vases are made of fruit jars, etc. Inexpensive bouquet holders well filled, would greatly add to the appearance of the rooms and the dining table.

Could I give you a picture of the girls at work in the garden among the fruit and in the house you would feel satisfied of their willingness to work, their anxiety to please and their appreciation of their home. None of the girls are grown; most of them are small.

I hope that the Y girls and W's will look about their homes and decide to send a box of such articles as they think would be a pleasure and of service to our girls. Anything that girls use and enjoy would be greatly appreciated by them. Some of them have few, if any ribbons, handkerchiefs or toilet articles. A subscription to a magazine or newspaper would be more appreciated than you can imagine. The girls tell me that every word in the MESSAGE is read by all the older girls. When it comes there is a scramble for it. When you consider that they are out on a farm with little communication with other people, you will understand how much they live together without the interchange of experience and information from other homes.

SCIENTIFIC TEMPERANCE.

By the action of Prof. Atwater, the subject of temperance in our public schools has assumed gigantic proportions in all parts of our country. His theories have been most heartily welcomed and endorsed by the enemies of total abstinence. His unproved assertions, claiming to be founded upon scientific experiment, have caught the attention of the indifferent, who have largely accepted them as facts. On the other hand, many of our most able physicians and scientists have taken some time from their busy lives to expose the fallacy of his reasoning. It is of the utmost importance that temperance workers, whatever their special departments may be, should be diligent in studying the merits of this question and enthusiastic in refuting the false reasoning which has been sent broadcast over our nation. The children of our public schools, if once fully under the teaching of any of the "authorized physiologies," would become an immense national L. T. L. with a power for good that can not be estimated.

The present interruption to this work bears the impress of our arch enemy. Shall we cease our efforts while it continues? We have as our national head in this department, one who emphatically says no; and acts accordingly. What can we who should be her hands and her feet do to further her efforts? Each state has its peculiar hindrances to this educational work. Indiana has a comparatively weak law; but if it were conscientiously enforced it would be an important factor in securing total abstinence for the present and coming generation. The greatest obstacle to this is found in the kind of physiology used in our state. I beg you all to examine carefully Jenkin's Physiology, both the large and small work and see how much (or rather how little), scientific temperance our children will get from them. Then secure copies of the Blaisdell series, or Appletons, or The Eclectic and see how much and how beautifully arranged the subject matter is, for both pupil and teacher.

Very much to my chagrin and disappointment our State Board of Education has adopted the same book for another three years. It does not fulfill the requirements of our law; ignoring the spirit of it and the intent of those who framed it. Can we not, by teachers who are in sympathy with our work and through friends and constituents of the members of our State Board, induce them to have these physiologies revised to meet the requirements of the law? I understand they were adopted "subject to revision." Will not each union, local and county, make a special effort during the next two months to create sentiment in favor of this? I urge you to examine these books and act promptly and earnestly in this matter, that we may accomplish something before the beginning of another school year.

I have taken from the Union Signal the parallel drawn between "Alcohol and Food," and have had it printed in leaflet form, which I offer for sale in packages of 100 at 30 cents each and postage. I hope that superintendents and presidents of unions will secure these for distribution. Prepared, as this was, by Professor Winfield S. Hall, M. D., of the Northwestern Medical college, Chicago, it is thoroughly reliable, and gives the results of scientific investigation in language easily understood by the unscientific.

Trusting that the opposition we have met with in this department will only increase our zeal, I am, Yours, most sincerely, for the good of our cause,

MARTHA W. BOND,
State Superintendent.

SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

In the June MESSAGE there appeared an article written by Mrs. S. E. Hudson, State Superintendent of Sabbath Observance for Missouri W. C. T. U. In closing her article she says: "Our National Superintendent has offered a prize to the state having the greatest number of superintendents," and then she adds, "why not let Missouri have it?"

We would like to say to the State Superintendent of Missouri that we would just as soon see her state get it as any other state, but Indiana is in the race and you know Indiana has a reputation for getting what she wants.

Superintendents, don't think of resting during the warm months. If there is any time in all the year that we should be active it is during July and August, while so many excursions, picnics, ball games, etc., are going on. And now, while your ministers are absent on vacation, is a good time to secure your church for a mass meeting. Many churches would be glad to open their doors to you. Get representative men and women to speak on such subjects as Sunday excursions. There are enough railroads to encircle the earth six times and nearly all of these roads are covered with Sunday trains. The railway conductors, 22,000 in number, have appealed to the public that they shall desist from Sunday travel so that they may have a day to be with their families; the Brotherhood of Trainmen, 31,000, and the railway telegraphers, 25,000, are all pleading for a day when traffic shall cease so that they may have a day of rest as well as we. Other subjects which may be treated are Sunday baseball, Sunday amusements, the postoffice, Sunday papers and a host of others, which, together with some lively songs, would make a good meeting.

Many church members are Sabbath breakers through thoughtlessness and so it is that public worship is becoming more neglected, while the Sunday is becoming more and more secularized. We need not be either pharisaic nor puritanical in our view of what Sunday involves; we must not burden it with a lot of petty regulations, but it should be made the happiest and best day in all the week. Especially should it be made so for the children. The Lord's day ought to be a bright day, a very sun-day.

KATIE WERT HOLLER,
State Superintendent.

FRANCHISE.

Secretary Long of the Navy has well said, that the opposition to the enfranchisement of women is "a slowly melting glacier of bourbonism and prejudice," and we say the melting of the glacier is going steadily on and when it reaches the necessary point the women of Indiana will vote. Nearly every paper in the state is willing to publish the news of women's advancement. The Chicago Legal News has published Judge Bradwell's article on "women lawyers of Illinois," biographical sketches of ninety women who have been admitted to the Illinois bar, since Mrs. Myra Bradwell made her application in 1869 and was refused because she was a woman.

Governor Thomas, of Colorado, has just set forth his ideas on woman suffrage in these words: "I have said that I support the cause of woman suffrage, not because I thought it would work the political regeneration of the country, but because I believe it was a woman's due to vote, if she desired to do so. I have also said, and I reiterate, that the enfranchisement of Colorado women has in many ways benefited the state—that it was a decided advance and that I trusted that other states, in emulation of our example, would soon give the right to women throughout the land."

Dear women of the W. C. T. U. of Indiana, I could fill the MESSAGE with testimony just as good as to the growth and value of franchise for women as the preceding, but I'm only going to say that much work must be done; very earnest work. Will the franchise superintendents, county and local, finish the petition work and send them to me soon? Gather up the cash to help in our legislative work and persuade every editor in your county to publish news on the subject of equal privileges, industrial, educational and legal. Whoever sends to me for articles along these lines will be immediately furnished with them.

M. A. TOMPKINS,
State Superintendent.

BREAD AND BEER.

"Bread is strength; beer is weakness." There are in the United States every year about 65,000,000 bushels of grain used in making beer. The grain will weigh on an average about 53 pounds per bushel, which will make forty pounds of flour and sixty pounds of bread, so that the 65,000,000 bushels of grain would make 3,900,000,000 loaves of bread that will weigh one pound each. If we employ 100 bakers to bake this bread and each man can bake 100 loaves every hour, working ten hours a day, it will take the 100 bakers 107 years to bake the whole batch and have them work 365 days in a year.—Western Christian Advocate.

If Indiana keeps the National White Ribbon Star Spangled Banner next year it will mean heroic efforts on the part of those who collect dues. Every member counts. We have made gains this year in nearly all parts of the State, but in order to again win the banner we must make the greatest gain of any State in the Nation. Will you help? Will you kindly speak to a neighbor or friend about how we need her efforts to help us in our great struggle for freedom for our homes from the rule of rum? Urge her to consider this. Explain to her how we, as an organization, include all reform lines of work; in fact, everything that pertains to the betterment of the conditions of humanity. Through the departments of work under the main divisions of Organization, Evangelistic, Educational, Preventive, Social and Legal, we seek to reach all phases of reform. We need more women and girls to help us. Will you bear this in mind and in your home, your church and your neighborhood seek to arouse women and girls to realize their influence and our need of them to help us bring the crisis when the tyrant Alcohol shall be dethroned? Will you help?

SUPERINTENDENTS' CONFERENCE.

The mid-year convention of the State Superintendents of Department Work of the W. C. T. U. was held in the West Side M. E. church, LaFayette, Ind., June 12, 13 and 14. Mrs. S. C. Curtiss presided. Devotional exercises were led by Mrs. Anna Kilmer, of Peru, superintendent of Work Among Foreigners.

The secretary not being present, Dr. Jessup Smith, of Wabash, was appointed in her place.

Mrs. Fannie Green was appointed to report for the MESSAGE and some one for the Union Signal. After these preliminaries, an animated discussion on finance filled the next half hour. The convention then adjourned for dinner, which was served by the three unions of LaFayette, in the basement of the church.

The devotional services in the afternoon were conducted by Mrs. E. M. Houghton, of Richmond, Ind., and were participated in by all present.

Mrs. Kilmer read a paper on "Work Among the Foreigners," interspersed with comments in her own inimitable manner, which was very interesting to the listeners.

Mrs. E. D. Hardy, of Goodland, gave a parliamentary drill in a very able manner, which proved a pleasant variation from the regular routine. This was followed by a report on railroad work by Mrs. J. B. Sucece, which brought out an animated discussion.

In the evening, after impressive devotional service, led by Mrs. E. M. Houghton, the convention was cordially welcomed by Mrs. S. C. Curtiss. The response, by Mrs. S. M. Shelt, was appropriate and interesting. A matrons' oratorical contest was held under the direction of Mrs. Ada Leck, of Indianapolis. The contestants were: Mrs. Emma Saylor, Frankfort; Mrs. Harriet F. Kidd, Wabash; Mrs. S. M. Shelt, Hebron and Mrs. Ella Wright, Greensburg. After careful deliberation, the prize was awarded to Mrs. Kidd.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JUNE 13.

Devotional exercises were led by Mrs. Kate Wert Holler, of South Bend.

The first hour was consumed in a discussion on recommending an amendment of the Constitution, so as to make the superintendents members of the executive board. The matter was laid over.

Dr. Jessup Smith read an ably-written paper on "Non-Alcoholic Medication."

"Temperance Literature" was presented in a paper by Mrs. Etta Ayres, of Upland.

Mrs. Harriet Kidd talked on "Labor, Law and Statistics," confining her remarks mostly to statistics, as the time limit would not permit the analysis of the entire subject.

There was not time for discussing these papers and talks in the manner they merited.

At the close of the morning exercises Mrs. Curtiss read a very interesting communication from the King's Sons and Daughters of the Lake region and a telegram of greeting and encouragement from Mrs. L. F. McWhirter, State President, who, said, she was disappointed at not being permitted to be with us.

In the afternoon, devotional exercises were led by Mrs. Shelt, after which Rev. Frank Levering, missionary to India, taking a year's rest in his home in LaFayette, gave a short talk on the famine in India.

This was followed by a paper of deep interest on "Mothers' Meetings," by Mrs. S. M. Stahl, of Hartford City. Mrs. Ada Leck presented the "Scientific Temperance Department" in place of Mrs. Pleasant Bond, who could not be present. After this, Mrs. S. E. Curtiss was requested to talk on "Social Purity," which she presented most ably.

The Evangelistic Department was next presented by Mrs. E. M. Houghton in a very effective and capable manner, after which Mrs. Shelt told the convention of having met a surgeon just returned from the Philippines, who told her that the natives of those islands made, drank and sold on every corner an intoxicant containing a most deadly poison and that it was death to our soldiers.

Wednesday evening an able address was given on "Political Equality," by Rev. Enfield, pastor of the Christian church, LaFayette, which was followed by Mrs. M. A. Tompkins, of Elkhart, on "Franchise" in a masterly manner. A pleasing feature of the evening was a solo by Mrs. Pavley, of LaFayette.

THURSDAY MORNING, JUNE 14.

Devotional exercises by Mrs. M. A. Tompkins. A few well-timed remarks by the President was followed by the reading of the minutes and the treasurer's report.

A motion was then made and carried that a committee be appointed to ask that the board be given a half day at the state convention. Mrs. M. A. Tompkins was made chairman of that committee.

Dr. Coulton, of Purdue University, was introduced and gave a most excellent talk on "Mercy," which was brimful of noble ideas eloquently expressed.

"Unfermented Wine" was the subject of an able paper by Mrs. J. R. Wood, of Indianapolis, after which Mrs. Ada Leck, the newly-elected State Fair Superintendent, filled Mrs. Colten's place on state and county fairs.

The convention closed its session at the noon hour, after spending a most profitable season in conference.

IS THIS CHRISTIANITY?

Some ladies distressed by the prevalent cruelty to birds and beasts, requested the ministers of their city to preach on the sin of cruelty and on kindness, Christ's imperative rule of life. All but one refused. In two other cities the same request was unanimously rejected. In a fourth, one minister responded, "Rats!" and a church periodical echoed it. In a fifth city, a leading pastor frankly replied, "I do not think that I know how to preach a Mercy sermon."

A minister, who did preach justice and mercy, and who applied christian principles to man's treatment of animals, was criticised by a fellow clergyman, thus: "I am surprised that Rev. Smith has given up saving souls and gone to saving bull-dogs."

Cruelty to animals and birds is appalling, as all may see who choose to look. An editor of national fame has said, "I believe the curse of God is upon us because of our dreadful abuse of dumb animals."

Dear sister, what does the Lord require of thee but to do justly, love mercy and walk humbly with thy God? Ruskin says, "He who is not actively kind is cruel." Will you not then be active? Resolve that a better report is sent in to the Mercy Department Superintendent than ever before. Resolve to win one of the two prizes I offer this year. One dollar's worth of literature to the Superintendent organizing or having organized the most Bands of Mercy having the largest aggregate membership. Also, fifty cents worth of literature to the Superintendent who secures the most names to the Bird Pledge. Let every one try and the effort will help hasten the coming of Christ's kingdom on earth.

LOU E. RALL,
State Superintendent.

Selma Union was organized February, 1900, and is prospering under the following officers: Mrs. John Good, President; Mrs. John Huffman, Vice-President; Mrs. Kate A. Orr, Secretary; Miss Laura McCall, Assistant Secretary; Mrs. A. O. Kiger, Treasurer; Mrs. Allie Hanna, Corresponding Secretary. The Superintendents of different departments are doing good work. The meetings are very interesting.

LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION.

July 21st, our Indiana L. T. L. Fresh Air Mission Day, has been made by the National a red letter day for the L. T. L., known as L. T. L. membership day.

The July Young Crusader contains an excellent article on how to observe the day, suggesting that we observe the week, July 15-21. Ask the pastors to preach an L. T. L. sermon, or where this is impracticable arrange for a young peoples' temperance mass meeting Sabbath afternoon, inviting all the Sabbath schools and young peoples' societies to participate. Monday at the house to house canvass for new members, begin—have the legioners meet at various homes each evening to observe our L. T. L. hour of sunset prayer. Let us combine the National idea with our own by an effort to increase the membership and to acquaint the public with our work during the week and ending with a grand L. T. L. picnic or rally on the 21st. Make it possible for the poor and such who seldom have a day's outing to attend, inmates of your orphan's home and poor asylum, and others. Ask each Legioner to try to earn money for the payment of annual dues this week, and send the L. T. L. dues, for infant grade, junior or senior grades to my address.

Let each leader make an earnest effort to have their Legion send in their dues soon. We want our year for the L. T. L. dues to close with the books of our State W. C. T. U., September 25th. To the Legion paying the greatest amount of dues will be given the custody of the beautiful Willard Gordon banner which Kokomo won last year and to the Legion paying second greatest amount of dues will be presented a large picture of Miss Willard. To Legions paying $5.00 dues two copies of Young Crusader and for $3.00 one copy of the same. Infant grade dues to be counted in and all L. T. L. dues to be sent to K. T. A. Straw, North Manchester.

In the infant grade are to be enrolled children from their birth to six years of age, by the payment of 10 cents annual dues, six cents of which is to be used in local work, purchasing enrollment cards, record books and literature suitable for mothers and young children and four cents to be sent to my address as State and National L. T. L. dues, thus making it possible for each child to belong to the growing army of the Loyal Temperance Legion and to give, to help carry gospel temperance to the babies of all lands. The enrollment card will make a precious souvenir for the child, to be a constant reminder that from their birth, in many cases, they were dedicated to a life of purity and temperance. "Make a chain, for the land is full of bloody crimes and the city of violence."

Let us enlist thousands of babies in the first link of our temperance chain—it can be done—it ought to be done—house to house visitations—heart to heart talks with mothers. Make them feel your call is not so much for the dime as to co-operate with them in making it easy for their child to do right and hard for it to do wrong. Leave with each one, if possible, one of the annual leaflets and some of our best department literature. Send to my address for infant grade supplies. Five cents each for enrollment cards, five cents for record book and five cents for samples and recommendations of literature suitable for circulating among mothers. I will be glad to send to any one who writes me for and agrees to make and fill a foundation block for our L. T. L. autograph silk crazy quilt, with full instructions. KATHRIN T. A. STRAW, General L. T. L. Branch Secretary.

HADLEY INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

Miss Lucretia Hobart, President, 1101 Virginia Ave., Indianapolis.
Mrs. Maggie Cox, Recording and Corresponding Secretary, Westfield, Hamilton County, Ind.
Mrs. Rebecca Hessong, Treasurer, Broad Ripple

Many good temperance people of Hendricks county spent July Fourth in the grove on our Hadley Industrial School farm just east of the main building.

The speakers' stand was well arranged with a large platform and decorated with bright-colored flowers. Seats were provided for the people. At an early hour in the morning the buggies began to arrive and continued to come until late in the afternoon.

Miss Hobart, President of the Board of Trustees of the school, had charge of the morning program and Mr. Solomon Hayworth managed that of the afternoon.

The speakers were, Mr. Hayworth, Mrs. Louisa Rush of Marion, one of the Trustees, Mrs. M. E. Balch, State Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. L. F. McWhirter, State President, Dr. Pretlow of Thorntown and Rev. Appleby, of Coatsville.

The music was furnished by a good quartette and by our Industrial School girls. The girls gave a patriotic drill and sang "America" with excellent effect.

Y. W. C. T. U.

From the third quarter report blanks we have learned many new and interesting things about our Y's and will tell you some of the good things. In the first place I want our girls to know that we are falling below our mark in dues. This must not be. Every treasurer will receive a personal letter from the State Y Secretary in a short time, helping to plan for the payment of dues the fourth and last quarter, September 15.

Monrovia Y's are working mainly against tobacco. No saloons in their town. In connection with their purity work gave a reception and girls over 14 years were invited. They were addressed by Mrs. Eliza C. Armstrong. They have twenty-three active and eight honorary members. Girls, do you know what this means? A hive of workers.

Western Grove Y has a membership contest on now. I would urge every Union in the state to hold one in July or August. The evenings will be delightful for lawn parties, etc.

The Treasurer of the Anderson Y, Miss Matilda Jones, used her time and strength and gathered $2.00 and sent to the India relief fund, knowing it "more blessed to give than receive." Miss Edna Hodson, of Anderson, read a paper on "The Power of the Press" at the meeting the 25th and it was published in the daily Herald, the morning paper. It was a very fine paper. We hope that the Presidents of Unions will see to it that the fine efforts of mind and talent put forth by the Y's will be published, so that all may hear.

Last quarter the Goshen Y paid for thirty-three members; this quarter for nineteen. Splendid.

Greenfield Y says: "With God as our strength and guide we intend to put forth our best efforts in the Y work to make our country better."

South Bend Y reports a fine program on Flower Mission Day and intends to have another purity lecture before long.

Goodland Y, a new organization, has ten active and six honorary members, with state dues paid. Held a silver medal contest in the Baptist church June 18. They have decided to take up the following departments: Medal, Sabbath Observance, Literature and Flower Mission; also Parliamentary. Pray for them, and may every county in the state have an active Y union.

Peru Y's are mourning the loss of one of their most valued members, the Superintendent of Franchise department.

Just one more quarter until our year closes. Oh! girls make it our best. See which union will double their membership—the one that can pay the most dues next time. We'll have the new Lebanon Y then and pray for many more. Dear W's. can't you secure some new Y members? Give your own beautiful daughter to the cause and pay her dues as a little gift to her. God only knows how much good it will do.

Girls, do you know that our dear president has almost given her life and its precious values for us. Won't it help to enthuse and inspire you to greater activity? And Mrs. Balch and Mrs. Whitson, and our faithful state officers—let us help them all we can.

After Winona W. C. T. U. day, July 10, the month is almost taken in dates to the southern part of the state by the Y secretary. Pray for her that the power of the Holy Spirit may go with her and unions and members be added to us. Lovingly and loyally,

CLARA M. SEARS.

The Local Institute at Oxford, Benton County, June 29 and 30, was a success and demonstrates the excellent judgment exercised by the Unions in seeking to arouse interest in their communities. The first meeting was held in the evening and the opening exercises were conducted by Rev. A. T. Hall. The lecture on Christian Citizenship was excellent. Miss Baker, County President, in her usual efficient manner, took charge of the Institute. Sabbath Observance was presented by Ely Myers, discussion following. Temperance in the Sunday School was presented by Rev. Hostetter, and Household Economics by Mrs. A. T. Hall. Non-Alcoholic Medication was ably presented by A. G. Natghbor, M. D. In the afternoon the devotional exercises were led by Mrs. H. Wilson. Following this, Prof. Colawell, in an able and forcible manner, presented Scientific Temperance. Mrs. Emma Rhode spoke for Mothers' Meetings until there was a wish that every mother in Benton County could have heard her. Peace and Arbitration was discussed after presentation by Rev. T. A. Hall. The last but not least was a recitation by Mrs. Jennie Bensen, on the subject of Tithing and Systematic Giving, which set forth our duty in that much-neglected line. In the evening an interesting medal contest was held. The medal was awarded to Miss Fannie Burt, aged 16.

FLOWER MISSION.

I want to thank you for the excellent reports you have sent me this last quarter. They show that you have made a great deal of sacrifice in order that hearts might be lighter and lives made better and brighter. May the Lord reward you. I want to suggest that in the near future you give a Flower Mission Social. Ask those whom you invite to bring a bunch of flowers. If your treasury is low it would be well to charge a small admission fee or sell refreshments. By doing this you can very well make enough money to buy a goodly amount of summer clothing or some food for several families. Hoping that this next quarter will bring in larger reports than before and that we may spread His tidings farther than we ever have.

ANNA CARR.

AUGUST 9, ISLAND PARK. W. C. T. U. DAY.

The W. C. T. U. pavilion will be open with literature for sale and free distribution from July 25 to August 16. Will our friends call and register?

W. C. T. U. PROGRAM.

- Morning hour, from 9:00 to 10:00, occupied by Mesdames R. C. Travis, D. A. Work, Elkhart; A. P. Daub, Goshen; Laura Phoenix, Middleburg; Josephine Wood, Wawasee, and other representative W. C. T. U. women.
- 10:00 A. M. Address by Quincy Lee Morrow, Indianapolis, Indiana State Evangelist. "Our Bible and the Rum Traffic."
- The annual election of officers of the Assembly Union. (Members of the Assembly Union are those signing the total abstinence pledge and the Assembly Union Constitution, and paying a membership fee of 25 cents to provide the annual program.)
- 1:45 P. M. Opening services, Mrs. Ada L. Squiers, Martinsville.
- 2:00 P. M. Mrs. M. A. Tompkins, Elkhart. Subject: "Legal Status of the Nineteenth Century Woman."
- 2:30 P. M. Diamond Contest. In charge of State Superintendent Mrs. Mary E. Balch, Indianapolis.
- Baby Squiers, the Wonderful Child Impersonator and born elocutionist, will entertain the audience while the judges are out.
- 4:00 P. M. Introduction of distinguished visitors and newly elected officers.
- 7:45 P. M. Opening Services, Mrs. Luella F. McWhirter, President Indiana W. C. T. U.
- 8:00 P. M. Mrs. Amanda T. Whitson, Treasurer Indiana W. C. T. U., "Our Finances."
- 8:15 P. M. Quincy Lee Monroe, "Christian Citizenship."

I feel that we women of the Spiceland W. C. T. U. have been especially fortunate in having had with us our State Superintendent of Mothers' Meetings, Mrs. M. S. Stahl, of Hartford City.

We desired to organize a Mothers' Meeting and not knowing how best to proceed, sent for Mrs. Stahl to help us and her visit resulted in an interested, enthusiastic band of mothers, ready to unite themselves to overcome the social evils which surround us.

I think it is not too much to say that every mother in Indiana should hear Mrs. Stahl. She teaches of the most delicate subjects, yet her thoughts and language are so pure that no one could be offended.

I want to recommend that every county in Indiana arrange to have Mrs. Stahl come and visit the local unions and I believe the result will be that the coming generation will be born with purer, nobler ideals, and a higher plane of living will be the result. We hope to have her return to Henry county in the near future and visit every local union.

Among all the departments of the W. C. T. U., except the active aggressive temperance work itself, I believe there is none so important as that of "Mothers' Meetings." None so instrumental in pointing the mind toward purity. So many of us mothers do not realize what a power we are toward uplifting the world and moulding the life and thought of future generations. Mothers, arouse yourselves to your responsibilities and organize at once. Send for literature on the subject and have lecturer come and give your inaugural address.

Her terms are very reasonable. Her program is to talk to the mothers in the afternoon and to hold a temperance meeting in the evening. At the evening meeting she takes up a collection. This is her only charge, except her car fare, which the union she visits is expected to pay.

SUSAN F. BAILEY.

To make a local Union meeting a success, begin on time. If the President is late, do not wait for her, but begin. Conform to parliamentary usage by bringing all business before the house by motions. Insist that all persons who gain the floor speak to the motion. Decide upon a time for adjournment of all Union meetings, and then adjourn on time if the unfinished business must be referred to committees. Urge each officer and each Superintendent to make a report of work done at each meeting; a report in figures will consume but little time, but serve as a great stimulus to action.

FIELD NOTES.

Elkhart is the first to return one of the Fair Department pledge cards signed. Who will be the next?

An L. T. L. contest was held at Burlington, April 28, under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. The church was prettily decorated with potted plants, flags and Miss Willard's picture. There were four girls and two boys, about the age of twelve, in the class. Fourteen little boys and girls marched in carrying banners, bearing the inscriptions, "Prohibition," "Total Abstinence" and "The Children are a-Field" and sang "The Welcome Song." The house was crowded. Don Patton won the medal, the others received a little booklet.

Goodland Y union held a Silver Medal Contest on June 18, to commemorate Demorest Day. The program, as published by the Union Signal, was carried out as far as practicable. Miss Leithal Patton won the medal. About ninety people listened to the little girls, while they spoke for prohibition. The Y union is ready to do what it can.

Central W. C. T. U., of South Bend, is earnestly pursuing its work of educating the people in the principles of our organization. We have taken up thirteen departments of work, conducted by earnest, consecrated superintendents, some of whom have charge of each meeting, presenting her special department. This plan has been very successful in bringing our work before the public, as the editors have kindly given space for reports of our meetings. Through the energetic efforts of our Superintendent of Christian Citizenship, Mrs. Almira Staples, assisted by the County President, we had Miss Anna Downey at South Bend. She gave three powerful and instructive lectures while in the city. In her address on Christian Citizenship, at the First Presbyterian Church, she held her audience spellbound for more than an hour. From all sides came words of appreciation and interest and a desire expressed that she return at some future time. The afternoon parlor meeting for ladies was a season of great spiritual uplift. She emphasized the thought that in order to win souls we must constantly realize the presence of Jesus walking by our side. Her coming to South Bend has done much good in creating sentiment favorable to our cause.

Bettie Rush, secretary at Elizabeth, one of our new unions, writes of a successful contest. Go and do likewise, everybody. Several hundred towns in Indiana where there has never been a contest. I have said "praise the Lord" quite a number of times this quarter, as my reports come in, to see how the number of my painstaking county corresponding secretaries increased. Heartily as unto the Lord should be our motto.

Oxford at the close of its local institute held a medal contest, selling tickets.

Lindley Union (postoffice Sycamore), has organized an L. T. L. They have a senior class of ten, possibly fifteen.

Frances E. Willard W. C. T. U. was organized at Lexington, Indiana, April 6, 1900, through the efforts of Mrs. Mattie O. Cammack-Gibson. She spent two days with us, gave interesting lectures and gained many friends by her gentle manner and pleading eloquence. The officers elected were: Mrs. Florence Reid, President; Miss Cynthia Hardy, Vice President; Myra Simonton, Treasurer W. C. T. U.; Martha Mace, Secretary W. C. T. U.; Ella Chambers, Secretary Y. W. C. T. U. and Superintendent of Social Entertainments; Carrie Mace, Treasurer Y. W. C. T. U.; Jessie Stonehouse, Superintendent of Prison and Jail Work; Ella Lothrop, Superintendent of Press Work; Mrs. Eliza Mace, Superintendent of Mothers' Work; Mrs. Caroline Mace, Superintendent of Temperance Literature. New lines of work will soon be added, as the number of members is constantly increasing. We are glad to say that the young men and boys are joining our union and we feel that we are already doing some good in our town and surrounding community. We observed Flower Mission Day and have met with success in the socials that we have given.

Rev. Bartle, of Irvington, Indiana, was present at one of our meetings and gave us great encouragement in the noble work. Our Medal Contest will be given Thursday evening, July 12. Although just starting in this great work for the cause of temperance, our band of workers feel that there is much they can do for God and home.

Mrs. H. B. Wisner, State Secretary of the L. T. L. branch for Ohio, says: "If you desire an increased enthusiasm in the efforts along W. C. T. U. or L. T. L. lines, secure the services of Miss Margaret Wintinger, editor of the Young Crusader. She is a lecturer and chalk talker. Miss Wintinger can come to Indiana in August. Do, please, write to Mrs. M. E. Balch, 711 East Eleventh street, Indianapolis, and arrange to have Miss Wintinger help arouse your community."

Rev. Carl D. Case, pastor of the First Baptist church of South Bend, will soon change his field of labor to Terre Haute, Ind. He is a young man of deep consecration, rare talents, great executive ability and has a broad conception of the mission of the Church of God. Rev. Case is one of the strongest young ministers in the middle states. He has the courage of his convictions. Every cause for righteousness and the uplift of humanity finds a friend staunch and true in our brother, Carl Case. We extend congratulations to the people of Terre Haute.

South Bend Willard Y observed Flower Mission day by having a fine program conducted by the Flower Mission Superintendent, Miss Mabel Jeffries, at her home.

A Bedford Union member writes a letter from which the following is taken: "We are planning to invite all the teachers of our public schools (about thirty), to our next Mothers' Meeting, which will be June 22, and I have been instructed by the Union to arrange a program that will give the teachers the W. C. T. U. idea of S. T. L. Tell me where to get literature for this program. I want the best thing I can get—not too long—and interesting. Help me, for I do feel the great responsibility resting on me as superintendent of this department. I am frightened because it leads me into so many different kinds of reform work. I am praying for help, but feel so unworthy. At the last Mothers' Meeting we had forty present. It is astonishing how many can be interested through their homes. Our good temperance men are carrying remonstrances against a man trying to open a saloon in this ward where there never has been one. People are signing who never would before. Some of the men say the Mothers' Meetings started this agitation, but I think we only helped a little. There were other causes. Mitchell, a town near us, has to-day by remonstrance defeated the last three saloons in their town, and that will now be a dry town. Praise the Lord! We are arranging a medal contest of boys; hope to give it in about two weeks, and then I am hoping to get the Union to send some things to the Hadley Industrial school.

The Superintendents' Conference was profitable to Superintendents and the presentation of the departments most excellent. We also finished the work with a balance in the treasury for next year's conference. The Superintendents came into closer touch with each other and out of this there came to them the feeling that they could very materially help each other's work while doing their own and to my mind that is no small thing. It has been sometimes that Superintendents have become so absorbed in and by their own work that they seemed not to see any other line, so if we can, while working well our own line, broaden out so as to help in another, I believe we will be much better in our own.

Jeffersonville Union held a reception from 2 to 5 p. m., May 15, at the home of Mrs. Mary Frank. There was a good attendance of members and quite a number of visitors. Miss Lula Warcup, a deaconess, sang with fine effect, without accompaniment, a solo, "Save the Boy." Little Misses Lelia and Mabel Hay recited several numbers very pleasantly. Refreshments were served. The dining-room was decorated with ferns and cut flowers. There were readings, vocal and instrumental music and a good time generally. Two young misses took the white ribbon to become members of our branch. The "mite" plate received due attention, a neat little sum being contributed.

Logansport Central observed Flower Mission Day at the Hospital and Orphans' Home and gave button-hole bouquets, with cards, to all the street railway men, who expressed appreciation and wore the flowers all day. One hundred and twenty bouquets were distributed. Recently a coffee was given for the benefit of the Flower Mission fund. Twenty-five hundred pages of literature and three hundred leaflets have been distributed. The wall pockets are kept filled. One of these is at the Panhandle railroad shops, where there are 500 men employed. The Union is holding services at the jail now with interesting results. Last Sunday there were seventeen men and one woman in the jail. The men were nearly all young. The pledge cards and leaflets are always taken to the jail. When Mrs. Mabel Conkling was here she preached on Sunday morning at the Second Presbyterian church and also gave a very fine address to a large audience at the same church in the evening. She gave us four other addresses in the different churches in the city. She is a very winning speaker. She gained eleven new members for our Union. We expect to try and have her come back this fall and do a week's work for us. We think it would pay us. Our Union does not seem to be doing much, but when our reports come in we seem more encouraged to go on in the good work. We have over fifty members.

St. Joseph County observed June 9 as Flower Mission Day by giving one hundred and twenty-seven bouquets, with text cards on which were tied the little bow of white ribbon. Much relief work has been done by our county during the last quarter.

Point Isabel Union sympathizes with Florella Williams, a sister bereft of her beloved husband and companion, who has gone to rest in his eternal home.

Floyd County appoints the following officers to assist the county president until the September convention: Recording Secretary, Mrs. Luke Mier; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. John Martin, North State Street; Treasurer, Mrs. Elgin, East Eleventh and Main Streets; Y Secretary, Eunice Jennings Kelly, of New Albany; L. T. L. Secretary, Mrs. Rose Pritchett, Galena. Mrs. Jones reports visiting Galena Union June 4, one new member. Lowell, one of our new Unions; took a contest to Hebron June 20. Mrs. Harriet F. Kidd, Wabash, won the Suffrage gold medal at the Superintendents' Board meeting at Lafayette.

Terre Haute Unions expand—our do-everything policy. They visited their sheriff in company with a number of the city and county officials and presented him with a picture of Christ. They in turn received warm commendations for their self-sacrificing work, and Mrs. Palmateer was presented with a beautiful police matron's badge of gold. Mrs. Cale, their Press Reporter, is getting them well before the public in the columns of their city papers.

Brazil Union is especially active. They defeated an immoral show. "Resist the devil and he will flee from you," says the Scriptures.

Elkhart County is yet among the living. We may neglect to report sometimes, but never neglect to work. Middleburg entertained a spring institute and our County President, Mrs. Laura Cole Phoenix, assisted by Mrs. Rose Pierce, of LaPorte and Mrs. Hattie Brand, of Indianapolis and the local workers of the W. C. T. U., enjoyed a very profitable institute. Doctors, lawyers, ministers and other prominent people assisted in the program. Elkhart county has two new unions and prospects for more in the near future. Mrs. Amanda Whitson, of Indianapolis, conducted an all-day's session W. C. T. U. conference in Goshen and much good and valuable help came of it. Miss Anna Downey assisted at a week's conference at Elkhart. Space does not admit of mentioning the names of all our earnest workers or the good we accomplished, but God knows and will reward our efforts in His own time. Nappanee and Middleburg have a Y branch. Elkhart is earnestly considering one and Goshen expects to keep the banner.

Miss Mary Hadley, National Superintendent of W. C. T. U. Institutes, has been at work in Minnesota during June. She has completed the following amount of work: Five district and five county conventions attended, with institute work in connection. Total meetings (including four parlor meetings), 41; total members added (including forty-seven honorary members), 131; unions organized (Y branches), 6. One branch in each district and also one at Wosiojo county convention. The additions to membership were not only local, but included localities represented at the District Convention. Miss Hadley has been urged to spend much of the month of July in Minnesota, but finds it impossible to do so.

Roanoke. A lady from this place met a White Ribbon sister, one who wore her ribbon, and it served as an introduction. Later on the lady from Roanoke wrote this newly made friend for an organizer. Mrs. Hattie Brand was sent to them. Mrs. Brand addressed a public meeting one evening and organized the next day with nineteen members, every one paying their dues. Their W. T. P. A. agent reads the Union Signal and MESSAGE and everything indicates a union of unusual strength and activity.

It is of the greatest importance that you begin very early to interview candidates for membership in our coming legislature, in regard to their views on the S. T. I. Let us prevent, if possible, the election of any one who refuses to commit himself in favor of our S. T. I. law. This will be a crucial year with us. Keep all candidates well informed on "Atantie" controversy. You will find much in regard to this in the Union Signal and the School Physiology Journal. Other literature in this line can be obtained most direct by sending to Mrs. Mary H. Hunt, 23 Tull street, Boston. A very small sum will secure all you need.

MARTHA W. BOND,
State Superintendent S. T. I.

The Union Signal will not be published on the 3d and 4th weeks of July. In justice and kindness the employees are given two weeks to get out of Chicago's heat.

IN MEMORIAM.

Miss Rose Ethel Kidd, a sweet, lovable and honored member of Peru Y. W. C. T. U., was called to her home above on Sabbath afternoon, June 24, after a long illness from consumption. During all her suffering she was always patient and cheerful. To see and know her was to love her. Just a few moments before her death she told her friends she would have to go and bade the members of her family farewell until she should see them in the Glory Land. She was our Franchise Superintendent at the time she received the summons to come up higher. We know our loss is her gain. Had our dear one lived until July 10 she would have been 17 years of age. Like many others our union on earth is broken, but one more tie is added to the Union in heaven, where the little white bow will be exchanged for the white robe and palms of victory.

Almira Mustard died at her home, a little west of Broad Ripple, Saturday morning, June 9, 1900. She was about 65 years old. She was a faithful Christian woman and a member of good standing in the Lutheran Church. As wife, mother and friend she was loved by all who knew her. She was a patient sufferer for fourteen long years. She was also a much-loved member of the W. C. T. U., of Broad Ripple, and will be greatly missed from our number. The ladies of the Broad Ripple W. T. C. U. tender their sympathies to the husband and daughters of our departed sister.

She rests now; no more her breast
Heaves with its weary breath.
Pain now no more contracts her form,
Where broods the calm of death.
Sunk to her rest, like a tired child,
She lies in slumber deep.
Soft folded in the arms of Him,
Who giveth His beloved sleep.

SISTERS OF THE W. C. T. U.

Entered into the perfect life at her home in Elkhart, Ind., May 27, 1900, sister Anna Robinson. She was a consistent Christian, a devoted wife and mother. She leaves a husband and three children, two daughters and one son. She was a member of the W. C. T. U.

Gone before us, O, our sister,
To the spirit land;
Vainly look we for another
In thy place to stand.

WHAT WE BELIEVE AND SEE.

We believe in the coming of His Kingdom, whose right it is to rule, whose service is perfect liberty, because His laws "written in our members" are perfect, converting the soul.

We believe in the Holy Sabbath Day.

We believe that God created man in his own image, male and female; created them and gave them dominion; therefore, we believe and ask equal purity of life, equal liberty and privilege to have each their own opinion and to express it in the home, on the platform, in the pulpit and at the ballot box.

We believe in the tri-colored flag of peace and arbitration for all civilized nations, in an equal wage for equal work, and we believe that one of the choicest fruits of christianity will be a growing bond of brotherhood and sisterhood, so close among all nations, races and people that we shall become truly kindred each to the other and that great word humanity, like a rolling wave of the ocean of God's love, shall wash out from the sands of time the words cast, creed, sex and even that good word patriotism, because we shall feel that the whole world is one country and all men are our King.

Every utterance of appreciation, affection and friendship, every token of mutual co-operation, every stroke of honest hard work, every sincere prayer sets forth and helps forward that wonderful, beautiful day we call the coming of the Kingdom of God.

And because we so deeply believe this glorious gospel for mankind, we improve every opportunity and press into every open door. Our beloved Miss Willard has said, "Women will enter every place in the round world, and she will purify every place she enters."

These are the reasons why we White Ribboners are at Winona to-day. Although we are often placed in circumstances akin to "Nansen's sea lion," halting with noses pressed against the ice by those opposed to reform, yet we see and take courage at the sight, the white crescent waves breaking toward the shore; manifest destiny speaking in the irresistible tide of equal educational advantages, equal privileges in industries, equal professional and social conditions. It is said that Margaret Fuller shocked public taste in Boston by sitting down in a public library to read a book. Now, women not only sit down in public libraries to read, but are librarians and own libraries.

A few years since, a woman seen on a business street, unattended, was regarded with dark suspicion. Now, women are employed in every business block. A woman there excites no more comment than a man, while refined women, sustained by popular good will, reside in the slums, that they may carry there the gospel of better living.

Dearly beloved, the millennium is drawing near. One hundred years ago not a married woman in all the world could make a will or control her own property. Sixty years since, not a college open to woman. Now, out of four hundred colleges and universities in the United States, three hundred and seventy-five admit women.

In 1840, when Harriet Martineau came to this country, only seven occupations were available for women and those were menial and poor pay. Now, a woman may honorably follow whatever calling suits her ability.

The Chicago Legal News, of June, tells us about the successful women lawyers of Illinois. Eighty-nine women have been admitted to the Illinois bar. Considering the fact that twenty-seven years ago not a single woman had been admitted, and considering the great difficulties in the way of strong prejudice which the women had to encounter, the women of Illinois have done well.

Miss Blackwell, the first woman physician ever graduated, received her diploma from the medical college of Albany, N. Y., in 1849, being shunned by the women where she boarded and pointed out on the street as "that woman doctress," and called "that female" who would study medicine.

In 1850 Antoinette Brown was graduated in theology at Oberlin, the first woman in the world to receive that privilege. "Let the women keep silence in the churches," a misinterpretation of which has hindered and set back the coming of Christ's kingdom these many years.

In 1854 Mr. Hamilton, of Saco, Maine, employed a young woman in his store; both were highly respectable, both were boycotted, and the mothers in that town severely reprimanded Mr. Hamilton for putting a young woman in such a conspicuous place. But, now, young women are in every business store and it is all right and none the less respectable.

Since the time when the men of Old Rome met to discuss the question, "whether women had souls," until within the last forty years, it had been thought by women and men alike that women had not the capacity to receive the "higher learning," and when Maria Mitchel sent out her "Mackination of the Starry Heavens" it was like the explosion of a bomb. A woman's brain to discover such things! Again, Harriet Beecher Stowe published "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Ten thousand copies were sold immediately, thirty-three thousand in a year, eight presses running day and night to supply the demand.

It is claimed that it did more than any one factor, to change sentiment on the slavery question. It certainly had a powerful influence in rendering public opinion tolerant and respectful to the mental possibilities of women.

As late as in 1856 a woman found praying in a church in New York with some unconverted woman was stopped, reproved and held up to scorn because she had violated a plain command of scripture.

At this same time in the great temperance movement, the question was not so much temperance as whether women had a right to labor in it. At a teachers' convention held in Rochester, the question "Why the profession of teaching is not considered just as respected as that of the minister, doctor or lawyer," women composed the membership, men did the speaking. Susan B. Anthony rose to speak. It took ten minutes to decide whether she had a right to speak, being a woman. Finally she was given a few minutes and caused a sensation by saying, "Do you not see, gentlemen, that so long as society says a woman is incompetent to be a lawyer, minister or doctor, but is simply able to be a teacher, that every one of you who chooses teaching as a profession, tacitly acknowledges that he has no more brains than a woman." For this speech she was bitterly denounced by nearly all present. But the next morning the Democrat said, "Miss Anthony hit the nail on the head."

Florence Nightingale in the Crimean war was then revolutionizing the English hospital service and preparing the way for the greater of our women in our civil war.

Thus in the last century power to make a will, control her own property and wages, education in the higher branches, professional opportunities, social liberty, journalism, the law, platform and pulpit speaking, have one after another opened to women. Verily, Victor Hugo's prophecy has come true, "The nineteenth century is the century of women."

The process of all openings to women has been gradual. Women great enough and courageous enough to bear the humiliation continually fitted themselves for medicine, for the ministry, for law and a few great, grand people patronized them and the way was open.

To-day we are asking for political privileges. We have some grand, persevering women working for it, and some great, good, far-sighted people helping to obtain it. Four states already have signed franchises, twenty-five have municipal and school suffrage and in a few years everybody will wonder why restoration to equal privileges to women with men had not come sooner. Dearly beloved, it is so set forth in the Scriptures. God is no respecter of persons. God told Abraham to listen to Sarah, and although it grieved him to his heart, he listened. God said to Moses:

AUGUST, 1900.

"The daughters of Zelophehad speak right; thou shalt surely give them a possession for an inheritance among their father's brethren." God made Debora a prophetess and a judge over Israel and Israel had peace forty years under her.

The sweet singer of Israel said: "The Lord gave the word and great are the company of women that carry the glad tidings" (revised version.) Isaiah prayed "that our daughters may be as corner stones, polished after the similitude of a palace." Joel's prophecy: "I will put my spirit upon my hand-maidens, and they shall prophesy (preach.)" Jesus gave the first resurrection message to Mary, the one who loved most. Peter said on the day of Pentecost, "this is Joel's prophecy fulfilled—I will put my spirit on my hand-maidens and they shall preach." Philip's four daughters were evangelists. Paul said, "help those women that labored with me in the gospel." Remember, it was labor in the gospel.

Sisters, it is coming. It is here. Accept it with great grace and let his kingdom come in its fullness, when all shall be equal, brothers and sisters of one common Lord, serving that God who is no respecter of persons.

M. A. TOMPKINS,
State Superintendent Franchise.

RAILROAD WORK.

My co-workers and associates in Railroad Work are earnestly requested to send in their reports promptly, in order that I may have my report in readiness for state convention.

MRS. ADALINE SUCSE,
State Superintendent.

Y. W. C. T. U.

State Y. Secretary Miss Sears spent twelve days in the field, visiting Milroy, North Vernon, where we effected a Y. W. C. T. U.; Jeffersonville, where several young women expressed themselves willing to form a Y. New Albany Y was visited; Gelena, and at Bedford twenty-four young women and fourteen young men signed pledges to become members of the Y. W. C. T. U.

The Y dues are falling off. We must make a greater effort and finish up in September with a gain. Last year, 1,000 gain in Y's in National. This year we wanted 1,000 gain in Indiana alone. Do your best. Plan entertainments so that dues will be paid to correspond with your roll call. Third quarter reports show dues for only fifty-seven Y's. Girls, have you been faithful as treasurers, to collect and notify the members? Let us see, now, as treasurers of the Y's and branches, who can give us the best report having collected dues from the most for the fourth quarter, ending September 15.

Plan to send your President and one delegate for every paid member to our state convention in October. Especially do we want the Y's for Saturday for the conference and Saturday night—Y. W. C. T. U. night. Frankford, Clinton county, is the place; very accessible, good railroad facilities, so plan to be on hand with tablet and pencil.

INDIANA'S PLAN OF WORK.

Six papers of note No. 1; to be written by our Y's. Subject: a short temperance story of fifteen hundred words. Must be in the hands of Miss Clara M. Sears, 222 West Fourteenth street, Anderson, Ind., by August 25, so we can call committee together to judge the papers the best of which will have a place on the state program Y night. So, on account of the printing of the programs, be prompt, please.

Bedford Y's gave the State Y Secretary, Miss Sears, the most delightful reception the evening of the 21st of July at the beautiful home of one of the young ladies. Music, recitations and refreshments of the highest order. An opportunity was given for membership, after reading the pledge and commenting on it. As a result of the visit to Bedford, twenty-four young ladies and fourteen young men became members of the Y. W. C. T. U. Mrs. Braxton, the noble faithful W. C. T. U. Superintendent of the Mothers' Meetings, made it possible for the State Secretary to visit her city, with the above result. God bless such women and put it in the hearts of others to do likewise and help the young people.

Work and pray, pay dues and secure others who will be willing to pay dues by the 15th of September, and see who will get our State Y. W. C. T. U. banner which Goshen has carried off so proudly for three years.

Lovingly yours to serve,
CLARA M. SEARS,
State Y Secretary.

SYSTEMATIC AND PROPORTIONATE GIVING.

Judging from the numerous and satisfactory reports that find their way to me every quarter there is very little need for me to send this article to the MESSAGE. One of the superintendents of my department said to me some weeks ago, "just put a line or so in the MESSAGE every quarter; it encourages me so to see it and it shows the women we are doing something." So for this reason I send these few words. "Be constant in season and out of season;" if you are, we shall be enabled to come up to the state convention with the best report we have ever had. God bless you all in your efforts for this department of work.

S. M. SHELTON,
State Superintendent.

WORK AMONG COLORED PEOPLE.

Are there any colored people in your town or county? Are you doing any temperance work among them? If not, why not? Work among colored people is the most important department of work the State carries, for in it are the possibilities of all the other lines of work done by our State Superintendents. If you are not already at work among them, let me urge you to begin at once, for only God knows the meaning of a day lost in reform work. Organize colored Unions wherever it is possible to do so, or into Mothers' Bands when you cannot organize a Union. Gather the young folks and children into Loyal Temperance Legions and make the colored women responsible for the work. When there are not enough colored women or children to organize separately, persuade them to identify themselves with the white Union or Legion and give them some work to do. Let me hear from you workers about the work you have done or are planning to do. Questions answered with pleasure.

Wabash, Ind.

MRS. CHARLOTTE SEARLES.

PEACE AND ARBITRATION.

As I welcome the MESSAGE for July to my table, I am reminded that it was my intention to write a few lines for it in the interests of my department. I wish to urge the sisters to more earnestness in presenting the claims of peace and the wisdom of arbitration; and especially to beg that each organized county may have a superintendent in this department. Will not county presidents and executive committees see that these are appointed (where it has not been done), and ask such superintendent to report to me at once?

The statements made in this number of the MESSAGE by Mrs. Rall, Superintendent of Mercy, are to me a revelation—a most painful and humiliating revelation. Is it possible that men who can thus lightly, and even sneeringly, put aside the claims of humanity are standing in our pulpits, as leaders and teachers in the things of God? And as to "giving up saving souls and going to save bull-dogs," does not the clergyman see that the man who is cruel to animals is not yet saved? That to "set his sins before him" is one step toward the saving of his soul? We need much more of "applied Christianity" in our daily lives and all honor to the minister who teaches the "pure religion" of doing justly, loving mercy and keeping unspotted from the world. This is not foreign to my theme. It is just the lack of this pure religion that fills the world with war. And the wars of England and America in the last year present an object lesson by which the world should profit. But, indeed, the whole earth seems bristling with bayonet and sword and spear. "Shall I not visit for these things?" saith the Lord.

It is said that women encourage war. Dear sisters, let us refute this charge. Let it not be our fault that the whole system of warfare is not wiped out. At least let us do with our might what our hands find to do. Write an essay, send an article to the press, open your doors for a parlor meeting, do something and—send in the report.

Yours most earnestly,

H. LAVINIA BAILY.

Richmond, Ind.

LEXINGTON W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Hattie Brand, of Indianapolis, gave an interesting lecture to a good audience in the Presbyterian church, Monday evening, July 9.

Tuesday evening Miss Ella Lathrop and Miss Ina Faris entertained the W. C. T. U. and friends at the home of Miss Faris.

Wednesday evening Mrs. Dr. Jones, President of the Floyd county W. C. T. U., lectured in the Christian church.

The first of a series of silver medal contests was given at the Baptist church, Thursday evening. The following program was well rendered: "Wisdom and Justice of Our Law Makers," Miss Ina Faris; "A Glass of Wine Per Se," Miss Ivy Lukenbill; "The Silent Seven," Miss Ella Lathrop; "The Lesson of a Tragedy," Miss Carrie Pangburn; "Who Will Roll Away the Stone?" Miss Martha Mace; "The Cost of Rum," Miss Cynthia Grey; "Arouse the Christian Conscience," Miss Jessie Stonehouse. The judges selected were Mrs. Dr. Jones, Rev. W. C. Broady and Rev. Cross. The first prize was awarded to Miss Martha Mace and the second, Miss Willard's picture, to Miss Carrie Pangburn. Appropriate music was played by the organist, Miss Ella Chambers. The class of contestants has been invited to Scottsburg to deliver their recitations.

FLOWER MISSIONS.

I am sorry our report on Flower Mission Day did not reach you. I thought it was sent. We, on June 9, distributed 125 bouquets. Some to the hospital and the rest to sick and shut in ones. They were lovely large bouquets tied with white ribbon and scripture cards. We also gave out clothing and much literature. W. C. T. U. Y's and L. T. L's all helped. We let some of the L. T. L. members take flowers to the sick. They enjoyed it so very much.

Our L. T. L. had a picnic last Saturday week. Everything was lovely. They recited pieces and sang songs. It was a fine L. T. L. picnic.

Peru, Ind.

ANNA KILMER.

FRANCHISE.

Your Superintendent of this work has just sent out the report blanks to all the County Superintendents. Will they gather up all the franchise work done in each of their counties, together with all the articles they have had printed, especially those which she has sent into their care for publication and return the same to her by the 15th of September, also all petitions that they have finished circulating or are full of names? Send them on for copying, but continue to circulate others until all names are secured that can be, so that the State may be well represented from each county for our next Legislative work.

We urge that each County Superintendent sees to it that there is a contest, social or Crazy Tea held and the proceeds sent to the State Superintendent for the expenses of the Legislative work next winter. Remember there are prizes offered, for

- 1st. Securing the most names over 500.
- 2d. Having the greatest number of articles printed in the papers of their county.
- 3d. Sending in the most money for the Legislative work.

MRS. M. A. TOMPKINS,
State Superintendent.

COUNTY CONVENTIONS.

Are you thinking and planning for them? "The early bird catches the worm," I presume, is old to you, but I wish to remark it is very true.

St. Joseph made the county convention one of the questions to be settled at their county executive committee meeting July 25. That is beginning in time.

Fulton county names Wednesday and Thursday, September 5 and 6 as their dates.

Wabash county is waiting to engage speakers and thinking of September.

Miama county writes "we are planning for a gold medal county contest and a local silver medal contest for our county convention September 4 and 5 at Peru."

Mrs. Mary E. Teats' dates. August 18 and 19, Lowell; 20, 21 and 22, Monroe county; 23, Wolcott; 24, 25 and 26, LaFayette; 27, Camden. Other places have taken Mrs. Teats, but I am waiting to hear from intervening ones before fixing the dates later on.

A REMINDER.

Counties making the greatest gain send their delegates to the National convention. See plan voted on at last convention. Page 54 of the minutes and on the top of the same page read concerning "the papers of note." A lady in writing me said, "there is so little time"—but, you see, we had the whole year to prepare in.

On page 55 of the minutes our plans for the MESSAGE will be found. It may be that some of our Unions have not found these either and the year nearly gone.

Our summer assemblies are proving a success in many ways, and the September issue will contain a complete report of them.

Willard W. C. T. U. of Lexington is earnestly working in the cause of temperance and every meeting brings new members into our band of white ribboners. Our different departments of work are in charge of Superintendents who are eager and anxious to do all they can for the good of fallen humanity. On Sunday evening, July 29, Rev. J. C. Burkhart, of Irvington, Ind., delivered an interesting lecture. The audience was held spellbound and words of appreciation came from all sides. Sister Unions, if you want some one to inspire you in your noble work, send for him. We are invited to give a Medal Contest at Scottsburg, and will likely accept the invitation in the near future.

Dear Mrs. McWhirter—In the note with my name attached, in the last number of the MESSAGE, the printer has made me say the "Atlantie" controversy instead of "Atwater" controversy.

L. T. L. ITEMS.

Wabash county observed our L. T. L. Red Letter day, July 21, in honor of Anna Gordon, by holding a picnic. Six ministers made short talks, in addition to the prepared program, which was given after the picnic dinner. As guests, we had Mrs. Kilmer, of Peru, and her sister from Toledo, Ohio; Mrs. Allen, of Logansport, and Mrs. M. P. A. Bower, of Knoxville, Tenn., only sister of our County President, and an active worker in the W. C. T. U. and Loyal Temperance Legion of her city. Refreshments were sold to replenish our county treasury.

NOTES AND NO DISCOUNT.

Muncie has a new L. T. L. Mrs. Mary White is the leader.

LaPorte county has a new Union at Tracey, organized by Mrs. Rose Pearce.

Whitley county has a week's work by Mrs. Rose Pearce in August.

Mrs. Mary Teats, of California, begins work at Lowell, August 18.

Morocco, Newton county, takes Mrs. Teats three days.

The Assembly Union at Winona has a membership of one hundred.

After August 2, Mrs. Florence Vance's address will be Prouty avenue, Toledo, Ohio. Indiana commends her to the fellowship of Ohio White Ribboners.

Miss Pearl Rall reports her county in a most thriving condition and speaks very complimentary of the conference presided over by Mrs. A. T. Whitson, State Treasurer.

HADLEY INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

Miss Lucretia Hobart, President, 1101 Virginia Ave., Indianapolis.
 Mrs. Maggie Cox, Recording and Corresponding Secretary, Westfield, Hamilton County, Ind.
 Mrs. Rebecca Hessong, Treasurer, Nora, Ind.

The Board has a very good photograph of the building and the girls out in the front, 10 x 12, which they will sell for 50 cents. Send orders to the Treasurer.

JUNE REPORT OF TREASURER.

 Treasurer, Nora, Ind.

HADLEY SCHOOL NOTES.

The Board of Managers for Hadley school met at Acton Park on August 2, one of the W. C. T. U. days, and after listening to a program of more than usual interest, at its close went into executive session, to consider matters of importance relating to the home. Our lovely teacher of last year, Miss Myrtle Davis, left us to enter a broader field in Mexico, where her name is enrolled among those of the Friends Missionaries who have left all to follow Him who leadeth aright. Through her recommendation we have secured one of her friends, Miss Mary Pearson, of Fairmount, to fill her place and the school will open on the 1st Monday in October. We have secured the services of Mr. Butler and wife, of Indianapolis. He to take charge of the farm and his wife to take charge of the kitchen department.

Mr. Clyde Carmack (son of our late friend), visited the home last week and took pictures of the buildings and girls, so that all who desire these pictures can obtain them at small expense. He gave us the assurance that he would honor the wishes of his father in regard to this Home School, although no written will has been found. He is a son worthy his noble father. Good health and contentment continues under the management of Mrs. Parker. The Unions have in the main responded to calls for clothing for their girls and while at times the way seems dark in the matter of support, we believe the light is breaking and this school will eventually fill the desire of its promoters.

L. HOBART.

Any county wishing to use some Foreign Literature at their Fall Convention, please notice my offer. I will send to any of you free of charge, literature in any language, if you will let me know very soon when you wish it and in what language. Do, please, my sisters, think about this offer and see if you cannot use some Foreign Literature. I would rather see some good done, at my own expense, for my Department, than keep the literature until able to sell it.

ANNA KILMER,
 State Superintendent.

WOMEN OF SIAM.

In a recent address on "Women of Asia," Miss Jessie Ackerman made this startling statement:

More than one half the women of the world are matters of merchandise. In the Orient a man buys his wife just as he does his buffalo or ox, and has just as full control over her as he has over his beast. In India the degradation on the part of women is more marked than in China, by reason of the very early period at which a girl's earthly destiny is sealed. In Siam a woman is branded as we brand cattle. A mark on her wrist indicates what brand of the imperial family she belongs to. While visiting that country I was granted an audience with the King, who received me in state. In referring to the degraded condition of his women, he brought forward as clever an argument as I have ever heard. The King is a "muchly" married man, having forty wives, sixty children and 1,500 women in his harem, each woman having a slave. When the great gate closed upon me I found myself in an inclosure where there are 3,000 women who never go out. In speaking of the lack of education of his women, the King argued thus: "You know with education there always come culture and refinement. If I educated my women I should educate them into a state of discontent, for they would want many things that it is impossible for them to have."

NATIONAL MEMBERSHIP BANNER.

Wise local Presidents and Treasurers will urge every member of each Union to help in securing new members, honorary and active, and to help in collecting dues. The National Banner for membership will go again this year to the State that makes the greatest net increase in membership. We do want Indiana to BE THAT STATE. WILL YOU HELP?

Will you go right out now and secure a new regular member? If so and she pays her dues by September 1st, please send me a postal telling me what you have done and the name of the new member, so I will get it by September 5th, that I may use it in the September Message. Who will be first? I want the names of all W. C. T. U. officers and Superintendents in every Union in the State, besides the other earnest loving women who do so much for our cause.

FIELD NOTES.

Miss Sears secured twenty-four young women and fourteen young men for a Y Union at Bedford.

Mrs. S. M. Stahl writes of being very busy and her county doing well.

Mrs. Ada L. Squires has recently spent ten days in Dubois county, holding five medal contests, one of them a grand gold.

Huntington County organization held a highly profitable conference on the 13th inst., with the State Treasurer, Mrs. Amanda T. Whitson. Representatives of Warren, Andrews, Roanoke and Huntington were present in the M. E. church at Huntington and evidenced the rapid growth of the organization within the past two years. The Department Work was thoroughly discussed and much valuable matter brought forth. Mrs. Lou Rall was made County Organizer. A fine dinner was served at the noon hour and a warm sisterly spirit pervaded the entire meeting.

Campbellsburg Union, organized last March, is already becoming famous. The Union held a reception the afternoon of July 11, at the home of Mrs. Mollie Wilkins. Mrs. Hattie Brand was present and spoke words of cheer and encouragement. It was a very interesting occasion and beneficial to all. Mrs. Brand held three very successful public meetings at the church, with a crowded house each evening. Every one praised Mrs. Brand for her interesting services and she made many warm friends while here. Special music was prepared by the Union, which was appreciated by the people. We added six new members to our already loyal union and at our meeting to-day our members were divided into two sections, both striving to see who shall entertain the other half for being the most successful in securing the most new members. Every meeting grows in interest and we now have an oratorical contest arranged to be held.

The Allen County Woman's Christian Temperance Union met in conference in the Plymouth Congregational church, Thursday. Mrs. Whitson, of Indianapolis, State Treasurer of the W. C. T. U., was in attendance. A prayer and consecration service was held in the forenoon and the Fort Wayne white ribboners served lunch in the church dining hall.

The afternoon session was opened by the County President, Mrs. McIntosh, of Hoagland. Mrs. Whitson explained the great importance of the Allen County W. C. T. U. appointing an organizer in the county to agitate the temperance work; do a house-to-house visiting and organize Unions, which the ladies decided to do, providing a woman can be found who can do the work.

Mrs. English's paper, "Has Music a Mission?" Miss Coudry's recitation and songs by Mrs. Stacey, were well appreciated.

Mrs. Drake, Superintendent of the Anti-Cigarette League, reported the many encouragements in her work and that 1,070 boys and girls have signed the pledge. She also stated that her work was hindered for want of funds.

Mrs. Coudry, Superintendent of the Flower Mission Work, reported a great work done in that line. She has sent many bouquets with scripture texts tied with white ribbon to the hospitals and jail; often sent growing plants. And she always gets a reply in some way from the patient, often in a letter, telling how they appreciated the flowers, and as one patient expressed it, "A ray of sunshine came into her room on a cloudy day."

After the different departments of the work were discussed the meeting adjourned to meet in Fort Wayne in September in county convention.

LINNIE BAUGHER,
Superintendent Press Work.

W. C. T. U. of Wabash County held their annual picnic at the Central School Park last Saturday and a most enjoyable time was had. The day was delightfully cool, and although the crowd was not very large, what it lacked in quantity was made up in quality. All the most noted divines in the city were present and each gave a short and interesting speech. Mrs. Straw, president, and others from North Manchester, together with Mrs. Kilmer, of Peru, state superintendent of Work Among Foreign Speaking People, and others from a distance, were present and a number of them spoke. Mrs. Rouse, of Townsend (colored) Union, read a most excellent paper, and Mrs. Brown, also of that Union, gave a short address, which was listened to with close attention, and with several short and lively recitations closed the unusually interesting program of the day. With a most excellent dinner and plenty of ice cream, all enjoyed a pleasant and profitable day and came away feeling that the ladies of Wabash knew the secret of entertaining well.

MRS. M. A. RATLIFF.

Lindley Union observed Flower Mission day. Baskets of flowers, button hole bouquets with text cards tied with white ribbon, were taken by the little girls to the glass factories and given to the men and boys as they came out. They received them gladly. One of the faithful members of our Lindley Union has moved eight miles from this neighborhood. She invited the ladies of the Union to meet with her and come in time to take dinner. We did so yesterday, July 25th. Two of our good brothers, who are in sympathy with their wives in the work of the W. C. T. U. and will vote for John G. Woolley this fall, accompanied us. We all enjoyed the bountiful repast that was provided for us by Mrs. Letitia Lightfoot. After an interesting meeting in the afternoon we rode home, feeling that it had been good for us to be there. Mrs. Lightfoot is doing what she can in her neighborhood distributing literature and telling her neighbors of the W. C. T. U. We are praying that the life of our beloved State President may be preserved to us.

Campbellsburg Union. Another link has been added to the vast chain of Unions. We have a lively Union, just organized in April. We realize that the time has come that something must be done, and so we all willingly lend a helping hand to do all that we can for the upbuilding of humanity. We are truly glad that there is an organization of Christian women who can band together for the protection of their children and home. The home is the fountain of civilization. Americans are a home making people. Our laws are made in the home. There are trained the voters who shape the course of our country. The things said there give bias to character far more than do sermons and lectures, newspapers and books. No other audiences are so susceptible and receptive as those gathered about the table and the fireside. No other teachers have the acknowledged divine right to instruct that is granted with challenge to parents. The fountain of our national life is under our hands; we can make it send forth waters bitter or sweet. Intemperance strikes first and most fatally at the home. The evils most dangerous to social order depend upon dram-drinking for their existence. This, too, is the scene of its most cruel and deadly work; here it smites and stabs and kills. The home must be guarded against its outrages, or the country will be ruined.

Winteroud Union, recently organized, has held one gospel temperance meeting and two business meetings. A silver medal contest held on July 4th, at a picnic, was a great success.

Norristown W. C. T. U. joined with the Prohibitionists on the 4th, our Nation's birthday anniversary and spent a most profitable day in a grove. The class of seven young ladies proved themselves able contestants, Iniz Mitchell being awarded the silver medal. In the evening the sound logic as given by Rev. Lindsay Wills, of Monrovia, Ind., in his very able address, was received heartily by the large crowd present.

Washington Union is on the increase. Our Union has been very weak. I believe, owing to a misunderstanding, or rather a not understanding of the work and consequently an indifference towards it. The last of November we had Mrs. Beck with us over Sunday and she gave three excellent lectures in the Christian, Methodist and Cumberland Presbyterian churches, successively, which awakened some who had hitherto been indifferent. Her work was, indeed, very helpful to us.

Our Union held a successful parlor meeting and gained three members and a little sum as a free-will offering. Refreshments were served and a pleasant social hour spent.

Later—We held a beautiful parlor social at the residence of one of our best and oldest members, Mrs. Palmer. Special written invitations were sent, and our guests numbered more than a score of ladies from all the different churches in the city, except two, and among the best our city affords. Our program consisted of paper and selections on the subject of "Temperance in a mental, moral and physical sense," which was interspersed with excellent vocal and instrumental music, the Misses Dale of our city being present with their instruments. After the program dainty refreshments, consisting of angel food, sponge cake and ice cream were served and all present entered heartily into a social hour. This method of bringing together the ladies of the different churches is certainly very beneficial and if our W. C. T. U. can do no more it is doing a great work in bringing the different denominations into harmony.

Our Union observed Press Day by holding a public meeting in the Masonic hall, which was largely attended. An exceedingly interesting musical and literary program was rendered. Postmaster Sefrit delivered an address upon "The People, the Customer, the Press, the Caterer," which was well received. Mrs. L. M. Beck made the audience glad by a beautiful address upon "The Influence of the Press upon the Home, School and Nation." A well delivered recitation upon temperance was rendered by Miss Josie Smith. These were interspersed by beautiful musical selections upon piano and stringed instruments and several vocal solos. A pleasing feature of the evening was the many young men who took part in the program. "Mothers' Bow of Ribbon White" was sung by an honorary "Y." May God bless these dear young men. Three little girls, tastily costumed in paper dresses of blue, pink and orange, represented our three local papers. The W. C. T. U. ladies wore four-in-hand ties of tissue paper with the word "press" on one end and W. C. T. U. on the other. The waiters for refreshments, which consisted of cream and printers' cake, were the "Y's" who wore dainty paper aprons, which had the word "press" nicely printed across one corner and paper caps and a badge worn diagonally across the bosom on which was printed the names of our National and State temperance papers, our city papers and other temperance papers. The young ladies looked lovely. Paper napkins with the word "press" printed in one corner and W. C. T. U. in the opposite corner were carried away as souvenirs. We had a literature table upon which was temperance leaflets and papers and printers' utensils. An admission of ten cents was charged, editors and ministers receiving complimentary. The hall was beautifully decorated and our "press social" took exceedingly well. Our city editors gave us a fine write-up.

LILLIE SHIELDS.

Peru had such a glorious W. C. T. U. picnic at Denver on the 4th I thought you might wish to mention it in your MESSAGE. A fine program and dinner. They met us at the train with carriages, banners waving and decorations and floats. Seventy-five children were drilled and sang very sweetly. Ministers from Peru and Denver gave us excellent temperance talks. There were recitations. They had an elegant platform beautifully decorated. Francis Willard's picture was in the middle and Lincoln's and Washington's on each side. They made a nice sum, which helped to defray expenses of putting out the saloons. Had a store on the grounds. I distributed with my own hands 600 pages of literature on Sabbath observance, franchise, non alcoholic medication and champaign leaflets. The ladies of Denver W. C. T. U. deserve great praise. We procured some new members.

ANNA KILMER.

PRESIDENTIAL PRAYER CHAIN PLEDGES.

WHEREAS, President Wm. McKinley has shown that he prefers the favor of the liquor men of the nation to that of the millions of christian people who petitioned him to blot out the canteen scourge in the army, therefore, I pledge myself as follows:

1. I pledge myself that I will, until election day, make it a daily special subject of prayer to my Heavenly Father, that He will give to the United States a better man for President for the next four years; one who will keep wine off the White House table, who will be a total abstainer himself and who will do what he can to overthrow the liquor traffic.

Sign.....

2. I furthermore pledge myself to make at least two copies of this letter, changing only the number at the bottom to the next higher, and mail one copy to some sister in the State in which I reside and the other copy to some sister in some other State.

Sign.....

No. 14. Matthew 18:19.

WHY SHOULD I SIGN A SABBATH PLEDGE?

For the same reason that I should sign a temperance pledge or a church covenant.

The practices of the world and constant temptations are against keeping the Sabbath holy. A pledge draws attention to the points of danger and puts me on my guard.

It incites me to greater watchfulness and prayer.

It makes my own life more pure and consistent.

It makes the light of my example burn clearer and steadier, and by thus joining with others it greatly increases the influence of my example.

IN MEMORIAM.

In the death of her husband, our sister, Mrs. Susie McIntosh, has the sympathy of her White Ribbon sisters.

At her home just north of Broad Ripple, Josephine Mustard Dodd. She was born April 23, 1873. Departed this life July 28, 1900, at the age of 27 years, 3 months and five days. She was united in marriage to Frank Dodd, December 8, 1897. She gave herself very early in life to Christ, and with steps unwavering, faith unwavering and hope always bright, she served her Master faithfully to the end. She was very fond of children and was always a favorite with them wherever she went. She was teacher of the children's class for several years. She leaves to mourn her, a husband, a father, five sisters and a large host of loving friends. She was also a much loved member of the W. C. T. U., from which she will be greatly missed.

Our late State Fair Superintendent, Mrs. Mary A. L. Colton, Franklin, after an illness of two weeks, fell asleep July 13, 1900. In the spring Mrs. Colton sent in her resignation and the Central Committee appointed Mrs. Ada B. Leck, of Indianapolis, to fill the term of service. Mrs. Colton's work was so well begun it was a very easy matter to take it up where she laid it down. We think of her with the invisible company on the other side and realize that a most faithful and exemplary co-laborer has gone to her reward. She leaves the record, an every day christian one, whose creed was as broad as time outlines needs.

On Saturday, June 23, 1900, Mrs. Harvey Bryant, of Hebron, Ind., passed into eternity. Mrs. Bryant was one of the oldest and best beloved women in the W. C. T. U. The organization feels her loss deeply and desiring to express the same, the following resolutions were ordered published:

WHEREAS, God in his providence has removed from her work on this earth our friend and co-worker, Mrs. Harvey Bryant;

Resolved, That while we bow with submission to the will of the Allwise Father, we do mourn the loss of our faithful sister exceedingly.

Resolved, That we praise God for raising up such a sincere, earnest woman as Sister Bryant to work in our beloved cause of temperance.

Resolved, That this tribute of our love and respect be placed upon our records, published in our State paper, the MESSAGE, and sent to the family of the deceased.

MRS. PLINT, President.
MRS. SHELT.

Death has entered Lucerne Union for the first time and taken one of our Medal Contest Superintendents, Mrs. Olive E. Montgomery, July 9, 1900, aged 25 years and 10 months.

Mrs. Montgomery united with our Union in January, 1899, while Mrs. Trish was with us. She came from a Christian family and there learned to live a Christian life. When there was work to be done she believed that it was the duty of the W. C. T. U. to do it and never sanctioned putting on to the men the Union's work. She was always ready and willing to perform any task given her, never asking anyone to take it off her hands. She was a welcome guest in every home where she was known, always bringing good cheer with her. Besides a host of relatives and friends who mourn her death, she leaves a devoted husband and a little boy baby three days old. Her soul has gone to its reward. She is at rest.

THE MESSAGE.

"Not by Might nor by Power, but by My Spirit."

VOL. IV. No. 9.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., SEPTEMBER, 1900.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR.

THE GLORY AND THE SHAME.

Companies, regiments, legions of men,
In stately and martial array;
Picked men from the city, the hamlet, the glen—
The pride of the nation are they.
Exultant they gather from near and from far
To contend for dominion or fame,—
The morning light smiles on the glory of war,
The night weeps o'er its anguish and shame.

Infantry, cavalry, hither they come,
With banner and bayonet gay;
Marching to music of trumpet and drum,
And eager to enter the fray.
So rush they on boldly, horse, cannon and car,
And so bravely all terror disclaim;
In the morning light gleams all the glory of war,
The night throbs with its anguish and shame.

Beauty of manhood, delight of the home,
Called out but to slay and be slain!
Motherhood, wifehood and maidenhood moan
On that field of fierce carnage and pain.
So bravely men gather from near and from far,
And so gallantly fight—for a name.
Ah! the morning sees naught but the glory of war,
The night shrieks in its anguish and shame!
—H. Lavinia Bailey.

Mrs. Stevens and Miss Gordon spent the last week in August at Rest Cottage in consultation with the officers there over the Washington convention and many other matters connected with the work.

After attending the state conventions of Minnesota and South Dakota, they returned to headquarters for another week of work and planning, leaving to be present at the state conventions of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York and Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Stevens seems to have been much benefited by her short journey to Scotland and England, although it was a business trip. She is looking remarkably well and strong.

Mrs. L. M. N. Stevens was greatly honored at the World's Convention in Edinburgh by being elected Vice-President-at-Large for the World's W. C. T. U. This was fitting, inasmuch as she was Miss Willard's successor as President of the largest National Union. The United States has a larger membership than England, Canada and Australia combined, and the delegates, recognizing the superior executive ability of Mrs. Stevens, were unanimous in conferring upon her this high honor. We all rejoice that the ability of our chosen leader is recognized by the women of other nations, thus confirming the wisdom of Miss Willard in designating her as her choice as her immediate successor. She is strong and true and has the confidence of all the women.

REST COTTAGE.

Much misunderstanding still exists concerning the headquarters of the National W. C. T. U. of the United States, many thinking that as the officers of the National Corresponding Secretary and Treasurer are now in Rest Cottage they are necessarily in the home so long occupied by the Willard family and forever sacred to us all on this account.

Will our White Ribbon friends all over the world take pains to make the following statement known through the press and in every possible way:

A commodious addition to the original Rest Cottage was built some fifteen or twenty years ago by Miss Willard's widowed sister-in-law, Mrs. Mary B. Willard. This addition was purchased by Miss Willard when her sister moved to Berlin, Germany, and has been occupied by different tenants to whom it has been let. It is in this newer part of Rest Cottage, familiarly known as "The North Side" and now owned by the National W. C. T. U., that the sunny, spacious offices of "Headquarters" are located, for Miss Anna Gordon has no other thought in connection with Miss Willard's home, of which she holds a life lease, than to sacredly preserve its rooms with their furnishings just as they were left by Miss Willard and her mother. These rooms forming a home entirely distinct from the headquarters, although both are under the same roof, are visited by people from every section of the country and from many different parts of the world and are destined to be a veritable Mecca for temperance workers and those who are interested to see the home where Frances E. Willard lived and loved and toiled to make the whole world more home-like.

Miss Gordon spares no expense to keep this precious home in perfect repair, and employs some one to be always in the residence, there to welcome visitors when she is absent and she plans when her life lease of the property is ended and the estate reverts to the National W. C. T. U. to place the home furnishings, of which she is the sole legatee, in the hands of the National W. C. T. U., with the understanding that they be considered a sacred trust to be preserved with the utmost care in the years to come.

OFFICIAL CALL FOR STATE CONVENTION, FRANKFORT, OCTOBER 19 TO 23.

You are hereby notified that our Twenty-Seventh Annual Convention will be held at Frankfort, Clinton County, October 19 to 23. The Convention will be held in the M. E. Church.

The annual meeting is composed of the general officers of the State Union, Superintendent of Departments, Chairman of Standing Committees, State Organizers, President and one Delegate at Large and one additional Delegate for every twenty paid members of each Auxiliary Union.

Ex officio members of the Convention must vote in person.

The members of the Ex Committee are requested to be in Frankfort, October 18, in line for the 1 o'clock afternoon meeting, in the basement of the M. E. Church.

MARY E. BALCH,
Corresponding Secretary.

DUBOIS COUNTY.

Extract from a letter of Mrs. Ada L. Squires, State Organizer:

I spent about eight days in Dubois in early June, then returned to Ireland last week for a little more work, making ten days in all in Dubois, and in that time held five contests, the last at Ireland, a Grand Gold, giving the young people lessons on their selections, also did personal work among the women. The almost constant rains interfered with our meetings. The work there is hard. The work was partly planned for different points, but with the exception of Ireland, all the dates were made after my entering the county. We held contests and gave talks. Emma was an attraction and in this way we paid our way. I stood responsible for all expense. Ireland was the only point where I came out with anything like compensation for work. At Ireland, for need of a leader the Legion was not organized, but I believe it will be later on. A woman half way promised to take the work later on and the young people are much interested and ready. But here is what we did do: We got a lot of women together, some young girls among them, and proposed a "study course" like this: A study of the senior L. T. L. course, with study of annual leaflet and W. C. T. U. departments mixed in. They will send for literature at once and we think it will mean the organization of a Union of intelligent workers by and by that will stay organized. I appointed a few superintendents at three other points, but did no organizing, unless we might call it a "Senior L. T. L." at Ireland, and if the whole of Dubois would go to studying on that plan it would be the building of a foundation.

CHAIRMAN OF LOCAL COMMITTEES, FRANKFORT, IND.

Entertainment, Mrs. Hattie Barrichlow, 508 East Walnut street; Lunch, Mrs. Nannie Clark, 458 John street; Sunday Services, Mrs. Emma Saylor, 600 Walnut street; Railroad, Mrs. M. E. Baker, 406 East Armstrong street; Press, Mrs. Franklin Hinds, 258 West Greene street; Decorations, Mrs. Emma Condon, 603 South Jackson street; Music, Mrs. Kate Adams, 550 East Walnut street; Finance, Mrs. Anna Campbell, Washington avenue.

Mrs. Ora H. McArthur, Knox County Superintendent of L. T. L. and Contest work, writes: "At this place we have quite a faithful W. C. T. U., Y and L. T. L., which were organized over five years ago, excepting the Y, which has been with us about two years. Mrs. Annie Polk is President of the W's, Miss Mabel Brown of the L. T. L. and Mrs. Helen Osborn of the Y. There are ten silver medals in our locality and we hope to have a gold contest soon. Our L. T. L. is doing excellent work along the line of Scientific Instruction, as planned for in the manuals. Not long since we had a "Brownie and Fairy" festival and cleared $27.50, which is in our treasury ready for the good cause. We would be glad to have a part or all of this letter published in the Phalanx and Message, because our place has been spoken of as 'indifferent' in the temperance cause. This may be true of some people, but the majority of the intelligent Christian workers are perfectly awake in this matter and the subject is discussed in League, Endeavor, Sunday School, public school, church and, of course, in the W's, Y's and L. T. L. gatherings."

REQUEST.

At the noon hour each day from now until the opening of the State Convention at Frankfort, each White Ribboner is requested to pray for God's blessing upon the Indiana W. C. T. U. We would ask that especial prayer be offered for all those holding official relations to the Unions to be careful in little things, discreet and faithful.

LOGOOTEETEE UNION.

On Flower Mission Day, a party of us went to the Poor House and there met the County Commissioners. We had singing, prayers, readings and talks. We took each inmate a souvenir. Their happy faces made us feel that we had done a little good. Those of us who stayed at home visited the sick with flowers, text cards, jellies, etc., and read to them. We not only do this on Flower Mission Day, but try to make every day a flower mission day.

On the first Sunday night of each month we have a Gospel Temperance Meeting, which is very helpful.

On the second Saturday afternoon of each month we have a Parlor Meeting. These are very interesting and helpful. We have good attendance and much good results from them.

In June, when Mrs. Georgiana White (nee Moser) was at home, our Union gave a lawn fete and did much to promote the interests of our Union.

We have 36 paid members. We are doing work in the following departments: Non-alcoholic Medication, Hadley Industrial School, Christian Citizenship, Narcotics, Unfermented Wines at Sacramento, Health, Heredity and Physical Culture, Proportionate and Systematic Giving, Evangelistic, Scientific Temperance, Loyal Temperance Legion, Purity, Mothers' Meetings, Franchise, Literature and the Press.

We have not a separate Superintendent for each department, but some members work several departments, and all are worked more or less.

HARRIETTE McCLESKEY.

EXTRACTS OF CENTRAL COMMITTEE MINUTES.

Mrs. Balch gave a review of the depleted counties and the sense of the committee is that the organizers be put into the field and kept busy until State Convention under the following plan: A week, or more if needed, in a county, asking only entertainment and free-will offerings, the deficit being met from the State treasury, the Corresponding Secretary making the appointments and calling a county convention, that the county may be reorganized and brought into regular work.

Mrs. Hattie Brand was selected to give the address of welcome at the State Convention.

Moved and carried, that the State provide the badges and see to the delegates for five cents each.

Mrs. Studebaker, music director, offered her resignation because of throat affliction, and the committee extended regrets and sympathy.

Through the Central Committee the State W. C. T. U. recommends that the consideration for W. C. T. U. Sunday services conducted by State's workers shall be $5.00 and expenses.

A communication was read from the Thorntown Union, concerning the finding of the mother of one of the little girls in the Industrial School, who was stolen from her home a few years ago. The work was heartily commended.

On motion, the length of obituary notices for the State paper was limited to one hundred words.

Recommended, that when found expedient, that one column of the paper be given to advertisements.

On motion of Mrs. Cammack, Mrs. Brand was made State organizer.

On motion, the plans of Mrs. Tompkins for the Suffrage Campaign was endorsed.

The time for holding the State Convention was accepted from October 19-23.

Recommended that our women have a timely interview with our nominees for the coming legislature on the suffrage question. We also recommend that W. C. T. U. women who are anticipating a visit to the city make it convenient to do so during the meeting of the General Assembly.

MRS. CAMMACK-GIBSON.

At the Central Committee meeting September 3, Superintendent of organization was instructed to put workers for two weeks into counties with weak organization, closing with county convention, and in lieu of that institution Mrs. I. C. DeVelling will give two weeks in Johnson county, beginning September 10. County Convention at Franklin, September 22.

Rev. Cammack-Gibson two weeks in Randolph county, September 17 to 30. County convention at Winchester, September 29.

Mrs. Hattie Brand, Shelby county, September 17 to 30. County convention at Shelbyville, September 29.

Miss Mary Hadley, Boone county, September 18 to 30. County convention at Lebanon, September 29.

Mrs. Rose Pearce, Porter county, September 17 to 30. County convention at Valparaiso, September 29.

Dr. Homer J. Hall, Franklin, will speak at the Hall Place Church, Sunday evening, September 16, under the auspices of Frances Willard Union.

MOTHERS' MEETINGS.

Will you please write me a card with regard to the work in your county? I have received a goodly number of reports (for which I am very glad) from local Superintendents, but I want to hear from all the County Superintendents; I want your names. And to you, Local Superintendents, be watchful and prayerful, for a great work is entrusted to you. Be diligent in reporting. I would be glad if the last quarter's reports would double all former ones. Let us be diligent and fervent, "as ye know that your labor is not in vain in the Lord." MRS. S. M. STAHL.

State officers, superintendents, branch secretaries, evangelists and organizers are requested to send brief synopsis of their reports to Mrs. Florence E. Vance, State Press Superintendent, 638 Prouty avenue, Toledo, Ohio. This is for the Frankfort newspapers, to be used in the published accounts of the State Convention, and should be sent in at least a week before the convention begins. A great deal depends upon ourselves if we would have full and accurate reports of the convention, and it will be a great advantage to us if our material is on hand early.

The Marion County Convention will be held in Central Avenue M. E. Church, corner of Central avenue and Twelfth street, September 25 and 26. Dr. Quayle, pastor of the Meridian Street M. E. Church, will give an address on the evening of the 25th.

At the call of County President Mrs. Gipe, Marion County W. C. T. U. observed August 21 as a day of fasting and prayer, holding an all day session in the First Baptist Church. Mrs. McWhirter and Mrs. Balch each had a place on the program, Mrs. McWhirter opening the meeting with a deeply spiritual address. Mrs. Eldridge had an hour in the afternoon which was a blessed time for all present.

As the time for the annual meeting draws near I have not heard from many who received the catalogue of the Indianapolis Manual Training High School. I am anxious to learn what you have accomplished in the way of prevailing on your respective school boards in inaugurating some of the branches of manual training in the public schools, or in teaching them in kindergartens, vacation schools or lessons given in domestic science exclusively, as is being done in New York, Massachusetts and some other states. We all know the deplorable life many housekeepers live because of incompetent help. Still more deplorable is the condition of the girl who wanders from house to house in search of employment, simply because she is unable to perform her duties satisfactorily, hence if we aid in disseminating this knowledge, both housekeeper and maid are benefited, saying nothing of the indirect and far reaching influences in numerous ways. We lament when a girl goes to work, spends precious time and money over "Doors of Hope," "Rescue Missions," etc., when similar effort along preventive lines would have equipped these same girls to have filled much needed positions years ago far towards settling the domestic service problem. We are standing in our own light without appearing to know it. Let us face about and bend our energies toward more practical educational methods.

As the grape season is with us, let us not fail to bottle a large amount of juice; if it is mixed with plums it gives variety in flavor. Many who can not use milk or cream find fruit juices agreeable and always nutritious and healthful. MARY A. MOODY.

If you receive two copies of the MESSAGE this month, please give the extra copy to a friend who does not take the paper and who will assist you in securing members.

Sincerely yours,

AMANDA T. WHITSON.

HADLEY INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

Miss Lucretia Hobart, President, 1101 Virginia Ave., Indianapolis.
Mrs. Maggie Cox, Recording and Corresponding Secretary, Westfield, Hamilton County, Ind.
Mrs. Rebecca Hessong, Treasurer, Nora, Ind.

HADLEY SCHOOL "HAY RIDE."

On the morning of August 25 the thirty-one girls belonging to the Hadley School filled two large farm wagons, which were well filled with new hay from the Home farm. Umbrellas and lunch-baskets were in evidence and the merry party set out for a ride to Indianapolis, which they reached in time to give an entertainment the same evening.

The negotiations between the managers of the Home and the railroad officials for low rates proved so unsatisfactory that the hay ride was the only practical mode of conveyance at hand. A number of the W. C. T. U. women opened their houses to the girls and gave them a hearty welcome, so much so that the mother ties between the girls and their W. C. T. U. mothers have been strengthened.

The proceeds from the entertainment netted a sum sufficient to defray the expense of the trip, and the girls went home feeling that they had experienced much that was pleasant during this brief outing. A number of these girls have musical ability above the average. Others have the capacity sufficient to become educated for teachers, dressmakers, dairy-maids, horticulturists, etc. Is it not, after all, the patient, intelligent toilers, skilled in their departments of work, who are the greatest blessing to mankind?

Let us hope that all who met these talented, dependent girls will feel that the opportunity to help in higher development is a sacred trust that should be conscientiously worked out. These girls not only receive the physical training to fit them for useful places in life, but the saving grace of the gospel has been unfolded to them and embraced by them. With such an equipment, may we not expect that later in life these wards of ours will become useful citizens and will be higher in the scale of being for having this protected home?

Treasurer.

TREASURERS.

A Treasurer's conference will be held during the State convention. It is quite necessary that every County and Local Treasurer should attend.

If for any cause your Local Treasurer needs assistance in the collection of dues, it becomes the duty of the Local President to see that a helper is given her.

Blanks were sent to County Treasurers the last week in August. If they have failed to reach you, notify me at once, that others may be sent.

Where counties are unorganized, dues should be sent direct to the State Treasurer.

If any Local Treasurer has not received her blanks send a card by first mail to the State Treasurer and one will be sent to you by first mail.

The State Treasurer's books close for the year, September 25. The time until then is short, but much work can be done in that time if we have a will to do it, and we certainly have. Indiana women are equal to any emergency and Indiana women greatly desire the return of the much loved banner.

The membership for the first three quarters of this year does not show so great a gain as it did during the first three quarters of last year. I am sure we all see the emergency and will act at once and secure as many members as possible.

Does your Union meet again before the close of the year? If not, call a meeting at once and plan for every member to give at least two days' work canvassing for new members. Be sure that the dues of every other member is collected also. I am sure every member of your Union has a special friend she greatly desires to have become a member of your Union. Secure her now. Let no one think it is useless to make the effort. Go forth in prayer and faith and God will reward you accordingly.

With this effort it is possible for us to win the banner again. Will we make the effort, and receive the inspiration that comes to our work with it? This is a memorable year in the work of the W. C. T. U. Can we not make it doubly so in Indiana? Miss Willard offered a similar banner to the local and county Unions making the greatest net gain over the paid membership of last year. The local banner was won by an increase of only 85 members. The county banner was won by an increase of 127. Certainly our State can win both of these also. As a great inducement toward this end, the State will offer a free speech by one of the State officers or organizers to the Unions that secure ten paid-up members more than was paid for last year. For twenty more paid members than was paid for last year, two free speeches will be given. If any Union has already secured the ten or twenty, then in order to secure the free speeches, ten or twenty more must be secured after this letter reaches you. In each case traveling expenses and entertainment must be met by the Union, thus enabling you to have either of the State officers or organizers you may desire. Now, dear sisters, may we not have the earnest co-operation of every member of your Union right now? If so, great will be the victory, and we will again prove to our dear National officers that they can count on Indiana.

The State Convention will meet at Frankfort, in October. I am especially anxious that every county and local Treasurer should meet me in the Treasurer's conference to be held during the convention. With a firm belief that your Union will enter heartily upon the two or three days' crusade, I am hopefully and lovingly yours,

AMANDA T. WHITSON.

A LETTER FROM MRS. SQUIERS.

Am en route home from one month's work in DeKalb, Benton, Parke, Vigo and Knox counties. Most of my time has been spent in organizing, training and holding contests and giving public talks. The work was very hard this hot weather. Little Emma was with me, and each afternoon when she took her nap I lay down awhile and rested, else I could not have stood it. I secured a few new members for the Unions on the rounds and at Coatesville organized a Junior L. T. L. I was there one month ago and put the Y girls to studying the Senior L. T. L. work, and they are much interested in the work. So Coatesville virtually has both the Senior and Junior work. The W there is in good condition and booming, membership twenty-three. They are paying dues out of a common fund and have dues for fifteen paid. Mrs. Dr. Hope, President of W., took superintendency of Junior L. T. L., and Mrs. Dr. Hunt has charge of Y and Senior L. T. L. work. I have not come across any Y girls yet but what need the Senior L. T. L. work, and believe there are times when it is well to combine the two.

Held a contest with Coatesville Y girls at Coatesville Thursday night, and took remainder of class to Clayton for contest last night.

Have held seven contests this month. One at rum-cursed Rosedale, August 28, then took remainder of class to a mining camp near by and held a second contest. Will return to Rosedale again, when I hope to organize a Union. Things were not ripe for it yet.

I sometimes think there should be fewer and better organizing of Unions—maybe "Page's Glue" might make them stick—anyhow, it would be far better if more of them would "stick." At several places I met with the women, but nearly all of my time was spent with the young people. I met with kind receptions from the ministers and occupied some pulpit every Sunday. At two places the ministers arranged for a Union Gospel temperance service.

At St. Joe the service was held in their new public hall, and although the evening was hot, the hall was full and extra chairs were carried in. I was sick that night and had to sit while I talked, but had good attention throughout. Emma gave two selections at each public meeting and of course she had much to do with bringing out the people.

At one place where I held a contest, and also occupied the Methodist pulpit morning and evening, I was requested to touch Prohibition lightly. I was just a little easy in the morning talk, but found that a heavier dose went down with apparent relish at the evening service, and I believe the Gospel of Prohibition should be talked everywhere by the workers, and can be, without offense, if it is undertaken in the right way.

I have only given you snatches of my month's work, but enough for this time.

ADA L. SQUIERS.

Willard W. C. T. U., of Lexington, held a Silver Medal Contest at Scottsburg, August 22. Miss Carrie Pangburn received first prize and Miss Ella Lothrop, second prize.

The Union spent Saturday, September 1, at Clifty Falls, near Madison. After a bountiful dinner, the afternoon was spent in viewing the beautiful scenery until time for devotional exercises. We are so glad to hear of the good work that is being done for the temperance cause.

ELLA LOTHROP,
Superintendent of Press Work.

L. T. L.

Our beautiful new banner, with the faces of Misses Willard and Gordon on it, won by Kokomo Legion last year, will again be awarded to the Legion paying the greatest amount of dues over $5.00, and the next greatest amount wins a picture of Miss Willard and the third reward is a year's subscription to our L. T. L. paper, Young Crusader.

I do so much desire to have each Legion pay dues this year. Lincolnville, Bath, West Richmond, Townsend, Indianapolis Central, Peru, Elwood and Kokomo, I hope each will add some more. The last three named have sent the highest amounts and Elwood and Kokomo are a tie.

Are you enlisting the little people under six years of age? See July MESSAGE for explanation of this Infant Grade, and put your W. C. T. U. to work enrolling the babies in the L. T. L. Send all L. T. L. dues to my address, and if possible, before September 25. Much can be accomplished before the Convention by quick, earnest effort. If your Legion has suspended meetings during heated term, call them together at once. If you have no Legion, organize one now. Make a strong effort to have the class complete the study of Volume I. and take the examination in time for our L. T. L. Convention at Frankfort and bring as many of them as possible to the convention to receive in person their diplomas from the State Leader. There is also a banner to be awarded to the largest class.

Graduates and those studying for a diploma are urged to attend the convention. We want each Legion represented. Frankfort will gladly entertain the girls and boys who come as delegates to this our sixth State Legion convention.

Remember, the reward this year for the largest list of individual subscribers to the Young Crusader is the book, The Beautiful Life of Miss Willard.

What are you doing to increase Indiana's subscription list? There is time yet to hold a Young Crusader Contest. Divide your Legion into two sections, after the old spelling match plan, with a leader to each section. Have stated time for close of contest. Obtain sample copies of W. T. P. A. Have some plan of reward for the winning side. The Young Crusader clubs with the MESSAGE at 45 cents and with the MESSAGE and Union Signal at $1.25. Ask your W. C. T. U. Corresponding Secretary for L. T. L. report blank and report your work to me. Answer carefully, for instance, number of regular meetings. Please do not say "meet once a week," but give the number in figures; always give figures.

Yours in our effort to teach and train the girls and boys of Indiana to be what we want the women and men of to-day to be—to live total abstinence and vote prohibition.

MRS. K. T. A. STRAW,
State L. T. L. Branch Secretary.

Mrs. Ada L. Squier and daughter Emma were at Frieslandville Aug. 25-26. The members think they were very fortunate in securing their services for a silver medal contest and a gospel temperance meeting, because the people of the town were much pleased with them. Everybody thinks little Emma is a wonderful child speaker. The Frieslandville women say, "Get Mrs. Squier and little Emma and the crowd comes."

Grant County. We sat with the Grant County Executive Committee meeting a few days ago. Mrs. Emmie Wilson, the County President, said in her opening remarks to the women: I have been your President for sixteen years. We have called the Executive, with few exceptions, twice a year and I have never missed but one Executive Meeting and one annual or semi-annual meeting. Eighteen members belong to this committee. Your county officers, two branch secretaries and twelve local Presidents. Eleven present and as we sat in this committee meeting and watched the transaction of business with method and speed and love, we did not wonder that Grant county flourished as a green bay tree. Some times when the women seemed a little too social with a smile and firmness Mrs. Wilson brought them back to business and as we listened to her wit, humor, persuasiveness and saw her great heart of love, we learned the secret of her having 500 followers. The strength of this county is never spent in cultivating differences, but as one woman they throw the battling ram of their power against the liquor traffic.

Mrs. E. M. Haughton, Richmond, will do any work for Unions on her way to and from Steuben county convention, 19 and 20 of September. Write Mrs. Haughton at once for terms and dates, County conventions, Diamond Medal Contests. Diamond Medal Contest at Dubois county convention, Jasper, September 19; Vanderburg county convention, Evansville, September 20. Knox county convention, Evansville, September 21; Kentucky and Illinois will join Indiana in making these classes. Dearborn county convention, Guilford, September 27; Perry county convention, Rome, September 13; Grant county convention, October —; Huntington county convention, Roanoke, October —; Franklin county convention, Brookfield, September 28; Marion county Central Avenue M. E. church, Indianapolis, September 25 and 26; Johnson county convention, Franklin, September 21; Ripley county convention, Milan, September 21 and 22; Jennings county convention, Butlerville, September 24 and 25.

THE FUTURE.

The year is fast drawing to a close for the Indiana W. C. T. U. Our dear President has gone forward with the duties of her office this year, in direct opposition to the judgment of her physician, and every thing considered for the future of her home and family and her life, she cannot accept the position another year. You must choose another. This she wished me to say to you, dear co-workers, not having the heart to say it herself. No one can misjudge the motive. Her thought is not, in this crisis, of herself, but of the good of the work. MARY E. BALCH.

AUTHOR UNKNOWN.

We do not know who did write the prayer chain pledge. Each individual may do as they please about signing it. If a woman can sign it and pray for Bryan she has the right, only it shows a woeful want of information. I signed the prayer chain pledge and I pray for John G. Woolley, and have no apology to make to any one. I have promised God to do my best to give every woman the same opportunity to sign the pledge if she wishes to. MARY E. BALCH.

CONCERNING CIGARETTES.

Leeches, when applied to persistent cigarette smokers, drop off dead, distinct traces of the dangerous empyreumatic oil given off by tobacco being found in them.

EXTRACTS FROM THE ANNUAL ADDRESS OF NATIONAL PRESIDENT, MRS. LILLIAN M. N. STEVENS, DELIVERED BEFORE THE NATIONAL CONVENTION AT SEATTLE, WASHINGTON, LAST FALL.

THE NAVY.

NAVY DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, Feb. 3, 1899. After mature deliberation, the Department has decided that it is for the best interest of the service that the sale or issue to enlisted men of malt or other alcoholic liquors on board ships of the navy, or within the limits of naval stations, be prohibited.

"Therefore, after the receipt of this order, commanding officers and commandants are forbidden to allow any malt or other alcoholic liquor to be sold to or issued to enlisted men, either on board ship, or within the limits of navy yards, naval stations, or marine barracks, except in the medical department.

JOHN D. LONG,
Secretary.

Secretary Long has stated that the order I have just read was given at the solicitation of the naval officers, but it may be well to remember that he is a total abstainer, a believer in the principle of prohibition and so we may confidently believe that this order is not likely to be reversed, and we record it as a great victory on the right side of the temperance reform.

THE CANTEN.

I do not wish to encroach too much upon the ground of the Superintendent of the Department of Legislation and Petitions, but the canteen story cannot be too often repeated. Each time we read the bill passed by Congress banishing the drink canteen from the army we are renewedly amazed that anyone, whatever his personal opinion might be regarding the use of strong drink, could place such construction upon its words as that of Attorney General Griggs, supported by Ex-Secretary Alger.

Let us here read the bill in the light of this morning in the presence of those whose intellects are strong and whose hearts are moved by highest impulses.

"Section 17. That no officer or private soldier shall be detailed to sell intoxicating drinks, as a bartender or otherwise, in any post exchange or canteen, nor shall any other person be required or allowed to sell such liquors in any encampment or fort or on any premises used for military purposes by the United States, and the Secretary of War is hereby directed to issue such general order as may be necessary to carry the provisions of this section into full force and effect.

Sec. 18. That all laws or parts of laws which conflict which the provisions of this act are hereby repealed.

Fortunately for our cause, the temperance societies and leading temperance people are not alone in condemning such anarchical nullification of law as that portrayed in the reversal of this order. Senator Frye, President of the United States Senate, writes: "I do not believe that the language of the bill is susceptible of the limitation which the Attorney General puts upon it, and I feel that I know that the Senate had no such intention."

Many similar expressions have been given by other leading Congressmen. The religious papers, to a great extent the secular press, the clergy and the religious conferences, all join in condemnation of the action. We cannot wonder at the statement made by a friendly paper in England: "It is humiliating to find the American people so densely ignorant. Senators, Congressmen, lawyers, preachers, editors, college professors and the masses had read the act, and in their blindness supposed that it meant what it said, when to their exceeding surprise and utter humiliation, they are informed by the Attorney-General that it doesn't mean what it says at all."

Y. W. C. T. U.

State Y Secretary has visited the South Marion Y and plans were under headway to visit the Frazier Y, but was postponed on account of the death of Mr. Collins, the father of the President of the Y. Let us pray that God will bind up the broken and bleeding hearts of those dear ones.

Point Isabel was visited from Marion on the 8th and 9th of August. Two evening meetings and one afternoon, where a few of the W's and Y's met and plans for more systematic work among the young people can be accomplished, with such earnest women to help the girls, we hope it may be one of the best in interest and numbers in the State.

On the 14th Greentown, Howard County, was visited, two evening meetings and one afternoon being held, where the Y's were painfully absent, much to the sorrow of the Secretary, who, though she gives her very life, cannot help unless there is co-operation of the workers. The President, Miss Turner, and Y Secretary, Mrs. Lottie Vanbibber, and some interested ladies in the W, held a Conference which we feel was of great value.

Sycamore was next and the last place on the route in Howard County, and it was our privilege to be entertained in the home of Mrs. Outland, the County President. How her heart yearns for the young people to enlist in this grand work! An afternoon and evening meeting was held at Sycamore, but unfortunately the State Secretary was quite ill, and not of as much service as she ought to have been. May it be the good fortune of other sick and tired workers to have the benediction of Mr. and Mrs. Outland's home to rest upon them, and may the children of those noble people rise up and call them blessed.

Goodland, Lowell and Lochiel had to be disappointed on account of Miss Sears' illness, who is still under her physician's care.

Treasurers of local Unions, do all in your power to collect dues from every member in your Union and if it seems an impossibility give a lawn social or something and raise the dues. Our Miss Clara Parrish, National Secretary of Y. W. C. T. U. work, is at home, and let us bring up our membership as welcome home to her. The new Y Almanac will be in the hands of Miss Sears in a few days now. How many does your local Union want? Price 25 cents apiece. Girls, they make lovely birthday or Christmas remembrances, tied with a white ribbon. Send your order soon, as we have a limited number. Be sure and elect your delegates to the State Convention by September 15. Send your President, sure. Pray for our State officers each day till the convention, and for our delegates to be given wisdom to plan the work for the State. Lovingly and prayerfully

CLARA M. SEARS.

EVANGELISTIC DEPARTMENT.

I trust you are all getting your September reports in readiness, for I am anxious that you shall all be heard from in the coming convention. Do not hesitate to report the little things; many fail to send reports because they have so little to report, and thus are counted as dead or asleep. There are many Unions that I have not heard from. Please let me hear from you before the year closes. I received a question circular from our World's and National Superintendent in which she says: "Please do not in any case give an indefinite answer to any question. For instance, it will not do to answer a question in such words 'some,' 'not many,' 'a few,' etc. We must have figures. If you are not able to be exact, please give approximate figures. We are sure you will do all in your power to make these reports a success." In addition to the questions upon the report blanks, please notice the following, as the National Superintendent desires them answered:

Have your Unions emphasized the following lines of work for 1900?

1. Have crusade meetings been held?
2. Have the foundations of our work been prominent in public meetings? Those outlined were our sure and only reliance upon the Holy Spirit and the Word of God; the earnest invitation to a personal Christ; the duty of total abstainers; the presentation of the pledge; the convention evangelistic hour from eleven to twelve a. m.; the noontide prayer. Report any evangelistic work done by your Union not included in the above questions.
3. Has rescue work been prominent?
4. How many temperance addresses have you given before conventions or regular meetings of Christian Endeavor and Epworth League Societies?
5. Have you made effort to restore the Bible to the public schools?
6. How many outdoor services?
7. How many visits made by Union?

You see the desire of our National Superintendent. Let us grant her request by answering as fully as we possibly can the foregoing questions, in addition to the ones on the blanks. I have not been able to write to you as it has been in my heart to do, because I have given so much time to revival work, and have been out of the State eleven weeks besides. Any time that you desire special help, let me know and I will do my utmost to aid you. I trust you are all growing in grace and in the knowledge of God and are being helpful to all about you. "God bless you, and make you a blessing," is the desire of your Superintendent,

ELIZABETH M. HAUGHTON.

THE VALUE PROF. MR. ATWATER'S EXPERIMENTS.

Some twelve months ago, Prof. Atwater began a series of experiments with alcohol on a man under conditions wholly unnatural. The man was shut up in a metal box, careful attention given to ventilation and exercise, and in addition to a diet of wholesome food, two and one-half ounces of alcohol was given him daily for six days. This is the amount usually contained in three glasses of whisky or one bottle of wine, and was given him in six doses: three at meal time and three between meals.

The results of the experiments have been widely published and defended by Prof. Atwater as authoritative and final. He claims that in the case of the man experimented on, the alcohol was oxidized in the body, liberating heat and energy, as sugar, fats and starch, but admits the heat was not stored in the body as in the case of sugar, fats and starch.

The question is purely a scientific one; the issue on which side of an imaginary line shall alcohol be placed? On this particular point Prof. Atwater seems desirous that the children of America be taught the whole truth, and denounced the teachings from the pulpit, Sunday schools and the text-books in the public schools as false and erroneous, because they teach that alcohol is a poison and not a food. In the same article in which he states that alcohol is a food, because in small quantities it is oxidized in the body, he has much to say of the injurious effects of the excessive use of alcohol, saying that it is the most serious problem with which sociologists, physiologists and philanthropists of to-day have to deal.

That alcohol creates an uncontrollable and destructive appetite for itself is a fact too well established to be refuted.

C. A. Green, M. D., says: "I am assured from observation extending through fifty years of professional life, that two and one-half ounces of alcohol (the amount that Prof. Atwater gave to the man in the calorimeter), or the equivalent in the finest brandies, whiskies, wines or ales, used daily for a period of time at all extended, will not fail to make an alcohol habitue of the most finely endowed man or woman in the world."

That alcohol is oxidized in the body, the same can be said of other poisons, such as morphia, strychnia, muscarine, etc., which are oxidized in the body, liberating heat and energy, but other bad effects show that such oxidation proves nothing in their favor, neither does it in alcohol. To state that alcohol liberates heat and energy in the body and to say in that connection no more of its heat and energy producing powers, is to state half-truths. Scientists tell us that an increased number of heat units are evolved by alcohol, but at the same time it so paralyzes the nerves in the walls of the blood vessels that an unnatural amount of blood rushing to the surface is thereby cooled and more heat is radiated from the body of the drinker than alcohol liberates. These easily demonstrated facts leave alcohol no place whatever as a fuel-food. The energy that the oxidation of alcohol in the body liberates is of brief duration, and under such poor nerve control that working ability as a whole is so much impaired by alcohol that business to-day demands total abstinence of its employees.

Therefore, both science and experience deny to alcohol any food values as a supporter of energy.

Prof. C. A. Heurter, chemist, physician and professor of pathological chemistry in Bellevue Medical School, New York, says: "One fails to find any support for the view that alcohol protected the materials of the body like sugar, starch, fats, etc., in the report of Prof. Atwater, according to his own figures."

This view of Prof. Heurter is supported by Prof. Seneca Egbert, M. D., Professor of Physiology in one of the great medical colleges in Philadelphia, also by Prof. Frank Woodbury, M. D., a well-known writer of therapeutics, who is connected with another of the medical colleges of Philadelphia, and Winfield T. Hall, Professor of Physiology in one of the medical colleges of Chicago.

All the evidence offered by Prof. Atwater in support of his charge has been very carefully gone over by leading scientists, representing physiological chemistry, physiology, hygiene and therapeutics, and they are unanimous in showing he did not prove his claim. The half-truths, however, have been eagerly seized upon by the opponents of total abstinence and the liquor organs and one religious periodical, at least, have been widely publishing and circulating them.

A Chicago paper states, that a few days after Prof. Atwater made his report of these experiments before the convention of school superintendents held in that city February 27 to March 1, that Loa Jorgensen answered a charge of disorderly in the East Chicago Avenue Police Courts yesterday, with the plea that he had not been drinking but eating, and as evidence, placed a small half-filled bottle of "food" before Justice Kersten. He was asked what he meant by bringing whisky into the Court. "That is not whisky," said the prisoner, "that is food. I must submit that you cannot send me to the Bridewell for eating too much. Prof. Atwater, of the Wesleyan University, told the Educational Conference that whisky is a food. He says that you cannot deny food value in whisky, and that it is oxidized just like bread and meat. When I read that I got hungry, and went out for a couple of slices of whisky and a piece of brandy." "He had eaten a quart or two before I picked him up," said Policeman Klinger. The Justice adopted the food theory, and discharged the prisoner.

The St. Louis Medical Brief says: "The official announcement of Prof. Atwater is calculated to mislead and do great harm. Therefore the medical profession must exert itself to counteract its influence by teaching the true effects and insidious workings of alcohol in the body."

Most nobly have the physicians responded to the call of the hour in this respect. Since the first of January, leading medical journals of the United States have published long articles and editorials, all affirming that Atwater has not proved that alcohol is a food.

Prof. Atwater has been very unfortunate in his public statements and is everywhere understood to contend that alcohol is a food. He now assigns it a very limited food value, and in his Chicago address stoutly denies ever having called it a food. At great cost of time, money and labor, these experiments have been most carefully and scientifically made. What good has accrued? What the value? Has not an impetus been given our glorious cause? Was there ever such arrest of thought? Ever such great search lights turned upon the subject as now? My sisters! Friends! Out of the conservative East has arisen a giant whose semblance closely bears the marks of one from the camp of the Philistines—tell it not in Gath, his helmet for his head is brass, his coat of mail, and indeed his whole armor is altogether brazen. From a high position this Goliath did arise and go out against the White Ribbon Army and their allies, threatening and defying them, wagging his head and saying, "Aha! I will make short work of you!" Why are you come out to set your battle array? By a master chemical experiment I will break down your fortresses and bulwarks. Worse than wasted, those long years of untiring energy and ceaseless toil expended in securing scientific temperance instruction in the schools. The children of this land must be taught the whole truth concerning King Alcohol, under whose dominion they are. I will prove that the teachings of the pulpit, of the Sunday schools and public schools are false and erroneous."

The White Ribbon army fears not, neither is it dismayed. With an unflinching trust in the leadership of Him who is unerring wisdom, they have gone from conquest to conquest in a way that is wonderful. Again and again have they had occasion to thank God and take courage and rejoice over fields won. Only in December last, in the face of this Goliath's defiance, the grand old state of Virginia wheeled into line and with an overwhelming majority voted Scientific Temperance Instruction for the children of her public schools. One of the great epochs which mark the closing years of the nineteenth century, is the temperance educational movement, which has resulted in the legislative enactments of forty-three states and the National Congress making physiological temperance a compulsory study for over 16,000,000 children of school age in the United States. And I want to tell you, my sisters, that the day of this enactment was a decisive battle, the Waterloo where King Alcohol meets his defeat.

For that wise, matchless woman, who has been so largely instrumental in securing these laws, can we say too much? Can any one conceive of a woman's doing such work unless it be given her of God? Anointed and equipped for this special service, it sometimes seems to me that the mother love of a whole nation had been focused and rolled upon her great heart; so true has she been to this sacred trust. So inseparably has her very life been interwoven in this work for the children of America that I feel it is scarcely a digression, when in this connection I refer to the World's and National Superintendent of Scientific Temperance Instructor, Mrs. Mary H. Hunt. How bravely and how ably, too, has she defended the attacks of Professor Atwater. In her reply to him before the convention of school superintendents in Chicago, after meeting all his arguments, in conclusion she said, "Gentlemen, as to the personal allusions I will only say, I have long since ceased trying to defend myself in this cause. Whoever attempts to advocate an unwelcome truth, which rebukes a popular evil, will find he is treading the paths martyrs have trod. Such an one will be battle-scarred. I make no apology in this presence for having been instrumental in securing the condition in the United States that places 16,000,000 school children under temperance education laws. No one could do that without meeting opposition and of the kind that will turn and strike back. To this I make no reply. A nation saved from the thralldom of strong drink through its schools and school children, will be the abundant reward." Among the women of the nineteenth century there hath not arisen a braver, nobler, truer, than Mary H. Hunt. The same omnipotent hand that has led and guided her all the way will take care of this glorious cause.

From the progressive, breezy, achieving West, God has raised up a David, a man skilled in all the wisdom and learning of two continents, of such colossal intellect and scholarly attainments as to more than equal the Goliath from the East.

This able defender of the truth is Dr. Winfield S. Hall, Professor of Physiology, North Western University Medical School, Chicago.

Side by side with him in scientific research goes his highly educated beautiful wife, who also makes a specialty of Physiology and Hygiene.

In a series of articles, Dr. Hall has gone over the whole question and proved the fallacy of Atwater's experiments and testifies as a specialist in physiology that the physiological teachings of our text books are correct.

Has he not come into the kingdom for such a time as this?

Considering all the arguments which have been presented, there can be no question that Prof. Atwater has the worst of it, and it is not at all necessary to play with the worm of the still to prove that it is dangerous.

TOBACCO AND LIQUOR ARITHMETIC.

"Boy at the head of the class, what are we paying for liquor as a nation?"

"$900,000,000 annually."

"Step to the blackboard, my boy. First take a rule and measure this silver dollar. How thick is it?"

"Nearly an eighth of an inch."

"Well, sir, how many of them can you pile in an inch?"

"Between eight and nine."

"Give it the benefit of the doubt and call it nine. How many inches would it require to pile up these $900,000,000?"

"100,000,000 inches."

"How many feet would that be?"

"8,333,333 feet."

"How many rods is that?"

"505,050 rods."

"How many miles is that?"

"1,578 miles."

"Miles of what?"

—Tobacco Gem.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

Mrs. Mary H. Hunt, National Superintendent of Scientific Temperance Instruction, will be in Indiana in October. She will be at liberty to make addresses between the 7th and 14th of the month. Her terms are $25 and entertainment. Where appointments are made at no great distance apart her terms are $20 and entertainment. Those wishing to secure her services should write at once to Mrs. Pleasant Bond, 1634 Park Avenue, Indianapolis, Ind.

TAKE NOTICE.

There will be four Star Spangled prize banners awarded at our National Convention in Washington. They will be given to Local, County, District and State Unions for the largest net gain of members; that is, the largest gain over and above losses. Subtract the number of members for which dues were paid last year from the number for which dues were paid this year and you will have the net gain.—Union Signal.

ATTENTION! SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS.

September 23 is our next Quarterly Temperance Sunday. Lesson Topic—"The Duty of Watchfulness." Lesson Text—Luke 12:35-46. Read Luke 12:35-5-9. Golden Text—"Watch and Pray, that Ye Enter not into Temptation."

Line of Thought—A warning and command comes to all. Watch!

Please send a detailed report of all work done upon that day under your supervision, immediately after, and I can embody it in the State report, also in the National report. In order to appear in my report, your's must be sent as soon after the 23d as possible.

ALICE G. GEARY,
State Superintendent.

NATIONAL DELEGATES.

The counties making the greatest gain in membership will appoint the National Delegates and their alternates. See minutes. It was the action of last year's Convention.

Treasurers should at once look after the dues. Books close September 25. Every member of the Union should look about her for a new member. How tremendous seems the task to get five thousand new members—how easy when we explain it only takes one member for each of the rank and file, and allow for any who are sick. May the Lord impress us with this duty, get One New Member. One new member for each will give our State a rousing victory, just what we need when the campaign fires rage as now.

In the public meetings held by the W. C. T. U. the singing of "Mother's Bow of Ribbon White," will add greatly to the interest, particularly if sung by a male voice.

A DAY WELL SPENT.

"If we sit down at set of sun,
And count the things that we have done,
And counting find
One self-denying act, one word
That eased the heart of him who heard;
One glance most kind
That fell like sunshine where it went,
Then we may count the day well spent.
But if through all the livelong day
We've eased no hearts by yea or nay;
If through it all
We've nothing done that we can trace
That brought the sunshine to a face;
No act most small
That helped some soul and nothing cost,
Then count that day as worse than lost."
—W. C. T. U. Messenger.

State W. C. T. U. Convention, Frankfort, October 19-23.

National W. C. T. U. Convention, Washington, D. C., November 30 to December 5.

The State Loyal Temperance Legion Convention will be held at Frankfort, Oct. 19-23, in connection with the State W. C. T. U. Convention.

Each Union is expected to send 50 cents to the State Treasurer, Mrs. A. T. Whitson, 3335 North Meridian Street, Indianapolis, to help local Committee of Entertainment at Frankfort.

The National speakers at our State convention will be Mrs. Mary H. Hunt, National and World's Superintendent of Scientific Temperance, and Mrs. Frances E. Beauchamp, President of the Kentucky W. C. T. U. and Assistant Recording Secretary of the National W. C. T. U. Besides these we expect to welcome one of Indiana's faithful workers in past years, Miss Alice Ruth Palmer, one of our 'round-the-world missionaries. Miss Palmer has very recently come to Indiana and is with her mother at Franklin.

Delegates to the State Convention, ask your home ticket agent to have certificates on hand, so that when you buy your ticket to Frankfort and pay full fare, he can give you a certificate, which will entitle you to return home at one-third regular fare.

Each Union is entitled to representation in the annual convention by the president, one delegate-at-large and one delegate for every twenty regular members whose dues have been paid. Special rates will be made at hotels for visiting delegates to the State Convention.

Bring the young people with you to the convention. Youth is energetic and enthusiastic and will get inspiration from a great State convention.

All members of the State Executive Committee and others who arrive in Frankfort on Thursday are expected to bring lunch with them and go to the Methodist church.

Y. W. C. T. U.

The annual reports come in slowly; some of the old Unions not heard from. I am sorry to say the Y's have not made a gain this year. Eleven Y Unions and branches reported organized this year have not paid dues.

There will be a Y conference on Saturday morning and all Y delegates are urged to be on time for the roll call at 8 o'clock.

Miss Maud Baker, an Indianapolis Y and the possessor of a diamond medal, is out organizing and holding medal contests.

Madison County convention was held at Alexandria, Sept. 26 and 27. The young people were enlisted and 15 names secured for a Y Union on Monday evening. Miss Clara M. Sears, State Secretary, returned and organized a Union of 28 members, and the co-operation of the young men made it possible for this Union. President, Miss Agnes Ross; Vice-President, Miss Bessie Bertsche; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Grace Nelson; Recording Secretary, Mr. Edgar Leeson; Treasurer, Mr. Frank Shaul.

Bedford Y, the new organization of July, paid for twenty members.

Goshen Y has increased.

The new State Programs will be at the convention and handed out to the Y workers, so that we may all begin together.

Let every Y Union and Y Branch in the State be represented at Frankfort on Oct. 19. Especially is it desired that you be ready for Saturday morning and also for Saturday night, the Y night.

Spend as much time as possible in prayer for our World, National and State workers and for a special blessing on the Y conference. CLARA M. SEARS.

The following petition has been sent to Washington by the National W. C. T. U.: "Statements are appearing in the public press to the effect that houses of prostitution are being established, maintained and inspected in the Philippine Islands for the use of our soldiers by the consent of the army authorities of those islands or under their direct supervision. We are unwilling to believe that our government will allow to be introduced among the soldiers that infamous system which brought such just contempt upon England when the condition of affairs in India became known to the world. We beg the President of these United States and the Secretary of War to see to it that no such stigma is allowed to attach itself to our beloved land. To this end, the prayer of three hundred thousand members of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union is, that immediate steps may be taken to prohibit the licensing of such houses, or the making of any provision whatever for their existence in any of the territory under the jurisdiction of the United States. We protest with all possible emphasis against our government's regulating vice in any form, and more especially, if that were possible, against anything calculated to foster that crime which degrades its citizens, destroys the purity of the family and deteriorates the race."—Union Signal.

DROP THAT CIGARETTE.

"Drop that cigarette, Mr. Gould," exclaimed E. H. Harriman, chairman of the executive meeting of the board of directors of the Union Pacific railroad, a few days ago. He was speaking to George J. Gould, the millionaire director of the company, the man whose father some years ago made a clean sweep of every director in the corporation, from Charles Francis Adams down, because they had displeased him.

Mr. Gould was astounded. He glanced out of the window of the company's office to see if the world had come to an end.

"I mean it," said Mr. Harriman, severely. "I have just issued an order prohibiting cigarette smoking by any employee of the Union Pacific railroad. You are an employee of the company—you get $10 every time you come here. So kindly put away that cigarette."

Millionaire Gould recovered from the state of daze into which he had been thrown. Then he slowly dropped his cigarette.

Then Mr. Harriman, who objects to smoking of any kind, announced that he thought men should not be directors in companies and make rules for others if they can't obey the rules themselves.—Chicago Times-Herald.

PASS IT ON.

Dr. Sothard is responsible for this gratifying bit of news: At a medical banquet recently held in Philadelphia, two hundred military surgeons used for their drink nothing stronger than Apollinaris water, and that the National Medical Association recently gathered in banquets, numbering thirteen hundred, and not one drop of intoxicating drinks were served. Verily the day for which the temperance hosts have worked and prayed will surely come, perhaps sooner than we think.

THE ARMY CANTEEN.

Surgeon General Sternberg does not believe in the army canteen. He says: "The theory that the soldier needs a beer canteen to keep him from going to outside saloons for something stronger is all wrong. There is nothing in it. On the contrary, a great many young soldiers who are not accustomed to drink, contract drinking habits at these canteens and are ruined. There is no need whatever for intoxicating drinks at these canteens and it will be a good thing for the army if they are abolished."

It is said that beer barrels are now being made with aluminum linings for the protection of the barrels. What is needed is such a contrivance for the beer-drinker's stomach.—Selected.

The coming to Indianapolis on October 8th of Hon. John G. Woolley, Prohibition candidate for President, and other distinguished members of his party in a special train which has been carrying them over the country, was made the occasion for a great all-day Prohibition rally. During the day the meetings were interesting and enthusiastic. At the evening meeting Tomlinson Hall was filled to overflowing with people eager to hear and see the Prohibition candidate. The speakers of the evening were Prof. Samuel Dickie, Attorney Wilson Doan and Hon. John G. Woolley. The Prohibition cause has moved rapidly on. The most conservative friends say this was the greatest day for Prohibition ever known in Indianapolis.

Let us come together strong in purpose and with "faith that makes faithful," never doubting the ultimate victory over the legalized liquor business and its appalling trail of iniquity.

The New Crusade will be known in the future as American Mother.

STATE CONVENTION.

The time for our State Convention at Frankfort is fast approaching. Our hearts thrill as we think of that time of sweet, sisterly association—of the many we love who will be there. We always count on our noble band of State Superintendents to be early. Every County President will be needed. Because she has no special place assigned on the program does not lessen our need of her, nor the obligation she owes her county women to represent them in the State Executive Committee. Every local President will be needed. Let nothing trivial, as we count the things pertaining to the uplift of humanity, prevent a local President from attending. If a woman has been selected as a delegate by her local Union, we want her to feel that the cause needs her best thinking and help at the convention.

Please, dear sisters, do come to Frankfort to help make this convention the very best ever held in our State. Come praying that God will use each one of us for His honor and glory in this warfare against the invaders and despoilers of our homes.

Mrs. Barricklow, Chairman of the Entertainment Committee for our State Convention at Frankfort, has been taken very sick and is unable to serve longer. Mrs. Frances Boyer has been appointed as chairman of the committee in her place.

Send, promptly, the names of all delegates to Mrs. Frances Boyer.

The women of Frankfort are faithfully and loyally working and planning to make our stay in their city pleasant. Visiting delegates will not be entertained, but they can find good accommodations by applying to Mrs. Boyer.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

The Executive Committee will meet October 18, 1 p. m., in the Basement of the Convention Church, entrance at the side door on Wabash Street.

The Board of Superintendents will meet at 7:00 p. m., October 18, in the room to the left out of the Basement.

Y conference Saturday morning, 7:30. Further conferences announced from the platform. L. T. L. conferences announced from the platform.

Treasurers and Secretaries will meet Saturday in Basement, 8:00 a. m.

The counties which elect delegates to the National Convention will meet in their regular seats in the Convention room, 1:00 p. m., October 19.

Prayer meetings each morning from 8 to 9 in Audience Room of the Church, except Saturday morning.

Executive Committee Meeting, Monday morning, 7:45 a. m., in the Basement Room.

The Railroad Secretary will be present on Monday morning to sign certificates. Any one leaving before securing this signature to their railroad certificate cannot receive the reduction in fare.

Miss Elizabeth Fisher, Delphi, will read a ten minutes' paper on Dress Reform, 4:30 p. m., Monday, October 22. This is an hour when teachers and pupils from the High School and city schools can attend.

LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION.

A Legion in the state of Kansas recently published in the daily paper the names of all its members and put a copy in the vault of the city bank, not to be taken out for ten years. At the end of that time it will be interesting to note the status of the members of the Legion. And this reminds us of the fact that one of our Indiana L. T. L's placed a box containing names of pledged members and other data in their city bank in December, 1890, to remain ten years. As the time has nearly expired we hope to hear a very interesting report from their box opening.

We heard of a Legion who has a "kindness meeting" every little while in which the members report acts of kindness they have witnessed.

Mrs. V. F. Cox, National Superintendent Sabbath Observance Department, has ready a card containing a Sabbath pledge and leaflets for use of children and young people. Write her at Tabor, New Jersey.

No L. T. L. worker can afford to overlook the Senior L. T. L. page now appearing monthly in the Union Signal, and edited by our beloved National Superintendent, Helen G. Rice, who makes it helpful and suggestive.

Read it, and send on your own bright thoughts to help others.

The prospects for our coming State League Convention are quite promising. Let us all pray earnestly that this convention may bring a great uplift to our organization; also that the Indiana W. C. T. U. may awaken as never before to their great responsibility of teaching and training the girls and boys.

KATHRIN T. A. STRAW.

ATTENTION, SUPERINTENDENTS!

DEAR SUPERINTENDENTS—In order that superintendents' reports be printed previous to State convention and that extra copies be brought to the State convention for free distribution, it will be necessary for your reports to be in the hands of the Secretary more than five days before the opening of the convention. Now, a word to the wise is sufficient, and I am sure our superintendents are of the wise.

Let county and local superintendents bear in mind that the State constitution says all reports must be in the hands of the Recording Secretary five days previous to State convention, and if there is a little "hurrying up" all along the line, reports, I am sure, will come in nicely.

Now, do not send in reports to your Secretary as they come from the counties, expecting her (or the printer) to compile them, but have them in perfect readiness for the annual report, and then "all things shall work together for good." Yours kindly,

MATTIE O. CAMMACK-GIBSON,
State Recording Secretary.

CONVENTION NOTES.

We feel sure no Union will forget the 50 cents Convention Fund. If you have not sent it, please take it with you. It will be needed.

Delegates will pay for their dinners and suppers; prices, 20 and 15 cents.

Frankfort Union will pay for the dinner and supper on Sunday. The meals will be served conveniently near—place will be announced from platform.

Memorial services Monday afternoon at 1:45 o'clock, Mrs. Culla J. Vayhinger in charge. Please hand the names of your promoted comrades to Mrs. Vayhinger or send them by letter.

RESOLUTION COMMITTEE FOR 1900.

Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, Liberty; Mrs. Margaret M. Smith, Bath; Mrs. Martha Riser, North Manchester; Mrs. Phebe Curryer, Indianapolis; Miss Eliza Baker, Otterbein. Send or hand your resolutions to any member of this committee.

Counties represented in the oratorical contest for a diamond medal: Pike, DuBois, Shelby, Huntington, Morgan, Grant, Marion and Vigo.

TAKE NOTICE.

Our County Secretaries and Treasurers, also local Secretaries and Treasurers, as much as within them to do so, should be at the convention, because of their conference Saturday morning at 8 o'clock.

Chairmen of local committees were announced in the September MESSAGE.

CHAIRMEN OF LOCAL COMMITTEES FOR STATE CONVENTION AT FRANKFORT.

Entertainment, Mrs. Frances Boyer; Lunch, Mrs. Nannie Clark, 458 John Street; Sunday Services, Mrs. Emma Saylor, 600 Walnut Street; Railroad, Mrs. M. E. Baker, 406 E. Armstrong Street; Press, Mrs. Frankie Hinds, 248 West Green Street; Decoration, Mrs. Emma Condon, 603 South Jackson Street; Music, Mrs. Kate Adams, 550 East Walnut Street; Finance, Mrs. Anna Campbell, Washington Avenue, Frankfort, Ind.; Ushers and Pages, Mrs. Angie Morris, Mrs. Minnie Dougherty, Mrs. Emma Carter, West Washington Street; Bus Lines, Mrs. J. W. Lawson, East Walnut Street; Courtesies, Mrs. Elizabeth Dwyer, North Main Street.

PRESS SUPERINTENDENTS.

The people of Indiana are eager and anxious to learn more of the work of the W. C. T. U. and of the progress it is making. The newspapers, of the State stand ready with their open columns to help educate the public all along our lines of work. But we must do our part. Now is the time to appoint Press Superintendents for next year. Let every union consider this of utmost importance. Many strong temperance adherents tell us that they received the first "arrest of thought" through reading some article, item or even sentence pointed with a temperance truth. Many a woman will read with interest the W. C. T. U. items, reports, etc., when she would not think of attending a meeting of the union. The more she reads and hears of the plans and achievements of this great body of women, the greater becomes her respect for the organization itself and thus gradually creeps in a desire to become "one with it" and "lend a hand."

Keep all knowledge of your work from the newspapers and the public will soon conclude that you have died or gone out of business. Keep your work before the people and you will do good and prosper.

Report blanks have been sent to all the county Superintendents and to local Superintendents where there is no county Superintendent. If any one has been overlooked please notify me at once. Will Presidents of local unions without press Superintendents, but where items concerning the W. C. T. U. have appeared (institute write-ups, for instance), in the papers, and kindly report to me the number of columns or approximate number published? The clippings sent from each local union should be pasted in column form on strips of muslin. This the county Superintendent will attach to that received from the other unions and send in one long strip to the State Superintendent. This plan for use of clippings originated in Indiana and was considered so practical by our National Superintendent that this year it was recommended to all states. Our Indiana roll of clippings one column wide measured over seven hundred feet for the last six months of last year, and won for our State the Silver Press Star from the National.

By action of the State Central Committee the length of obituary notices for the MESSAGE is limited to one hundred words.

HADLEY INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

Miss Lucretia Hobart, President, 1101 Virginia Ave., Indianapolis.
Mrs. Maggie Cox, Recording and Corresponding Secretary, Westfield, Hamilton County, Ind.
Mrs. Rebecca Hessong, Treasurer, Nora, Ind.

The Hadley School Managers have been passing through a period of testing of faith and loyalty to Hadley School, but this passage of Scripture comes forcibly to mind: "Whosoever putteth his hand to the plow and looketh back, is not fit for the kingdom of heaven."

We take fresh courage and feel that we are not working in vain. Whatever is done to educate, elevate and christianize the young is not lost. Their minds are plastic and receptive and their souls are imperishable. A knowledge of these facts should inspire to greater efforts. Early impressions are lasting, and we feel that it is imperative that we should select as employees persons of good character and high ideals.

Our day school has started under the leadership of Miss Mary Pearson, of Fairmount, who is a graduate of the same school as was Miss Myrtle Davis, our devoted teacher for last term. Miss Davis is now a missionary in Mexico. We expect good influences and conscientious work to characterize the teaching of Miss Pearson.

Some of our Unions have failed to send in the amount of money expected of them for the support of this school. Such failure means hard times for the providers of this home school. We hope it is a mere oversight and will be corrected in part before State Convention, as we wish to reduce our indebtedness as much as possible before closing our books. Surely all will want a hand in this work of elevation, remembering that it is "more blessed to give than to receive."

LUCRETIA HOBART.

FIELD NOTES.

The Peru Y was entertained at the home of the County President, Mrs. Anna Kilmer. A program and refreshments occupied the evening. A list of the new officers: President, Miss Clara Worl, Peru; Vice-President, Miss Ora Harrison, Peru; Secretary, May Miller, Peru; Treasurer, Bertha Kidd, Peru.

Program Committee—Clayton Dukes, Grace Chandler and Stella Wilhelm.

Leader in Parliamentary Law, Rev. Oliver.

Mrs. Teats, in Indiana, gave thirty-four lectures. Secured ninety-five regular and honorary members and received invitations to come again from most places on her return west. Considers the interest good.

Delaware County has a new President, Mrs. Ella Bond, Muncie. Thirty-three delegates in attendance at the convention.

Knox County has a new President, Mrs. Nellie Virtue Chambers, Westphalia.

Mt. Vernon has not failed to meet weekly and sent out eighty prohibition papers in the county. Date of County Convention, October 5th.

Fulton County held a Gold Contest at its convention and changed its President. Mrs. Jessie Toner is now the officer in charge. Miss Figley, of Pleasant Lake, won the medal.

Mrs. Alma Shaw, of Ashley, is President of Steuben County.

Randolph County elected Mrs. Carrie Tomlinson, Winchester, President. The county has new unions at Ridgeville, Lynn and Carlos City as a result of Mrs. Gibson's two weeks' visit.

Miss Zerrilda Kimberling, Winterrond, will lead the forces of Shelby County this coming year.

Several counties are meeting in convention too late for the October MESSAGE.

Mrs. R. C. Travis, Elkhart, has sent in sixty-four subscriptions to the MESSAGE and ten to the Union Signal.

Miss I. C. DeVelling held eighteen meetings in Johnson County and spent several days in Dearborn county.

The Lebanon Daily Reporter says: "To-day Indiana stands far in advance of every other state in the nation in Institute work. This is due to the unswerving faith of Miss Mary Hadley in the membership of the W. C. T. U., which led her to plan broadly and encourage the doubting to go on, until to-day the W. C. T. U.'s are the wonder and pride of the nation as Institute workers."

Our dear Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley has been very ill for months; has suffered greatly from inflammatory rheumatism; has been unable to walk, but is slowly gaining. She says to tell the loyal women of the State who have written to her, and whose letters are still unanswered, that she will be unable to do any platform work.

In the Recording Secretary's notes of State Central Committee meeting, in last issue, an error occurs, stating that Mrs. Hattie Brand was made State Organizer. The appointment of Mrs. Brand to State Organizer was made at the State convention.

Will the Unions which have not already sent the 50 cents to the State Treasurer for a Local Committee Convention Fund kindly do so at once? This is a free will offering asked of the Unions, by the State convention, to help the local committee in the arduous work of entertaining the State convention. The President of the county that entertains the State convention in October, writes: "We are depending upon the 50 cents to help us out and cannot do without it."

Miss Hadley, who has been working in Boone County, reports that Lebanon Y's will go enmasse to the State convention at Frankfort, and that no brighter nor more interesting young people from any part of the State will grace our annual meeting. Also that Boone County convention, which she attended on September 28, was made a Red Letter Memorial Day as the birthday of Miss Willard. Boone County officers were all elected on the first ballot. She will send a full delegation to the State convention.

Officers of Plainfield Union are Mrs. Sally A. Arills, President; Mrs. Amanda E. Hunt, Secretary and Mrs. Katherine Robbins, Treasurer.

Miami County officers are: President, Mrs. Anna Kilmer, Peru; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Lulu Deickwall; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Mattie Outland, Amboy; Treasurer, Mrs. Carrie Puterbaugh, Peru.

Richmond. Mary F. Thomas Local Union. President, Sarah Childress; Recording Secretary, Mary E. Smith; Corresponding Secretary, Anna M. Doughty; Treasurer, Zilpha Henshaw; Vice-President, Mary J. Little. Election held September 14.

Officers of Loogootee Union. President, Mrs. Susie Major; Treasurer, Mrs. May Moser; Recording Secretary, Virginia McClesky; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. L. C. Brooks.

LOCAL SUPERINTENDENTS.

Evangelistic, Mrs. Beard; Franchise, Mrs. Ehvit; Purity and Mothers' Meetings, Mrs. Sproull; Flower Mission, Mrs. Georgiana O'Brien; Assistant Flower Mission, Mrs. Flora O'Brien; Sunday School, Mrs. Flora Rogers; Box Literature, Susie McClesky and Ida Thomas; Literature and Press, Mrs. M. Moser; L. T. L., Maggie Baker; Scientific Temperance, Harriette McClesky; Organists, Misses Oppelt and K. Campbell.

South Bend Central Union has elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Elmira Staples; Vice-President, Mrs. A. W. Lee; Secretary, Mrs. Mary P. Bugbee; Treasurer, Mrs. Ada Barnard. Superintendents were appointed, the Union taking up twelve departments. We hope to do good work for our cause, believing that God is with us to bless and prosper.

Fulton County convention was held September 14-15 at Rochester. The first evening was devoted to the L. T. L. work, consisting of songs, drills and a "gold medal" contest, all of which was very pleasing and entertaining. The medal was awarded to Miss Maude Cummings, of Kenawa. The second was devoted to convention work. We have but two unions in the county, but both are alive and are doing good work. The convention, throughout, was greatly added to by the presence of Mrs. L. M. Beck, of Bloomington, whose pleasant face and genial comradeship was an inspiration to us all. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Jessie Toner, Kenawa; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. W. S. Shafer, Rochester; Treasurer, Mrs. May Long, Kenewa. The convention closed with a very able address, in the evening, by Mrs. Beck.

Bartholomew County convention was held in Petersburg, September 20. A large number of visitors, as well as White Ribboners, were present and were interested in the work. The morning session opened with devotional service by Mrs. Pervis. After some remarks the election of officers for the ensuing year followed. Officers elected as follows: County President, Mrs. Jennie Guffey, Hope; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. West, Columbus; Treasurer, Mrs. Mattie Steenbarger, Petersburg; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Cummins, Hartsville. The meeting was one of much interest throughout. The work of the different departments was discussed and many suggestions were given to help to carry on the work more successfully during the coming year. One pleasant feature of the convention was the reading of a letter from Mrs. McWhirter, in which she sent greetings to the convention. The forenoon session closed with noontide prayer by the County President, Mrs. Guffey. The afternoon session was opened by Mrs. Rynerson, who read Romans, chapter XII, as a lesson. The afternoon was spent very pleasantly. After the business was concluded an excellent paper on "The New Woman" was read by Mrs. Robert McCullough. This contained some beautiful thoughts. A very pretty, as well as inspiring, musical selection, "Work On, Pray On," was well rendered by Mesdames Wright and Seelig. The convention was a decided success and every W. C. T. U. woman received new inspiration to work with greater zeal during the coming year.

MISS CARRIE STOUT,
County Superintendent Press Work.

Elkhart County Convention was held in the Presbyterian church, at Elkhart. The attendance was good.

Mrs. A. P. Daub, of Goshen, presented the subject: "The Silent Educator," or in other words, "The Press," showing by actual comparison that it is the most important department in the organization.

Mrs. R. C. Travers, of Elkhart and Mrs. Clark Kelly, of Goshen, presented the subject of "Sabbath Observance" in a forcible manner, explaining at length that when the Christians of our country had done their duty the laws of Sabbath observance would not need agitation or enforcement.

The subject of putting a County Organizer in the field was taken up in a general discussion. The idea advanced by the State workers was approved and endorsed by the Convention. The evening lecture was delivered by Mrs. Helen M. Barker, National Treasurer. Mrs. Barker has been in the work for eighteen years and a National Worker of the organization for seven years. Among the many things she spoke of are a few points of interest:

"Some one has said the majority of the people are asleep when a great reform is born.

"As Abraham Lincoln and others held the magic pen that struck the shackles from human slavery, so our great leaders are laying the foundation for the redemption of souls that are bound in as great a bondage as the slaves of that time.

"They who hold in their hands the ballot to-day, hold the power to save."

She told of the many things the mothers of our country are doing to make their homes more sacred.

The closing musical selection was by the Castle quartette, which sang, "Tell Mother I'll be There," and responded to an encore with "Saloonatic."

The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Laura Phoenix, Middlebury; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. M. A. Tompkins, Elkhart; Recording Secretary, Miss E. J. Clark, Bristol; Treasurer, Mrs. A. Z. Vail, Goshen; Press Superintendent, Mrs. A. P. Daub, Goshen.

SUPERINTENDENTS OF DEPARTMENTS.

Christian Citizenship, Mrs. Ellen Richter, Elkhart; Alcoholic Medication, Mrs. J. A. Work, Elkhart; Y Work, Mrs. A. Kaussman, Elkhart; Sabbath Observance, Mrs. R. C. Travis, Elkhart; Systematic Giving, Mrs. R. P. Burton, Elkhart; Franchises, Mrs. C. E. Davis, Goshen; Literature, Mrs. Alice Parker, Elkhart; Mothers' Meetings, Mrs. O. W. Cunningham, Goshen; Scientific Temperance, Mrs. L. C. Tyler, Elkhart; Evangelistic Work, Mrs. Swartz, Nappanee; Subscription to Official Papers, Mrs. Travis, Elkhart.

Steuben County W. C. T. U.—The fifteenth annual convention was held at Hamilton, September 19 and 20. The thought and sentiment of those on the program were most excellent. Mrs. E. M. Houghton was present throughout the convention and gave much valuable assistance. Her evening address was highly appreciated by all who heard her. Every white ribboner in the county laments the fact that Mrs. Willenner, who had served so well and faithfully, could not accept that position another year. The officers for the coming year are: President, Mrs. Alma Shaw, Ashley; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Elma Baker, Hamilton; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Ornelia Matson, Pleasant Lake; Treasurer, Mrs. Josephine Mason, Pleasant Lake. On the last evening was held the medal contest. There were eight contestants. Miss Fegley, of Pleasant Lake, won the medal.

St. Joseph County—The annual convention of the W. C. T. U. of St. Joseph County was held at Spring Brook Park, Tuesday afternoon, September 14. The meeting was called to order by our faithful and devoted President, Mrs. Daisy D. Shoutz, who led the devotional exercises. A pleasing and commendable feature of the convention was the reports of all superintendents of departments, without one report missing. Some interesting papers were read. Mrs. Fastwacht, President of Chapin Park Union, read a paper on "How to Increase Membership." Mrs. Alex. Staples, State Superintendent of Christian Citizenship, gave a talk on the work of her department, and Mrs. Holler, State Superintendent of Sabbath Observance, talked on "Sabbath Day Laws." The following officers were elected: President, Katie Wert Holler; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Viola Fulton; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Paxson; Treasurer, Mrs. A. Bugbee. The ladies ate supper in the park and all went home with a feeling that St. Joseph County has done a great deal of good, practical work in the year just closed. Our Jail Superintendent, Mrs. Zack Johnson, has organized the work in her department and each Sunday a gospel temperance meeting is held in the county jail with remarkable good results. We deeply regret that Mrs. Shoutz, who has labored so earnestly and devotedly among us as County President, cannot serve us any longer in this capacity. We are also proud of our new officers, for they are women who have been "tried and not found wanting."

St. Joseph County reports show a great deal of good work being done. We have 69 members, 8 honoraries, 56 regular meetings held and six called meetings; $10 given to Industrial School and $4.50 to Epworth Hospital; $230.63 was raised from all sources. Seventy thousand Sabbath Observance leaflets were printed in South Bend, many of them being distributed in the county. Flower Mission report includes 678 visits to the sick, 426 bouquets given, besides plants, floral pieces, delicacies for the sick, provisions and clothing. Visits were made to the jail, county house, Orphans' Home and Epworth Hospital on Flower Mission day, June 9, and at Christmas time. The following is from the Union Signal: "Flower Mission may mean distribution of Bibles, clothing, fruits and fuel. It may mean sitting up of nights with the sick or sorrowing, making scrap-books for children, furnishing boots and shoes, boat and buggy rides, songs and sermons. In short, it may mean the Golden Rule in beautiful action, shedding upon the pathway of life the fragrance of loving kindness."

Miami County convention was held at Peru. Reports of Superintendents very fine. Miss Alice Dunlap was present and told something of the World's convention at Edinburgh, Scotland. On the first evening a gold and a silver medal contest were held. The audience was large. On the second evening a lecture by Mrs. Retta Jones, President of Madison county, which gave great satisfaction. Miss Clara Sears, State Y Secretary, made an address. She won the hearts of all. A reception followed; light refreshments were served. The city quartet furnished excellent music. A unique feature was a convention register with a beautiful frontispiece tied with white ribbon. The register shows that many sections of the county were represented and also other counties. Mrs. Anna Kilmer thinks the very best of everything must be used for the W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Frank Anderson, of Zionsville, writes: "Miss Mary Hadley has been with us in two days' work, coming on Saturday evening. We held a mass meeting Sunday afternoon, and Monday afternoon a social meeting of the ladies was held, which was quite helpful, and three new members were added to our Union. On Monday evening Miss Hadley gave a lecture on 'The Hidden Path of Alcohol Revealed,' which was well received."

Clinton County W. C. T. U. annual convention was held at Manson, Tuesday, September 18. Our county is composed of eight Unions. Every Union sent delegates except Circleville. We held a very enthusiastic convention. Neat printed programs were distributed over our county several weeks before the convention. The reports of the Unions and Superintendents showed much good work had been done and good seed sowed along the different lines of work. Several papers were read bearing on the work and discussions followed, and thoughts were exchanged in which good plans were laid for future work. Our officers are: President, Mrs. Emma Sayler, Frankfort; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Laura Osterdy, Mulberry; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Lizzie Dwyer, Frankfort; Treasurer, Miss Ada Vansickle, Jefferson. Our County President conducted a Silver Medal contest in the evening. The class was a mixed one, composed of young ladies and gentlemen of Manson. The music was fine and was rendered by the young people of Manson, consisting of solos, duettes, etc. The Misses Honen entertained the audience while the judges were out, and words of praise were heard on every side. The judges awarded the medal to Miss Anna Stafford. Subject of recitation, "Questions and Answers in regard to Woman's Suffrage." The contest was a success, both in attendance and financially. All the sessions were well attended.

The fourteenth semi-annual convention of the W. C. T. U. of Martin County met in regular session in the M. E. Church at Loogootee, Sept. 20 and 21, with a goodly number of members and visitors present.

Mrs. Beauchamp, State President of the Kentucky W. C. T. U. and Assistant National Recording Secretary, was present to aid in the work of the convention. The program was full at each session and Mrs. Beauchamp was an inspiration through all.

Miss Susie Majors, our earnest and active Local and County President, was again unanimously elected to her office, which she so ably fills.

The county officers are: President, Miss Susie Majors, Loogootee; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. S. C. Brooks, Loogootee; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Mary Williams, Shoals; Treasurer, Mrs. H. Harryman, Shoals.

Of Mrs. Beauchamp a Loogootee paper says: "Mrs. Beauchamp is a woman of fine personality and gentle bearing, a thoroughly womanly woman, and in presenting the subject displayed rare talent. Her fluency of speech and able reasoning, combined with that gentle, quiet manner, left none in doubt as to the meaning of what she intended to portray. She showed how the tobacco habit among our youth and men of to-day is as great a menace to the Anglo-Saxon race as the liquor traffic."

County Superintendents—Franchise and Mothers' Meetings, Mrs. Mary Moser; Scientific Temperance, Miss Harriette McClesky; Sunday School, Miss F. Eastman; Literature, Mrs. Mary Williams; Social Purity, Miss S. Majors; Sabbath Observance, Mrs. E. Thomas; Flower Mission, Miss E. Williams; Jail and Prison, Mrs. Netta Eastman; Evangelistic, Mrs. Lisman.

Howard County convention was held at Kokomo, September 22 and 23. The interest was good and the attendance encouraging. The old officers were all re-elected. Mrs. Rounds, President of the Illinois W. C. T. U., was the guest of the county. She preached at the Congregational church Sunday morning. Subject "Fidelity." Text in Ruth. Lesson from Naomi, Ruth and Orpha. Ruth represented the faithful church member, Orpha as the backslider. It was an excellent sermon. It touched nearly every heart in the audience, if putting the handkerchief to the eyes is any sign. The pastor in introducing her said that she would preach. "When she arose she said, 'I am not a preacher, i. e., I have never been ordained by the laying on of hands by any man, but rather I'll just talk a little.' After she was through the pastor said, 'I seldom have the privilege of hearing such an excellent sermon. God makes no mistakes when He ordains.' This from a Congregationalist pastor carries weight. This same pastor, Rev. Choate, is an honorary member of the W. C. T. U. In the evening she lectured in the Grace M. E. church on "The Five Bars," "Conscience," "Justice," "Court Room or Legal," "Saloon" and "The Bar of God." She handles the subject fine, without mentioning any names of people or party, but some were pretty warm politicians, but I think she did much good. We were well pleased with her. Our county work is in the best shape it has been for some time. We have gained quite a number of members over last year. Mrs. Teats brought in quite a number, both regular and honorary. Our women understand the work better now than ever before. Mrs. Outland organized a new Union at Sycamore September 20. They sent in the dues for three before the State books closed, and more have paid in since. This rejoices us.

IGNORANCE IS NEVER INNOCENCE.

From an interesting article by Irma B. Matthews in the Home Magazine, the following is taken for Home Life readers, with the hope that both fathers and mothers may be guided by the kindly advice contained therein:

"Ignorance is not innocence. Many children have been ruined, not because they were not innocent, but because they were ignorant. Mothers, pardon me if I speak plainly. This is a subject I feel deeply on. You warn your children of the drink habit, but the worst vice on the face of the earth you keep silent on. You send your boys and girls into the world, where there is a terrible evil before them and you send them blindfolded, trusting that some instinct may preserve them from danger. Is this right? You say that you cannot talk to your children about such things. Believe me, if you don't, some one else will. Your silence may prove the downfall of your child. Children who are given a mother's confidence are not likely to listen to idle stories from playmates. Why should they? There are no 'secrets' for them to learn. Think of these things, mothers. Please God, when my girl goes out into the world she will not fall into the clutches of the evil one because her mother has not warned her. Ignorance can never be innocence."

If you think you can not talk to your children as you should, get some good literature for yourself and them. Read the New Crusade or Child Confidence Rewarded and have your children read "What a Boy Ought to Know," or "What a Girl Ought to Know."

Parents, have you forgotten your own experiences? Have you never found yourselves placed at a disadvantage through ignorance of things which your father or mother should have taught you? Do not repeat their folly. Be wise in the matter of building the character of your child.

The County and Local Secretaries and Treasurers will meet in conference in the basement of the convention church on Saturday at 8 A. M. We greatly desire that everyone holding either of these positions will be there and be on time. These are very important conferences.

ROTTED OFF BY BEER.

This is not a temperance treatise, but it has a bit of fact in it that the total abstainer may show to the beer drinker, whenever occasion offers, says the New York Mail and Express.

The attention of the New York hospital surgeons has been called to the big number of bartenders that have lost several fingers of both hands within the past few years. The first case was that of an employe of a Bowery concert hall. Three of the fingers of his right hand and two of his left hand were rotted away when he called at Bellevue one day and begged the doctors to explain the reason. He said that his duty was to draw beer for the thousands who visited the garden nightly. The man was in perfect health otherwise, and it took the young doctors quite a time to arrive at any conclusion. But they did finally, and it nearly took the beerman's breath away when they did.

"Your fingers have been rotted off," they said, "by the beer which you have handled."

Other cases of a similar nature came rapidly after this one, and to-day the physicians estimate there is an army of employes of saloons whose fingers are being ruined by the same cause. The acid and resin in the beer are said to be responsible.

The head bartender of a well known downtown saloon says he knows a number of cases where beer drawers have, in addition to losing several fingers of both hands, lost the use of both members.

"Beer will rot iron, I believe," he added. "I know, and every bartender knows, that it is impossible to keep a good pair of shoes behind the bar. Beer will rot leather as rapidly as acid will eat into iron. If I were a temperance orator I'd ask what must beer do to men's stomachs if it eats away men's fingers and their shoe leather? I'm here to sell it, but I won't drink it—not much."

And yet men, women and children drink it, call it harmless, exalt, socially, politically and religiously those who make it and sell it, call us bigots, narrow, unreasonable and make wry faces at us for crying out and warning the people against this poison.—The Gleaner.

SOME INTERESTING STATISTICS AND FIGURES.

Amount expended annually for strong drink, $1,200,000,000.

IN MEMORIAM.

On September 2, 1900, Mrs. Anna Smith, of Rochester, went home to meet her God and the grown daughter who preceded her seven years ago to the spirit world and for whom she never ceased to yearn. Mrs. Smith was one of the oldest and most tenderly beloved of our Rochester W. C. T. U. The organization feels its loss deeply and desiring to express the same, the following resolutions were ordered published.

[Most beautiful and appropriate resolutions have been received and we regret that for lack of space we omit them.]

The Official Route for the Indiana delegation will be via Big Four and Chesapeake & Ohio lines. Leaving Indianapolis, November 27th at 6:20 P. M. via the Big Four Railway to Cincinnati, from there via the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway to Washington City. The connection at Cincinnati is direct, so we arrive at Washington, November 28th at 3:30 P. M. making the entire trip in about 22 hours from Indianapolis.

A through White Ribbon sleeper to Washington from Indianapolis will be provided for our party, at a rate of two dollars for each passenger—two in a berth. Persons joining our party at Cincinnati can secure reservations in our sleeper by writing immediately. The rate from Cincinnati will be $1.50 each, two in a berth.

After leaving Cincinnati the Chesapeake railroad runs across the northeastern part of Kentucky and through both of the Virginias, crossing heart of the picturesque Alleghenies and a land made famous by incidents of the civil war, including the Shenandoah Valley and the regions of the noted Sulphur Springs and the Natural Bridge.

We anticipate a delightful trip and a splendid convention. Our party will have more than a day to visit points of interest in Washington before the opening and two days after the close of the convention. We will all want to spend a few hours going down the Potomac to Mt. Vernon, Washington's old home.

All White Ribboners and friends who desire to join our party are cordially invited to do so. In order to go with us, make arrangements early with local railway agents for tickets over the official lines and write immediately for sleeper reservations, and particulars to,

Yours most cordially,
LUELLA F. McWHIRTER.

The new business manager of the MESSAGE is Mrs. Clara Balch, the efficient, energetic, practical daughter-in-law of Mrs. Mary E. Balch. In your correspondence with her you will find her courteous and prompt. Although a young mother, she is the possessor of a diamond medal and has held more medal contests this year than any other one person in Indiana.

The climax of ambition of the woman who keeps up to date in good living and household economics is to have the latest, daintiest and best things for her boudoir; so she goes to George Merritt's, 500 West Washington street, Indianapolis, and procures one of those inimitable Health Comforts in silkline, satin or China silk.

Indiana's new State President, Mrs. Eunice P. Wilson, has served Grant County as President for fifteen years. She is a woman of rare executive ability and spiritual power. Grant County Convention is like a small State Convention. To see Mrs. Wilson preside over it reminds you of how our departed leader, Miss Willard, presided over a convention. Mrs. Wilson is a friend and a woman of genuine worth, greatly beloved in her county. She will serve Indiana in a loyal, able manner. In the National Executive Committee she will be a credit to us, and will be loved by those who know her. In her behalf I ask the same loving sympathy and loyalty that you have shown me in the past, and feel sure that with this she will be encouraged to her best endeavor. LUELLA F. McWHIRTER.

Indiana's plan, as wrought out for the coming year, are in a most important sense the fruition of her desires for more than a decade of years. We believe we have made a stride forward in the direction of intelligence and permanency in our work which cannot be measured.

Our State organ, the MESSAGE, which has grown in favor from year to year as an inexpensive, up-to-date four-page monthly, giving in concise and briefest fashion our Department work, plans, announcements, and field work, etc., together with a broad recognition, yet brief gleaning from the work at large, is now to be placed in the hands of every member who pays one dollar annually into the treasury of her local union. The dollar to be so divided as to contribute to local, county and State treasuries and to cover a year's subscription to the State paper.

This fruition of effort, extending through many years, we cannot forget is only a consummation of the first and constant thought of our beloved leader,

Miss Willard, who said that each state should have a paper for state work so inexpensive that it could be placed in the hands of every member, and that the Union Signal, as our National organ, should contain the general news and more elaborate discussion of the various phases of our work.

An L. T. L. contest is to be held by each local union within the first quarter of our W. C. T. U. year, the net proceeds to be contributed to the support of our Industrial School.

Our Institute Plan, which has proven so helpful as an educator, and in building up our ranks, has been re-endorsed with the slight, but important, modifications recommended by the Superintendent of the department.

The changes provide for a more specific training for the membership, greater economy of means and vital force and for a broader plan for reaching the masses.

This year, Indiana has made a Missionary Campaign in Institute work, reaching out to unorganized territory. The results have been excellent, as shown by the following summary:

	W's Added.	Y's Added.	Honorarys Added.	Total Members Added.	Subscriptions to MESSAGE.	Subscriptions to Union Signal.	Subscriptions to Young Crusader.	Unions Organized.
Sec. 1, and $\frac{1}{2}$ of Sec 4, H. Brand, Leader, 11 $\frac{1}{2}$ weeks' work...	144	32	5	181	61	11	...	9

It was a trial of our faith and a deep felt bereavement when our much loved President laid down the gavel, not to take it up the coming year, but it was cause for gratitude that we had a woman of clear brain and warm heart in the person of Mrs. Eunice P. Wilson, of Fairmount, Indiana, to fill the vacated place and move forward in the work. All the former officers were re-elected on the first ballot and will most loyally co-operate with our new President. The love and appreciation for the retiring President found expression in the gift of a beautiful gold watch from the W's, and in some dainty and choice books from the Y's. Our National guests were Mrs. Mary H. Hunt and Mrs. Frances E. Beauchamp and were most helpful in the Convention. The address of Mrs. Beauchamp at the Mass Meeting on Sunday afternoon will long be remembered by those who heard it, for the vivid portrayal of the condition of the church to-day, as the result of the liquor traffic in this country. The lecture of Mrs. Hunt on the last evening of the Convention was instructive, able and convincing. Our cause in the city of Frankfort and throughout the State has been greatly advanced by this most enthusiastic and splendid Convention. MARY HADLEY.

ATTENTION.

Counties having local Unions should have no county officers. Dues should be sent direct to the State Treasurer by local Treasurers, until other Unions have been organized and a County Union effected.

The State Convention voted that the State should furnish all the County Presidents and State Superintendents with a free copy of the National Minutes.

It also voted to ask every county to furnish every County Superintendent and every Local President with a free copy of the State Minutes.

Following this line, how many of the local Unions will furnish the rest of the Local Officers and all the Local Superintendents with a free copy?

Please send orders at once, as the minutes will soon be ready to be sent out. All orders should be accompanied with the money. The printer should have his money as soon as the work is done. So please be prompt.

Price of minutes, including postage, 15 cents. If sent by express, C. O. D., 10 cents per copy.

A list of the counties having ordered the minutes and the number ordered will be printed in the next issue of the MESSAGE. The same will also be placed opposite the name of your County Union in the next annual minutes.

In sending in your order, do not fail to tell how many goes into each individual Union, and whether all Local Officers and Local Superintendents are supplied with a copy.

All orders and money for minutes should be sent to the State Treasurer, Mrs. AMANDA T. WHITSON, 3335 North Meridian street, Indianapolis.

PREMIUMS FOR THIS YEAR'S MEDAL WORKERS.

The County or Medal Worker who will hold four Diamond Contests will be entitled to a Grand-Gold Medal, or a set of Miss Willard's books free.

The County or Medal Worker who will hold five Grand-Gold Contests will be entitled to a Small-Gold Medal, or a life-size picture of Miss Willard, framed, free.

The County or Medal Worker who will hold five Small-Gold Contests will be entitled to any Silver Medal free.

Any one holding five Silver-Medal Contests shall have a life-size picture of Woolley and Metcalf.

Anyone who will hold five Contests with boys or young men shall receive a year's subscription to the Union Signal, The New Voice or Patriot Phalanx, as they prefer. Work to begin November 1, 1900 and close October 1, 1901.

It is a great injustice to contestants not to give them opportunity to complete their course and receive their diplomas. Let us do so this year.

MARY E. BALCH,
State Superintendent.

No. 711 E. 11th Street, Indianapolis.

OUR YEAR'S PLAN OF WORK.

Dear Sister, it is not a self-acting plan; it will do nothing for us laid away in a drawer, up on a shelf or thrown into a waste basket. You must read it; study it, think over it and work it out. Read it in the Union, discuss it. Resolve to carry it out as a whole. Grow ambitious to win the premiums. See that every member has a copy—with the fear of God and the need of humanity before us let us do our best. Please write me what you think of the plan.

MARY E. BALCH.

Our first work is for the school. Do not delay. Three premiums offered. The one sending money from contest in first, the one sending the first amount equal to ten dollars, and the one sending in the largest amount.

SECTION 7. Duty of Unions—Contingent Fund. Unions shall hold one L. T. L. Silver Medal contest during the first quarter of the year, October, November and December, taking the usual ten cents admission fee and after deducting the price of the medal and tickets, send the balance of the proceeds to the Treasurer of the Board. No other calls should be made on the Union by the school that year. If on account of storms or epidemics or like misfortune the contest proves a failure financially, it shall be the duty of the Union to repeat it within thirty days or the first favorable opportunity.

Institutes to be held on a plan similar to that of last year, but with a view to greater efficiency and intelligent fidelity to our cause; greater increase in membership in organized Unions; better organization in new territory; better financial economy and economy of vital force, and with a view to better reaching the masses which convene in the various churches on the Sabbath day, we recommend the following modifications of the institute plan:

1. That two institutes, of two and one-half days each (including one-half day of semi-annual convention), and one day (or two half-days) be a day of rest for the workers, thus allowing them to engage in Sabbath service with their normal vitality, or to make a timely transit to the next point when the railroad service is not favorable.

2. That the first meeting of each institute be a business conference of the members with the leader, for mutual help in perfecting plans vital to the work following.

3. That the last meeting be a social meeting or reception for the new members secured, to which probable or honorary members shall be invited, or if a Union has been hastily organized during the preceding meetings, a part of this time may be given to instructing the officers and members; or, if found more necessary and helpful to the local work, the workers may give the time to calling on and enlisting the co-operation, and if possible, securing the membership of leading citizens of the place, or in otherwise gathering up the fragments and confirming the work, that nothing be lost.

4. That the county officers shall be assistants in institutes, a specific part of the work conducted by each official being as follows:

The County President shall be Chairman of a Committee, composed of all her Local Presidents, who shall have charge of the program, of advertisements, of enlisting and enrolling membership and of courtesies.

The County Corresponding Secretary shall be Chairman of a Committee composed of all the Local Corresponding Secretaries, who shall have charge of Invitations and Refreshments.

The County Recording Secretary shall be Chairman of a Committee composed of all of the Local Recording Secretaries, on recording the work in the County record and reporting helpful features of it to the different Local Unions.

The County Treasurer shall be Chairman of a Committee composed of the Local Treasurers, who shall receive or collect dues from new members and those in arrears.

The County Superintendent of Press Work shall be Chairman of a Committee of Local Press Superintendents, whose duty it shall be to promptly report the work of the Institute in Local, County, State or other papers read in their respective towns or communities and to co-operate with the County President as Chairman of Committee on Advertisements.

The County Superintendent of Medal Work shall be Chairman of a Committee of Local Superintendents of Medal Work, who shall timely arrange every detail necessary to a successful contest on the second evening of the Institute. If this contest should be placed in the hands of the Local Superintendent of Medal Work residing at the point where the Institute is to be held, this Committee will be available to give her whatever co-operation she may deem necessary.

The Flower Mission Superintendent shall be Chairman of a Committee of Local Superintendents on Decoration and Music, who shall give necessary co-operation to the local workers in charge.

Other County Superintendents shall lead their respective Committees of Local Superintendents as the success of their departments and the work as a whole, may require.

Branch Secretaries of the Y's and L. T. L. shall be leaders for the young people, who should have a part in every program.

Should there not be material to fill all committees as indicated above, or should there be failure of any committee to act, it shall be the privilege and duty of the County President to set other forces in motion, that the work in hand may not be hindered.

We recommend that the financial plan be so modified that one-half of any excess above $10.00, which may accrue from contests and collections at Institutes, be turned over to the County Treasury and the other half to the Institute Missionary Fund. That all or any excess, above the $5.00 designated by the State for Sabbath service, be turned over to the Local Treasury of the Union where the Institute is held.

That each Institute leader be available to at least one Sabbath service and not to exceed two.

Organized counties choose their own place for Institute.

Whereas, we have decided to make the L. T. L. a special work this year, we recommend:

That each W and Y shall elect a Secretary of L. T. L. Branch and place her in communication with the State L. T. L. Secretary and Y Secretary.

That each Union is urged to form a class of its members for the study of the L. T. L. Quarterly Temperance Lesson Manuals with a view to graduating by next State meeting.

That we urge earnest effort on the part of each Union to enroll the children in their community, from birth to six years of age, in the L. T. L. Infant Grade Circle, by payment of ten cents annual dues—six cents of which shall remain in the W. C. T. U. Treasury and be used to procure literature suitable for mothers and small children and four cents sent to the State L. T. L. Secretary for State and National L. T. L. dues.

That each Union organize a Loyal Temperance Legion and appoint a committee to conduct it, of which committee the L. T. L. Secretary shall be the chairman.

NATIONAL DELEGATES.

Group counties and choose National delegates as in former years.

SIX PAPERS OF NOTE.

No. 1. "Bible Proof for Teaching Abstinence." Chairman of Committee, Mrs. Nellie Virtue Chambers, Westphalia.

No. 2. "Great People Who Were Abstainers." Chairman, Mrs. E. D. Hardy, Goodland.

No. 3. "Startling Incidents of the Evil Effects of Social Drinking." Chairman, Mrs. Laura M. Thompson, Greensburg.

No. 4. "Victories in 1900 in Our Reform." Chairman, Mrs. J. K. Carpenter, 152 East Berry street, Fort Wayne.

No. 5. An L. T. L. story of 1,500 words. Chairman, Mrs. Hattie Brand, 1403 Ash street, Indianapolis.

No. 6. "Personal Reminiscences in W. C. T. U. Service." Chairman, Mrs. Sophia Toner, Martinsville.

These papers not to be over ten minutes long, to be written by any White Ribboner, to be in the hands of the Chairman by August 15, sending stamps for return postage.

The Chairman will select two others and judge on the merits of the papers received, notifying the Corresponding Secretary of the number of papers prepared and sending subject and name and address of the writer of the paper considered to be the best, by August 25. These papers to have a place on the State program.

MEMORIAL DAYS.

When not observed in regular form, read papers on them in the regular meetings of the Union in the order in which those days occur. Papers to be written by some member of the Union and not to take over fifteen minutes' time.

JUNE 10, DEMOREST MEMORIAL DAY.

Unions will hold an Anti-Narcotic Silver Medal Contest, using the necessary amount of the proceeds to procure a W. C. T. U. speaker in the county for the Public School institute, each Union paying its portion of the expense.

TO UNIONS.

Any Union having doubled its membership over last year's paid list shall have five minutes before the convention to report its activities. This report may be given by any one of its delegates present. The Union may not delegate this privilege to another Union or visitor.

GAIN IN MEMBERS.

The Union having made a gain of ten paid, regular members at the end of the second quarter's report, over the paid list of last year, as shown by the Treasurer's report in the Annual Minutes, may have one day's service free, by a State worker en route, and this work will be done in July and August, as far as possible.

HONORARY MEMBERSHIP.

The Union having made the greatest gain in honorary members shall be presented with Miss Willard's "Glimpses of Fifty Years," at the annual convention.

TO THE MEMBERSHIP.

All members of a local Union who will answer at least fifty per cent of the questions in the MESSAGE, the Annual Minutes, the Union Signal and the Annual Leaflet, and a few leading questions as to what our temperance education law requires and what can be done to secure the best enforcement of it, also similar questions pertaining to our anti-narcotic law, shall have their names printed in our Annual Minutes of 1901. Examination papers to be sent to the Recording Secretary, who will prepare the list and report the same to the convention and publish in the Minutes. This will necessitate the careful reading and study of these documents. List of questions to be published in the MESSAGE. Do not wait to begin the reading and study until the questions are given—that is not necessary.

PROGRAMS.

Local Unions shall prepare a program for the year's meetings, type-written or printed, and bring a copy of the same to the annual convention, where they will be placed on the program table, and a committee of three will be appointed in the ante-executive to decide on the first, second and third best, to whom premiums shall be given.

PUBLIC MEETINGS.

Take collections at all public meetings, and the Union reporting the largest amount as the sum of the year's collections shall receive a copy of the Beautiful Life of Miss Willard. Distribute literature at all public meetings.

HONOR ROLL.

There shall be an Honor Roll on the last page of the MESSAGE, where each county, whose every Union has a W. T. P. A. agent, shall be enrolled, and it will be a greater honor to be No. 1 on this roll than to be No. anything else.

FOR THE HADLEY INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

IN HARMONY WITH THE BY LAWS PASSED IN THE INTEREST OF OUR SCHOOL.

Unions will hold an L. T. L. contest during the months of October, November and December, taking from the 10 cent fee at the door the price of the tickets and medals; the balance shall be sent to Treasurer of the Board, Mrs. Rebecca Hessong, Nora, Marion County, Ind. The Union sending in first report of contest with money, and first Union sending in an amount equal to $10.00, and the Union sending in the largest amount will each receive a premium. The Unions which hold this contest will not be called on during this year for further service financially for the school. Let no Union fail to carry out this by-law.

HADLEY INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

Miss Lucretia Hobart, President, 1101 Virginia Ave., Indianapolis.
Mrs. Maggie Cox, Recording and Corresponding Secretary, Westfield, Hamilton County, Ind.
Mrs. Rebecca Hessong, Treasurer, Nora, Ind.

ARTICLE VIII.

ELECTING THE BOARD OF HADLEY INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL DIRECTORS.

SECTION 1. The annual meeting shall elect the nine members of the W. C. T. U. Hadley Industrial School Board of Directors in the following manner: Tellers having been appointed by the Chair, an informal ballot shall be cast for the President, Secretary and Treasurer of the Board separately and the convention shall then proceed to vote by ballot for the persons thus nominated. Economy would locate these women as near each other and as near the school as possible, the State having been divided into six permanent divisions, to be known as Hadley Industrial School districts Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6. The convention will elect by rising vote one woman for each district. Nominations to be made in open convention. These persons will be known as the solicitors, or the soliciting members of the Board.

SEC. 2. Duties of Solicitors. An estimate shall be made of the necessary amount for the current year's expenses of the School and it will be the duty of each of these six solicitors to collect their portion of this sum. As much more as they will collect will be to the advantage of the school and their profit.

SEC. 3. The Solicitor's Remuneration. The solicitor shall receive ..... per cent of all moneys collected and on pledges the same per cent when the pledges have been paid into the treasury of the Board. On endowments the same per cent pro rata when the Board has invested the endowment and receipts come in on the investment. The solicitor shall report monthly to the Treasurer of the Board on the blank furnished, turning all money, pledges and endowment over to the Treasurer of the Board, who will settle with the solicitor monthly as per date of blank furnished for that purpose.

SEC. 4. Duty of Central Committee. If vacancies occur in the Board during the year, caused by resignation, removal, death or failure of duty, the Central Committee shall be empowered to fill such vacancies within thirty days time.

SEC. 5. Limiting Expenses. The Board shall not add to the ordinary current expenses of the year by improvements, additions to the school or increase in number of helpers without consulting the Central Committee.

SEC. 6. The President, Secretary and Treasurer of the Board shall receive ..... per day, for every day's actual service and all actual expenses. This outlay shall be considered a necessary part of the running expenses of the school.

FIELD NOTES.

The Parke County W. C. T. U. convention was held in Friends' Church at Bloomington. An interesting and instructive session. Election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. May T. Lindley, of Bloomington; Vice-President, Mrs. Lou M. Spray, of Bloomington; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Martha Church, of Bloomington; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Nora Rubottom, of Marshall; Treasurer, Mrs. Emma Mills, of Marshall.

Alice E. Waugh, Tipton, sent regrets that they could not attend State Convention. Tipton Union holds monthly meetings and Mrs. Waugh has great hope for the county's organization next year.

We received the Huntington papers, in which Miss Pearl Rall, as W. C. T. U. Press Reporter, had a write up of our late convention at Frankfort, and their county convention at Roanoke. Both were so excellent we sent the papers on to Mrs. May Moser, Loggotee, our State Superintendent of that department.

The Worthington W. C. T. U. mourns the loss of Mrs. Rachael Pullen, who died in August. She was one of their most loyal, faithful members. A daughter is left alone.

The father of Miss Cora J. Parr, Alton, came to his death by accident on the 17th of October. He was at work in the woods with his son and fell, striking his head in such a way as to cause almost instant death. Miss Parr has the sympathy of her co-workers.

Mrs. Eva Munson Smith, Illinois, won the National prize banner for the most contests held by one person—67.

Marion Central Union called the first meeting to report the State Convention. Delegates were all present and a very enthusiastic meeting was held October 29.

WOMAN'S ENFRANCHISEMENT.

Now as the swinging gates of time are closing upon the 19th century and opening to admit the 20th, let us count the gains of fifty years—an evolution of women unexampled in the annals of civilization, freedom of thought, speech and action secured; admission to education, industry and the professions obtained; rights of person, property and earnings established; the laws regulating the marriage relation partially reformed; school committee suffrage established in four States—full suffrage in four States—partial suffrage in twenty-three States, and public opinion enlightened and liberalized.

The Methodist women have practically secured equal representation in the lay electoral and general conferences, after a twelve years battle. The women of Annapolis were allowed to vote for the first time this year, and the women of West Australia have lately obtained full parliamentary suffrage. These are the foundations laid, upon which the twentieth century will build full enfranchisement for women in both England and America and peradventure in many other nations of the world.

"Let us then be up and doing
With a heart for any fate,
Still achieving, still pursuing,
Learn to labor and to wait."

We very much desire that every woman that believes in woman's enfranchisement in the State of Indiana would labor now for the next two months in circulating the Enrollment petition—have them type written or copied with a type writer in their own respective counties, and sent to me (as it is too late for me to do all that work), before the General Assembly of Indiana meets in Indianapolis, next January.

The second thing—raise some money wherewith to defray the Legislative expenses. Send that to Mrs. Amanda T. Whitson, our State Treasurer, and use the press as far as possible in every town and county in the State.

Will not all the Local Unions appoint a competent Press Superintendent, to prepare and secure franchise articles and have them printed in the local papers? The press is the University for the people. Remember I stand ready to assist any who may apply to me for help.

M. A. TOMPKINS,
State Superintendent Franchise.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS.

November 25 is World's S. S. Temperance Sunday. Make announcement of that fact in all secular and religious papers. Special programs for the Sunday School hour are prepared for that day by the National Superintendent, Mrs. S. B. Irwin, St. Paul, Minn., and can be had for 25 cents per hundred.

Make pledge work a special feature; start the pledge chain; send one to me; make duplicate chain for your Sunday School or Union.

A quarterly leaflet, giving teaching points suggested by the Temperance lessons, is prepared about six weeks in advance of the Temperance lessons, and will prove very helpful to teachers and adult members of the Sunday School—25 cents per hundred. Also the blackboard exercises, at 50 cents per hundred, are very good indeed.

Let every Sunday School Superintendent in the W. C. T. U. arrange for a Union teachers' meeting the week before November 25. You can realize the help such a meeting will be to the work. To facilitate the work, send orders for the above supplies to the Secretary of the National Superintendent, Mrs. Della R. Mandigo, Fargo, N. Dakota. Is there not some one in every Sunday School who, if rightly approached, would be glad to buy, frame and present to his or her own Sunday School a Pledge Roll of Honor? We can never know what an inspiration, what an incentive to temperance living, such a gift will be. These can be secured of the W. T. P. A., "The Temple," Chicago, for 25 cents.

Let me hear from you of the visible results of this day's work for temperance.

ALICE G. GEARY,
Superintendent.

TWENTY-SEVENTH ANNUAL CONVENTION OF THE INDIANA W. C. T. U., FRANKFORT, OCTOBER 19 TO 23.

One of the busiest conventions we ever had. Two hundred and seventy voting delegates. Made Mrs. Eunice Wilson, of Fairmount, our new President. No other change in the roll of officers. We sadly parted with our out-going President, but say with a tone of gladness she is the editor of our MESSAGE this year, when for the first time the convention voted to make the membership cover the price of the paper, as per by-law.

ARTICLE IX.

The one dollar membership shall cover the price of the official organ in the following manner: 10 cents from the Local Union, 5 cents from the County and 10 cents from the State, and when incorporated in our constitution, the article on membership will read: "Any woman may become a member by endorsing the constitution, paying an annual membership fee of $1, of which 40 cents shall be paid for State dues, 15 cents for County, 20 cents for Local Union and 25 cents for the official organ."

We must all help to adjust the new machinery which will so greatly magnify our work when it has attained to its proper equilibrium.

Then our President of last year is with us in her children, Miss Ethel being made Superintendent of Flower Missions; Miss Susie, State Superintendent of Medal Work in the Loyal Legion organization and Master Felix, Treasurer. Any one having read the program must have a very good idea of the convention, as nothing was omitted except the memorial service and one day we did not give the half hour noon service its full time. If the service is unto the Lord, then one hour of the meeting is as blessed as any other hour. If our life is hid with Christ, not a moment of it belongs to the enemy of souls—not even on election day, while men take the time to vote license. The departments had their afternoon unbroken and made excellent reports. In their Board meeting they elected Mrs. Ada B. Leck, of Indianapolis, President; Mrs. Julia Overman, of Marion, Secretary, and Mrs. Anna Kilmer, of Peru, Treasurer.

The June conference goes to Wabash.

Saturday forenoon was a most enjoyable session. The Indiana Loyal Legion was in convention. Officers were: President, Miss Ina Boyer, Frankfort; First Vice-President, Jesse B. Straw, N. Manchester; Second Vice-President, Fred. Osborn, Marion; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Bessie Straw, N. Manchester; Recording Secretary, Hazel Cowdry, Ft. Wayne; Treasurer, Felix McWhirter, Indianapolis; State Organizer, James Gipe, Indianapolis; Miss Bessie Straw, Assistant or Associate Branch Secretary. The Branch Secretaries of States are National delegates by virtue of their office. Miss Shugart, of Jonesboro, is National delegate and Mrs. Jennie Ridgeway, of Amboy, alternate. Mrs. K. T. A. Straw, Branch Secretary, had a very helpful map of the State showing up the occupied and unoccupied territory, and on a centograph quilt, made of silk patches, one gives 10 cents and gets their name on it; it is to help the L. T. L. Treasury.

The President explained a plan for a State loan library of books for the seal courses, and donations from counties were received to the amount of $88. I was too occupied to write up this part of the program. I know that the President, James Gipe, made a fine annual address, and those giving the address of welcome and the responses were all very creditable. I know some fine premiums were awarded, also diplomas, but being out of the room on some duty I was not an eye or ear witness, and cannot tell you about them. It made me glad to see so many boys, girls and young ladies present. Youthful blood, zeal and intelligence is a source of strength.

Y night was the Diamond Contest—4 contestants. Miss Gertrude Regumas, Hope, receiving the medal. Mr. E. H. Staley, Miss Alice Hadley, Frankfort, and Mrs. Culla Vaylinger, Moore's Hill, acted as judges. About five hundred people present. The contest was rated good. During the Convention four diplomas for complete course in the medal work were awarded: Miss Ina Coggeshall, Marion; Miss Nellie Shugart, Jonesboro; Miss Lottie E. Wands, Indianapolis and Miss Gertrude Regumas, Hope.

The Department of School Savings Banks was taken up. That of Police Matron dropped for a time, taken up and that of Relation of Temperance to Law, Labor and Statistics divided and made into two departments. Mrs. May Moser, of Loogootee, takes Mrs. Vance's place. You will find a list of the departments in the new minutes, which will soon be ready to send out. Order them this year from the State Treasurer, Mrs. A. T. Whitson, 3335 North Meridian Street, Indianapolis. Prices the same as last year. I wish you could have seen the Convention church with its fine decorations, Sunday School cards, Press clippings, banners, flowers, ferns and Old Glory artistically draped and grouped, and the county bannerettes all made a fairy scene, every one happy but the delegates who had to sit too far back. If you were ever a member of such a delegation you know how it is.

Three excellent papers of note read on the afternoon of election, while they counted ballots. Mrs. Mollie Myers, of Auburn, received the Secretaries' premium, a life-sized picture of Miss Willard, framed. Three babies were brought to the platform and made members of the Convention and went away wearing white ribbons—ever after they are our babies. It is stupid of me that I can't give their names; you will find them, I think, in the minutes. I am limited as to space, but want to say this: No Convention of White Ribboners ever had a more faithful reporter—one who had a broader or juster conception of our organization, than had we at this Convention, Mr. E. H. Staley, Frankfort, who was in his place early and late. His reports were fair and truthful and appreciative and I wish he could go to the National. His daughter is a White Ribboner, and his wife, now in the glory land, was one. I wish I could add, he votes Prohibition. Then I must tell you something of the local committee. How pleasant, patient and painstaking, and if any of us in the hurry and excitement did not act in the most becoming manner, I think they did not observe it, but continued more and more to provide for our comfort. You will find their names in the program, with the exception of Mrs. Frances Boyer, who took Mrs. Barricklow's place, because she was too ill to serve.

It was a great sorrow to Mrs. Barricklow that she missed it all.

The local committee had prepared a cook book to help out on finances. The book sold at 25 cents. Every recipe was a certified one—reliable. Mrs. McWhirter's face is on the cover. Anyone wishing a copy can write Mrs. Emma Saylor, 600 West Walnut street, Frankfort, enclosing the price. Our visitors, Mrs. Beauchamp, of Lexington, Ky., and Mrs. Hunt, of Boston, won the hearts of their audiences and greatly added to the force of the convention in the city. Sunday audiences were small and the attendance from the town at any time not as large as usual.

We were greatly favored in having Mrs. D. E. Studebaker with us, and who sang as sweetly as of yore, and could take the place for another year. We are so thankful that she was so improved in health to give this service. The music provided by the local talent at Frankfort was exceptionally good and enjoyed by the convention; and music is such a large part of a meeting.

I know my space is more than full, and I say goodbye with the assurance that the half has not been told of a very good convention in a campaign year.

MARY E. BALCH.

DEAR SISTERS—At the recent State Convention it was decided, by the passage of By-law, that the one dollar membership fee paid by each individual member in Indiana should cover the price of the MESSAGE, the Official Organ, in the following manner: Ten cents to be taken from the State dues, five from the county dues and ten from the Local Union dues; thus placing the State paper in the hands of every paid member of the W. C. T. U.

The entire dollar for the annual membership fee must then be paid at one time and be divided as follows: Twenty cents for local dues; 15 cents for county dues; 40 cents for State and National dues and 25 cents for the MESSAGE. The dues must pass through the regular channel, from the local to the county, and from the county to the State, etc., but the 25 cents for the State paper must be sent to the business manager of the paper, and must be sent on the same day as the State and county dues are sent to the County Treasurer.

No dues can be counted as having been paid until the full name and address of the person having paid dues, together with the 25 cents from each dollar for the paper, has been received by the Business Manager. Promptness in collecting dues is very necessary, as no woman is a voting member and can hold office until the full dollar has been paid. The dues should be collected by the 15th of December, March, June and September, and should there be two or more members in one family and only one paper is desired, then add to the MESSAGE list the names of persons you desire to become interested in the work, as your MESSAGE list must equal your membership. Please place a star in front of the names of persons not members and whose names have been given for the MESSAGE.

Treasurers' blanks will be sent out the last week in November. Will County Treasurers please send them to the Local Treasurers by first mail?

Each quarter closes on the 25th. In justice to the Unions that are prompt in sending dues, no report should be kept by the County Treasurer later than the 22d. Rather let the tardy Union suffer than the Unions that have sent dues on time. We are greatly pleased that so few Unions are tardy and that those few are rapidly growing fewer.

By action of the State Convention, the L. T. L. dues must be paid to the Local Union Treasurer and from there go to the County Treasurer and then on to the State Treasurer, instead of being paid to the State L. T. L. Secretary, as in the past. Please urge the payment of L. T. L. dues and by so doing gain a representation in the State.

Following the precedent set by the State in its decision to send a free copy of the National Minutes to the County Presidents and State Superintendents, the State convention voted that the counties should send the State Minutes to each Local Union President and County Superintendent. In accordance with this plan, how many of the Local Unions will furnish the rest of the Local Officers and Local Superintendents with a free copy of the State Minutes? The Minutes will soon be ready to be sent out. Please send orders accompanied by the money, at a very early date, as the printer should have his money as soon as the work is done. Single copies, including postage, 15 cents. If sent by express, 10 cents per copy.

A list of the counties having ordered the Minutes and the number ordered will be printed in the next MESSAGE. The same will also be placed opposite the name of your county and Union in the next Annual Minutes.

In sending your order, do not fail to mention how many goes into each individual Union and whether all Local Officers and Superintendents are supplied with a copy. All orders and money for Minutes and record books should be sent to the State Treasurer, who has charge of the sale of them this year.

Read this in your local Union and preserve the copy for future reference.

ON BEHALF OF THE STATE OFFICERS.

PRESIDENT'S ANNUAL ADDRESS.

BELOVED COMRADES—

"Again we have come in Jehovah's name" to "speed the moment on,
When wrong shall cease—and liberty and love
And truth and right throughout the earth be known
As in their home above."

Inspired by one purpose, actuated by one desire and controlled by one principle, in the name of the greatest organization of women in the world to-day, I greet you; for you have honored me with your confidence, helped me with your counsel, encouraged me with your praise and strengthened me with your prayers. I thank you to-night, each and every one, for the love and help you have given me.

Mother, home and heaven have been for generations sung about by poets. Men in all conditions of life find in these the highest essentials of all that constitutes love, rest and happiness.

The ideal home recognizes parentage as the highest privilege given to mortal being. It is truly partnership with God in moulding and fashioning human souls. In such a home the father protects and provides for growth of the child. His precept and example sets the standard of living. On account of the closer association of the children, to the mother is left their early education and discipline. Right conditions emphasize the esthetic and ethic faculties of the child and lead it into a fuller realization of its spiritual needs, thus better paving the way to a higher order of citizenship and usefulness.

Higher education comes to a meager number of bright girls and boys because of conditions all about us which ought to be removed. The strong hand of the father, who has not only a ballot but an influence, for both of which he is responsible, ought to open the way for tens of thousands of children to grow into larger development physically, intellectually and spiritually.

The intuitive instinct of the mother detects in the atmosphere of the community in which she lives the presence of disease germs which attack multitudes of children in their physical, moral and spiritual natures. She views with alarm the lack of respect among young people for the church of God, the prevalence of disobedience to parents among children, the almost universal use of tobacco and cigarettes by men and boys and the invasion of so many homes by the subtle enemy, alcohol. These conditions become more and more established until it is no wonder that the Christian motherhood and sisterhood of this country are seeking relief from such invaders of the home. It has been well said that woman's sphere is in the home.

True, no place in all the world is so sacred, so restful and lovely to a woman as her home. Home keeping is instinctively enjoyed by woman.

The chaotic condition of the civic world, permitted and run by the men of this country, has forced woman out of the home; since that has been done she has shown herself capable to fill any position which she feels free to accept. She has maintained the grace and dignity of her womanly nature in all positions held. Through her efforts great advances have been made for better laws and a more general protest against the enemies of the home. Her voice has been heard pleading with legislatures and urging upon executive officers the claims of her mother heart for better opportunities and healthier environments for the coming generations of men. Not until the foes of civilization, which are the foes of the home, are met and vanquished, will woman's mission cease in the halls of our State and National Capitol nor her righteous and just demands lessen the burdens of executive officers who fail to stand for the moral clearing up of the atmosphere from the prevalence of dangerous disease germs now attacking every home.

Comrades of the White Ribbon army, you have heard the cry of the world; your hearts have been touched by humanity's needs. The divine alchemy refines the dross of your life and you are drawn into this conflict for God and home and every land.

THE YOUNG WOMEN

Of Indiana are wielding a mighty influence for or against righteousness and right living. The young women who refuse to recognize a dual standard of morals for men and women are to-day helping to establish a better, a surer foundation upon which to build the homes of future generations. Man respects and admires the woman who demands of him right living and high thinking in return for her confidence. Our brave, courageous band of Y's, under the leadership of Miss Sears, has accomplished much during this year. District conferences have been held in different parts of the State with splendid results. The great need of our Y is for more young women and young men to become members. O, could the energetic Christian young people of our State realize how much their efforts would mean to this branch of temperance work, I am sure hundreds would say, "I'll help." "You may depend on me," and our ranks would be filled with the ambitious enthusiasm which would hasten the day of victory for Christ and the home.

LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION.

Great strides have been made during the last few years in our State in plans and work for the Loyal Temperance Legion. We find that since our organization as a State Legion we are advancing more rapidly in systematic study than before. Each year we have a good class of graduates and so the ranks of the Senior Legion are constantly being reinforced. We extend a cordial, loving welcome to State convention of the Loyal Temperance Legion which will meet here to-morrow. To you, Legioners, we are looking for brave, true citizenship, for educated, well trained young men and women in organized temperance work, who will lend a strong hand toward the overthrow of King Alcohol and his close loyal friend, King Nicotine.

O, mothers and fathers, when you know the need of educating your boys and girls to be aggressively opposed to alcohol and tobacco; when you know that in no other way are boys and girls given the systematic education in temperance organization except in the Loyal Temperance Legion, why are you not practical? Why do you not give your boys and girls opportunities to become educated and fitted for leadership? Are you too busy? Are you indifferent, or is it because you do not have a Legion? O, parents, consider what this means. Our United States government establishes and maintains at great cost, a naval and a military school where boys are educated (free of cost to their parents) for government service. The wisdom of this and the necessity for this you readily appreciate if our government continues to maintain a navy and standing army, a plan which will be largely modified when we agree to arbitration. Educated trained men are in demand by the government; the same thing is no less true in this conflict for the home, the church and the State. Let me exhort you to consider the need of a Legion—to consider that the splendid teaching you give your boy or your girl in the home loses much of its significance in that it is not definite and their associates are not thus taught. The teaching of scientific facts few of us are competent to give unless we have made chemistry a special study or have prepared ourselves for teachers of the subject. Besides this, the training our boys and girls receive in organization is sufficient to cause us to become interested. To understand parliamentary law and practice it is, I assure you, no small accomplishment for a boy or girl; to have the privilege of systematic, scientific temperance study means much, and scientific temperance study and thorough drill in parliamentary law and organization is of itself splendid education. All this your boy and girl should receive in the L. T. L. You say we can not secure competent leaders for the work. O, sisters, when you realize what this education means to your boy and girl and how their interest is intensified by having their friends associated with them, can you not arrange to secure a leader for a Legion? Compensate her for the time she gives to the work in visiting the parents, holding meetings, etc. To my mind this is of all importance. Last year your heart thrilled when you saw our high school boys and girls, as officers, conducting a State Loyal Temperance Legion convention you wished that your own and your neighbors' young people might have such training and such education. If this work is done in your community you must help it on. An earnest, energetic, winsome leader can make the Legion mostly self-sustaining by entertainments, oratorical contests, etc. Sisters, I must urge you to plan for a Legion. Please do consider this prayerfully and by God's help plan for a Legion. If you will save your own son you must help to save your neighbor's son.

ORGANIZATION.

Our W. C. T. U. County Institutes this year were mostly held in towns having no Union, the County President and other officers arranging thus for the Institute, at the close of which in nearly every instance a good Union was organized. When such a plan is considered as being carried out successfully, the material which composes our County Presidents can better be understood than described. Their hard work and loyal co-operation with the State Corresponding Secretary and Institute leaders made the success of such a plan possible. It is no small responsibility to "mother" a new Union, but in order to keep up the interest and activity of many Local Unions the County President must visit them frequently. The Unions that are thus visited do not fall off in membership and seldom become discouraged in the work. The expenses of the County President in visiting Unions and attending State meetings should always be paid by the County Treasury.

A county officer and a County Superintendent of Department who will visit the Unions of the county will see good results follow. The kind and generous gifts of the year to our cause have demonstrated in a most practical manner the interest felt in its success. Mrs. M. A. Omo's gift of $500 to our State for her promoted sister, Miss McDaniels, a perpetual endowment fund to be used for organization, was indeed cause for the great gratitude of all Indiana White Ribboners. Smaller amounts have been contributed for an organization or Field Fund. These gifts have cheered our hearts and inspired us with new courage.

Under organization we have the department of Work Among Colored People with Mrs. Lottie Searls faithfully at the head, and Work Among Foreigners with our energetic Mrs. Anna Kilmer seeking to reach our sisters from other countries. There is special need for a Field worker among both these classes. We ought to reach them for intemperance. At the altars of their homes manhood lies smitten, the fires have gone out on their hearthstones, light of hope and love dies in their hearts; as wives, mothers and little children they are to-day cursed by alcohol.

Our Lecturers and Organizers have done valiant service this year, spending much time in unorganized territory.

May the time speedily come when we may keep four or five Organizers and workers in the field eleven months of each year. Three for general organizing, lecturing and building up the work among white and colored women, one for the young women and one or more for the Loyal Temperance Legion. My desire is to see them a-field and paid a salary, all amounts paid for collections, donations, etc., received by them to be turned into the State treasury.

Under present conditions our workers are hurried on from one point to another, sometimes when the cause would be greatly helped by another day's work. We need a permanent endowment fund, the interest only from which should be used for Field work. I have faith to believe that the confidence and interest in our organization is so great that we may expect during the near future to receive gifts of money, bonds, deeds to lands, town and city property for a permanent endowment. For this purpose will have been made and bequests will be made. The time has come for us to arouse ourselves and push forward the conflict for God and home and native land until there will be a mighty host of consecrated women who will unite with us and help us hasten the day of final victory.

OUR DEPARTMENTS.

In no one year during the history of our State organization have there been such broad plans made and so much work done in our Departments as during this year. Much has been done by agitation along preventive lines. The result of our work in educational departments has been far greater than ever before. A two day's W. C. T. U. Institute has been held in nearly every county in the entire State, the results of which can not be estimated. The varied subjects discussed by the people have done more to arouse to action and to encourage our own membership, perhaps, than the most sanguine anticipated. The detail of this plan and program has been wonderfully wrought out by our beloved State and National Superintendent of Institutes, Miss Mary Hadley.

The Sunday school temperance work has taken strong hold in some communities. This ought to be a universal condition. Woe to the Superintendent of a Sunday school who does not urge temperance teaching. Why is it that we must keep urging active christian workers to lend their influence for practical temperance teaching?

Our parliamentarian, Mrs. D. E. Hardy, kindly keeps us properly deliberating and constitutionally right.

Non-alcoholic medication is a department which every Union should adopt. Each individual member should be informed upon the facts in regard to the medicines used in the family. Dr. Jessup-Smith ably heads this department.

We have rejoiced to know of the great agitation in our country during this campaign year on the subject of Peace. When war is denounced and great multitudes applaud, we know that the sentiment against war is rapidly taking hold of our people. We are pleased to know that our State Superintendent of Peace and Arbitration, Miss Lavinia Bailey, is the new Secretary of the National Peace Association.

Our courageous Press Superintendent, Mrs. Florence Vance, has been called upon this year to pass through great sorrow. Her companion was suddenly called to his eternal home. She now lives in Ohio. We heartily and lovingly commend this faithful, earnest sister to the affections and companionship of our Ohio sisters.

The department of Household Economics is being systematically pushed by Mrs. Mary Moody.

Much has been done in the department of Temperance Literature. A very practical leaflet has been published by the Superintendent, Mrs. Etta Ayers. More and more our people are realizing the power of the printed page. The medal contest work has been such an important feature among the educational forces for total abstinence and prohibition in Indiana that God only knows the good accomplished. Indiana now holds sixteen diamond medals. Each one of these represents a victor over about 7,000 speeches. In all there has been over 8,000 medal contests held in Indiana under the leadership of the State Superintendent, Mrs. Mary E. Balch, who is also Associate National Superintendent. In regard to the sentiment made, the lives influenced and the good done, the half will never be told. Excelsior, Mary Balch!!

The divine and holy influence radiating from our Mothers' Meetings Department under the leadership of Mrs. Sarah M. Stahl are being felt in society, the church and school. Mothers' hearts thrill as they see and realize the consecrated enthusiasm manifested among young women and mothers in this department.

The Purity Department has been ably equipped this year with Mrs. Frances Boyer as Superintendent and Mrs. Sarah D. Curtis as Lecturer. The dissemination of information through Mrs. Boyer's leaflet on Purity Laws has been very beneficial and will result in much practical good. The public addresses of Mrs. Curtis have been highly beneficial. We greatly regret that Mrs. Curtis has gone back to Colorado to live—we will miss her.

THE FUTURE.

BY RUDYARD KIPLING.

When earth's last picture is painted, and the tubes are twisted and dried;
When the oldest colors have faded and the youngest critic has died;
We shall rest, and, faith, we shall need it—lie down for an aeon or two,
Till the Master of all good workmen shall set us to work anew!

And those that were good shall be happy; they shall sit in a golden chair;
They shall splash at a ten-league canvas with brushes of comet's hair;
They shall find real saints to draw from—Magdalene, Peter and Paul;
They shall work for an age at a sitting and never be tired at all!

And only the Master shall praise us, and only the Master shall blame;
And no one shall work for money, and no one shall work for fame;
But each for the joy of the working, and each, in his separate star,
Shall draw the thing as he sees it for the God of things as they are!

SECRETARY'S LETTER.

Dear Secretaries, County and Local—The MESSAGE in every W. C. T. U. member's hands makes a revolution in our work. We, that is you and I, will have our space in every MESSAGE and please send me short, concise reports and let us make our corner so bright and cheery that the whole State will be in love with it; will turn to it for help, for encouragement, for information. If we all try and work together we will succeed. I shall talk to you in this column. There is one thing now I want to know very much. I want to be sure I have the name and address of every President and Secretary and Treasurer of a Union correct. Changes are made and I do not always know of them. We need a complete and reliable directory.

MARY E. BALCH.

NOTES FROM CORRESPONDING SECRETARY'S REPORT.

Enrolled members 5441; then those coming in too late, 368, make us actually 5809 enrolled members. A gain over last year.

Honorary members, 740; coming in late, 78, total, 818.

Regular meetings, 2730; late, 135; total, 2866. Executive Committee meetings, 223; late, 12. Called meetings, 266; late, 10. Mass, 181; late, 16. Red letter days observed, 155; late, 5. Signers to pledge, 1951; late, 70. Amount of literature ordered from publishing house, $212.12; late, $9.20. 109 W. T. P. A. agents; late, 4. 2537 letters, and in October, the last month, 296; total, 2833. Cards, 1232, and in October, 145; total, 1377.

North Manchester has the largest MESSAGE subscription.

Marion Central Union paid dues for 83, and is the largest Union, Meridian, at Indianapolis, the second in size. Peru, Hartford City and Otterbein come next. Of the fifty new Unions organized, thirty-eight paid dues for 444 members. Henry county made the greatest gain in members. The counties entitled to choose National Delegates for gain in membership were Henry, Huntington, Hendricks, Blackford, Vanderburg, Howard, Lawrence, Scott, Elkhart and Delaware. Counties choosing alternates: Benton, Bartholomew, Clay, Carroll, Jefferson, Newton, Greene, Washington, Cass and Parke.

DEAR SISTERS—The following questions are being asked:

1. If a member has just subscribed for the MESSAGE, is it necessary to send the twenty-five cents to the Business Manager when she does not want two copies? The twenty-five cents, according to the By-law, must be sent to the Business Manager. If the member does not want two copies, send the name of some one else and let the money do Missionary work and help bring others into the work. The twenty-five cents does not belong to the Local Unions any more than does the entire dollar belong to it. As you understand, the dollar pays the World's, National, State, County and Local Union dues and now under the new By-law pays for the State paper. The membership list in the State and the subscription list to the MESSAGE must correspond. A By-law is not optional.

2. If the subscription to the MESSAGE expires, say in March, and the dues are not due until September, what should be done? Send enough money to the Business Manager to pay for the MESSAGE until October, 1901.

3. Will this new By-law make it necessary to change the time of paying dues, with some members, and have all pay dues in the same month of the year? No. Send dues and MESSAGE money quarterly, as has been done before with the dues, but the entire dollar must be paid at one time by a member, not a part one quarter and a part another.

4. If dues have just been paid during the last quarter, what should be done? Send your money for the paper until October 1, 1901.

By following out the above, the matter will be properly adjusted at once and the Business Manager will have funds to meet the bills as they become due.

Please note the change in the Blanks just sent out. Business Manager of the MESSAGE, Mrs. Clara Balch, 711 East 11th Street, Indianapolis, Ind.

Central Committee meeting November 2, 1900, at 711 East 11th street, Indianapolis. A full meeting.

Moved by Mrs. Vayhinger, that the twenty-five cents of the one dollar membership dues that pay for the State paper go directly to the Business Manager. Motion prevailed.

The Committee appointed Mrs. McWhirter as Editor for the State paper for the ensuing year.

Mrs. Clara Balch was made Business Manager for the State paper.

Moved, that an item be kept in the paper giving a schedule price for the paper, such as ten cents for three months or more; fifteen cents for six months or more, until dues and subscription list adjust themselves in harmony with the new by-law. Moved by Mrs. Whitson that we recommend that the first page of the MESSAGE be given to the General Officers, Branch Secretaries, general communications and general announcements. The first column of the second page be devoted to editorial matter. The second column to Hadley Industrial School. The third column, miscellaneous matter and the entire third page be devoted to department work. The fourth page be devoted to field notes, including communications from county and local Unions. The communications must not exceed three hundred words and the local only one hundred words.

Y SECRETARY'S LETTER.

Dear Y girls, we start a new year together, and I am praying that the results will reach a larger number of young women and men for temperance, righteousness and purity. Keep the motto ever before you, "Onward to Victory."

I have mailed the tenth quarterly report blanks to the Unions and expect them promptly returned to me by December 15, 1900, and if you have made a change in the officers, please correct the list so the new directory may be filled out.

Is your Local Treasurer doing all she can to collect the tenth quarter's dues?

Aurora Y's have been called upon to part with one of their sweetest and most charming members, Miss Fannie Deinerline, in her twentieth year of age, earnest and fearless in her work for the Master. Saturday, November 3, God called her home. The Aurora Y's sent a beautiful floral emblem, an anchor with a Y in blue immortelles and at the base a large bow of white ribbon. Remember the sorrowing ones, dear Y's, in your prayers.

Do not be surprised in the next quarterly blanks to find this question asked, Have you paid your apportionment for the convention fund? So that hereafter the State Y Secretary can attend the National Convention.

The Union or Branch having ten members or more will be expected to send $1.00 for the convention fund to Miss Sears before September 1, then at the Y conference the report can be made. Unions or Branches with less than ten members will be expected to send 50 cents to the Secretary.

Miss Ethel McWhirter is the new Flower Mission Superintendent for the State of Indiana. Remember, girls, who it is. She is attending school at Greencastle Indiana.

I shall expect reports, etc., each month, so I can have the Y column filled hereafter. Thanks to Monrovia Y for the generous gift toward expenses to Washington, the only Union that responded.

Lovingly,

CLARA M. SEARS,

State Y Secretary.

SECRETARY'S LETTER.

The County Corresponding Secretaries' prize is given by the State Secretary for neatness, completeness and promptness—that is, on time. We hope every Secretary is planning to win. If Local Unions fail to report on time—better make a supplementary report than be tardy. If they report little or nothing, it will not affect your winning the premium if you do your part well.

I thank the Secretaries who are sending in their new officers' names. I feel sure the Secretaries have read the plan of work and understand that organized counties choose their place for Spring Institute. This decision should be made as early as possible and the place sent to the State Secretary, that she may schedule place and dates as early as the January MESSAGE—plenty of time to advertise and make local arrangements. A contest usually requires time. Dear Secretaries, if you will remind the Unions and the County Executive Committee of this, no doubt action will be taken at once.

LOCAL UNION.

Press Superintendents are requested to send to the MESSAGE Editor an item on a postal each month. Eliminate every word possible and let the item contain not more than fifteen or twenty words. Like a telegram, you know, giving facts only. This is said because of the limited space and the great desire all readers have to know about "what you are doing."

TO BENTON COUNTY W. C. T. U.

The Hadley School has a debt because we did not all send in our 36 cents per member last year. Please let us clear this debt all off and start in fresh by holding the Silver Medal Contests soon. Send in proceeds and thus be done with Hadley for the year; besides rejoicing the heart of the good Treasurer, Mrs. Hesson. By vote of State Convention every woman who pays dues this year gets the State paper. There will be no more subscription. If we all pay our dues early we will get the paper early in year, so let us all do this; the treasurer only collects dues from us once in the year. Local Presidents, please keep this before the women, so the paper may have a good circulation. Our County Committee ordered the names of County Officers and Superintendents printed on slips and sent out, so every local Officer and Superintendent may have one. Now, Local Superintendents, will you please report to the County Superintendent all work done by you? You know who she is. Yours for victory,

ELIZA F. BAKER,
County President.

ARMY TEMPERANCE ASSOCIATION.

At the annual meeting of the Army Temperance Association held in London, May 14, Major-General Sir George White, the defender of Ladysmith, presiding, a letter was read from Lord Roberts, dated Bloemfontein, April 19, in which the writer says:

"There never was a more temperate army than that which marched under my command from the Modder river to Bloemfontein. Nothing but good can result from so many soldiers being brought together in an arduous campaign when they see how splendidly our temperance men have borne up against the hardships and dangers they have had to face."

But the Americans inspire their army with a McKinley-Griggs-Root canteen which kills and disables more of our soldiers than Spanish or Filipino bullets.

Wabash County convention was held at Wabash. There was not a large attendance, but quite interesting. Greetings from different societies were given by their representatives. On behalf of Missionary Societies, Mrs. Atkinson; Federation of Clubs, Mrs. Robuck; W. R. C., Mrs. Alex. Hess; Ministerial Association, Rev. Groom. A Gold Medal contest was held on the first evening, in which five contestants took part—four ladies and one gentleman. They all did well, but the young man, Mr. Beauchamp, of Andrews, came out winner by a fraction. The County Superintendents all came up with good reports. The following were elected County Officers for the ensuing year: Mrs. H. F. Kidd, President; Mrs. Baker, of North Manchester, Vice-President-at-Large; Mrs. M. A. Rissor, Recording Secretary; Mrs. M. A. Ratliffe, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. Sarah Haupt, Treasurer.

DECEMBER, 1900.

The Evangelistic Services at the National Convention, under the leadership of Miss Elizabeth Greenwood, National Superintendent, were helpful and inspiring, participated in by scores of people each day. One day Congressman Littlefield, of Maine, came in during the Evangelistic hour. Scripture quotations were being given on "Prayer" by members of the Convention. President Stevens asked the privilege of introducing the distinguished guest and friend of the W. C. T. U. Upon being introduced Mr. Littlefield said, before I speak a word to this great Convention I want to give my views, and quoted, "Righteousness exalteth a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people."

HADLEY INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

Miss Lucretia Hobart, President, 1101 Virginia Avenue, Indianapolis.
Recording and Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Mary A. Tarlton, College Avenue, Indianapolis.
Mrs. Rebecca Hessong, Treasurer, Nora, Ind.

It is now ten years since the work of establishing this School began. During this time it has received much attention throughout the State, and a number of girls have received benefits through its workings. There are now thirty-two girls in the institution and three officers. The idea of receiving pure, dependent girls and saving them from evil paths meets with favor from the Christian world.

The W. C. T. U. women who have adopted this School and helped to support it must not grow weary, although the work seems to drag slowly along. A new decade is now opening, and during the next ten years the capacity of this school should be doubled or trebled. Fully thirty girls have applied for admission during the past year, and needed its protection, but were refused admission from lack of room and support. It is one of our trials that these cannot receive the protection that they might find here. I think our plan for the support of the School last year was not fully understood by all our members.

The Treasurer of our Board made a careful estimate of the amount necessary to pay off the indebtedness and give running expenses for the year. She found that the sum of three cents per month for each member of the organization would give the required amount. This sum total would have given about $1,800. Think of the shortage, when but $555.55 was received. Nothing could have caused this deficit but a misunderstanding. The way is still open to make this up. If the friends of an institution do not stand by it, who will? It is not a great sacrifice to set aside three cents per month for so noble a work. Can you, who have not understood the matter, take it and before the old year dies, send in your share to cover the deficit, and let the new year be free to take up advance work?

You cannot realize the recompense there is in this work, unless you consider the improved chances these girls receive through your efforts. You are not working on wood or stone but on immortal lives.

L. HOBART.

RECEIPTS OF HADLEY INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL SINCE STATE CONVENTION.

Mrs. Hann, on Century Pledge, $1.20; Mrs. Batman, on Century Pledge, $2.00; Mulberry, on last years apportionment, $5.00; Mount Vernon, $1.00; A Friend, $25.00; Huntington, $1.55; Plainfield, $4.00; Wabash County, $5.00; Greensburg, on Memorial, $15.00; Mrs. Wright expenses, as member of the Board, donated, $5.00; Mrs. Balch, envelopes, 30c; Jeffersonville, on apportionment, $2.00; A Friend, 5c; Mrs. Lee, solicitor, $10.00; From Cox Farm, $20.00; Tarlton Union's thank offering, $25.00.

DISBURSEMENTS—Hadley & Carter, plumbing for laundry, $30.00; Hominy meal, $30.00; Colbert Griffin, farmer, $15.00; Emergency fund, $10.00; Mrs. Steele, Superintendent, $10.00; Mrs. Lee, commission, $3.00; Expenses of packing picture, 80c; total, $98.80.

Dear Co-Workers—At our State Convention a by-law was passed which gives the plan for raising funds for our Industrial School. Unions are to hold a Medal Contest during the months of October, November and December, taking from the ten cent door fee the price of the medal; the balance shall be sent to the Treasurer of the Board. A premium shall be sent to the Union sending in first, also to the one sending in $10, and the Union sending in largest amount. Who will be first to respond? Several have said we are working up our Contest—will have it soon. I do hope all Unions will respond and that we may have a more successful year and the burden of the Board made lighter by each one doing their duty. Mrs. Kate Luom, solicitor for district No. 5, sends $10. Am sure to report from others next month. A friend to the School sends $25, which was greatly appreciated; it was awaiting my return from State Convention. Feeling the great burden of another year's work I was made to rejoice to know some one had remembered us at this time.

Now sisters, I have a plan that if used, your apportionment for last year can all be raised. Hold a parlor or public thank offering meeting this month, distributing the thank offering envelopes to friends of our work. You can order the envelopes of me any time now, and orders will be promptly filled. Hope to hear from every Union.

REBECCA HESSONG,
Treasurer.

HADLEY DAY SCHOOL.

Two years ago our school received a donation of twenty-four school desks, which were placed in the chapel of our dwelling. These desks helped us to open our school and seat all the girls comfortably, but our number has been increased by ten. An appeal was made to the same source, and a hearty response followed, and ten desks arrived accompanied by a large globe, not entirely new, yet serviceable. And again all are comfortably seated and prepared for good work, which is being done. The girls are now making especial effort to become intelligent readers, as well as proficient in history, physiology, grammar, arithmetic, etc. It is a beautiful sight to look into their earnest faces and feel they are sheltered from vile literature and evil associations, until they become old enough and strong enough to resist these poisonous influences. Moral and religious education is not neglected.

But no sectarian doctrines are taught. The gospel of love and the Golden Rule are as far as creed enters the home. The evening study hour is greatly enjoyed by all, and is a great help to the day school. We expect to have eight graduates from the common school course at the end of this school year. These graduates will find employment in other lines of work during their stay with us.

One source of trouble to us is, that at present we are unable to admit the many needy girls who are seeking admission to this protected home.

We hope new enthusiasm in this preventive work will arise; and we may within a year be able to finish the upper dormitory at an expense not exceeding five hundred dollars. This would give additional room for twenty-five more who are now knocking at our doors.

LUCRETIA HOBART.

SINCE STATE CONVENTION.

The Frankfort W. C. T. U. has taken on a new lease of life since the convention. New members were added and some who had dropped out are now ready to come in again and pay their dues. People generally and those from whom we expected the least, spoke in the highest terms of the convention and the delegates they entertained. Last July we got out 800 cook books, with recipes from ladies in the county. The advertising very nearly paid for the books, about 700 of which are sold, and still there is a demand for more. We are now in good shape to push the warfare to the very gates of the enemy.

NATIONAL CONVENTION.

The following is taken from the address of welcome to the National Convention by Mrs. Clinton Smith:

'Tis said that at one time in the Holy wars, when a company of Scots were waging fierce battle with the Paynims, their leader, the invincible Douglas, drew from his bosom the silver casket which contained the heart of Robert Bruce and flung it far forward into the thickest of the fray. Then followed the determined onslaught of the Scots to its rescue, crying "Heart of Bruce, we follow thee!" So methinks the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union. For years you have sent forward to Washington the prayers of your hearts encasketed in choicest language in the form of petitions. And now you are come yourselves.

We wish that our welcome were more adequate to your deserts. We wish that we could tender free entertainment to both delegates and visitors. But we must remind you that Washington is no more ours than it is yours. You come to your Capitol City, and why should the W. C. T. U. of the District of Columbia welcome you to your own? Only that we are so glad to see you; only that during the past months we have been doing our best to prepare for your coming. This is a happy hour! We bid you welcome. With shining eyes and high hearts beating in unison, we bid you welcome and it is my glad privilege to repeat the word. Welcome to Washington in its Centennial Year, when the feet of a nation are turning toward its Capital City to do honor to its memories of a hundred years and the whole world keeps watch night of the centuries. Two decades have well nigh passed since last you held a convention here. Chester A. Arthur was then President of the United States. Garfield had died two months before at Elberon. Ex-President Grant had just returned from his trip around the world. You then paid three cents postage on a letter weighing one-half ounce. That was before the days of electric lighting and electric lines of street cars. Brooklyn bridge was not completed. There was no Statue of Liberty Enlightning the World. The prohibition party was scarcely known. It was here that Miss Willard publicly threw her splendid influence upon the side of the then unpopular cause of woman suffrage and gave it an uplift unprecedented in its history.

This city is now greater than it was then. The Washington monument; the War, State and Navy building; the National museum; the Medical museum; the Fish Commission; the Pension building, were none of them completed.

Welcome, thrice welcome to the Capital city! Ring out the joy bells, wave the banner, beat the drum, the benefactors of the race have come! The officers, the superintendents, the organizers, the evangelists, the delegates and the magnificent rank and file! Sentiment makers, moulders of public opinion, conservators of a nation's weal; I who know you look into your faces with feelings of deep respect. You have forgotten self to remember the sorrowing. Your heads have grown white in the service. You have borne the burden and heat of the day. To you has been realized the promise, "As your day, so shall your strength be." You do not war upon the liquor traffic because you are suffering thereby. You are not in this army because your children are blighted by its curse. It is because your loving hearts are touched by other's woes and gentle pity leads you on, not to triumphs, but to sacrifices. Yet you shrink not nor falter. "The loving are the daring."

As you exchange greetings you illustrate the fellowship of the States in their common center. Forgetting space and distance, love of country creates a kinship which obliterates geographical divisions.

Dear to me the South's Fair Land,
Dear New England's Rocky Strand,
Dear the Prairied West."

ACTION OF ALCOHOL ON THE HEART.

Dr. McDowell Cosgrove, in his recently published "Role of Alcohol," gives the following capital illustration of a physiological fact that is much misunderstood. He says: "The explanation of the rapid action of the heart when alcohol has been taken can best be followed from an illustration: A clock is constructed so as to run down very fast and then a pendulum is added to slow this motion. Take the pendulum off and the wheels fly around. This does not show that the clock has been stimulated by a heavier moving weight, but merely that the control has been removed. In a similar way the heart's tendency is to beat at a quick rate, but it is held in check by regulating nerves; the palpitation that follows a sudden shock is an example of the removal of this control. Now, alcohol narcotizes or paralyzes these restraining nerves and the heart's action is at once quickened, not by stimulation, but by removal of the control."—True Light.

Opportunities are a call from God; they pass by and never return. To-day may be the last opportunity for entreaty with some soul that you have thought that you would some time endeavor to lead to Christ. Opportunities are God's gifts for the moment that now is. It is doubtful if He ever repeats them in exactly the same form and with the same possibility of blessing. A lost opportunity is lost forever.—Christian Intelligence.

TO THE ASSOCIATE STATE EVANGELISTS, COUNTY AND LOCAL SUPERINTENDENTS.

As I cannot have the privilege of talking with you face to face, I will speak to you through our paper, which, I am glad to know, will reach most of our workers. All county superintendents who receive the paper will confer a great favor on the State superintendent by seeing that her letter reaches every local superintendent. I want to thank every superintendent who sent a report last year, and urge that you put forth greater effort during this year, that our report may be more complete. I am very sure that much more work was done than I could report. When you read the report in the State minutes and also in the National, please do not too severely censure your superintendent because the report is not fuller, but take whatever of blame belongs to you as co-workers. Last year, being out of the State a number of weeks, and the work being new to me, I could not bring it up to my own thought. I trust I can make you a more efficient superintendent this year and that I may have your hearty co-operation. I will do my best to have my plan of work out, just as soon as Miss Greenwood gives out her plans for this year. I want our State to work in harmony with her as fully as we can. I only received reports from thirty-five counties out of the more than sixty organized. Please appoint a county superintendent if you have not already done so and report the name to me. If you have elected a new superintendent, notify me. I desire to work through the county superintendents; but if they do not do their work the locals should then send their reports to the State superintendent, so that they may have due credit for work done. Strive, dear co-workers, to do your work according to our plans, and be sure to keep an accurate account of all work done. Please do not say, "many" or "most all," for that cannot be reported. Report what you do, if it is ever so little. You need not report to me quarterly, as you did last year, but if you desire any information concerning the work, write to me at any time and I will do my best to help you. I wish, beloved co-workers, to impress upon you the absolute need of the presence and power of the Holy Spirit if you would do efficient work. Equip yourselves thoroughly. Be careful and prayerful students of the word of God, remembering it is the sword of the Spirit. I have written to Lorny, the superintendent of the Chicago Training School, for his plan of Bible study, as those of us who met at State convention in consultation, decided upon that, as probably the most practical of anything we could get. You will hear from me just as soon as my plan of work is ready. If you have any suggestions, let me have them immediately. The following questions will be asked and any new ones suggested by Miss Greenwood you will be informed of:

Number of gospel temperance meetings held? How many in churches? How many in halls? How many in cottages? How many in almshouses? How many in penitentiaries? How many in prisons? How many in jails? How many school houses? How many out-door services? How many temperance addresses have been given before conventions or regular meetings of Christian Endeavor and Epworth League Societies? How many visits made by Union? How many Bible readings in Union, or out? How many signatures to pledge? How many conversions? Has rescue work been prominent? Pages of temperance and religious literature distributed? Are your members growing in spiritual life and using help thereto? Do you have hints and helps? How many observe trysting time? Number of books loaned or given away? How many have done personal work for unconverted? Number of temperance and other sermons preached? When reporting, state whether by W. C. T. U. workers or by ministers at request of unions. Number who practice tithing?

If any changes are made in the above you will be duly informed. Please report systematically, for it greatly aids your superintendents in making out their county and State reports. I wish to urge every superintendent to send for Miss Greenwood's little book, Hints and Helps in evangelistic work; 10 cents and a stamp is all it will cost. Address her at 294 Stuyvesant ave., Brooklyn, N. Y. You cannot obtain it at Chicago. With best wishes and a prayer for the most efficient year's work we have ever done, I am,

Most sincerely your co-worker,
ELIZABETH M. HAUGHTON.

SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

We had a splendid conference of workers at State Convention. Our only regret is that we did not have more time and every Superintendent in the State with us.

Was your county on the Honor Roll for last year? See Annual Report. If it was not, see if you cannot place it there this year.

If you will send me your name and address I will send you our Annual Report, a catalogue of literature and samples of leaflets, together with Responsive Readings, Sabbath Pledge and Sabbath Songs which are especially adapted for Sunday Schools.

As this is an age of literature, let us distribute it freely. Continue circulating the Sabbath Laws. We find them great educators. It will be the united effort of all, and a careful and detailed report of the work done by each Superintendent, that will count when the report is made up for the year. May we have a successful year's work for a better observance of the Sabbath Day.

KATIE WERT HOLLER,
State Superintendent.

The W. C. T. U. of Selma met in regular session. After business being transacted the literary program was given, all taking part in the good work. A committee was appointed to make out the year's work for each one, to be printed for the new year. An able speaker will be with us soon.

Mrs. Margaret Clyne entertained the Selma W. C. T. U. on the regular meeting day and a splendid program was given. Our Union is growing with Mrs. Martha Good as President. Several hundred pages of literature have been distributed. We will place a wall pocket in the depot soon, for the benefit of the public. After the meeting our genial hostess served light refreshments. All had a delightful time.

LAURA S. DAVIS,
Press Superintendent.

SYSTEMATIC AND PROPORTIONATE GIVING.

At the beginning of another year I desire to urge every one of you to more persistent efforts in order that our beloved department may accomplish greater things than ever before. It will not be necessary for me to take up much space at this time in telling you what to do. You all know the object of the department, the Plan of Work and know the questions asked in the report blanks. Any help or information I can give will be cheerfully given. I stand ready to do my best and give my best for the work's sake.

S. M. SHELTON,
State Superintendent.

THE NATIONAL W. C. T. U. CONVENTION

Was held in the LaFayette Opera House, Washington City, across the corner from the White House. It was by far the largest convention ever held.

Our Indiana party went through from Indianapolis in a special sleeper, upon the sides of which were streamers containing these words: "Indiana W. C. T. U., en route to Washington." We were joined at Cincinnati by the Kentucky delegation, including Mrs. Frances Beauchamp, President; Mrs. Bender, Vice-President, and Miss Nellie Payton, Corresponding Secretary. We arrived in Washington on the evening of Wednesday, November 28, with a delegation of forty, and were met at the station by a large number of Washington White Ribboners, headed by Mrs. Clinton Smith, President of the District of Columbia. The newspaper reporters were there also and they told the people that Indiana arrived in the best style of any state delegation.

The Elsmere hotel was announced as National headquarters, so by previous arrangement, we had made Indiana headquarters at the Elsmere too, so that in the parlors and dining room opportunity would be given for meeting the National officers, National Superintendents and others.

The proprietors of the Elsmere are Mrs. Rines & Son. Mrs. Rines is a White Ribboner. The service was good, the board excellent and our stay with them was indeed pleasant and greatly enjoyed. It is so nice to be together, especially when bound by the ties of love and the White Ribbon. After a day's sight-seeing or convention duty, we all would gather around the fireside in our headquarters with our State officers and chat awhile. If space permitted it would give me pleasure to speak of the part each one of our number contributed to the happiness of all. It will suffice to say that the sweet spirit of the Indiana party, without an exception, exemplified the Christ love.

Thanksgiving Day our almost entire party, with many others, went down the Potomac on the steamer Charles McAllister to Mt. Vernon—Washington's old home. We visited the splendid old mansion, containing eighteen rooms, which have been refurnished in same style as when it was the home of the Father of our Country. We visited the gardens that were laid out by him; the stables which were built for his horses, and the tomb where lie the remains of Lady Washington and her illustrious husband. The magnificence of the site for the home, on the bank of the wide Potomac, can scarcely be imagined.

On the trip we passed the house where Mrs. Surrat was imprisoned and hanged, the house where Booth's body was buried in the cellar until after the war, old Fort Washington and the United States arsenal.

The places of interest in and about Washington were visited by our party. Everywhere the "Indiana" badge, which all wore, attracted much attention and caused courtesies to be extended, especially in government buildings.

The convention opened with the annual sermon on Sunday P. M. preached by Mrs. J. K. Barney, of Rhode Island, one of our 'Round the World Missionaries. Sunday evening nearly all the churches in the city were filled with White Ribbons. One large Christian church has a "Y" organization in the church.

Early Monday morning we all wended our way to the splendid LaFayette Opera House, every available seat was taken—all seats on sale were already sold for entire week. Then it was that we began to realize the magnitude of the convention.

The address of Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens, our President, was broad and comprehensive and was received with enthusiasm—by vote of convention it will be published in leaflet form and sold at 5 cents. The report of Mrs. Susanna M. D. Fry, Corresponding Secretary, showed great advancement in all lines of endeavor—it was excellent and received with appreciation.

Mrs. Helen M. Barker, National Treasurer, reported our finances to be in excellent condition and our net increase in paid membership to be actually 14,429. This, notwithstanding a campaign year, is remarkable and was such a surprise to the convention that it marveled.

The program for Welcome Night was excellent. On account of illness Miss Clara Barton was unable to be present; this was a disappointment, but in the multitude of good things, all said this was a wonderful meeting. The able address of welcome by Mrs. Clinton Smith will ever be remembered. The responses by Mrs. K. L. Stevenson, President of Massachusetts, Miss Belle Kearney, of Mississippi, Rev. Anna Shaw, and the farewell words of Miss Jessie Ackerman, who starts again for foreign fields, stirred the hearts of the people and gave evidence of the power of God. The reports of National Superintendents were most encouraging—great advancements having been made in all departments.

Before Miss Willard went to her Heavenly Home she offered the White Ribbon Star Spangled Banner to the State making the greatest net increase over 500 that year. At the close of that year at St. Paul, two years ago, five States had made an increase of 500, among them Indiana, our increase being 1,159, by far the greatest, so the Banner was given to us. Last year seven States made a gain of over 500, again Indiana was the winner. This year twelve States made a gain of over 500 and Ohio won the Banner. It is very evident to the mind of the writer that when little Indiana with about 3,000, after losing 700 the year before, should turn about and gain 1,159 caused questionings, "How did you do it," etc. We told them our plans of individual effort, of county officers and county superintendents visiting local unions, of our plan for State paper, of our W. C. T. U. Institutes in every county, etc. They made Miss Hadley, our State Superintendent of Institutes, the National Superintendent, took up many of our plans in some States, so far as to paying for their State papers from the dues, etc., until we believe somewhat as the result (?) of our success, twelve States were this year stimulated to each make a gain of over 500 members. Although the writer was asked to present the Banner to Ohio she believes that for her ability to arouse to action (?) so many States of the nation, Indiana was the real victor—although she lost the Banner.

It was not so hard for the great States with from 8,000 to 21,000 members to make a 500 gain as for a smaller State. In department work Indiana won banners in the following departments: Medal Contest, having held more diamond medals this year than any other State has ever held; Anti-Narcotic Department, a gold medal for having the most superintendents appointed; Sunday School Department for the most superintendents appointed; Fair Department for most work accomplished.

Many States are copying after us in planning for W. C. T. U. Institutes. National Officers and State Presidents predict for Indiana steady advancement to result from our plan of having the State paper in the hands of every paid member. They say that the States doing this are showing most excellent results and making permanent advancement.

It was fitting that the new century year should start our W. C. T. U. out from the National Capitol. The enthusiasm and magnitude of the convention aroused great interest in the city.

NATIONAL CONVENTION NOTES.

Many people were made life members by the payment of twenty-five dollars.

There were nine hundred and forty-one railroad certificates signed at the convention for delegates and visitors. Many persons in attendance from the far western states used regular tickets because of a desire to visit friends in the eastern or middle states, thus not wanting to return on the time limit of the certificate plan. These persons and those using the mileage books (1,000 mile tickets), will make a total of about 1,200 people going to Washington on account of the W. C. T. U. convention.

Bishop Hartsell, of the M. E. Church, made his mother a life member. The Illinois delegation arose in convention and announced that they made Bishop Hartsell a life member.

By unanimous vote of the convention the National Organizers were made members of the Executive Committee.

The Army Reorganization bill, with the substitute for the canteen section, passed the House. The substitute, offered by Mr. Littlefield, of Maine, is as follows: "The sale of or dealing in beer, wine or any intoxicating liquors by any person in any post, exchange or canteen or army transport or upon any premises used for military purposes by the United States, is hereby prohibited. The Secretary of War is hereby directed to carry the provisions of this section into full force and effect." Colonel Dicks, of Ohio, in a one-minute speech said: "The gentleman from Texas is wrong when he says that all army officers testify to the wisdom of the sale of liquors at the army canteen; on the contrary we have the testimony of General Miles, General Shafter, General Wheeler, Surgeon-General Sternberg, and many other officers, who regard it as demoralizing to discipline, and is interfering seriously with the efficiency, the health and the service of the soldier. Contrary to the expression of the member from Texas, and taking decided issue with him, I insist that the mothers of this country who give their sons to the army of the United States, have the right to petition the American Congress, and that these appeals to protect their boys from undue temptation ought not to go unheeded." Colonel Dicks talked rapidly and well. He was applauded at the close and received many compliments on his effort. The Army Canteen was abolished by a vote of 159 to 51. Immediately Mr. Fitzgerald proposed an amendment to prohibit the sale of liquor in our nation's capitol—this was ruled out of order.

It was claimed by a prominent member of Congress that the canteen substitute, as passed by the House, would not have such easy sailing through the Senate. The W. C. T. U. convention being over, the great moral pressure of their presence would be lifted.

Indiana White Ribboners were in the saloon under the House of Representatives in the Capitol.

White Ribboners visited Congress. Many were present when the Canteen was abolished by the House.

A reception given by President McKinley in the White House, at 2:30 P. M., December 6, to the W. C. T. U., was attended only by those holding cards of invitation, which were shown at the door. At 2:15 the National Officers and Executive Committee were invited to meet the receiving party—President and Mrs. McKinley, the members of the cabinet and their wives, Mrs. Clinton Smith and Mrs. Sheldon. The visitors were greeted by President McKinley in a few words, which were responded to in well chosen sentences by the National Officers. It was estimated, by the receiving party, that one thousand people attended the reception. The Marine band played in the great hall. The floral decorations were elaborate in all the rooms, being those used on the occasion of the state dinner the night previous, when Mrs. Potter Palmer was the guest of honor.

The recognition given the W. C. T. U. by the Chief Executive of the nation and his Cabinet Officers and their wives, was not for personal preferment, but rather indicates very surely the truth of Dr. Wilbur F. Craft's statement that the W. C. T. U. is the greatest law-making force in the nation, and as such is wielding a great influence. This recognition of the W. C. T. U. will doubtless cause consideration for our cause and its leaders by other governments—especially England—and by State Legislatures through which we must work for all reform legislation. The aggressiveness of our organization for Prohibition, Purity and Righteousness will continue to increase as our members and influence continues to increase until wickedness in high places is condemned and only men of right principles and clean lives can claim the franchise of his fellow citizens. Then the nullifier of law and one who uses his position for personal aggrandizement and increased power will be known only in history.

The reception given by Mrs. Ex-Senator John B. Henderson, of Missouri, in her magnificent home, to White Ribboners was largely attended. The house is built after the fashion of a turreted castle, of brown stone, on a hill near the city limits. Mrs. Henderson is a broad-minded woman who recognizes and helps in the advancement of women.

W. C. T. U. CONVENTION—COMPLETE REPORT OF THE SEMI-ANNUAL MEETING HELD HERE LAST WEEK.

The Fourteenth Semi-Annual Convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, of Martin County, met in regular session at the Loogootee M. E. Church last Thursday afternoon, with a goodly number of local members, delegates and visitors in attendance.

Mrs. F. E. Beauchamp, State President of the Kentucky W. C. T. U., was present to aid in the work of the convention, as were also the ministers of the local congregations. The young ladies of Loogootee had charge of the music and were assisted by the young ladies of Shoals.

The convention was opened by devotions, after which Mrs. Beauchamp was introduced and made some very terse and appropriate remarks. She was followed by Rev. G. W. Thompson with a few words complimentary to the speaker. After the appointment of committees, a beautiful solo was rendered by Miss Gladys Smith. Mrs. Beauchamp again addressed the audience, giving an informal talk on Bodily Purity.

FLOWER MISSION WORK.

At this season of the year every White Ribboner is called upon to respond to some appeal for pity sake, for lovesake and all for Christ sake. When this appeal comes to you please remember that if you report what you do to your Flower Mission Superintendent, when the gleanings are made from the year's work, your kind acts reported will stimulate others to give, to work and to report. I think the girls will help everywhere if shown this list and then told how much they can help.

How many bouquets, text cards, magazines given away, papers and tracts, sick taken driving; poor families helped, visits to sick, half hours spent reading to sick, nights spent caring for sick, garments given away, pounds of groceries, cans of fruit, glasses of jelly, meals given to poor, floral designs sent to funerals and growing plants given away?

ETHEL TYREE MCWHIRTER,

DePauw University,
Greencastle.

State Superintendent.

FIELD NOTES.

Tippecanoe County—President, Miss Addie A. Borum, Odell; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Fannie Greene, LaFayette; Recording Secretary, Miss Lizzie Thompson, LaFayette; Treasurer, Mrs. Anna Bore, LaFayette.

Randolph County—President, Mrs. Carrie Tomlinson, Winchester; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Kahival Jay, Winchester; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Dr. McCormack, Modoc; Treasurer, Susan J. Jackson, Parker.

Carlos City—President, Mrs. Sarah Collins; Secretary, Mrs. Mary Henly; Treasurer, Mrs. Alice Hardwick.

Lynn—President, Mrs. Mary E. Clevenger; Secretary, Mrs. Rhoda Perry; Treasurer, Mrs. Mary E. Cheneworth.

Bloomington—President, Mrs. Laura E. Paull; Vice-President, Mrs. O. N. Seibenthal; Secretary, Mrs. Flora A. Kitson; Treasurer, Mrs. Lena M. Beck; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Laura Bray.

Hanover—President, Miss Jennie Dunn; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Ida Sturgus; Treasurer, Miss Eva Turner.

Ridgeville—President, Mrs. Nelson Hiatt; Secretary, Mrs. Nora Wellinger; Treasurer, Mrs. Flora Compton.

Greencastle—President, Mrs. Blanche Goodwine; Vice-President, Mrs. Martha Little; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Grace Hays; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Mary Webb; L. T. L. Secretary, Mrs. Mattie Gilmore.

Fort Wayne—President, Mrs. Jeannette Carpenter; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. S. E. Vining; Recording Secretary, Mrs. C. C. Bloom; Treasurer, Mrs. Ida Simmons.

Hartford City—President, Mrs. S. M. Stahl; Vice-President, Mrs. A. E. Lee; Recording Secretary, Mrs. A. Taylor; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. M. S. Armitage; Treasurer, Mrs. Jason Higgins; Organist, Mrs. Lena Cogshall; Choristers, Mrs. E. Winning and Mrs. A. L. Dowell.

The County officers of the W. C. T. U. of St. Joseph County, together with members of the local Unions of South Bend, met at the pleasant home of Mrs. Isaac Gorsuch, on W. Washington street, on November 14. Our County President, Mrs. Kate W. Holler, presided. The object of the meeting was to re-organize the Colfax Avenue Union, which was done in a very satisfactory manner. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Martha Huey; Vice-President, Mrs. Sue Orner; Secretary, Mrs. Lily Jeffries; Treasurer, Mrs. Emma Leinard. The Union starts with eight paid members and there are prospects of others joining. Much enthusiasm was shown in the meeting, and the prospects for a good year of work is shown.

Mrs. Helen D. Hasford, President Oregon W. C. T. U., will be available for services in Indiana. She is an excellent speaker and most efficient worker.

A County having but one Union is not an organized county, and can have no County Officers. The Local Union Treasurer should send both County and State dues for each member (55 cents) direct to the State Treasurer until other Unions have been added to the county and a County Union effected.

Howard County sends the first order for State Minutes for all Local Presidents and County Superintendents. Several copies ordered for the different Local Unions.

Hadley Union held a meeting with Mrs. Amos Thomas, with several invited guests and eleven members present. A Mothers' meeting, arranged by our very earnest Superintendent, was the program for the day. Experiences were given by the mothers, and a recitation by Mrs. Belle Overman, of Fairmount Union, entitled "The Old Kitchen," was very entertaining. Mrs. Anna Winslow, our delegate, gave an inspiring report of State Convention. Much interest was manifested.

Mrs. S. M. Stahl writes: Mrs. Anna Lee and I came home from State Convention full of enthusiasm for a Loyal Legion for Hartford City. We held a meeting with a few children recently, talked to them and appointed another meeting for the next Friday evening. Then we had a good meeting and organized an L. T. L. and now have fifty pledged members. Mrs. Geo. Bonham, a deeply consecrated Christian woman, mother of three bright children, is Superintendent. Miss Eva Powell, a lovely young lady, who graduated last spring, took as a subject for her graduating essay "Miss Willard as President." We are proud of our L. T. L. and think it is well equipped. Mrs. Tracy, a sweet little mother and a beautiful singer, is a valuable helper in the L. T. L.

The W. C. T. U. of Covington and the Sunday schools of the different churches joined in celebrating the world's Sunday school temperance Sunday. There were recitations, readings and select music, also talks by the Superintendents of some of the Sabbath schools and appropriate remarks by others. In all it was a very interesting and instructive program. It is hoped that the inspiration from this meeting may result in great good for the future of the city of Covington.

KATE S. CRAIG,

Corresponding Secretary.

Greensburg is the first Union to send in a sample of their annual program.

Anna Gordon, World's Superintendent of the L. T. L., writes me of the L. T. L. work as reported in Edinburg, Scotland, in June last, and she is greatly encouraged to find how rapidly the L. T. L. methods are being adopted in distant lands, especially in Norway, Finland and the Australian colonies. Mrs. George, at the head of the work in Australia, especially urged the taking up of the senior course of study, diploma plan, etc.

Peru gave a supper December 5, for Hadley School.

Amboy has seven new members and a new President, Mrs. Doan, formerly President at Sheridan.

Miami County Corresponding Secretary had to resign.

Willard Memorial Union, Indianapolis, have their arrangements completed for Hadley Contest. Secured two new members at their last regular meeting.

Central Union, Indianapolis, gained two new members since the Convention.

St. Joseph is the first county to report a W. T. P. A. agent for every Union and heads the honor roll.

Dr. Jessup Smith spends the winter in New Mexico, but has provided for her department. Write her at Wabash as usual.

Winchester sent a barrel of fruit to Hadley and tied a comfort for the School. Have a contest arranged for December and another for January.

Back Creek Union ordered books for their Hadley Contest, November 9, and hope to be the first to report.

Burlington cast forty-nine votes for Prohibition against nine last year. That is something very encouraging. They have a wall pocket for literature in their barber shop.

Whitley County held its Convention October 12, and elected Mrs. Clara A. Remington, South Whitley, President. Sorry we did not receive report in time to make the change in the Annual Minutes.

Columbia City Union has disbanded, deserted, gone into winter quarters.

Iowa, Nebraska, Illinois, Arkansas, Kansas and Missouri held an inter-State Contest. An Indiana boy, who recently moved to Kansas City, won the medal.

Ft. Wayne Union recommends a rummage sale to replenish the treasury of Local Unions. The Young Woman's Christian Association held a sale of two weeks and cleared five hundred dollars.

Jasper County at Surry: A Contest with a class of young ladies. Mrs. S. B. Thorton, chairman.

HONOR ROLL.

Counties whose every Union have a W. T. P. A. agent: No. 1, St. Joseph.

The following program is to be rendered by the W. C. T. U. at Mrs. Everson's, Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the celebration of Neal Dow's birthday: Instrumental solo, Miss Della Smith; vocal solo, Rev. Rader; Quotations, W. C. T. U.; Glimpses of Neal Dow in his Home, Miss Mabel Neal; vocal duette, Mesdames Hale and Rader; reminiscences, Mrs. Nelson; The Maine Law, Miss Inez McGregor; vocal duette, Mesdames Barker and Calkins; Life of Mrs. Dow, Mrs. Grace Edson; instrumental solo, Miss Mollie Schnur. Everybody invited; admission free.

The time to stand by your Union is when you "can't see that it is doing any good." Let us not be like the man who never went to church unless there was a revival in progress, and of whom people used to say, "if Mr. — ever gets to heaven he'll die in a revival."

If the drink traffic were annihilated those who are its patrons might, by voluntary contributions, support every distiller, brewer and bartender in absolute idleness and the country be financially the gainer by the change.

A large Union has to carry the members; in a small society the members have to carry the Union. So, it is about even, as in both cases the carrying power is exercised by the few—the faithful, immortal few. Are you one of them?—Pacific Ensign.

AMERICA THE SAME.

If I could destroy to-morrow the desire for strong drink in the people of England, we should see our taxes reduced by millions sterling. We should see our goals and work-houses empty. We should see more lives saved in twelve months than are consumed in a century of savage war.—Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain.

GOOD ADVICE CONDENSED.

Drink less, breathe more; eat less, chew more; ride less, walk more; clothe less, bathe more; worry less, work more; waste less, give more; write less, read more; preach less, practice more.

DIED OR FALLEN ASLEEP IN CHRIST.

Elizabeth Jones, at the age of fifty-five years, fell asleep in Christ Jesus, November 12, 1900, at her home in Broad Ripple, at five o'clock in the morning. She closed her eyes forever to the scenes of this world for a brighter, better land where Jesus is the light. She was a faithful member of the Methodist church, also a member and President of the Dorcas Society of the M. E. church. She was also a much loved member of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Broad Ripple. She was a great sufferer for many years, but was always patient even to the end. She leaves to follow her, a husband, two sisters and a host of friends. She was placed in the vault at Ebenezer church.

W. C. T. U. BENEDICTION.

"The Lord bless us and keep us; the Lord make His face to shine upon us and be gracious unto us; the Lord lift up His countenance upon us and give us peace."

MRS. EUNICE P. WILSON,
President Indiana W. C. T. U.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE TO YOU.

It would be a very great pleasure to me to take each one of you by the hand and feel the inspiration your presence would give me, but I cannot. I will do the next best—use our State paper in the hands of every White Ribboner to send along the line my greeting in the morning of this glad new year, at the dawn of a new century, with its wonderful possibility. I received at our late National Convention a much broader, a more comprehensive view of our work than ever before. And I do not believe Indiana will be behind other states in improving our opportunities, or slower to enter the open door to our Lord's service. Let us be looking for women who are now "standing idle in the market place" and try to enlist them in our ranks as helpers in the great battle for a pure home and a sober nation. Let everyone be energetic in circulating the petitions for signatures to be presented to the present legislature in regard to the suffrage amendment.

I have studied carefully the Plan of Work adopted by our late State convention and believe it to be worthy of our best efforts.

I do most earnestly recommend the L. T. L. branch as a feature of our work that must have a prominent place in this year's work.

"The children are afield" and cannot be neglected without the most serious results to the W. C. T. U. of the future.

I cannot close this little message to you without asking of you a very generous subscription to the Union Signal. Indiana should take at least three thousand copies at the late magnificent offer of one copy for three months for only 15 cents. No White Ribboner can afford to do without this paper on those terms and I think it would be a beautiful gift to our friends.

EUNICE P. WILSON.

CORRESPONDING SECRETARY'S LETTER ON PREMIUMS.

DEAR SECRETARY—I am speaking to you as if there were only one in the State and as if it were a personal letter.

I shall give three premiums this year, first, second and third, and will make an Honor Roll of all who can in any sense have a place on it. First, those reporting for the four quarters and then the old points—completeness. Study this word in its connection with our blank. Neatness—no blots, no erasures. Promptness—on time. If I do not name the second and third premiums now, you can surely trust me and the surprise will be pleasant.

I suggest if County Corresponding Secretaries could in some way stimulate by fair and helpful means their Local Secretaries, it might remove much of their troubles in not hearing from the local Unions on time. A County Secretary should know her locals and cultivate friendly relations. Mutual helpfulness must be our watchword. I thank every dear Secretary who has sent in the names of her officers.

INSTITUTES.

Work to begin in March. Organized counties to locate theirs. I have heard from two counties on this point—Miami and Bartholomew. This is the January paper. Then February is a short month and if this work is not complete, so I can give the scheduled places and dates in the February paper, some one will not have time to advertise and time enough will prove, as it always does, too late. Will the organized counties attend to this at once? And to the unorganized counties we say, invite us to come; give us suggestions as to the place. We would like to please everybody, and yet a schedule is much like the steel rails on a railroad bed; when made or laid we must be pleased, they can't be changed, and yet the good of all has been considered. It is a task. Will everyone help to lighten it and help to make our institutes a greater success than at any previous year?

ON THE BY-LAW.

In a few of our letters this question has been asked: "How do you expect us to carry on our local work," referring to the membership fee covering the price of the MESSAGE.

Any local Union, large or small, which depends entirely on its membership fee to do local work never does much. "And it will do less, now," you respond, "for we have still less money." The local Union has a larger share of the membership fee now than ever before; and the fact of 25 cents of its portion being set apart for the official organ places the Union in the best possible condition to do local work and to make the necessary money. One of the best ways for replenishing the treasury is to get honorary members. Aside from the financial gain, they are a source of strength to the Union and somewhat of a criterion to judge in what esteem the Union is held in the community. A second source of money making and one on which there is no discount, is to hold a contest. In the National Union $18,000 was realized from contests last year and nearly two-thirds of the contests failed to give figures on this point.

A MEASURING PARTY.

A measuring party will be given you
By the ladies of the W. C. T. U.
'Tis something novel and will be quite a treat,
And there'll be plenty of fun and good things to eat.
The invitation is in the sack
For use in bringing or sending back
Five cents for each foot that you are tall;
We need money badly—we've many a call.
An extra cent for each inch give
And thereby show how high you live.
And if perchance you can't attend,
By some dear friend your sack please send.

N. B.—This note of invitation is sent in a sack, Union to determine size, kind, etc. Also provide program and refreshments. I do not approve of refreshments when they encourage overeating and that depends on the hours in which you serve them.

The new by-law seems to be very acceptable, with a very few exceptions. Over eight hundred subscriptions have been added to our mailing list from one hundred and two Unions at this date—January 2. At this rate, by the end of the fourth quarter the entire membership will have the MESSAGE. Unions are adopting the by-law and at our next convention we trust it will be placed in the Constitution without one dissenting voice. Dear co-workers, let this fact provoke us to good work. Our State is first on the imaginary National Roll of Honor for department work. National banners as follows will appear in our next annual gathering: For institutes, for fairs, Sunday schools, soldiers and sailors, narcotics, medal and last year's press star will shine if it is not a new planet. No other state in the Union has such a showing as that. I remember as I write, it is the new year of the new century. How much we should want to do for humanity, that means for God! If I could make you each a new year's gift it would be a copy of Henry Drummond's little booklet "Love, the Supreme Gift," and that it might lie with your Bible near you and that you might often read it and then live it.

Holiday festivities caused you to forget to send that condensed report from your Union. I missed it. Did we all notice the limitations in regard to our space in the MESSAGE? I repeat to save some one's feelings when their MSS. is cut short or left out.

Obituary notices limited to one hundred words; county reports, to three hundred; local, to one hundred; financial reports must be summary in form. See report of Central Committee in December issue, first page.

It is quite an opportunity for any Union to entertain the Executive Committee in March, and the Central Committee will soon decide its location. If other Unions are thinking of sending in an invitation they had better not delay or they will be too late. And remember, at the spring executive we locate the annual meeting. Several have asked why they failed to receive the blanket report blanks. We answer, because the Annual Convention said, send them out once this year; that is for the annual report, the last quarter of the year.

MARY E. BALCH.

RECORDING SECRETARY'S LETTER.

Please allow me to speak to the women one wee word. Yes, the Minutes are out. They have been somewhat delayed, not by any fault of the Secretary, but a deficiency in the completeness of reports. So out of the kindness of our hearts we waited days for some of these reports, for we do desire all reports to be as full and complete as possible.

Let us remember all through the new year that the By-laws say that "all reports shall be in the hands of the Recording Secretary five days previous to the State Convention," and if these reports are desired printed for the annual meeting they must surely be in sooner than five days. Now let us work to this end another year, urging our Superintendents to be faithful in keeping a record of work done and very faithful in reporting it.

Lovingly,
MATTIE CAMMACK-GIBSON.

STATE TREASURER.

As a result of special effort, the Union Signal can be secured as a trial copy for three months for 15 cents. This is a magnificent offer. What a beautiful Christmas present for your ministers, your friends, yourselves and the Signal. No premiums offered. The subscriber receives the benefit of the reduction.

We are especially anxious for this trial copy to go into the hands of every local officer and Superintendent in your Union who is not already a subscriber. Ask every member to take the paper. If you cannot make the canvas yourself please secure some one at once who can and send your list not later than January 31. If Convention number is desired, send by December 31.

The Union sending largest list, in proportion to its membership, will receive honorary mention in Signal and MESSAGE. You cannot afford to miss this opportunity.

Club lists and money for same must be sent to my address, 3335 North Meridian street, Indianapolis.

Wishing you a merry Christmas and a happy New Year, I am most enthusiastically yours,

AMANDA T. WHITSON.

Y. W. C. T. U.

Dear Y's, wishing all a Happy New Year, may it also be a busy one. Pray each day that the Father will help us to double our membership; be faithful at all times, courageous for the temperance principles our W. C. T. U. leaders sacrificed so much for. Keep our motto ever before you, "Onward to Victory."

Wednesday, December 5, the State Y Secretary visited the Goodland Y. W. C. T. U. It was the close of the Newton County Convention, and that evening the Y had a program in the Presbyterian church, consisting of music by chorus, and White Ribbon Quartette, composed of young men who are Y's. Recitation by one of the young ladies, followed by an address by the State Y Secretary.

Friday evening, at the home of the County President, Mrs. Hardy, a Y social was held. A program was enjoyed. Miss Sears had charge of a question box, which brought out many departments of the Y work. Mrs. Hardy and charming daughter proved to be equal to the occasion, giving each one a warm welcome, and you felt at home at once.

Mrs. Mugg, the President of Goodland Y, is a splendid leader, the right woman in the right place, and being such a busy woman I know our Y's will help her all they can. It was the delight of the Secretary to be entertained in Mrs. Mugg's home and become acquainted with her worker.

Of the first quarterly blanks that were sent out, thirty-three in all, only the following were returned: South Marion, Anderson, Alexandria, Otterbein, South Bend, Martinsville, Goshen, Peru, Vincennes; only nine out of thirty-three. Dear Y girls, as this MESSAGE is to go into your homes, now look over this list and see if your Corresponding Secretary has returned the blanks, and if not, please help her.

Monrovia, Morgan County Y, gave toward Convention Fund for 1901, $1.00. As the Unions send in their part assigned to the Unions the amount will be published in the MESSAGE.

Send me items of accounts of your meetings on postals, girls, because I must send it to Miss Parish, our National Y Secretary, each week, and I must depend upon you.

CLARA M. SEARS,
State Y Secretary.

A COPY OF THE BY-LAW ADOPTED AT THE LAST STATE CONVENTION.

Any woman may become a member of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union by endorsing the constitution and paying an annual membership fee of $1.00, of which 40 cents shall be paid for State dues, 15 cents for county dues, 20 cents for Local Union dues and 25 cents for the official organ, the MESSAGE, and signing the following pledge: —

According to the standing announcement on the second page, all material for the MESSAGE should be in the hands of the Editor by the 5th of the month.

Dear sisters, the limitations placed by the Central Committee upon communications from State Superintendents, County and Local Union reports will hereafter be considered by the Editor. These limitations have appeared in recent issues.

WHAT WILL THE OPENING OF THE NEW CENTURY BRING TO US IN W. C. T. U. INSTITUTE WORK?

It is the privilege of a lifetime to greet you at the threshold of a new year and a new century, and with you to entertain a hope and a faith that the century holds for humanity a fruition of developments as bright and beautiful as its dawn.

To the end that this may be true, let us recount our blessings with thanksgiving and rejoicing and thoughtfully and hopefully plan for greater conquests in 1901.

Such a planning we believe was well begun at our Annual Convention held in Frankfort in October.

With the annual report in hand, let us turn to page 44 and read carefully "Modifications of Institute Plan," and on page 141 read "The Plan in Brief," and proceed to work accordingly.

If an account of illness, absence from home or other unavoidable detention from the work, the County President (acting as ex-officio Superintendent of Institutes) is unable to call a timely meeting of her Executive, or to otherwise arrange for the Institute, the Vice President (where there is one) or Corresponding Secretary should promptly come to her aid and set the forces in motion. When the place for holding the Institute has been decided, State Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Mary E. Balch, 711 East Eleventh Street, should be notified.

It is very desirable that every County President forward this information at her earliest convenience in January, that the Secretary may have time to make the schedule of dates on the best route possible in time for publication in the February issue of the MESSAGE, which issue will also contain the suggestive outline program for 1901.

It will be seen that the first Committee to be organized is the one to arrange for the Contest, as supplies are to be ordered, a class formed, etc.

Do not forget that supplies include 200 or more tickets to contest in small envelopes, to be sold in advance, if we insure the good hearing we want for our principles, as proclaimed by our young people in recitation. This is necessary also for the welfare of the county treasury. Send the money with the order for medal, books and tickets, to the State Superintendent of Contests, Mrs. Balch, addressing her as above.

On the supposition that County Presidents have, or will early prepare a County W. C. T. U. Roster of their local Unions, etc., they are kindly requested to hand a copy of this Roster to the leader of the Institute at the opening of the session. Those Presidents who were mindful of this request last year furnished a basis for helpfulness in the work of the county. The program will provide for the discussion of the topic, what should the County Roster contain to be most helpful to the work? This discussion to be lead by the County President, with a copy of the roster at hand, illustrating her ideas.

At the close of the Institutes held on a schedule of dates a premium will be awarded to the County President making the best roster. Points to be judged—First, completeness; second, neatness and accuracy. Our State Corresponding Secretary and Treasurer have been asked to serve as judges. This roster can be prepared on congress cap paper in any simple, plain way which commends itself to the County President preparing it. That there may be sufficient uniformity to enable the judges to do their work easily, let the roster contain—First, W. C. T. U. Roster of — County, Ind., for the year 1901; second, the names of the county officers with their respective offices and their postoffice address; third, name each local Union, its officers, etc. Give the number of paid members and also enrolled members. If there is a Y branch working with the W's, give its membership in the same way. Give honoraries and Y honoraries separately. Give totals throughout the roster. Register independent Y Unions just as W Unions are given. Give the number of L. T. L. organizations in the county, with the number of members in each, also give the name and address of the leader; fourth, give the number of State papers taken by each Union, number of Union Signals and other periodicals published for our work. Give total for the county; fifth, credit each local Union having a W. T. P. A. agent with the same. Credit each local Union making a study of Department work. State plan of work, course of study, State constitution, etc. Credit each Union reporting an annual program or doing other special work of general interest; sixth, give the number of departments taken up by the county and by each local Union. On a second sheet make a schedule of County Superintendents of Departments, with corresponding Superintendents for each local Union in the county, registered in columns to the right. This may be extended by columns on the left for corresponding State, National and World's Superintendents. This makes a practical and helpful completion of the list; seventh and lastly, give brief statement or outline of the work mapped out for your county for the year.

Now, dear County Presidents, please do not imagine your Superintendent has converted herself into an interrogation point to give you your work. Some of you have already provided yourselves with a roster similar to the one indicated and found it most helpful. And will those who are newer in the work please believe that such a nucleus or basis of information as a good roster always at hand gives the foundation upon which a beautiful superstructure of surpassing good work can be most easily built?

As the other county officers co-operate with you by furnishing such information as is in their line, your roster will be almost made. If you combine the facts in a simple and methodical way, making a tabulated page or showing of facts and figures, it will not occupy as much space as has been taken to indicate what it should contain.

Do not fail to send me at once any helpful suggestions you may have for the work, together with any subjects you are especially anxious to have placed on the program.

March 20th will be about the time of beginning work in sections one, two and three. In section four the work will begin later, as usual.

A few counties have already reported the place for holding Institute to our Corresponding Secretary. We trust that all will do this on time and that nothing may be left undone that should contribute to make this opening year of the century all it should be in our work.

MARY HADLEY,
Superintendent.

ATTENTION.

Each County Superintendent of a Department is expected to send on a card immediately the full names and addresses of all of her Local Superintendents to the respective State Superintendents.

The blanket report blanks being sent quarterly last year so greatly increased the sum total of the work done that Indiana, with less than six thousand paid members, won banners in four departments. Consider, please, what that means. Other states, with from fourteen to twenty-three thousand paid members, let Indiana gain department banners. Now, by a very unwise act of the State Convention, the blanket-report blanks will not be sent quarterly, so much diligence will be necessary on the part of Local and County Superintendents to all keep up the splendid record made. In the matter of reporting and of the blanks, the State, County and Local Superintendents ought to be considered instead of those who estimate more from the postage standpoint than from the real activity urged by having to report the work of the departments quarterly.

NATIONAL W. C. T. U.

Total number delegates to National Convention at Washington, 629. 14,467 net gain in paid membership during the year, twelve States on Benefit Night each having made a gain of five hundred or over.

Ohio gaining two thousand, being the greatest, won the White Ribbon Star Spangled Banner, which Indiana held for two years. Much aggressive work all over the Nation. Madam Barakat, of Syria, and Miss Munculd, of Australia, were in attendance.

Fifty-seven delegates and visitors from Indiana. Almost solid in representation by States from the South.

Mrs. Rice, National Secretary L. T. L. Branch, gave her report in the language of a Bible parable, which was interesting and unique and greatly enjoyed.

Mrs. Margaret Dye Ellis, National Superintendent of Legislation, announced to the Convention that the Anti-Canteen Amendment had passed the House by a large majority. The Convention applauded and applauded, finally rising spontaneously and singing "Praise God."

The twelve States making a net gain of five hundred or over were represented on Benefit Night by their Presidents: New York, Mrs. Ella A. Boole; Iowa, Mrs. Marion H. Dunham; West Washington, Mrs. Margaret B. Platt; Maine, Mrs. Gertrude Stevens Leavitt (daughter of our National President, Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens), who spoke for the Y's, for the gains were made by the young women; Ohio, Mrs. Annie W. Clark; Connecticut, Mrs. Cornelia B. Forbes; Virginia, Mrs. Howard M. Hodge; Michigan, Mrs. A. S. Benjamin; Vermont, Mrs. Ida H. Read; New Hampshire, Mrs. Ellen R. Richardson; West Virginia, Mrs. N. R. C. Morrow.

The National President's address ought to be read by every Union. Send 15 cents to Mrs. Helen M. Barker, Rest Cottage, Evanston, Ill., for a copy of the National Minutes. It will contain the address and officers' and superintendents' reports. Have extracts from the address read at the Union by the President. Also have the officers of the Union and Superintendents of departments.

If the President of the Union will read extracts from the address it will be very interesting. If the Corresponding Secretary will read extracts from the National Corresponding Secretary's report much information would be gained. Also if each Local Superintendent would read extracts from her National Superintendent's report the Union would become enthusiastic on some of the work. In regard to the officers' and superintendents' reports the same plan exactly would be helpful if our State Minutes were used. These can be had for 15 cents in stamps, sent to Mrs. A. T. Whitson, 3335 N. Meridian street, Indianapolis. Extracts from the Minutes, State and National, should be published in the county newspapers.

Miss Anna Gordon presided at the election of President and introduced Mrs. Stevens, whereupon the entire convention arose, receiving her amid smiles and the waving of handkerchiefs, finally singing "Praise God from Whom All Blessings Flow." Miss Gordon then presented Mrs. Leavitt (daughter of Mrs. Stevens), who said: "You all think you know my mother, but you do not know her half as well as I do. I know her as only an only daughter can know a mother. I never saw her angry nor impatient, but always kind and loving. She never forgets nor neglects anybody but herself." (From the platform Mrs. Leavitt favors Lady Henry Somerset.)

Flowers were presented to Mrs. Stevens from many places, among them Portland, Me., and Portland, Ore.

Mrs. Lenora M. Lake came impulsively forward on the platform and said, "An Irish woman, born in the beautiful city of Cork, an American by adoption, a Catholic by faith and allegiance and one with you in principle, salutes you and congratulates you on your election." She then kissed Mrs. Stevens on the cheek.

Mrs. J. K. Barney knelt with Mrs. Stevens and offered a fervent prayer.

It was a very impressive scene.

In the death of Mrs. Hannah J. Clark, of Elkhart, Indiana W. C. T. U. has lost a generous and loving friend. We mourn her loss. Through her great kindness our Hadley Industrial School received a gift of $800, and last winter another gift of $500. At her request her name was not mentioned in connection with this last gift while she lived.

FRANCHISE.

Local newspapers have recently spoken with righteous indignation about the common practice of police officials and police courts of arresting and punishing women and letting men go free when their guilt was equal. This injustice done by men in power towards women who are in their power shames the dark ages, when women were worse than slaves to the passions and caprices of men, and is a burning shame in a country like ours. A liberty-loving and justice-dealing people ought to forever put out of practice double dealing. The good old plan that "they shall take who have the power and they shall keep who can," a sort of wild justice that was made up of all injustice.

We in America brought with us from England their laws. These laws are like the English language—composed of many elements; but the Saxon code lies under all, with its strong tendency to personal liberty and exact and equal justice to high and low, women as well as men, just as the Saxon tongue is the basis and foundation of our language.

Always seeking after right and common sense, our law is not perfect; nor is it perfectly administered, but the whole world admits that the English-speaking people have the best laws known to man. Now all who have a righteous sense of justice believe that exact and equal justice merged into law and faithfully executed would mete out equal punishment to equal transgressors, both men and women; but in order to accomplish this, women must have a share in helping to frame the laws and in their execution.

Our National W. C. T. U. Convention, at Washington, D. C., urged by resolution the "enfranchisement of women, expresses sympathy with organized labor in its just demands for a living wage, an eight-hour day, the prohibition of child labor, and in all wise efforts for justice and freedom," urging the adoption of laws to secure equal purity in both sexes and protesting against the government regulation of vice in any form.

In an address of welcome to the National Council of Women, Mayor Gray, of Minneapolis, Minn., said: "We owe more in Minneapolis to the character of our women than to any other factor in the progress of the city. We need the infusion into city life of woman's activity. While I have been mayor we have made an attempt to have a woman on the Board of Health, but largely on account of political favoritism we have failed to get one there. We have had a woman on the School Board, and I believe she did her work in an efficient manner. One was nominated this year, but unfortunately she was put on the Democratic ticket. The men on the board are well meaning enough, but they look on the outside of a building and feel satisfied. A woman would see the stairs and the corners of the room, where a man sees the pretty principal. I shall welcome the day when the women of Minneapolis have a great deal more to say about these affairs than they have at present."

At the convention of the Iowa Equal Suffrage Association, Mayor Hartenbower, in his speech of welcome, endorsed the purpose of that organization, and added, "Many desirable reforms can never be brought about until we get woman's aid at the ballot box."

Women of Indiana, let us put forth every effort to gain an equal recognition before the law.

MRS. M. A. TOMPKINS.

PRESS DEPARTMENT.

You have a new Superintendent this year, and I hope to lead you on to greater victories. My desire is to have every town in Indiana, where there is a Union, to have their W. C. T. U. column in the newspaper. Will the Local and County President please appoint a reliable, capable woman in their County and local Unions and send me their names?

Continue to save the clippings. Indiana showed much work done last year. Can we not do better this year? Other States are taking up our plan of work. So we must look to our laurels. Mrs. Vance, your last Superintendent, was given a large silver star at the National, at Seattle, for the best report of Press Work of any State in the Nation. I am having made a White Satin Banner with a large gilt star on it to be given each year to the County sending the greatest number of feet of clippings. Which counties will work for it this year, to be given at the State Convention? I urge every Superintendent to take up this plan of work. Send me your name so I can send you my new leaflet, with full directions for this year's work.

MRS. MAY MOSER,
State Superintendent.

MOTHERS' MEETINGS.

Dear co-workers, County and Local Superintendents of this very important department, I wish I could look into your faces, that we might have a real heart to heart talk about the great importance of our work. Our object is to glorify God in teaching the highest truth and advocating the best life we know—the dominion of the Holy Spirit over every faculty and propensity of the mind, soul and body, developing the faculties, so as to attain to the purity of heart which merits the benedictions, "Blessed are the pure in heart."

I have already received letters asking for plan of work. My plan, to begin with, is a County Superintendent for every county, and a Local Superintendent for every Union. Different localities will demand different plans. Let Local Superintendents be watchful, prayerful and vigilant. Don't always depend on W. C. T. U. day for your mothers' meetings; there is so much to do you will not have sufficient time. Ask some good woman to let you have a mothers' meeting in her home; ask her to invite her neighbors and you send special invitations to young mothers. Go filled with the Spirit; the Bible your text book, the Holy Ghost your guide. Your meetings will be a success and a demand for others will be created.

Dear sisters, our foundation stone is unswerving faith in the efficacy of united prayer, and because we have faith in united prayer, shall we not pledge ourselves (I will; who will join me?) to earnestly and persistently pray every day to our God who does hear and answer prayer, to guide and direct us in teaching these fundamental facts of purity, and the great responsibility of parenthood. Let us bear in mind that the child inherits the vices of the father as truly as the virtues of the mother. Provide yourselves with literature; you cannot be efficient workers without it. Ask ministers to preach on the responsibility of parents. Be definite; "aiming at nothing and hitting it," will be no more effective in this work than in the use of guns. Plan carefully and prayerfully for each meeting and organize mothers' clubs where possible. Establish a circulating library, keep a record of all work done, all literature distributed and report at the proper time. Please write your name and address plainly; I can guess at most anything else better than that. I believe the efficiency of mothers' meetings is measured by their spiritual power, therefore, let us keep in close touch with God and one another. I desire to be helpful in every way I can, and will respond to every call for help to the best of my ability. Will send samples of literature to every one that will apply. Lovingly and loyally yours for service,

MRS. S. M. STAHL.

ANTI-NARCOTIC DEPARTMENT.

DEAR SISTERS AND SUPERINTENDENTS—In appreciation of the honor bestowed upon me, let untiring service be my plea. If I could only arrest the mother's thought long enough to see the great disadvantage we are laboring under, not to say the great degeneracy, nay more, the greatest of all injuries and legacies, that our indifference and shameless neglect bequeath to our offspring and to the world at large, we would repent in sack cloth and ashes and only aspire to live to undo and partly remedy our only opportunity along this line.

We of our sex have tolerated, encouraged and delayed to frown upon this greatest of all evils, until we have suffered untold privations, nay, agonies, and our very heart's blood has been sacrificed upon the altar of this idol—narcotics. It has not only mastered all that is best within us, but all that we ever dare be, unless prompt action seizes us with fear and trembling and spurs us on to victory. Sisters, united, any vigorous effort, with God's help, can accomplish wonders. Think of one chasing a thousand and two putting ten thousand to flight! Too many of our people say, "You cannot expect to do anything under our present administration, local or national," and we have found the saying of Senator Hawley, of Connecticut, verified: "God holds the hearts of all men in his hands, and will turn the way of the wicked upside down." Let us throw up every stronghold and attack our wily enemy from every feasible point, leaving the result with God.

Let me thank Miss A. Turner, Corresponding Secretary of Howard County, for her prompt action in sending me the names of Anti-Narcotic Superintendents of her county. I will consider it a great favor if other counties will do likewise, so we can all encourage and co-operate in our department work. Please write me as she does, and send me your suggestions to glean the best from and weave into systematic work for the redemption of our race.

I hereby pledge myself, upon honor, to abstain from smoking cigarettes or using tobacco in any form, at least until I reach the age of twenty-one years and to use my influence to induce others to do the same.

Name..... Date..... Age.....

GIRLS' AUXILIARY A. C. L.

My strength is as the strength of ten, because my heart is pure.

Abstaining myself from the use of cigarettes, or tobacco in any form, I agree to use my influence to induce others to do the same. I will never admit a liking for the odor of tobacco or give presents suggesting its use.

Name..... Date..... Age.....

I am glad to report work in several of our towns is in arms against the tobacco and cigarette—the most insidious destroyer of our homes the devil has been able to invent. It will require the utmost vigilance, united work and prayer on our part to defeat such a wily enemy who has gotten such a hold on every home (very few exceptions) that the very vitals of our nation are paralyzed almost beyond redemption. Six months' persistent and united effort would rout tobacco from our State. We have state protection in the Tobacco and Anti-Cigarette Law. We citizens fail to enforce them for our own safety. We each one can do as Patrolman Aldstadt, of Muncie, who followed up two small boys whom he saw smoking, which led to the arrest of the dealer. Another arrest was made of a grocer who sold to a boy of thirteen. Roxbury, Mass., has been infested with a gang of boy burglars of 13 to 21 years of age. Captain Wyman, of the Tenth police station, explains matters thus: "We have been compelled to arrest several school-going youngsters on charges of burglary and the only reason I can possibly assign for their criminal actions is that they have become cigarette fiends and in order to satisfy their depraved tastes they take to stealing. It is practically a gang of school-boy bandits and their downfall is traceable to cigarettes." The boys from every section of the country read of wrecks in various forms, deaths, murders and all forms of crimes due to cigarettes and tobacco. Tobacco sots or wrecks are more common than whisky sots. Why? Because the agitation and work of temperance reforms have been solely against liquors and the use of tobacco, the instigator, has been considered genteel and overlooked until it has assumed such gigantic proportions, in which the expenditure of money, brain and energy have been so ruthlessly squandered, we have become a race of degenerates, and thus too timid to assert our rights and hold our own.

Many giants—great and small,
Stalking through the land,
Headlong to the earth would fall
If met by Daniel's band.
Dare to be a Daniel!
Dare to stand alone!
Dare to have a purpose firm,
Dare to make it known.

Let us all read the first chapter of Daniel, purpose to be Daniels and we can fully accomplish in our day, having the same God, as much as Daniel did in his day.

MRS. ELIZABETH DRAKE,
State Superintendent.

[This excellent paper to be continued in next month's issue.—EDITOR.]

The State Minutes are now in the hands of the State Treasurer. All orders will be filled promptly. Now that the holidays are over, it is to be hoped that every Union that has not already done so will immediately solicit an order for the Minutes from every member and send the order at once to Mrs. Amanda T. Whitson, 3335 North Meridian St., Indianapolis.

The number of Minutes taken by a Union will be placed opposite the name of the Union in the State Minutes at the close of this year. We are sure that every Union will be glad to have a large number opposite the name of their Union. How many will make it equal to their membership?

The names of the counties and local Unions that have supplied every officer and Superintendent with a copy of the State Minutes will be given in the next issue of the MESSAGE. This will give every county an equal chance to be upon the Honor Roll. Many counties and Unions have already reported. We hope to hear from a great many in the next week. In sending in the list do not fail to say whether they go into the hands of all officers and Superintendents or not. I cannot put names on the Honor Roll unless the information is given me.

Only those who have paid dues since September 25, 1900, are entitled to the MESSAGE to be paid for from the funds taken from the State, County and Local treasuries.

The new by-law in regard to the MESSAGE applies to every member who pays dues, both Y's and W's.

Mrs. Julia A. Trish goes to Arkansas for a season to work among the colored people.

The price of the State Minutes, if sent by mail, is 15 cents per copy; this includes postage. If sent by express, the price is 10 cents per copy, the express charges to be paid by the Union or person ordering them, when delivered.

EXTRACTS FROM STATE MINUTES.

Following the precedent set by the State in its decision to send a free copy of the National Minutes to County Presidents and State Superintendents, the State voted that the counties should send a free copy of the State Minutes to each local Union President, County President and County Superintendent.

Moved, that this convention recommend to the County Presidents that they make an effort to place the Minutes in the hands of every member in their respective counties.

In harmony with the action of the State Convention in placing the Minutes in the hands of county officers, the State Central Committee suggested that the local Unions place free copies of the State Minutes in the hands of all the other local Union officers and local Union Superintendents.

A letter has been sent to every Union in the State announcing the magnificent offer made to Indiana by the publishers of the Union Signal.

Think of it! A three months' subscription for only 15 cents! Can we as Unions and members afford to let this opportunity pass of placing the National organ in the hands of every member, of every minister, and many friends of temperance? Please allow me to suggest that every member consider herself a member of the committee to assist the Literature Superintendent by subscribing herself, if she is not already a subscriber, and securing at least one other subscriber. Neal Dow, that grand man of Maine, said, "Sow the State knee deep with literature." Now, dear sisters, this is a golden opportunity. This offer stands open until January 31. Many have already sent names. Let many others follow.

The Union Signal as a weekly visitor in the homes of hundreds of people in our State will mean much to the temperance cause. No premium is offered. The subscriber receives the benefit of the reduction. Club lists and money for same must be sent to Mrs. Amanda T. Whitson, 3335 North Meridian St., Indianapolis.

FIELD NOTES.

The Willard Memorial Y, of South Bend, have nice wall pockets for the depots.

South Bend has just closed a very successful Sabbath Observance pledge-signing in the Sunday schools.

The little band of workers of the Willard W. C. T. U. at Lexington, are still striving in the noble work of temperance. The meetings are held every two weeks, on Saturday afternoons, at the homes of the different members. Once each month a Mothers' meeting is held. Thanksgiving Union Services were held and in the evening a profitable lecture on "Little Things," was given by Rev. J. C. Burkhardt, of Irvington. Socials are held frequently and arrangements are being made for a new class in the oratorical work. Our daily prayers are for trust and guidance to help us on in the work and to do all we can for those who are held in the bonds of intemperance.

The Secretary of State filed our articles of incorporation December 31, 1900.

State Superintendent Jones, of Public Instruction, said in the revision of the School books, the Indiana law, requiring temperance teaching in the public schools, was considered. The work of revision is completed.

The MESSAGE has opened an account with the People's Deposit Bank of Indianapolis.

The National Equal Suffrage Bazar, held in New York the first week in December, netted their treasury six thousand dollars. Mrs. Catt and Miss Hay led in the enterprise.

The Indiana delegates and visitors who were entertained at the Elsmere, while at the National Convention, say to their friends, if you visit Washington, D. C., this winter, or at any time, you will find the Elsmere has no bar, and treats her guests with great consideration and kindness.

White County is without a President. The lady who filled that place, Mrs. Ora Boner, has removed to Illinois. An Executive Committee meeting will be called and the vacancy filled.

Wolcott Union's program has a visitors' day, which called out a very large attendance.

Danville Union reports great increase in membership, due to Miss Brehm's visit there, and they all read the MESSAGE.

The Anti-Cigarette League of Ft. Wayne has an office in the Ninde Block, West Berry Street. They have an orchestra and choral society, a court of trial, judge, attorney and jury. Hold monthly meetings.

Some women do want to vote; 145,000 registered to vote for the President, but Woolley did not get them all.

Hartford City Union sends program. A roll of the regular and honorary members is a new feature and a good one, too.

At the meeting of the Gas City Union, held December 26, the State President, Mrs. Eunice Wilson, and the Grant County President, Mrs. Julia Shugart, were present. Mrs. Shugart led the devotional exercises by reading and commenting on the Ninety-first Psalm, followed by prayer. Mrs. Wilson gave a very entertaining address about her trip to the National Convention at Washington. We very much appreciated their company and services and feel encouraged to persevere in the good work.

One Indianapolis Union felt dismayed at the prospect of taking 10 cents per member out of the local dues, as per by-law, for sending the MESSAGE to every member, but true and loyal set about immediately to earn money. Within a short time $4.40 was put into the treasury and now a "name quilt" is being made also for the benefit of the treasury; this besides the oratorical contest for Hadley. The entire amount required for the MESSAGE from the dues was $2.40, so in an effort to make that amount much more has been received. Victory, Northeast Union, with quilt and success to Mrs. Morris in contest work.

Bloomington held an L. T. L. contest for the Hadley Home. Would have held it earlier, but had been in a series of meetings for four weeks. Medal won by Miss Marianna Lindley. All who attended were well entertained and decided it a close contest. Title of selection spoken by winner of medal was "The Bridal Winecup." Receipts not so large as would have been if we could have held contest two weeks sooner, as every church in town was preparing for Christmas entertainments and next night was Senior public at our academy and some were preparing for that.

Miami County Convention was a grand success. Reports of Superintendents very fine. Miss Alice Dunlap also gave us a taste of the World's Convention at Edinburgh. She will report later in full. First evening—A Gold and Silver medal contest, largely attended. Second evening—A lecture by Mrs. Retta Jones, President of Madison County. She is a witty and entertaining speaker and gave great satisfaction. Miss Clara Sears, our State Y Secretary, gave us a fine talk also, and won the hearts of all. A reception followed, with light refreshments. The City Quartette furnished most delightful music. A register was prepared with pretty frontispiece tied with white ribbon, and all that attended registered. I see names from Howard County and other places. Mrs. Retta Jones and myself went to Mexico Thursday. They drove over after us. We were royally entertained in one of the best homes. Mrs. Jones delivered her lecture at the Baptist church there and I never saw a nicer audience or one better pleased. I talked a short time to the children. Just as soon as I can I am to go there and organize a Union. There are many fine, intelligent women there. They want Mrs. Jones to come again.

Mrs. Wilson writes—I commenced the new year and the new century by organizing a little Union in West Marion with seven members, one honorary, January 1, 2 o'clock P. M. President, Mrs. Emma Wright; Secretary, Mrs. M. J. Hippenstall; Treasurer, Mrs. Melissa Shannon. Did any one organize a Union earlier than that in 1901; if not, I get the banner.

Pt. Isabel Union held what we called a department meeting, Sunday afternoon, December 16, the Superintendent of each department preparing and reading papers on their work. The subjects treated were, Sabbath Observance, Flower Mission, Literature, Scientific Temperance and Press. We hoped to arouse an interest in our work by that means.

MARION COUNTY.

On the 13th of December, in the Universalist Church of this city, was held an all day and evening department conference of Marion County White Ribboners. The object of the conference was the discussion and adoption of plans for working the various departments taken up by the county.

The meeting was a success. This was due to the careful planning of the County Board of Superintendents for weeks previous and to the hearty support which department work receives from our county officers. Mrs. Gipe, our County President, having in previous years served as one of the State's most efficient Superintendents, realizes that department work, to amount to anything, must never be handicapped for lack of support and co-operation.

According to the county's new constitution, the President and Secretary of the Board of Superintendents were elected, as were all other officers, by ballot, and form part of the County Executive Committee. Mrs. M. E. Sims was chosen President and Mrs. Frances Metz Secretary of the Board. The plan for the conference above named was evolved soon after election, and it was intended then that it should be held very soon after the county convention, so that plans given out might be put in operation early in the year. Other important dates, however, conflicted, which postponed it until the time mentioned.

During the preparation for the conference a number of departments were added to those previously carried, so that now we have the following, with their respective Superintendents:

I. ORGANIZATION.

Young Woman's Branch—Mrs. Frances Metz, 632 Division Street.

Loyal Temperance Legion Branch—Mrs. J. W. Beckett, 2318 Ashland Avenue.

Work Among Foreign Speaking People—Mrs. Candace Hartzog, 1537 N. Capitol Avenue.

Work Among Colored People—Miss Susan Clark, 226 N. New Jersey Street.

II. PREVENTIVE.

Health and Heredity and Physical Culture—Dr. Anna Bryson, 930 Massachusetts Avenue.

Non-Alcoholic Medication—Dr. Anna Bryson, 930 Massachusetts Avenue.

III. EDUCATIONAL.

Scientific Temperance Instruction—Miss Della Brown, 523 Lord Street.

Sunday School—Mrs. Ida Copper, 923 N. Alabama Street.

Temperance Literature—Mrs. Stella Bennett, 1508 N. Senate Avenue.

Temperance and Labor, Law and Statistics—Mrs. Ida De Vore, 532 Division Street.

Parliamentary Usage—Mrs. Martha L. Gipe, 808 N. Delaware Street.

The Press—Mrs. Mary E. Sims, 3346 Central Avenue.

Reporter for Phalanx—Mrs. L. D. B. Cowan, 226 N. New Jersey Street.

Anti-Narcotics—Mrs. Josephine Pee, 3422 N. Illinois Street.

Medal Contests—Miss Maud Baker, 1210 Ash Street.

Hadley Industrial School—Mrs. Rebecca Hessong, Nora.

Household Economics—Mrs. Mary A. Moody, 219 E. 10th Street.

IV. EVANGELISTIC.

Evangelistic and Gospel Temperance Meetings—Mrs. L. D. B. Cowan, 226 N. New Jersey Street.

Communion Wine—Mrs. J. R. Wood, 1706 N. Delaware Street.

Proportionate and Systematic Giving—Mrs. E. G. Cornelius, 1005 N. Meridian Street.

Penal and Reformatory—Mrs. Margaret E. Leighton, 37 Jefferson Avenue.

Work Among Railroad Employees—Mrs. Ida Hawn, 1411 Fletcher Avenue.

Sabbath Observance—Mrs. LaRue, 2132 Cornell Ave.

Soldiers and Sailors—Mrs. C. H. Williams, Irvington.

Mercy—Mrs. Mary Moody, 219 E. 10th Street.

Purity and Mothers' Meetings—Mrs. Belle White, 1111 Lexington Avenue.

Purity in Literature and Art—Mrs. Frances Metz, 632 Division St.

V. SOCIAL.

Flower Mission—Mrs. Cassandra Robbins, 12 West North Street.

Associate—Mrs. Parsons, 510 East 15th Street.

State and County Fairs—Mrs. Olivia French, 1704 N. Capitol Avenue.

VI. LEGAL.

Christian Citizenship—Mrs. Mary E. Sims.

Franchise—Mrs. J. R. Wood.

Peace and Arbitration—Mrs. Gulie Stanton, 445 East 10th Street.

Of these thirty-two departments, all but four of them were presented upon our program by their Superintendents; of these four, three were prevented by sickness, the other, Dr. Bryson, by professional duties. Each of our fourteen Unions was well represented in attendance.

Each Superintendent presented her plans, each presentation being followed by questions and discussion in which the entire conference participated. It had been requested that these plans be brought in in writing, that they might be published in Mrs. Balch's department of the Phalanx, the very acceptable medium of our county for all matter too lengthy for the MESSAGE, and sent to local Unions and County Superintendents for future reference. There were but few failures to comply with this request.

As a benediction upon our meeting and all plans for its success we had with us our new State President, Mrs. Eunice P. Wilson, who gave us a delightful greeting in the forenoon and lead us in the Noon-tide prayer.

In the evening, after the Y, L. T. L. and S. T. I. departments were presented, for which place could not be given during the day, for lack of time, Mrs. Wilson gave us a short address. Those of us who heard it were very forcibly reminded of Mrs. McWhirter's comparison a year ago, at Marion, of Mrs. Wilson to Miss Willard. Her clear, calm, forcible manner of presenting our cause to her hearers in a voice like Miss Willard's in its conversational, persuasive tone, which, once heard, was never forgotten, made us all feel that here was the woman whom God had chosen for our leader, and our prayers went up to Him for help and guidance for her and her co-workers during the days and nights of the coming year's duties and responsibilities.

Other visitors, of whom the conference was proud, favored us with helpful thoughts. Miss Marie C. Brehm, National Superintendent of Franchise, Mrs. Laura Thompson, of Greensburg, Mrs. McCain, of Sheridan, formerly of our city, and still claimed by us, a sister whose name we cannot recall, from Keystone, Mrs. Balch, our referee on all disputed points, and Mrs. McWhirter, editor of the MESSAGE, whom Marion County claims a little nearer and dearer since the State has had to relinquish its hold upon her as State President.

Spaces for advertisements upon our conference program were sold to the amount of twenty-five dollars; this sum was turned over to the county treasurer, Mrs. Lizzie C. Hann, for it will be observed our Board of Superintendents has no treasurer. We wish none, for there can be no fair distribution of funds between department and other work of the county which does not involve a division of county dues and this is impracticable. The money held by our County Treasurer is for all county workers alike, as their needs demand. In addition to furnishing each County Superintendent with the State Minutes, as ordered by the State Convention, each of our County Superintendents will be furnished with the National Minutes.

Grant County sends the model report this quarter. It is neat and complete.

One lady writes: "There were but four of us and we could not keep up the Union." Christ says: "If two or three are gathered together in my name, there will I be in the midst."

The list of names and the money for the MESSAGE should not be sent to the County or State Treasurer. Send direct to the Business Manager of the MESSAGE, Mrs. Clara E. Balch, 711 East 11th St., Indianapolis.

IN MEMORIAM.

The Francesville L. T. L. was called on to give up one of its acceptable members in the death of Goldie May Wilcox, who died December 18, 1900, at the age of 12 years. She was ever willing to do all that she was asked to do.

FROM LABOR TO REWARD.

The Francesville Y has been called upon to mourn the loss of two of its members. Florence B. Shallenberger was our first President and served us as such until she resigned on account of her parents moving to Cayuga, Ind., where she died December 3, 1900, at the age of 20 years, 3 months and 20 days. She was a member of the M. E. Church, in which she was an active worker, also in Epworth League; was an officer in I. O. G. T., and a member of the Rathbone Sisters, and when taken sick was trying to organize a W. C. T. U. in Cayuga. Of her it may be truly said, "She hath done what she could."

Della O. Critten departed this life December 12, 1900, at the age of 20 years, 4 months and 7 days. She was always ready to do her part in Y work. She was a member of the Christian Church and a worker in Christian Endeavor.

IN MEMORIAM.

Mrs. Hannah Whiting Clark, founder of Clark Homeopathic Hospital, of this city, died December 10 from the infirmities of age. Her demise had been expected for several days. Mrs. Clark was born in New Boston, N. H., in 1817 and with her husband came to Elkhart fifty-five years ago. She had two daughters, both dying very young. In December, 1863, Mr. Clark passed on to the higher life, thus leaving the widow and mother to tread the wine press alone. She planned to lift humanity to a higher condition. Many were her good deeds. Late in life she gave $5,000 to an orphan's home and sanitarium at Battle Creek, Mich. She gave largely to the Old Ladies' Home at LaPorte, Ind., and at one time sent a check for $800 to the Hadley Industrial School. Last March she sent her check to Mrs. McWhirter for $500 more for Hadley Home. She has given many minor sums that the public knows not of, her last being to the Humane Society of this city.

THE MESSAGE.

"Not by Might nor by Power, but by My Spirit."

VOL. V. No. 2.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., FEBRUARY, 1901.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR

A UNITED PRAYER FOR AN ORGANIZATION FUND.

I have been asked, since our National Convention, "What could Indiana do to gain two thousand new members to our State W. T. C. U.?"

I answer, if we could have the one hundred honorary members within a month, for which Mary E. Balch is praying, and an additional one dollar from each of our three hundred or more members who could give that amount and not miss it at the end of the week, I am very sure it could be done. I am not asking Unions, either weak or strong, to donate.

Our new plan of placing our State paper in the hands of each of our members I believe to be a good one, although it will take money we have heretofore had for other work.

Therefore, I am anxiously considering plans by which we may keep our organizers in the field, and I believe this one was suggested to me by the Holy Spirit. I am asking in His name, and praying He may prompt you to give in His name. Yours for victory in 1901.

EUNICE P. WILSON,
State President.

The greatest need to-day in the Indiana W. C. T. U. is a fund for organization. The State has decided that life membership shall be used for organization. Twenty-five dollars makes one a life member of the State Union, and five dollars an honorary member of the State Union.

As chairman of organization, I pray for one hundred honorary members to the State Union within a month. We have excellent organizers idle; we have over seven hundred towns that should be organized; think of it. A Union of ten members in each of these towns would give us seven thousand new members. What a moral force! How it would build public sentiment and make ballots—give an added circulation to our papers—there is no end to the good that might be done had we this fund to work with. May God impress one hundred people to become honorary members.

MARY E. BALCH,
Chairman of Organization.

THE $1.00 ROLL.

Mrs. Eunice Wilson, Fairmount.
Mr. Robert Wilson, Fairmount.
Miss Mary Hadley, Bloomington.

Y W. C. T. U.

Dear Indiana Y's, never was the need for social purity and temperance work so great. Sin in its most vile form is sapping the very life out of our young people.

The venomous liquor traffic is bringing down to the very brink our beloved ones. Souls are in the balance! Is your brother, your sister, are you in peril? Let us as Y's be of good courage and behave ourselves valiantly for our people, fighting with renewed zeal this battle for God and humanity, wearing constantly the little white ribbon and armed with the sword of the spirit.

Indiana Y's must awake and win the fight for Jesus' sake.

Dear young people, outside the Y ranks, come over and help us.

AN EARNEST Y.

Mrs. Hattie Brand, one of our State Organizers, secured twelve young ladies for a Y Branch, at Cayuga, Vermillion County, and reported it immediately to the State Y Secretary. If each one who secures a new Y will report like Mrs. Brand does, then literature can be sent and the Secretary comes in touch with them.

The Union Temperance Sunday school was quite a success, over $5.00 collection, so the President of the Bedford Y writes. Two of the Y members, Maude Holcomb and Charles Lockwood, were married recently and the Y's presented them with a dozen solid silver spoons. Miss Knox adds, we are trying to make our Union stronger.

The first Y. W. C. T. U. conference this year will be held at Goshen, Elkhart County, February 23. The program is almost complete. God bless the noble W. C. T. U. women in that city for making it possible for the Y Branch to unite and hold the conference there. Pray that it may be a power for good among the young people there.

Anderson Y. W. C. T. U., will have a permanent meeting place now in the beautiful new M. E. church, the official board having granted the permission, also the L. T. L. and the W. C. T. U. will meet there regularly.

Thirty copies of the Year Book, from Miss Parish, were mailed to the Y Unions this month, and following the World's Report from Mrs. Barnes. Study them girls, they are helpful in our work.

The second Y conference will be held at Bedford, where our State banner for Y work is now held. In April it goes to Monrovia Y Union. Who will get it next year? Are you trying for it? Collect dues for every name on your roll call, and then each one secure a new member. Girls, prepare yourselves this month, deny yourselves something and save your dues; they must be in the Treasurer's hands by March 15, 1901.

Look after the sick and shut-ins. Do all you can in the Flower Mission Department, so our State Superintendent, Miss Ethel McWhirter, may be proud of the Indiana Y reports in September.

County Presidents, are you trying to organize a Y, and help our young women to become acquainted with W. C. T. U. methods, so they can take your place?

CLARA M. SEARS,
State Y Secretary.

OFFICIAL CALL.

FAIRMOUNT, Feb. 2, 1901.

The Executive Committee of the Indiana Woman's Christian Temperance Union is hereby notified to be present at the mid-year meeting, to be held in the Friends' Church, Fairmount, April 9 and 10. The local Union will provide free entertainment for all members of the committee.

EUNICE P. WILSON,
President.

THE NATIONAL W. C. T. U.

Special attention for 1901 will be given to work in Oklahoma, Arizona and Indian Territory by the National and large appropriations will be made for the work in this section of the country. Work among the Scandinavian women in North Dakota and among the colored people of the South will also be made prominent along organizing lines.

On January 3, the birthday of Madame Willard, the general officers of the National W. C. T. U. held a conference of unusual interest at Rest Cottage. The Frances E. Willard Memorial organization fund, established at the St. Paul convention for the perpetuation and extension of the work, to which Miss Willard gave her life, was the subject of special consideration. This memorial fund has, during the past two years, been maintained largely by our local Unions, the plan calling for $2 from each local Union on or near February 17, the date of Miss Willard's home-going. The officers decided to broaden this plan and to appeal not only to their W. C. T. U. constituency, but to the friends of Miss Willard everywhere, to churches interested in the advancement of the principles she advocated and to the general public, and those who are making bequests will be reminded that they can do no better than to remember the great work for humanity which our organization is doing. Contributions for this fund should be addressed to Mrs. Helen M. Barker, Treasurer N. W. C. T. U., Evanston, Ill. By means of this fund the National will be able to fulfill the sacred wish expressed by Madame Willard in almost her last words when she said "I should like to pronounce a benediction upon the whole world."

Mrs. J. K. Barney, of Providence, R. I., one of the Round the World Missionaries, has been appointed by the officers to take charge of the organizing work in Cuba. Havana will be the first point visited and work will be begun at once.

W. T. C. U. work in the Philippines has been entrusted to the care of Mrs. Cornelia C. Moots and Unions there are already organized and doing good work.

Mrs. Rose Pearce writes: "I am glad to tell you that the work is moving on in Terre Haute. Mrs. Joice, our County President, is a real consecrated Christian and an enthusiastic worker. She holds a service at the jail every Sunday morning and her work has been much blessed of late. The Mothers' Meetings held in connection with the different local Unions are, to my mind, ideal meetings. They are well attended, both by members and visitors, and the interest is so marked that the discussions are taken part in by nearly all present."

PROGRAM FEBRUARY Y MEETINGS.

Social. The Due Tea.
Debate. Resolved, "The Liquor Organization of To-Day is the Ruling Power."
Treasurer's Delight. Receives the dues.
Evangelistic Department. The Church and Temperance.

TREASURER'S NOTES.

Howard County was the first to send an order for Minutes for all its officers and Superintendents. We hope to hear from many other counties and Unions in the next two or three weeks. As the number of Minutes taken by a Union will be placed opposite the name of the Union in the next State Minutes, I am sure every Union will want as large a number as possible opposite their union. The sale of Minutes has already exceeded that of last year. With a little effort on your part I believe we can double it. The printer is waiting patiently for his money and every member needs the report.

The following counties have placed the State Minutes in the hands of all of the local Presidents and County Superintendents: Blackford, Shelby, Benton, Wells, Tippecanoe, Parke, Marion, Wabash, Boone, Clinton, Morgan, Howard, Wayne.

The Unions that have placed the Minutes in the hands of all officers and Superintendents are Hartford City, Winterrowd, Shelbyville, Deer Creek, Burlington, Loogootee, Otterbein, Bloomington, Newcastle, Frankfort, Wabash, Wabash colored, N. Manchester, S. Wabash, Laketon and Mapleton. No doubt there are others, but as it was so stated the names cannot be given.

The County of Wabash and every Union in the County has furnished its officers and Superintendents with a free copy. How many others will do the same?

The editor of the Union Signal has kindly consented to extend the time for securing trial subscriptions to that paper until February 28. Price, three months for 15 cents. Dear Sisters, if those appointed to canvass for the paper have found it impossible to do the work, please appoint others to assist them to make a thorough canvass of all your members and friends. No one can read the Signal three months and not become interested in the temperance work. Send it to your friends. Can you think of any other place where the very best of literature can be had for so little money? Our Signal subscription increased last year. May we not double that number this year?

Mrs. Ora Winslow, of Fairmount, sends a club of fifty for the trial copy of the Union Signal. Grant County has sent more subscriptions than any other county.

The State Central Committee found it necessary to plan so that the MESSAGE could serve all the interests of the State, therefore, certain limitations were made. These were published in the December issue and repeated in the January issue. Much as the Editor regrets to do so she will endeavor to conform to these limitations. Communications from counties limited to three hundred words. Communications from Unions one hundred words.

THE MESSAGE.

Official Organ of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Indiana.

Entered at the Indianapolis Postoffice as second-class mail matter.

Union Signal, MESSAGE and Patriot Phalanx..... 1.85 per year
Union Signal and MESSAGE, to ministers.....75c per year
Union Signal, MESSAGE and Young Crusader.....$1.25 per year

The subscription price of the MESSAGE is to be included in the payment of the annual membership dues of every regular member of the W. C. T. U. of Indiana.

The following schedule of prices has been decided upon until the membership lists adjust themselves this year:

The MESSAGE three months or more.....$0.10
The MESSAGE six months or more..... 0.15

All business communications should be addressed to, and all remittances made payable to Mrs. Clara E. Balch, 711 East Eleventh Street, Indianapolis, Ind.

EDITOR, MRS. LUELLA F. McWHIRTER,
2312 College Avenue, Indianapolis.

All communications intended for the MESSAGE should be in the hands of the Editor by the 5th of the month.

FEBRUARY, 1901.

The following petition form is for use of all who desire to copy and use it. Remember that exactly the same petition with each of the headings, one for the House of Representatives and one for the Senate, must both be used by every person soliciting signatures. Have the same person sign each petition. Those addressed to the House will never be seen by the members of the Senate. As it requires the same action of both Houses to carry a measure they are of equal importance:

To the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of Indiana:

We, the citizens of _____ county, respectfully petition your honorable body to pass a law prohibiting the sale or giving away of cigarettes, cigarette papers or any substitute therefor, with a penalty for the first and each subsequent offense of imprisonment of not less than thirty days nor more than six months, and with a fine of one hundred dollars.

To the Senate of the General Assembly of Indiana:

We, the citizens of _____ county, respectfully petition your honorable body to pass a law prohibiting the sale or giving away of cigarettes, cigarette papers or any substitute therefor, with a penalty for the first and each subsequent offense of imprisonment of not less than thirty days nor more than six months, and with a fine of one hundred dollars.

Thanks to the sisters who sent condensed items of news for the MESSAGE, written on postals without unnecessary words and exactly in condition for the printer.

About 3,000 of the Indiana White Ribboners are reading this issue of the MESSAGE.

Let us have a long list of ministers' names on our subscription list; yes, and teachers too.

The kindness of the editors of county papers in exchanging with the MESSAGE is appreciated. Does your editor desire to exchange with us?

HADLEY INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

Perhaps at no time since the Hadley School opened has the outlook been so promising as now. The number of girls in it is now thirty-five. They live in harmony and generally yield ready obedience to those in charge. I would not like you to think this state of things comes spontaneously by mere association. Not by any means! It comes by introducing system into all departments of work, and holding a steady, firm hand of control over all. There are no pets and no outcasts. They are encouraged to strive for excellence in their departments of domestic work, as well as in the school room. Applications for admission of other girls are constantly coming in. A noble young man recently visited the home and looked into its needs. Before going away he thought the most needed thing was more room and said that at his own expense he would finish the upper dormitory. The floor is now being laid, and in spring time, the partitions, plastering, painting, etc., will be pushed forward, ready for furnishings, and then more needy girls may find a home.

I feel that now is the time for all the friends of this school to rally to its support. Within the next ten years this institution should have a large endowment fund and be placed securely on a financial basis. It is unlike any other school in the United States.

It is owned and managed by the most powerful organization of women in the State, who have high ideals as to the training of girls for useful lives. Let me urge you all to begin at once the work of raising an endowment fund. There are some excellent persons who would perhaps like to know of this institution, so as to place their means where it will continue to benefit those most needing help. I cannot tell you how to begin this work; but if you are determined, you will find a way or make one. LUCRETIA HOBART.

HADLEY, IND., February 3, 1901.

DEAR READERS OF THE MESSAGE—I suppose all who are interested in our Hadley Home will be interested in this short sketch in regard to the Dairy Department. Rosa Manifold, Belle Griffin and myself are the Dairy girls this month; we milk eight cows now, but do not get a very large quantity of milk. Each girl has her own cows to milk. As a general thing our cows are very well behaved, but sometimes they give us a great deal of trouble by trying to crowd us out of the stalls. We keep the milk in the cellar, under the new cottage, which we find very convenient in the winter as well as summer. One week in the month one of we dairy girls take charge of the straining of the milk and washing of the pails, and another sees after the churning, which comes about three times a week, while the third one takes the lamps in charge, as there is nothing for her to do about the dairy. Then we all change about again the next week, and so on throughout the month, so we can all have practice in one department in one month. We have to be very neat about our work, for Miss Coolman, who over-sees the Dairy Department, grades us on the way in which we do it, and we are all anxious to make good grades. I think all the girls will say with me that the Home is steadily improving. We have more system about things now as never before, and we like it so much better.

OPAL DILLON.

HADLEY, IND., February 3, 1901.

DEAR READERS OF THE MESSAGE—I suppose you would like to hear something of the manner in which we do our work here, so I am going to tell you of one very important department, it is the kitchen and dining room. Each month our Superintendent, Mrs. Steele, changes the work of each girl, assigning three as cook girls, three as dining-room girls and four as dish-washers. In the cooking department one girl has bread-making, one the washing of the cooking vessels and one prepares the vegetables for cooking. We prepare our things for dinner as soon as we come down from our morning devotions, which we have just after breakfast. While we do that the dining-room girls and dish-washers do their work, and at 8:30 o'clock we all go into the school room. At 11:45 the cook-girls are dismissed to help put the food on the tables, which our matron, Mrs. Coolman, prepares while we are in school. After dinner is over we all do our work, and at 1:30 o'clock we are in school again. We are dismissed at four o'clock and at five o'clock we have our supper, and at seven o'clock we are in the school-room again to study a while before going to bed. We older girls now realize what a beautiful home we have and what great advantages we have that others do not, and we know that it is our dear Heavenly Father who is working through the dear women all over our State for our good. O! that every girl in the world could have such grand opportunities as we have here at the Hadley Home. I am very sure if they could that there would be a great deal of good done in this world. Hoping that you, dear readers, have an idea of how we carry on our work, I remain

Your friend,
EDITH EATON.

LETTER FROM THE SUPERINTENDENT.

We now have thirty-five healthy and happy girls, and have a good day school. Miss Mary Pearson is an excellent teacher, and quite helpful in training the girls outside of school. All of the girls are in school. Friday afternoon we have sewing school, and all are taught to mend; even our little ones six years old work button holes and sew on buttons.

We had a very pleasant time Christmas. Got up as usual Christmas morning. After the morning work was done we called all to the sitting room, when lo! while they slept a large cedar tree, high as the ceiling, loaded with beautiful and useful presents, had found its way there. They were delighted. Each girl was well served with handkerchiefs, hair ribbons, pencils, tablets, pictures, etc. All had apples, oranges and candy in abundance, and the dolls looked out among the limbs of cedar most as happy looking as the children themselves. Then there were books for all that were not put on the tree.

And I want to thank the good people of the W. C. T. U. and others over the State, who made this grand treat for our children possible.

We received boxes from following Unions: Indianapolis, Meridian; Indianapolis, Central; Indianapolis, Tarlton; Broad Ripple, Richmond, North Manchester, LaOtto, Columbus, Fairmount, Richmond, LaPorte and Pendleton. Also a box from Mr. Lester, of Bloomfield; Mr. and Mrs. Williams, of Upland; Miss Martin, of Marion. Two boxes were not marked. Now, sisters, I would not have you understand all these were Christmas toys and candies. For there were blankets, sheets, towels, books, cakes, turkey, hose, handkerchiefs, thread, buttons, tablets, pins, needles and many things much needed in a home like this, and I will take this means of thanking you for your kindness.

I will also mention that the W. C. T. U. of Hadley dressed the dolls for us, and also spent an afternoon before holidays in mending for us, which was quite a help. Mrs. Christie, of Hadley, donated two bushels of apples. Mr. Christie, Amo Milling Company, 50 pounds flour. Mr. Jesse Hardwick, quantity of candy. SARAH E. STEELE.

ANTI-CIGARETTE.

An anti-cigarette bill has been introduced in the Indiana House of Representatives by Dr. Milton McCarty, of Burlington, Carroll County. This bill is in the hands of the Rights and Privileges Committee, of which Representative Miller, of Sydney, Kosciusko County, is Chairman. The other members are Edward H. Matthews, Anderson, Madison County; Edward Maxam, Evansville, Vanderburg County; Robt. Short, Union Mills, LaPorte County; Jas. F. Stutsman representing Grant, Howard, Huntington, Miami and Wabash Counties. Chas. W. Cruson, Scottsburg, Scott and Jennings Counties; Jas. A. Colner, Logansport, Fulton and Cass Counties; Dr. Henry V. Passage, Peru, Miami County; Joseph L. Reeves, Edwardsport, Knox County. Some of the members are openly opposed to the bill.

The members of this committee need to be urged to report the bill to the House, with an enforcing clause and penalty mentioned below. We have a cigarette law prohibiting sale to minors, but no penalty, and enforcement is left to prosecuting attorney, so in most places it is practically dead. Now what we want is an entirely prohibitory law, with a penalty of such dimensions that a dealer will go behind the bars if he sells and a smoker will pay a heavy fine. This can be secured in Indiana if YOU do all you can.

The great tobacco trust succeeds in manipulating many men and many measures. Expense is not an item. Legal ability is heavily paid for in order that all effective legislation may be prevented. Notwithstanding all this power, the editor of the MESSAGE believes that if thousands of letters were sent to members of the General Assembly requesting a definite action in deference to the will of the voters, that action would be taken. The mothers and fathers must ask for what they want.

What we need this very day is. 1. That every man and every woman who desires that cigarettes and all substitutes thereof shall be abolished in Indiana, should each write a letter or send a telegram to a member of the House and Senate urging that a law prohibiting the sale or giving away of cigarettes, cigarette paper or any substitute therefor in the State of Indiana, be passed with a penalty for each violation to be imprisonment of not less than thirty days or more than six months, and a fine of not less than $10.00 or more than $100.00.

2. That a clear statement of the conditions and petitions should be presented within the next ten days to every church congregation, ever Sunday school, every missionary society, every lodge meeting, every woman's club, in all the higher schools and collages in all Indiana. Every voter's letter or telegram to members of the Legislature will have immense weight, as will their letters.

3. That every man who can afford to spend the money send a telegram to his Representative and Senator, urging them to use their influence for a law prohibiting the sale of cigarettes, that can be enforced and not left at the mercy of any man, but a law that will carry with it sufficient penalty and enforcing ability to make it effective against the selling and using.

Wabash W's—Are to have a Rummage sale one week in February. Will have evening entertainments during the week. Miss Sears will lecture one night, a musical one night and probably a contest one night.

We have a club studying Parliamentary law. We held a Republican and a Democratic State Convention and a Prohibition National Convention. We made a big success of the latter, giving as far as time would permit, the exact work and speeches of the convention. A number of our W. C. T. U. women belong to this club. Dickey was personated by a Democrat. The platform was read by a Republican. Woolley was nominated by another. The Secretary was a Democrat. All took their parts well. As Woolley, I accepted the nomination, my speech being his letter of acceptance which, of course, I had committed. We may repeat it at the rummage sale.

Otterbein Union held a Medal Contest and sent $11 00 to the Hadley School. The Y girls had an entertainment to replenish their treasury and Y and W's gave their annual New Year's entertainment. Some generous ladies gave us quite a neat little sum of money to use for the advancement of the cause. Miss Baker, our County and Local President, has been elected Superintendent of the United Brethren Sabbath school, something never done before in Otterbein. No woman here ever was an officer in the church official board or was ever a Sunday School Superintendent.

Miami County officers: President, Mrs. Anna Kilmer, Peru; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Lulu Duckwall; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Mattie Outland, Amboy; Treasurer, Miss Carrie Puterbaugh, Peru.

Will the lady who wishes Chinese literature please write me at once? I have mislaid the address and name. And if others wish any foreign literature, write me and I will try and help you. And will the County President please send me name and address of their Superintendent of Foreign work, as I wish to send them literature?

ANNA KILMER,
Peru, Ind. State Superintendent.

MARY HADLEY,

Superintendent National and Indiana Institutes,
Bloomington, Indiana.

Bring a pencil, a tablet, a Bible and a White Ribbon Hymnal.

"We are members, one of another."—Eph. 4, 25.
"Alone we can do little. Separated we are the units of weakness, but aggregated we become batteries of power."—FRANCES E. WILLARD.

And this brainy, far-seeing, keenly intuitive and wholly consecrated woman worked out the plans of the majority, recognized them as law, until such time as they were changed by the legislation of the annual convention.

Any white ribbon sister who will not respect the plans of her Union, but prefers her own way, is a source of weakness in the Union. Any Union in a county which sets aside the action of the Executive Committee of the County is not a help but a hindrance to the county, and what is true of a Union in a county is true of a county in the State, and anything outside of perfect union in the State plans and methods in the end works a detriment to the organization and a loss to the cause.—Mary E. Balch.

INSTITUTE SCHEDULE

of dates and places up to the time of the Mid-year Executive Committee meeting, April 9 and 10, at Fairmount, Grant County. The further dates of Institutes will be given in the March MESSAGE, which will give over a month for advertising and preparation. It is the best I can do, as all the material for further scheduling is not in my hands and the MESSAGE can not wait.

SECTION ONE.

Porter County—March 21, 22, 23, at Hebron; La Porte County—March 25, 26, 27, at LaPorte; Starke County—March 28, 29, 30, at North Judson; Fulton County—April 1, 2, 3, at Kewanna; Miami County—April 4, 5, 6, at Amboy. Miss Mary Hadley, Bloomington, Leader.

SECTION TWO.

Cass County—March 21, 22, 23, at Logansport; Wabash County—March 25, 26, 27, at South Wabash; Huntington County—March 28, 29, 30, at Warren; Wells County—April 1, 2, 3, at Bluffton; Blackford County—April 4, 5, 6, at Hartford City. Rev. Cammack-Gibson, Jonesboro, Leader.

SECTION THREE.

Marion County—March 21, 22, 23, at Palmer Union, West Indianapolis; Rush County—March 25, 26, 27, at Milroy; Henry County—March 28, 29, 30, at Mooreland; Randolph County—April 1, 2, 3, at Winchester; Jay County—April 4, 5, 6, at Bryant. Mrs. Hattie Brand, Indianapolis, Leader.

W. C. T. U. INSTITUTES.

While the earth is bound in fetters of snow and ice, plans are being made throughout the State for the spring Institutes, so that when these fetters are broken in the last days of March or early in April, and our grand old world swings out again free from its winter manacles, our dear white ribboners will be ready to enter upon a consummation of well made plans in Institute work.

Let no one be discouraged by the length, or seeming length of the program, as given in this month's issue of the MESSAGE, but glean from it whatever may be deemed the most necessary and helpful.

Consider using new local talent together with those who have been so efficient from year to year.

Avoid using the Leader constantly throughout any meeting, as this becomes monotonous to the hearers and tiresome to the speaker. Allow every one whom you ask to present a subject to know how much time you wish them to use and thus keep your program on time. Ministers do not desire to be made an exception to this rule.

Be on time in arranging for the contest. It is thought by the members of the Central Committee and the Superintendent of Franchise that a suffrage contest would be most appropriate.

If not already provided with books and tickets, send to State Superintendent of Contests, Mrs. Mary E. Balch, 711 East Eleventh Street, Indianapolis, Ind. Send also to Mrs. Balch for the medal. State plainly the kind of medal wanted. Send the money with all orders. If you do not have the price list of medal supplies, you can request one of Mrs. Balch by card and you will be promptly favored with a reply.

County officers and Superintendents are named as Institute assistants, according to the Institute plan as found in the Plan of Work for this year. See pages 44 and 140 in 1901 Annual Report, and be ready to announce committees accordingly.

WHILE THE PLAN

contemplates a rest day so that the Leader may be available for the Sabbath service, the departure of trains and the two and one-half days' session favor the worker taking the rest in half days on Wednesday and Saturday.

If the organization of a new Union is not in demand and reception for the new members is, this reception can be given in the afternoon or evening of the third day of the Institute, instead of in the forenoon as listed on the program, provided there is an early morning train which will allow the Leader to be in time for the opening of the following Institute. The preparations for the reception for new members should not be made elaborate or in a way to interfere with the other meetings of the Institute.

Our members generally have learned the art of arranging a simple and agreeable noon lunch, and white ribboners can be trusted to arrange for a satisfactory reception, at which light refreshments may or may not be served, according to circumstances.

If found desirable to use the Institute Leader in the Sabbath service, this should be definitely arranged for in harmony with the Institute plan, the local workers using their best judgment as to announcements, meeting the financial obligations, etc.

Ministers who really desire to have their pulpits occupied by our workers will personally encourage a good collection and generally get it, especially at the morning service.

From experience and observation, we believe it possible in many places to so arrange for this Sabbath service that many people may be reached and the local and Institute finances increased and our cause greatly advanced.

Indiana has been favored with an unsurpassed short term subscription price to our excellent National and World's organ, the Union Signal. We are expecting good terms for an annual subscription to this paper at the Institutes and trust that many will come prepared to avail themselves of these special rates, which the W. C. T. U. will announce later. The premium for the best County Roster will be a choice between a copy of Miss Willard's invaluable book, "Do Everything," and one of her best large size portraits. Mrs. Balch, Mrs. Whitson and Miss Brand will act as judges.

The Rosters must be placed in the hands of Institute Leaders on the opening of the session.

The subjects for the evening meetings will be discussed by the Institute Leaders as follows: "The Hidden Path of Alcohol Revealed," by Rev. Mattie Cammack-Gibson and Mary Hadley. "The World's Work and Workers," by Hattie Brand. "A Voice from the Church," by Mary Hadley. "Five Boys in Knee Pants," by Mrs. Cammack-Gibson. "Who Pays," by Rose Pierce.

The first or conference meeting of the members is a most important one and will have much to do with the success of the session. Let every member be present.

Never before has Indiana had the opportunity of contesting for a beautiful National Institute Banner, to be given for the best all 'round Institute work. Kansas, Michigan, Oregon and some other states by their excellent reports last year and timely beginning this year, warn Indiana to look well to her laurels, and Indiana expects every member to do her duty.

MARY HADLEY,
Superintendent.

DEPARTMENT OF SOLDIERS AND SAILORS.

A loving, cordial greeting to all White Ribboners in our State. We come to you in behalf of our department, with an earnest, important appeal in the name of soldiers and sailors of our country.

Our organization has many spheres of labor, and all are of great importance, and we do not desire to minimize any in order to exalt our own; but we do believe that at the present time, while we possess a standing army numbering one hundred thousand, while three hundred thousand men are sailing upon our seas, it is imperative that our great society of motherhood take a vital interest in this large class of individuals, who are far away from the sweet, helpful influence of home life.

In this line of work, there is an open door and our duty is commensurate with our opportunity. It is the moral as well as the physical need of this large class of individuals, to which we desire to call the thoughtful attention of every White Ribboner in the State. We plead for the noble boy away from a mother's heart of love! We plead for the husband who, for the lack of sympathy and help, may be falling into habits of dissipation. We plead for the easily influenced, who through our help may be kept from the ever open canteen. We plead for the discouraged and lonely, whose life may be heightened by a thoughtful deed. We plead for the veteran soldier who has "fought a good fight" and who now only carries here below until he is called to wear the crown of life. Yes! We plead for the boys in blue, on sea and land, at home, abroad, in youth and age! May God bless them and help us to administer to their needs.

MRS. JULIA OVERMAN,
State Superintendent Department Soldiers and Sailors.

But what can we do? First of all, see that an energetic local Superintendent is appointed in your Union, and let her put herself in communication with the State Superintendent. A few weeks ago we were highly favored by the presence of our National Superintendent, Mrs. Ella M. Thatcher, of Florence, N. J. She visited the National Home at Marion with us, and lectured to the soldiers, and we have planned to assist her in her great work by sending her Comfort Bags which will be distributed among the soldiers and sailors.

May I not request that each Union make and send to Mrs. Thatcher, prepaid, a few of these bags and notify me of the number sent? Many of our organizations can do much in this line, but every Union can and should do something. These bags should contain a symmetrical proportion of physical and moral comforts. The former will open the heart and prepare the way for the latter. The following is given as a suggestive pattern—not as a rigid rule—and may be varied according to taste and convenience both in material and contents:

COMFORT BAGS.

Use cretonne or any strong cloth; make bag 12 by 14 inches, with drawing string (strong) in the top to open and close. Put in it buttons, needles, thread, scissors, knife, bandages, small bunch of white cotton, court plaster, comb, brush, pulse warmers, pencil, paper, envelopes, leaflets, testament, gospel hymns, pledge card, asking to return it signed; Union Signal and State paper; also a motherly letter telling who sent it. One boy said, "Tell your good women not to preach in their first letter, but make it homelike and interesting."

DEPARTMENT PRIZE.

In order that the largest possible number of comfort bags may be placed in the hands of our National Superintendent, I have decided to offer a special State Department prize to the county that forwards Mrs. Thatcher the largest number of these bags prior to the 15th of September, 1901, providing that the number sent be reported to me before that date.

At Washington, the National Banner of Soldiers and Sailors was presented to Indiana for the best work in this Department. In now floats over our State, as an evidence of our superior undertakings in the past year. We prize it very much! But we must press forward to nobler endeavor or some other State may claim it from our hands. But this need not be. We should make this first year of the new century the best in the history of our Department.

It is not an utopian dream to say that thousands of hearts may be made glad by our efforts. Let consecrated intellect, sympathetic hearts, and willing hands combine to help those who love and protect our glorious commonwealth. By so doing the horizon of our own souls will be widened, and heaven will bless us with an approving smile.

JULIA OVERMAN,
State Superintendent.

TO COUNTY SUPERINTENDENTS OF THE DEPARTMENT OF PEACE AND ARBITRATION.

This first year of the century promises to be a year of golden opportunity. Let us in our department be diligent and fervent in spirit inserving the Lord. Let us do our work as unto Him, and it shall not return unto us void. Herewith I offer for your help a simple outline of work, and will be glad to assist you in any further way if you will write me in regard to it.

If possible, visit each local Union in your county in the interests of Peace. If not, write to local Superintendents, urging them to action on this line. Ask each local Union in the county to hold:

1. From two to four parlor meetings during the year at which Peace shall be the principal theme.
2. From two to four public meetings during the year.
3. One oratorical contest for young people. Offer a suitable prize.
4. One essay contest, older people to take part. Offer a suitable prize.
5. Have Peace recitations and songs in L. T. L. entertainments.
6. Suggest to teachers to choose Peace themes for their pupils to write about or discuss.
7. Try to get something for Peace into your county or some secular paper; not long, but pointed, and many times a year.
8. Remember Peace Sunday—third Sunday in December—in time to prepare for it. Ask your pastor to preach in favor of Peace, or ask your friends to assist you in holding a Peace meeting on the Sabbath afternoon or evening. You need not wait till December to hold Sunday Peace meetings. Every Sabbath should be a Peace Sunday.

A little collection entitled "Voices of Peace" has just been published, which will be found very helpful in preparing for these entertainments. The price is 25 cents. Address for this and other Peace literature,

H. LAVINIA BAILY,
Superintendent.
Richmond, Indiana.

PRESS DAY.

March 1 is Press Day. Mrs. L. M. Stevens' birthday. Let us honor our National Press by observing this day. I desire every Union to hold a meeting on or near this day, if possible. Invite the Editors to read a paper or give a talk on the "Importance of the Press."

I give you the following outline program. Have the meeting in the evening. Let each member invite one, or have it in a public place, and have the invitation general:

OUTLINE PROGRAM FOR A PRESS MEETING.

Paper, "How the Woman's Christian Temperance Union Utilizes the Press," by the Press Superintendent.

Address, "The People the Customer, the Press the Caterer," by the local editor.

"W. C. T. U. News" (a bulletin,) by one of the members.

"The Editor's Tribulations" (in rhyme,) by a poetic member.

Paper, "How Our Forefathers got the News," by a member.

This program can be adapted either to a parlor or a public meeting, whichever will best meet local requirements.

If it is feasible to have any decorations, let them consist of the fanciful use of the local newspapers, telegraph blanks, pencils, pens, shears, ink bottles, paste-pots, etc., all illustrating and bringing into prominence the necessary accompaniments of press work. It would be very helpful to have leaflets to distribute to the guests as they leave. The best music obtainable should be secured. By all means invite especially the newspaper people, and have one or more of the papers or addresses of the evening given by them. The greatest help will come to us through our intimate acquaintance with journalism as it is, for it is often quite contrary to our ideas and ideals concerning it.

Let a similar announcement to the one given here be printed in the newspapers the week before the meeting, or if personal invitations are sent the same form may be used:

"You are expressly invited to attend a meeting in the interest of the press department of the W. C. T. U. (date and place.) Let this date be so impressed upon your mind that pressure of business will not cause you to overlook it. The best talent will be pressed into service and there will be nothing to oppress you; on the contrary, we will try to impress you with the great scope of the press work. Our cordiality will not be repressed, as the warm press of the hand will prove to you. Accept this pressing invitation and be present."

The bulletin of "W. C. T. U. News" can be made up, giving in condensed style some of the most important work our society has done and is doing. "The Editor's Tribulations" in rhyme, if you have a poetic member, could be made very amusing, weaving in many local hits.

The topic, "How Our Forefathers Got the News," can be amplified by mentioning the quilting and apple-paring bees. The announcements from the pulpits, reading the bans, the bulletins in inns, the stage coach—compare such methods with the great dailies of to-day and the Associated Press service, whereby we read the doings of the world at our breakfast table, and the history of the day as we return from our work at evening. Send to the W. T. P. A. for press leaflets.

If refreshments are to be served, how would it do to have pressed chicken sandwiches, lemonade (pressed lemons), and newspaper cake—black and white and red (read) all over—black and white layers with red frosting?

Of course the wise Unions will utilize this meeting with its bright papers and fun, to work in as much as possible of our aims and methods, and to instruct and educate the guests, who are not committed to our policy and methods. Give time during the evening after the program to securing new members, and soliciting subscriptions to the Union Signal and State papers.

The National Press Superintendent will consider it a personal favor if clippings from local papers as to how this meeting "took" could be sent her. She could also see how Unions had improved on the suggestions given. Address, Minnie Barker Horning, National Press Superintendent, The Temple, Chicago.

I wish every County Press Superintendent would send me her own name, and the names of all local Superintendents in her county. MRS. MAY MOSER.

No doubt you have all heard long ere this that Indiana won the gold medal in our department at the National Convention. Since the medal became my property, I desire to thank you, one and all, for your untiring efforts and efficient work. I highly appreciate all the work performed, and the interest shown, and I fully realize that it was through your influence and ability that our State was victorious. May we continue in good work, and at the close of this year head the list in the Anti-Narcotic Department.

MISS ZELLA MILLER,
State Superintendent 1900.

MRS. HARRIET F. KIDD,
State Superintendent of Law.

LAW.

There is perhaps no department of our work that is more helpful to the worker herself, and that is more satisfying to the individual, than the department of law. There is a positive pleasure in the acquisition of knowledge, and there is a woeful lack of knowledge of the laws in which reformers are most interested. This is not surprising; knowledge of law has always been regarded as an expensive luxury of which only lawyers could avail themselves. This is no longer true concerning those laws in which we as temperance workers are most interested. Your Superintendent has a booklet, entitled "Abstract of Laws," concerning the welfare of every citizen. It gives the laws of Indiana governing billiard rooms, children and minors, cigarettes, drunkenness, gambling, liquor, literature—obscene and pernicious—lotteries and gift enterprises, Nicholson bill, prize fighting, profanity, prostitution, raffling, Sunday, tobacco, vote selling.

This booklet I will gladly furnish, postage free, at two cents a copy if several copies are ordered sent to one address. We advise Unions to purchase as many copies as they have members. The Josephine R. Nichols Union, of Wabash, voted unanimously to take up the study. They will give one-half hour of each monthly business meeting to the study of this book until they are perfectly familiar with its contents. We suggest that a leader be appointed for each meeting, or better still, have the Superintendent of this department be the teacher and conduct the recitation as she would in the school room. The teacher should borrow a copy of Acts passed since 1895, and learn what changes, if any, have been made in the laws since the publication of this little book. Unions will find that this study will add to the interest of their meetings, and will probably increase the attendance. May we urge the Presidents of the Unions, both Local and County, to appoint Superintendents for this pleasant and profitable department? I should be glad to hear from all who have not already taken up the work. Let no Union fail to respond. All orders for books will be promptly filled.

It has been truly said, "Every good citizen will respect the laws bearing on public morals sufficiently to know them, to obey them, and to help enforce them."

Let me beg you to give a few minutes careful thought to this subject before you lay down this copy of the MESSAGE. Yours in great earnestness,

HARRIET F. KIDD.

FRANCHISE.

The common objection against women in politics is conclusively answered by the universal regret and sorrow for the death of Queen Victoria. Every argument urged against letting a woman vote would apply against a Queen ruling over 400,000,000 people. Victoria's reign has been the best, the longest, the most progressive, in the true meaning of that word, of any earthly ruler in all time.

Henry Ward Beecher said long ago, "Every reason urged against a larger liberty for women is illustratively confuted by the purity, dignity, and womanly propriety with which Victoria stands before her empire and before the world."

Woman with a crown on her brow may enter Parliament and govern empires; with only her own simple, virtuous womanhood. She may not lift up her hand to cast a ballot. Now as a woman of this commonwealth of Indiana, I assert for my sisters every right and every privilege that aristocracy accords to men. That which is noble in a Queen is noble and honorable in women in general.

Two years ago thirty thousand names were secured to petitions asking Indiana's Legislature to change her constitution so as to give women the right of franchise. The majority by their ballot and by their word favored the bill, the Senate recommending it to the General Assembly of 1901. There being then two measures before the Legislature for constitutional change, our bill could only be a recommendation. This Legislature has purposely adopted the same measure, introducing two bills for change of the constitution at the beginning of the term, thus shutting off all reform work.

It seems doubtful if legislation of any kind for equality before the law, for women, will be secured, or even a bill of that character introduced. The members of the Legislature at the present time, who personally favor such a law, do not see a possible chance for it now. However, the Legislative work is left to the efforts of the Indianapolis Equality Club of Women, who are influential, persistent, brave and winning. Some counties have sent instructions to their congressmen to vote for women when the bill appears; and there is great interest throughout the State.

M. A. TOMPKINS,
State Superintendent Franchise.

NOTICE, SUPERINTENDENTS OF MERCY—PRIZES AWARDED.

1. In order to stimulate effort and to secure the correct reports which I so earnestly desire, I will this year offer a prize of five dollars to be used for material for her work by the local Superintendent, who will report the largest increase in members of Bands of Mercy, and who gives the best general report for the year. Please note that it is the number of new members gained during the year which is desired and that the total number of Bands must also be added.

MARY F. LOVELL,
National and World's Superintendent Mercy.

2. To the Superintendent, either local or county, who secures three hundred signers to the Bird pledge, I will give one dollar's worth of literature. Any who desires the printed pledge can have it by writing to me. I also offer to any county or local Superintendent, who is instrumental in having the greatest number of sermons preached by ministers on the subject, "Our Duty to the Animal Creation," one dollar's worth of literature.

Dear Superintendents, these offers speak for themselves; will you not try earnestly to win them? The last two are mine. May God give you success.

LOU E. RALL,
State Superintendent.

ANTI-NARCOTICS.

There is not a city, town or burgh in our State but wherein tobacco reigns. Armed with our State laws, of which you can get them from Mrs. Harriet Kidd, of Wabash, or myself, you can defend yourself and community. If you cannot afford to send to me twelve cents for two dozen pledges and the Constitution and By-laws, do like several teachers who saw this pledge in a paper, cut it out, pasted it on paper and thus had the names of their pupils signed below. "Where there's a will there's a way." Try it and see what you can do. This is the will, with God's help, that has accomplished what has been done so far in our city, a membership of over 4,000 boys and girls, a Board of Trustees of ten members, organization of our business men, a down town office, 17 public schools and 8 parochial schools visited, 10 leagues in working order, a monthly rally first Saturday in each month, held at the city hall, and about $20 of money, besides a great deal of time by your Superintendent spent in this work, a column in a weekly or daily paper to keep the public posted (which will bring us better support), citizens interviewed, pastors and churches secured, schools open for our work, and all we have to do now is to equip ourselves for the work and go forward, enter the land and take possession. There is not a white ribboner and honorary member who should not put their shoulder to the wheels and crowd this work to victory. It is the most urgent work of the W. C. T. U. Churches or any organizations which have the welfare of mankind at heart, not only to have the present generation from themselves, but the future, our very own.

Small Unions and small A. C. L.'s can help themselves wonderfully by organizing, having a medal contest or two, using Anti-Cigarette League Medal and have money to secure your supplies for your development. L. T. Ls. should use every means in their power to down the tobacco fiend and thus increase your ranks, and which you can not accomplish through alcohol alone.

Valparaiso has a fine A. C. L. of 548 charter members in her schools, which every city ought to copy after. Agitate this subject a little and see how quietly you can go over and take the promised land; opposition will not bitterly oppose, parents will see the folly of their example, quietly come over to your side and encourage and assist their children for the right. I have circulated over 8,000 A. C. L. pledges. Great works may have been accomplished did we only know, but let us sow the seed in all kinds of ground and water it and leave the results and increase with God.

Our Wayne township trustee who endorses our work and has it in his schools, says, "If you only save one, you do good." Our County Auditor says, "He does not see how pledge signing can or will save them, but something must be done." I told him as he has studied his business, so we must study ours. Now this is only a starter, so just get to work and hold yourself in readiness for all the help I can give you, gleaned from all sources, and all the good things in this line. Please let me know for our Ft. Wayne paper, the Sentinel, the Boy, MESSAGE, Phalanx and other papers of our State. Organize, send names of officers and number of members to get on our charter at the National Convention at Chicago, January 31 and February 1, and send a delegate from your A. C. L. if possible. Chicago is close to us.

MRS. ELIZABETH DRAKE,
State Superintendent.

WORK AMONG RAILROAD EMPLOYEES.

At the beginning of another year I desire to urge upon my co-workers to renewed efforts in order that our Department may accomplish great things during the first year of the twentieth century.

You have the Plan of Work, also the questions in report blanks, therefore it is unnecessary to take up space in telling you what to do.

I cheerfully give all needed information. Will County Presidents kindly see to it that each local Union appoints a local Superintendent for this Department?

Hoping to receive excellent reports from my associates in the work,
MRS. ADALINE SUCSE,
State Superintendent.

LOCAL UNIONS.

Press Superintendents are requested to send to the MESSAGE editor an item on a postal each month. Eliminate every word possible, and let the item contain not more than fifteen or twenty words, like a telegram, you know, giving facts only. This is said because of the unlimited space and the great desire all readers have to know about what you are doing.

FIELD NOTES.

Franklin County has but one L. T. L., and that is at Bath. On January 12 was held our second medal contest. After deducting expenses we had $8.65, which was sent to the Hadley Home. Our Union also paid the thirty-six cents per member for the Home. We have a live Legion, twenty members; eight are studying for diplomas. We hope to take our graduates to State convention commencement. Five of our contestants are boys; four have just entered the State University at Oxford, Ohio. Blake Barkley received the medal at first contest, John Farr at second. We are planning for enough contests to hold our first gold contest in the county before our next State convention. The contests have done more here to arouse the people on the temperance question than anything we have done. Our Superintendent of Contest Work, Mrs. Ida B. Barkley, is also a teacher in L. T. L. and an earnest worker in the temperance cause. We are planning to organize other Legions in the near future. Our W. C. T. U. is also planning for a public meeting on the 17th of February.

MARGARET M. SMITH.

Peru Y's gave a social at Mrs. Kilmer's, evening of January 29. Their lunch consisted of beans, sandwiches, pickles, cake and cocoa. Tickets for admission, 15 cents. Mrs. Kilmer has a barrel ready for the Hadley Home, which contains useful clothing, books, cards and other things. Peru Union sent $5.00 and the Y's will send a nice sum.

To Benton County W. C. T. U. The Hadley School has a debt, because we did not all send in our thirty-six cents per member last year. Please let us clear this debt all off and start in fresh by holding the silver medal contest soon and send in proceeds, and thus be done with Hadley for the year; besides rejoicing the heart of the good Treasurer, Mrs. Hessong. By vote of State Convention every woman who pays dues this year gets the State paper. There will be no more subscription. If we all pay our dues early we will get the paper earlier in the year, so let us all do this. The Treasurer only collects dues from us once in the year. Local Presidents, please keep this before the women, so the paper may have a good circulation. Our County Convention ordered the names of County officers and Superintendents printed on slips and sent out, so every Local officer and Superintendent may have one. Now, Local Superintendents, will you please report to the County Superintendent all work done by you? You know your Superintendent's name.

ELIZA F. BAKER,
County President.

Mrs. Stahl writes: After some weeks of writing and planning I, by invitation, visited a United Brethren church, four miles west of Hartford City and held a gospel temperance meeting, and according to previous arrangements organized a W. C. T. U. It is small, but eight members, but I believe it is made up of good solid timber. Am sure some of the women have the courage of their convictions. I expect to see it grow.

Mrs. Katie W. Holler, President of St. Joseph County, organized a Union of eleven members on the east side of the river in South Bend, February 4. The meeting was held at the residence of Mrs. Elizabeth Thomas and the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Lilly Lushbaugh; Vice-President, Mrs. Elizabeth Thomas; Secretary, Mrs. Nina High; Treasurer, Mrs. I. M. Houser. There are now four Unions in South Bend.

Miss Clara Agnes Boyd sends out a fine circular in the interest of her Department Unions. You would find it wise to correspond with Miss Boyd and arrange dates for her.

Sedalia Union held a Silver Medal Contest December 29, for the benefit of the Hadley Industrial School. Miss Nellie Chittick being the successful winner. Title, "Jeremiah and his Pa in a lively discussion." We are preparing a box of fruit and dry goods for the School.

Bryant has more than doubled its membership.

Jay County—President, Mrs. Ada C. Coleman, plans to visit all her Unions before their Institute. Mrs. Gulie E. Shugart is taking the same wise course and visiting her Unions, and that is work in a county like Grant. Grant and Marion are our very strong counties, they think they need the Institute. Grant County Superintendents have organized themselves into a Board. Rev. Cammack-Gibson, Jonesboro, President; Mrs. Stephenson, Gas City, Secretary; Mrs. Mary Coggeshall, South Marion, Treasurer. I do so wish many other counties would take this advance step.—M. E. Balch.

The second anniversary meeting of Indianapolis Frances Willard Union, was held at Mrs. Cornelius. The President, Mrs. Leck, presided with grace and dignity and spoke beautiful words of encouragement. Little Martha Geyer recited a temperance pledge.

Mrs. Gipe, County President, presented the conditions of the work and the advancement made.

Rev. G. M. Smith, pastor Hall Place M. E. church, and an honorary member, spoke on the need of action along all temperance lines.

Rev. C. E. Bacon, pastor Roberts Park M. E. church, gave words of cheer and commendation.

Lieutenant Deuter, of the Salvation Army, sang a touching solo with accompaniment on his harp.

Mrs. Luella McWhirter gave echoes from the National Convention, mentioning the deference and respect shown the wearers of the White Ribbon, while attending the convention in our Nation's Capitol. On behalf of the Union, Mrs. Cornelius, in very beautiful and fitting words, presented Mrs. Leck with a life sized framed picture of Miss Willard, as a token of their love and appreciation of her services as their President. The generous hospitality of Mrs. Cornelius and a delightful social hour was greatly enjoyed.

Hadley Union, Grant County, at the last regular meeting received one new member and arranged to put a literature "wall pocket" in the C. I. & E. depot at Fairmount. The Union generally sympathizes with Mrs. Nation in her efforts to create sentiment against the illegal saloons in Kansas.

Huntington Union began the year with an unusually large attendance and a marked increase in interest. The subject of "A Model Mother" called forth some helpful thoughts and added several new members. Miss Rall pleased all with that sweet song "Mother's Bow of Ribbon White."

IN MEMORIAM.

Died, or fallen asleep in Christ, Elizabeth Jones, at the age of 55 years, November 12, 1900, at her home at Broad Ripple, at 5 o'clock in the morning. She closed her eyes forever to the scenes of this world for a brighter, better land where Jesus is the light. She was a faithful member of the Methodist Church and President of the Dorcas Society of that Church. She was a much loved member of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Broad Ripple. For years she was a great sufferer, but was always patient, even to the end. She leaves to follow her a husband, two sisters and a host of friends. Her remains were placed in the vault at Ebenezer Church.

Aseneth Milhous, daughter of David and Levina Milhous, was born January 6, 1884, died December 2, 1900, aged 16 years, 11 months and two days. She was a member of the Bridgeport W. C. T. U. The change was not unlooked for, as she had been sick from consumption about twelve months. This she bore very patiently and was cheerful all the while, wishing those around her to be the same. She thankfully received any token of love and was not forgetful to bestow the same upon others. Near the last she became quite weary and longed for home. Thus ended the life of a loving and faithful daughter, a tender and confiding sister, a true and considerate friend. She had a birthright membership in Friends' Church and we believe she now has a membership in the Church Triumphant.

On December 31, 1900, Sister Henrietta Grove was summoned higher and on January 2, 1901, Sister E. S. Clark went out to return no more. Our Union has been singularly unfortunate, having lost five by death within the past eighteen months. We meet regularly and at our first meeting of the twentieth century we enrolled two new members. The Department work of Jail and Prison has not been neglected and the Flower Mission Department has been well looked after. Just now we have some rescue work on our hands and we hope to be able to give a good report of it in the near future.

At her home in Frankton, Ella Lee fell asleep in Jesus, January 18, aged 50 years. She was a faithful worker in and an earnest supporter of the W. C. T. U. She lived the life of a consistent Christian for many years and entered into life eternal in perfect peace, leaving a husband, three sons and many friends.

Thursday morning, December 6, the spirit of our noble sister, Beulah Dillon, sped to the Celestial Home. Mrs. Dillon was 76 years old and a charter member of the Rochester W. C. T. U., being one of the six anxious-hearted mothers who started the White Ribbon work there ten years ago. We thank God for the many lessons taught by her pure dignified life. The W. C. T. U. is poorer to-day by the death of their faithful member, while heaven is richer. May a double portion of her spirit rest upon us in our temperance work and may the Divine consolation abide with the bereaved family. Desiring to express our deep sympathy to Mr. Dillon, the sons and daughters, Resolved, That a copy of the above memorial be sent to them. Also that the State W. C. T. U. may know and sympathize with us.

Resolved, That a copy be sent to the MESSAGE for publication.

On January 10, 1901, the following resolutions were adopted by representatives of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Greensboro, Ind.:

WHEREAS, Our Heavenly Father has seen fit to remove from our midst the one who for more than twenty years has been our beloved President and Leader, Eliza M. Wright, be it

Resolved, That, while we bow in submission to His will, we hereby place on record an expression of our profound sorrow at the loss of one who has been an ardent worker, a wise counselor, an humble Christian and a warm friend.

Resolved, That we recognize her efficient work in our midst, and while we realize that her place cannot be filled, her blessed memory will ever be as a benediction to us.

Resolved, That we tender our heartfelt sympathy to those most near and dear to her in this time of need.

Jefferson Union, Clinton County, sustained a loss in the death of our White Ribbon sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson, who died January 16. This was the first death in the Union. Mrs. Thompson was also the oldest member in the Union, as she was nearing three score and ten years. We trust she is at rest.

THE MESSAGE.

"Not by Might nor by Power, but by My Spirit."

VOL. V. No. 3.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., MARCH, 1901.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR.

ADDISON HADLEY.

The first and greatest benefactor of the Indiana W. C. T. U. is gone.

Mr. Hadley died, after a short illness, on March 2, at his home, on a farm near the town of Hadley, in Hendricks County. Martha J. Hadley, nee Hill, his devoted wife, survives him.

He was born in North Carolina and came to Hendricks County about fifty years ago. He was a Friend, and had the characteristics of the early Quaker. He was industrious, frugal and a very successful farmer and stock raiser.

Mr. Hadley was a very modest man, of broad reading, a logical thinker, whose judgment was respected by all who knew him. He had a remarkable knowledge of the Scriptures and ability to explain them.

Many years ago he became convinced that the saloon was an enemy to God and righteousness and must go. Logically he became a prohibitionist. His great loving nature was stirred at the knowledge that in all Indiana not a place was provided where worthy, needy girls could be cared for and educated to become self-reliant and independent. For this reason he sought to have a conference with our dear Mrs. Josephine Nichols, then President of the Indiana W. C. T. U., which resulted in Addison and Martha Hadley giving, on February 1, 1891, a beautiful farm of one hundred and ten acres, situated near Hadley, to the Indiana W. C. T. U., upon which to establish an industrial school for worthy, needy girls, $5,000 having been raised for a building by the organization, according to agreement, before the transfer of the deed.

In May, 1895, the school was opened and from the first has continued to be a blessing to many worthy, needy girls, who are receiving Christian care and culture, a common school education and a knowledge of domestic and dairy work, care of poultry and small fruits. All this in one of the most healthful localities under very favorable surroundings. The value of the institution property is now about $30,000.

Addison and Martha Hadley have thus built for themselves a monument in the hearts of the people and in the immortal lives of those girls who have received and who will receive benefits from their wise and loving plans.

Mr. Hadley's funeral was held on March 4, in the Friends' Church at Hadley and was very largely attended. The speakers were Anna Mills and Ellis Wells, Friends' ministers, and F. T. McWhirter, for the W. C. T. U. He was buried at Hadley. The W. C. T. U. has lost a loving, considerate friend and benefactor.

Several years ago Addison and Martha J. Hadley made a deed to two hundred and seventy-seven acres of land adjoining the Industrial School farm, to be kept by the executor, F. T. McWhirter, of Indianapolis, until after Mr. Hadley's death, at which time it should be recorded. This has been done. It provides that Mrs. Hadley shall have the rents and profits of the farm during her lifetime. Thus, in all, the Indiana W. C. T. U. will receive for the use of the Hadley Industrial School the magnificent gift of three hundred and eighty-seven acres of valuable land from Addison and Martha Hadley, situated near the St. Louis division of the Big Four railroad, twenty-four miles west of Indianapolis.

FOR CLOSING THE GATES OF THE PAN-AMERICAN EXPOSITION ON SUNDAY.

WHEREAS, The American Sabbath is the bulwark of American liberties and of American institutions, and WHEREAS, Liberty from the demands of toil one day in seven, is the inalienable right of every man, and

WHEREAS, The opening of the gates of the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo, on Sunday, will be in direct opposition to the religious convictions and expressed desire of the large majority of the Christian people, not only of the Empire State, but of all this Nation,

WE, the citizens of Indiana, do most earnestly petition the President and the members of the Board of Directors of the Pan-American Exposition not to open the gates of said Exposition on Sunday, and protest against yielding to any pressure that may be brought to bear, from any source, to have said gates opened on the Christian Sabbath.

The foregoing petition and protest receives the cordial approval of ..... Church in ..... representing a congregation of adherents to the number of ..... Christian Endeavor in ..... Epworth League in ..... Baptist Union in ..... W. C. T. U. in ..... Y. M. C. A. in .....

TEMPERANCE LEGISLATION.

Representative E. E. Neal warned the members of the House of Representatives that in many townships in Indiana much the same spirit existed as in Kansas, and that they ought to vote for the Scott temperance bill.

The temperance people have reason now to believe the truth of the statement made before the opening of the Indiana Legislature to the effect that there would be no temperance legislation on account of pledges made to liquor men previous to the election of legislators.

How different Representative Neal's position on temperance legislation and that of Colonel Eli F. Ritter's. Colonel Ritter informed the temperance committee of the House that he was opposed to any more temperance legislation in Indiana for ten years. Afterward, in speaking against the Scott bill, on the floor of the House of Representatives, Representative Reser quoted Colonel Ritter as opposed to any temperance legislation at this session.

The Scott temperance bill was defeated in the Indiana House of Representatives by the following vote: Ayes—Adamson, Airhart, Allen, Beckman, Bishop, Carmichael, Cravens, Davis, of Green, Davis, of Wayne, Gauntt, Gillett, Harris, Jack, King, Kirkman, McCarty, Marshall, of Fountain, Metsker, Miller, of Kosciusko, Miller, of Ohio, Morton, Mummert, Neal, Parker, Perrett, Reeves, Robertson, Scott, Short, Slack, Sparks, Stookey, Stout, Tucker, Vestal, Waugh, Mr. Speaker (Artman)—37.

Nays—Bell, Bonham, Burrier, Burkhart, Catley, Clarke, Clem, Coble, Cotner, Cox, Cooper, Cully, Dille, Dirksen, Dudley, Erdlitz, Gerber, Haines, Hopping, Horsfield, Jackman, James, Johnson, Kelley, Lawrence, Lopp, Louttit, Madden, Marshall, of Tippecanoe, Matthews, Maxem, May, Minton, Morgan, Muller, Murphy, Myler, Ostermeyer, Parks, Passage, Pritchard, Reagan, Reser, Schreeder, Scifers, Stutesman, Thomas, Trout, Wesling, Zollman—50.

Absentees—Cruson, John, Larr, Manifold, Owen, Roberts, of Jefferson, Roberts, of Dearborn, Rogers, Small, Van Fleet, Whitcomb—11.

HOUSEKEEPING—MOTHERHOOD.

Definite education is planned for every profession except housekeeping and motherhood. Mothers, a great responsibility rests upon you. Teach your daughters how to be scientific housekeepers. If you have not this knowledge, seek to find such an institution and place them there with just as much enthusiasm as you seek an academy or a college for them. Let them understand that the kitchen is a laboratory and of equal importance to the best laboratory of any educational institution.

To enter the profession of housekeeping without years of preparation ought to be considered as great a folly and as hazardous as to enter the legal or medical profession (if that could be done) without study and preparation. No diploma or certificate is required even by our great institutions for educated housekeepers and cooks. This will be remedied. The time will come when housekeeping will be taught by rules.

The highest paid cooks now are men. They measure and cook by rule. When women are scientifically educated as housekeepers and cooks, accidents will be few, for, like the chemist, everything will be done by rule with the same result each time. Thermometers will be used on the oven and in the water and an even temperature will be gained, thus preventing some kinds of accidents.

The prevalence of cooking schools and instruction in housekeeping tend to dignify housework. When this is accomplished, the offices, factories and stores will not have the privilege of fading the bloom from the cheeks of our young girls. The sacredness of girlhood will then be sheltered in homes where they will naturally seek opportunity for a higher, more natural and better development.

Motherhood! No woman has a right to marry who would shun motherhood. If she should, she is not normally right, for every normal girl looks forward with a certain joyous anticipation toward motherhood. For this, the most important profession which women may enter, little or no preparation is made. Too often must we hear, "Poor young girl! She will have to learn by experience, as I did!" Shame! Such false ideas! The statistics collected by the National Prison Reform Association show that of the criminals in this country whose lives, environments and mothers have been traced, prove that pre-natal influences are responsible for a large per cent of the crimes committed.

Child life and culture and motherhood in their physical, moral and spiritual phases should be studied. Sensible young men, after considering the ignorance of some young women in regard to themselves and the duties of wife and mother, will refuse to seek them for wives. Why not? What young woman would want to marry a man who did not have a vocation—who was not qualified to support her? Not one. Why, then, should a young woman, who has a smattering of several things and knows absolutely nothing about practical housekeeping or motherhood, expect to make a home and to be loved and respected by a man?

Y. W. C. T. U.

Half the year is past with March fifteenth and what have you done for our beloved cause? Do you attend the meetings regularly, or do you attend everything else and slight the temperance cause you represent? We must be loyal and true.

February 22 it was my privilege to attend a meeting of the Goshen Y at the home of Mrs. Amanda Kauffman, their faithful and consecrated leader, and think of a house full—a most delightful sight. Praise God for such people and bless them is our constant prayer.

Y. W. C. T. U. conference at Goshen on February 23 was one of the best meetings of the kind I ever attended. South Bend Y's, with their County President, Mrs. Katie Wert Holler, were there, also a large delegation from Middlebury. It was a meeting long to be remembered. Papers and addresses on topics assigned were handled in a masterly manner. Especially fine was Mr. Richard Fidler's paper on Health, Heredity and Physical Culture. About one hundred and fifty were present during the morning and afternoon sessions. Space forbids personal mention of all who took a part on the program, but it was all good and helpful.

Bedford has the next Y conference, evening of March 22 and morning of the 23d. Pray for us, that many may be added to our cause.

Dear Y Treasurers, do be faithful in gathering the dues, and as other states have set their mark for five hundred new Y's, let us also. We can, if we only try. Will you help?

Miss Ina Burton, President South Bend Y, went to Goshen to attend the Y conference, but being sick, was obliged to return early Saturday morning, much to the regret of all her friends. We pray that she is strong again.

Have you sent your appropriation to the State Y Secretary, for a convention fund? If you have ten members or more you are asked to send $1.00 for the fund; if less than ten, 50 cents per Union. This is to be in the hands of the Secretary, so it can be reported in the annual report blank and proper credit given. See to it, girls, that you do your duty in this respect.

Death visited the home of one of our Y members and took the mother of Miss Ray Bryan, of Anderson, a woman who loved our cause and prayed for its success. Remember Miss Ray in your prayers.

CLARA M. SEARS.

ANDERSON.

Converse has a new Union of thirty-two members, organized by the County President. President, Mrs. J. W. Eword; Vice-President, Mrs. Ida Arrick; Secretary, Mrs. Roby; Treasurer, Miss Laura Cammack.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES.

The outlook for the utter overthrow of the saloon grows brighter. The public realizes more and more that the saloon defies law, degrades communities and burdens taxpayers.

Whatever may be said of the career of Mrs. Carrie Nation, one thing is very certain—saloons are greater law breakers and more ruinous to property than a thousand Carrie Nations could be. Kansas is only a small territory compared with the great, wide waste of desolation in the track of this awful scourge. The beginning of the end seems to dawn with the new awakening led by the intrepid and sincere Carrie Nation.

William Allen White, a Kansas writer and editor of the Emporia Gazette, came to Indianapolis, by invitation, to read a paper before the Contemporary Club. While here he said in an interview by a News reporter:

"Several years ago, I think it was in 1895, after the Debs strike in 1894, the Legislature passed a law which took away the right of injunction from the county attorney, and forcing the prohibitory law. But this law was passed, not to cripple the prohibitory law, but to catch the labor vote by guaranteeing to laborers the right to trial by jury in cases of strikes, lockouts and such labor troubles as were put down by injunction in the Debs strike of 1894. When this law was passed it crippled the power of the county attorney in bringing jointists to justice, because it put the matter of conviction in the hands of twelve men, one of whom, at least, in pretty nearly every Kansas county, might be depended upon to hang any jury in a liquor case. Subsequently, since that time, joints have been growing more and more impudent, and the law has been violated with more or less impunity in many Kansas counties. In the towns of Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Kas., Topeka, Ft. Scott and Wichita the city councils have, by one device or another, established a monthly fining system which amounts to a license. But in hundreds of other towns public sentiment has enforced the law.

MRS. NATION'S INSPIRATION.

"It was this condition of affairs which created Carrie Nation. She is a woman past middle age. She has lived her life decently and usefully and law-abidingly until now. She has suffered as many women suffer, by reason of whisky. Her first husband, who was probably her ideal, in spite of the fact that she has married again, died a drunkard, and she says openly that it is to avenge his death that she has gone on the rampage. There is no doubt but that she is violating the law. There is no doubt but that she should be brought to justice. There is no doubt but that she should be made to suffer for offending the law. She is hysterical at times and is driven frantic by the recollection, probably, of what whisky has done for her.

"Yet, there is another side to it. In Kansas the liquor traffic has also violated the law. It is the joint keeper's business to promote vice, violence and crime; to injure our health, to destroy and waste our wealth; to lay burdens on our charities; to increase our taxation and to corrupt our politics. The Kansas joint keeper kills more men, maims and disables more men, ruins more men and tortures more women and children than all other criminals put together.

THE SALOONIST'S MISSION.

"The reason people have not yet fully realized this is that his work is slow, hidden and indirect. All vices thrive around him. All crimes grow out of him. But in general, not instantly, the seed is sown, the impetus given to-day, and the blight following next year or ten years hence. He lives and moves and thrives and literally raises hell outside the law—just as much outside the law as Mrs. Nation is. For my part, lamentable as riot is, I would rather see riot in the streets of Kansas towns for the next year than to see Kansas sink into the hopeless, helpless condition of New York City, for example, where riots may be rare, but where lawlessness and civic corruption and the moral decay of citizens are accepted without question as the order and hardly without protest. By all means, let Mrs. Nation go to jail when she violates the law, but let the joint keepers and recreant Kansas officials suffer also and in proportion to their offending."

HADLEY INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

Let not our ideas grow narrow nor our hearts grow cold in dealing with Hadley Home. It is entitled to our loyal support, as the cause is so noble. For the first time since opening the Home there is now serious sickness. Blanche Bovee, of Garrett, DeKalb County, and Ina Barker, of Fountain County, are seriously ill. They are attended by a good physician and have tender care, but we all know the weary watching and extra attention that sickness brings. There is no call for nurses, but there might be remembrances of a substantial nature that would allow some delicacies and extra help to be provided. A hot water bag would be highly appreciated, and your good sense will suggest to you what you can do. We are all enlisted as volunteers in this service, and the highest service we can render is to protect the helpless, nurture the young and make this world a more tolerable place to live in and point to the brighter, sweeter world beyond.

LUCRETIA HOBART.

HADLEY, IND., March 4, 1901.

Dear readers of the Message:

I suppose it would be of interest to you to hear about our nice home and the way in which our work is conducted. As our home is large, we have many departments of work, and in order to carry it on in the right way we must have a method by which to work.

I am going to tell you about the chamber work. We have ten sleeping rooms and four chambermaids to do the work. They make the beds, which number twenty-eight, sweep the rooms, do the dusting and attend to the changing of the beds. On Saturday the rooms receive an extra good cleaning, which consists of mopping, cleaning the walls and washing the wood-work. We are very thankful to our dear Father in heaven for His many blessings to us, and also to all the dear ones who are working for our benefit. I am glad there are such institutions established as this, in which girls can receive better training than they would if they had to struggle with the temptations of the outside world. But I know that each one of the W. C. T. U. women and all who are interested in our welfare will feel doubly paid if we reach the high ideal of Christian womanhood which they have for us and which they expect us to be, so that when we leave here we may be able to carry the balm of consolation to some sin-burdened heart. I pray that others may join your ranks and help you in the glorious uplifting of humanity and the advancement of Christ's kingdom.

May the day soon dawn when every saloon will be abolished, not only in the United States, but all over this large world of ours, and then the many thousands who are laboring to-day in the cause shall feel rewarded; but only partially rewarded, for they will never know the good they have done nor the full extent of their labors until they reach their glorious home above and hear the glad message from the compassionate Jesus, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant."

Yours sincerely,

GRACE GRIFFIN.

HADLEY, IND., March 3, 1901.

Dear readers of the Message:

As you have read about the dairy work and cooking, and know how that work is carried on, perhaps you would like to know how our school work is conducted. There are two bells rung before school in the morning; one at 8:15, to give time to all those who are not ready for school to prepare, and the other one at 8:30, when school opens. Miss Mary Pearson is our teacher and we girls all love her very much. We have all the grades from the first to the eighth. There are seven girls in the eighth grade and they are all trying to graduate. We are going to take the county examination March 16 and we have a great deal of studying to do. From 8:30 to 8:45 Miss Pearson generally reads to us. After that she begins to hear the classes recite. The smallest children recite first. There are three girls in the first grade and one in the second grade. After the first and second grades recite they are excused from the room until after recess. Miss Pearson next hears the third grade, then the fourth, and so on, through all the grades. Then recess at 10:25. As a rule, only the younger girls go out at recess, the girls in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades remaining in to study. After recess, the classes again recite in rotation as before. School closes at 12 o'clock and at 12:15 we have dinner. After dinner the girls who have work to do begin their duties, while the others take their recreation. At 1:30 school opens again and lessons are heard in the same manner as in the morning. We have recess in the afternoon at 2:50. School closes at 4 o'clock in the evening and the dairy girls go to milk and the cooks to prepare supper. After supper we have from 7 o'clock to 8 o'clock to study.

EVANGELISTIC.

I regret very much that my letter was just a little too late for the February issue of the MESSAGE, for I wanted to give you time to arrange for the observance of an Evangelistic Sunday (as suggested by Miss Greenwood in her recommendations for 1901) on the first Sunday in March. As we are too late for this, I would suggest that we observe the twenty-fourth, and conform as much as we can to her plan, which is as follows: Let each Superintendent seek to secure Sunday, March 3, as Evangelistic and Woman's Sunday, under the auspices of the local W. C. T. U. Sermons to women, or upon temperance work, in the morning; a consecration, or Sabbath school service in the afternoon and a union Evangelistic mass meeting in the evening.

Let us work according to our National Superintendent's plans as fully as we can, consistent with our environments. My Plan of Work is now in the hands of the printer and every Superintendent will receive a copy as soon as your addresses are known. Will each County Superintendent send me, immediately, all the names and addresses of her local Superintendents? I sincerely hope we are all putting forth our best efforts along all evangelistic lines and are keeping a faithful record of work done. A few lines from the Union Signal so impressed my mind that I pass them on: "Oh, do not pray for easy lives! Pray to be stronger men (and I add women.) Do not pray for tasks equal to your powers, pray for powers equal to your tasks. Then the doing of your work shall be no miracle. But you shall be a miracle. Every day you shall wonder at yourself, at the richness of life which has come in you by the grace of God."—Philips Brooks. I trust each Superintendent takes the Union Signal. In the issue of February 28 you will find Miss Greenwood's recommendations for 1901, which I suggest you carefully read and put in practice.

Yours in service,

ELIZABETH M. HAUGHTON,
State Superintendent.

FLOWER MISSION.

Now is the time to plant seeds in boxes and to plan for the flower beds. If geranium slips are put into pots now, in rich soil and kept in a south or east window, they will bloom early and thus enable you to put a bright blossom where some one will be made to rejoice. Always send a Scripture text card tied to your gift, whether it be a flower, fruit, clothing or reading matter. The gospel message is the one balm that can soothe a soul.

For the celebration of Flower Mission Day (June 9, 1901) it would be of lasting joy and value to carry magazines and books, as well as flowers, to the State and local institutions, poor farms and county jails. Many persons would gladly contribute these from their book-shelves. Will the County Superintendents please arrange to have the nearest local superintendents and several ministers and teachers assist in holding a Flower Mission service? June 9 comes on Sunday, so that Saturday and Sunday may be observed in different places, giving opportunity for the teachers and boys and girls to help.

If there is no County Superintendent, or for any reason she cannot arrange as early as the last of April for county meetings, each Local Union Superintendent should perfect her own arrangements, secure the help of others and do what she can. Arrangements should be made by April 1 with the officials of all institutions, poor houses and county jails for the services to be held. All newspapers should be supplied with a write-up of the Flower Mission work, and books, scrap books, clothing, flowers, delicacies and confections solicited, naming some store or elsewhere where things contributed should be sent. Flower Mission text cards are 25 cents per hundred. Order early of the Woman's Temperance Publishing Association, The Temple, Chicago, Ill.

Wishing that I could see you and talk instead of writing,
Faithfully,

ETHEL TYREE McWHIRTER.

DePauw University, Greencastle, Ind.

FAIRS AND OPEN AIR MEETINGS.

A change in the name of this department was deemed necessary because of the mistaken idea that work was confined to fair grounds. It is the mission of this department to go to the people where they are assembled at fairs, Fourth of July celebrations, old settlers' meetings, harvest homes, veteran encampments, reunions of the Blue and the Gray, conventions, excursions, picnics, street fairs and all open air meetings. See to the enforcement of law relating to gambling and other vices, also to the illegal sale of liquors. Endeavor to influence the managers and directors of fairs and other gatherings to refuse permits to fakirs and gamblers and to refuse privileges for the sale of liquors, with always an abundance of literature on hand. Every county should have a superintendent of this department, whose first duty is to have a superintendent appointed in every local union. Each locality has its special needs and privileges, hence the importance of having local superintendents who are in a position to know the lines of work best adapted to that section of the county, the kind of literature to be distributed, the subjects to be discussed by our speakers when on the program at fairs and open air meetings. Superintendents should have a copy of our state laws on gambling and other vices, also relating to the sale of liquor on fair grounds, city parks and at circuses.

At Washington, the National Banner of Fairs was presented to Indiana for having secured the most signed pledge cards. Each card represented one new paid member. It was with peculiar pleasure I received it, having accepted the same banner in 1896 from our dear sainted Josephine R. Nichols and carried it for her on Benefit Night at the National Convention in St. Louis, afterwards presenting it to Mrs. Guild, State Superintendent of Missouri, now National Superintendent, who lovingly and prayerfully returned it to Indiana (where it was planned and made), where I believe we should keep it—but to accomplish this we shall need be abundant in labor.

Begin now to secure new members, using the membership cards prepared for this department—cards, 25 cents per hundred, which I will furnish upon application. See that all cards are filled correctly; if they are not, they cannot be counted in this contest. All cards are to be returned to me and I will string them on blue ribbon to form a chain and return them to the National Superintendent in time to decide, before the National Convention, to whom the banner will belong. That superintendents may be prepared for aggressive work, the National Superintendent urges that each superintendent gets up an entertainment at once, the proceeds to be used to buy literature and meet incidental expenses. Lack of funds cripples our work.

Now is the time to go before agricultural boards to apply for space and privileges. The directors and managers are making arrangements for speakers, preparing programs and planning all details necessary to carry out their plans successfully.

Will superintendents of this department kindly send me their names and addresses at once. I want to send you Plan of Work and a sample pledge card. Let us with renewed zeal enter upon the work of this year and with our banner unfurled to the breeze, march valiantly on to victory.

MRS. ADA B. LECK,
State Superintendent.

1801 N. Capitol Avenue, Indianapolis.

INSTITUTES.

The first thing absolutely necessary to success is to understand the plan and the program. These will be sent early, that each person assigned some subject on the program may have a copy. More programs will be sent later on as the time of the Institute draws near, for use during the meetings, that copies may be given to all in attendance. Copies of the Union Signal, MESSAGE, Annual Leaflets and Minutes will be sent and if some one has charge of the literature we will address these to them if they will send in their names to the State Corresponding Secretary. Correspond directly with the leader of your Institute as to arrangement of program, entertainment, arrival, Sunday meetings, subjects for evening lectures, etc., etc. Let this correspondence go on now, before the work of the Institute begins. It has been suggested that the contest should be Suffrage. Order your supplies from the State Superintendent and send money with your order. Suffrage books, 15 cents a copy; medals, $1.25; tickets, two hundred with envelopes, 35 cents. The schedule of Section 1 in February MESSAGE had to be slightly changed and in this issue we give it in full. We are obliged to leave some counties blank, even at this late date, as the places are not yet selected.

SECTION ONE.

Hammond, Lake County, March 19, and 20; Hebron, Porter County, March 25, 26 and 27; South Bend, St. Joseph County, March 28, 29 and 30; Kewanee, Fulton County, April 1, 2 and 3; Amboy, Miami County, April 4, 5 and 6; South Whitley, Whitley County, April 11, 12 and 13; St. Joseph, DeKalb County, April 15, 16 and 17; Fremont, Steuben County, April 18, 19 and 20; Ft. Wayne, Allen County, April 22, 23 and 24; Star City, Pulaski County, April 25, 26 and 27. Leader, Miss Mary Hadley, Bloomington, Ind.

SECTION TWO.

Sycamore, Howard County, April 11, 12 and 13; Sedalia, Clinton County, April 15, 16 and 17; Carroll County, April 18, 19 and 20; Jasper County, April 22, 23 and 24; Morocco, Newton County, April 29, 30 and May 1; Lochiel, Benton County, May 2, 3 and 4; Warren County, May 6, 7 and 8; Covington, Fountain County, May 9, 10 and 11; Montgomery County, May 13, 14 and 15; Tippecanoe County, May 16, 17 and 18; Boone County, May 20, 21 and 22; Atlanta, Hamilton County, May 23, 24 and 25; Elwood, Madison County, May 27, 28 and 29; Eaton, Delaware County, May 30, 31 and June 1; Jonesboro, Grant County, June 3, 4 and 5. Leader, Rev. Cammack-Gibson, Jonesboro, Ind.

SECTION THREE.

Hancock County, April 11, 12 and 13; Fairfield P. O., Friendswood, Hendricks County, April 15, 16 and 17; Brazil, Clay County, April 18, 19 and 20; Terre Haute, Vigo County, April 22, 23 and 24; Bloomington, Parke County, April 25, 26 and 27; Mooresville, Morgan County, April 29, 30 and May 1; Petersburg, Bartholomew County, May 2, 3 and 4. The remainder of the counties in this section will be given in the April MESSAGE. Leader, Miss Hattie Brand, 1403 Ashland avenue, Indianapolis, Ind.

SECTION FOUR—EAST HALF

Washington, Daviess County, April 15, 16 and 17; Shoals, Martin County, April 18, 19 and 20; Salem, Washington County, April 22, 23 and 24; North Vernon, Jennings County, April 25, 26 and 27; Dillsboro, Dearborn County, April 29, 30 and May 1; Rising Sun, Ohio County, May 2, 3 and 4; Georgetown, Clark County, May 6, 7 and 8; New Albany, Floyd County, May 9, 10 and 11. Leader, Mrs. Rose Pearce, 905½ N. Eighth street, Terre Haute, Ind.

SECTION FOUR—WEST HALF.

Miss Mary Hadley, leader, will be scheduled in the April MESSAGE.

PARLIAMENTARY OUTLINE OF STUDY FOR LOCAL AND COUNTY UNIONS.

1. How to obtain the floor.
2. To make and withdraw motions.
3. Amendments.
4. Classification and rank of motions.
5. Elections.
6. Duties of Officers.
7. All about Committees.
8. All about Quorum.
9. Appeals—Points of Order.
10. Questions of Privilege.
11. All about Adjournment.

Mrs. A. S. Benjamin, National Superintendent of the Department of Parliamentary Usage, desires that the above outline of study be published in the official organ of each State, with such exhortation as will meet the needs of the women of each State. She says:

"If the W. C. T. U. is to retain the present distinction so freely accorded to it at one time—that of being the best parliamentary organization in the land—the rank and file must be better taught. This cannot be done by spasmodic efforts, but by methodical, systematic study.

"In each regular meeting ten minutes of the time cannot be better spent than in the study and practice of one or more parliamentary points, going over the lesson again and again until even the dullest woman can comprehend it. Each county convention should give at least one hour a day to the study.

"Much effort is expended in obtaining new members. Once secured, let us see to it that they are taught to do things decently and in order. There is no better way to replenish a depleted treasury than to sell tickets for a course of parliamentary lessons. Even in small towns the multiplicity of organizations makes this an easy thing to do; and there is not only money in it, but the consciousness of supplying a long felt need on the part of the several societies, who will gratefully remember the W. C. T. U. because it added to their knowledge and thereby increased their power."

Your Superintendent would add that these are her sentiments, and she asks you to consider them carefully and to act upon them as fully as possible. Naturally a very good start will be given to this department in the coming Normal Institutes, as the object lesson will be before all who attend them. It would be well to appoint a critic in each Institute who will pay special attention and if not wishing to interrupt proceedings, make a note of what seemed to be incorrect and read it just before the close of each meeting, to be discussed or explained. A word to the wise is sufficient, but report, report, report.

Do the women practice parliamentary law in the Unions? Do they study and have any drills and of what kind, and what helps do they use? If any County Superintendent who has not one of Mrs. Benjamin's Parliamentary Cards, or any County President who has no County Superintendent nor card, will send me her name and address, she will receive one of the cards; and anyone wishing questions answered or information on this department, please write me.

E. D. HARDY,
State Superintendent.

FIELD NOTES.

Y Conference at Goshen was largely attended and the program was of unusual interest. Very interesting subjects were ably presented and animated discussion followed. Great and lasting good will follow such enthusiastic work. Miss Clara Sears, State Y Secretary, presided; Miss Mabel Schadt, Secretary.

"Medal Contests" was well presented by Eugene Davis, with many practical suggestions. A paper on "Flower Mission," by Miss Minnie Butts, of South Bend, was read by Miss Rohrer.

"The Value of the Press," by Miss Kime, of Middlebury, was helpful and instructive.

"Health, Heredity and Physical Training" was an excellent paper prepared and read by Richard Fidler.

Mrs. Kate Wert Holler, President of St. Joseph County, read a paper she had prepared on "Sabbath Observance and Civil Sabbath Law." She further illustrated the work by charts expressly prepared in the interest of the physical law, with excellent effect.

"Effect of Opium and Morphine on the Human System," by Miss Agnes Butts, of South Bend, was another instructive paper.

A good paper on "Purity" was read by Miss Mabel Schadt.

Mrs. Laura C. Phoenix, President of Elkhart County, spoke from a scientific standpoint and with earnestness on "Does Alcohol Harm the Body?"

Excellent musical selections were rendered. Miss Zoë Shafer sweetly sang "Come Unto Me." A violin solo by Miss Lelia Kauffman was much appreciated.

Rev. Alex. McLaughlin, of the Wells Memorial Lutheran Church, and Rev. A. C. Anda, of the English Lutheran Church, were present and encouraged the workers by words of appreciation of the great work that is being done to educate the young to combat with evil.

Mrs. Kate Wert Holler, Miss Laura Wert and Miss Agnes Butts were present from South Bend and nine young people, representing the Middlebury Y's, were in attendance.

Of the evening meeting a prominent city paper said: "The Y's held an enthusiastic meeting last evening at the residence of Mrs. D. T. Kauffman, the house being crowded. Miss Nina Poyser rendered 'The Life Story in Music,' which was appreciated by all present. Miss Sears, State Y Secretary, gave the Y's a very interesting talk. Persons attending the Y meetings cannot help seeing what a wide-awake organization this Society is and what a work it is doing."

Mrs. A. P. Daub writes: "Mrs. S. M. Stahl, of Hartford City, State Superintendent of Mothers' Meetings and National Organizer in Alaska, is spending two weeks in Elkhart County, assisting the County President, Mrs. Laura C. Phoenix, to organize and reorganize Unions. Saturday, March 2, she organized a Union in North Goshen and made an earnest appeal to mothers to realize the importance and responsibility of motherhood. She introduced the White Ribbon Cradle Roll, and many mothers were interested and joined the Roll who are not W. C. T. U's. In the near future we hope to add many more names to the Cradle Roll and Department of Mothers' Meetings. The interurban cities, including South Bend, Mishawaka, Elkhart, Oseola, Dunlaps and Goshen, will entertain a conference of Press Superintendents of the Y and W. C. T. U. Much good is expected to come of this exchanging of methods, and great is the necessity that Press Superintendents should have all the help necessary to promote the one department that has the power to make or mar, as the case may be. Many excellent lectures are heard by only a few, but the press heralds the news far and wide and thereby reaches thousands that either have no opportunity or are not interested enough in the work to come out to these lectures. The world judges us by what it knows of us and not by the many excellent plans we have, but what we can do and publish. I think a conference of all the Press Superintendents would aid in the promotion of our cause. I am sorry to say that I think this, most of all departments, has been neglected too much for its own advancement."

Miss Mary Hadley, National and State Superintendent of Institutes, writes from Springfield, Mo.: Greetings to my Indiana co-workers and tell them I think Indiana soil is as good as that of Missouri for our White Ribbon gospel. The times seem ripe for a harvest in our work. In the chapel of Drewery College here, where I presented our cause, a debate was held during institute on "Resolved, That the work of Mrs. Carrie Nation, of Kansas, is justifiable under the law and in harmony with reason." At 10 cents admission it brought a $30 house. It was a most enjoyable meeting, considered highly educational, etc. There seems to be a floodtide of interest here and I trust this is true everywhere.

Hebron W. C. T. U. gave a 10-cent tea at the home of Mrs. Caroline Flint, on February 14, to raise their apportionment for Hadley Home. Aside from raising the amount of money required, and more, a fine program was rendered and the people were made better acquainted with W. C. T. U. work. The gift of the Hadley Home was explained and we hope new interest aroused in several departments of work. A very dainty tea was served from little tables and everyone returned to their homes well pleased.

Central Union, of Terre Haute, held a Frances Willard memorial service in the Tabernacle Baptist Church on February 18. Rev. G. W. Pearce, Pastor of the Church, led the devotional. The program given in the Union Signal was followed. Tribute to Miss Willard was given by Mrs. Rose Pearce. Mrs. Ada Squires presented the L. T. L. work. Mrs. Emma Joice, County President, presided. One new member was added and a good offering received.

Grant County—The Hadley Union's last meeting was to have been conducted by the Superintendent of Mercy, Amanda Vancannon, who had prepared quite a full program, but learning that Mattie Cammack-Gibson would be with us that day the program was held over. Sister Gibson gave us a very instructive Bible lesson from First Corinthians. It is a source of great encouragement to the local Unions for the county workers to drop in occasionally. Mrs. Gibson visited our schools the next day in the interest of Scientific Temperance and all the complaint heard from the children was that she did not stay long enough. At our last meeting we voted to subscribe for the Phalanx and New Voice for our wall-pocket which we have put up in the C. I. & E. depot at Fairmount.

Indianapolis Northeast Union held an interesting meeting at the home of Mrs. Jennie Gilmore, on Arrow avenue. Our President, Mrs. Lulu Heimbach, has been very sick for some time, but is better now. Her husband is very sick now. Our President is going to move to North Vernon, March 1. Our Union loses a noble woman and an earnest worker. We are grieved to lose her. Pray that the right woman be put in her place; that the Northeast Union may be successful. The next meeting will be at Mrs. Heimbach's, 1410 Yandes street. We are doing well, so far, with our name quilt. The contest, held January 7, was a success, partially. Miss Annie Jarrett, aged 14, won the medal. The title of her piece was, "The Converted Rumseller." Another contest will be held soon. Mrs. Leck and Mrs. Bennett met with us recently and gave good talks on department work. Mrs. Leck read a paper, which was very good and very instructive. Our Union will hold a meeting at the home of Mrs. Laura Patton, 1400 Martindale avenue, on Friday evening, February 15, in memory of our dear departed leader, Frances E. Willard's heavenly birthday. The Northeast Union is still on the upward move.

Rising Sun held a very successful medal contest, gained three new members and took six names for the Union Signal (the short term.)

Mrs. Flora Woodard, of Marion, writes: "Our Union is in fine condition. We have never done anything that has increased the interest in our work that our programs are doing. Women that we never could get to attend a meeting are now attending. There were 65 present at last meeting, and we secured six new members. We serve a very light refreshment and get up the best program we know how. We hope to double our membership."

Fort Wayne Union, on Miss Willard's memorial day, placed in their public library a full set of that gifted woman's books. [Excellent.—Editor.]

As a special mark of love and respect the Huntington Union attended, in a body, the funeral services of their departed sister, Mrs. A. B. Crull, in the M. E. Church, January 10, 1901. A handsome bow of white ribbon was tied around the casket by the sisters as a parting tribute.

A card from Miss Hadley, dated March 1, Springfield, Mo., brings report of two counties, two Y's and two L. T. L.'s organized as the result of two institutes.

Mrs. S. M. Shelt, solicitor in District No. 1, for Hadley Industrial School, has no time for the work and Mrs. Frank Agar, of LaPorte, takes her place. Mrs. Agar comes very highly recommended.

Rev. Cammack-Gibson spent a week in DeKalb County, March 5-11.

Martinsville sends in their annual program. They will compete for the premium.

Mrs. Stahl writes: "I am so busy I have time for but a line or two. I organized a Union last week at Roll, with thirteen regular and four honorary members and others promised. The following is a list of officers and superintendents: Mrs. Agnes Dodge, President; Mrs. Emma Cohran, Vice-President; Mrs. Lillie Palmer, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. Sadie Simons, Recording Secretary; Mrs. Mollie Alexander, Treasurer. I think it is well officered. The President is one of the dearest, best little mothers—such a good woman. Superintendents—Evangelistic, Mrs. Mollie Alexander; Medal Contest, Mrs. Lillie Palmer; Flower Mission, Miss Ella Turner; Sunday School Work, Mrs. Rachel Graves; W. T. P. A. Agent, Mrs. Lizzie Lickley. We had a splendid memorial service in Grace M. E. Church. We invited the L. T. L. to join with us and there were more than fifty bright little faces on the platform, with their happy little songs, flags and speeches, and when I got up to talk I said I thought anybody ought to be strong with such a backing as that."

The offer of a three months' subscription to the Union Signal for 15 cents expired February 28. Please remember that papers will not be sent after the time expires, three months from the time the names were received by the editor. We greatly appreciate your efforts in securing these names and pray that you may be equally successful in securing their renewal. "Beautiful Life" or a "Great Mother" will be given as premiums to the person or Union sending in the largest list of renewals or new subscribers. We hope no effort will be spared to secure as many as possible. Begin the canvass at once, that no number may be missed.

Mapleton Union anniversary, held at the beautiful home of its President, Mrs. D. McClintock, February 20, was a decided success. Addresses were made by our State President, Mrs. Eunice Wilson; Miss Hattie Brand, Rev. C. Hunt and Professor McWhirter; recitation by Miss Maud Baker; solos by Mrs. Lora Northcutt and Mrs. Bertha Hammerly Hill; music furnished by the Grace Presbyterian Church orchestra. Souvenir cards, dainty and pretty, cream and cake were served during the social hour that followed and all went home feeling it was an evening well spent and wishing many happy returns of the pleasant occasion.

Mary F. Thomas Union, of Richmond, with the co-operation of the ministers of the city, expects to have our National Evangelistic Superintendent, Elizabeth Greenwood, for a six days' series of meetings, to commence Tuesday, March 5. A new Branch has (for the convenience of members living in the north part of the city) been set off from the above mentioned Union. At the first meeting eleven members gave their names, two of them paying dues as new members.

South Bend has a new Union with eleven members. Ina Burton and another young lady, both good speakers, are preparing speeches to be delivered wherever arrangements can be made in their own county by the President and others. They are beginning a crusade for Y members.

South Bend Y Society is planning to have Miss Sears spend a week in their city some time in April. They will spend this time in labor and enlarging their Union. They are also planning a medal contest for March. The Goshen Y's are also planning a medal contest for March.

Mrs. Ida Coleman writes: "The Jay County Institute is to be held at Pennville, instead of Bryant, as announced in last MESSAGE."

Chalmers W. C. T. U. had Mrs. Gibson on the 5th and 6th of February. On the 5th she gave us a gospel temperance sermon, which was listened to by a very attentive audience. On the 6th she presided over a county convention which had been called for the purpose of reorganizing White County. The day meeting was full of interest. Mrs. Ella White, of Chalmers, was chosen as County President. The other officers were not changed. In the evening there was held a Silver Medal Contest. Miss Clare Stoker won the medal. The Union observed February 17 in memory of Miss Willard by holding a public meeting in the M. E. Church. Had a good crowd and an interesting program and we feel we are gaining ground.

The February meeting of Meridian Union, of Indianapolis, was of unusual interest. A discussion on "The Liquor Traffic in Our New Possessions" was ably conducted by Mrs. Bond, Mrs. Sims and Miss Lillian Smith. The home of Mrs. French, our hostess, was filled with an appreciative company. Our Union also enjoyed an evening meeting with Mrs. Frank Gipe, February 22. Dr. W. F. Curryer read an interesting paper on "Narcotics," and after a social hour refreshments were served and each guest received as a souvenir a hatchet tied with a white ribbon. We have ready about twenty comfort bags.

Hamilton County is without a President. South Bend is planning for Miss Kearney.

Point Isabel Union had Mrs. Mattie Cammack-Gibson to lecture for them January 18. I wish to tell the Unions they will make no mistake if they get her to give her lecture entitled "Five Little Boys in Knee Pants." It is fine and to the point.

The National Annual Leaflet is published. Every White Ribboner should have a copy—1 cent each or 75 cents per hundred. The Study Topics will be a help to the Unions, besides other valuable information. Send to the National Treasurer, Mrs. Helen M. Barker, Rest Cottage, Evanston, Ill.

Mrs. Stahl, of Hartford City, our State Superintendent of Mothers' Meetings, accompanied by our County President, has been with us in Nappanee for two nights and a day. We feel that their words have been a great blessing to us. Mrs. Stahl gave an account of her Alaskan experience and shipwreck, which was listened to by a large audience. Mrs. Phoenix gave an earnest and helpful talk to the children on the evil effects of alcohol on the body. The Mothers' Meeting was well attended, at which both these ladies spoke with good effect. May God's blessing rest upon all their work "In His Name." Three new members gained.

Jonesboro Union of twelve members meets regularly and good interest prevails. An impressive press meeting was held on February 27. Our Superintendents are anxious to know their obligations and to do all they can to lift them. Our Union will entertain the Grant County Institute this spring.

Hartsville Union, Bartholomew County, now one year old, has twenty paying members; meets second Thursday in each month. Meetings are well attended, with marked increase in interest. The autograph, a present to Hadley Home, is almost complete. By this plan we realized $4, which also goes to Hadley Home.

Rochester W. C. T. U. and L. T. L. use the L. T. L. manuals in their regular bi-weekly meetings. The L. T. L. gave three numbers—drill, recitation and song—at the Farmers' Institute recently held in the Academy of Music. Audience, 800.

Miss Mary B. Cox entertained the Huntington Union with a talk on "Temperance Statesmen" on February 28. She is a talented speaker and a large attendance was attracted thereby. Nine new members were added to the roll this last week and an even greater activity is noticeable among the older members than ever before.

Deer Creek—We are a country Union in Grant County. Ten years ago we were organized with eight members. Now we have more than quadrupled that number, besides our thirteen honoraries. Our President, Mrs. Gulie E. Shugart, has held her office ten years and in that time has never missed a meeting. Mrs. Susanna Ratcliff has been Treasurer for the same length of time. We furnish our county with a President and Secretary—Mrs. Gulie E. Shugart and Mrs. Rena P. Smith.

Marion County Institute will be held on Wednesday and Thursday, March 20 and 21, instead of 21 and 22, as stated in the February MESSAGE. Every member in the county is urged to attend.

Grant County has a new Union at Hackleman, organized by Mrs. Cammack-Gibson, with eleven members. Mrs. Lodema Curll is President, Miss Lulu Wilson, Secretary, and Miss Anna Edington, Treasurer.

Mrs. Mattie Cammack-Gibson is engaged for a month's work in Grant County organizing Unions, attending teachers' institutes, visiting schools, lecturing, holding mothers' meetings, etc.

Rev. Cammack-Gibson delivered her lecture, "Five Boys in Knee Pants," to a full house in Gas City recently. She also lectured on Scientific Temperance to over 600 pupils in the schools of Gas City on February 26.

Frances E. Willard W. C. T. U., of Indianapolis, observed February 12 in memory of Frances E. Willard's heavenly birthday. Mrs. Loftin gave a very interesting paper on her private life. The Union sent $2 to the National Treasurer for the memorial fund.

Mrs. Jennie Erwin, Superintendent of Purity in Literature and Art, is speaking before the Farmers' Institutes of our State, and never forgets to season her address with W. C. T. U. gospel where it is at all advisable.

THE MESSAGE.

"Not by Might nor by Power, but by My Spirit."

VOL. V. No. 4.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., APRIL, 1901.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR.

VERY IMPORTANT—ONE ARTICLE OF INDIANA'S PLAN OF WORK FOR 1901.

TO THE MEMBERSHIP.

All members of a Local Union who will answer at least fifty per cent of the questions on the MESSAGE, the Annual Minutes, the Union Signal, and the Annual Leaflet, and a few leading questions as to what our temperance educational law requires and what can be done to secure the best enforcement of it, also similar questions pertaining to our anti-narcotic law, shall have their names printed in our Annual Minutes of 1901. Examination papers to be sent to the Recording Secretary, who will prepare the list and report the same to the convention and publish in the Minutes. This will necessitate the careful reading and study of these documents. List of questions to be published in the MESSAGE. Do not wait to begin the reading and study until the questions are given—that is not necessary.

MRS. ZERELDA G. WALLACE, FIRST PRESIDENT INDIANA W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Wallace was the possessor of many noble and heroic qualities, of elevated mind, sterling integrity, courageous patriotism and generous spirit—womanly in every thought and impulse. By virtue of her social position and rare mental qualities Mrs. Wallace might have been a social leader, but that kind of glory was not to her taste. She cared for society only as she found in it men and women of grand ideas and splendid purposes.

Mrs. Wallace was the moving spirit and first President of the Indiana Woman's Christian Temperance Union. For many years, under her leadership, it largely thought its thoughts after that great brain and its heart-beats caught the rhythm of her restless pulsings of life and love.

With untrained workers and little financial strength this woman, with her wonderful clearness of vision, was able to see the end from the beginning. She organized, encouraged and inspired her comrades. She infused loyalty into the ranks by her own loyalty—loyalty to husband, children, loyalty to the thing she believed, loyalty to the principles of the W. C. T. U., loyal to total abstinence, whether at the festal board, or in the medicine closet; loyalty to Christ. She recognized the saloon as a part of a great system which is protected by law and entrenched in the Government. She urged the use of every available implement of warfare against the saloon, meanwhile seeking for this purpose the ballot.

The W. C. T. U. of Indiana, with its large membership, its widespread influence and its remarkable achievements, is to day a monument to Mrs. Wallace's broad conception of the need of the homes of our State and Nation, to her indomitable courage and to her executive ability. Frances Willard said Zerelda G.

Wallace was Indiana's Deborah. She is promoted, but Deborahs are needed to day to battle against that modern Sisera, the rum power. Mother Wallace, as the White Ribboners loved to call her, was a noble specimen of royal motherhood. The home is safer, the world is better, because she lived. She has made for herself a monument in the hearts of her countrywomen.

The Bible was the foundation of all her education and culture. At the age of twelve she had committed it to memory as far as the Book of Chronicles. Later in life she said: "The broader my views grow and the more knowledge of the philosophy of human life I gain, the stronger is my faith in the Bible, and the firmer is my belief that the fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom."

Mrs. Wallace had versatility and life and pursuit equaled by perhaps no other woman of her century, and few in the world's history. She was in succession, wife, stepmother, mother, mistress of the gubernatorial mansion of a great state, later a widow with young helpless children, a home maker, a home keeper, organizer and official head of a State woman's organization, a successful lecturer in an unpopular field, and still young after a life of over four score years. A woman whose children rise up and call her blessed and to whose memory those interested in the uplift of humanity delight to pay tribute. She has not lived in vain. Faith in God and the ultimate triumph of the right was the keynote to the character of this great woman. God was real to her and therefore she was real.

Y. W. C. T. U.

We come again to you through the MESSAGE. How we love our State paper and what a help it is to us—a letter to all the five hundred and forty-four members in Indiana.

The following Unions paid dues the second quarter: Bedford, Burlington, Anderson, Willard, South Bend, Martinsville, Monrovia, Lochiel and Otterbein. Eight out of the thirty-two Unions. Treasurers, are you doing all you can to collect the dues? If not, remember June 15 is the close of the third quarter and do your best.

Hammond has a new Y Union, with Miss Alice Palmer as their leader.

State Y Secretary spent seventeen days in the field. Visiting Indianapolis, the way was opened for four meetings, besides an opportunity to talk for the Y work at the Institute. Several names were secured in West Indianapolis and trust a Y may be organized soon.

Bedford Y's held a conference on Friday evening, the 22d, and on Saturday afternoon. The programs were fine. Good audiences greeted the young folks and music, recitations, papers and all were a credit to the local workers.

Monday evening the Y's gave a reception in honor of Miss Sears, at the home of Mrs. Dr. McDonald. A large company was present and enjoyed music and refreshments, the evening passing away all too swiftly.

Five Mothers' Meetings were held, one each afternoon in homes of Mrs. Dobbins and Mrs. Fred. Morton and at the German Methodist Church, Baptist and M. E. Churches. In this way one hundred and ninety women were reached.

Bedford high school and eight grades were visited by Miss Sears, who talked a few minutes to the school children—the citizens of to morrow.

Next place visited was Robinson, Greene County, where Miss Sears gave a temperance address at 2 o'clock P. M., on Sabbath. A large audience was present and thirty-eight signed the pledge.

Dear Y's, double your membership by June 15. Remember this is the month that we hold our public meeting—the Frances Z. Barnes evening—and take up an offering for the world's Y work. Send to me all money received for this work and I will forward it to Mrs. Barnes.

Anderson Y's are looking forward with much pleasure to the coming of Miss Bell Karney to lecture April 9. Be much in prayer, dear girls, these days, and work with a will to help other young women and men to be pure and clean is the earnest wish of your Secretary of Y. W. C. T. U.

CLARA M. SEARS.

The memorial meeting held in honor of Mrs. Zerelda G. Wallace was the second meeting of the kind ever held by the women of Indianapolis. The first was that great meeting held in memory of our dear Miss Frances E. Willard. Thus women are beginning to pay tribute to women. At Miss Willard's funeral no black crepe was used. She was dressed in white, and rested in a lavender colored casket. The decorations were all in white. This plan is followed by our White Ribbon friends. In the near future black will no longer be used at the funerals of christians, and the fashion of wearing it for mourning will cease.

NON-ALCOHOLIC MEDICATION.

There is so much that ought to be accomplished in the Department of Non-Alcoholic Medication this year that none of us can afford to be disinterested. Before this, all County Presidents and Superintendents, so far as I have their names, have received the Plan of Work for 1901, and I trust every one receiving the same, if unable to do any work in that line, will see that it is placed in the hands of some worker that is interested and that can work. We can not do better than to follow the Plan of Work as sent out by our National Superintendent just as closely as possible. If you remember, it was voted at the National Convention to make work against alcohol as a medicine, a special effort in the opening of the new century, and all members are asked to do everything in their power to help this work. Let us keep abreast of our sister states. Will every officer see that her Union falls in line? Will every Union provide the "Twentieth Century Appeal" to send to every physician in the County? Also see that each physician gets one of the leaflets, "Alcohol not needed in Medicine." Please forward the names of all County and Local Superintendents that they may be supplied with helps. Study the Plan of Work and talk Non-Alcoholic Medication whenever you have an opportunity. Distribute leaflets liberally and discreetly.

L. F. JESSOP SMITH,
State Superintendent.

DEPARTMENT OF MERCY.

It is a pleasure to state that interest in the work of this department seems to steadily increase. The new Contest book, for which we are indebted to Miss Emma E. Page, of Olympia, Wash., has already helped greatly. I am anxious that the book should go to every Union. It costs only 10 cents and may be ordered of Mrs. A. E. Carman, 291 Oakley Boulevard, Chicago, Illinois. Mercy contests should be held. The children are certain to be interested and great good will result. Public schools occasionally have entertainments. Why not suggest that these sometimes take the form of a Mercy contest? Local Superintendents, please note this. A Mercy contest will develop more humane sentiment in one evening than other methods may in a year, and the development of this sentiment is an absolutely indispensable factor in the civilization of the world. We pray for the coming of God's kingdom and we must also help it to come.

And now a word to Local Superintendents about reporting. Some of you are so busy that you do not stop to set anything down or add anything up that is done during the year. This is a great pity. I wish I could make you all understand what a mistake it is; how your defection spoils the reports of County, State and National Superintendents, and how you deprive others of the stimulus which the figures you withhold would give. Vague statements do not give encouragement. Figures and the statement of interesting facts do. Keep a pencil and note-book; consult the questions on the report blank during the year, and set down all that will answer them.

To the local Superintendent who sends at the end of the year the best report I will give a prize of $5. To the State Superintendent who gives the best report I will give a prize of $10. Do you not want to help the work by aiming for this prize? Even if you do not win the money and help the work in that way the effort will be beneficial.

I am always ready to receive letters from anyone, answer questions and send samples of literature gratuitously to those really interested and intending to help. Will you help?

MARY F. LOVELL,
World's and National Superintendent.

FLOWER MISSION.

June 9 is Flower Mission Day. At that time, or one or two days after, every Union in the entire State should do something definite to carry the gospel of Christ to the "shut ins" of their community or elsewhere.

The following Unions are requested to send flowers, Scripture text cards and literature to the Reformatory at Jeffersonville: Hanover, Madison, Rising Sun, Moore's Hill, Aurora, Dillsboro, North Vernon, Hyde, Seymour, Lexington, New Albany, Galena, Elizabeth, Marengo, Alton, Rome, Tobinsport, Rockport, Newbury, Howell, Evansville, Princeton, Owensville, Cynthiana, Mt. Vernon, Jeffersonville. Good books and magazines should be solicited for gifts on Flower Mission Day. In each Union a library committee should be appointed, with the Flower Mission Superintendent for a member. Each book should be stamped with the words "Woman's Christian Temperance Union, Flower Mission Loan Library." A rubber stamp for this purpose can be obtained for a small sum.

If but two books be taken to jails, reformatories and almshouses with the flowers, text cards and leaflets, they will be read until worn out. Those used to loan to the sick will serve as a blessing to many.

For the Boys' Reform School, at Plainfield, books would be greatly appreciated. In the next issue of the MESSAGE definite plans will be given as to whom all gifts intended for the State institutions should be sent. Meanwhile, be sure and purchase text cards, get tin foil, ribbon, books and old magazines and as many subscriptions to religious, philanthropic and scientific newspapers and periodicals promised as possible. Make arrangements with county institution superintendents for the observance of the day and prepare and publish program early. Secure musicians as well as speakers. Send for text cards to the Woman's Temperance Publishing Association, The Temple, LaSalle and Monroe streets, Chicago, Ill. Price, 25 cents per hundred.

LITERATURE.

I have sent out to each County and Local Superintendent of Literature, whose name I have, a bundle of the leaflet, "Bread on the Waters," a new leaflet in the Literary Department. If you are a Superintendent of this department and have not received any please send your name and address (please mention County), and I will send you some for distribution. We must push this department, for it is mainly through it that we can reasonably hope for success along other lines of this department work. I trust that the counties that sent in no report last year will make a great effort to have a good report this year and that the others will strive to have a better report than ever before. If you are a County Superintendent and have not yet sent me a list of your Local Superintendents, please do so AT ONCE.

MRS. ETTA AYRES,
State Superintendent.

PURITY IN LITERATURE AND ART.

In the last MESSAGE some one kindly said, "Mrs. Jennie Irwin, in speaking before Farmers' Institutes, never forgets to season her address with W. C. T. U. gospel whenever it is advisable." May I add that it is always advisable. If the theme be house sanitation where could one better work in the do-everything policy? I know of no work but that some branch of our work just fits in there. In sorting potatoes this morning, I saw plainly the danger of a clean, sound tuber staying beside a vile one, and more and more will I strive to keep the clean, healthy children away from the unsound book and polluting picture; for as with the potato as with each human being, we are injured with the proximity of evil, whether we will it or not.

"The touch of evil corrupteth;
Tarry not in its track.
The grass where the serpent crawls
Is stirred as if it grew on its back."

And when our eyes are opened to see that the home we stand for, with its unutterable sacredness reaches as far as any child can wander, we will then see that when we have a home we have a field of labor worthy our best. And hearts must yearn the more for those who have no homes or one that is kept by a mother who does not see the sacredness of her calling. If we are not truer wives, better mothers, brighter homemakers then we have not received the baptism of the W. C. T. U.

I receive many letters asking about our State law regarding impure literature and pictures. In Burns' Revised Statute of 1894, Vol. 3, Sec. 2096-2083, we have a good law not since repealed. If every parent would let the venders of these things know they knew the law and expected them to respect it, it would go far towards bringing about the end we desire. But it seems best to do and say things as quietly as possible, we do so dread bringing evil into prominence.

Let us sow good seed. It is the only way to keep weeds from growing. One day a grocer hung in his store a tobacco sign. We did not think it modest, so a few women of our Union went in, one at a time, made a purchase and looked at the picture. The next day it was gone. Not a word had been said.

Dear sisters, let us keep our own lives so clean that where we are, uncleanness disappears. This is our prime work. Paul knew when he said, "Whatever things are pure, etc., etc." I want so much to say more, but know our MESSAGE columns are always overcrowded. But I do want to express the gratitude of many people when I thank you for a glimpse of the kind, honest face of Addison Hadley

JENNIE C. IRWIN,
State Superintendent.

SOLDIERS' AND SAILORS' DEPARTMENT.

In the February number of the MESSAGE we called the attention of the white ribboners to the urgent need for comfort bags among the soldiers and sailors and offered a Department Prize to the county sending the largest number of them to the National Superintendent before September 15, 1901, and notifying me of the same.

Since the late passage of the Anti-canteen law the rations granted to the individual soldier have been somewhat diminished, and our duty to administer to his needs and comforts seem greater than ever before. If your Union has not taken up this work will you not lovingly undertake it now?

I desire also to call your especial attention to the importance of notifying me of the number of these bags which you have filled and sent. Some Unions have already sent bags who have not reported the number. Your inadvertent neglect to do this may cause your County to fail in receiving the prize. Do not make this mistake. A word to the wise is sufficient.

JULIA OVERMAN,
State Superintendent.

FRANCHISE.

Our dear and honored Mother Wallace slipped quietly away from the care of Dr. Diet, Dr. Quiet and Dr. Goodcare a few days since, and under the eye of the Great Physician (who has the keys of death) passed into the realms of immortal glory. Her great works and great thoughts remain for our admonition and instruction.

The great work of the Indiana Congress, just closed, was to pass the Woman's Equality Bill in the House and kill it in the Senate—the exact reverse of what the congress of Indiana did two years since. The women were flattered, but the enemies of moral reform knew they had gained their desired determination to rule.

Will the County Superintendents of Suffrage take notice? Gather up all petitions that have not already been sent in and return them to my address as soon as possible. I must turn them all over to Mrs. Florence Gresham, State Superintendent of Legislation and Petition.

Now, our business is to persuade all women to want the ballot and to persuade all men to give us the ballot. The way to persuade is by educating public sentiment through the press and by public lectures, franchise literature and personal influence. Women, use the newspapers. I stand ready to furnish articles for the press to every one who will apply to me for them. Let us make marked inroads this year on the minds of the men and women of Indiana in favor of woman's equality before the law.

M. A. TOMPKINS,
State Superintendent.

FIELD NOTES.

A Press Social served to call forth the originality of Miss Pearl Rall, our Press representative in Huntington. The affair was a success in the completest sense of the word, an artistic and instructive program being carried out. Miss Willard's book, "How I Learned to Ride a Bicycle," was awarded as a prize in Press contest which followed. Press clippings and other novel decorations suggestive of the press were prominent.

Mrs. Nellie Ward, of Mt. Vernon, writes: "We are encouraged, fifteen members paid $1.00 dues this quarter. Rev. Anna Shaw is to be with us tomorrow and Sunday. A Good Citizen League was organized here which resulted in the closing of all the stores and saloons on three Sundays, except one bakery and confectionery run by one man. He was indicted and tried and found not guilty. Christian people are discouraged.—[It is time for a citizens' ticket, we think, at Mt. Vernon and the election of new officers not dominated by the liquor power.—EDITOR.]

Mt. Vernon Union had the help of two lectures by Rev. Anna Shaw, March 23 and 24. Sold tickets.

Broad Ripple Union held a silver medal contest March 29, with a class of five girls, Goldie Hesson receiving the medal. Subject, "On Which Side." One year's subscription to the Contest Journal, awarded as second prize, to Ora Harcourt. $10.30 for Hadley Industrial School.

Frankfort had a contest March 11. Receipts, $16.10 for Organization Fund. Amount previously reported, $15. Elkhart Union, Elkhart, $1.00; Ancil Winslow, Fairmount, $1.00; Mrs. Louisa Rush, Fairmount, $1.00; Mrs. Elmira Luse, Fairmount, $1.00; Mrs. Hattie Steekel, Mulberry, $5.00. Total, $24.00.

Burlington Union sent a valuable box to the school about Xmas time.

Winchester, with County and Local President and Local Secretary sick, have made most excellent plans for their Institute. Had 1000 extra programs printed. Took adds to pay for them, and put a handsome amount in their treasury. They expect a full house at the gold medal contest.

Every Union should send to our State Superintendent of Franchise, Mrs. M. A. Tompkins, Elkhart, for her new booklet, "The Gain of a Century," and read and discuss it in your Union.

Noble County will take Allen County dates for Institute, as Allen County has voted not to hold an Institute.

Changes in Posey County—The former County President, Mrs. Eva Evertson, is now Solicitor for Hadley Industrial School, and the following officers for the County and the Mt. Vernon Local Union have been recently elected: County officers—President, Mrs. Nellie Ward, Mt. Vernon; Vice-President, Mrs. Hattie Marvel, Cynthiana; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Della Smith, Mt. Vernon; Treasurer, Mrs. Rhoda Hiskey, Mt. Vernon. Mt. Vernon Union—President, Miss Inez McGregor; Vice-President, Mrs. Janie Calkins; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Grace Edson; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Della Smith; Treasurer, Mrs. Fannie Sarlls. It means something when as faithful and efficient a woman as Mrs. Evertson leaves a county. We are thankful there are others who can take her place. The County has conferred a favor on the State.

The Annual Leaflet of the National W. C. T. U. is now ready—55,000 of them. Every up to date woman will want one. They are sold by Mrs. Helen M. Barker, the National Treasurer, Evanston, Ill., at 1 cent each or 75 cents per hundred, to help meet the expense of transportation. The Study Topics will be of value to the Unions, as well as other helps found in the latter part of the leaflet. All new Unions and the old ones that are not thoroughly well informed about the work should follow the Study Topics. Having done that, there will be something along special lines ready for them. Oh for an army of intelligent temperance warriors!

The churches no longer represent the Prince of Peace; that they are the loudest to roar in behalf of war—as is plainly proven in the present American invasion of the Philippines and in the British hostilities against the Boers.—Indiana Royal Arch News. (Liquor Dealers' Organ.)

FIELD NOTES.

Miss Leebrick, of Sims, writes: "I am glad to tell you the Signals have arrived and we hope will do much good in the families which they enter. We have had a contest for the Hadley Home. Every one said, 'The children did well.' Also had a public meeting the 17th of February for the Memorial Fund. All felt it was good to be there. We gained one new member."

Mrs. Elizabeth Drake represented the Indiana W. C. T. U. Anti-Narcotic Department at the National Anti-Cigarette League Convention, which met in the Palmer House, February 28 and March 1. Eighteen States sent adult delegates, while 60 young people delegates from the leagues of various States made a good showing of active work accomplished. Mr. Drake was appointed a National Organizer, thus placing the men in the field. Mrs. Drake on way home visited the Bourbon schools at the invitation of Mrs. Jennie Erwin and secured over 25 members, making the leagues in various grades, and appointed a Board of Trustees, which promises hearty support in this work. The teachers cheerfully instruct the leagues. We visited Anti-Cigarette League's News Boys' Alley, Penny Lunch Counter, the Rescue Home and Monthly Rally at Willard Hall, the Temple, and one of the large store leagues, all conducted by the Anti-Cigarette League.

The following telegram received: Mrs. Palmer's Police Matron bill passed House 75 to 1; passed Senate 28 to 11. Signed by Governor.

Yours, A. W. DUDLEY, Representative.

Miss Alice R. Palmer, of Hammond, writes: "Greetings. We are tired, but happy. Our Institute has been beset by storms and sickness, yet in the good Providence of God, blessed with many excellent results. Our club to the Union Signal has been augmented, and best of all, perhaps, twenty-two members added to our Local Union. Miss Hadley has given the County and Local 'heaps of information,' and she is, perhaps, the most successful personal worker I have ever gone through an Institute with. I think she is very strong at that point. I am very loth to take the work of County President, which has been conferred upon me. The outlook is that if something is not accomplished in Lake County, which we all admit is a hard county, it will be largely my fault."

Mooreville held an echo meeting February 25, in the M. E. Church. The Pastor, Rev. H. S. Headen, and his wife, were prominent on the program. Dr. Maria Jessup, Friendswood, delegate to the National Convention, reported the meeting very charmingly. Mrs. Mattie Chandler, County President, read a paper on "Woman's Ballot; from a Bible Standpoint." Mrs. Sellars sang a solo, "My Boy." Bertha Morgan, Annie Byers, Zella Chandler and Lillian Chapman gave recitations. The meeting was a fine success.

Mrs. Ada L. Squires and little Emma have given two temperance programs before the Y. M. C. A. of Terre Haute. Mrs. Squires finds the churches open to her, and an invitation to come again greets her wherever she goes.

Burlington Union is still at work. We have been distributing a great deal of literature the last month, during the protracted meetings, hoping to be able to get the people to help us and also to support our papers.

Mrs. Margaret Smith, County President, writes: Bath Union has finished paying out upon the last year's plan of 36 cents per member to the Hadley Industrial School. The L. T. L. gave a contest and sent the net proceeds—$8.68.

An Appeal to Mothers, in leaflet form, by Mrs. S. M. Stahl, of Hartford City, State Superintendent of Mothers' Meetings, should be read by mothers and daughters. Price per package of ten, 10 cents; of package of fifty, 25 cents. Send direct to Mrs. Stahl.

Benton County Institute will meet at Oxford instead of Lochiel, May 2 and 3. A good attendance from all the Unions is desired. The county convention will be held on the morning of the 3d, at which all business may be presented and plans for the work for the remainder of the year perfected. At that meeting the County President will resign, as she will soon leave the county, and some one must be elected to fill the unexpired term. Let us all work for this to be the best institute in our history.

ELIZA F. BAKER,
County President.

The temperance people of Dillsboro have been successful in securing a majority of names on the fourth remonstrance circulated since December 1, and have filed a power of attorney against further applications. This crusade was started two years ago by the women of the W. C. T. U., who were soon reinforced by other temperance workers, and the movement has grown until now we are an earnest, consecrated band, firmly established against intemperance.

The L. T. L. Contest at Burlington, March 21, was quite a success. Dolly Hill received the medal, seven little girls being in the contest.

The LaFayette Union meets semi-monthly and always serves light refreshments. Have beautiful new programs and the meetings are interesting. A returned missionary from Syria was present at the last meeting and told us of how intemperance was being introduced there by Americans, and urged that we women use our influence to have importation of liquor stopped. Neal Dow's birthday was observed last Sunday in a public meeting at Willard Hall, in connection with the LaFayette Temperance Union. Our Jail and Prison Superintendent is doing good work. Every Sunday a religious meeting is held at the jail and the men who attend appreciate them and are respectful and attentive.

A mass meeting in honor of Mrs. Zerelda G. Wallace was held by Indianapolis women at the Propylaeum Thursday afternoon, April 4. Many beautiful and touching tributes were paid to the memory of our comrade who was recently promoted.

The Hadley Industrial School greatly needs the following list of useful articles: Table cloths, napkins, hand towels, dish towels, sheets for single beds, pillow case muslin, gingham for aprons, combs, ivory soap, small mirrors, scissors, thread, hair ribbons and many other small items. For the dining table there is great need of good common dishes—especially do they need knives, forks and spoons. The silver plated is inexpensive and a half dozen of either cost but little. Please send some soon. Recently a spoon was used while eating there, by some one, because of the limited supply of knives and forks.

Miss Mary Hadley organized a Union of eight members at East Chicago, March 22 and a Y branch of twelve members at Hammond the same day. Six subscriptions were taken for the Union Signal. Officers of East Chicago Union: President, Mrs. S. H. Poor; Vice-President, Mrs. I. K. Ladd; Secretary, Mrs. Eva D. Fratas; Treasurer, Mrs. C. C. Smith.

Mr. Harry H. Neal, of Logansport, died about the middle of March in Denver, Col., where he had gone for his health. By the terms of his will, when probated, he bequeaths to the Logansport Home of the Friendless his entire property, worth about $25,000. It consists of railroad bonds, bank stock, mortgages, cash and some real estate. The Home of the Friendless was established six years ago by the W. C. T. U. It is managed by a board of nine women, assisted by a board of trustees of nine men. The gift of Mr. Neal was a great surprise to the managers. They have no knowledge of his having taken any interest in the Home during his life, but he resided near the institution. The Home has been managed since its origin by virtually the same persons and officers. Mrs. E. L. Grable has been its President from the start. The present officers are as follows: Lady managers—Mrs. E. L. Grable, President; Mrs. S. E. Howe, Vice-President; Mrs. John Troutman, Secretary; Mrs. Jane Cornwell, Treasurer; Mrs. W. F. Giffe, Mrs. D. L. Oberholser, Mrs. James Smith, Mrs. Chas. Knauss, Mrs. VanBuskirk. Board of Trustees—B. C. D. Read, President; E. S. Rice, Henry Tucker, John E. Barns, Q. A. Myers, W. T. Wilson, Carl Wise, J. E. Crain and Dr. J. Z. Powell.

Lake County Institute was held at Hammond. Mrs. Harrison's account of the organization of the Lowell Union with fifteen members last year and it having increased to forty, was encouraging. By its influence a curfew law is in operation. The wearing of the white ribbon as a protest against the saloon was urged. Much interest was manifested in discussions of the needs of anti-narcotic work, Mothers' Meetings, laws promoting equal suffrage, the teaching of temperance in schools. The presence of Rev. Alice Palmer, the minister of the Congregational Church, added much to the interest of the Institute. Accessions to membership, twenty-two—fifteen active and seven honorary. Miss Hadley's illustrated lecture on Narcotics, on the first evening, was very instructive and interesting. The County President, Miss Alice Stahl, presided with dignity and grace. Much interest and enthusiasm prevailed. The following officers were elected: President, Rev. Alice Palmer, Hammond; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Solon Hayden, Lowell; Treasurer, Mrs. T. S. Fuller; Recording Secretary, Mrs. E. D. Coffin.

Rev. Anna Shaw attended the Lake County Institute at Hammond and gave an address on Franchise. It was able, logical and entertaining.

Beautiful Resolutions, typewritten, have been received from the Lake County Institute, held at Hammond, but for lack of space they cannot be published now—only three hundred words being allowed for each County report.

The Evansville West Side Union held a silver medal contest March 16. There were eight contestants, all of whom did well. The medal was won by Miss Minnie Craft. An orchestra furnished the instrumental music and vocal solos were rendered. One of the pleasing features of the program was a drill by sixteen pupils. The women of this Union deserve great credit for the splendid success of the program and large attendance. A farewell reception was given Mrs. Anna Lewis, President of the West Side Union, by the members of the Union, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Moses Stinchfield. Vocal and instrumental music was rendered during the evening. Ices and cakes were served. Mrs. Lewis and family leave us for a home in Louisiana. May God prosper them in their new home.

Mrs. Martha W. Bond, our former State Superintendent of Scientific Temperance Instruction, thus writes to the editor: "During the fall and winter I received numerous letters from new County and Local officers of S. T. I., asking for copies of our Scientific Temperance law and for instruction in regard to plans of work for this department. Many of these letters I answered, sending literature I had on hand. To others I have been unable to reply, separately, and beg the privilege of doing so through the columns of the MESSAGE. It is unfortunate that my name appears in the State Minutes as Superintendent of this department, while ill health compelled me to resign some time since. I suggest that you give in this number of the MESSAGE a copy of this law for the benefit of new County and Local officers. I also suggest that our State Treasurer, with money appropriated for this department, have copies of this law printed in leaflet form to supply, liberally, each County and Local officer for distribution among teachers, trustees and parents. Also that they be liberally supplied with reports of the recent controversy on the food properties of alcohol, as well as a report of the recent educational association held in Chicago. Let all who wish literature for information, or for distribution, send to Mrs. Mary H. Hunt, 23 Trull street, Boston, who is the Mother of this department and the author of most of its literature. She has gained a notable victory in the recent agitation; scientists and physicians came nobly to her assistance."

Mrs. Mary C. Kemp sent in a list of twenty-two names as subscribers to the Union Signal from Carmel, a village in Hamilton County. Temperance Day there in February was a success. The program was good and was enjoyed by the largest audience on a temperance occasion for many months. The Y's and C. E.'s assisted in the meeting.

Mrs. Laura Cole, Phoenix, President of Elkhart County, writes: "Mrs. Stahl, State Superintendent of Mothers' Meetings, came into Elkhart County February 25, began seeding down the field with prayer and endeavor, at Nappanee, holding one day and two evening meetings there. At New Paris a revival meeting necessitated day meetings. Our hearts were gladdened the second afternoon by the presence of sixteen Goshen white ribboners. The wave of interest reached its highest altitude at Goshen. A very enthusiastic Mothers' Meeting in Goshen, and organization of a Union at North Goshen effected. No one but laborers in the world's vast harvest field, where the icy crust of indifference meets us on every hand, among professing christians, can realize with what joy we recognized in the Mothers' Meeting at Goshen, two New Paris white ribboners. A thaw making the roads impassable to foot travelers caused a very small attendance at the country place of Dunlaps. Dunlaps has had a wonderful deliverance from the reign of evil and ought to become one of the strongest Unions in the county. I ask every white ribboner in the State to pray that Dunlaps may not be like King Ahab, 'busy here and there,' and let God's opportunity pass unheeded by I. Kings, xx chapter. A blizzard and very cold weather kept the people of Elkhart from attending. Bristol was ready with a warm welcome and 'held up our hands' most effectually. Middlebury was reached March 7, which completed the itinerancy. Mrs. Stahl gave nine lectures and held seven Mothers' Meetings. Twelve members and one honorary added to our county roster, besides the ten names that had already been secured for the Union at North Goshen. Mrs. Stahl is a very convincing speaker, because she believes in what she says, 'with all her might, mind and strength,' which is a better open sesame to hearts than mannerisms of elocution and flowers of philology. It was indeed a blessed association that we had together; and although the cry of my heart over my county is like the dear Savior's over Jerusalem, yet I feel sure the seed sown has fallen 'upon good ground,' and pray that it may 'bring forth sixty and some an hundred fold.'"

Professor and Mrs. J. W. Davison, of Evansville, Ind., have returned from a month's trip through the southern states. They report a growing interest in temperance work.

The four Unions of Vanderburg County gave a book social in Evans' hall on March 21. A book case was donated and many books were given. The object of the social was to start a jail library.

The Press Reporter for Cambellsburg Union, Mrs. Viletta Brown, writes a letter of exhortation to Unions in general to be enthusiastic in the work and make the meetings interesting. They rejoice over a year's good work and have a public entertainment and contest for the near future planned. They have twenty-six active members, and some of them are chalk talkers and all willing workers. They gain members at every meeting. February 8, the Union was royally entertained at the home of the Vice-President, Mrs. Mollie Wilkins. Their Union is divided into two sections, striving to see which section will gain the most members in a limited time.

Upland Union has a class of boys. They gave a very successful contest March 11. Door receipts, 15.20; $12 sent to our Industrial School.

IN MEMORIAM.

On January 23, 1901, death entered our Pleasant Lake Union for the first time and removed from our midst Mrs. Dora Tuttle, one of our best loved members. We as W. C. T. U. sisters wish to express our deepest sympathy to the husband and sons in this time of great bereavement. She was an example of the true and beautiful and was deeply devoted to her home and family.

WHEREAS, God in his providence has removed from her work on earth, our friend and co-worker, we do adopt the following resolutions:

Resolved, That while we bow with submission to the will of the Allwise Father, we do mourn the loss of our faithful sister exceedingly.

Resolved, That we praise God for raising up such a sincere, earnest woman as sister Tuttle, to work in our beloved cause of temperance.

Resolved, That this tribute of our love and respect be placed upon our record, published in the State and County papers, and sent to the family of the deceased.

MARY FERRIS,
LIZZIE FEGLEY,
SARAH STATLER, Committee.

GUIDE-POSTS OF THE FOOT-PATH TO PEACE ON THE WAY FROM BETHANY TO HEAVEN.

To be glad of life, because it gives you the chance to love and to work and to play and to look up at the stars; to be satisfied with your possessions, but not contented with yourself until you have made the best of them; to despise nothing in the world except falsehood and meanness, and to fear nothing except cowardice; to be governed by your admirations rather than by your disgusts; to covet nothing that is your neighbor's except his kindness of heart and gentleness of manners; to think seldom of your enemies, often of your friends, and every day of Christ; and to spend as much time as you can, with body and with spirit, in God's out-of-doors—these are little guide-posts on the footpath to peace.—Henry van Dyke.

The Indiana State W. C. T. U. Convention will be held at Kokomo October, 4-9. Prof. John B. DeMotte will give his famous stereopticon lecture, "The Harp of the Senses," on Saturday evening. He is accorded the first place as a popular lecturer in the four great lecture courses of the world. For five years we have tried to secure him for our State Convention. This lecture is along our line.

The National W. C. T. U. convention this year will be held at Ft. Worth, Texas. Begin now to plan to attend.

INDIANA W. C. T. U. DEPARTMENT BOARD MEETING.

Will be held at Central Christian Church, Seventh street, Columbus, June 4, 5 and 6.

Program Committee—President of the Board, Mrs. Ada B. Leck, 1801 North Capitol avenue, Indianapolis; Secretary of the Board, Mrs. Julia Overman, 1802 South Bronson street, Marion; Treasurer of Board, Mrs. Anna Kilmer, Peru.

They have spared no pains in getting out this program, which will be sent out even before you receive this MESSAGE, perhaps. We ask all County and Local officers to consider how much the work will gain by County and Local Superintendents of departments attending this meeting. Each superintendent has fifteen minutes to talk of her work, its aims and methods (not to report), and there will be fifteen minutes open parliament for questions and answers and discussion for each department. If you cannot go for three days, go the day your special department is on the program.

Miss Carrie Stout, Columbus, is Chairman of Entertainment Committee. Lunch at noon will be served in the church. Miss Belle Kearney, Flora, Miss., speaks the first night. A collection. Grand gold Suffrage Medal Contest the second night—10 cents admission. The third evening will be platform night. Music for the meeting in charge of our Musical Director, Mrs. D. E. Studebaker, assisted by Mrs. Culla Vayhinger and local talent.

EXTRACT FROM THE MINUTES OF THE MID-YEAR EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MEETING.

The Committee met in Fairmount, April 9 and 10. The first session convened at 10 o'clock on the morning of the 9th, and devotions were led by Miss Alice R. Palmer. Mrs. Charlotte Sears, Superintendent of Work Among Colored People, tendered her resignation, and Miss Susan H. Clark, of 536 North Illinois Street, Indianapolis, was appointed to fill the vacancy the remainder of the year. Mrs. Shelt, Superintendent of Systematic Giving, also offered her resignation, which was received, and Mrs. Rose Pearce, of Terre Haute, fills her place the remainder of the year.

Mrs. Lida Outland, President of Howard County, extended an invitation to the committee for the annual convention to be held in Kokomo. This invitation was most heartily received. The time was fixed for October 4-9, subject to the program committee. Recommended that Prof. DeMotte be secured, if available, for the lecture at the State Convention.

On motion of Mrs. Cammack-Gibson, Mrs. McWhirter was made Railroad Secretary.

On motion of Mrs. Whitson, advance sheets of the Superintendents' reports were directed to be printed previous to convention, for circulation thereat, and no reports to be received after convention.

Mrs. Balch moved that the Superintendents, at the close of their reports, shall offer in writing such resolution, or resolutions, as they desire embodied in their recommendations.

After much discussion the sense of the committee was given on the subject of young men becoming full members in the Y Unions. It was voted to allow them full privileges in the local Union, except that of presidency, which would violate the constitution.

Mrs. Teats, National Lecturer on Purity, desiring appointments in our State, the matter was left with Mrs. Balch to make dates, if agreeable to the Unions.

The Bulletin of the National Press Department was recommended for press superintendents.

Moved by Mrs. Balch, that we accept the recommendation of Miss Willard and consider the wisdom of appointing honorary vice-presidents. This question will be considered at the ante-convention executive committee meeting.

Ordered by vote that solicitors for the Industrial School shall be members of the W. C. T. U., wear the white ribbon and solicit in the name of the W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Balch reported twelve new Union organizers not in the field for lack of funds. Work done by County Presidents.

Mrs. Whitson, State Treasurer, was directed to send copies of the annual report to the Institutes and they shall be sold for 15 cents. Furthermore, it was suggested that an effort be made to shorten the annual reports and that reports shall not exceed 700 words.

The new plan for placing the State paper in the hands of our members is a charming as well as a most practical success, 3,000 copies of the paper going into the homes of White Ribboners.

The following standing committees were appointed: Resolutions—Miss Alice Palmer, Hammond; Mrs. Retta Jones, Alexandria; Mrs. Sophia Toner, Martinsville; Sarah E. Thomas, Marion; Ella B. Wright, Greensburg.

Seating Convention—Mrs. Katie Wert Holler, South Bend; Miss Clara Sears, Anderson; Mrs. M. L. Gipe, Indianapolis.

Overflow Meetings—Mrs. Lida Outland, Sycamore; Mrs. Hendry Wooton, Kokomo.

Sabbath Meetings—Mrs. Mary E. Balch, Indianapolis; Mrs. Ida Mix, Kokomo.

Plan of Work Committee not yet complete. Will appear later.

MATTIE CAMMACK-GIBSON,
Recording Secretary.

Y. W. C. T. U.

The following Y Unions observed the Frances J. Barnes meeting given in the good National program and also in the State Y program. Peru sent $2.00 as their freewill offering for the world's work, Vincennes $1.00, Anderson $1.00. We hope to hear from other Unions soon, as their money must be sent to the World's custodian.

The State Y Secretary, Miss Sears, on account of serious sickness, was obliged to disappoint the Y conference held in connection with Morgan County Institute, also Indianapolis, where some dates were planned, and at present writing she cannot sit up all day. Pray for her speedy recovery, dear girls; so much work to be done, you see. How much can you do just now?

Miss Ethel McWhirter, our State Superintendent of Flower Missions, requests that at each meeting all the members be asked to report work done in the department; so a record can be kept. Let us help in every way that our Superintendent suggests and please don't forget the Flower Mission Day, June 9th. Plan for it. On April 15th Rev. Edwin J. Oliver, a member of the Peru Y, was killed instantly by a train. Peru Y's sorrow is our sorrow, and for the heart-broken young lady to whom he was to have been married our sympathy goes out, and may our Heavenly Father watch over her tenderly is our prayer.

Goshen Y's held a silver medal contest, and as there was a tie, Joy Bechtel and Zoa Shafer each received a medal. The program was fine, vocal and instrumental music helping very much. Mr. Davis, the Superintendent, is planning to take the class to Middlebury, New Paris and Dunlap. We do hope our Y's will do more work in this department the next few months.

Now, dear Treasurer, again let me urge you to collect and be ready for the third quarter's dues by June 15. Begin to collect right away.

Double your membership, girls. See which Union can gain ten new paid members by the 15th of June. Who'll try to be first?

When Y's sent their $1.00 toward Convention fund, making $2.00 in all, Monrovia being the first to give.

Work and pray, girls; the enemy is making headway in our great State, sidetracking our young people, so do your best for the rest of this year.

CLARA M. SEARS,
State Y Secretary.

L. T. L. ORGANIZATION.

Mrs. Hattie Brand writes: "I was instructed at the State Convention to give special attention to L. T. L. organization. I have been pushing the department at the Institutes, but find that the old obstacle, lack of leaders, still remains. The most encouraging thing I have to report, is that I have taken a large number of orders for the senior edition of L. T. L. Manuals, and Unions are promising to take up the study. This must mean better things for the future."

Before the June MESSAGE is received by you the Treasurer of your Union will have sent her quarterly report to the County Treasurer. Please urge every member to promptly pay her dues. If possible, secure one new member's dues. If you will send the name of the new member to the editor of the MESSAGE before June 5th, it will be published in the June issue.

This issue of the MESSAGE will go into over 3,000 homes in our State. Don't it make your heart thrill to know that so many women interested in what is of such vital importance to you are reading of the blessed work done in Indiana "For God and Home and Native Land?" To all who kindly and promptly send condensed items to the MESSAGE, the editor is very, very thankful. The successful method used in your Union, if known, would be an inspiration and help to another Union.

A local Union to be fully equipped for thorough work, an energetic, conscientious woman must be the Treasurer. Promptness and consecrated tact are indispensable qualities. If your Union has an indifferent Treasurer, or one who is always going to do something and lets other things prevent, you can not expect the best interests of the Union to be served. Such a Treasurer will be dilatory about collecting dues, and when collected will not be prompt in forwarding them. She will wait until the members begin to wonder why they don't get the MESSAGE before she sends their names and money to Mrs. Clara Balch, the business manager of the MESSAGE. She will seldom plan to increase the funds of the Union and if she does, it is all plans and no effective work. A woman with executive ability is absolutely necessary for a successful Treasurer.

On July 4th every W. C. T. U. in Indiana should hold a pic-nic. Now is the time to engage musicians, brass bands, if possible, and speakers. Where entire Sunday schools can be invited to sing in a contest, much enthusiasm will prevail. If each Sunday school is to sing America and a prize awarded, a crowd will be present. In such a contest numbers would be the first marking point for the judges. An offer of a prize or blue ribbon for the prettiest baby present would interest many. Baby shows always do. Very large bills posted on fences and trees through the country for a month in advance would preempt the day for the W. C. T. U. To-day is the time to begin to plan definitely for a W. C. T. U. celebration. Much advertisement and business management will secure great crowds of people. From the eating stands much money can be made, if the crowd is large, sufficient to pay all expenses and put money in the treasury. Think of it, at Eaton, a small town in Delaware county, the attendance last year was about 7,000. At Liberty, in Union County, it was 3,000. These people have kept at this plan for years. They go at it to succeed. They secure speakers of national reputation. From small beginnings they have accomplished great results. Now is the time for your Union to begin.

When a Christian woman writes a letter or postal card to another Christian woman, isn't it natural for her to expect an answer?

Do you always wear your white ribbon? The saloonkeeper knows its meaning, even if some learned man does not.

Drinking fountains in cities and good wells in towns should be supplied abundantly for the use of people, horses and dogs. Urge that the fountains be placed before the grocery or other store instead of the saloon. Notice, please, how the saloon men have secured the location of the fountains where horses drink, which increases their trade. Urge that deep wells be dug in the public places on the streets of the towns. No better summer's work can be done by a union than to have a good well made in a favorable location. Arouse to action, sisters; you can succeed.

YOUNG CRUSADER.

Under separate cover we are sending copies of Young Crusaders this month. I know you will be delighted to see the change in it. From this time on it will appear in the form of a 16-page magazine, although there will be no advance in the subscription price. Will you not make special effort to introduce this paper into Sunday Schools? It is to be issued monthly and certainly there could be nothing finer in the way of a monthly Sunday School paper. While it still remains the official organ of the Loyal Temperance Legion, it will contain articles from well known writers that will interest every one, whether they are actively engaged in temperance work or not. If we could place this paper in the hands of the young people who are not especially interested in our work we hope it will be the means of awakening interest that may enlist every one who could not otherwise be reached.

HADLEY INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

PIC-NIC AT HADLEY SCHOOL.

We cordially invite all our friends to bring their lunch-baskets and join the excursion to Hadley School on Friday morning, June 7. The train leaves the Union Station at 7:30 A. M., reaching the Home at 8:20 A. M. The ride is through a fine farming country, with pleasing landscape on either side. The distance is not great enough to tire one and the girls at the Home will furnish strawberries and cream. For a company of fifty or more the round trip ticket will be 75 cents. A silver contest will be given by the Hadley School girls. You will be repaid for your trouble and expense in meeting the girls and becoming acquainted with them and seeing the Home to which you have so often contributed. Come, all who can leave for this day.

DEMOREST MEMORIAL AND PREMIUMS.

June 10 is Demorest Memorial Day, and these contests are one of the points on which the National Banner is awarded. Who has a good reason to give why Indiana should not hold more Demorest Memorial contests than any other State? We need the agitation, and we need the education that comes because of agitation. A contest is a ballot-maker and we need ballots; a contest is a money-maker and we need money.

Indiana has the care and keeping of the National Banner this year and we should be ambitious to keep it over next year. I believe we will do so, and with that end in view let us decide to hold a Demorest Memorial contest. Let any one who loves the cause hold these contests. One does not necessarily have to belong to a Union or to any organization to engage in this work. Having a desire to advance the cause, he may form the class, hold the contest and report the same, and He who rewards all good effort will reward this.

Order all supplies and send in your subscription for the Contest Journal, at 25 cents, to the State Superintendent, Mary E. Balch, 711 East 11th Street, Indianapolis, Ind. Send the money with your order. Pages 2 and 3 of the Contest Journal will be filled each month with suitable selections for the contest work. Every one engaged in the contests will find the paper very helpful.

1901 PREMIUMS.

Any one holding five contests with boys or young men may have a year's subscription free to the New Voice, or Patriot-Phalanx, or Union Signal, as they prefer.

Any one holding five Silver Medal contests will be entitled to a life-size picture of Woolley and Metcalf.

The county or medal worker who will hold four Diamond Contests will be entitled to a grand gold medal or a set of Miss Willard's books, free.

The county or medal worker who will hold five Grand Gold contests will be entitled to a small gold medal or a life-size picture of Miss Willard, framed, free.

The county or medal worker who will hold five Small Gold contests will be entitled to any silver medal free.

Work begins November 11, 1900, and closes October 1, 1901. It is a great injustice to contestants not to give them opportunity to complete their course and receive their diplomas. Let us do so this year.

MARY E. BALCH,
State Superintendent.

PRESS DEPARTMENT.

Several months have passed since I have communicated with you through the columns of our MESSAGE. I sent you plans for work and I know you have been faithful while I have been seeking health in Colorado. I return home this month. If I can help you, please write me. Have you been saving clippings? If not, I urge you to do so. Other states are adopting our plan, so we must work to keep our place at the head of the national department. Remember my offer to the Union sending me the best report before the state convention—a white satin banner with the silver star. Which Unions are working for it? I wish you would write me if you are trying for it.

Do not fail to send short interesting articles of temperance news to the newspapers. Ask for great things and great results will follow for our temperance work.

I have offered the Union sending the best report, thinking that would give an even chance for all, as some counties are better organized than others.

MRS. MAY MOSER,
State Superintendent Press Work.

FLOWER MISSION.

The Unions of some localities in Southern Indiana have been requested to arrange to send buttonhole bouquets to the Reformatory at Jeffersonville. To Hon. George A. H. Shideler, of the Indiana State Prison, Michigan City, and to Hon. Alvin T. Hert, General Superintendent of the Indiana Reformatory at Jeffersonville, the same kind of a letter was sent telling them about Flower Mission Day on June 9, and asking if the Indiana W. C. T. U. could send buttonhole bouquets, with Scripture text cards attached, to the men in their charge. The following letters have been received and explain the conditions:

"Yours to the Warden in regard to Flower Mission Day received. I am instructed to say to you that we greatly appreciate your interest in our men and the kindness which prompts this offer. However, we regret that we do not see our way clear to avail ourselves of your kindly offer. The rules and regulations, which must of necessity be very strict, will not admit of a departure of this kind. We have many men who would thoroughly appreciate an act of this kind and whose lives would be the better because of it, but others are with us whose conduct makes it impossible for us to 'let down the bars' in an instance of this kind. Thanking you most sincerely, I remain,

Respectfully,

H. L. HENDERSON,
Chaplain and State Agent Indiana State Prison."

"Replying to your favor of April 18, inquiring whether buttonhole bouquets may be sent to the inmates of the Reformatory on Flower Mission Day, I beg to say that decoration of that kind is not permitted by the management of this institution.

Yours very truly,

ALVIN T. HERT,
General Superintendent Indiana Reformatory, at Jeffersonville."

Every Union should observe Flower Mission Day. Seek out the aged, the infirm, the incurable, sick children and those in hospitals, jails and poor houses. Go to these as individuals, if not otherwise. Take some flowers, fruits, jellies or something with you to someone. Mingle with the gift the sunshine of the Gospel of Christ. Send the girls and boys out with gifts. Take them to the poorhouses and hospitals with the W. C. T. U. In services held they will be helpful and will be helped, too. In every W. C. T. U. home, where there are boys and girls, tell them the story of Jennie Cassaday and plan to have them invite in their friends to help make bouquets. The boys will secure wire and tin foil and help the girls solicit flowers from the neighbors. This they should do nearly a week in advance. When the time comes for making the bouquets, the neighbors will already be interested—many will help. All should be invited to contribute something and should be told of the worldwide plans for Flower Mission work. For Scripture text cards, send to the Woman's Temperance Publishing Association, The Temple, LaSalle and Monroe streets, Chicago, Ill. Price, 25 cents per hundred. With every gift should be included a scripture quotation—a message from God.

Please invite the boys and girls and young people to assist in Flower Mission work this year. Every W. C. T. U. member can do something for this cause. Arrange with the management of Institutions early in regard to services, so that there may be no delay. Have good programs; secure the best talent; ask largely for God's cause.

Request the ministers everywhere to read the Superintendent's report on Flower mission Work in the last annual report. Give them leaflets to read on the subject and ask them to preach on this subject. Order leaflets of Miss Ethel Austin Shrigley, Landsdowne, Pa. Prices, about 50 cents per hundred. Send postage stamps and get samples.

Faithfully,

ETHEL TYREE MCWHIRTER,
State Superintendent.

ORGANIZATION FUND.

Previously reported, $15; Frances Willard Union, Indianapolis, $10; Clinton County Life Membership, $10; Mrs. Hattie Stechel, Mulberry, $5; Mrs. India Smith, Milroy, $1; Mrs. Jennie Powers, Williams-town, $1; Rev. Cammack Gibson, Jonesboro, $1; Mrs. Jennie Bates, Washington, D. C., $1; Elkhart Union, Elkhart, $1; Mr. Ancil Winslow, Fairmount, $1; Mrs. Louisa Rush, Fairmount, $1; Mrs. Elmira Luse, Fairmount, $1; total, $48.

When our Institutes have closed we must put every available organizer into the field for organization. With 1,500 new members we can go down to Fort Worth, Texas, next fall, feeling that we have done our duty. If these organizers fail to get support in the field, any deficit must come from this fund, and I feel sure you will see that it is very small for such a large piece of work. This fund has had many prayers back of it. I cannot understand why it grows so slowly. I do not know what I can say to impress our readers with the importance of the need of it and the great loss that will come to the work for the want of it.

MARY E. BALCH,
Superintendent of the Department of Organization.

INSTITUTES.

Benton County Institute was held on the 2d and 3d of May, in Oxford. Four Unions were represented. Rev. Myres, of the M. E. church, Rev. Hall, of the Christian church, were in constant attendance, and Rev. Hostetter, of the Presbyterian church, helped also in the discussions. "Five Boys in Knee Pants," was given by the leader the first night and a contest by five little girls the second night. Miss Laura Stephens received the medal and a bright new silver fifty cent piece was given to each of the others. Miss Baker resigned the Presidency of Benton County, and Mrs. Amanda Smith, of Oxford, was elected to take her place. Miss Baker has held her position for 11 years, and figuratively speaking, they fell on her neck and wept at the thought of parting with her. She, with her mother, moves to LaFayette. To show their appreciation of her long and faithful service they made her a life member of State W. C. T. U. On Saturday we went to Talbot and held a mothers' meeting with that Union and hope to spend Sunday in Otterbein.

MATTIE CAMMACK-GIBSON.

Cayuga Union—Vermillion County Institute was held at Cayuga, with Mrs. Hattie W. Brand, who organized the Union a few months ago, as leader. Mrs. Brand writes as follows: "While the work is new to most of the women, they are going forward in the real W. C. T. U. spirit. On the second night of the Institute they held their first contest and it showed careful arrangement in every detail. An orchestra of more than ordinary merit furnished the music. While sweet strains pleased the ear the curtain arose and we beheld an attractive parlor scene. Palms and flowers were artistically grouped here and there and the young ladies, dressed in white, added life and grace to the scene. The medal won by Miss Shellenbarger was gracefully presented by Prof. Nolan, of the public school, and a bunch of carnations was given to each contestant, all of whom did exceedingly well."

W. C. T. U. Institute of Steuben County was held in Fremont, April 18, 19 and 20. The County President, Mrs. Alma Shaw, of Ashley, presided. The Secretary being absent, Mrs. Mary Birch acted as Secretary pro tem. Delegates from all the local Unions were present. Miss Mary Hadley, our leader, came fully equipped for her work. All she said and did in our midst was calculated to arrest thought along lines of special work—of the W. C. T. U. Many excellent papers were read and discussed. National, State, County and local plans for co-operation in this great work was ably presented by our leader and different members. We were cheered and greatly aided by the presence and helpful words of Rev. Mason, of the U. B. Church; Rev. Frost, of the Congregational Church; Rev. Fuller, of Hillsdale, Mich., and Rev. Hunt, of Hicksville, Ohio, who were all presented to the convention. Rev. Mason gave a very effective talk of twenty-five minutes from "When Does Expediency Become Compromise?" He proved without a doubt that we can never compromise with evil and not reap bad results. Miss Hadley's address Thursday evening, on "The Relation and Attitude of the Church and Saloon," was excellent. Platform evening was greatly enjoyed by all. Rev. Neal, of Angola, spoke on "The Imperialism of the Rum Power." The good people of Fremont greatly appreciate Rev. Neal's lectures and presence everywhere and always. Rev. Frost's subject was "The Supremacy of the Church." Professor Dudley's subject, "What is Temperance and how can it Best be Promoted." Fremont is noted for its musical talent, and they aided the institute greatly in all sessions and was much appreciated. Several new members were added, also two honorary members.

White County Institute at Chalmers resulted in a Y of fifteen members and a visit to the schools in the interest of scientific temperance. Miss Mary Hadley leader.

Clinton County Institute was held on schedule time and place, Sedalia. We started from home in good time, but train being late we did not make connections at Frankfort, so was driven over by a livery man, and arrived there about noon. The institute was not represented as well as a great county like Clinton could have done if she had done her best. But sickness and other lawful excuses were given. Mrs. Saylor, who exerts herself to the utmost to bring herself up to high water mark, was not well nor able to be in all the time. A matrons' contest was held the first night and Five Boys were given the second night. The name of the woman who received the medal has gotten away from us. Not the woman, but the name. We tried to hold a children's meeting on Wednesday morning, but a constant rain prevented but few children from coming out.

Marshall County W. C. T. U. Institute, held in Plymouth, April 16 and 17, was an unusually earnest meeting. Four of the resident ministers gave very encouraging addresses. State Senator Parks was present through two sessions and talked on personal responsibility. There was much said to turn the thoughts in that direction. Mrs. Trish was the life of the meeting and did not miss a session. One night was a medal contest and the second night Rev. Davis gave his stereopticon lecture, "The Women of America vs. the Saloon." It was good and well illustrated. I wish I might, through the MESSAGE, recommend Rev. Davis' stereopticon lecture to the Unions wanting this kind of an entertainment. He has prepared it to illustrate the great enemy of the home and is along our line of work throughout. He is a brother of the Rev. Davis in whose church the State Union held its convention in Marion, one year ago. Ill health compels him to resign from the ministry for a time.

White County Institute was held 30th of April and 1st of May at Wolcott. We had a matron's suffrage contest for the silver medal. Mrs. Sarah Barber, of Monticello, gained the medal. Our attendance was not large, but great interest was manifested. During her stay in Wolcott, Miss Hadley organized a fine Y branch of fifteen, including three teachers in the public school. Several were also added to the W's. Miss Hadley is still in our county doing good and efficient work.

St. Joseph County Institute, held at South Bend, opened with a good attendance. Platform night, which was the first session, was devoted to speeches. Rev. Eli Phillips Bennet, of the First Methodist Church, and Rev. Rice, of the Christian Church, represented the churches of the city. Miss A. E. Hill, drawing teacher, represented the public schools. City Attorney George Clark spoke on the good effects of the curfew law, which went into effect about four years ago, due to the efforts of the W. C. T. U. of South Bend. All sessions were well attended; in fact, no previous institute has been so well attended or so much real interest shown. All papers and discussions were well rendered, showing much thorough and concentrated effort on the part of those preparing them. Already several of the articles have appeared in the Phalanx. The second evening a silver medal contest was held, with a full class of boys and girls equally divided. Margaret Linard won the medal.

Wells County annual institute convened in the Presbyterian Church, with Mrs. Cammack Gibson, of Marion, in charge of the session, which lasted two days. "Results from this Institute" and "Plans of State Work" were presented and ably discussed. Mrs. Martha McBride, of Bluffton, presented in a forcible manner the subject, "God's Plan of Dealing with Evil," which was highly commended and appreciated. Prof. W. A. Wert, of the Bluffton High School, had been secured to prepare a paper on "What is Temperance?" which denoted careful preparation. Scientific Temperance was discussed by him, showing that it must be taught in the school, in the church and above all in the home. Local option and eventually prohibition seems his idea of suppressing the traffic. Rev. C. G. Miller ably discussed the question of "No Compromise with the Traffic," which was a valuable aid in the promotion of our cause. Rev. D. F. Kain, a pioneer prohibitionist and a firm friend to the W. C. T. U., gave a short talk that inspired all to a more faithful performance of Christian duty. Rev. Lester presented "What Will the Church Do with the Saloon?" The Church is supreme only when it is supreme spiritually. A spiritual Church has no use for a saloon or any other organization not being actuated with the spirit of Christ. Purify the Church and the Church will soon banish the saloon by winning all men to the Church and the saloon would be unnecessary and die for lack of support. Rev. J. M. Miller discussed the Church and Saloon in a very able manner and was an inspiration to all who heard him. His idea was an earnest Christian effort, thoroughly organized against all evils and especially against this giant, the legalized saloon, would soon bring about its overthrow. The Anti-Cigarette League has been carefully and prayerfully organized and is doing effective work under the able superintendency of Mrs. R. G. Marcy. All honor is due to all those faithful, earnest Christian gentlemen who so ably assisted and encouraged us during the entire session. The County Recording Secretary, Miss Cora Hood, having resigned, Mrs. Hannah Rife, of Bluffton, was chosen to fill the unexpired term. The Ladies' Quartette kindly furnished some excellent music during the session of the Institute.

Daviess County Institute held at Washington, was very profitable indeed. Mrs. Pearce was the leader and gave the "Outlook Greeting." Our Local Treasurer gave the Duties of a Treasurer. Mrs. Pearce then gave a fine talk on "The Significance of our Badge." The following subjects were taken up: Cigarette, Mrs. Bryan; Purity, Mrs. Smith; Equality in Citizenship, Mrs. Goshorn; Institutes, Loyal Temperance Legion, Hadley Home, Law and Statistics, Mrs. Pearce giving us much information. The Y work was discussed and it was decided to use Wednesday morning for visiting and working for a Y Union. A Parliamentary drill was given by the leader. Am I my Brother's Keeper? was recited by Mrs. Fannie Overton; Advancement of Woman, by Rev. Cantrell; The Twentieth Century Woman, by Prof. Allen of the city high school, followed by discussion. The leader organized a Y. W. C. T. U. Miss Grace Brown was made President, Miss Mamie Schofield, Corresponding Secretary. A medal contest was held in the opera house with a very good audience. Receipts, $32.30. Two young ladies and three young gentlemen contested. It was beautiful to see those dear young people upon the platform, each wearing beautiful cut flowers and a smiling face, as one by one they presented the strong temperance sentiment, our hearts swelled within us. The audience was very enthusiastic and all pronounced it a success. Miss Eula Canady won the medal. The averages were very close, however. The lecture by Mrs. Pearce was very interesting. Our Union is wonderfully pleased with our dear sister, Mrs. Pearce, and we were loathe to give her up. All who met her were in love with her. Pray for our Y workers, that their numbers may increase.

W. C. T. U. Institute of Miami County was held at Amboy, April 4 and 5, with the County President, Mrs. Kilmer, of Peru, as leader until the afternoon of the 5th, when Mrs. McWhirter arrived and took charge. Representatives were present from three of the four Unions in the county; beside the home workers. Mrs. Bond, President of Delaware County, and Mrs. Outland, President of Howard County, aided much in the work. Miss Edgerton, Prof. Marshal, principal of Converse high school, Wm. Outland and others had part in the work. Mrs. Kilmer conducted the work in an ideal manner. On Friday evening was held a gold medal contest, which was exceptionally good. Miss Maud Osborn, who graduates from our high school this year, was awarded the medal. On the evening of the contest more than forty persons were present who were wearers of medals, either gold or silver. Saturday evening Mrs. McWhirter gave a rousing address, which was well received by those present; in fact, her whole theme and service from her arrival was soul inspiring and a wonderful blessing. The white ribbon cause has been much helped by this Institute.

Fulton County had the best Institute ever held in the county at Kewanna, April 1 and 2. Miss Mary Hadley was the leader. The State program was used. Monday afternoon a motion was made and carried that a petition signed by all the parents who attended the institute be presented to the town council asking that a curfew law be enforced. We now have such a law. The meetings were well attended. Thursday evening a reception was given to the public. Ten subscriptions were taken for the Union Signal. Fourteen names were added to the local Union and a Loyal Temperance Legion of thirty-six members was organized.

Pulaski County Institute was held at Star City, Miss Mary Hadley, leader. A very interesting program was carried out. The discussions on the following subjects were very interesting: The Significance of our Badge; The Attitude of the State and National Legislators Towards Measures of Prevention and Reform; and The Imperialism of the Rum Power. The parliamentary drill by Miss Hadley was of unusual interest. Among those who participated in the program were Miss Hulda Dunn, Mrs. Watson, Mrs. Blue, Mrs. Potter, Mrs. Grant, C. W. Dunn and Revs. Raven and Yount. The illustrated lecture by Miss Hadley on "The Hidden Path of Alcohol Revealed" was very interesting and instructive. The oratorical contest was good. The medal was awarded to Glen-nie Gier. The instruction given and the interest manifested during the entire Institute will no doubt result in great and lasting good.

Newton County Institute was held at Morocco. Mrs. Gibson, leader. The following subjects were discussed: "God's plan of dealing with evil. The significance of our badge. The cigarette and franchisee." The President gave a talk on the army canteen. Tuesday's session the following topics were discussed: "Purity, the Loyal Temperance Legion and Methods of Department Work." The pastors of the U. B. church, the Christian church and the Methodist church handled their subjects most eloquently. A good interest was manifested throughout the sessions. Monday evening a narcotic contest was held in the opera house, there being ten speakers. Master Kenneth Deardurff carried off the silver medal. Tuesday evening Mrs. Cammack-Gibson gave a lecture, Five Boys in Knee Pants. She had the audience deeply interested for an hour, and we are sure great good will be the result.

Huntington County held a very interesting Institute in Warren, March 28 and 29. Our State President, Mrs. Eunice Wilson, was with us and added to the interest of the meeting. We held a suffrage contest on the evening of the 28th, Mrs. Zent, of Roanoke, capturing the medal. The W's gained twelve new members and the Y's two. Previous to our institute we had Rev. Anna Shaw to lecture on "The Fate of Republics." Mrs. Mattie Cammack-Gibson was our institute leader.

FIELD NOTES.

Throughout Mrs. Brand's section the contests have been of an unusually high character, and with very few exceptions the proceeds have paid all institute expenses and placed snug sums in the county treasuries. A minister at Terre Haute, who attended all the sessions of the Institute, said: "We have had a high grade lecture course this winter, but I have learned more from the sessions of this Institute than from the entire lecture course. This is christianity practically applied." He said very complimentary things about Mrs. Brand's leadership, and said our businesslike methods were a revelation to him. There is an increased attendance in the county membership and much more interest manifested in the study of methods and plans. A special study of Parliamentary Law and many drills have been given at the Institutes. The women have taken it up much better than previously during the past two years. This will cause a great improvement in the manner of conducting local and county meetings. The lack of form and dignity is detrimental to the advancement of a Union.

Newton County W. C. T. U. Institute was held at the scheduled place and time and the program was filled. The three resident ministers were particularly helpful. Civil Government and Enforcement of Law was very ably handled by Rev. Traxell, of the M. E. Church. Imperialism and the Rum Power, by the Rev. Tuggle, of the U. B. Church, should set the members of the Institute—as well as others—to studying and thinking. The discussion, "When Does Expediency Become Compromise?" was led by the Rev. Watkins, of the Christian Church, and many facts and opinions, and some history, were presented. The same gentleman had a thoughtful paper on "The Supremacy of the Church and What Will it Do with the Saloon." On Monday evening, the Anti-Narcotic contest, in charge of the Local President, Mrs. McConahey, was held in the opera house. There were eight girls and two boys, but a boy won the medal with the Tobacco Parable. Besides these ten contestants, there was a class of ten girls—trained by Mrs. Traxell—singing against tobacco. While the judges were out, the large audience was entertained with a beautiful duet, one of the singers being the mother of the Archibald Brothers, who sang for Prohibition over the State last summer, and there was a fine recitation by Miss Lowe, a graduate of an Illinois school of oratory. On Tuesday evening, Mrs. Cammack-Gibson gave her lecture on "Five Boys in Knee Pants," which was the most practical, convincing and up-to-date lecture we have had and will be appreciated wherever heard. The Institute closed on Wednesday forenoon, May 1, but she spoke to the children in the afternoon and gave a lecture on Scientific Temperance Instruction in the evening.

Public Meetings should begin exactly on time. No whispering should be allowed upon the platform. The person presiding should have a completely arranged program, so that after she goes upon the platform she need not leave it or show to the audience that she is at all disturbed. If a speaker or singer fails to arrive on time, do not be disconcerted, but go on with the program. Never keep an audience waiting for any one or two persons. If the person who has been asked to open the meeting with a devotional service is late, invite some one to either read short Scripture lesson and offer prayer, or just to offer prayer. Under no circumstances let a tardy person cause a woman's meeting to be delayed in its opening.

Attention! All buttonhole bouquets with Scripture cards, intended for the Reform School for Boys at Plainfield, should be sent on Saturday, June 8, addressed to Superintendent E. E. York. Suitable books for boys would be greatly appreciated. Those sent should contain the name of Union and individual sending. Because of the dampness of the flowers, tie the ribbon in the cards and place where they will keep dry.

By request of the teachers of the public schools at Wolcott, Miss Mary Hadley spoke on scientific temperance to all the grades. Afterwards she organized a Y of fifteen members, including one high school and several other teachers. President, Miss Josephine Miner; vice-president, Mr. Lovell Taylor; second vice-president, Miss Fae Hackley; corresponding secretary, Miss Bertha Boulder; recording secretary, Miss May Collins.

Mrs. Julia Morgan, the energetic superintendent of Sabbath Observance for Indianapolis Meridian Union, held a mass meeting in the interest of her department, in the North Congregational church. Much interest was manifested. The subjects discussed were "Non attendance at Church services," "Sunday in the home," "Sunday newspapers," "Sunday amusements," and "Road houses." A nice collection was taken for the department. Two persons each gave one dollar.

Mrs. Frances G. Boyer was recently made a life member of the Frankfort Union. This Union now has two life members.

Clinton County is planning to hold a grand temperance rally and celebration July 4.

Frankfort Union gives its superintendents an appropriation. Some of them receive as much as State superintendents.

James C. Gipe, who was for several years the splendid president of our State L. T. L., has won great distinction by taking the honors in the contest of the State High School Oratorical Association held in Indianapolis. His comrades carried him out on their shoulders. James is a fine young man, an excellent student, a prohibitionist and a loyal christian temperance worker.

The Joint Gold Medal Contest given by Burlington and Sedalia Unions, on Thursday evening, April 18, was quite a success. Miss Weltha Clouse, of Sedalia, receiving the medal. We received almost $12.00 at the door. The program was fine. We heartily thank all who helped us with music and other help also. The program being two hours long.

Mrs. Stahl visits Eastern Franklin County. Feeling anxious that the department of Mothers' Meetings should be brought before the people, we planned to have State Superintendent of Mothers' Meetings, Mrs. Stahl, with us a few days. She came April 24 and held two Mothers' Meetings for women only—one at Bath and one at Mt. Carmel. The women seemed very much interested and in her heart to heart talks, there were but few dry eyes in the audience. She gave three evening addresses. The well-filled churches and the interest manifested in her work greatly encouraged us and we feel that she has done us good. Many are the words of praise from those who heard her. We wish we might keep her longer and assure her of a welcome when she returns.

Miss Eliza Baker, who served Benton County eleven years, resigned at the Institute and Mrs. Amanda Smith, of Oxford, was elected. Miss Baker and her mother move to LaFayette.

At the Contest held in Newton County at the Institute, Master Kenneth Deardorf received the medal and the remaining nine contestants each a Carrie Nation Hatchet.

Mrs. C. C. Robinson entertained the LaFayette Union last week. It was flower mission day and each member-in attendance took an offering of flowers. The devotional exercises that opened the meeting were conducted by Mrs. Henry H. Budge. A sketch of the life and work of Miss Jennie Cassady, the originator of the flower mission, was given by Mrs. A. L. Green. A paper by Mrs. Horace George and a story by Mrs. C. C. Robinson were other features of the program. Vocal solos were given by Miss Anna Robinson, recitations were given by Miss Phoebe George and Miss Emily Wilgus. A social hour followed the program and refreshments were served. The flowers that had been brought by the members were arranged into bouquets, tied with white ribbon and were distributed among the sick of the city.

Mrs. Anna Kilmer, President of Miami County, will visit Converse Union in the near future.

The W. C. T. U. loses a staunch friend in the death of Rev. Edwin Oliver, pastor of the Evangelical church, at Peru, who was instantly killed by a Wabash train in that city recently. He was returning from his Conference and arrangements were perfected for his going, on the next day, to Aurora, Illinois, to claim Miss Elfrink as his bride. He was a member of the Peru Y. The Peru papers speak in highest terms of him. The Journal said, "His was a majestic christian character, such as inspires regard for the faith in the heart of the unbeliever."

In response to beautiful invitations issued by Mapleton Union for a Young Peoples' Debate, to be given at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Whitson, on the evening of May 3, over one hundred representative people were present. The subject, "Resolved, That the elective franchise should be given to woman," was ably discussed by young men and young women amidst great interest and enthusiasm. Afterwards, ice cream and cake was served and a social hour enjoyed.

Mrs. C. A. Remington, of South Whitley, Whitley County, writes about the Institute: "Good meetings all through; nine members added; three Union Signal subscriptions; an L. T. L. of one hundred and twenty-six members organized; a good contest held, also a good meeting the second evening. Overflow on Columbia City."

Sunday Evening, April 4, Miss Belle Kearney, of Mississippi, spoke in the First Baptist Church of South Bend, which was filled to its utmost capacity, seating about one thousand people. Her address was full of new thoughts and was well received by the people and many new names were added to the W. C. T. U. South Bend has been blessed by her coming.

The National W. C. T. U. is preparing for an exhibit at the Pan-American Exposition, to be held in Buffalo this year. The exhibit will be similar to the one at the World's Fair and will aim to demonstrate the principles of the organization, its objects and its department work.

Huntington Union congratulates itself on having been able to treat its members and friends to so able a speaker as Miss Belle Kearney, of Mississippi. Her lecture, on April 12, was delivered in her ready, pleasing manner and was a delight to all.

Warren Union, also of Huntington County, has made the county proud by having secured the services of Rev. Anna Shaw to lecture and by having further added to the success of the County Institute by the addition of the State President as guest.

LaFayette Union. Mrs. P. C. Vawter, Jail Superintendent, and Mrs. George Jameson, evangelist, visit the jail every Sunday afternoon, with blessed results.

Indianapolis Northeast Union recently held an interesting meeting at the home of Mrs. Clark. A nice collection was taken for the Sabbath Observance Department.

Mrs. Georgiana Moser White, of Colorado Springs, Colorado, formerly our State Superintendent of Literature, is Vice-President of her W. C. T. U. district and is responsible for a successful Y of sixty-five young men and women. The now one year old W that was organized in her home has fifty members. Thus continue the efforts of this precious young life. Miss Moser attended the State Convention at Marion. At the mass meeting on Sunday afternoon she followed Miss Anna Gordon in a plea for young woman's work. Within a few days afterwards Mr. White, of Colorado Springs, claimed her as his bride. By her request he wore a little bow of white ribbon on his wedding day.

For years Angola, the seat of one of our excellent normal schools, has been without a licensed saloon, in spite of the fact that saloon interests have made persistent efforts to secure license in the face of a majority of 150 remonstrants in the city and townships. Crandell, who for many years sold liquor by the drink and of late years sold in five-gallon lots, has moved to Indianapolis. In the Steuben Circuit Court, in order to settle pending cases, the Cantliver Brewing Co., of Fort Wayne, and its agent, Sowle, who have been conducting a five-gallon establishment at Angola, agreed to abandon the business there at the close of the week. Strangest of all, the ladies of the W. C. T. U. have cleaned up the old building, occupied by Sowle as a saloon for forty years, and in the midst of billiard tables and a well worn bar are conducting a rummage sale.

Frankfort Union has given each Superintendent such a sum of money as is considered necessary to carry on her department. Some of them received as much as ten dollars. Frankfort W. C. T. U. purchased a life membership and the Union voted unanimously that Mrs. Frances Boyer should hold it. We celebrated Neal Dow day in connection with the Prohibitionists, bearing half of the expense of the all-day meeting. We have held two medal contests this winter and sent money to the Hadley Home fund, paying up our assessment for last year. Mrs. Emma Saylor, County President, did the work of getting up the contest class.

Miss Major, President of Martin County, writes: "Our Institute was held in Shoals, and was a very profitable session, with a good attendance. Our dear leader, Mrs. Rose Pearce, did excellent work and her talks along all lines were pointed and logical. She worked her way into the hearts of the people, especially the young, who with ready hands and willing hearts assisted in making the institute interesting. We hope to have an ingathering as the result, and we pray God's blessing upon our dear sister as she goes into other fields."

Willard W. C. T. U. of Lexington held their annual meeting at the Presbyterian church, Saturday afternoon, April 13. The reports from the various Superintendents were given, and interesting as well as instructive talks were then given by Rev. Lawson, of Lexington, Ky., and Rev. Hall, of New Washington, Ind. These two gentlemen were made honorary members of the Union. We hope that in the past year we have sown seeds which will in time bring us an abundant harvest.

IN MEMORIAM.

The following resolutions were adopted by the Lewisville W. C. T. U.:

WHEREAS, An inscrutable but all-wise Providence has called from works to reward our beloved sister, Ella Martin, and we desire, however inadequately, to express our sense of loss. Therefore be it

Resolved, That our Union has lost a highly valued officer, the cause of social purity an able exponent in life and conduct, as well as in precept, and the community has lost the example of a model wife and mother.

Further, That we commend our dear friend's life as an example well worthy of imitation, and that we hope to meet her again when we form a more perfect union in the home beyond.

Posey County's first W. C. T. U. President, Mrs. Maria Barrett, was called home in April. She was born in New Harmony, and spent her whole life in that county, going home to rest and reward when she was 74 years old.

One by one we are gathering home,
Gathering there at the Father's call—
Life at best is a passing day,
The summons of death must come to all.

On April 17 death entered the home of our sister, Mina Gentry, and removed from our midst a bright little son. We as sisters of the W. C. T. U. wish to extend our deepest sympathy to the family in this their time of sorrow. Sister Gentry is one of our best members of Sycamore Union.

Brother's gone: he's no more on earth,
God has called him home.
His prattling tongue, so stilled in death,
With beckoning hands he bids us come.

Since in His all-wise providence our heavenly Father has seen fit to remove from our midst little Gladys, daughter of our highly esteemed President, Mrs. Alice Rynerson,

Resolved, That we bow in humble submission to his righteous will; that we as members of the Columbus W. C. T. U. extend to the bereaved family our sincere sympathy and commend them to Him who said, "I will not leave you comfortless. I will come to you." That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes and a copy of them be sent to the family of the deceased and that they be published in the papers of the city and in the MESSAGE.

"Not by Might nor by Power, but by My Spirit."

VOL. V. No. 6.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., JUNE, 1901.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR.

READ BY MRS. M. A. LEAVITT AT MEMORIAL MEETING HELD IN HONOR OF ZERELDA G. WALLACE.

Magnanimous and wise and good;
So gifted, gracious and serene!
A noble type of womanhood—
Among her peers a very queen.

Her radiant passage to the skies
Is rainbowed in a mist of tears;
For our fond hearts and favored eyes
Have seen the glory of her years.

Those years were eloquent with love—
With love for lost humanity;
Her heart, all selfish aims above,
Thought not of honors nor degree.

In holy fervor for the right,
Hers was the voice that led the van
Amid the hosts where ribbons white
Waged fearful war for brother man.

Tho' shot and shell around her fell,
Conviction's courage held her fast;
And all her gentle band, as well,
But louder grew Truth's bugle blast.

Her own brave shibboleth of war
Rang out its clarion call at will—
"The women of the nation are Versus the Liquor Traffic still."

Amid the foemen's bitter clang,
Inspired by her—led by her hand,
Her watchword and our chorus rang—
"For God and Home and Every Land!"

While kindred hearts were stirred and swelled
By her life's purpose—"Doing Good,"
Hers was the eloquence which held
Spell-bound the listening multitude.

While from the platform, o'er and o'er,
She hurled her giant argument,
How sin-shrunk, shame-faced, to the floor!
How truth triumphant, soaring went!

Majestic mind! that made the law
Of helpfulness its living creed;
A graciousness which felt and saw
Only a tempted brother's need.

To break the tempter's power and sway—
Protection 'round the home to wind,
She pleaded, in her own wise way,
For equal rights for womankind.

With all the gifts of womanhood,
And all the fervent fire of youth,
She pleaded for justice. Ah, she stood
An advocate for God's own truth.

O, for those old, heroic days!
O, for "our Deborah's" heart of flame—
Lit from the crusade's holy blaze,
Unskilled by scorn, or hate or blame!

For us who marched close by her side,
Whose courage led us through the fray,
O, leader great—now glorified—
What words can tell our loss to-day?

O, for her mantle; may it fall
On us who in life's conflict stand,
And down the years and over all
Who bear Truth's banner thro' the land!

Still drifting toward eternity,
With life-work mirrored in its flow,
Beyond the tides of Time's wide sea,
May her sublime example go.

We are indebted to Mrs. Mary H. Hunt, 23 Trull street, Boston, National Superintendent Scientific Temperance Instruction, for the following item: "The new medical magazine, American Medicine, for May 4 and 11, contains a very able series of articles by Dr. John Madden, formerly professor of physiology in the Wisconsin College of Physicians and Surgeons, on the 'Food Value of Alcohol and Prof. Atwater's Experiments and Teaching.' Dr. Madden's position is that 'alcohol is a violent protoplasm poison,' that instead of protecting the nitrogenous tissues from undue waste, it hastens their waste; that instead of increasing tissue activity, it markedly diminishes it and hinders also mental processes. Dr. Madden's stand on this subject is that taken by the Journal of the American Medical Association and the Boston Medical and Surgical Journal. The appearance of his contribution in this new magazine, 'founded, owned and controlled by the Medical Association of America,' adds one more to the list of medical journals that have published articles showing the fallacies of Prof. Atwater's claim of food value for alcohol. Dr. Madden has recently become a member of the advisory board of the Department of Scientific Temperance Instruction of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union."

At our last State L. T. L. convention, James Gipe was elected State L. T. L. Organizer. He offers to give his school vacation to field work, beginning the latter part of June. Unions can correspond with him for dates and terms by addressing James L. Gipe, 808 N. Delaware St., Indianapolis.

By winning the High School oratorical prize, in February, and the State oratorical prize, in April, James has added new honors to those already won in the W. C. T. U. medal contest.

I hope Unions will hasten to engage our enthusiastic young L. T. L. Organizer and give him the opportunity to organize for them, Senior and Junior Loyal Temperance Legions.

KATHRIN T. A. STRAW,
General L. T. L. Secretary.

LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION.

At the last National Convention a committee was appointed to revise our L. T. L. Seal Course. They have been at work ever since, but have not yet completed the work, as so important a service requires plenty of time. Many books must be carefully read by the committee in order to select the very best.

As we had decided not to purchase our State loan library of seal books until after the proposed revision, we have not been urging the payment of the money so generously subscribed at the Frankfort convention. We now ask all who have not yet redeemed their pledges to send the money to K. T. A. Straw, North Manchester, as soon as possible.

A number of Legioners and some W. C. T. U. members are reading for seals. Each graduate should be at work winning seals for their diploma and should be studying Vol. 2 of the lesson manuals, for which they receive one of the most important seals. The county receiving the greatest number of seals this year, will receive a desirable reward at our next State L. T. L. convention. "Eyes Open" is out of print and the mercy seal course is complete without it.

Our Young Crusader has been enlarged and is now in the form of a magazine. The publishers offer to send a sample copy to each L. T. L. girl or boy in Indiana. Leaders, please forward the postoffice address of all your members to Dept. L. Y., Crusader, Room 1110, The Temple, Chicago, Ill.

Mrs. Helen G. Rice, National L. T. L. Secretary, says: "I see great possibilities for helpfulness in the L. T. L. literature extension scheme adopted at our last National L. T. L. conference. While, as stated there, it had special reference to the Young Crusader, I think we should broaden it to include all L. T. L. supplies. In order to make the work definite, I greatly desire that each of the older States shall adopt some special mission field and that its Legioners shall send to that field the lesson manuals, song books and other supplies no longer needed for their own work; also that they may, when able to do so, devote some money to subscribing for the Young Crusader and to furnishing badges and other new supplies for their mission field."

Shall Indiana adopt such mission field? What are we doing with our old manuals, etc.? Whoever is willing to help carry out this plan, write to me.

Knowing that the County President in her responsible position is anxious to have her county active in the work for the girls and boys, I have undertaken a plan of sending into the counties, through the County Presidents, sets of traveling leaflets, whereby every childless Union may be reached and urged and helped to take up our greatest work. I earnestly solicit the co-operation of County Presidents in this plan and their earnest endeavors to push the work of the L. T. L. in their county.

KATHRIN T. A. STRAW,
Gen'l L. T. L. Secretary.

BESSIE STRAW,
Associate.

SUMMER ASSEMBLIES.

We give dates again for our W. C. T. U. programs:

Pine Lake, August 2; Maxinkuckee, July 31; Wionna, July 11; Bethany, August 3; Island Park, August 5 and 6; Acton Park, August 1 and 2.

Island Park and Acton are to have W. C. T. U. headquarters, to open July 24 and close August 15.

For officers of these assembly W. C. T. U. Unions in charge—see page 76 of our Annual Minutes.

There will be W. C. T. U. teaching on L. T. L., Y., Mothers' Meetings, Physical Culture, Health and Hereditary and possibly on other departments. No effort will be spared to make the most of the time and place for our cause. Battle Ground and Zionsville not heard from.

Unions in the regions around about these assemblies should get full of enthusiasm and work up a crowd—marshal the children with banner and song—and, above all, don't forget to join the Assembly Union. Send to Superintendent of Summer Assemblies for constitution.

Miss Alice Palmer, at Pine Lake, speaks on "The Past and the Future of the W. C. T. U." Mrs. M. A. Tompkins on "The Twentieth Century Woman," and Mary E. Balch on "Our Work at Pine Lake."

Rev. Cammack-Gibson gives her famous lecture, "Five Boys in Knee Pants," at Maxinkuckee and the children demonstrate and orate and finish up with a gold contest.

Mrs. Frances E. Beauchamp, Lexington, Ky., speaks at Bethany, Acton Park and Island Park.

Programs are not perfected yet. The Summer Assemblies is Indiana's W. C. T. U.'s opportunity. A Christian audience, under favorable auspices, with the liberty and chance of greatly increasing the audience and financial aid, not to be found under any other circumstances. Dear White Ribboners, do appreciate our advantages at our summer assemblies and do your very best to make our organization a success. Dear sisters, we work for success; we pay for success—and then it will be wise to add, pray for success.

MARY E. BALCH,
State Superintendent.

Y. W. C. T. U.

State Secretary Miss Sears will go to Steuben County, the 10th of June, for two weeks' work among the young people. From there she will go to South Bend, depending upon our Father for strength and health. June 8 will be observed by many of our Y's as Flower Mission day. Keep an accurate account of bouquets given and make our Flower Mission Superintendent, Miss Ethel McWhirter, glad of the work done by our young women. Our ranks are strengthened by the addition of some new Unions—Walcott, Chalmers, Washington and Hammond. There is room for a Y Branch in every W. C. T. U. in the State.

Dr. Cook, physical director of the Y. M. C. A. of Anderson, gave a heart talk to young men on Purity, May 17, and it was so much appreciated that he was requested to repeat it. Mrs. McMahan, a member of the Anderson Y, gave a talk to women and girls and repeated it by request at the County Institute held at Elwood.

Girls, invite your County President to visit your Union and get acquainted with her. She can help you. Mrs. Retta Jones visited Anderson Y, June 3, the Carrie Nation evening, and gave them a very helpful talk.

Now that school has closed, plan your contests and put some money into your treasury for local work. The Secretary has sent out thirty-one report blanks for the third quarter's report. Collect dues, invite visitors, be prompt, study God's word and go often to Him in prayer and the victory is yours.

CLARA M. SEARS,
State Y Secretary.

PRESIDENT'S LETTER.

I have not taken any of the valuable space in the MESSAGE for two months because I thought the Marys would need it all during the institutes; but now as they are about closing, I would like to say to you that I hope every worker feels that she is greatly strengthened by the help of our leaders for the days that are to come, so that for the last quarter of our year's work we may every one try very hard to get some other sister to join our ranks. We need her and she needs to become interested in our great cause. If our dear friends will continue to contribute to our organization fund, as so many have already done, may we not believe that many more will be added to us? Let us avail ourselves of the opportunity to bring our work before the public, especially at prohibition rallies and open-air meetings that will be held during the summer months. I believe the contest is growing in favor with the people. In almost every neighborhood a class could be organized with the children or young people that would be a great benefit, not only to themselves, but also to those who come to hear them speak. Then let every White Ribboner say to herself, "What can I do to arouse the people of my country to the great sin and destruction of the saloon?"

EUNICE P. WILSON.

Will you kindly announce in your State Paper the Temperance Topics for Chautauqua, New York? They are as follows: Tuesday, July 23—"Obstacles to Scientific Temperance Instruction," Mrs. S. M. D. Fry. Wednesday, July 24—"A Model Mothers' Meeting," Mrs. Helen L. Bullock. Thursday, July 25—"School Savings Banks as Character Builders," Mrs. S. L. Oberholtzer. Friday, July 26—"Saloon Revenues, Minus Saloon Damages, Equals What?" Mrs. Carrie L. Grout. The Temperance Topics are under my supervision, but they are a part of the Woman's Club work, the same as Home, Education, Philanthropy, Social Ethics and Missionary Topics. Mrs. B. T. Vincent, Greeley, Col., is President of the Club and has been for many years. I have the honor to be one of the Vice-Presidents. The Club meets every morning from 9 to 10 o'clock in the Hall of Philosophy. We are believing that many W. C. T. U. women will make it convenient to be present on our Temperance days, as July 31 has been selected for our W. C. T. U. Congress at Buffalo and the two can easily be combined. All the papers before the Woman's Club are open to discussion.

SUSANNA M. D. FRY.

The National W. C. T. U. Convention will be held in November at Fort Worth, Texas. Greatly reduced railroad rates will be granted. Now is the time to begin to plan for such a trip. Many will go from Indiana.

QUESTIONS FOR EVANGELISTIC DEPARTMENT.

Are you keeping a careful record of your work? Have you received a copy of the Plan of Work? If not, please let me know and I will see that you have it immediately. I have been unable to reach some of the unorganized counties, as I have no names for reference. I am very anxious that each County and Local Superintendent should have my Plan of Work. It will not be my fault if you do not have it. Have the County Superintendents send to the Locals the copies furnished them? Dear co-workers, your State Superintendent earnestly desires your co-operation. I believe you will not disappoint her. Let us make this the best year in our history. I am expecting to do some work in Benton County in June and could stop, going or coming, for a few days' work.

ELIZABETH M. HAUGHTON.

TO EVERY UNION IN THE STATE.

Mrs. Searles, of Wabash, the State Superintendent of Colored Work, has removed to the West. On this account she resigned her position. I was appointed in her place to fill the unexpired term of a few months and as they are so few, I must speak quickly to all the Unions through our organ, the MESSAGE, instead of taking time and money to write. Take this then as a personal matter, and I would ask the President or Secretary of each Union to read at their next meeting my plan of work, which I give below. Act promptly, do something and then let me hear from you, so the work can be reported at the next State Convention. If you have already been at work along this line, let me hear from you and you will have the credit.

SUSAN W. CLARK.

PLAN OF WORK.

Send to the State Superintendent answers to the following questions:

1. Give number of colored people of your community? 2. Have you held gospel temperance meetings with them? If so, how many? 3. Number of mother's meetings held? 4. Number of children's meetings held? 5. Number of signatures to total abstinence pledge? 6. Number of pages literature distributed? Number of cards given away? 7. Number signatures to the Sunday school? 8. Number of W. C. T. U.'s and L. T. L.'s organized? 9. What is the outlook for work among them? 10. Do they manifest much interest in the temperance work?

Each local Union can see that if they select one or more of these questions as their basis of work, and then do the best they can to carry it out, what a report we can have! Appoint a local superintendent. Where will you begin? Just as near to your home as you can; each individual or union in their own locality. Choose some church or Sunday school; help gather children into it. Try to be there on Temperance Sunday; ask to present some temperance truths, and have literature ready to distribute. A few mothers can be gathered together in a home or a church. This mothers' meeting can be made interesting and very profitable, for the colored people are accustomed to talk in their religious gatherings. A gospel temperance meeting can be held in some of the churches, the ministers aiding by announcing such meetings from the pulpit. This would be a good thing to do, because in this way the men could be reached. And still farther, quarterly mass meetings, arranged with even more care. These can be held in different parts of the city, grouping together several churches in same locality. At each meeting have the pastors of these churches given a place on the program. Have pledge cards for old or young to sign.

Perhaps some will feel inclined to take up the L. T. L. work, which we know is so important. Perhaps you can so interest a band of mothers that eventually you can have a new union to preside over.

Now, dear sisters, I have given my plan, or suggested some work you could do, and I do hope I will not have to say, "The harvest is great but the laborers are few," but that all will do their part, so that in the near future your county can have a good report along this line.

SUSAN H. CLARK,
State Superintendent.

DEPARTMENT OF ORGANIZATION.

How the 1,500 new members are coming in!
Marion County, Riverside Union, organized by Mrs. Luella F. McWhirter.

White County, Monticello Union, by Miss Mary Hadley.

Vigo County, Prairie Union, by Mrs. Ada L. Squires.

Allen County, East Side Union, Fort Wayne, organized by County President Emily McIntosh, Hoagland.

Floyd County, Beulah Union, by Mrs. Dr. Jones, New Albany, County President.

Putnam County, Bainbridge Union, by Miss Hadley, at the close of their Institute.

Bartholomew County, ten new members, the result of Mrs. Brand's visit, with promise of several more.

We wish to call the attention of our County Presidents to this effort for organization and an increase of 1,500 members by September 15. The department of organization will send an organizer to the county that wants one and will get ready for her upon these terms: Make a route for a week; advertise the meetings in all the county newspapers; read written notices from the pulpits; bulletin boards in public places; advertise the worker by the same mediums; advertise the work. Write personal letters to reliable friends and enlist them to help in the work of advertising. If there are special meetings going on anywhere in your county, send a notice of this work with a list of the meetings and a word concerning the worker, to the chairman of the meeting and ask him to read it and urge attendance. Arrange to entertain the speaker. Use all the arts known to secure liberal collections at the meetings and the department will not hold you responsible for any deficit in the finances. Write the chairman of the department of organization at once. First come, first served. Who is the chairman of organization? Mary E. Balch, 711 East 11th Street, Indianapolis. If our members would have a desire to secure one member and work for it, our increase would stir the world. Dear sisters, I have tried it often enough to know it is a task to get one member, but it can be done.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS.

Will you not put forth an earnest effort to bring up the temperance work in the Sunday Schools on our next Temperance Sunday, June 23? This will be the most auspicious Temperance Sunday of the year—except Universal Temperance Sunday—for pronounced and effective work. Lesson text, Rev. 21, 1-7; 22-27. Topic, "A New Heaven and a New Earth." Golden text, "He that overcometh shall inherit all things; and I will be His God, and He shall be My Son."

TEMPERANCE TEACHING POINTS.

1. The liquor traffic is the fruitful source of tears, death, sorrow, crying and pain, from all of which Heaven will be free.
2. There is hope even for the drunkard in the promise, "He that overcometh shall inherit all things."
3. Every righteous ruler of himself will add some brightness to the glory of Heaven.
4. Total abstinence from that which will defile the body is essential in order to the highest moral and spiritual development.

I trust that these points may prove beneficial to many and that you will let me hear from you, the visible results from this day's work.

Last December, Indiana won the banner from the National Department of Sunday School Work, for the greatest increase of Local Superintendents. If you will report faithfully the names of Superintendents appointed this year, there is no doubt but that we may keep this beautiful banner yet another year. Otherwise, we must give it over to another State.

Write to me

ALICE G. GEARY,
State Superintendent.

A HELPER IS NEEDED IN MANILA.

I do not think it would be wise to ask each Union to give toward this fund. It does seem, though, as if it would be an easy matter to raise $1,600 by the following plan: Ask 200 people to give $1 each—$200; 300 people to give 50 cents each—$150; 1,000 people to give 25 cents each—$250; 5,000 people to give 10 cents each—$500; 10,000 people to give 5 cents each—$500. This $1,600 would pay for a helper and a room and also furnish the room. The money must be sent from Local to County, from County to State and from State to National Treasurer, and the National officers should select and have charge of the White Ribboners sent. Many people are fearful about collecting money, thinking perhaps that the soldiers will be returned from Manila, but there are from 40,000 to 46,000 to stay there. Think of it! A standing army of that many being debauched and diseased by their vicious lives in that country! Oh, how much they need the help of a good woman! They are surrounded by a great many bad ones. White Ribboners would be glad to give a nickel at least, and then there would be nothing compulsory. It would be a free-will offering. Please, dear friend, help a little.

ELLA M. THATCHER,
National Superintendent Soldiers and Sailors.

DEPARTMENT CONFERENCE.

The thirty-seven State Superintendents of the Indiana W. C. T. U. are organized into a board, with President, Secretary and Treasurer. The duties of these officers are those usual to the office, and they also serve as program committee for an annual conference.

The third annual conference of this board convened at Columbus, June 4, 5 and 6, and the growth of the work, as was indicated by the attendance and subject-matter given to the people, was most encouraging. The officers of the board were present. They are, Mrs. Ada B. Leck, Indianapolis, President; Mrs. Julia Overman, Marion, Secretary; Mrs. Anna B. Kilmer, Peru, Treasurer. The following members were present: Mesdames Balch, Clark, Boyd, Hadley, Vayhinger, Stahl, Woody, Haughton, Wood, Tompkins and Gresham. Bessie Straw, L. T. L. Associate Secretary, was also present. Mrs. E. D. Hardy sent regrets and a letter approving the continuance of the Board Conference and one dollar for its support. Mrs. Etta Ayers sent a substitute—Mrs. West, of Columbus. Mrs. Moser sent letter of regret and $5 for organization fund. Mrs. Jennie Irwin sent a substitute in the person of Mrs. Frances Metz, of West Indianapolis. Miss Lavina Bailly was represented by Mrs. Jennie Guffy, of Hope; Mrs. Dr. Jessup-Smith by Dr. Homer J. Hall, Franklin, department of Non-Alcoholic Medication; and Miss Ethel Tyree McWhirter by Mrs. Kilmer.

Every department had its literature on the table and a letter or card of regret. No pains had been spared by the local committee to advertise and to entertain and make the delegates welcome. Every Union in the county was represented, Petersburg winning silver medal for the best attendance. There were from twenty to thirty Local and ten County Superintendents in attendance. The following Crusaders were brought to the platform: Julia Overman, Marion; E. A. Haughton, Richmond; Mrs. Kominger, Hope; M. O. Tompkins, Elkhart; Mesdames West, Stucky, Beech, Buxson and McLeod, Columbus; and Mrs. S. M. Stahl, Hartford City. The State workers paid visits to and held services in the jail, city hospital, poor farm, orphans' home, colored church and some Unions. A colored Union was organized and an L. T. L., and nine names taken for a Y. A number of additions to the local Union and a donation of $5 to the Industrial School were secured by one of the solicitors. Subscriptions were taken for the Union Signal and Young Crusader and literature sold and given away. Home-defender badges shone on a number of the ladies' dresses, which means attention to law enforcement. Mrs. Hattie Brand represented the Y Branch, Miss Sears not being present.

The conference members took their dinners on the roof garden of the church, something entirely new and most enjoyable. Miss Boyd gave thirty minutes lessons in physical culture at 8 A. M. and 5 P. M. each day and the pathetic story of Jack the Fisherman, with stereopticon illustrations. Miss Kearney was not able to fill her place on the program and Mrs. E. M. Haughton was chosen to take her place, and she gave the audience a real enthusiastic, stirring, up-to-date address. Bartholomew county gave $6 to the board, and this was a great delight to the Treasurer, who must have the books balance, "no debt" being the white ribbon rule of conduct.

The following is an extract from a letter from one of our Indiana White Ribboners who now lives in Ohio:

"Oh, how I did want to go to the Frankfort convention! I was there in spirit. The Frankfort papers, which I ordered sent to me during the convention, were a great comfort and blessing. I still keep in touch with Indiana and take the MESSAGE. I mean no flattery when I say that I like it much better than I do the Ohio state paper, the Messenger. The latter is larger and contains more printer's ink, but in my opinion it is not nearly so helpful to the rank and file. I also have a copy of Indiana Minutes and have been comparing them with those of Ohio. I have been learning what a difference there is in the work of the two states, and I confess that it surprises me. I consider Indiana's Plan of Work by far the best; but, you know, they haven't any Mrs. Mary Balch here. I always knew that we had a bright and energetic set of women, but now I appreciate them as I never did when I was with them. They don't seem to do much along department lines; they need the Institute work badly. Here, we only have one county meeting a year. Another thing I cannot get accustomed to, is that they have no White Ribbon hymnals. They do not know our special songs, not even 'Some Glad Day.'"

The Indiana W. C. T. U. Convention will be held at Kokomo, October 4-9. On account of the splendid location, the cordial invitation the magnificent church accommodations and the generous hospitality of the Kokomo people, we will no doubt have an enthusiastic convention. Every Union should send delegates.

On Temperance Sunday the ministers should be asked to preach on some phase of temperance. Agitation is absolutely necessary to bring ultimate success. In the Sunday Schools this subject should be presented in an interesting manner. See to it Sunday School workers; consult the superintendent and teachers and arrange for a program.

FRANCES E. WILLARD'S PLEA FOR ORGANIZATION.

Alone, we can do little. Separated, we are the units of weakness; but aggregated, we become batteries of power. Agitate, educate, organize—these are the deathless watchwords of success. The fingers of the hand can do little alone, but correlated into a fist they become formidable. The plank borne here and there by the sport of the wave is an image of imbecility, but frame a thousand planks of heart of oak into a hull, put in your engine with its heart of fire, fit out your ship, and it shall cross at a right angle those same waves to the port it has purposed to attain. We want all those who are like-minded with us to put down the dram-shops, exalt the home, redeem manhood and uplift womanhood, to join hand with us for organized work according to a plan. It took the allied armies to win at Waterloo, and the alcohol Napoleon will capitulate to a no less mighty army.

It is the way commerce has marched across continents and captured them for civilization, one by one; it is the way an army is recruited, one by one; it is the way Christ's Church is built.

Our badge—a bow of white ribbon. Hour of prayer—noontide.

"Tis always noontide somewhere;
And across the shining continents from shore to shore, Somewhere our prayers are rising evermore."
—Adapted from Longfellow.

We are one world of tempted humanity; the mission of the white ribbon woman is to organize the motherhood and maidenhood of the world for the peace and purity, the protection and exaltation of its homes. We must send forth a clear call to our sisters yonder across all seas, and to our brothers none the less. We must no longer be hedged about by the artificial boundaries of states and nations. We must utter as women what good and great men long ago declared as their watchword: "The whole world is my parish, and to do good my religion."—Frances E. Willard.

We have but to stand firm to that which we know is right; to look out and on even when the darkness seems to close around us and, above all, to hold out hands to those whose steps are feebler than our own, whose eyes are dimmed and who have not seen the light.—Lady Henry Somerset.

The White Ribbon Banner, of Connecticut, says: "According to our constitution, the duties of a W. C. T. U. Treasurer are more comprehensive than those of the Treasurers of most other organizations. A Union's President may plan her campaign every so wisely; her Secretaries may record and forward her orders as faithfully and promptly, but unless an energetic Treasurer provides the 'sinews of war' the victory gained will be but doubtful. She must be ever alert to 'devise ways and means to increase the funds in the treasury.' It is not enough that the Treasurer attend the annual and succeeding meetings to receive the fees brought her there. There are many 'shut in' members to be visited. They form no small part of our army. Their prayers supplement our work, or rather, our work supplements their prayers. Then there are the members who forget or are too busy to attend meetings, but are ready to pay if called upon; the members who 'belong to so many societies,' 'don't think it amounts to much,' 'can't attend meetings,' so won't renew. The Treasurer needs to exercise infinite tact to meet all these cases. She must be thoroughly informed, that she may be able to tell of the grand achievements of national and world, as well as state and local workers. She should so speak that not a member will be willing to lose the privilege of sharing in this work. She should never let a name be dropped from her list through her neglect. In large Unions it is advisable to divide this work, each Vice-President or a collector taking the members in her own church. The list of honorary members is too small in all our Unions. A good Treasurer will seek to remedy this. Choose a time when a business man is not hurried and wear your most stylish and becoming street dress, never forgetting the white ribbon. Tell him briefly about home and general work. In all the different lines followed, you cannot fail to find something in which he is interested and you will usually be rewarded by the dollar and his interest in your efforts. If he is not willing to sign the pledge and become an honorary member, he will probably become a 'contributor.' Any sum promised should be faithfully collected.

"Mrs. Fry, in the Union Signal, tells of an instance where five dollars promised annually was only called for once and another five dollars entirely overlooked. A membership receipt book is a great convenience and shows a treasurer to be business like in its use."

Many of our Indiana Treasurers are efficient.

If a treasurer is faithful, the President and other officers should be appreciative and let the burden of advancement lay heavily upon their hearts. When this is done, every Union will become aggressive. Each officer has a special work to do. Each Superintendent has a special work to do. If for any reason any one of these cannot do the work, it is usually best for someone else to be given the work to do. Inactivity of officers and Superintendents indicates lack of interest. By their fruits ye shall know them.

If you are going to move into another part of the State, or elsewhere, be sure and get a new member to fill your place. If a member goes to heaven, her place should be filled by another without delay. We should not have our ranks broken. See to it, sisters, that such may not be the case in your Union.

FOURTH OF JULY.

In every community there is opportunity for a grand temperance Rally on July 4, if plans are arranged in time.

We must not let this National Holiday be entirely given over to the foolish expenditure of time and money. In many places the day is greatly dreaded by the good citizens, because it brings with it the burning of much powder and drinking of great quantities of liquor. This condition must be changed and the temperance people can do it if they will.

We are rejoiced to know of the many Unions that have planned for a grand rally day. In every instance, if a good program is arranged, good musicians engaged and much advertising done for weeks in advance, a large crowd will be in attendance.

To insure success, business men advertise largely. By their experience we must profit and do likewise. Where immense posters for a Fourth of July Rally are seen at the cross-roads and in prominent places in the towns adjoining, a large crowd may be expected.

If your Union is small and you have not engaged speakers and arranged a program, have a picnic, distribute literature and hold a medal contest. Take the older people and the boys and girls to the woods for the day.

The Bay View W. C. T. U. Institute forms a regular part in the Bay View Assembly program this year as usual, the Institute beginning July 17 and continuing until July 27.

Mrs. Helen M. Stoddard, President of the Texas W. C. T. U., is the leader. Her assistants are Mrs. P. J. Howard, of Petosky, Mich.; Mrs. Harriet Kells, President Mississippi W. C. T. U.; Rev. Frances Townsley, Vassar, Mich.; Mrs. Upham, President Wisconsin W. C. T. U.; Mrs. Hattie Brand, State Organizer of Indiana; Mrs. Mary Read Goodale, President Louisiana W. C. T. U.; Dr. Mary Wood-Allen, Ann Arbor, Mich.; Mrs. Hopper, Corresponding Secretary Illinois W. C. T. U.; and Mrs. L. Ormiston Chant, of London, England.

There are special rates to Petosky and Bay View. At no place on the Great Lakes are there to be found so many White-Ribboners.

DEPARTMENT OF ORGANIZATION.

Perhaps there is room for one more last word, for a whole month, on this very important theme. Now when there is so very much to do we need new members. The rum traffic says the Anti-Canteen law must be set aside—the War Department says the same. It will take a hard contested effort to defeat their will in this respect. There are cogent reasons for doubling our membership. How many yet believe that beer is a life-giving beverage? Not only the sot and brewer, but Christian mothers in a gospel home and land—intelligent women with influence, taking the side of beer. There is a call, an urgent call for a beer crusade. Give us the new members and the new workers.

If counties will make a route of a week for an organizer, advertise the meetings, and entertain the speaker and correspond with the Chairman of Organization, we can arrange to have the work done and our 1500 new members secured. "I'll try, did wonders," we have been telling the children, and I believe it is true. Not a moment to lose; not a worker idle; and every one help the organization fund, more or less as they can.

BLANKET REPORT BLANKS.

It comes to our knowledge that some are ignorant of the action of the State to send out the blanket report blanks only once—the last quarter of the year. If every one who should keep a record is doing so, the blank will come on time and we shall have good reports.

Do not order literature of the Corresponding Secretary, but of the Woman's Temperance Publishing Association, The Temple, Chicago, Ill.

FIELD NOTES.

Eaton Union held successful medal contests on March 20, May 13 and June 3, at their Institute, when Mrs. Cammack-Gibson gave her startling address, "Five Boys in Knee Pants."

Y. W. C. T. U. of South Bend is holding a series of Purity Meetings. They have secured a large hall, centrally located, and have the meetings open to the public. These meetings will be addressed by Miss A. E. Hill, one of the city high school teachers; Dr. Martha V. Thomas and Miss Brennen, of the city hospital, all fine purity speakers. Much good will certainly be derived from these meetings. Two of them have been held already and there was an unusually large attendance at each.

The Young Abstinents' Club—local name for the Y—gave a banquet to their new members last Thursday evening. They had a good literary and musical program. As soon as school commencement is over they will give their first medal contest. Leader, Alice Ruth Palmer, 547 N. Hohman street, Hammond, Ind. They meet every Thursday evening and if anything interferes, they choose another evening, but they will meet and they all attend.

Deer Creek (country) is a circulating Union and moves about regularly among the different churches within a radius of ten miles. We have 39 paid-up members and 12 honoraries, and are in a thrifty condition. Our treasury shows $16.00 on hand. We are just now arranging to specialize in our parliamentary department and are soon to have a called meeting for a drill.
MISS ANNA THOMAS, Reporter.

Mrs. Mattie Cammack-Gibson conducted the Fountain County Institute, in Covington, on May 10 and 11. Owing to the house-cleaning, the day sessions were not well attended, but the evening meetings and Sabbath services aroused much interest. Rev. Fowler, of the Presbyterian Church, invited Mrs. Gibson to preach for him on Sunday morning. The contest netted $8.40 and the collections about $5.00.

Jay County Institute was held in the M. E. Church, Pennville, April 4 and 5. Mrs. Haughton was our leader. Mrs. Ada Coleman, of Bryant, our County President, and a large number of members of that Union, two being honoraries, Rev. Coleman and Mr. Logan, attended every session of the convention. Rev. Rusley, pastor of the church, Rev. Charles Underwood, of the Christian Church, and Rev. Canfield, of Indianapolis, were also with us. The topics on program were ably discussed and several interesting papers read. Mrs. Haughton was an able leader and a deep spiritual earnestness pervaded the entire session. The evening session was a medal contest. Miss Pearl Butcher, of Bryant, won the medal. Mrs. Coleman's little daughter sang a solo, "Carrie Nation's Hatchet." Mrs. Maud Hoover ably led the music during every session. Fine life-size portraits of Frances Willard and Mother Wallace adorned the walls. The meeting closed with memorial services for Mother Wallace, led by Sarah Mason. Rev. Canfield and others also offered tributes to her memory. A few days after the close of our Institute, our most able helper, Brother Josiah V. Jones, was called suddenly from work to reward. He had been an honorary member of our Union ever since its organization and to him this meeting owed much of its success. The cause of righteousness and prohibition has lost its most earnest advocate in our community. We pray his mantle may fall on other shoulders.

Wayne County Institute was held May 21 at Richmond. At a previous meeting of the Executive Committee a full program was arranged, which was carried out, all being promptly on hand for their respective duties. The Institute was held in the North End Mission Church, which was built and is controlled by the Mary F. Thomas Union of the city. A good Sabbath School and regular preaching and prayer services are held here and a branch Union and L. T. L. have also been recently organized here. The Sunday School young ladies furnished music on organ and piano, and the L. T. L. for the evening meeting. There were good reports from all the Unions. The County donated $5.00 to Island Park Assembly, though Wayne County is not represented on the program. Mrs. Dr. Hopkins read an excellent paper on "The Significance of Our Badge." Mrs. E. M. Haughton, National Evangelist, conducted the Bible reading. Rev. Kemper, of the M. E. Church, and Rev. Spicer, of the Disciples, made excellent addresses at the evening meeting. The dinner was served in the church. All felt benefited and encouraged by the words of cheer and reports of success.

Mrs. Louisa H. Swartz, President of Nappanee Union, writes: "The entertainments given by the Rev. C. E. Davis, of Marion, were indeed fine. Local Unions would do well to secure him, even if he should charge ten or fifteen dollars a night."

The Frances Willard Y was organized in the Seventeenth Street Church, Indianapolis. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Josie Oakley, 1715 Columbia ave.; Vice-President, Miss Minnie Ebert, 422 W. Washington st.; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Flo. Bush, 2223 Columbia ave.; Recording Secretary, Ora Morris, 1715 Columbia ave.; Miss Mamie Statin, Treasurer, 968 West Washington st.; Superintendent of Departments, Flower Mission Department, Miss Hazel Sparks, 1710 Columbia ave.; Contests, Mr. Wm. Oakley, 1715 Columbia ave.

JULY 4 SHOULD BE OBSERVED BY THE TEMPERANCE PEOPLE EVERYWHERE.

FROM MISS MARY HADLEY.

Reaching Chalmers on Saturday evening, I occupied the Baptist pulpit on Sabbath morning and the M. E. pulpit in the evening, the latter on the urgent request of the minister, who was present. A lovely Y branch of thirteen members was organized with Mrs. Louisa E. Darling, of Chalmers, a consecrated young woman, as the efficient and willing leader.

The W's are justly proud of this most hopeful acquisition and have gone to work at once to help the new branch to grow.

This work, following that of Wolcott, at and following their Institute, causes dear White County to rejoice in the victories she is scoring. Their able County President, Mrs. Etta White, and Local Presidents, Mesdames Wilson and Pettit, are most earnest and sacrificing. I have just reached Monticello. Pray for the work here.

PLAN OF WORK COMMITTEE.

County Presidents—Mrs. Lida Outland, Sycamore; Mrs. Emma Saylor, Frankfort; Mrs. Sadie Eves, North Vernon.

State Superintendents—Mrs. M. A. Tompkins, Elkhart; Mrs. Ada B. Leck, Indianapolis; Mrs. J. R. Wood, Indianapolis.

Organization—Mrs. Mary E. Balch, Indianapolis.

This committee is to prepare the Plan of Work and to put it in print ready to place in the hands of the delegates at our next annual convention, that every one may have time to consider the plan before voting on it.

RESPONSIVE READINGS FOR LOCAL UNIONS.

They are convenient, instructive, up to date, direct in teaching, and it is greatly to be desired that Local Unions have their W. T. P. A. agents order samples of the very latest and try them, and then take a year's subscription, thirteen copies coming to one address for a year for $1. They can be addressed to your President or Secretary, as you choose, and then handed out at your regular meetings, like Sunday School lesson leaves. Having used them in your meetings, they are still good to gather up and hand out.

Dearborn County Institute was held in Dillsboro. Leader, Mrs. Rose Pearce, of Terre Haute. Mrs. Vayhinger, the County President, has an excellent corps of workers, who greatly aided in all the work. Miss Hattie Van Dolah was made Secretary, Miss Grace Pate, Press Reporter and Miss Bertha Stout, Treasurer. The following address on "What Results May We Expect?" by Mrs. Vayhinger, was able, logical and convincing. The local newspapers speak in very commendatory terms of the address. A general discussion followed, by Mrs. Pearce, Mrs. Ella Rose, Mrs. Lucy Smith, Miss Edith Spencer, of Moore's Hill, Mrs. Jennie Ward, of Guilford, Mrs. Emily Walker, Mrs. R. A. Perlee, Mrs. Eva Garrison, Miss Maggie Stout and Mrs. Kate Libbert. "Temperance Literature" by Mrs. Lucy Smith. Rev. C. T. White conducted a spirited song and testimony service, which was inspiring. "Duty of a Treasurer" was earnestly presented by Mrs. R. A. Perlee, the County Treasurer, followed by an animated discussion. "The Cigarette" by Mrs. Stout, was of vital interest. Mrs. Lucy Smith read an interesting paper on "The Drink Evil, Including the Army Canteen," followed by a general applause. Mrs. Cobb, of Aurora, spoke on the same subject and was tendered a vote of thanks. "Laws for Promoting Purity," prepared by Mrs. Virgil Faulkner, was read by Miss Medlin. An excellent paper on "Promoting Equality in Citizenship" was read by Miss Lizzie Perlee, which was one of the leading features of the day. Mrs. Ward spoke on the L. T. L. and was requested by the boys and girls to organize a legion. "Why Should We Wear Our Badges?" by Mrs. Pearce, was followed by discussion. A practical letter on "County Fair Work," from Mrs. Ida Eubank, of Guilford, was read. Mrs. Eubank will distribute temperance literature at the Lawrenceburg Fair. Words of encouragement from Drs. A. G. Miller, J. W. Dashiell, J. A. Sargent, C. T. White and Rev. C. M. Croft were greatly appreciated. "How Can a Temperance Reformation Best be Promoted?" was presented by Miss Grace Pate, and followed by discussion. A parliamentary drill by Mrs. Pearce was greatly enjoyed. "When Does Expediency Become Compromise?" was handled in a masterful manner by Rev. C. T. White. Dr. Dashiell's stirring address on "The Advancement of Woman" was highly appreciated. The helpful words of Rev. Allen Helms and Mrs. Alice Jewett added to the interest of the meeting. The reception was well attended and all enjoyed the talks by Rev. Sylvester and Prof. Vayhinger, and the special music. The Institute is reported in the local papers as a "glorious success, and all who attended were greatly benefited."

A short, but good, session of Institute at Wolcott, County President, Mrs. Etta White, faithfully in charge. Following Institute, on request of the teachers of the public schools, I presented Scientific Temperance to all the grades, then organized a most interesting Y of fifteen members. President, Miss Josephine Miner; Vice-President, Mr. Lowell Taylor; Vice-President, Miss Fae Hackley; Recording Secretary, Miss May Collins; Corresponding Secretary, Bertha Boulder; Treasurer, Miss Maude E. Geiger, all of Wolcott. This hopeful organization includes the high school teacher and two other leading teachers. Work well begun here. Pray for Monticello, where I go soon.

MARY HADLEY.

South Bend has a new L. T. L. under the supervision of the Willard Memorial Y. Miss Mabel Jeffries, Superintendent; Miss Myrtie Huey, assistant.

Madison County Institute—Monday morning, May 5, the Madison County W. C. T. U. Institute was called to order by the Leader, Mrs. Cammack-Gibson. Quite a good number present, considering the rain. The County President, Mrs. Retta Jones, was ready at all times to help and entered into the discussions at 3:45. Pupils of the Elwood High School came in, and Mrs. R. W. McMahan, of Anderson, gave an address on "Social Purity," and the young people said they were helped. In the evening, besides good music, Mrs. Gibson delivered her lecture on "Five Boys in Knee Pants." We wish that parents could be reached by her earnest and helpful words. The papers on "L. T. L. Work," Mrs. Adair; "What is Temperance?" Prof. Fitzgibbons, Superintendent Public Schools—he donned the White Ribbon and became a member; "When Does Expediency Become Compromise?" Rev. Sarah Stoner, of Pendleton; "Woman in the Past Century," Mrs. Edith Cascadend, Lapel, were among the good things. Second evening, a fine contest was conducted by the County Superintendent of Medal Work, Mrs. Carrie Quinn, and one of the best County Institutes was enjoyed. The Y. W. C. T. U. of Anderson will entertain the fall convention.

Mrs. Rose Pearce, of Terre Haute, gave Free Speech at Galena, Floyd County, for the State on Sabbath, May 12, and was well liked. This Union has an L. T. L. of fifteen members.

Union County held its convention May 9. Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley was again chosen President on the informal ballot. Held a contest in the evening, Miss Katie Douglas, of College Corner, Ohio, winning the medal.

Monon Union feel greatly benefited by a visit from Miss Mary Hadley, State and National Superintendent of Institutes, who has been doing excellent work in different parts of White County. While with us, she spoke in the M. E. Church, Sunday morning, May 12, to a fairly good audience, most of whom appreciated it very much. She also presented the subject of "Scientific Temperance" by chart to the pupils of the High School. Her work in that line is excellent and it is a subject that should be presented in that manner in every school in the State.

Fairmount Union is preparing for a Fourth of July celebration at the Wesleyan camp ground. We aim to invite the surrounding Unions and everybody else. We will secure good speakers and expect large results.

Morgan County Institute met at Mooresville April 29 and 30, and each session was very profitable under the leadership of Miss Hattie Brand. A matrons' silver medal contest was held Monday evening, in which three different Unions were represented. Mrs. Mamie Utter, of Martinsville, received the medal. The Y's took charge of Tuesday afternoon's meeting and three excellent papers were read by Y girls. Monrovia invited the County convention the last week in September.

Madison County Institute was held at Elwood, May 27 and 28. Notwithstanding the heavy and continuous rains, it was a successful meeting. Mrs. Mattie Cammack-Gibson led the services in her usual capable manner and delighted the audience with her lecture, "Five Boys in Knee Pants," on Monday evening. Our faithful County President, Mrs. Retta Jones, was on hand. A medal contest was held on Tuesday evening. Madison County Unions are in good condition and all work together harmoniously.

Center Union, Marion County, held a silver medal contest on May 24, with a class of five—four girls and one boy—which was a fine success. Miss Mary Starbuck received the medal. Subject, "The Bridal Wine Cup." Receipts, $6.05.

From a Live Union—It is with pleasure that we publish the names of the following new members of the Converse Union secured during this quarter: Rev. Samuel Trawn, Mrs. Nettie Trawn, Miss Louise Ryder.

Putnam County Institute was held at Bainbridge. A large delegation from Greencastle was in attendance. Leader, Miss Mary Hadley. The welcome address was made by Miss Mary Kough; response by the Leader. Miss Gertrude Bissell, of Greencastle, read an excellent paper on "Woman in the Past Century." Mrs. M. A. Jackson, of Bainbridge, spoke on "God's Plan of Dealing With Evil." Mrs. Thomas Bayne, of Greencastle, read a paper on "Narcotics." A parliamentary drill was much enjoyed. A solo by Miss Gordon and a duet by Miss Gordon and Mr. Black were much appreciated. Miss Mattie Hasleman gave an address on jail work. Mrs. S. B. Jackson gave "A Little Talk for Jesus." "The Supremacy of the Church—What Will It Do With the Saloon?" was discussed by Rev. B. D. Beck. Mrs. L. E. Wilkinson read an original paper on "The Present Status of Woman." "What is Temperance and How Can It Best be Promoted?" was a paper by Rev. Vandament. Rev. Oscar Lane discussed the duty of the citizen and the law-maker in regard to reform laws and their enforcement. A lively discussion followed, participated in by Miss Hadley, Mrs. Sherfey, Mrs. Jackson and Mrs. Webb. The ministers were very helpful. Much interest was manifested and we hope great good will result from the Institute.

North Vernon Union was favored with the company of Mrs. Culla J. Vayhinger on the evening of June 3. She stopped over night on her way to Columbus and addressed an audience composed largely of young people, in the M. E. Church. Her apt illustrations and happy style of speech were enjoyed by all.

The South Bend Y held a very enthusiastic and largely-attended Sabbath Observance meeting at the home of their President, Miss Ina Burton. The devotional exercises were conducted by the County President, Mrs. Kate W. Holler. Subjects discussed were, Sunday Travel, Sunday Newspapers, Sunday Calls and Receptions. A general discussion followed, in which the visitors took an active part. The parliamentary drill was conducted by Mrs. Holler. The Y will hold a medal contest June 10.

Company A, Dearborn Division of Indiana Loyal Temperance Legion, was organized at Wright's Corners, May 26, by Mrs. Jennie Ward, County Branch Secretary of Indiana L. T. L. Names of officers are as follows: Leader, Mrs. Alice Pyles; President, Miss Beulah Kyle; Secretary, Louis Randall; Treasurer, Miss Edna Mendell. Moore's Hill and Dillsboro have both voted for an L. T. L. Our W. C. T. U. has taken up the study of L. T. L. lesson manual.

Milroy held an Apron Bazar and cleared $10 for Hadley School. Sent the money and two dollars' worth of unsold aprons. The State Superintendent does not give second prizes in medal work. It is the Union that does it.

Now is the time for the W. C. T. U. to urge the town boards to have wells dug in prominent places so that during the hot days of July and August, thirsty people may have good cold water to drink.

If you are a Local or County Superintendent of a department, you should read the report of your department for last year in the Annual Report. Borrow a copy of your President—or better still, send 15 cents in postage to Mrs. M. E. Balch, 711 East Eleventh street for a copy for yourself. Superintendents cannot afford to be satisfied with little effort made. The need is great and requires the efforts of consecrated women who have conviction. If Jennie Caseday could accomplish so much, confined to a sick-bed for so many years, what might you do with health and innumerable other blessings? God help you to be found doing something for temperance every day.

Wear your White Ribbon on all summer gowns. Traveling and at hotels it will bring to you congenial people. It will preach little sermons far more eloquently in its purity and silence perhaps than you can now fully appreciate.

The printed Annual Programs of some of the W. C. T. Unions are very beautiful this year. In publishing the State Reports the faces of many of the State Superintendents were used. The cuts then used are still good and no doubt would be loaned to Unions desiring to use one or more on the next year's program.

Home Defender, of Chicago, says: "There seems to be an intense hatred against temperance and its promoters, even in church circles. Dr. Swallow, editor of an independent paper and manager of the Methodist book rooms at Harrisburg, Pa., recently attacked ministers and the Methodist Church in general for its laxity in regard to the liquor question, and in consequence we understand church and Sunday School workers have gone so far as to boycott his paper and his church material. If this is the case we think the matter has been allowed to run too long, and the time is ripe for church workers who are in sympathy with Dr. Swallow to come forward and make his sales better than before."

As to what the National Union has done for the Prohibition party, Miss Willard said: "We have simply let it be known to the whole world that we have discovered that the saloon is entrenched in politics, even more firmly than in law and that our sympathies, appreciation and gratitude must necessarily go with the voters who carry this issue straight to the caucus, the convention, and the ballot box, voting only for men who are pledged to give us prohibition."

Mr. Robt. Leck, the husband of our State Superintendent of Fairs and Outdoor Meetings, met with a very painful accident recently. In an effort to stop his runaway team he received serious injuries, from which he is slowly recovering.

Mrs. Carrie Quinn, Madison County Medal Contest Superintendent, recently held a contest at Elwood. The contestants were Medda Shores, Carrie Bockover, Georgia Woods, Lizzie Lloyd and Gladys Drake. The medal was won by Georgia Woods. Despite the rainy weather, the receipts were $6.60. A Musicale and Oratorical Contest is being planned for the near future.

IN MEMORIAM.

AMBOY W. C. T. U.

WHEREAS, Our Heavenly Father in His providence has seen fit to remove from our midst one who has been a member of our Union from its first organization, Elizabeth E. Iamb, be it

Resolved, That while we deeply feel the loss of our sister, whose life has instilled within it the principles of virtue and truth, a mother and wife of unselfish love, we render unto Him, the Great Healer of broken hearts, praise and adoration for such a noble life.

Resolved, That we tender our heart-felt sympathy to those near and dear to her, in their great sorrow. We recommend them to the Father of Love, who doeth all things well.

THE MESSAGE.

"Not by Might nor by Power, but by My Spirit."

VOL. V. No. 7.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., JULY, 1901.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR.

WHAT IS A FRIEND?

A safe in which one can trust everything.
A link in life's long chain that bears the greatest strain.
A star of hope in the clouds of adversity.
One who understands our silence.
A jewel whose luster the strong acids of poverty and disaster cannot dim.
The jewel that shines brightest in the darkness.
Friendship is one soul in two bodies; the essence of pure devotion.

"Friend is a word of royal tone.
Friend is a poem all alone."

—Mispah.

JULY 21, PICNIC DAY.

Birthday of Anna Gordon, our World's Secretary of the Loyal Temperance Legion.

AUG. 6, LITERATURE AND FRANCHISE DAY.

The birthday of Mrs. Zerelda G. Wallace, Indiana's first President. Observed by special efforts to extend the circulation of leading reform papers, especially the MESSAGE, the Union Signal, Woman's Journal, the New Voice and the Patriot-Phalanx.

The Indiana W. C. T. U. was organized September 3, 1874, at Indianapolis, with Mrs. Zerelda G. Wallace as President. There have been during these years but eight Presidents, as follows: Mrs. Zerelda G. Wallace, seven years; Mrs. R. T. Brown, two years; Mrs. M. L. Wells, two years; Mrs. Josephine R. Nichols, six years; Mrs. Mary E. Haggart, one year; Mrs. Lena M. Beck, four years; Mrs. Luella F. McWhirter, four years; Mrs. Eunice P. Wilson, elected at the last convention. Mrs. Wallace and Mrs. Brown were both called to their eternal rest during this year. Mrs. Nichols left us in 1897. Mrs. Haggart is living in Pennsylvania, Mrs. Wells in Tennessee. The others are still actively interested in the Indiana W. C. T. U.

Y. W. C. T. U. COLUMN.

Miss Sears has returned from a three weeks effort for the building up of organizations and to organize new Unions; going to Steuben County, where the faithful County President, Mrs. Alma Shaw, had the plans laid for work, and with her help organized a W. C. T. U. at Orland and Salem. At Pleasant Lake Miss Sears organized a W. Y. C. T. U. with six members, Miss Nellie Kendel, President. At Ashley a Y. W. C. T. U. of eleven members was secured, Miss Reba Cahow, President. Twenty-eight public meetings were held, forty active and honorary members secured, and thirty-two signatures to the pledge.

The Secretary had the pleasure of spending one afternoon and night in the home of the Secretary of the Goshen Y. W. C. T. U., Mrs. Amanda Kauffman. The Y's are faithful and were preparing for an entertainment, the "Old Maid's Convention," for funds for the Y Reading Rooms, and believe the entertainment would attract the citizens and trust they realized a good sum for their work.

July 25th was the date for South Bend, and there, too, the work was all planned; advertised as only the temperance people can. On Friday evening the Y's held a reception in the Progress Club rooms, to which the young people had been invited. Music, recitations and refreshments, and a talk by Miss Sears, presenting the Pledge. Ten new members were secured by the efforts of those faithful workers, and we pray Father bless and prosper all their efforts to put down the liquor traffic.

Blanks for the 3d quarter have been filled by the following Unions and returned to me: Goodland, Goshen, South Bend, Martinsville, Anderson, Peru; only six out of thirty-four blanks. I call your attention to the condition and ask that your Corresponding Secretaries be prompt, for the next blank will be the Annual Report Blank, and collect dues and secure as many new members as possible. Again I urge all to activity. Let the last quarter be the best.

CLARA M. SEARS,
State Y Secretary.

WHITE RIBBON SPECIAL TO FT. WORTH.

The National W. C. T. U. convention will be held at Ft. Worth, Texas, Nov. 15-20. Greatly reduced rates will be granted by the railroads.

By special arrangement the Indiana delegates and visitors will go through in a special coach from Indianapolis to Ft. Worth without change.

The routes selected are the Big Four from Indianapolis to St. Louis; the St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern and Texas & Pacific from St. Louis to Ft. Worth. The distance from St. Louis to Ft. Worth is seven hundred and forty-three miles. The route passes through Little Rock, the capitol of Arkansas; Malvern, which is located twenty-two miles east of Hot Springs; Texarkana, Marshall, Longview, Minneola and Dallas, Texas.

Now is the time to begin to plan for the going to Ft. Worth. We would especially urge parents to take their boys and girls. By travel, much of a liberal education is gained. Ten days of travel and attendance upon a great National Convention of Reform Forces, will wonderfully stir the hearts of the youth.

Those desiring information in regard to this great trip to the Lone Star State, apply to Mrs. Luella F. McWhirter, 2312 College avenue, Indianapolis.

W. C. T. U. COTTAGE, ISLAND PARK, ROME CITY, INDIANA.

White Ribboners, I take pleasure in giving you the picture of our home at Island Park; and in justice to the management there I want to tell you that they are appreciative of our cause and generously help support it. In return, will you plan to visit there on program days (Aug 5 and 6) and longer if possible? If you have not received a copy of the program, write to J. F. Snyder, LaGrange, Ind., for the June Chautauquan. You had better plan to spend the three weeks there from July 24 to August 15. Write to the President of the Assembly W. C. T. U. for particulars.

MARY E. BALCH.

PRESIDENT'S LETTER.

Dear Sisters and Comrades—It takes a great deal more energy to be a faithful white ribboner when the mercury in the thermometer is dancing about the one hundred mark than when the weather is pleasant and everybody is enthusiastic over some victory won. But what about the enemy we are pledged to fight? Do the saloons ever take a vacation or go to the mountains for the summer months? Do they lock up shop when the air is chilly with December frost? Oh, no. If the deadly work of the legalized saloon stopped but for a day some mother's boy might possibly be saved. Fewer dimes would be taken from the drunkard's starving family for the pockets of those who "putteth the bottle to his neighbor's lips." His business must, therefore, go steadily on. Even while you and me are taking our rest in sleep, thousands of these death traps are running wide open. We should not leave anything undone that would in the least thwart the purposes of those who seek the ruin of others that they may gain. Please do not allow any trivial excuse to keep you from the regular meeting of your local Union. We are making our record on the last quarter of the year now, when so much depends upon the officers of every local Union in the State to gather items of interest. Report all work done. Collect every dollar of membership dues, so that our Secretary and Treasurer can (as our baby often says) "have something nice to tell you" at our coming State Convention at Kokomo.

EUNICE P. WILSON.

PEACE CONGRESS.

"The Peace Congress of all Nations" is the title of a novel and instructive entertainment given recently in Indianapolis under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. and the Young Peoples' Society of the First Friends church, both of which organizations are in favor of Peace and Arbitration, as opposed to war. The church was decorated with the flags of all nations, most prominent among which was a large peace flag. The members of the congress were represented by the following well known people in costume:

Czar of Russia, Thos. Hessong; Aginaldo, Wm. Lacy; Emperor of China, Edward W. Clark; Emperor of Japan, B. F. Watson; Sultan of Turkey, Dr. C. E. Day; Pope Leo, G. E. Brewer; King of England, Orvil Jones; Queen of Holland, Maud Baker; Queen Regent of Spain, Clara Balch; President McKinley, F. T. McWhirter; Paul Kruger, W. P. Socwell; President of France, Chas. Ragan; Emperor William, Wilson Doan.

Mr. F. T. McWhirter, as President McKinley, presided with dignity. As he introduced the characters Mrs. Hattie W. Brand played the national air of the country being represented.

After a motion in favor of disarmament was made by the Czar of Russia and seconded by the President of France, each member presented arguments in favor of or against the motion. Much valuable information concerning general conditions was given, but the consensus of opinion was in favor of peace.

It was difficult to tell whose speech was most enjoyed, but those of Paul Kruger, Aginaldo and the Emperor of Germany were greatly appreciated. The Emperor of Germany cast the only opposing vote, declaring that the strength of his army kept Europe at peace.

At the close, Miss Lavinia Baily, Secretary of the Peace Association of America, made a short address in which she expressed the wish that other organizations might bring the question before the public in this delightful way.

This entertainment was due to the effort of Mrs. Amanda T. Whitson and Mrs. Hattie W. Brand. The Y. P. S. C. E. received a per cent of tickets sold and the profits to the W. C. T. U. were placed in our State treasury.

[This entertainment will be given, by request, at several places later in the season, the profits to be divided between the Local Union and the State Treasury.—Ed.]

TO THE MEMBERSHIP.

All members of a Local Union who will answer at least 50 per cent of the questions on the MESSAGE, the Annual Minutes, the Union Signal and the Annual Leaflet, and a few leading questions as to what our temperance education law requires and what can be done to secure the best enforcement of it, also similar questions pertaining to our anti-narcotic law, shall have their names printed in our Annual Minutes for 1901. Examination papers to be sent to the Recording Secretary, who will prepare the list and report the same to the convention and publish in the Minutes. This will necessitate the careful reading and study of these documents. List of questions to be published in the MESSAGE. Do not wait to begin the reading and study until the questions are given—that is not necessary.

I must call your attention to the above. The year is passing by so rapidly. In the April MESSAGE a list of the questions were published. In making your answers number them to correspond with the questions; don't fail to do this. Send your answers to Rev. Cammack Gibson, Jonesboro, and send by September 1. This is the last call. It will not be spoken of again in the MESSAGE. You need a copy of the Plan of Work or you will lose some premium your Union might win. Send your order for Plan of Work to Mary E. Balch, 711 E. 11th St., Indianapolis. Let us do our best.

SIX PAPERS OF NOTE.

No. 1. "Bible Proof for Teaching Abstinence." Chairman of committee, Mrs. Nellie Virtue Chambers, Westphalia.

No. 2. "Great People Who Were Abstainers." Chairman, Mrs. E. D. Hardy, Goodland.

No. 3. "Startling Incidents of the Evil Effects of Social Drinking." Chairman, Mrs. Laura M. Thompson, Greensburg.

No. 4. "The Victories in 1900 in Our Reform." Chairman, Mrs. J. K. Carpenter, 152 East Berry street, Fort Wayne.

No. 5. An L. T. L. story of 1,500 words. Chairman, Mrs. Hattie Brand, 1403 Ash street, Indianapolis.

No. 6. "Personal Reminiscences in W. C. T. U. Service." Chairman, Mrs. Sophia Toner, Martinsville.

These papers not to be over ten minutes long, to be written by any White Ribboner and to be in the hands of the Chairmen by August 15, sending stamps for return postage. The Chairmen will select two others and judge of the merits of the papers received, notifying the Corresponding Secretary of the number of papers prepared and sending subject and name and address of writer of the paper considered to be the best, by August 25. The chosen papers to have a place on the State program.

White Ribboners, have you been so busy that you almost forgot these papers of note? Have you a copy of the Plan of Work? If not, will you write me for one at once, if you need it in rounding out the year's work? Please consider, these papers must be in the Chairmen's hands by August 15. We must have a hearty response to this call; it means so much for the added intelligence of our workers. MARY E. BALCH.

The following is quoted from an article urging united effort in regard to the treatment of the flag and indicates the estimate of the power of the W. C. T. U.:

"The Daughters of the American Revolution with organizations in nearly every State in the Union, can draw a lesson from the success of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, which recently stirred public sentiment throughout the country—influenced votes at the poles—made Representatives drop political buncombe, and compelled Congress to pass, by a large majority, the army canteen bill."

JULY, 1901.

Dr. R. E. Pretlow, of Danville, preached an able and convincing temperance sermon on April 28, at the Friends' Quarterly Meeting at Paoli, Orange County, the result of which has been the closing of two saloons and the shaking of the foundation of a third. What a power the united efforts of the ministry would be if arrayed in open hostility to the saloon business in every community! Extermination would soon follow.

Mrs. Helen M. Stoddard, President of the Texas W. C. T. U., visited her niece, Mrs. Prof. Masters, in Thorntown, en route to Bay View, Mich., where she is the popular leader of the W. C. T. U. Institute, which opens July 17 and continues until July 27.

The rum power is entrenched in custom, hence we must follow it into society; it shields itself behind false theories of science, hence we must follow it into the schools; it is hedged about by the safeguards of law, hence we must follow it into government; but law is based on majorities, hence we must swell the majority who, in the nature of the case, will vote for prohibition, and that means the women-folks.—Frances E. Willard.

A PATRIOTIC FOURTH.

On the Fourth of July there were about sixty places in Indiana where temperance rallies were held. Some of these were largely attended and addresses, excellent music and oratorical contests were the order of the day.

Every true patriot realizes that the time has come when America must not depend upon the victories of the glorious past, but must seriously consider the present and the future. There is indeed little that she has to fear from a foreign enemy, but much from an internal foe. To-day the stars and stripes float over legalized saloons. By the sanction of law the liquor traffic is granted the privilege of dealing out liquid destruction to the bravest, fairest and best young people of which a nation ever could boast. In every place where a rally or outing was held this year, begin now to plan for another next year. We must work if we expect success.

Certainly the more than sixty meetings in our beloved State, conducted by W. C. T. U. Unions and Prohibition leaders, will bear much fruitage for the cause of temperance and the overthrow of the legalized saloon. The day for oratory as a power for moulding and stimulating public opinion is dawning. Before very long the platform, in its advocacy of human liberation from the bondage of rum and of patriotic restoration of the people's opportunities as against the usurpation of spoilsmen and professional politicians, will rise to such eloquence as has not been witnessed since the days of Clay, Phillips, Sumner and Garrison.

CANTEEN.

In the present agitation of the canteen question these facts should be kept prominently before the public: (1) that seventy-five per cent. of our army are new recruits—mere boys—not "old soaks" who "will drink at any cost;" (2) that eighty-five per cent of our soldiers are in tropics, where intoxicants are doubly deadly; (3) that eighty-five per cent are stationed where the war department controls the outside saloons, from which the canteens are falsely supposed to wean the soldiers.

Even if it could be proved that drunkenness and rioting had increased since the abolition of the canteen, it would not change the principle which is the basis for such abolition. There are no conditions which can make it wise or right for the government to sell liquor to its soldiers. The strongest argument of the friends of the canteen is the existence of the "outside saloon." If those who are clamoring for the restoration of the canteen are honestly and conscientiously aiming to secure the highest welfare and greatest efficiency of the soldier, they will work to abolish the outside saloon, if not from the entire country, at least from the vicinity of the military forts. The remedy for "increased drunkenness" is not the removal of restrictions within the post, but the placing of more restrictions outside; not the opening of more places of temptation, but the closing of those which are universally admitted to be a menace to army morality and discipline.—Union Signal.

MICHIGAN.

The W. C. T. U. State Convention was held at Marshall. The old officers were re-elected, viz: President, Mrs. A. S. Benjamin, Portland; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Julia R. Parish, Bay City; Recording Secretary, Mrs. C. H. Johnson, Flint; Treasurer, Mrs. Stella B. Roben, Big Rapids.

From the State Treasurer's report we glean: Receipts from dues, $2,000; miscellaneous receipts, $500; twentieth century thank-offering, $54; miscellaneous offerings, $87; total receipts, including balance on hand, $4,572.87. Expenses for various purposes, $2,089.09, leaving a net balance of $2,483.87. This is an increase of $600 over the previous year. In the State there are 350 unions, with a paid membership of 7,965, a net increase of 225 over last year.

HADLEY INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

The past two months have been busy ones at the home. The spring was cold and wet and the entire work of planting, both farm and garden crops, was crowded into the month of May. Our plans for garden have enlarged with the increase of numbers in the school. Instead of planting patches, we have planted acres to garden products. The wheat and hay harvest is near at hand and give promise of fair returns. The strawberry crop was fine and greatly enjoyed by all and put a neat sum in the emergency fund. The picnic of June 7, was a success. A special coach was provided by the railroad officials and left on the track near the grounds for the day, for the accommodation of the picnickers. Nearly seventy persons went down from the city and many neighbors and friends came in to enjoy the day and eat strawberries and cream which were furnished by the home. Many of our State workers were in attendance and gave encouragement by their presence and words of sympathy and appreciation.

Two contests were held during the day by the girls of the home—the small girls in the morning and the larger ones in the afternoon. This was followed by a stirring speech from Mrs. McWhirter, after which a collection was taken. The amount received was sufficient to provide the library with a table and couch and pay for papering the girls' sitting room.

We have just secured a victory in the matter of our day school. Our home now constitutes one of the school districts of the township and from now on will receive its full share of the public money to support its day school in the home. This is a great step in advance. It has been our practice in the day school to follow the State outline of school work, but having no public funds, did not require our teacher to hold a county license. From this on she must hold a license granted by Hendricks County Superintendent and be subject to the rules governing the public school teachers. The township trustee kindly allows us to make choice of the person who is to teach and lead our girls.

The leading citizens of this vicinity are lending their influence in the matter of securing donations of wheat to be placed in the flouring mills to the credit of the Hadley School to be drawn in flour as needed. We feel greatly encouraged by this unexpected help and thankful to these good citizens for so much of the "staff of life."

The aim of this school is to give the girls a chance to become self supporting and useful members of society. The nearer it reaches this goal the greater its claim on the benevolence of its friends.

L. HOBART.

MARY E. TEATS.

In our State for Purity work. She will begin at Hoagland, August 11, coming to us on the 10th. Her terms are $5, entertainment and expenses one way from the last place. Please write at once and secure your date, with some advertising matter which Mrs. Teats furnishes. If you will arrange for an afternoon parlor meeting, let it be a reception; and then in the public night meeting you will surely be blest in her coming. Mrs. Mary E. Teats, Evangelist of the Purity Department, National W. C. T. U., is a consecrated Christian woman. Her coming is a blessing to any community. I commend her, not only to the W. C. T. U. workers, but to pastors and educators generally.

MARY WOOD-ALLEN, M. D.,
National Superintendent Purity Department.

MRS. ELIZABETH M. HAUGHTON, State Evangelist,
Richmond, Ind.

The Mary F. Thomas Union, of Richmond, held the second annual Mothers' Meeting at the North End Mission, June 28, under the care of Mrs. S. Childress, Superintendent of that department. A good attendance, especially of young mothers with their babies. After the exercises, refreshments of ice cream and cake were served to all present.

Edwardsport had six new members added during their Institute.

Bloomington W. C. T. U. is responsible for a curfew law, which it is now anxious to have enforced. Wherever there is such a non-enforced law, our Unions should agitate and agitate until enforcement is assured.

Mrs. Cammack-Gibson spoke at Cedar, in Randolph County, June 14, the first day of the three days' meeting held at that place every year under the management of Mr. John Lamb.

The Greensburg W. C. T. U. entertained the public in the Court House Park, the Fourth, with a class of three young ladies and as many young gentlemen to contest for an oratorical medal. Cream, cake and lemonade were served. Flags, banners, bunting, galore. A large attendance.

 Ripley County, Loeb Springs: President, Mrs. Sadie E. Williams; Secretary, Mrs. Rosa French; Treasurer, Sarah L. Williams; W. T. P. A. Agent, Mrs. Amanda Tucker.
 Floyd County, Greenville: President, Mrs. Ora Davis; Secretary, Miss Onie Davis; Treasurer, Mrs. Hope Main.

No, you cannot organize a Union. I feel sure you could get a new member. There are more than enough women in the old Unions who could get one new member to make the 1,500. Will you try, in Jesus' name?

PRESS.

Are you working with a will and determination? Are you getting to the people through the press every line of our work as much and as often as you can? Are you clipping every line of it and pasting on muslin to send to Kokomo in October? If not, I urge you to action, that Indiana may continue in the lead. You will receive the report blanks by last week in August, so your reports can all be in by September 15.

MRS. MAY MOSER,
 State Superintendent.

SCHOOL SAVINGS BANKS.

The following is the list of questions to be answered for the yearly report of the Department of School Saving Banks:

1. Have you a County Superintendent? Her name and address.
  2. How many pages of literature have you distributed?
  3. To how many public schools have you recommended the School Saving Banks teaching?
  4. At how many public meetings have you spoken and on what subjects?
  5. How many articles have you written for newspapers on the subject?
  6. In how many schools of the county is the S. S. B. system used?
  7. Can you give a little more time to this great branch of W. C. T. U. work, which develops self-responsibility, fosters good habits and decreases crime and drunkenness, next year that you have done this?
- I have given out more than 1,000 pages of literature and have only heard of four Superintendents appointed. Dear workers, will you not appoint a Superintendent and send for literature and push this great branch of work?

CULLA J. VAYHINGER.

DEAR LITERATURE SUPERINTENDENTS—The year is fast drawing to a close and we must keep at work earnestly, that at the close of the year "We may come rejoicing, bringing in the sheaves." We desire to make this the best year we have ever had. In order to accomplish anything definite we must work earnestly all along the line. You will remember that in the circular I sent out I recommended that bound copies of temperance books be placed in school libraries. I now make the following offer: To the Superintendent placing the greatest number of volumes of bound books on some phase of the liquor question in school libraries, I will give a cloth-bound copy of The Daughter of a Republican. Dear sisters, let us be in earnest along this line, for if we can get the school children thoroughly aroused on this question we will have accomplished a great deal along the line of banishing the saloon from our midst. I trust that at the close of the year I may have a good report from each of you. Please report number of pages in volumes placed in school libraries.

ETTA AYRES,
 State Superintendent.

Miss Belle Kearney will give us a few dates in September and October. Write at once and secure this wonderful orator.

FIELD NOTES.

South Bend Y's, assisted by Miss Clara Sears, State Y Secretary, held a series of public temperance meetings in different parts of the city, beginning June 25 and closing July 1. Considering the very warm weather, the attendance was good and many new members were added to the roll. On Friday evening, June 28, a public reception was given in the Progress Club Rooms, to which all the young people of the city were invited. Many responded and a pleasant evening was spent. On Sunday afternoon, June 30, a mass meeting was held in the First Christian Church. At this meeting the different young people's societies of the churches were asked to report what they are doing for temperance and reform work. Seven responded, each society being allowed five minutes on the program. Miss Sears gave an excellent address, full of good thoughts and suggestions on the needs and work of the Y's. Monday evening, July 1, the last of the series, was a patriotic meeting, held at the home of Miss Myrtle Huey, the principal thought being "Women as Patriots." Solos, addresses and patriotic games were the features, making an enjoyable as well as a helpful meeting. The outcome of these meetings must be an advance in the temperance work, and all feel gratified with the results.

Mrs. Cammack-Gibson held her last Institute in June in Howard County, and organized an L. T. L. at Sycamore.

Miss Mary Hadley, State and National Superintendent of Institutes, writes: "The prolonged Institute season has prevented the Committee on County Roster from doing their work as early as they otherwise might have done it. But the beautifully prepared Registers have been a continued delight as they have come in one by one. The readers of the MESSAGE will be favored later to know who is best among those who have so ably registered the working forces of their respective counties."

Rev. C. E. Davis, of Marion, gave two most excellent illustrated lectures at Jonesboro under the supervision of Mrs. Cammack-Gibson. The first evening, a free offering was taken and a 5 and 10 cents admission fee charged on the second evening. "The Home Versus the Saloon," "The State Versus the Saloon," are the subjects of these lectures. The illustrations upon the canvas hold the eye while Brother Davis pours the truth into the ears. Unions would do the cause great good by having these lectures given to the public.

Grant County is holding a great many contests. Shouldn't wonder if she carried off all the prizes.

East LaFayette Union has an L. T. L. of thirty members.

Decatur County furnished two of the grand gold contestants for Broad Ripple the Fourth of July—Grace Dickey and Flora Duncan. Flower Mission Day was observed by the W. C. T. U. holding their annual meeting at the Poor Farm, five miles north. Gospel service in the grove, after which the inmates were invited to the dining room, where ice cream, cake, bananas and flowers were served to all. The crowd was estimated at 300.

Among the many successful fourth of July meetings was one held at Connersville in the beautiful grounds formerly owned by Ex-U. S. Treasurer Houston. The patriotic address was delivered by Hon. F. T. McWhirter, in which the necessity of legal prohibition was especially emphasized. Rev. Slutz followed, pointing out the danger of pernicious seed sowing.

Marion County, at Broad Ripple, held a grand Fourth and the address of Quincy Lee Morrow was a powerful, convincing effort. The entire program a real success. The W. C. T. U. grand gold contest in the morning, with a class of six young ladies, was most excellent. Miss Lena Belle Baker, Indianapolis, won the medal and becomes a member of Island Park class.

During one of the recent storms lightning struck the home of our own Laura M. Thompson, at Greensburg, three miles out. It took fire, but was easily extinguished. But a stock barn nearby shared the same fate and went up in smoke, but the stock were all rescued. We are making arrangements for a week's work in our county by Mrs. Hattie Brand, of Indianapolis.

Loogootee—On Flower Mission Day (Sunday, June 9) the Martin County W. C. T. U. visited the county poor farm, together with a large number of other citizens. They took flowers and presents to all the inmates and the ladies held the mission services, assisted by the Christian minister from Shoals. The services were held in a beautiful maple grove near the home, where the superintendent of the poor farm had provided seats for the occasion.

By far the greatest temperance rally ever held in Marion county was that held on July 4th at Broad Ripple Park under the auspices of the Prohibitionists and the W. C. T. U. In the morning a grand Gold Medal contest was held by Miss Maud Baker, county superintendent of the Contest Department. The orators of the day were Hon. Quincy Lee Morrow and Rev. J. S. Sproule.

Prof. John B. DeMotte will give one of his famous stereopticon lectures at our State convention at Kokomo.

The Indiana State Convention will be held at Kokomo, October 4 to 7. Every Union should plan to send its full quota of delegates—the president, one delegate-at-large and one for every twenty paid members. To how many delegates will your Union be entitled? Yes, I know that will largely depend upon how persistent the Treasurer is in collecting dues. If your dues are not paid, please call on the Treasurer and pay them now.

Miami County, at Amboy, held a rousing Fourth. Mr. Ed. Warne won the grand gold medal, and will go to Island Park August 6 for diamond medal.

I think the MESSAGE gets better every month and I am so glad it has been managed so that every member gets it. Say, dear sisters, I think our organization the best and most far-reaching of any organized body in the world. No wonder, though, with such a spiritual leader as we had for so many years. May the MESSAGE prosper and the work expand, is the prayer of your sister in white ribbon bonds.

MRS. E. W. CANNON.

Island Park Assembly Management has not only been kind, courteous, considerate and cordial to the W. C. T. U., but has been most wonderfully co-operative and magnanimous. Everybody interested in temperance, and especially in the W. C. T. U., ought to go to Island Park for August 5 and 6, W. C. T. U. days. Be sure to go and take the young people. The Assembly program is exceptionally fine this year. The Kaffir Boy Choir will be there again this year. To hear those South African boys is well worth your going. They are little fellows brought by Christian missionaries from Heathen Africa, several of whom know only the Kaffir language, but whose musical notes are so rare, so sweet, that they thrill the hearts of all hearers. Be sure and attend the Assembly at Island Park.

The following is the list of Life Members in the Indiana W. C. T. U., each representing the payment of $25 for an organization fund: Mrs. Addison Hadley, Mrs. Martha Hadley, Mrs. M. E. Sherritt, Mrs. R. C. Travis, Mrs. Mattie Cammack-Gibson, Miss Mary Hadley, Mrs. Amanda T. Whitson, Mrs. Mary E. Balch, Mrs. Margaret Ross, Mrs. Malinda Ridgeway, Mrs. Luella F. McWhirter.

At next meeting of your Union ask your Treasurer if as many members have paid dues during the first three quarters of this year as paid during the same time last year. If for any reason there are less, will you please consider what that would mean if all Unions were in the same condition? Please urge the payment of dues and seek new members. We need the influence and efforts of a few more women in every community. Will you seek one more? God help you to try.

Delaware County Institute was held at Eaton, May 31 and June 1, in the new First Christian Church. The attendance was not as large as was anticipated, but the enthusiasm of the speakers, the lessons, the drills, etc., made up for the lack in attendance. With Mrs. Cammack-Gibson as leader, the meeting could not be anything but a success. Rev. Aspy, of the Christian Church, and Rev. McNary, of the Methodist Church, were present at most of the sessions and gave some excellent talks on the different subjects. The medal contest was a success in every respect. Six young ladies recited, but only four were eligible for the medal. This was awarded by the judges to Mrs. Mabel Ryan Babb. The music was furnished by the Eaton Quartette, a solo by Miss Bessie Barley and a solo, "Mother's White Ribbon," by Miss Virgie Vineyard. Miss Dessie Shidler gave a recitation and little Miss Lois Shaffer, of Selma, won the hearts of the audience, by the recitation she gave from "Josiah Allen's Wife." Mrs. Gibson's lecture, "Five Boys in Knee Pants," was given in the Methodist Church to a large and appreciative audience. A vote of thanks was tendered to the trustees of the Christian Church for the use of their beautiful new house of worship, to the Eaton Quartette and others for the music, and to the ladies who decorated the church with flowers, flags and bunting, and with the beautiful picture of our dear Miss Frances Willard. Four boys from the L. T. L. deserve special mention, as they were present early and late acting as pages.

All the Unions of Clinton County observed Flower Mission Day, and hundreds of sad hearts were cheered. The Y's had charge of the services at Sedalia.

Frankfort Union met at Willard Hall and arranged for Flower Mission Day. Flowers were sent to the sick and aged. We also sent flowers to the hospital and services were held at the jail and county house. Rev. Frank Mikels assisted in the services, which was very greatly appreciated. The inmates took part in the singing and testimonials. The Superintendent of the County Infirmary is opposed to religious services and opposed our coming, but our Flower Mission Superintendent, Mrs. Lizzie Dwyer, insisted that we were coming despite his objections.

Muncie Union observed Flower Mission Day. Bouquets were sent to the jail and to the sick.

Converse Union is much alive. They stopped Sunday base ball and kept one man from getting a saloon license. They deserve much credit.

On June 4 the three Unions of Allen County united in holding a picnic at Swinny Park, Fort Wayne. The Flower Mission program in the afternoon added much to the interest. Following it, short addresses were made by the County President, Mrs. Emily McIntosh, and several ministers. Flowers were distributed on June 9. On July 4 the Allen County President distributed much literature at a church picnic. This constant agitation is what counts.

Peru L. T. L. is holding its meetings this summer in the open air. The woods along the river are so cool and pleasant. We had an L. T. L. picnic last Thursday; had our lessons also. The children were delighted. Peru Y is steadily growing. New members are added and they are in earnest. They had a successful lawn fete recently and cleared nearly $10.

Converse W. C. T. U. observed Flower Mission Day by distributing bouquets to the sick with scripture texts attached, and 50 bouquets were made and sent to the State Reform School for Boys at Plainfield. Rev. Samuel Traum, of the Christian Church, in his sermon on the evening of June 9, spoke at some length of the work being done by the Flower Mission Department of the W. C. T. U. The Union will make an effort to keep a saloon off our fair grounds during the coming fair. This will be done by having sermons preached on the subject, arousing public sentiment and agitating the necessity of some action being taken that will bring definite results.

Miami W. C. T. U. joined the Prohibitionists for a Fourth of July picnic at Amboy.

Peru W. C. T. U. took fifteen fine bouquets to the hospital, with text cards and white ribbons attached. The Union will make more bouquets this summer and celebrate Flower Mission often.

Wright's Corner (Dearborn County) organized a Legion May 26. Mrs. Alice Tyler, Leader; Miss Bulah Kyle, President; Lewis Randall, Secretary; Edna Mendell, Treasurer. Moore's Hill and Dillsboro have voted to organize an L. T. L. and Guilford Union has taken up the study of Lesson Manuals. So writes the energetic County L. T. L. Secretary, Mrs. Jennie Ward.

Jeffersonville Union observed Flower Mission Day on Saturday, June 8, holding services at the orphans' home, the county jail and the deaconess hospital, visiting each with flowers, scripture texts and words of cheer and encouragement. The railroad men's reading room, fire department and police station were also visited.

Mrs. S. M. Stahl, of Hartford City, arrived in Bedford May 30, and was entertained at the hospitable home of Mr. John Rowe, a Prohibitionist who votes as he prays and is a loyal helper of the W. C. T. U. Friday, Saturday and Monday afternoons mothers' meetings were held in the Christian, First M. E. and German M. E. Churches. "The Responsibility of Motherhood in the Home" was the theme of Mrs. Stahl's eloquent, heartfelt talks in all these services.

Friday night the address on Alaska was given in the M. E. Church and was highly enjoyed by a good sized audience. Sunday morning a gospel temperance sermon was preached by Sister Stahl in the M. E. Church at Limestone, by invitation of the pastor, Rev. Russel. At the close of this service another meeting was arranged for the afternoon. The people here would like to have kept her a week, and seemed hungry for the "old, old story of Jesus and His love." Arrangements were made for a party of white ribbon workers to come out from Bedford and hold a mothers' meeting in Limestone. Monday night Mrs. Stahl gave a temperance address at Trinity, which was listened to by a crowded house (many people standing) for an hour and a half. Five hundred people must have listened to her eloquent and spiritual words during these four days spent in Lawrence County. She received invitations at all these meetings to come again and stay longer. The Bedford Union was happy to receive eleven new members, and we are sure her earnest, convincing words and prayers will bear much fruit in the future. She will be warmly welcomed in our city should she decide to visit us again.

Converse had their County President address them at a meeting two weeks ago. Their musical program was fine. Though very warm, the church was filled.

Mrs. Swartz, President, Nappanee, writes: "I wish to say that the MESSAGE is very helpful. We do not know how we could accomplish our work without it."

Mrs. Anna Palmateer, Police Matron of Terre Haute and our State Superintendent of that department, in company with Miss Parlman of the same city, visited the Indiana Reform School for Boys at Plainfield, on Flower Mission Day, June 9. They saw 572 boys march into the chapel with white ribbons on their coats. The Superintendent had them repeat the texts that were on their flower day bouquets. Mrs. Palmateer spoke to them briefly during the morning service and in the afternoon. Miss Parlman told them the story of our Jennie Casseday and her mission. Many of the boys were seen to look at their bow of white, which evidently had a new meaning in it. Superintendent E. E. York made the ladies royally welcome. He is doing a grand work and is a grand good man, supported by an excellent Board of Managers, the President of which is our loyal, Christian neighbor and friend, the Hon. W. C. Van Arsdell.

Mrs. Emma Saylor, Contest Superintendent of the Frankfort Union, has held four contests in the last quarter and has two more classes in training. One, a gold medal contest, will be held in the Baptist Church in the near future. Miss Mabel Sheffler is training the class. A class of eight colored children was trained by the Superintendent and a successful contest held, the proceeds of which were divided between the colored Junior Endeavor and the Hadley Home. The songs by the colored children were greatly enjoyed and heartily enquired.

Jefferson Union has invited the colored contest class to their city.

Sedalia and Burlington Unions will hold a gold medal contest soon.

Mulberry Union gives the girls a place on every program and finds it a good plan to hold the Y's. Neat printed programs have been prepared, the Y's having charge of the music. We meet in the homes and our meetings are well attended. At our last meeting fifteen were present. Our music was inspiring. Mrs. Maxwell sang "Mother's Bow of Ribbon White," and Miss Josie Stechel sang "Crept in with Mother." Mrs. Addie Peelle had charge of the devotional exercises. Subject, "Mothers of the Bible." This was a mothers' meeting and was held two miles in the country.

A very pleasant feature of the recent State Board meeting of Superintendents was a visit to Frances Comfort Orphans' Home by a number of local and visiting members. The children are very comfortably situated in a nice home and are bright and intelligent. They listened eagerly to Miss Mary Hadley as she explained the work and pledge of the Loyal Temperance Legion. A Legion of forty one members was organized, which will be known as Columbus L. T. L., and will be under the care of Columbus W. C. T. U., with Miss Rhoda Welding as Superintendent.

South Bend East Side Union, on Flower Mission Day, took bouquets to the sick and graciously remembered the newspaper editors.

South Bend Colfax Avenue Union took flowers to the jail on Flower Mission Day and held a service. The Y's went to the Orphans' Home, where their smiles and flowers were greatly appreciated.

Mrs. Teats, the Purity worker, of California, will lecture for the Hoagland Union.

Indianapolis Palmer Union held a mothers' meeting at the home of Mrs. A. E. Devore, Tuesday, June 25. Our hostess read a very interesting paper on "Child Culture." Many good thoughts were brought out by the discussion which followed. Mesdames Lemmer, Moore, Hart and Thomas were among the guests. Several new members were added. The County Superintendent of Purity in Literature and Art sold a number of Frances Willard's pictures, requesting that they be placed in the most conspicuous places in the homes.

The County President writes, James Gipe was a decided success as a Fourth of July orator at Free-landville, and great good was done.

Hartford City—We are still pushing the battle as best we can by the educational method, sending the MESSAGE, Union Signal and Phalanx to our unconverted friends, praying that God will bless the means to open their eyes to the awful responsibility that they bear to the saloon in their community. We are putting a little money into the treasury by the per cent we get from the sale of Miss Belle Kearney's book "Twenty-five or thirty have subscribed for the book "Two," hoping to help somebody to see the awful curse of rum and the remedy. Our meetings are quite well attended by thoughtful, earnest, loyal women. Some have moved away, a few have backslidden, but we are still moving on and adding new members to fill up the ranks. The men are still adding saloons. We see by the paper that we are to have a saloon on the north side of the square; then our beautiful court house will be surrounded by these death traps. A friend said, "My! Won't Brother ——— regret to have a saloon on the north side?" I said, "Oh, I guess not; he still votes for them." Oh, when will men see that we never can destroy the curse by legalizing the crime?

South Bend Central Union sent 75 bouquets to the County Poor Farm, to which were tied scripture text cards. Twenty-five other bouquets were distributed. South Bend Chapin Park observed Flower Mission Day at the hospitals.

At the last meeting of Greencastle Union, Miss Ida Riley read an instructive and interesting paper on Non-Alcoholic Medication, which will appear in the Patriot-Phalanx. Mrs. Prof. John B. DeMotte and Mrs. Hamilton joined the Union. Although the day was warm, there was a goodly number present.

Indianapolis Palmer Union held memorial services at Congregational Church, June 30, in honor of our deceased member, Mrs. Ella Smith, who died June 2. Rev. W. A. Hendrixon read a scripture lesson; Mrs. A. E. DeVore offered a tribute in behalf of Palmer Union; Rev. Thomas Smith spoke in a most appreciative manner of her ever-willing services in the church; Mrs. Sims, in behalf of Marion County White Ribboners, spoke in tender words of her services as a local worker, fully realizing that local workers are the foundation of state and county organizations.

Mrs. Cammack-Gibson, aided by Marion Unions, is working most energetically to run an excursion to Winona on July 11, over the Michigan division of the Big Four.

School savings banks have been instituted in the public schools of Los Angeles, Cal. Five thousand school children there have $11,000 to their credit in bank, saved through this excellent system of taking care of the pennies. Miss Culla Vayhinger, of Moore's Hill, is our State Superintendent of this department.

The Chicago Postoffice will hereafter employ no boy who smokes cigarettes or who is known to have once been addicted to the habit, since only the best equipped boys, mentally and physically, are wanted in this service.

Col. Van Horn has abolished the private canteen of officers at Ft. Sheridan, near Chicago.

The American saloon, under the full sanction of the law, flourishes in Hawaii as never before.

In forty-three of the forty-five States of the Union there is agitation and effort to drive out the cigarette.

The School Board of Marinette, Wis., has decided to prohibit football in the public schools and to refuse the use of the name of schools in designating teams. The action was the result of popular prejudice against the game.

Jennie Powers writes: "We use Contest Journal for a prize in our contest at Richland." It would be so very wise for all our Contest Workers to do this.—Ed.

Mrs. M. L. Hobbs, Ireland, receives premium of Metcalf & Woolley pictures for five silver medal contests.

Porter County has enjoyed a visit from Miss Palmer, of Hammond, and two Unions are in view after the harvest and a little cooler weather is ours to be thankful for.

Mount Vernon Y's are reading Miss Willard's life at their regular meetings.

Bath is preparing a medal contest for the farmers' meeting in that county. They write that the three county papers are open and friendly to W. C. T. U. news and articles.

IN MEMORIAM.

Our dear sister, Charlotte Stancomb, departed this life May 29, 1901. She had been an invalid many years, yet bore her sufferings with true Christian patience. She attended our last W. C. T. U. spring Institute, held at Amboy, in March, and at that time she enlisted with the white ribbon army and became a loyal member of Amboy Union. Her last work was assisting in preparing the church for the funeral of one of the W. C. T. U. members. Her stay with us was short, and like our great chieftain, Frances E. Willard, and many others, she has been transplanted to a world beyond and is now realizing how beautiful it is to be with God. She leaves a husband and daughter and many relatives and friends. To them we extend our sympathy in behalf of the Union.

Mrs. Martha S. Moore, a charter member of Hanover Union, passed to her reward June 12, in the 73d year of her age. She rests from her labors and her works do follow her. The Union carries her loved ones in prayer and the God of all comfort.

Death visited Indianapolis Palmer Union on June 2, taking one of our loved ones, Mrs. Ella Smith. She had been an active member of Palmer Union since its organization, and too well do we realize the impossibility of finding her equal. Mrs. Smith leaves a husband, with whom our entire community sympathizes.

The Avon Union mourns the loss of Miss Maggie Minnings. She was always found on the right side of every question—faithful to do all she could for the promotion of every good work.

THE MESSAGE.

"Not by Might nor by Power, but by My Spirit."

VOL. V. No. 8.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., AUGUST, 1901.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR.

THE INDIANA STATE W. C. T. U. CONVENTION WILL BE HELD AT KOKOMO, OCTOBER 4 TO 7.

How many delegates will your union send? The fifty cents from each union for a convention expense fund for the unions entertaining the convention should be sent very soon to the State Treasurer.

LIFE MEMBERS.

Indiana W. C. T. U. whose names were not published in last Annual Report; Mrs. Sarah Stevens, Mrs. Frances Boyer, Miss Eliza Baker.

WHITE RIBBON SPECIAL TO FT. WORTH.

The National W. C. T. U. convention will be held at Ft. Worth, Texas, Nov. 15 to 20. Greatly reduced rates will be granted by the railroads.

By special arrangement the Indiana delegates and visitors will go through in a special coach from Indianapolis to Ft. Worth without change.

The routes selected are the Big Four from Indianapolis to St. Louis; the St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern and Texas & Pacific from St. Louis to Ft. Worth. The distance from St. Louis to Ft. Worth is seven hundred and forty-three miles. The route passes through Little Rock, the capitol of Arkansas; Malvern, which is located twenty-two miles east of Hot Springs; Texarkana, Marshall, Longview, Minneola and Dallas, Texas.

Now is the time to begin to plan for the going to Ft. Worth. We would especially urge parents to take their boys and girls. By travel, much of a liberal education is gained. Ten days of travel and attendance upon a great National Convention of Reform Forces, will wonderfully stir the hearts of the youth.

Those desiring information in regard to this great trip to the Lone Star State, apply to Mrs. Luella F. McWhirter, 2312 College Avenue, Indianapolis.

Last year in accepting an invitation for field work in some of the Southern States, Miss Mary Hadley, our Vice-President and National Superintendent of Institutes, went over the Iron Mountain route. She thought the trip not only delightful, but replete with historic interest, relative Southern customs, habits, etc.—an object lesson more educational than the study of volumes of the best written history.

THE CALL.

The twenty-eighth Annual Convention of the Indiana Woman's Christian Temperance Union will meet in the Grace M. E. Church in the City of Kokomo, October 4 to 9, 1901. EUNICE P. WILSON, President.

TAKE NOTICE.

The State Convention will be held in Kokomo instead of Logansport, as per letter recently sent out to Treasurers. The mistake is deeply regretted.

AMANDA T. WHITSON,
State Treasurer.

PERSONAL MESSAGE.

I have one message for every Union and Y in the State. Consult last year's minutes and see how many members paid dues and before the books closed Sept. 25, and that is not very far off, see to it that you have as many members or more this year than you had last year. To have less is to go backward. A gain of 1,500 is what we aim for. If you allow your Union to fall behind, you make it hard to make this gain. No white ribboner should feel satisfied short of growth in herself for usefulness and growth in the Union as to activities and members. If these two things are assured, there will be growth in the state, the nation and the world and our organization will become more powerful and respected.

MARY E. BALCH.

A CURE FOR DRUNKENNESS AND THE OPIUM HABIT.

In the life of John Vine Hall, commander of the Great Eastern and father of Rev Newman Hall, who wrote a series of leaflets entitled "Come to Jesus," he gives the following recipe:

Five grains sulphate of iron, ten grains magnesia, eleven drams peppermint water. Mix—use twice a day.

To the above may be added one dram spirit of nutmeg if desired. This acts both as a tonic and stimulant.—Cor. White Ribbon Banner.

Now is the time to elect your delegates to the State Convention. Each union is entitled to send the President one delegate-at-large and one delegate for every twenty paid members.

NATIONAL PROHIBITION CONFERENCE.

The leading prohibitionists of the United States assembled at Buffalo on August 1 and 2 to take a general outlook and to confer together as to plans for further aggressive work. Many States were represented and very able papers were read upon the work of different officials, from that of State Chairman to County Chairman and also upon what those who may be elected to office can accomplish. Indiana was honored by its National Committeeman, F. T. McWhirter, presiding at the first session. Altogether, two days were devoted to a splendid program full of interest and very profitable. Among other noted speakers, Frank S. Regan, late member of the legislature from Rockford, Ills., Prof. Samuel Dickie and Homer L. Castle, delivered fine addresses.

MRS. FRANCES E. BEAUCHAMP, OF LEXINGTON, KY., PRESIDENT OF KY. W. C. T. U. AND ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF THE NATIONAL W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Beauchamp is one of the most brilliant women of the Southland. By her eloquence, logic and forceful presentation of our cause at Acton, Bethany and Island Park Assemblies, she stirred the hearts of the people and aroused enthusiasm that must result in greatly increased activity. Mrs. Beauchamp is an entertaining and convincing speaker, with few equals on the American platform.

A BAN ON HABIT AND WILL DISCHARGE VIOLATORS.

CHICAGO, ILLS., June 6.—To-day the hired hands of Libby, McNeill & Libby are reading this card, tacked to the walls of their workrooms: "Notice—Tobacco chewing is strictly prohibited. Any person breaking this rule will be discharged immediately." Libby, McNeill & Libby employ 3,000 men and 2,000 chew tobacco.—Wis. Motor.

The Pan-American ought to abolish the vulgar and demoralizing sideshows of its Midway and follow the example of Philadelphia's centennial by closing on Sundays. If the attendance should fall short it may serve as a lesson to future exhibitions in both of these important features. At least two of the Midway exhibits are positively disgraceful and self-respecting commissioners should promptly close them.

GETTING READY—ACTION OF THE MID-YEAR EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

Advance sheets of the Superintendents' reports were directed to be printed previous to convention for circulation thereat, and no reports to be received after convention. Constitution, Article II, Section 3. All reports of Superintendents shall be in the hands of the Recording Secretary five days previous to the State Convention. Why? That there may be no delay in getting out the State Minutes; and this year the additional reason that they may be in print in the hands of the women at the convention. This is of the utmost importance.

PREPARATORY.

Superintendents, at the close of their reports, shall offer in writing such resolution or resolutions as they desire embodied in their recommendations. The action of the Mid-Year Executive. Why? They should become a part of our Plan of Work and not a part of the report of the resolution committee, as they are supposed to give us a declaration of our principles and not to tell us how to do our work. Further action of Mid-Year Executive: Reports shall not exceed 700 words. Why? Printers' ink costs money and our Annual Minutes are too long. Now, these three acts of our executive will prove the trinity of economy, power and good order, if we observe to do them. To do less is childish.

MARY E. BALCH.

PLAN OF WORK COMMITTEE.

County Presidents, Mrs. Lida Outland, Emma Saylor, Sadie Eves. State Superintendents, Mrs. M. A. Tompkins, Ada B. Leck, J. R. Wood. Organization, Mary E. Balch. This most essential and indispensable document to be in print and in the hands of the women at the opening of the convention.

Constitution, Article I, Section 8. The program committee shall consist of the President, Corresponding Secretary, Treasurer, and the President and Secretary of the Board of Superintendents.

THE COMMITTEE.

Eunice P. Wilson, Mary E. Balch, Amanda T. Whitson, Ada B. Leck and Julia Overman.

Any woman may become a member of the Indiana W. C. T. U. by endorsing the constitution and paying an annual membership fee of $1, of which 40 cents shall be paid for State dues, 20 cents for county dues, 15 cents for local dues and 25 cents for the official organ—the MESSAGE. From the 40 cents State dues the State Treasurer pays 10 cents for National and World dues. Thus the dues of every member are so divided that she is a member of not only the local, county and State, but of the great National and World's W. C. T. U., besides receiving a monthly visit from the MESSAGE.

ORATORICAL CONTEST AT BUFFALO.

Twelve speeches by young men from twelve states was a great feature in the National Prohibition Conference on August 2. New York, Iowa, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Missouri, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Indiana and Illinois each had a speaker. Every oration was a gem. Each oration showed careful preparation and the delivery was without hesitation on the part of every speaker, with force, ability and great earnestness. The twelve orations would make a fine compendium of modern thought on the great issue of prohibition. At this date we have not learned who won the first prize of $75, the second prize of $50 or the third prize of $25. Through the efficient work of the College Association, a great many institutions of higher learning have become interested in this movement. Mr. D. L. Colvin, an alumnus of Ohio Wesleyan University, whose address is now Chicago, Ills., is President of the Association and Mr. Harry S. Warner, of the University of Chicago, Ills., is its Secretary. This movement deserves the encouragement and hearty support of every White Ribboner.

100,000 SOULS.

The liquor traffic is responsible for the death of 100,000 souls annually in the United States. It is responsible for more misery and degradation than all other causes combined.

In view of these facts and that no drunkard shall inherit the Kingdom of Heaven, why is it that many of our ministers and Sunday School Superintendents have to be asked to hold special temperance services?

I verily believe that if each White Ribboner in Indiana will candidly study these conditions, secure facts relative to the gigantic power of the liquor traffic, its methods and influences, it would not be more than two years until Indiana would have a prohibitory liquor law.

By the information thus gained and the consequent enthusiasm and determination to help on this fight to the finish, every one of our many thousands of members would become a power in her own home, church and community against the saloon and saloon-drugstore.

For the first year, limit each member's influence to ten people (besides the boys and girls, and they are a wonderful power in any movement) and a mighty army of intelligent persons would be arrayed against the liquor business. The rates of gain would be increased and the momentum would be so great during the second year that, combined with the valliant prohibitionist of to-day, an army would marshal its forces against the liquor business, with God as leader, for the victory of no license laws on the Statutes of Indiana—a complete victory for a prohibitory liquor law.

Just in proportion to your hatred of the liquor business will you work against it.

Is it reasonable to suppose that a Christian woman, who is well informed upon the conditions pertaining to the liquor traffic, can be satisfied outside the ranks of some organization working for its overthrow?

LIVES THAT LIVE ON.

From Miss Willard's address at the World's Convention, at Toronto, we quote:

"One day a young nobleman on horseback rode impatiently up and down the streets of a village in Cornwall. He was seeking for a public house where he could get a glass of that concerning which our Shakespeare said, 'Alas, that men should put an enemy in their mouths to steal away their brains.' But his search was in vain, and coming upon a white-haired peasant on his way home after a day of toil, the young man said, with rising anger, 'Why is it that I cannot get a glass of liquor in this wretched little village?' The man replied, 'My lord, about a hundred years ago a man named John Wesley came to these parts,' and the old peasant walked on. 'A hundred years, and he was living still; that dauntless, devoted disciple of our Lord! Cornwall has never been the same since John Wesley went there to preach the gospel of a clear brain and a consecrated heart. Of whom will such great words be spoken when a century has passed in those dear countries of the English-speaking race from which most of us have come? Who doubts but that in Maine some good man going to his safe and happy home, will be saying in answer to some unfriendly wight, vexed because he cannot get his dram, 'a hundred years ago a man named Neal Dow came to these parts?' Who does not believe that in Canada some loyal voice will give the explanation, 'a hundred years ago Letitia Youmans came to these parts?' Verily, comrades, we are building better than we know. It is a holy thing, this influence that reaches on and away into illimitable distance; this coming to be one of the wheels within the wheels that are the wheels of God."

America and the world has had Frances Willard, whose life lives on. Each State has had lives that live on, and do you realize that in Indiana every county and almost every town has had lives that live on and those that will live on, for the work they have done for the home against the legalized liquor traffic?

To-day it takes more moral courage to stand in the forefront in the temperance army than to face the battery of a foreign enemy on the field of battle.

GLEANINGS FROM VICE-PRESIDENT.

Bainbridge W. C. T. U., organized July 9, 1901. President, Mrs. Jessie Lane; Vice-President, Mrs. Lydia E. Wilkinson; Secretary, J. S. Black; Superintendent of Literature, Mrs. Tillie Pickel; Assistant, Mrs. Lucy Priest; Superintendant Contests, Mrs. Lydia E. Wilkinson. Other departments taken up to be filled later. Active members, fourteen; honorary, three. Bainbridge is now free from saloons and expects to remain so. These brave and loyal women will co-operate with the Good Templars, who have been so active and successful in keeping out those influences which have so demoralized an otherwise good town.

Notwithstanding the excessive heat, a bright and hopeful Union was organized at Roachdale, July 12, with twenty seven active members, six Y's and six honorary members; total, thirty-three. President, Mrs. G. W. Irwin; Vice-President, Mrs. M. Ada Rich; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. E. O. Rice; Recording Secretary, Miss Emma Hanna; Treasurer, Mrs. Jessie Young. Department work was taken up, to be filled at the following meeting. The well-chosen Treasurer was a bride of but a few days and wrote her name for the first time as Mrs. Young as a member of this great organization, which is working so effectively for the uplift of humanity. Her many friends said almost with one voice, "This is a good omen." Another bright woman (Mrs. Brake), who expected to be a resident of another city in a few weeks, said, "I've always wanted to be a member of the W. C. T. U., so I'm not going to miss this chance if the ladies will allow me to belong here." Of course they were delighted to receive her and so she has bestowed this beautiful benefaction upon the town where she has for some years been an esteemed resident and by so doing she has set her face like flint against the ravages of the rum traffic.

Roachdale has sent greetings to Greencastle and Bainbridge Unions and invited them to meet at Roachdale for county organization August 27 and 28. Invitation accepted. In the meantime, Cloverdale is to be considered and will be invited to join the great fraternity, "For God and Home and Native Land." It seems Putnam County is to again wheel in line and take a stand against evil worthy of herself as a county of good advantage and good citizens.

HADLEY INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

In some cases the space of time covered by one month seems almost endless, owing to the severe conditions in which one may be placed. The past month has been like unto this at the Hadley School. The burning heat, accompanied by the scarcity of the water supply, and no rain to cool even one moment of time, with the sure knowledge that almost the entire garden and small fruit crops are to be failures, has tried the already tired nerves and brains of those connected with the school. The one comforting thought is that no omission of the workers is responsible for the ravages wrought by the drought. We meekly submit to the inevitable, and when the ground shall receive her baptism of water, another heroic effort will follow with later varieties of food-producing plants.

Young chicks are doing well. More than 500 of them gather around the "chicken girls" asking for food and water. When the proper time comes they will pay it all back.

The milk supply grows shorter as the length of the drought grows longer. The older heads grow serious over these conditions, but the younger ones are satisfied that the trials of the present are sufficient without peering into the future.

Mr. Clyde Carmack is working right along finishing up the fourth story of the dwelling, and he abounds in cheerful looks and pleasant words as he drives the nails of self-sacrifice into this noble structure. Many girls are asking for admission to our home, and when the increased room is ready for them a few more can be accommodated.

We feel most happy in the friendship extended to the school by the neighbors and friend in Hendricks County. We know that in union there is strength. As these girls grow and develop into tender womanhood, their changed appearance awakens new interest in those who witness the change. Timely aid given the young often makes large returns. L. HOBART.

INDIANA ASSEMBLIES.

W. C. T. U. Day at Lake Maxinkuckee was a success. Mrs. Cammack Gibson spoke in the evening. Subject, "Five Boys in Knee Pants." A gold medal contest was held in the afternoon. Miss Lena Yedman won the medal. The assembly management gave the ground upon which to build a W. C. T. U. cottage, and for that purpose $105 was subscribed amidst enthusiasm.

AT WINONA much interest and enthusiasm were manifested in the W. C. T. U. days. An excursion from Marion took two hundred white ribboners and their friends to Winona at one time. The contests were good. In the first, Mrs. Frank Havens won the medal and in the second Hezlep W. Clark was the winner. Miss Marie Brehm, National Superintendent of Franchise, gave a very logical and eloquent address on "Equal Opportunity" before an appreciative audience. Col. Geo. W. Bain, of Kentucky, spoke in his characteristic, forcible manner on "The New Woman and the Old Man," without touching much upon intemperance and ignoring the remedy—prohibition. Mrs. Daub sang "If I Were a Voice," Mother Trish sang "Some Mother's Boy," and Miss Brehm, who is always ready to help by the use of her voice, also sang. Short addresses were made by Mrs. Eunice P. Wilson, our State President; Mrs. M. A. Tompkins, Mrs. Mattie Cammack-Gibson, Mrs. Mary E. Balch, Mrs. Jennie Irwin, Mr. Webb, of Warsaw, and Miss H. Anna Quinby, of Edenton, Ohio.

The officers for next year are as follows: President, Rev. Cammack-Gibson, Jonesboro; Secretary, Mrs. Julia Overman, Marion; Treasurer, M. A. Tompkins, Elkhart; First Vice President, Mrs. A. P. Daub, Goshen; Second Vice-President, Mrs. Jennie Irwin, Bourbon; Third Vice-President, Mrs. Julia A. Trish, Warsaw. These serve as a program committee for next year and began their planning at once and negotiated for a cottage of fourteen rooms. Every effort will be made to advance our cause at Winona next year.

The finances of the Assembly Union are in good shape; bills paid and money in the treasury. The success of the enterprise is largely due to Mrs. Gibson and Mrs. Tompkins. The management gave one-half of the gate fees of the excursionists to the treasury of the Assembly Union, and it just made it easy for them to meet their bills. The expenses last year were in the neighborhood of $150, with a balance of 56 cents in the treasury. Possibly it will be more this year.

The counties represented were Marion, Madison, White, Wabash, Kosciusko, Elkhart, LaGrange, Tippecanoe, Miami and Posey.

ISLAND PARK.

The W. C. T. U. headquarters were open one week to-day. We were very pleasantly surprised to find the cottage furnished throughout. White Ribboners receive a hearty welcome here and are shown every courtesy.

Mrs. Ada L. Squier and little daughter have arrived and are making themselves felt in many ways. Mrs. M. S. Stahl, State Superintendent of Mothers' Meetings, is with us and doing good work. One of the attractions of the Island is the W. C. T. U. literature booth. Large quantities of literature is being distributed. Two silver, one gold and one diamond medal contests will be given during our special days (August 5 and 6). Mrs. Squiers is arranging for a large parade for the morning of August 5, which will be led by the assembly orchestra. Our White Ribboners have begun to arrive and we believe the capacity of the Home will be tested. Mrs. Beauchamp, of Lexington, Ky., will be with us. We have had a large number of callers; our enrollment up to this date is one hundred and sixty. Mr. J. V. Combs, of Maxinkuckee, called and assured Mrs. Balch of a hearty welcome; when she came to them said, "we intend to give you a cottage next year. How many days can you use to advantage? You can have all the time you want." Secretary of Bay View Course also called with the pleasant information as to what the W. C. T. U. were accomplishing at their assembly. He also showed us the massive, beautiful building which the Bay View Reading Circle share with the W. C. T. U. White Ribboners are welcome there.

Dear Mrs. Balch left us Tuesday to attend the assembly at Maxinkuckee, July 31. She will also visit Pine Lake and endeavor to work up an interest there and lay plans for next year. We are expecting Rev. Cammack-Gibson, Rev. Tompkins and others to return with her. It would require too much space for me to tell you of the beauties and opportunities of Island Park. But I count it a special blessing—this privilege of spending the Chautauqua season here. Our home is the happiest place and only wish more of the dear White Ribbon sisters could be with us.

MARY E. EVERTSON.

ACTON ASSEMBLY.

The W. C. T. U. cottage at Acton was opened July 24, by Mrs. Clara Balch, Secretary of the committee in charge. She was joined a few days later by Mrs. Hattie Wright Brand and Mrs. McDermid. The general attendance at Camp Acton was not large this year, and there were few visitors or lodgers at the cottage previous to August 1 and 2—our W. C. T. U. days.

Central and Willard Unions, of Indianapolis, came with good delegations. On the morning of the first, neat copies of our program were distributed among the cottagers and resulted in a fair audience at the tabernacle. The program was good throughout. "Children's Hour" is always interesting, and the bright faces of the boys and girls from the Orphans Home, L. T. L. and Central Union's A. C. L., who gave a creditable program of readings, recitations and songs, were a prophesy of better things and an inspiration to more zealous work to save the boys from rum and cigarettes. State Superintendents and others ably presented various phases of our work, and the evening addresses were given by Mr. Chas. Lemmon and Hon. Wilson Doane, of Indianapolis, and Mrs. Frances Beauchamp, of Kentucky. Mrs. Beauchamp is a national officer and a forcible speaker. Her subject was, "My People Perish for Lack of Knowledge." She said people were densely ignorant on the liquor question, and attributed it largely to the fact we are a newspaper reading people, from which source we do not get scientific, social or political truth in regard to rum.

Mrs. Clara Sears was not present, owing to the serious illness of her brother. Her time was taken by Mrs. Luella F. McWhirter. Her earnest words always reach the hearts of her hearers and her presence added enthusiasm. Central Union won the prize for the largest delegation.

MAXINKUCKEE AND PINE LAKE ASSEMBLIES ADDED TO THE ROLL.

The programs at each place were fully carried out, with some additions. Officers at Maxinkuckee: President, Mrs. Ada L. Squiers, 620 Cherry street, Terre Haute; First Vice-President, Miss Emily Stacy, Plymouth; Second Vice-President, Mrs. Clara Collane, Flora; Secretary, Mrs. Anna Voorhees, Flora; Treasurer, Mrs. Quincy Lee Morrow, Indianapolis. Twenty-five members. The management donated a lot to build a cottage on and Dr. Collane, unsolicited, arose and said he would give $25 toward building the cottage and then Messrs. Morrow, Coombs, Voorhees and others made the amount $100, and Mr. Coombs, the Superintendent, said no doubt there would be another hundred donated. The Secretary and Treasurer were made a committee to solicit and receive the donations.

Now, dear sisters, sing the doxology; our cause is moving on.

Officers at Pine Lake: President, Miss Alice Ruth Palmer, Hammond, Ind.; First Vice-President, Mrs. S. M. Farber, LaPorte; Second Vice-President, Mrs. Katie Wert Holler, South Bend; Secretary, Mrs. Esther Vail, 1409 Main street, LaPorte; Treasurer, Mrs. Brown, Michigan City. Nineteen members.

LaPorte Union received the silver medal for the largest delegation in LaPorte County. South Bend Y received the silver medal for furnishing the most members to the Assembly Union of any Union outside of LaPorte County. The medals are to be used in a contest and the receipts go into the treasury for the general work. It was promised that a cottage would be at the disposal of the program committee for next year. We trust that more and more White Ribbons will see the wide open door of opportunity that there is for us in this assembly work and lend a hand. They are distributed in such a manner as to cover the entire northern and central portion of the State.

Mary E. Teats spent a week at Island Park.

Mrs. Teats' dates: Hoagland, August 11; Roanoke, August 12; Andrews, August 13; LaFayette, August 15, 16 and Sunday, 18, resting on Saturday, the 17th. Apply at once if you want Mrs. Teats.

MARY E. BALCH.

BAY VIEW (MICH.) ASSEMBLY.

The Inter-State W. C. T. U. Institute opened in Evelyn Hall, July 18, with Mrs. Helen Stoddard in the chair as conductor. It continued for ten days and was pronounced one of the most successful features of the assembly. Mrs. Stoddard's assistants were Mrs. Mary Wood Allen and Rev. Frances Townsley, of Michigan; Mrs. Mary Hopper, of Illinois; Mrs. M. A. B. Smith, of Wisconsin; Mrs. Hattie Wright Brand, of Indiana. Mr. Hitchcock, Superintendent of the Bay View Assembly, said in his address of welcome that the foundation thought of the Bay View Assembly was a better life and they welcomed the W. C. T. U. because it stood for better and higher things.

The 9 o'clock Bible hour, conducted by Frances E. Townsley, was one of the most popular and helpful features of the Institute. With clear logic and persuasive eloquence she reached the hearts of her audience, inspiring them to nobler purposes and more complete surrender to the Master.

Mrs. A. S. Benjamin, Mrs. P. J. Howard, Mrs. Fannie Calkins, Mrs. Samuel Dickie, all of Michigan, and others, were on the program.

A fine breeze from the bay kept the atmosphere delightfully cool. The program was practical and helpful in every way and the interest and enthusiasm increased with each session.

Mrs. Ormiston Chant, of London, England, who is known around the world as a speaker and purity worker, made the auditorium speech and conducted a woman's conference. She spoke particularly of conditions in England, but made a strong plea to mothers, saying that the lines of heredity cross and that the increasing drink habit among women is one of the most serious features of the drink problem. The last hour was given to the audience and was filled with testimonies of appreciation and help received.

Mrs. Stoddard possesses the rare gift of drawing from people their best and seemed to never forget any detail which would add to the character of the Institute or the comfort and pleasure of those about her. Her workers are indebted to her for many a delightful and refreshing hour spent on the water or following a romantic trail through the woods.

A BIG DAY FOR ZIONSVILLE.

Wednesday, August 7, is Temperance Day at Zion Park camp meeting. Co. A, Boone Division Loyal Temperance Legion, of Zionsville, which was organized ten years ago, holds a reunion at this time. The forenoon will be occupied with a program of old time songs, toasts and testimonials, followed by a union basket dinner in the beautiful grove back of the school building, where so many memories cluster of old time experiences.

Rev. R. V. Hunter, of Indianapolis, will speak in the afternoon. A medal contest will take place at night, following the custom which has been observed for years every temperance day. The participants in the contest this year will be the senior class of 1902, of the Zionsville High School. The day is looked forward to with unusual interest, as the occasion is to celebrate the L. T. L. "box opening."

It is expected that two hundred persons will march in procession to the grove as representatives of the L. T. L., headed by the Zionsville brass band and many of the officers and superintendents of the L. T. L. and W. C. T. U. The procession will stop on its way at the Alford Bank and take from the vault a tin box, which was deposited there ten years ago, at the time of organization. The box contains the names of the charter members, the honorary members, the list of officers, teachers and superintendents, a copy of the first minutes, the constitution and rules, the triple pledge, the badges used, the Zionsville Times' account of the welcome meeting held to acquaint the public with the purpose of the organization and also the Times article describing the event when the box was placed in the bank vault. There were more than a hundred children in procession at that time, headed by the band. The Superintendent of the public schools, M.

D. Avery, with the Superintendent of the Legion, Mrs. A. J. Clark, marched at the head of the company; also the young President of the Legion, Harry Ball, and the captain of the company, Charles Felton. Then followed the Legion classes by platoons, each having a banner, an ensign and the teacher of the platoon. A lasting impression was made as the long procession filed through the principal streets of the town, with a large American flag flying at the front side by side with another bearing the words, "The Children are Afield for Temperance."

The L. T. L. met regularly at the school building and the children were taught by divisions, according to their grades in school. Bands of Mercy were formed in addition and seventy-five copies of "Black Beauty" were distributed among the families in town. The heartiest co-operation was given the Legion Superintendent by the School Superintendent and force of teachers, by the President of the W. C. T. U., Mrs. Rachel Felton, and other members.

In 1893 the older girls were organized into a Y. W. C. T. U. and the older boys were associate and honorary members. The younger boys and girls were organized into Co. B, L. T. L., superintended by Misses Minnie Anderson and Maud Alford, former members of Co. A.

Temperance sentiment is good in Zionsville, and the citizens have been able to defeat innumerable efforts to get a permit for a saloon in the place. The local W. C. T. U., though small in membership, has never relaxed efforts to keep the various lines of its work progressing; and the President, Mrs. Frank Anderson, and other members, would be much rejoiced on this occasion if other active and aggressive members would join the ranks. The Union sends out a general invitation to any who may wish to attend Wednesday.

LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION.

A new Legion of seventeen members was organized at Sycamore with Mrs. Flora Mendenhall as leader. They have ordered a full line of supplies.

South Whitley L. T. L. of one hundred and twenty-seven members, and Mrs. Jennie Weaver leader, was organized by Miss Hadley at time of their County Institute.

Lincolntonville has paid dues for twenty members and nineteen graduates have paid their 25 cents annual dues to the State Legion Treasurer, Felix M. McWhirter, 2312 Collevue avenue, Indianapolis.

Roanoke L. T. L. has a class of six juniors ready for certificates.

A class of fifteen of the Marion Legion have taken the examinations and are ready for their diplomas at time of State convention.

Kewanna has a new Legion organized by Miss Hadley.

North Vernon L. T. L. will have a class to graduate by State L. T. L. convention; they are also making their block for the State L. T. L. autograph quilt.

A Legion of sixteen members was organized May 26 at Wright's Corner, Mrs. Alice Pyles leader.

Moore's Hill and Dillsboro have each voted to organize an L. T. L., and Guilford Union has taken up the study of the Lesson Manual—so writes the energetic County L. T. L. Secretary, Mrs. Jennie Ward.

Indiana claims to have the oldest L. T. L. graduate—Mrs. Frances E. Potter, of the class of 1900, who is 71 years young.

Sims L. T. L. observed Flower Mission Day on June 8 by carrying a hundred and seven bouquets, with text cards tied on them with the white ribbon, to railroaders, factory men, merchants, clerks, sick and shut-ins and received many "thank you's." One conductor treated them to candy in return. They also had a Flower Mission exercise Sunday evening, June 16.

Marion County L. T. L. Secretary, Mrs. Beckett, has ordered enrollment cards and record book for infant grade work.

The W. C. T. U.'s of Amboy, Guilford, Goodland and Greentown have taken up the Normal L. T. L. grade by forming classes of women for the study of the L. T. L. Temperance Lesson Manuals.

Any one who is over 12 years of age and signs the L. T. L. pledge, may become a graduate of the L. T. L. and secure the L. T. L. diploma by passing a satisfactory written examination (answering correctly seventy-five per cent of the questions), in the four numbers of vol. I of the Senior Temperance Lesson Manuals. The examinations are conducted in a similar manner to the high school examinations, always in the presence of a committee appointed for that purpose. The papers are graded and the average per cent attained on the four numbers of the volume and reported to State L. T. L. Secretary by said committee. Printed examination questions can be obtained of State L. T. L. Secretary at 10 cents per set for one volume. Diplomas must be ordered of the State L. T. L. Secretary and the order be accompanied by the grade and the statement that the applicant has signed the L. T. L. pledge and is of proper age. Diplomas, 10 cents each. Girls and boys under 12 years, secure junior certificates by passing similar examinations on vol. III and on vol. II. Certificates, two for 5 cents. In ordering, state for which volume they are desired.

KATHRIN T. A. STRAW.

The wide awake counties have already arranged for their annual conventions. At every convention a grand Gold Medal Contest should be held, to which the admission fee ought to be twenty-five cents.

SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

This cut shows that Sabbath desecration is a first step to many other evils. It is an exact copy of a gallows, drawn by a young man on the wall of his cell the afternoon before he was executed. The inscriptions are just as he placed them and tell the pitiable but true story of his life. Upon the side of the platform he placed the words "Strong Drink," to indicate that this sin was not only a step to his ruin, but was a part of the whole course of his sinful life, which ended in murder. With this man, as with others, one of the first steps to a criminal career is some form of Sabbath desecration. Ninety-five per cent of the prisoners admitted to the Massachusetts State prison in one year, testified that they were there through Sabbath breaking. Would it not be well, in the light of these circumstances, to impress upon the youth of our day, by precept and example, the commandment, "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy?"

There is no time in the year when it is so hard to work as during the summer season. Neither is there a time when our work is so much needed as when Sunday excursions are being run from almost every city and town to some place of interest; and when the Sunday ball game, with paid admission, which is contrary to the laws of the State, is better patronized than are the free Gospel services of the churches.

Many towns and cities in Indiana are having great victories for Sabbath observance. At Warsaw the merchants have all agreed to keep their establishments closed on Sunday. Terre Haute is doing excellent work and their efforts are telling for God and humanity. At Kokomo, even the livery stables are closed, responding only to calls of mercy. Through the efforts of Miss Kate Leebrick's Union at Sims all stores there have been closed. South Bend has also had some victories along the line of Sabbath closing. May others be encouraged to press forward to the work.

Continue the circulation of literature and keep up the agitation continually. Last year the L. T. L.'s of Pennsylvania distributed 73,229 pages of Sabbath Observance literature. Indiana L. T. L.'s can do better than that if they will.

God is our helper.

KATIE WERT HOLLER,
State Superintendent.

MOTHERS' MEETINGS.

Dear Superintendents of Mothers' Meetings, women of the White Ribbon army, mothers everywhere, does not this little baby face appeal to you for protection from the evils of to-day? Is it possible that any mother in this broad land of ours can be indifferent to the cries of murdered innocents? Upon the mothers of to-day there rests a grave and important responsibility. One has said, "no office in the world is so honorable as the mother's, no priesthood so holy, no influence so sweet and strong and lasting. The father has equal responsibility with the mother in the home. God held Eli responsible for his failure in family government. 'His sons made themselves vile and he restraineth them not.' It has been said, 'any country will be twenty five years from now just about what the mothers of that country are at the present time.' Here is where the widest scope is given to talent, wisdom and Godly life to form the character of the young and train them for future usefulness. The highest type of woman is the model mother, and multitudes of blessed women in humble walks of life have moulded the characters of their sons and daughters for heaven and for exalted positions on earth from Ennis and Lois, who trained Timothy, down to the present age. The inconsistent home life of many professing Christians has destroyed the faith of the children and made infidels of them. Home is the place where pretence is dropped and what is in the heart comes to the surface. There is the place where 'religious cloaks' are laid aside and masks pulled off. A great need of the times is a revival of family religion, pure and undefiled. Mothers, let us do all in our power, in every sense, to bring this about.

Facsimile of Badge worn by Members of Cradle Roll.

The year is fast drawing to a close. I have been happy to look into many of your faces, to clasp hands with you, to mingle our prayers and tears together, to petition our God, who does hear and answer mothers' prayers. My heart has been deeply touched by the kind words and deeds of some of you dear women, but I must not make my letter so long. What I want now, or will soon, is reports, reports, reports. Please, sisters, send them in on time. Remember I formulate my report by yours and I must have my report in the hands of the Recording Secretary five days before State Convention. If I had sent my report last year five days before convention, several would have been left out. Please be prompt.

Mrs. S. M. STAHL,
State Superintendent.

FIELD NOTES.

Geneva Union is very small and we are endeavoring to keep the fire burning on the altar for temperance and purity.

The Colfax Avenue Union, of South Bend, held a very pleasant and profitable meeting and picnic July 31, at the suburban home of the President, Mrs. M. G. Huey, who spared no pains to make the day one of pleasure and the meeting a success. Many of the ladies were present with well-filled lunch baskets and took dinner in the grove. Sometime since it was decided that each member of the Union should earn 50 cents and tell in rhyme what she had done to earn the money. These reports were had and many interesting responses were given. Mrs. B. F. Wert received the prize for the best rhyme. By this method the treasury was augmented by quite a neat sum. Several visitors present made liberal donations. A very pleasant day was spent by all.

Washington County—Campbellsburg W. C. T. U. As it has been some time since I have written to the MESSAGE, I will write concerning our Union. I believe I am safe in saying we have the largest and best Union in Southern Indiana. We have a large membership and are active in every direction. We have been successful in circulating one remonstrance, but since failed on one. Have stopped Sunday baseball and are now working on our business houses for closing on Sunday. The W. C. T. U. conducted a grand Fourth and had the most orderly crowd ever assembled in our county. Our program was carried out to the letter. We had with us Mrs. Hattie Brand. She complimented us by saying we had made a grand success. We had able ministers, of different churches, recitations by orators, solos and songs by able singers. Also a number of special premiums were given on that day. Among the premiums were a fine Rocking Chair to the oldest lady present; a walking cane to the oldest gentleman; a silk parasol to the prettiest lady; a jewel box to the oldest married couple; a sack of flour to the youngest married couple; a pair of baby shoes to the prettiest baby; a pair of Belgian hares to the boy that could jump the highest. Every prize was well worth competing for. The editor of the Campbellsburg Graphic gave us a grand "write up" and said we were the most successful of any picnic ever held in our midst. We give an ice cream supper on August 9 and then we hasten to have a gold medal contest. Our next regular meeting will be held in the M. E. Church with a literary program.

The Georgia Evangelist, Sam Jones, lectured recently in Greensburg. He can tell the truth about the need of prohibition in a most fascinating and convincing manner. In this lecture, for which tickets were sold at 50 cents each, Mr. Jones is reputed to have said that at no time in the history of the Church was it ever so dead and lifeless as now, because it refused to take up the issues—Holiness unto the Lord and Prohibition.

Greensburg, ever on the alert, secured Mrs. Frances E. Beauchamp, State President of Kentucky and Assistant Recording Secretary National W. C. T. U., for her only Sunday in Indiana.

Mrs. Sarah Wheatley is the new Treasurer of Greensburg Union.

Our former State Evangelist and loved sister, Mrs. Louise Thomson, is now living at Palo Alto, Cal., the seat of Leland Stanford, Jr. University.

Mrs. Ella Blaney, of Auburn, writes: "We have a very prosperous Union, not only in number, but in work. In connection with Anti-Saloon League we have secured evidence against several saloonkeepers, causing their arrest. We are arranging for a fountain in the Court park, expecting it to cost between $200 and $300. For several weeks we were under smallpox quarantine and did not do much, but we are busy now."

Rev. Alice Palmer, President Lake County W. C. T. U., has been actively at work in her own county and elsewhere. She spent two delightful days with the Hebron Union planning county work. Lectured and made twelve calls upon those whom we wished to interest. Was invited to address Englewood, Chicago Union on "The Round-the-World Missionaries," at Emerald avenue Presbyterian church. Had a fine attendance of ladies for all the warm weather. It was their Monthly Social meeting, July 18. On Sabbath, June 23, Miss Palmer addressed two fine audiences in the M. E. and Presbyterian churches at Valparaiso; led the meeting of the Y. W. C. A. and the devotions at College Chapel on Monday morning; presented and urged the work of the W. C. T. U.

At Roachdale, Putnam County, a Woman's Christian Temperance Union was organized on July 12, by Miss Mary Hadley, State Organizer. There is an enrollment of twenty-nine members. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Mattie Irwin; Vice-President, Mrs. M. Ada Rich; Recording Secretary, Miss Emma Hanna; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Nellie L. Rice; Treasurer, Mrs. Queen Young. Much interest is shown and the foundation is laid for a most promising Union.

Eunice Wilson Union, of Upland, Grant Co., celebrated the Fourth of July. The program for the forenoon consisted of singing by a male quartette and an excellent address by Rev. Shouse, of Kokomo. In the afternoon a silver medal contest was held, given by six boys and songs by the children and girls. To complete this program, we had with us our dear Mrs. McWhirter, of Indianapolis, who gave one of her most excellent, helpful addresses. In speaking to one of the business men of her address, he expressed himself something like this: "That was good. I knew what that would be before I went." While we did not attract as many of the element we hoped to reach, yet we are encouraged and may try again next year.

LaFayette W. C. T. U. celebrated the Fourth of July by holding an all-day picnic at Columbian Park. Public invited. Games and athletic contests in the morning. Addresses by Rev. A. G. Detch, of LaFayette, and Mr. J. F. Horn, a native Syrian. Mr. Detch's subject, "The Future Mission of the W. C. T. U.," Mr. Horn's, "Syria's View of the Temperance Question." Good attendance. Ladies sold ice cream and cake.

Deer Creek W. C. T. U. has been fortunate in securing Mrs. S. M. Stahl, of Hartford City, for a lecture, sermon and Mothers' Meeting. Special mention must be made of Mrs. Stahl's talk on the "Duty of Mothers" to an audience of ladies. This Union, although flourishing before, was strengthened by the visit of this talented woman. Five new members were received, all of whom were young women full of zeal for the cause. Deer Creek Union takes pleasure in recommending Mrs. Stahl to every other Union in the State.

A gala day for the temperance people at Free-landville—The Loyal Temperance Legion gave a picnic on the Fourth of July at this place to show to the public the true object of the temperance organizations and to incite others to action in this work. The L. T. L.'s have been organized for five years and now have a paid up membership of seventy-five. There was but a small crowd present in the forenoon, but as the day advanced well-filled vehicles kept arriving until a very large crowd was present to hear the afternoon's program. The day's program opened with a song of welcome, "For God and Home and Native Land." "America" was sung by the L. T. L.'s, after which an inspiring address was given by Rev. W. G. Law, of the Vincennes Baptist Church. An intermission of two hours was given, during which time a public dinner was served. The first on the afternoon's program was a song by the Loyal Temperance Legion, "The Old Hoosier State," sang by L. T. L. Mr. Edward Koch, a silver medal holder, read the Declaration of Independence in a clear, emphatic voice, inspiring in the hearts a renewed love for home and country. The Y. W. C. T. U. sang "The Y's Brigade." Mr. Gipe, ex-State President of L. T. L., of Indianapolis, gave a patriotic temperance address on "The Life of Wendell Phillips." From the review of this noble character, whose faith and courage was severely tried during the slavery days, each one could realize more clearly his duty and responsibility to his country. Mr. Gipe said the slavery of to-day was more terrible than human slavery in the days of Wendell Phillips. The following are some of the many words of encouragement he gave to the L. T. L.: "King Alcohol trembles and well he may, for there is a day coming when he must die." "The hope of the future depends on the young people." He encouraged them to keep on in the good work and to look forward to victory.

Mr. Gipe is a young man, seventeen years of age, possessing superior talent as a public speaker. He spoke in a fearless manner, denouncing the liquor traffic in every form and declaring that in four more years his vote should be cast for temperance, thus showing the change in our government that is sure to follow temperance training. Rev. Shultz, of the German Evangelical Church, gave an enthusiastic address in German. Rev. Sanford, of the Baptist Church, sang "America." The program was interspersed by band music. No cigars were sold on the ground. Through the tireless efforts of the committee the day was considered a grand success. A neat sum was realized for the furtherance of the temperance cause.

Grant County has another Union, organized by Mrs. Cammack-Gibson, on July 19. Nineteen members. Mrs. Dr. Hawkins, President; Mrs. Anna Ammon, Secretary and Mrs. Hannah M. Shively, Treasurer. Three of these members belonged in Howard County, to Sims Union, only two miles away, but they will now work with the Swayzee Union and make splendid leaders for the new Union.

Mrs. Elmira Staples, of South Bend, our efficient and earnest State Superintendent of Christian Citizenship, has been quite sick.

The Greencastle Union recently sent two hundred button-hole bouquets to the Reform School for Boys at Plainfield.

Miss Mary Hadley has recently organized a Union of sixteen members at Bainbridge, Putnam County. This Union is directly the result of the W. C. T. U. Institute held there in the spring.

Colorado claims another one of Indiana's workers—Mrs. Sarah D. Curtiss, for several years President of Tippecanoe County and State Purity lecturer. Mrs. Curtiss is in Pueblo, doing effective work it Purity there and in that district of the State. Our loss is Colorado's gain.

Mr. James Gipe, our former State President of the L. T. L., has greatly pleased the people where he has gone for public addresses. He will be available for services until the opening of the Indianapolis High School in September. His address is 808 North Delaware street, Indianapolis.

Disaster and Death from the Cigarette—On Sunday, July 28, Mr. Dennis Williams, of Howard, Ind., was buggy riding with a Miss Parent. Sparks from the cigarette he was smoking ignited Miss Parent's clothing and with all the effort of the young man to extinguish the flames, she was so fearfully burned as to cause her death the day following. At this writing (July 30), the sanity, if not the life, of Mr. Williams, is reported to be in jeopardy, so great is his regret.

Dearborn County Unions are preparing to have a booth at the county fair at Lawrenceburg for the distribution of literature. Mrs. Ida Eubank, of Guilford, is the Superintendent of Fair Work. The L. T. L. Secretary, Mrs. Jennie Ward, organized an L. T. L. at Wright's Corner.

Moore's Hill Union is collecting comfort bags for the soldiers. The July meeting was entertained by Mrs. C. J. Vayhinger and Mrs. Fannie Penner-vill. A most excellent program of addresses and music was rendered and fifty guests were served with ice cream and cake by the ladies of the Union. At the regular meeting, July 25, at the home of Aunt Rhoda Baldwin, the members present were surprised by the hostess serving light refreshments. Mrs. Baldwin is the oldest member in the Union, she being eighty years old.

The Dillsboro Union is in a prosperous condition and feel that they have helped the cause of temperance in their work to enforce the Nicholson law. It is made up of women who are "constantly at it" in a quiet way. Led by Mrs. R. A. Perlee, Guilford Union has made a handsome gain in membership and is doing aggressive work. Mrs. Jennie Ward is their President.

The W. C. T. U. is perhaps the largest, brainiest organization of women in the world and the amount of good done by them is beyond calculation. They have belted the world with a white ribbon and tied it with a loving knot that cannot be untied.—California Voice.

The State of Missouri has held over 3,000 medal contests and has had a habit of taking the National Banner of the department annually, but Indiana has it now. There is no reason, however, why Indiana should acquire the same habit—though it is not a bad one—if some other states work for it.—The Pacific Ensign.

Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens and Miss Anna Gordon, President and Vice-President-at-Large of the National W. C. T. U., have just completed a southern trip of over eight weeks' duration. They traveled over 6,000 miles and delivered seventy-eight addresses.

The National Anti-Cigarette League will soon bring out a recitation book to be used in Anti-Cigarette and Anti-Narcotic medal contests. Mrs. Balch will carry the book in stock. Price, 10 cents.

At Plainfield, on July 12, a class of six boys took part in a silver medal contest in the presence of a good audience. Albert, the fifteen year old son of Hon. James Barlow, secured the medal, and a book was presented to Master Ralph Bridges as a second prize. The contest was somewhat out of the ordinary, the contestants, the ushers and most of the orchestra being boys, and of the three judges, two were men. Our President, Mrs. Sallie A. Mills, deserves much credit for the able manner in which she carried out the work of organizing the class and for the successful outcome of the contest. Our Union is in good condition. Flower Mission Day was observed here, flowers being given to the patients of Keeley Institute and to the sick and infirm.

IN MEMORIAM.

Amboy Union has been again visited by the death angel, taking from our midst Mrs. Mary E. Melton. This makes the third member who has gone from works to reward since the 2d of May. She had continued her membership from the date of its organization, March, 1890. She ever felt a deep interest in the work and she leaves a vacant place in our ranks which no other can fill. During her long illness she realized the presence of the Great Physician to soothe and sustain her.

RAILROAD RATES TO STATE CONVENTION.

A fare of one and a third for the round trip will be granted upon the certificate plan to all persons attending the W. C. T. U. state convention at Kokomo, October 4 to 8.

Buy a ticket to Kokomo at regular rates, get a certificate from the ticket agent. When this certificate is properly signed at the convention it entitles the holder to purchase a return ticket from Kokomo for one third regular fare.

Persons living in small towns should ask ticket agents to be provided with certificates, for without these no reduction in rates will be granted.

STATE CONVENTION.

The State Convention of the Indiana W. C. T. U. will be held at Grace Methodist Church at Kokomo, October 4 to 8.

Great preparations are being made at Kokomo for the entertainment of our state convention. The very best churches in the city were offered for the convention.

The following are the names of committees and their chairmen. Upon these women and their helpers will depend much of the success of the plans for the convention:

Entertainment—Mrs. Ida Mix.
Hotel and Boarding House Rates—Miss Rosa Hillis.
Music—Miss Edith Hillis.
Reception to Meet Delegates—Mrs. Sarah Butcher.
Decorations—Mrs. Dr. Emma W. Moore.
Finance—Miss Rebecca Trueblood.
Courtesies—Mrs. Virginia Pollard.
To Receive Packages—Mrs. Zara Hostettler, No. 160 West Lincoln street.
Railroad Secretary—Mrs. Laura Mercer, No. 211 West Walnut street.
General Chairman—Mrs. Lida Outland.
Lunch—Mrs. Rosa Hillis.
Sunday Services—Mrs. Ida Mix.
Press—Mrs. Minnie Gwinn and Miss Rebecca Trueblood.
Usher and Page—Mrs. Fannie Pedigo.
Bureau of Information—Amy P. Rindge.
Check Room—Mrs. Virginia Kern.
Telephone and Telegraph—Mrs. Cynthia Morrow.

Post Mistress—Mrs. Martha Richards.

Sergeant-at-Arms—Mrs. Mattie Armstrong.

Mrs. Ida Mix, the heroic chairman of the Entertainment committee, desires that the names of delegates be sent in early, and that the number of L. T. L. delegates with the names be sent in by each union, so that places of entertainment may be assigned.

Delegates who have friends in Kokomo with whom they expect to stay will please give the name of the friend, with their own, so the committee can arrange their books accordingly.

In sending in the names of delegates, state name of county, name of union or L. T. L. Write plainly.

Send names in early to chairman of entertainment committee, Mrs. Ida Mix, Kokomo, Indiana. If persons have a decided preference as to who will be entertained with them, that should be stated when the names are sent in. Under no circumstance ask the entertainment committee to disarrange their books after your arrival at Kokomo so as to allow you to be entertained with some friend.

To provide entertainment for so large a convention means much. Let each sister help in all ways possible to lighten the burdens of committees.

A few days before leaving home each delegate having the name of her hostess should send her a letter telling her at what time she expects to arrive in Kokomo.

STATE CONVENTION.

Free entertainment for lodging and breakfast will be furnished for all delegates. Arrangements have been made for good meals to be served at twenty cents each.

Reduced rates have been secured at hotels and boarding houses for visitors attending the Convention.

Every delegate should be present at the opening of the Convention and remain until the close.

Counties and unions having badges should see that their delegates are provided with them. They serve as an introduction and add interest to the Convention.

Prof. De Motte will lecture on Saturday evening; every delegate should hear him and so far as possible take with her a boy or a girl.

Have your name and your hostess' address on your baggage.

Have your mail sent to Kokomo in care of your county delegation W. C. T. U. Convention, and it will be delivered to you without delay.

Mrs. Dr. Emma Moore, Chairman of Decoration Committee, requests that all local unions and county unions send or take their banners to Kokomo. They will add greatly to the interest of the Convention.

Take White Ribbon Hymnals to State Convention. Be sure and take copies of your local union programs and county convention programs with you for use on sample table at State Convention.

Arrangements have been made with the cab lines at Kokomo, so that a universal rate of ten cents will be charged during the day and until midnight within the city limits. Cabs will be at the Church at the close of every meeting. The street cars run near by and the service is good.

LAST WORDS BEFORE STATE CONVENTION.

WORDS OF GREAT IMPORTANCE.

WORDS NOT TO BE FORGOTTEN.

If the branches or departments have premiums to give workers, please be prepared to award them Friday night. Our Department reports must be in the hands of the recording secretary five days before the convention. See constitution. Local secretaries will receive two copies of the blanket report blanks. Fill one and send to county superintendent if you have one, and fill the other and send to State superintendent. Please give full reports on time. A program will be sent to each local union president by September 18 or before. Delegates should try to see this program, as it will give every information necessary.

LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION BRANCH.

Our State L. T. L. president resigned in August and Miss Edith Hillis, of Kokomo, class of '99, has been chosen to fill the vacancy. Only one of Miss Hillis' unselfish spirit and great devotion to our beloved cause would be willing to assume this responsibility so near the close of the year. Let us show our appreciation by rallying loyally around her and in the few remaining weeks put forth a strong effort to make this, our first convention of the new century, the best in our history.

County and local branch secretaries, please send me a report of your work for the whole year. If your Legion is inactive now but has held meetings during the year, don't fail to report what you did do, so as to give a complete report. By all means call a meeting of your inactive Legion at once, elect officers, arrange for regular meetings and send some of your seniors to the state L. T. L. Convention where they will gain knowledge and enthusiasm and bring home a good and helpful report. I hope each Legion will, this year, send one or more delegates—it pays. I need your report two weeks before State Convention. Obtain report blanks of your W. C. T. U. corresponding secretary.

Are you earnestly striving to bring up all lines of L. T. L. work? Have you sent your L. T. L. dues of ten cents per member to the state Treasurer? The books close September 25. Be sure to see each graduate to collect their annual dues of twenty-five cents and forward to Felix McWhirter.

The Infant Grade, try to enroll a few more and don't neglect to collect dues from those enrolled last year; send four out of the ten cents as State L. T. L. dues.

The Junior L. T. L., have you not some who are ready for examination for certificates? Send to me for examination questions. Please send me the names and grade of junior ready for certificates, of seniors ready for diplomas, and of any who have completed seal course reading and designate which seal they are entitled to. Diplomas, certificates and seals will be awarded at state convention.

Do try to obtain a few more subscribers for The Young Crusader. To the Legion or person sending in the greatest number of subscribers to our L. T. L. paper, I will give a copy of Miss Willard's Beautiful Life.

The Willard-Gordon banner will be won by the Legion paying greatest amount of L. T. L. dues and the large blue, by county organizing greatest number of new Legions. These banners will be awarded Friday evening of convention.

Elkhart, Lincolnville, Westfield, Argos, Ireland, Frankfort, Ft. Wayne, Hadley Home, Richmond, Free-landville, Wabash, N. Vernon, Elwood, Peru and Sims have taken "foundation blocks" for State autograph quilt. I hope very much that each one will complete their block before State Convention. Who will win the prize for greatest number of names on their block?

The money pledged at Frankfort convention for the Seal Library should be sent to my address. Don't forget to report and attend to it at once.

KATHRIN T. A. STRAW,
General Secretary.

PRESIDENT'S LETTER.

It seems so short a time since our State Convention last year, but it will be but a few weeks until we will meet again to make plans for our work another year. Hoping we may take courage from the victories won, and warning by defeats, if by our neglect of duty in any line of our great work has not been accomplished, that we most desired. I hope every White Ribboner may consider it her work in the next two weeks to invite her friends to join our ranks at this time, that more delegates may have opportunity to attend our State Convention, soon to convene in the city of Kokomo. May I ask again that local unions collect and forward dues in time, that no one may feel disappointed when the credential committee make their report of persons present who have the right to vote? Thanking every one for your love and kindness the past year, I am most sincerely,

EUNICE P. WILSON.

TREASURER'S NOTES.

Will Unions please remember to send the 50 cents for Local Committee Convention Funds to the State Treasurer through the regular channel for dues? Send to the County Treasurer where counties are organized. If county is not organized send direct to the State Treasurer. Do not wait and bring to the State Convention. The money should be checked out to the Local committee before the State Treasurer's books close, September 25th.

Have you gained the extra five or ten members over and above your paid membership last year? If not, make the effort within the next two days, that Indiana may be one of the winning states this year. TAKE NOTICE.

The Annual Membership fee in the W. C. T. U. is divided as follows: State dues 40 cents. County dues 15 cents. Local dues 20 cents and 25 cents for the Official Organization, THE MESSAGE. No one is a member of the organization until all has been paid. An error occurred in August MESSAGE stating county dues were 20 cents instead of 15 cents and local dues 15 cents instead of 20 cents.

In the March issue of the MESSAGE the following article appeared:

"Beautiful Life" or "A Great Mother" will be given as a premium to the person or Union sending in the largest list of renewals or new subscribers." This refers to the three months' trial subscription to the Union Signal. Will the Unions and persons sending in clubs please notify me at once the number secured, that I may know to whom the premium should be awarded at the State Convention.

AMANDA T. WHITSON.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

We are pleased to announce that Miss Addie Austin, of Chicago, will attend our State Convention in October. She comes as a representative of the Union Signal and the Woman's Temperance Publishing Association. We trust every delegate who is not already a subscriber to the Signal will come prepared to become one; also come prepared to purchase literature at Miss Austin's table. Unions die for the lack of knowledge which can be obtained through the reading of the Signal, the W. T. P. A. literature and our own State paper THE MESSAGE.

MID-YEAR EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

At the Mid-Year Executive Committee Meeting the following helpers for the State Convention work were named—Seating the Convention: Mrs. Katie Wert Holler, Miss Clara Sears, Mrs. M. L. Gipe. The material for this work will be in the convention room by Thursday noon, October 3.

Committee on Resolutions:

Miss Alice Ruth Palmer, Mrs. Retta Jones, Mrs. Sophia Toner, Sarah E. Thomas, Ella B. Wright.

If counties will pay the postage on State minutes for their County Conventions they can have them by ordering from the State Treasurer, Mrs. A. T. Whitson, 3335 North Meridian street, Indianapolis. Not a copy should be left on the shelves when they are so helpful to any worker.

The State President will attend Blackford County Convention.

Hartford City Loyal Temperance Legioners held a picnic at Eaton Park.

Diamond Medal Contest at the Prohibition Conference, September 17, 8 p. m.

Mrs. Ada B. Leck, State Superintendent, will have space and literature at the State Fair.

Rosedale Parke County's new union, has just sent State dues.

Knox County Convention at Vincennes, September 19.

Henry County will hold grand Gold Contest at its Convention.

Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, Richmond, has charge of the memorial services at Kokomo Convention. If you have names to be remembered send them to this sister.

Every mail I am receiving the news that officers have been elected for the Local Union. I shall never know if you made changes unless some one reports them, and unless I do get the changes, I shall be writing to the wrong women.

CENTRAL COMMITTEE MEETING.

The Central Committee met in the home of Mrs. Balch, August 19, with all members present. After prayer by Mrs. Vayhinger, the business of the State was immediately begun.

Moved by Mrs. Balch, that we have Mrs. McWhirter visit Kokomo and offer our hearty desire to co-operate with the local committee in its arduous effort to arrange for our annual gathering. Motion prevailed.

On motion, new blanks were directed, printed for the State departments, that were not represented on the blanket report blank. An effort will be made to secure Mrs. Blair for Sunday services at the State convention.

Moved by Mrs. Whitson, that we recommend that no delegate be appointed to either State or National Convention and receive pay for expenses to same, who does not pledge herself to attend and report having attended every meeting of the convention unless detained or called home by sickness of herself or family; any one failing to do this, forfeits her claim to any part of her expenses to the convention.

The premiums for the first, second and third best programs that have been prepared by local Unions was considered by the committee.

The Hadley Industrial School Board met with the committee, and considerable time was given to the discussion of various phases of the work of the home and its necessities. A woman sewing at $11.00 per month was allowed.

It was the sense of the committee that hereafter no county be allowed more than one child in the Home until after all applications from other counties be considered.

Mrs. Hattie Brand was made a solicitor for the Home in connection with her work as organizer.

The limit of free entertainment in the Home was fixed at twenty-four hours, and only one visit a year from parents or relatives.

The Y's were given the time from 1 p. m. until 3 o'clock on Saturday of the convention. The L. T. L's are to have Saturday morning, as last year.

MATTIE CAMMACK GIBSON.

HADLEY INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

If you were to spend a week in Hadley School and see the shortage in shoes to protect the feet of the girls, you who are responsible for the clothing of these girls would be awakened to your responsibility in this matter.

Some girls go for months without proper covering for their feet, and they smart under this shortage. Some of them are kept at home from church and Sunday school for weeks at a time on account of not having shoes.

If you could see the tears streaming down their cheeks as the others pass out to these services, you would realize that there should be immediate response to the calls for clothing. We have no fund at all with which to supply clothing or school books. Please be prompt in the matter of supplying them. Now that we come under the rules governing the public schools, we must be prompt in these matters or lose our standing in the community; and again, is this slowness of action the way to inspire confidence in these girls? Children learn more from example than precept. Day-school opens the 16th of September. I regret that it is necessary to make public these trials.

WOOLEY'S MESSAGE TO BOYS.

In writing to The Home Defender on the subject, "What Can Boys and Girls Do for the Cause of Prohibition?" John G. Woolley says:

"The best thing a boy can do for prohibition is to be a prohibitionist and know why. To be clean, intelligent and filial are the three graces of boyhood."

Much is contained in these few words. More than we would dare pass by without some comment. It is a great thing to be a prohibitionist, but it is a greater thing to be a prohibitionist and "know why," if you ever expect to be able to help the cause.

FRANCHISE.

Happy are we who live in an age when "names and creeds and alters fall, and Christ our Lord is all in all." For He alone is the search light of the mind; He it is that has brought to the world emancipating truth; He is the inexorable force to which all plans of the human race must yield; He has said and shall he not bring to pass that heavenly fiat which has gone forth that no large advances are to be made by men alone in the great realms of Church and State from which their laws have debarred those loving and sagacious advisers who, as the best of them are free to admit, have been to them the strength and joy of life?

As it is well known Norway has called in the help of women in its efforts to solve the drink problem, all above twenty-five years of age having been made voters on the temperance question.

We have never had a more comprehensive argument for woman suffrage than that priceless sentence from Abraham Lincoln: "No person is good enough to govern another without his consent." One of the best results of the ballot for women will be the greater willingness of men to vote. Statistics tell us that the stay-at-home vote constantly increases. It is avowed by the Boston Arena that in some cities less than thirty per cent of the voters cast the ballot, and in twenty-four of our largest cities barely half the voters go to the polls. But it is observed that in cities where women have the ballot, a much larger proportion of men exercise the liberty of the franchise.

At last the welcome light has broken, and we have discovered woman's ability to be something more than man's plaything, or servant, or slave, something more than a helpless being dependent on man for support. We have discovered that the trained woman is not inferior to the trained man, that the persuasive eloquence of Frances E. Willard did not suffer in comparison with the speech of any man of the country, and that in a great variety of pursuits, success perches upon the woman's banner as kindly to award its approval as upon man's.

Women, use the press, use the press, and let the whole world know. M. A. TOMPKINS.

As we are nearing the end of the year, I urge that you will remember to have your reports in promptly, so that you may have due credit for all work done. Please read very carefully the Plan of Work and see whether you are working according to the plans. The questions at the close will indicate the lines of work and I sincerely hope that you may answer them very fully. If any Union has not received copies of the Plan, please let me know immediately and you shall have it. State Evangelists will, in the future, only be appointed upon the recommendation of local and county Unions and with the endorsement of the State Executive Committee.

I am thankful that the number who have expressed a willingness to receive literature on Household Economic Work is increasing each year, showing that our society is appreciating more fully the necessity of doing all around work, in order that all the faculties bestowed on us by our Heavenly Father may become fully developed. I am extremely anxious that you will report before the State Convention any work done in your vicinity, whether you have been the promoter or some other body of women.

Our little union is giving the best of its efforts to the training of the children in L. T. L. and anti-cigarette clubs. You would be surprised how much help you would receive from outsiders in the anti-cigarette work, and this is why I insist that every union can conduct an anti-cigarette league. With it you have abundant opportunity to carry on the L. T. L. work as well. Hence I feel we are losing golden opportunities when we neglect this special line of work. If you will address "The National Anti-Cigarette League" 1118 and 1119, Woman's Temple, La Salle street, Chicago, Illinois, enclosing a few cents, you will feel you are living in a favored age, and not rest until you have received supplies for active work. There is not a Sabbath-school but will gladly espouse the cause, as they are doing in this and other States. Assuring you this is the open door to reach many hitherto unapproached, I am yours for the work.

MARY A. MOODY.

PRESS.

It seems we must continually wage our peaceful warfare. Many of you have no doubt noted that both daily and weekly papers frequently print in their editorial columns, articles advocating the return of the whisky canteen to army camps as a temperance measure, claiming that the abolition of the army canteen has resulted in an increase of intemperance, insubordination, discontent, desertion and disease. These misrepresentations and falsehoods should be met with facts, distinctly stated in the columns of the papers in which they appear. The whisky element are working to bring about the restoration of the canteen at the reassembling of Congress, and the people are being led by false reports to believe that the canteen really was a temperance measure. Have explained in the papers just what the canteen is. Many think it is the canteen carried by soldiers in the Rebellion, and do not know that it was a saloon or a store where beer was sold along with pins and needles and other necessities for the soldiers. So that while the enemy is spreading the falsehoods, we must see that the people know the truth.

MRS. MAY MOSER.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS.

The third quarterly temperance lesson appears September 22. Prov. 23:29-35. An excellent temperance lesson. Lesson writers have given us good notes and much practical teaching. Urge the pledge signing. Lengthen the State pledge chain. Make the day an attractive temperance day. Remember that Indiana won the banner last year because of good reports sent in, thereby giving names of superintendents appointed, the banner being given to largest increase of superintendent, so please send in full yearly reports by the 15th of September. Send report of September 22 immediately and we will try to get report in convention.

Take notice. Send pledge cards to Mrs. Minnie M. Gwinn, 324 Courtland avenue, Kokomo, Ind., who will receive and care for them in our convention city. Let us have good all around reports and keep the banner. Write anything which may be of interest to me.

ALICE G. GEARY.

CONVENTIONS.

Unusual activity in every union in the State indicates something of the interest felt in the approaching convention season. Many county conventions will be held during this month. When the roll of local presidents is called how many will respond yes to having organized an L. T. L., and yes to having organized a Y. or Y. branch? How many local presidents will be able to announce a gain of ten new members over and above all removals and deaths?

Now is a time that local superintendents can look at the results of their year's labor. No member should be superintendent of more than one department. At this time local union officers can estimate the amount of ground gained and consider plans for the future.

As far as possible all members should attend the county conventions. From an educational standpoint it is well to take the boys and girls too. One day spent in the average W. C. T. U. county convention will be great value to a High School boy or girl. We need them and they will enjoy the spirit of our conventions.

Kokomo Legioners are expecting many Legioners to attend the State W. C. T. U. and L. T. L. conventions. Send them, money spent for a trip like that will be of far greater value to them than presents at Christmas time.

Every union should send its full quota of delegates to the State Convention. Every delegate who is a mother, who possibly can do so, should take her son or daughter to Kokomo to attend the convention and remain over Sunday. All these boys and girls can secure board at reasonable prices, and oh, the inspiration they receive will be worth much to them. Our Local Committee on Boarding will give you information in regard to rates.

Prof. John B. De Motte's illustrated lecture, "Python Eggs and the American Boy" ought to be seen and heard by all boys and girls in America. No other man has succeeded in presenting in a pleasing manner such dazzling truths. Be sure and arrange to take some young person with you to hear Prof. De Motte on Saturday evening of the Convention.

We need young people to become interested in our cause. Invite them to attend our State Convention. If they belong to your own household bring them with you.

DELEGATES TO THE STATE CONVENTION.

Invite your husbands and your ministers to attend the State Convention. They will enjoy hearing Prof. De Motte's lecture on Saturday evening, and spending Sunday evening at Kokomo, if they can not leave their business for the entire time of the Convention and they can secure board at reasonable rates.

STATE L. T. L. CONVENTION.

The Seventh Annual Convention of the Indiana State L. T. L. will be held October 4 to 6, at Kokomo in connection with the W. C. T. U. Convention, October 4 to 9.

General Secretary and Associate County and Local L. T. L. Branch Secretaries and L. T. L. graduates are members of the Convention.

L. T. L.'s are urged to send their Senior Legioners as delegates and to forward their address to Ida M. Mix, Chairman Entertainment Committee.

Bring your marching songs and L. T. L. Banners. With hope and faith this call is sent out to all Indiana Legioners, asking your co-operation and prayers in making this Convention a success.

EDITH HILLIS,
Acting President.
KATHRIN ELIZABETH STRAW,
Corresponding Secretary.

FIELD NOTES.

Peru L. T. L. met at the home of its Secretary, Lulu Apt, on East Second street last Tuesday; had a splendid meeting, sixteen new members joined. The Secretary and her sister and brother procured the new members. We are to have an L. T. L. Silver Medal Contest real soon in the assembly hall of the Howe Factory. We think the influence will do some good, we hope so.

Mooreville Union observed Flower Mission day. Bouquets with Scripture texts were sent to the sick, afflicted and the aged. A little bow of white ribbon accompanied each text.

At the Parke County Convention on one evening will be held the Peace Congress of Nations in costume. Take the babies to the county conventions. Secure a Cradle Roll for your Union. Be sure and have a chorus of children's voices to sing at the convention and get as many boys as girls. We need the little boys—and the big boys, too—in this warfare.

"Anent Woman Suffrage" is the name of a good suffrage speech delivered by "Hans Schneider" in a debate on Woman Suffrage at Acton Park. This is being issued in leaflet form at 10 cents per dozen, or 35 cents per hundred. Send for some of them to Mr. A. T. Riley, Greencastle, Ind.

Economy W. C. T. U. has a nicely fitted up headquarters and will, this time, entertain Wayne County convention.

The Program of the Worthington Union is beautiful and well arranged. The meetings are held on the second Tuesday in each month.

The Prohibition and W. C. T. U. basket meeting, held August 21, at the fair grounds at Converse, was largely attended and a great success. The speakers were Elder Samuel W. Traum, Elder Nathan Johnson, Miss Laura Cammack and Rev. George Babcock, all of Converse; Mrs. Jennie Ridgeway, of Amboy, and Miss Clara Worl, of Peru. The music was furnished by the Converse and Amboy quartettes and the W. C. T. U. chorus, of Converse. In the afternoon a medal contest was held. The speakers were young men and young women. The contest was conducted by Miss Lulu Hunt, of Amboy. A patriotic flag drill and home protection march, by a class of young ladies from Amboy, closed the program.

Conventions will be held in the following counties: List of some county conventions.

Greensburg W. C. T. U.—The regular meeting of Greensburg W. C. T. U. was held August 6, at the country residence of Frank Gray, one mile east of the city. A hay wagon, decorated with bunting and flags, was sent in by Mr. Gray for the crowd, which proved large and weighty, and too much for the wagon, which broke down just outside the corporation, dumping the load in the highway, compelling a tramp on the cross-ties of the Big Four the remainder of the trip. All got there, however, swelling the number of visitors to more than one hundred.

The usual exercises, led by Mrs. Moody, local president, were followed by an article on cider, by Mrs. Wright, county president, which was exhaustively discussed by Revs. Lathrop and Potter, Drs. Wheatley and Wright, and Messrs. Thompson, Privett and Moody. For once the masculine element got the floor—or ground—and the women listened and let them go in.

Refreshments of cake and ices were served. Several snapshots of the crowd were taken by Mr. Chas. Woodward, and another wheel having been obtained the crowd returned to the city without further accident, having had a delightful afternoon with an addition of three new members.

The B. P. O. E., of Greensburg, held a street fair last week, commencing with the twelfth and winding up in a glare of fire works on the evening of the seventeenth. Two years ago we had an event of the kind and a great deal of opposition to such demoralizing and debauching scenes was developed; nevertheless the God and morality element again bowed the knee to Baal, and for a week revelry and vice have had full sway, while a black record has been made, the influence of which will long be felt in church and home. At first the W. C. T. U. and Prohibitionists were inclined to let the occasion go by default. On the former occasion, two years ago, a successful effort to lift a standard and show our colors was encouragement to try again, and a faithful few took possession of Dr. Wright's lawn, raised tents, and with flags and decorations, furnished meals and literature for the multitude. The outcome was glorious in the influence yielded for right and the cause, and also in the financial return. About four hundred were fed a full meal. The receipts in all $115, and profit over all expense $81. Give a fresh impetus to the cause and put new life (and some new members) into the organization. The enclosed accounts of Mrs. Beauchamp's series of meetings may be of interest to the readers of the MESSAGE. With our late experience we feel that it is always in order to "enter every open door," and it is the thing to do even with a street fair of his satanic majesty's getting up.

Songs of Happy Life, by Sarah J. Eddy, contains a valuable collection of songs appropriate for Bands of Mercy and Loyal Temperance Legions.

Mrs. Francis E. Beauchamp, of Lexington, Ky., one of the National Officers of the W. C. T. U. and Kentucky's State President, one of the most brilliant and talented women in the nation, was a guest for Saturday and Sunday of the Greensburg union.

Miami County Convention will be held at Converse one day and one night, September 18. Mrs. Luella F. McWhirter has been secured to lecture in the evening, for which we are much pleased.

Peru W. C. T. U. elected the following officers at its last meeting: President, Mrs. Anna Kilmer; Vice President, Mrs. Dora Danful; Recording and Corresponding Secretary, Eveline Fisher; Treasurer, Julia Parsons. We elected our Delegates to State Convention also. We are made sad to-day by the death of Mr. Sharp, father of Miss May Sharp, who has served us so long as a faithful Secretary. She resigned because her father needed all her attention. We sorrow with our dear sister. She has been one of the few faithful ones.

At Acton Park the subject of Peace and Arbitration was presented by the State Superintendent of that department. Mrs. Emma Hadley, of Richmond, who accompanied the superintendent, gave appropriate song service. At Island Park Assembly a larger audience listened to the same theme, and some very kind expressions of endorsement and sympathy were given. Yet the war notes of this present time seem to almost drown the voice that pleads for peace. For this very reason is the need greater that this voice should be heard, and we find very many eager to hear, for the heart of the people still loves to be at peace. I hope soon to send you a program for parlor meetings, which I think we can, through the coming year, make a power for good.

Huntington County is to the fore in activity. A Mercy contest at Roanoke, a W. C. T. U. contest at Anderson, with Mrs. Teats holding meetings at both places and at Huntington, and as a result over a dozen new members, is not so bad a showing in a couple of months, especially when the new force includes ministers and excellent material for future influence. County Convention September 26 to 27, with Mrs. McWhirter and a gold medal contest. Hurrah!

Mrs. Mary E. Teats, of California, has given the LaFayette people some excellent service. At a union service of four churches she spoke on some of the departments of the W. C. T. U., especially that of purity.

In the Presbyterian church a meeting for women only was held, from which great good will result. Eight new members were secured.

The county President, Miss Borum, arranged for a meeting on Saturday evening and Sunday for Mrs. Teats at Shawnee Mound. Much interest manifested by the people. We are glad to have Mrs. Teats in Indiana.

Mr. James Gipe attended a meeting in Columbus recently and spoke with great acceptability.

The Frankfort Union districted the city and a house to house canvass was made. We distributed five hundred of the leaflets entitled "What the National W. C. T. U. Has Done."

The Frankfort Union is anxious to have a part in the 1500 gain in membership and they secured Mrs. Luella F. McWhirter as the best and surest way of inspiring the people. Mrs. McWhirter was with us August 13. She delivered a powerful address in the M. E. Church; subject, "The Church versus the Saloon." Every effort had been made to interest the people and a large audience was present to hear her. All were pleased; some who had never participated in a W. C. T. U. meeting were present and instead of remaining silent and showing their disapproval of our principles; joined heartily in the Doxology at the close. Tables were arranged in the basement and amid the flowers and flags, light refreshments were served at the close and several new members were gained.

The Clinton County W. C. T. U. conducted a rest at their county fair. A large tent was rented and located near the floral hall. Comfortable chairs, cots and pillows were placed there, and many hundreds of mothers and children sought comfort, and rest, and quiet beneath our tent. Some of the White ribbon ladies were in attendance constantly to welcome all. Thousands of pages of literature were distributed. Many were the praises heard on every side. Some were heard to say "That W. C. T. U. free rest is doing more good than a dozen lectures would."

Grant County Convention will be held September 18 to 19, in the Christian Tabernacle at Marion. They hope to have Mrs. Beauchamp for the lecture of the 18th.

Marion Central W. C. T. U. is gaining new members almost every meeting. Each loyal member has pledged herself for one new member this quarter.

Churubusco W. C. T. U. held two Silver Medal Contests, August 30 to 31. The contestants for the first night were five boys; Master Alfred Jeffries winning the medal; his subject was "Mixing Politics With Religion." The contestants for the second night were six girls; Miss Dora Metsker winning the medal; her subject was "A Political Parade." Each contestant, except those winning the medals, received a book. We think this is a good plan, as it places good literature in the hands of our young people.

MARY M. COULTER,
President.

Mrs. Harriet F. Kidd, our efficient State Superintendent of Law and Statistics, will soon move to Texas. We greatly regret to lose so valuable a friend and worker.

Putnam County was organized on August 30, at Roachdale. Representatives being present from Greencastle, Bainbridge and Roachdale unions.

Miss Hadley, through whose untiring efforts organization was made possible, was present, and in her own sweet manner made everybody feel interested and at home.

The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Mary Webb, Greencastle; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Anna ———, Roachdale; Treasurer, Mrs. ———, Recording Secretary, Mrs. E. A. Rice, Roachdale.

The Convention was greatly interested in the evening lecture delivered by Miss Hadley.

The cordial hospitality of the Roachdale people was greatly appreciated by visiting delegates.

Huntington County—The following points in the Huntington county program indicate that great results will surely follow that county convention. Music in charge of Mrs. Hoover and Mrs. Wheeler. "The Apathy of Temperance People; Who is Responsible?" Mrs. Rhodes of Andrews. At 2 p. m. of first day, County President's annual address, followed by reports of County Officers and Local Presidents. A Mother's Hour. In the evening a Gold Medal contest. Second day—Reports of County Superintendents of Departments. "Motherhood and Child Culture." Department Mothers' Meeting, Mrs. DeLong, of Roanoke. Fifteen minutes for discussion, followed by plans for gaining new members and attracting visitors to local meetings, by a member from each local Union. Election of county officers and Superintendents, followed by a song service. "Our Rescue Forces; the Children." Department of L. T. L. work, discussion and organization of L. T. L., Mrs. Zent, of Roanoke. Report of committees, etc. Invitations for membership. Consecration service. Closing with evening address.

IN MEMORIAM.

Mrs. Ettie Scott, a sweet, lovable and honored member of the Hadley W. C. T. U., was called home August 7, after a long illness from consumption. During all her suffering she was always patient and cheerful. To see and know her was to love her. Just a short time before her death she told her friends she would have to go and bade the members of her family farewell, requesting each should meet her in the Glory Land. She was faithful to the cause of temperance and the first in every good work. We know our loss is her gain. Like many others, our union on earth is broken, but one more tie is added to the union in heaven, where the little white bow will be exchanged for the white robe and palms of victory. She leaves a husband and three children.

Elizabeth Ingling, daughter of Tomas and Emily Milhouse, was born May 27th, 1848, died May 16th, 1901. She lived with her parents near Bridgeport until she was married to Apowler Ingling, Sept. 11th, 1866. Death was not unlooked for, as she has been a sufferer for several months. Yet it seemed to those who were watching beside the dear one that she was resting easier on that particular morning. Yet the message came and thus ended the life of a faithful wife, a loving and devoted mother, a kind and helpful neighbor, a quiet, unassuming, but active and faithful church member; her kind, loving and generous spirit was felt wherever she went. She had a birth right in the Friends' Church, but later joined the M. E. Church by letter. She was a member of the Bridgeport W. C. T. U. and was anxious to do all she could in the line of temperance work. She leaves a husband, daughter, relatives and many friends to mourn her loss.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hudson, was born in Clark county, Ohio, Aug. 31, 1833, and died after an illness of two weeks at Rich Valley, Wabash county, Indiana, Aug. 23, 1901, aged 67 years, 11 months and 23 days. She was a member of the Josephine R. Nichols' Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Wabash, and one of the heroines of the crusade days. Her whole life was one of self sacrifice; her heart was ever open to those in need or distress as a mother to the motherless. Her niece and nephew mourn her loss to-day as the only mother they have ever known.

THE MESSAGE.

"Not by Might nor by Power, but by My Spirit."

VOL. V. No. 10.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., OCTOBER, 1901.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR.

INDIANA WHITE RIBBON SPECIAL TO FT. WORTH, TEXAS.

The National W. C. T. U. convention will be held at Ft. Worth, Texas, November 15 to 20. One fare plus two dollars has been announced for the round trip.

The routes selected are the Big Four from Indianapolis to St. Louis; the St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern and Texas & Pacific from St. Louis to Ft. Worth. The distance from Indianapolis to Ft. Worth is about one thousand miles. The route passes through Little Rock, the capitol of Arkansas; Malvern, which is located twenty-two miles east of Hot Springs; Texarkana; Marshall, Longview, Minneola and Dallas, Texas. The rate from Indianapolis to Ft. Worth and return will be $28.90.

The White Ribbon special coach, containing our Indiana delegates and friends, will leave Indianapolis on November 12 at 3:25 p. m. via Big Four. On the sides of the coach will be great white streamers upon which will be these words: "Indiana W. C. T. U. Enroute to Ft. Worth, Texas." Instead of taking the sleeper at Indianapolis we will use a regular coach provided for our exclusive use to St. Louis, at St. Louis we will find our sleeper waiting for us in the Union station. The expense for the sleeper through from St. Louis to Ft. Worth will be $2.00 for a double berth, which will accommodate two people.

The Kentucky and Tennessee delegations are planning to meet us at St. Louis. How delightful it will be to have them join us. Several college girls will join our party. Mothers are urged to consider the advantages of the trip for themselves and their young people. Very reasonable hotel and boarding house rates will be made for all visitors at the convention. Usually $1.00 per day rate is made. Where could $6.00 be spent for yourself, your daughter or son in board where it would bring more lasting benefit?

Persons desiring an extension of time on their return tickets, in order to visit relatives or friends in Texas, should communicate with Mrs. McWhirter. All persons expecting to join the party should see their ticket agents at least one week previous to time of starting and request them to have on hand a return trip ticket to Ft. Worth; if possible, get a ticket that does not have to be signed at St. Louis. We hope that all who can do so will join us at Indianapolis. We leave in afternoon in order to make it possible for all to arrive in Indianapolis without any night travel. We want some of the good husbands and brothers to go with us. If they do, we will promise them plenty to eat on the trip.

To attend a National convention of the greatest reform organization of the world means much. Few can do so without getting an inspiration that will lead to a higher, holier life. That young lives may have this privilege, make an effort to take some young person with you. The text book knowledge, or the class room experience of seven or eight days, can in no way give the breadth of view, the education or inspiration that surely results from travel and close touch with representatives of the greatest woman's organization the world has ever known. Christian women, mothers and sisters as diplomats, parliamentarians, logical thinkers, debaters and orators, all enlisted in a warfare against the liquor traffic and its attendant evils. Friends of the W. C. T. U. are cordially invited to join our party. Everybody is requested to bring a well filled lunch basket, thus saving dining car expense.

Have as much baggage as possible checked through to Ft. Worth.

The following is a list of Railroad Rates to Ft. Worth, Texas, and return on account of the National W. C. T. U. Convention:

Anderson	$30.00
Aurora	30.40
Elkhart	30.70
Frankfort	28.75
Ft. Wayne	31.15
Greencastle	27.65
Greensburg	29.15
Indianapolis	28.90
Kokomo	29.20
LaFayette	28.35
Logansport	29.65
Marion	30.50
Muncie	30.40
Richmond	30.40
Rockport	27.91
Terre Haute	26.65
Vincennes	26.05
Wabash	30.54
Winchester	30.40

All persons desiring to avail themselves of this trip and a visit to Hot Springs, Arkansas, can get further particulars regarding the trip by applying to Mrs. Luella F. McWhirter, 2312 College Avenue, Indianapolis.

THE STATE MINUTES.

Following the precedent set by the State, in sending the National Minutes to the State Superintendents and County Presidents, the State Convention again adopted the resolution that the counties should send a free copy of the State Minutes to each Local Union President, County President and County Superintendent. In view of the fact that in order to do effective work, our workers must have tools to work with, we especially urge every county to comply with this request at an early date. The Minutes will soon be ready to be sent out and should be in the hands of the women as early as possible. Furthermore, it is urged that every Union in the State should furnish their Local Officers and Superintendents with a free copy of the State Minutes. The number of Minutes taken in a county will again be placed at the head of the counties, as has been done this year. We are gratified that there was an increase in sale of Minutes last year over that of the year before and feel assured that there will be an increase this year over last. The Unions and counties whose every officer and Superintendent is supplied with a free copy will receive special notice in the MESSAGE and State Minutes. Will persons, sending in orders, please state whether everyone is supplied or not? Price of Minutes same as last year, 15 cents if sent by mail. This covers postage, or 10 cents if sent by express and you pay the expressage. Again, let me urge you to send in your orders at once to Amanda T. Whitson, 3335 North Meridian street, Indianapolis, Ind.

Y. W. C. T. U.

Another year I have been selected to lead you in the work of the Young Woman's Christian Temperance Union Branch, and ask for your co-operation, prayers and reports. Let this be our best year. Who will be the first to double their membership? Chalmer Y. received the state banner and Ashley stood next highest. Now who will try for it next year? Let us take an offering once a quarter and send to the Y. secretary for a fund to have a new, clean, fresh banner for our next state convention.

Miss Mable Jeffery, of South Bend, is the new Flower Mission Superintendent. Again a member of the Y., our dear Miss Ethel McWhirter, felt, with her school work at DePauw University, she could not take it again, so please notice the change and write Miss Jeffery for plans.

Mrs. R. W. McMahan, 805 Meridian street, Anderson, Ind., address of the new State Superintendent; she is also a Y. W. C. T. U. and we feel very proud to have another give her time to this department.

Goodland Y. sent in their report too late for this year, but will be placed in the first quarter's report, December 15; thirteen active and ten honorary members. We are proud of the Goodland Y. Double your membership this year if you can.

Telegram of greeting and congratulation was sent to our beloved National Secretary, Miss Clara M. Parrish.

Y. conference Saturday, 7:30 A. M.; the Secretary, Miss Sears, was in the chair. Prayer, Miss Palmer. All recited John 3:16, after which Miss Edwards was appointed Secretary pro tem. New state Y. programs were distributed, and Mrs. Metz led in the discussion in regard to the lowering of the Y. dues from $1.00 to 50 cents. Recommendation of the same was to be presented to the convention, but on account of the unconstitutionality of the recommendation the same was expunged from the minutes. Number of Y. delegates present, 16; visitors, 8. After announcing the afternoon program, we adjourned. CLARA M. SEARS, Secretary Y. Branch.

A BRITISH WHITE RIBBONER.

Miss C. I. Tinling, a lecturer and organizer of the British Woman's Temperance Association, is in this country and will attend the National Convention at Fort Worth, Texas. She is now working in Vermont, but is open to dates in Indiana from November 4 to 11. Her terms are $5.00 per night and expenses from the last point at which she speaks. Mrs. Fry writes that she is particularly interested in Y. work.

Dear sisters, this may be just the opportunity you need to interest the young people of your community in this great work. Unions desiring to secure the services of Miss Tinling will please write to me at once, before her dates are all taken.

MRS. HATTIE WRIGHT BRAND.
1403 Ashland avenue, Indianapolis.

Minutes will soon be ready to be sent out. Every member needs a copy. Order at once of Mrs. Amanda T. Whitson, 3335 North Meridian street, Indianapolis, Ind.

CONVENTION.

The twenty-eighth Indiana State W. C. T. U. Convention was held at Kokomo, October 4 to 8, in Grace M. E. Church. A cordial welcome was extended to delegates as they stepped off the trains, which continued during their entire stay in the beautiful city of Kokomo. White ribbons fluttered from the carriages and cabs at the stations, waving a welcome at once so significant and silent. The homes were generously open to the representatives of Indiana's noblest, truest womanhood. There were 272 voting delegates present.

The President's address and the officers' reports were received with much interest and appreciation. Although there was reported a decrease in membership in the State, much efficient work has been done.

The Superintendents had charge of the program for Friday afternoon, Mrs. Ada B. Leck, President of the Board of Superintendents, presiding.

Welcome night was greatly enjoyed by all. Seldom have White Ribboners been so truly welcomed by the mayor of a city as by his honor, W. S. Armstrong, whose words were strong and encouraging.

Prof. R. A. Ogg, in behalf of the schools, extended a welcome such only as could be done by a man whose heart and life had been touched by the need of boys and girls for better opportunities through a truer, higher citizenship. Rev. E. G. Shouse, in behalf of the churches, welcomed the convention with a genuine Southern cordiality—possible only for a man of God who has a conception of the need of awakening the Christian conscience of this country to stand with voice and vote against the licensed saloon.

Our own Mrs. Lida Outland, in behalf of the W. C. T. U., welcomed the convention after the great-heartedness of White Ribboners, as one who had heard the wail of humanity and felt the power of the Christ love. Miss Edith Hillis, a beautiful young girl, extended a sweet, loving welcome from the Y's. Master James E. Mix, in behalf of the L. T. L., spoke practical words of welcome in a manner indicating strength and loyalty. No doubt from this young Legion orator, Indiana will hear more in the future.

To respond to the welcomes from the representatives in behalf of the city, the schools, the church and the W. C. T. U., was no small task; however it was the honor and pleasure of the editor of the MESSAGE to make such response.

Response to the Y's was by Miss Clara Sears, State Y. Secretary, whose winsome manner and beautiful spirit cause her to be greatly loved.

Response to the L. T. L.'s, James Gipe, our young Prohibition orator, was practical and inspiring. He is a fine speaker.

The State Loyal Temperance Convention was held on Saturday morning, Miss Edith Hillis, Acting President, presiding. The attendance was large. The President's address and officers' reports were all encouraging and helpful, showing that practical work was being accomplished and the paid membership in the State Legion was nearly doubled during the past year.

On Saturday afternoon Miss Clara Sears, State Y. Secretary, had charge of the program until 3 o'clock, followed by the election of officers. The same officers were re-elected, excepting our dear Mrs. Mary E. Balch, who refused re-election. She has served Indiana so faithfully and well for years that we felt we could not give her up. Mrs. Hattie Wright Brand, of 1403 Ashland avenue, Indianapolis, was elected Corresponding Secretary as her successor.

Mrs. Brand has traveled much in Indiana and has a host of admiring friends. She will bring earnestness and consecration into her new duties.

On Saturday evening the stereopticon lecture by Prof. John B. DeMotte, subject—"Python Eggs and the American Boy," was well worth the trip to Kokomo—so said many people.

It was indeed a rare privilege for our White Ribboners to hear this great man speak on one of the grandest themes to-day, considered by intelligent beings.

On Sunday morning and evening, our White Ribbon women spoke in the churches of Kokomo, a free will offering in each church being given to the cause.

In the afternoon a mass meeting was held in the convention church addressed by Mrs. E. D. Blair, our National chalk talker, and Miss Marie Brehm, National Superintendent of Franchise and our own Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley. The music was excellent.

Platform night was, as usual, very interesting. Short addresses by Mrs. Mattie Cammack-Gibson, Miss Alice R. Palmer, Mrs. M. A. Tompkins, Miss Walker, Mrs. Rose Pearce, Mrs. Ada Squires and Mrs. Retta Jones.

In the near future the editor of the MESSAGE is hoping that arrangements can be made so the paper may be received by all Indiana White Ribboners about the first of the month.

THE MESSAGE.

The following schedule of prices has been decided upon until the membership lists adjust themselves this year:

The MESSAGE three months or more.....$0.10
The MESSAGE six months or more..... 0.15

All business communications should be addressed to, and all remittances made payable to Mrs. Clara E. Balch, 711 East Eleventh Street, Indianapolis, Ind.

EDITOR, MRS. LUELLA F. McWHIRTER,
2312 College Avenue, Indianapolis.

All communications intended for the MESSAGE should be in the hands of the Editor by the 5th of the month.

OCTOBER, 1901.

In your columns in the daily and weekly press please give the people facts about the efforts being made to re-establish the canteen.

Presidents of all Unions are urged to appoint a reporter for the MESSAGE, and request that at least a postal card item be sent to the editor once a month. This item to refer either to the work done by the Union or by a member of the Union.

Unions that are anxious to increase interest in their meetings would do well to have some good reader read and explain a report of one of the State Superintendents, as given in the annual report. Facts from these would also be interesting for public meetings.

CONVENTION NOTES.

The convention was held in the magnificent Grace M. E. Church, whose pastor, Rev. Leslie Nafitzger, is a royal souled man who "belongs."

The decorations were of yellow and white bunting and the beautiful banners, National, State, County and local.

Mrs. Studebaker, our songstress, ever inspires by her magnetic enthusiasm and sweet self forgetfulness.

The greetings from the ministry of Kokomo were greatly appreciated. Those who came were Reverends Nafitzger, Floyd, Myers, Allen, Shouse and Newlin.

Miss Laura Cammack, of Converse, was time keeper for the convention, and Mrs. Anna Kilmer for the meeting of the Superintendents.

Mrs. Ida Mix, of Kokomo, was elected State L. T. L. Secretary to succeed Mrs. K. T. A. Straw.

A deficit of $107.00 was reported by the State Treasurer. This amount was pledged by the Convention, so that we may start this year free from debt.

By the generosity of the delegates a life size, framed picture of Miss Willard will be hung on the walls of the High School Assembly Hall at Kokomo.

In many places the school buildings are being named for our departed chieftain, Frances E. Willard.

Because of Indiana's victories in the past, when our Mrs. Farquhar of LaPorte attended the Colorado State Convention, she was invited to sit upon the platform. The President said, "because she came from Indiana."

So much for taking the National banner for membership two years in succession for making the greatest per capita gain in membership. This great victory for our membership was not a third as large as several other States. Last year, because of our plan for Superintendents reporting quarterly, our reports increased so that we won five National banners for department work. Is it any wonder that other States show honor to our members? "Nothing succeeds like success." This year our Superintendents' reports have fallen off as a result of action of the convention to report annually. By request of the Superintendents we are this next year to report again quarterly. Good.

Invitations for the next convention were extended from Huntington and Richmond. The entire delegations from Huntington and Wayne Counties came upon the platform, headed by their respective Presidents, Mrs. Lou E. Rall and Mrs. Hannah Stanley, who each extended an invitation for the next annual convention to come to her County.

By vote of the convention the invitations were referred to the executive committee, where much eloquence and oratory was used. Huntington received the largest vote and the convention of 1902 will be held there. It is one of the most beautiful little cities of northern Indiana, on the banks of the Wabash.

Mrs. Wheeler, of Huntington, who can not see with earthly eyes, sang for the convention several times, once until all hearts were melted. Mrs. Elnora Zent, of Roanoke, sang Indiana's song to the delight of all.

A subscription of $68.00 was taken for the Hadley Industrial School. Much interest was manifested in the school. The following officers of the Board of Trustees were re-elected: President, Miss Lucretia Hobart, Gallaudet, Marion county; Secretary, Mrs.

Mary Tarlton, 2108 College Avenue, Indianapolis; Treasurer, Mrs. Rebecca Hessong, Nora, Marion county.

Miss Addie Austin, representative of the Woman's Temperance Publishing Association, was present with literature. Miss Austin is a favorite with Indiana White Ribboners and we are always glad when she comes to our meetings.

Mrs. Anna Kilmer, State Superintendent of Work Among Foreigners and the successful President of Miami county, will soon move to Benton Harbor, Mich. Mrs. Harriet F. Kidd, State Superintendent of Law and Statistics, and for years President of Wabash county, has moved to Texas. Mrs. Lottie Searls, State Superintendent of Work Among Colored People, goes soon to Texas also. Mrs. Kidd and Mrs. Searls are from Wabash Union. We regret to lose them, but our loss will be others' gain. By order of the convention, letters will be sent on to the General Officers of Michigan and Texas, telling them of their gain.

The chairmen of convention committees were patient, kind and courteous to every body.

Mrs. Mix, the chairman of Committee on Entertainment, was gracious and kind to all—she "kept sweet."

Prof. Ogg, Superintendent of City Schools, put on the white ribbon. Mrs. Ogg had previously been a member.

Mother Trish brought good cheer to the convention.

Miss Alice R. Palmer, one of our "Round the World Missionaries," has returned to Indiana and is pastor of a Congregational church in Hammond. For several months she has been President of Lake county. Her presence added to the convention.

To our dear Mrs. Mary E. Balch a beautiful solid gold watch was given by the convention, very few delegates not having a share in the gift.

The newspaper editors of Kokomo gave much space to convention reports.

Mrs. Mary E. Balch was elected President of the State Board of Superintendents; Mrs. Ada B. Leck, Secretary; Mrs. Juliet R. Wood, Treasurer.

With unusual enthusiasm the Superintendents of Departments are beginning the year's work. No doubt great good will be accomplished and victories come to Indiana.

MRS. MARY WOOD-ALLEN, World's Superintendent Parity. Author "Almost a Man, Almost a Woman," "Teaching Truth," etc.

PRESS.

Will the County and Local Presidents please send to me the names of their Press Superintendents very soon? I want us to begin now to make this the best year's work in this department that has ever been made in Indiana.

Surely there is no better nor surer way of reaching the people all over the State than through the press. Keep our work constantly before them; let them know what you are doing, report all meetings, and don't forget the clipping and pasting on muslin of all articles on our work. Let us have many hundreds of yards of these clippings to take to our next State Convention.
MISS LAURA CAMMACK,
CONVERSE, IND. State Superintendent.

Prof. John B. DeMotte's illustrated lecture at our State Convention, on Saturday evening, set in motion thoughts that will help every thinking person who heard it. The subject was "Python Eggs and the American Boy." The theme was "habit, the biggest word in the English language." In an interesting and fascinating manner he gave the latest research work in brain building and its effect upon character. Prof. DeMotte, scientist and lecturer, stands first in the list of popular lecturers to-day in America and Europe. Few men possess the versatility, persistence and energetic enthusiasm of Prof. DeMotte. He is a man with an ideal home life, a practical Christian, a musician of rare ability, a favorite among college students, a scientist, lecturer and famous thinker, possessing a great heart, which seeks ever to help and inspire to higher ideals.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT

Is an outspoken friend of woman suffrage. The Woman's Journal (Boston) says: "Roosevelt is the first President of the United States since Abraham Lincoln who had expressed himself publicly in favor of woman suffrage before attaining the Presidency. Cleveland proved himself favorable to it by actions rather than words, as he signed bills giving women partial suffrage in New York when he was Governor of that State. Hayes favored it in his quiet way and helped the senior editor of The Woman's Journal to get a woman's rights resolution through the National Republican Convention of 1872. Garfield recognized its growing importance. He said: 'Laugh as we may, put it aside as a jest if we will, keep it out of Congress or political campaigns, still the woman question is rising on our horizon larger than the size of a man's hand; and some solution, ere long, that question must find.' Some other Presidents were believed to be more or less friendly to it, but Roosevelt and Lincoln have been the only ones to put themselves conspicuously on record."

"It is still fresh in memory what consternation Roosevelt excited among conservatives by his recommendation of woman suffrage in his message to the legislature when Governor of New York. And Lincoln said in a letter to the electors of Sangamon County, Ill., published in the Sangamon County Journal, June 13, 1836: 'I go for all sharing the privileges of the government who assist in bearing its burdens; consequently I go for admitting all whites to the right of suffrage who pay taxes or bear arms, by no means excluding the females.'"

In the death of our beloved sister, Mrs. Frankie Hall, of Franklin, the W. C. T. U. has lost a faithful, loyal, earnest friend. At her funeral, which was very largely attended, the C. W. B. M. ladies and the White Ribboners sat in a body. The MESSAGE extends sympathy to Dr. Homer J. Hall, our friend and co-laborer, the bereaved husband, and to the children.

Minutes will soon be ready to be sent out. Every member needs a copy. Order at once of Mrs. Amanda T. Whitson, 3335 North Meridian street, Indianapolis, Ind.

F. F. KEITH,
President Illinois Senior L. T. L.

SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

Another year has gone, the books have been closed and again opened at a new and a clean page. We start out this year feeling the need of greater activity for this line of work. We also feel stronger because we have had added to this department such able and earnest women as Mrs. Daisy Shontz, for associate, and Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley as our lecturer. We desire to reach every town in Indiana with our literature and to push this work as never before. Will you, dear reader, help in this work by sending in the name of your Superintendents, county and local? If you do not have Superintendents, please appoint them at once, so that we may send samples of leaflets, our catalogue of literature, annual report, Sabbath laws, responsive readings, etc. Ministers are taking up this work where there are no Superintendents appointed. Send $1.00 for literature and receive, in addition, free, one of our eighty-three page Manuals, which contain much valuable information on the Sabbath question. No Superintendent can do effective work without the Manual, as it gives forty-five different ways and suggestions of how to work, when to work and where to work. Organize your Sunday school classes into bands of Sabbath observance workers; have them distribute literature from door to door, using such leaflets as No. 16—Sabbath Sunshine in the Home; No. 1—Sabbath Desecration; No. 7—Where are we Drifting? Much effective work can be done by this method. Hold public meetings, using local talent, and sow your literature wherever you go. If your work does not seem to be appreciated, go right on; God sees and understands and He will bless your efforts. We want to take Indiana for Sabbath observance this year; will you help?

KATIE WERT HOLLER,
State Superintendent.

FIELD NOTES.

Sunday evening of our State Convention, by invitation of Miss Palmer, who was to speak in Grace church, and by the State officers, Prof. DeMotte was prevailed upon to speak. For nearly one hour this man, with a wonderfully sympathetic nature and a magnetic personality, presented the latest teachings of biology relative to the formation of character. His presentation of scientific matters is so clear and plain that the boys and girls could easily follow his reasoning. The interest was intense; that great audience of over 2,000 people was held spell bound by the forceful, masterly eloquence of one of the rarest, noblest men of his century.

The L. T. L. at Fairview, with the W. C. T. U., held a gospel temperance meeting in the church, September 8, after which Mrs. Stahl, of Hartford City, gave a very interesting address. A good collection was taken and several signed the pledge. Fairview Union, of Blackford County, has organized an L. T. L. with twenty members. Hartford City L. T. L. had a picnic at Eaton Park.

In compliance with the recommendation of the State Superintendent of Literature to place temperance books in school libraries, the Upland Union has just ordered sixteen dollars worth of books to have ready to present to the public schools at the beginning of the school year. We selected them from the publications of the W. T. P. A., the New Voice Co. and the National Temperance Society, and are expecting large returns. Rev. C. E. Davis, of Marion, Ind., was with us the second and third of September with his stereopticon lectures, and we had a very pleasant, and we trust profitable time together. Our contest work during the year has been greatly appreciated by the people, and we approach the close of the year feeling that our work has not been in vain.

South Bend Y is doing a splendid work. The programs for the regular meetings are excellent. Many honories belong.

The State Convention, held in Frankfort one year ago, adopted the following as a By-law: "Any woman may become a member by endorsing the constitution, paying an annual membership fee of $1.00, of which 40 cents shall be paid for State dues, 15 cents for county dues, 20 cents for local dues and 25 cents for the Official organ." By action of the recent state convention held in Kokomo, this By-law became a part of the constitution and is obligatory. No one can be a full member of the W. C. T. U. have a vote in any meeting or hold office until this article of the constitution has been fully complied with.

Until this article of the Constitution has been fully complied with, the 25 cents for the official organ cannot be withheld by the local Union any more than can the 40 cents State dues be withheld. Where two or three persons of one family belong to the W. C. T. U. and all do not want a copy of the paper, then other names should be sent, that the paper may do missionary work. If no name is supplied, then send the 25 cents to the business manager of the paper, who will supply the name for you. In no case can the 25 cents be kept in the local Union for home work without violating the Constitution. So please remember that on the same mail the dues go to the County Treasurers the 25 cents for the MESSAGE, for each member having paid dues, should be sent to the business manager of the MESSAGE, Mrs. Clara Balch, 711 East Eleventh street, Indianapolis.

Princeton Union. Officers elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. J. E. Jenkins; Vice-President, Mrs. Sarah Simpson; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Lizzie Metcalf; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Ida Hargrove; Treasurer, Mrs. Lizzie Pfohl.

The Executive Committee of Westfield W. C. T. U. met with Mrs. Cox, Monday, and appointed the following Superintendents of departments: Temperance Literature, Phebe L. Doan; L. T. L., Lizzie R. Henley; Sabbath School and Sabbath Observance, Dollie Stalker; Scientific Temperance Instruction, Ruth Stanley; Medal Contests, Melissa Emry; Press, Anna F. Pinkham; Narcotics, Belle Johnson; Evangelistic, Mary A. Cox; Jail and Prison, Mary Gause; Mercy, Clara Roberts; Hadley Industrial School, Maggie Cox; Work among Colored People, Bertha Carter; Systematic Giving, Catherine Elliot; Franchise, Sarah Roberts.

Miss Marie Brehm, admired and loved by Indiana women, has been chosen to lead the great host of Illinois White Ribboners, being elected State President on October 11.

Mrs. Clara Balch is at the bedside of her father who is very ill.

Everybody interested in the work of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union is invited to join the Indiana party going to Ft. Worth, Texas, to attend the National Convention. One-half regular railroad fare plus $2.00 will be charged for the round trip from all points.

Newly elected officers of Marion County are: President, Mrs. Mary A. Everton, 3003 Graceland Avenue; Vice-President, Mrs. Ada B. Leck, 1801 North Capitol Avenue; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. L. D. B. Corvan, 37 Jefferson Avenue; Treasurer, Mrs. Sallie D. Lemon, 64 Woodruff Place, all of Indianapolis; Recording Secretary Mrs. Abba Miars, Bridgeport, Indiana.

Mrs. D. T. Shannon, Montpelier, reports the County Convention held at Roll, a new Union of much vigor; five Unions represented; thirteen departments taken up. Officers elected for the coming year as follows: President, Mrs. S. M. Stahl, Hartford City; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. D. T. Shannon, Montpelier; Recording Secretary, Mrs. S. D. Gynne, Montpelier; Treasurer Mrs. S. J. Emshwiller, Hartford City. A successful convention.

Newly Elected Officers of Argos Union are, President, Mrs. Amanda Shedd; Vice-President, Mrs. F. E. Benner; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Cordelia Moore; Recording Secretary, Lillian Todd; Treasurer, Miss Louise Shedd; W. T. P. A. agent, Mrs. E. W. Shannon.

Martinsville Union officers: President, Mrs. Bessie Groves; Vice-President, Mrs. Delaney; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Sophia Toner; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Fannie Blankenshipp; Treasurer, Miss Martha Egbert.

Mrs. Mattie Cammack-Gibson organized two L. T. L.'s—one at Salem and one at Campbellsburg.

Mrs. Minor was made leader at Salem; Miss Blanche Wilson, Treasurer; Miss Eulah Minor, Secretary; Miss Ethel Jackson, Treasurer.

Campbellsburg L. T. L. Miss Cora Wires President of Union and I think will be leader. President, Neva Diefendorf; Secretary, Ola Smith; Treasurer, Vanee Brown, all of Campbellsburg.

Jefferson Union elected the following officers: Miss Ada Van Sickle, President; Harriet Elliott, Corresponding and Recording Secretary; Mary Thompson, Treasurer.

Mrs. E. A. D. Blair, on September 25, organized a fine Legion of seventy-three members in Oxford, Benton county, with the following officers: L. T. L. Branch Secretary, Miss Sue Camper; Assistant L. T. L. Branch Secretary, Miss Flora Looney; L. T. L. President, Ona Chapman; L. T. L. Secretary, Grace Yocum; L. T. L. Treasurer, Ralph Sunbled. Hope other Unions will secure Mrs. Blair after National Convention.

Washington Union has appointed an L. T. L. Committee, of which Mrs. Lillie Shields is Chairman. They have obtained supplies and expect soon to organize an L. T. L.

The election of the Mary F. Thomas Union, Richmond, resulted in the following officers: President, Sarah M. Childress; Vice-President, Martha J. Little; Corresponding Secretary, Elizabeth W. Candler; Recording Secretary, Mary W. Strode; Treasurer, Laura B. Curtis.

Floyd County officers: President, Mrs. Dr. Jones, 920 Pearl street, New Albany; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Onie Davis, Greenville; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Addie Loback, 1807 Beeler street, New Albany; Treasurer, Mrs. Cora Murphy, Galena; Y. Secretary, Miss Ethel Killing, 534 E. Third street, New Albany; L. T. L. Secretary, Miss Cora Brace, New Albany.

Morgan County has gained new enthusiasm, which always results from the enthusiasm of consecrated young women. All Unions can secure young women if they work to that end.

COUNTY CONVENTIONS.

Jennings County held their convention September 24. Failed to get a speaker, but had a very interesting convention. The officers elected were, President, Sadie H. Eves; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Cora M. Steele; Treasurer, Mrs. Belle C. Alley. A Silver Medal Contest was held in the evening, which was enjoyed by a large audience. Two Contests have been held since and two more are advertised. Our new County Superintendent of Medal work, Mrs. Steele, is pushing the work.

Marshall County Convention was held at Argos. Following officers elected: President, Mrs. Jennie Erwin, Bourbon; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Louise P. Parks, Bourbon; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Amanda R. Shedd, Argos; Treasurer, Mrs. E. W. Cannon, Argos.

Minutes will soon be ready to be sent out. Every member needs a copy. Order at once of Mrs. Amanda T. Whitson, 3335 North Meridian street, Indianapolis, Ind.

COUNTY CONVENTIONS.

Pulaski County Convention was held in the M. E. church, Saturday afternoon, September 21. Mrs. Ellen Potter, of Oak, was chosen President, and Mrs. May Blue, of Star City, Secretary, and Mrs. Eliza Haymond, of Francesville, Treasurer. The local Union at Francesville elects officers: President, Mrs. Anna L. Rusk; Secretary, Mrs. Clara Wilson; Treasurer, Mrs. Myrtle Higgins.

Vigo County W. C. T. U. convened in the Evangelical church, Terre Haute, September 19 and 20. Memorial services were observed the first day, addressed by Rev. Shumaker. The evening meeting was well attended and Rev. Pearce, of that city, and Mrs. Mary E. Balch, of Indianapolis, were the speakers. The church choir, composed of young people, furnished most excellent music. The church was artistically decorated. The morning of the second day the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Alice McDaniels, Terre Haute; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Ida Lovall, 1647 North Seventh street; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Anna E. Palmateer, Friendly Inn of that city; Treasurer, Mrs. Sarah Ringold, 1809 North Seventh street. A gold contest the second evening, conducted by Mrs. Ada L. Squires, completed a well filled program of a very interesting convention. Twenty voting delegates present. All the Unions represented. A rising vote of thanks was given to the retiring President, Mrs. Emma Joice, who had served the county faithfully and well for four years.

Wabash County Convention was held in the Friends church on the south side. The attendance was large and much important work was accomplished. Following are the names of the officers elected: President, Mrs. Mary Unger; Vice-President, Mrs. Cynthia Jones; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Overman; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Risser; Treasurer, Mrs. A. M. Parmenter. Mrs. Mattie Holloway was chosen as L. T. L. and Mrs. Edna Kerr as Secretary for this work. Mrs. McWhirter, of Indianapolis, delivered a learned and eloquent address on "Love of Country and Humanity." Mrs. McWhirter is one of the ablest and most eloquent lecturers on the platform to-day. Her talk was greatly appreciated by the local members.

Hendricks County Convention was held at the Hadley Home, September 25. Officers for the new year as follows: President, Miss Hinks, Danville; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Hamilton, Avon; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Ettie Shaw, Hadley; Treasurer, Mrs. Georgia Hamrick, Coatsville. Superintendents—Press Work, Mrs. Minnie Hunt, Coatesville; Literature, Mrs. Mattie Chandler, Friendswood; Mothers' Meetings, Mrs. Nellie Jessup, Friendswood; Sunday School Work, Miss Myrtle Bunker, Plainfield; Flower Mission, Mrs. Margaret Kendall, Danville; Scientific Temperance, Mrs. Margaret Haworth, Hadley; Hadley Home, Miss Beulah Hadley, Hadley; Medal Contest, Mrs. Sallie Mills, Plainfield; L. T. L., Mrs. Olivia Hope, Coatsville.

St. Joseph County W. C. T. U. convention was held Tuesday afternoon and evening, September 17, at the First M. E. church in South Bend. Mrs. Luella McWhirter was with us. She conducted a mothers' meeting on the afternoon of the sixteenth at the home of Mrs. G. T. Hodson, where she had a large hearing. Her helpful words to mothers cannot help but bring great results. Mrs. McWhirter is known to South Bend audiences and her appearance among us was hailed with enthusiasm. The reports of the different departments of work which have been taken up in this county show that advancement has been made. It was brought out that the jail meetings, which are held every Sunday, will keep the thoughts of the imprisoned ones to the work of those who wish to be co-workers with God and his angels, even though they may not see the truths presented as they are seen by those who try to present them. If the minds of these men and women are called from time to time to the possibilities of the higher life, it must in time build in some of the truth of the gospel of love. The W. C. T. U. are always careful to have good reading on hand for the prisoners. More than 26,000 pages of literature were given to those who would receive and no doubt much of it fell on fertile soil. If even one person has felt the warmth of love sent out, the women feel that good has been done; no work or trouble can be computed in value against the quiet, restful hope of even one human soul. Hundreds of bouquets and delicacies have been carried to the sick and afflicted. The evening session began at 7:30 o'clock with a half hour's musical program, in which some of the best talent of the city had a part. Mrs. McWhirter's address followed. She presented her facts in a very forcible manner and completely captivated her audience. Her magnetic influence was keenly felt throughout the sessions of the convention and her pleasing manner and personality have won for her many warm friends. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Katie Wert Holler; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Daisy Shontz; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Cora Wert; Treasurer, Mrs. Ada Barnard, all of South Bend.

Wells County Convention held at Ossian, September 27. The election of officers resulted as follows: County President, Mrs. Manson Reiff, Bluffton, Ind.; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Martha McBride, Bluffton, Ind.; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Serepta Worley, Ossian, Ind.; County Treasurer, Mrs. J. S. Krewson, Ossian, Ind. The reports were good and interesting, but were unable to have a state worker, but one of Bluffton's best ministers drove over to Ossian—place of convention—and delivered a fine gospel temperance lecture to a large and appreciative audience.

Huntington County Convention convened at Huntington, September 26 to 29. Mrs. McWhirter was at the convention and kindled the fire of enthusiasm, with her bright presence and helpful talks. Gold medal contest, the evening of the twenty-sixth, Miss Cline, of Huntington, being the winner. Friday evening an address was given by Mrs. McWhirter, which touched the hearts of her audience, and many new members were added to the Union. Huntington County, with Mrs. Lou. Roll as President, is coming rapidly to the front.

Randolph County Convention was held at Farmland in the Methodist church, lasting one day. Mrs. Baich spoke afternoon and evening; audience small. Elected the same corps of officers, each on the informal ballot, Miss Myrtle Thornbaugh, L. T. L. Secretary and Miss Lizzie Tomlinson, Y. Secretary, both of Cedar Union. The matter of organization in Farmland was canvassed and names taken. The completion of the work deferred for better conditions. At an opportune time, when a full attendance can be secured of those who will join the Union, an organizer will be sent for and a strong working Union added. The County President, Mrs. Carrie Tomlinson, had to be absent because of the illness of her father. Mrs. Emeline More served in her place. Miss Ora Jackson sang afternoon and night with sweetness and power and with great pleasure to her audience.

Noble County Convention met in the Lutheran Church at LaOtto, Ind. A very pleasant and profitable time was spent during the sessions and some very interesting topics were discussed. Among them were the "Army Canteen" and "Social Purity." A very excellent paper was read by Miss Maude Gorrell of LaOtto, on the latter subject, followed by an animated discussion. It was by mutual consent that the convention agreed that LaOtto was a cordial entertainer and that the convention was a help and inspiration for renewed effort for the ensuing year. The following officers were elected for the year: President, Mrs. Nora Nowells; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Addie Seymour; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Mary Gorrell; Treasurer, Mrs. Flora Clapp.

DeKalb County Convention was held in the M. E. Church at Auburn, Mrs. Mary E. Ehlers, County President, presiding. After the morning devotionals, led by Mrs. Edgar Wise, the welcome address was given by the President and the usual business followed. Mrs. Ehlers gave a full report of the money received and expended in the erection of a flowing fountain placed on the court house lawn by the W. C. T. U. All the organizations of the County assisting, though the Auburn Union planned the work and raised most of the money for its erection, the citizens of Auburn and vicinity contributing generously when solicited. In the afternoon Mrs. Jones of Garrett led, in a very able manner, a discussion on the "Needs of the Hour." It was clearly shown that we very much need consecrated workers, who are not afraid to speak the truth at all times and act in accord with their belief. Rev. Homer, of Waterloo, gave an excellent address in the afternoon, using as his theme these words, "It Does Not Interest Me." He showed very clearly that this question, the liquor traffic, does interest every one of us physically, morally and financially. The evening session was especially good. There were songs by a ladies' and gentlemen's quartette—two fine selections in line with the work; an able address by the pastor of the church, Rev. Krider, of Auburn; text, Joshua, 7:13: "Up, sanctify the people and say: Sanctify yourselves against to-morrow; for thus saith the Lord God of Israel. There is an accursed thing in the midst of thee, O Israel. Thou canst not stand before thine enemies, until ye take away the accursed thing from among you." It was shown that the text contains much truth for us to-day. Many practical lessons were drawn therefrom. We as workers feel that we have had an uplift as a result of this meeting.

A very enthusiastic band of women attended the Morgan county convention, which was held in the beautiful village of Monrovia, September 24 and 25. The work done was thorough and will speak for itself in our next year's reports. Mrs. Hattie Brand, a woman of lovely character, was with us and by her earnest, helpful words inspired her hearers to renewed efforts. The convention adopted some new plans: One program for the county Unions, an appropriation for Superintendents, Treasurers to devise ways and means to replenish the Treasury and a county roster. Everyone is pledged to do better work and surely will, under our excellent President, Mrs. S. T. Toner.

LaPorte County semi-annual convention, held in Michigan City, September 6. Mrs. Mary F. Fargher, 1409 West Maine street, LaPorte, elected President; Mrs. W. H. Worthly, Michigan City, Secretary; Mrs. Sarah E. Peters, LaPorte, Treasurer.

The Blackford County W. C. T. U. convention was held at Roll on September 27. The Union at that place was but a few months old, but we found them alive to the work and the convention was one of the most enthusiastic we have ever had. We had memorial services for our Ex-President, Mrs. Lottie Racer, who had passed away but a few days before the convention. The convention voted unanimously to recommend Mrs. S. M. Stahl to the State Convention for State Superintendent of Evangelistic work. The following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. S. M. Stahl, Hartford City; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. D. F. Shannon, Montpelier; Recording Secretary, Mrs. L. D. Guynn, Montpelier; Treasurer, Mrs. S. J. Emshwiller, Hartford City. Superintendents of Departments: Temperance Literature, Mrs. Sarah Knight, Hartford City; Press Work, Mrs. S. D. Anderman, Hartford City; Mothers' Meetings, Mrs. Adalaide Meeks, Montpelier; Mercy, Mrs. O. H. Shull, Montpelier; Flower Mission, Sarah Harrold, Roll; L. T. L., Mary Putnam, Montpelier; Sunday School, Eliza Bugh; Suffrage, Ella Glover; Jail and Prison, Maggie Shull, Montpelier; Sabbath Observance, Ella Sheehan; Evangelistic Work, Mrs. S. M. Stahl, Hartford City; Social Purity, Mattie Carl, Montpelier.

Elkhart County Convention—We had such an outpouring of the Holy Spirit at our convention that my spirit has been too ecstatic (and is yet) to come down to three hundred words.

Sister Cammack-Gibson can tell you about the first day, but our fullness of joy did not reach me personally until the second day, and I think from the looks of the faces that was the case with most of the audience, especially the W. C. T. U's. Every Union in the County, but Elkhart, was represented, twenty-eight W. C. T. U's being present besides your humble servant. The New Paris ladies showed themselves to be adepts in the art of entertaining, dinner and supper being served at the church; and such dinners! I thought of what Anna Gordon said when herself and Mrs. Stevens were out in the field: "There never were such women as the White Ribbon women." Now for the report for the MESSAGE. If you think it right, could you not make this in two divisions, so as not to exceed the three hundred words in one month? You know every woman in the county who was there will watch for the report, and I do not want any to feel as if they were left out. I have marked the program for you, so you will see what topics were presented.

Mrs. Cammack-Gibson presided at the consecration services, which were enjoyed and participated in audibly by the majority of those present. Half an hour was given for greetings and introductions, then dinner. The delegates from Nappanee and Wakarusa, not intending to remain the second day, the suggestion was made that we have the election of officers the first afternoon session instead of the second. The subject when brought before the convention met with approval and Miss Cordelia J. Clark, our faithful and efficient Recording Secretary, re-arranged the program with this in view.

Mrs. Cammack-Gibson presided over the election of the officers. Mrs. M. A. Tompkins, President; Mrs. Laura Cole Phoenix, Corresponding Secretary; Miss Cordelia J. Clark, Recording Secretary; Mrs. Arvilla Z. Vail, Treasurer. Mrs. Cammack-Gibson said she had often been asked the secret of Grant County's success, they having the largest membership of any county in the State, and she always replied, "it was because they always kept the same officers." That being the case, Elkhart County is on the road to victory, for all the officers have served the County for years with one exception, the Corresponding Secretary, this being her fifth year of County service.

The Superintendents of Departments are an enthusiastic, efficient corps, and are as follows: Franchise, Mrs. C. E. Davis, Goshen; Christian Citizenship, H. Arlen, Goshen; Sabbath Observance, R. C. Travis, Elkhart; Literature, Phoebe Rohrer, New Paris; Press, A. P. Daub, Goshen; Scientific Temperance, Miss Lelia Kauffman, Goshen; Flower Mission, Carrie Nusbaum, Middlebury; Relation of Temperance to Labor, Law and Statistics, Mrs. (Dr.) Barwick, Wakarusa; Evangelistic, Laura Cole Phoenix, Middlebury; Y. Secretary, Mrs. Amanda S. Kauffman, Goshen; Mothers' Meetings, Mrs. O. W. Cunningham, Goshen.

The topics were ably handled, acceptably presented and well received. Mrs. Cammack-Gibson's lecture, "Five Boys in Knee Pants," like a porcupine, bristled with pertinent points, which the W. C. T. U's of Elkhart County hope will be as hard to dislodge from minds as the porcupine's quills are from flesh. There was not an inharmonious note to mar our rapturous joy during the entire convention. And this will be our rallying cry during the year—

On we march to victory,
Jesus will our leader be.
On we march to victory,
To a final and a glorious victory.

MRS. LAURA COLE PHOENIX.

Minutes will soon be ready to be sent out. Every member needs a copy. Order at once of Mrs. Amanda T. Whitson, 3335 North Meridian street, Indianapolis, Ind.

IN MEMORIAM.

SISTER LOTTIE RACER—We, the members of the Blackford County Convention of the W. C. T. U., recognize the hand of God in removing our co-worker and beloved sister; and,

Resolved, that while we bow in submission to the will of God, we do mourn the loss of our sister exceedingly. That we praise God for raising up such a sincere, earnest woman, as Sister Racer to work in this blessed cause of temperance.

Resolved, that this tribute of love and respect be placed upon our record, published in the state paper and a copy be sent to the family of the deceased.

AGNES DODGE, President, Roll, Ind.
MATTIE CARL, Vice-President, Montpelier, Ind.

THE MESSAGE.

"Not by Might nor by Power, but by My Spirit."

VOL. V. No. 11.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., NOVEMBER, 1901.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR.

PRESIDENT'S LETTER.

DEAR SISTERS AND CO WORKERS—In the beginning of our new year let every one consider herself a committee of one to carry out the plans adopted at our State Convention as practical lines on which we hope to do good work in the future. No woman can possibly make a failure who does her best.

I am becoming more favorable every year to our way of having a definite "Plan of Work, and then working loyally by it."

Those Six Papers of Note should create an enthusiasm in the mind of every White Ribboner, and a determination to win, not unlike the feeling we used to have in our school girl days over a spelling match, or a contest in oratory. I think if I could be the successful one and have a place on the program at Huntington I should know something of the delight that must thrill the heart of an author over his first book.

Benefit night should be a grand surprise to each of us at our next convention by a crowded platform of successful County Presidents, whose good works will stimulate the audience to give a good collection.

The State Banner—There is very little about it to make its presence desirable except what it stands for. But I sincerely hope the contest for its custody will create a demand for a more up-to-date one for future use.

Honorary Membership—I do not know of a better way to secure workers or the wherewithal to do the work than a large honorary membership, and yet Unions remain poor in treasury because they do not invite men to join our organization. Not a few of our women give liberally to the Prohibition party as well as the Temperance Societies composed of men, and I have reason to believe our brothers would in turn give to us their membership if rightly approached. Let every local Union try this year for an equal number of Active and Honorary members.

I would lovingly urge all County Presidents to make a careful survey of their respective fields. In almost every locality there are at least a few women who, after having been supplied with our literature, are sufficiently interested in our work to gladly help you secure the use of the church or hall and give personal invitations to attend your meeting. Ask the minister to announce the meeting at the Sunday service and do not fail to make him and his wife feel welcome when they come. They, more than all others, can turn the hearts of the people to a favorable opinion of the new organization. Take a good worker with you and let them see in the beginning that you are familiar with our work.

Take a good supply of Union Signals, the MESSAGE and department leaflets with you for free distribution. If you cannot succeed with this method, then take your Union with you and also a good program and do your best to have it well carried out. Make the people see the development of your members.

I believe these plans may be made to bring about many new Unions the coming year; they have worked well in my own county. If there is a President that cannot give her time and energy to the complete organization of her county, then she should have a helper, or urge her women to elect to her place some one that can. When the new Union is a certainty and her forces put in motion, you will soon find that you have means and opportunity to call a Field worker to the place to strengthen the work already well begun as she may be passing by on her way to unorganized territory.

I sincerely believe, dear hearts, that a perfect consecration of ability, time and money, and a real love for humanity, are our greatest needs. We cannot be responsible for those things we do not possess, but we can do those duties that we know are ours.

EUNICE P. WILSON.

TEMPERANCE PHYSIOLOGY AT THE PAN-AMERICAN EXPOSITION.

A study of the curriculum of the free public schools that are educating the children of a nation will enable a thoughtful student to arrive at a fairly just estimate of the standards of that people and of the future character and consequent future history of that nation.

Any forecast of the history of this nation would fail in a just estimate of the outcome of an important factor if it should leave out of its calculations the results seen to follow, what has justly been termed, "The American Educational Method for the Prevention of Intemperance;" in other words, the fact that 16,000,000 children of school age in this country are under temperance education laws. The enforcement of this law is the solemn duty of their sponsors, the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, as well as that of every other good citizen. To that end it is of importance to the future of our country that its people, and especially its teachers and school boards, should realize that, except in Georgia, temperance physiology is not an optional matter, but is a study engrafted by law on the public school system. It is a more mandatory branch even than "the three R's," because the laws demanding it are more specific, with, in many cases, penalties for failure in compliance with same. Therefore, it is self-evident that in any exhibit of the public school studies of the United States, temperance physiology should have an equal place and in the same connection with that assigned to other branches. Hence the wisdom of having an exhibit of temperance physiology side by side with displays of other public school studies at the Pan-American Exposition, has led to the installing of such an exhibit, which will be found there, in the Educational Department, in the building of Liberal Arts. The space it occupies is not one-twentieth of that its exhibit filled to repletion in the Columbian Exposition, at Chicago, in 1893, but all educational exhibits are cut down, for the whole space given to education for the whole United States, in the Pan-American, is less than that given in Chicago to the schools of two states, New York and Pennsylvania.

Over the wall space of this exhibit of Scientific Temperance, is a gilt eagle with wings spread under silken flags of the United States. The feet of the eagle rest on an inscription in gold letters on black which read, "One Factor in the Trade Supremacy of the United States—Scientific Temperance Education in its Public Schools." By way of explanation of the above inscription, we would remind the reader that for sixteen years our public schools have been teaching all pupils that alcohol injures working ability. In harmony with this instruction, total abstinence is now demanded by employers; thereby the output of labor is increased, which increases profits and helps to give our country leadership in the commerce of the world.

Under the above exhibit are pictures of the National and International Scientific Temperance Instruction headquarters, at 23 Trull street, Boston, Mass., with interior views of the study, the scientific temperance instruction museum, etc. There is wall space, for but two of the pens with which the scientific temperance instruction laws have been signed, the pen used by President Cleveland in signing the national law and that used by the Governor of Nova Scotia in signing the first compulsory temperance education law enacted by a parliament in the British Empire. In the door of the cabinet is a map of the United States, with only one state, Georgia, in black, because it has no temperance education law. Within, on the leaves of the cabinet, is the history of the progress and results of this study in our public schools, with samples of its literature. Underneath the cabinet, on the table, are a goodly array of the indorsed temperance physiology text-books for all grades of schools, published by nearly every school book publishing house in this land. If incorporating the total abstinence teaching of modern science into this large collection of school physiologies had been the only work accomplished for this cause during the last sixteen years in this country, that alone would be enough to make one's heart glad and thankful; but add to that the fact that the laws of almost the entire land require the study by the coming generations of the truths these books teach, and we get some idea of the forces at work wherever the temperance people are pushing enforcement, forces which are destined to make this an enlightened nation of total abstainers.

MARY H. HUNT.

Y. W. C. T. U.

DEAR Y.'s—I know you will all want to hear about our dear Miss Parrish's wedding which I attended the 30th, at 8 o'clock, in the Christian church. It was indeed an international wedding. Miss Swankie Cameron, of England, was maid of honor, and the Japanese were represented by one of the bridesmaids being a Japanese Y. W. C. T. U. Two girls about sixteen years of age, with the little flower girl, a namesake of the bride, with the seven gentleman attendants and three ministers, formed the bridal party. With the water splashing, organ played softly, the foliage, festoons of flowers hanging everywhere, was a beautiful service to witness. Rev. Oliver Stewart, of Chicago, performed the ceremony, assisted by the local pastor and Mr. Emmett, of Shelbyville. The three flags were used to decorate the place where the bridal party received congratulations; the Japanese, the English and American flag; Mrs. Wright standing in front of our beloved flag. The bride was beautiful in white, carrying part of the crysanthemums Indiana sent. Miss Cameron in yellow, and the Japanese lady in her own costume, carrying pink roses. Elegant refreshments were served of coffee and cake and a little flag given every guest, tied with white ribbon. The groom wore a white ribbon bow on the lapel of his coat; no other decoration. I wish every Y. who intends to marry could have just such a companion, a pure life in exchange for a pure life, also that he could wear a white ribbon. It was estimated that seven hundred people were present.

Now who will be the first to send in the largest amount of dues for the first quarter, closing Dec. 15? Twenty-five cents apiece must also go to the Business Manager of the MESSAGE before you will be counted a member. Now girls, if the women are worth a dollar, we are too, and let us plan to get our dues ready. Put fifty cents in and have a contest, or some entertainment and earn the other fifty cents. Pray to the Father about it and you will get it all, by a little effort.

Will be in Terre Haute till Nov. 4, helping all I can and hoping to secure a Y. W. C. T. U.

County Presidents, remember you are to try this year and have some Y.'s in your county. Pray and work toward that end.

Lovingly,

CLARA M. SEARS.

LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION.

Mrs. Jennie Ward, County Branch Secretary, organized an L. T. L. at Bright. She has also introduced the use of the Lesson Manuals and the Young Crusader into the Junior Epworth League, of Guilford.

LaOtto W. C. T. U. organized a Legion of seventeen members, ranging in ages from eight to twenty-six years.

Mrs. Della Hull, leader of Cayuga Legion, has moved to Morristown and Miss Mary Heibridger takes her place. Cayuga sent in the largest number of subscriptions for the Young Crusader—twenty-two—and won a copy of Beautiful Life of Miss Willard.

A Legion was organized in Huntington during the meeting of the County convention in that place. The County President and the County L. T. L. Branch Secretary, together planned for this and a place was given on the printed program to organize an L. T. L.

Mrs. Gertrude Morrow, of Indianapolis Central W. C. T. U., has organized an L. T. L. of fourteen members.

K. T. A. STRAW.

GOOD-BYE.

As Corresponding Secretary retiring, I want to say good-bye. If in the last days of the year and the hurry of the Convention anyone should have had a communication to be answered and it was not, I take this space to answer it, and if any State Superintendent does not find her reports in the Minutes, she will remember the ruling of the Executive Committee last March and understand the report came too late. Seven years we have been comrades in this special service, and we will still be comrades in our war on rum. Good-bye as Secretary,

MARY E. BALCH.

MRS. HELEN M. STODDARD

President of the Texas W. C. T. U. has been appointed by Governor Sayers of Texas a Commissioner to locate the State Industrial School for Girls, and her appointment has been confirmed by the Senate. This is the first time a woman has been honored in any such way in Texas. The Commission consists of twelve men and one woman. Texas women, led by Mrs. Stoddard, have worked hard to get this school. The first bill was introduced about ten years ago.

An enthusiastic party of Indiana White Ribboners and some of their good husbands will attend the National W. C. T. U. convention to be held at Fort Worth, Texas, November 15 to 20. One fare plus two dollars has been announced for the round trip.

The routes selected are the Big Four from Indianapolis to St. Louis; the St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern and Texas & Pacific from St. Louis to Fort Worth. The route passes through Little Rock, the capital of Arkansas; Malvern, which is located twenty-two miles east of Hot Springs; Texarkana, Marshall, Longview, Minneola and Dallas, Texas. The rate from Indianapolis to Fort Worth and return will be $28.90.

The White Ribbon special coach, containing our Indiana delegates and friends, will leave Indianapolis on November 12, at 3:25 p. m., via Big Four. On the sides of the coach will be great white streamers upon which will be these words: "Indiana W. C. T. U. Enroute to Ft. Worth, Texas." Instead of taking the sleeper at Indianapolis we will use a regular coach provided for our exclusive use to St. Louis; at St. Louis we will find our sleeper waiting for us in the Union station. The expense for the sleeper through from St. Louis to Ft. Worth will be but $2.00 for a double berth, which will accommodate two people.

An extension of time on return tickets, in order to visit relatives or friends in Texas enroute, will be granted. All friends of the W. C. T. U. are cordially invited to join the party.

Arrangements have been made for board at very reasonable rates at Ft. Worth for all visitors. Persons going from Indianapolis and vicinity will secure their tickets at the Big Four ticket office, corner Washington and Meridian streets.

A delightful trip to a splendid convention will be enjoyed by those going with us to the Sunny Southland.

FOR A CRUSADE AGAINST TOBACCO.

In South Bend, Mrs. Holler's Sunday School class of girls distributed Sabbath Observance literature with excellent results. The city was districted by Mrs. Holler; a certain number of squares were assigned to certain girls, who distributed one kind of a leaflet for a half hour after school in the evening each week until the entire city of South Bend had been covered. Two girls went together to every house, where they rang the bell and presented the leaflet to those who answered, telling them that the W. C. T. U. sent it to them.

Again and again was this kind of work done, until several different kinds of leaflets on the same subject were put into every home in that city. As one result Sunday baseball playing was stopped and the Sunday laws were much better enforced. Fewer people went to the postoffice for mail on Sunday.

This same plan of distributing leaflets can be effectually carried out in any town. The children are always ready to help. Try this plan with the copies of the tobacco and anti-cigarette laws and with leaflets—one at a time. Begin a crusade before December 1 against the use of tobacco by the youth.

Many helpers will come to you after your work has begun to prove you to be good planners. Let the distribution of leaflets be quietly done; keep it out of newspapers, etc. If it is discussed, let others do it, but keep right on sowing the information.

After the distribution of the copies of the laws and a leaflet into every home, have a Mothers' and Teachers' meeting on a Saturday, addressed by the minister, physician or teacher, on the subject of the cigarette. After this address, and the explanation of the plan of organization, it will, in nearly every town, be easy to form Anti-Cigarette Leagues in the schools, if the Superintendent of schools has become interested. Let this work be begun before December 1. In every Union there are individuals who can and will gladly send by an early mail for literature, and who will systematically go to work to have this subject thoroughly agitated. The result will be definite organization and a work which will count in the better character of the boys and girls. A harvest will always follow a plentiful sowing. Begin now to sow the literature systematically and you will soon need to plan for the gathering. Great results will be yours through Anti-Cigarette Leagues and a strict enforcement of the laws we have.

For copies of the tobacco law and anti-cigarette law, send to Mrs. A. T. Whitson, 3335 North Meridian street, Indianapolis.

For literature and supplies for Anti-Cigarette Leagues, read the following:

GREETINGS.

DEAR WHITE RIBBON SISTERS—When the chairman announced that I was elected Corresponding Secretary to succeed Mrs. Mary Balch, who has served so long and efficiently in that office, I was overwhelmed with the weight of the responsibility you had placed upon me. But I remembered that there is One who has promised to give wisdom and strength, and I determined, in my heart, to rely more fully upon Him and to give you the very best effort I have to give.

The office furniture, supplies and records have been delivered to me, and my room has suddenly assumed a very office like appearance. On the desk is my typewriter, and here your communications will be read, thought about, prayed over and answered. Already as the letters have come pouring in and I have caught glimpses of the loyal, earnest spirit of the women who have gone to work in their county or local, with that determination which brings things to pass, my own courage and zeal have been increased, and I believe a year of victories is before us. No day is barren of opportunities, but only earnest effort will turn them into victories.

As my heart has been cheered by the good things in the letters, I have thought, "I wish all the women could know about this," and so I have decided that if there is available space in the MESSAGE, each month I will give you "Notes from the Secretary's Mail." If you work out a plan successfully, let me know about it, that we may pass it on and so help some one else. My most earnest desire is, that we shall work together this year as one great, loving family, each one interested in and trying to help the work of others.

And now in closing I want to say, the Minutes are out. Get a copy at once and study the reports for last year and the Plan of Work for this year. The first quarter is nearly half gone, and what will you have to report of work accomplished? I wish our motto for work might be, "I will not put off until next quarter anything that can be done during this quarter."

Yours in His service,

MRS. HATTIE WRIGHT BRAND,
Corresponding Secretary.

NOTES FROM THE SECRETARY'S MAIL.

Parke County—Mrs. Ada L. Squire sends in the first report of a new Union. This Union was organized at Bridgeton. The officers are as follows: President, Mrs. Edith A. Kerr; Corresponding and Recording Secretary, Mrs. S. B. Nelson; Treasurer, Miss Effie Smith. This new Union has had two meetings and laid plans for future work. The President writes: "We have taken charge of Temperance Sunday in both the Sabbath Schools and have started the medal work. We feel that our Union has come to stay."

Cass County—Lucerne Union has reorganized. The Secretary writes: "We want to make our meetings as attractive as possible." That is an element of success and a good foundation upon which to build up a strong Union whose influence will count for much. They are hoping to have a public meeting soon, with Mrs. McWhirter as speaker.

Lake County—Miss Alice Ruth Palmer is in the field for organization and reports a new Union at Hobart. The officers are as follows: President, Mrs. May Patterson; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. A. T. Davis; Treasurer, Mrs. Dorman Smith. Miss Palmer is to spend a month in the field before going to Illinois for a short time and we wish her unbounded success.

Elkhart County—The energetic President of this County writes: "Women in three of our Local Unions have resolved to say, 'we can,' whenever called upon to take up a piece of W. C. T. U. work and they have set their figure for one hundred new members this year. If all the Unions would adopt this motto and plan we would soon have the liquor men saying, 'we can't.'"

Vermillion County—The newly elected officers of the Cayuga Union are as follows: President, Mrs. Ella Canaday; Vice-President, Sallie Roach; Recording Secretary, Kate Hosford; Corresponding Secretary, Mary Heidebreder; Treasurer, Ellen Grondyke. The President, Mrs. Ella Canaday, has been a loyal White Ribboner for years and will prove an efficient leader.

Washington County—Campbellsburg, one of the banner Unions in the State, has furnished us a worker for the Hadley Industrial School. Miss Addie Smith is Solicitor for the sixth district. Miss Smith is an energetic young woman of Christian character and devoted to the cause of temperance and the W. C. T. U.

Wayne County—This county has also given us a valuable worker in the person of our much loved Superintendent of Evangelistic work, Mrs. E. M. Haughton. Mrs. Haughton will solicit in the fourth district.

Whitley County Convention was held at Churubusco. Following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Clara A. Remington, South Whitley; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Mina Squires, Churubusco; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Fannie Green, Columbia City; Treasurer, Mrs. Ida Wolfe, South Whitley.

INDIANA'S PLAN OF WORK.

As presented to the Kokomo convention and adopted. If the Unions will read it in their first meeting and discuss it—and determine to work it—the State will build up, in the truest sense of the word, County Normal Institutes, as per State Superintendent's plan.

SIX PAPERS OF NOTE.

No. 1. "Why Marion County Should Lead." Chairman, Mrs. Frances Metz, 632 Division street, Indianapolis.

No. 2. "Incidents in Answer to Prayer." Chairman, Mrs. S. M. Stahl, Hartford City.

No. 3. "Where is the Strength of an Organization?" Chairman, Mrs. Mary E. Gorrell, LaOtto.

No. 4. "A Recitation in Prose for the Medal Department." Chairman, Mrs. Retta Jones, 711 South Harrison street, Alexandria.

No. 5. "A Recitation for the Medal Department—Poetry." Chairman, Mrs. Maria Fink, Valparaiso.

No. 6. "A Temperance Story—1,500 words." Chairman, Miss Eliza Baker, 107 Russel street, West LaFayette.

These papers not to be over ten minutes long, to be written by any White Ribboner, and to be in the hands of the chairman by August 15, sending stamps for return postage. The chairman will select two others and judge on the merits of the papers received, notifying the Corresponding Secretary of the number of papers prepared, and sending subject, name and address of the writer of the paper considered best, by August 25. These papers to have a place on the program.

BENEFIT NIGHT.

Counties having made a gain of 100 members over last year's record shall have a place on Benefit Night and share in the collection.

STATE BANNER.

The Union making the greatest gain shall have the custody of the State Banner for the year.

HONORARY MEMBERSHIP.

The Union having made the greatest gain in honorary membership shall be presented with Miss Willard's Glimpses of Fifty Years, at the annual convention.

INCREASE IN MEMBERSHIP IN LOCAL UNIONS.

Any Union sending in dues for an increase of ten members, in any one quarter of the year, shall have an address by any State Officer, or one day's service by any State Organizer enroute. The Treasurer's report in the Minutes your basis of calculation. You pay for twenty members in 1901. The first quarter of the new year you gain five new members; one dies and one moves away, and one who should have paid does not. Now, at the end of the first quarter you have twenty-two members only. The second quarter you gain ten new members, but one drops out and you have thirty-one members only, and to demand the premium you should have had thirty-two. The third quarter you gain ten; no one dies and no one moves away, or is transferred or drops out and now you have forty-one members and may claim the premium. And then in the fourth quarter you make a clear gain of ten—that is, have the Treasurer's books show that your Union has paid dues for fifty-one members in the year—because forty-one and ten gained make fifty-one—you can claim a second premium. And you can have the premiums each quarter if you make the actual gain of ten members, over all losses. A careful study of this illustration will make it plain for every Union.

COUNTY ORGANIZATION.

Any county having organized three new Unions, with or without the aid of a State Organizer, shall have a speaker furnished them for their county convention in the fall, free. Any county organizing two new Unions, with or without the aid of an organizer, shall have a speaker furnished for their fall convention by paying the traveling expenses only.

PROGRAMS.

Local Unions shall prepare a program for the year's meetings, typewritten or in print, two copies of which to be sent to the Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Hattie Wright Brand, 1403 Ashland ave., Indianapolis. A committee of three will be appointed in the Antelope Executive to decide on the first, second and third best, to whom premiums shall be given. Premiums will be placed on a table, where delegates may examine them.

PUBLIC MEETINGS.

Distribute literature at all public meetings. Take collections at all public meetings, and the Union reporting the largest amount as the sum of the year's collections shall receive a copy of the "Encyclopedia of the Temperance Reform."

TO THE MEMBERSHIP.

All members of a local Union who will answer at least seventy-five per cent of the questions on the MESSAGE, the Annual Minutes, Union Signal and the Annual Leaflet, shall have their names enrolled in our Annual Minutes. Examination papers to be sent to the State Recording Secretary, who will prepare the list and report the same to the convention and publish them in the Minutes. List of questions to be published in the MESSAGE, in January, and prepared by the president.

W. T. P. A. AGENT.

To the Unions reporting the first, second and third largest amount of money expended for literature through their W. T. P. A. Agent shall receive first, second and third premium in money to be expended in subscriptions to the Union Signal.

HADLEY INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

To provide for running expenses the solicitors shall be continued and Unions will respect by-law entitled Duties of Unions—Contingent Fund. Section 7 of Article VIII:

"Unions will hold an L. T. L. contest during the months of October, November or December, taking from the ten cent fee at the door the price of the tickets and medals; the balance shall be sent to the Treasurer of the Board. The Union sending in first report of contest with money, and the first Union sending in an amount equal to $10.00, and the Union sending in the largest amount, will each receive a premium. The Unions which hold this contest will not be called on during this year for further service financially for the school. Let no Union fail to carry out this by-law."

ORGANIZATION FUND.

Unions willing to help raise this foundation fund shall hold a silver suffrage contest with members of the Union, regular and honorary, sending the net proceeds to the State Treasurer, which fund shall be used in unorganized counties, at the discretion of the Central Committee, under the direction of the Chairman of Organization. These contests should come as early in the year's work as possible.

PROGRAM COMMITTEE.

County Presidents, Mrs. Emma Saylor, Mrs. Lida Outland, Mrs. Sadie Eves; State Superintendents, Mrs. Ada B. Leek, Mrs. M. A. Tompkins, Mrs. J. R. Wood; Organization, Mrs. Mary E. Balch.

SOME THINGS ACCOMPLISHED THROUGH EQUALITY IN CITIZENSHIP.

Women have full suffrage in Wyoming, Colorado, Utah and Idaho, including a vote for presidential electors. No body claims perfection in politics even in these four states, but improvement and progression is manifest. It is a fact that in these four states, woman receive equal pay for equal work. There isn't a poor house in the state of Wyoming; there is no need of one. Illiteracy is several degrees lower in Wyoming than in other states. There are fewer divorces. Women have voted there over thirty years. The school laws are fine and there is no need of "truant officers."

Since 1893, when the ballot was bestowed upon women in Colorado, laws have been passed making women equal owners with their husbands of their children. The age of consent has been raised to 18 years. A state home for dependent children has been established. A state industrial school for girls has been provided. The indeterminate sentence has been adopted. Emblems have been removed from the ballot. A bill was passed in the last legislature establishing parental schools; another for the care of the feeble minded. Humane society bills; a measure giving the board of charities and corrections power to investigate private eleemosynary institutions; another for the preservation of forest trees. A bill which requires insurance companies that have to be sued to recover, to stand the cost of such suit. Among the other results of equal suffrage in Colorado, is a far better enforcement of existing laws, such as requiring merchants to furnish seats for clerks, prohibiting the employment of children under 16; regulating the sale of liquor and tobacco to miners.

In 1898 the Associated press stated that a bar had been put in the City Hall of Chicago to facilitate business and make it possible, in the party campaign, to keep a quorum of the city council on hand. Contrast—In 1899, the order of the chairman of the Democratic party, that no caucus should be held in any place connected with a saloon, because of the political influence of women. M. A. TOMPKINS.

FLOWER MISSION WORK.

The aim of this department is, through these pure and beautiful evangelists, to lead burdened souls to Christ. Our work is to cheer and comfort all who may need a friend. The first place of worship in this world was a garden, but Adams' knowledge of the culture of flowers must have been limited. These blossoms were apparently of no particular use, as there was only one man to see them, but they gladdened his heart and delighted his eyes, and therein the flowers fulfilled their first mission. In watching their growth he must have realized that they received care from an invisible hand. And as the creation of flowers went on in that first garden, each flower brought with it a distinct lesson, as it does to-day, to the millions all over the earth, carrying messages to human hearts. Sunshine and shadow are needed for the perfection of the flowers; so success and failure, happiness and misfortune are necessary for the highest development of human beings. The elements which will bring one flower to perfection will hinder another. I heard a lady say that she once had a Japanese lily that she kept in a sunny room artificially heated. The lily grew rapidly, sending forth a growth of leaves, but never a flower appeared. All the beauty and fragrance were hindered by too much luxury. It is not always luxuriant surroundings that are best to bring out the strongest elements of character, and character is to mortals what fragrance is to flowers. Nothing in the world teaches more than the flowers, if we only understand their messages. No one can love them without being made better thereby. By their cultivation we learn different natures must have different treatment. While the most gorgeous flowers appeal to admiration, we love the small, fragrant ones best. Flowers are expressive, where words are powerless. They are the daintiest bits of God's handiwork. How many stop to think how much happiness they could give to others by simply leaving a few flowers with the sick or destitute? They may be the means of accomplishing untold good. Those who know of your efforts may be influenced to help in the work, until it becomes a habit that will extend in all directions. Flowers should be taken to hospitals and jails; they will speak comforting words in lonely hours. We have only to look about us, no matter how narrowed our sphere, and we will be surprised at the opportunities springing upon every hand, and if flowers are not easily obtained, other things are included in our work. Visiting the sick, taking some delicacy, reading something cheerful to them, distributing literature, or clothing, in any way that we can do good, thus living up to the command, "Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ." MABEL R. JEFFRIES, State Superintendent.

LETTER TO STATE SUPERINTENDENTS.

DEAR SISTERS—Whenever a new Union is organized, the Corresponding Secretary sends to them a package of supplies. The package contains a copy of the State Minutes, record books for the local Corresponding Secretary and Treasurer, and any other available and helpful material. If I could have a small package of leaflets from each State Superintendent, I would be so delighted to place in these packages a leaflet for each department of work. This would be very helpful to the new Union and would open the way for your departments. Kindly send the leaflet which most clearly explains the object and methods of your department. MRS. HATTIE WRIGHT BRAND, Corresponding Secretary.

UNFERMENTED COMMUNION WINE.

Let the reports be full this year and gladden the hearts of all interested in this department. Early in the year I sent out leaflets by our National Superintendent, Mrs. H. E. Hammond, to County and local Superintendents, so far as I could get the names of those appointed. Blanks were also sent for reports. I hope every one, whether they are Superintendents of this department or not, if they know of any work or the need of any, will report it, that we may know the condition of the State.

Indiana should have a full report this year. Remember, all reports must be printed and in the hands of the State Secretary five days before the State Convention. Please be prompt in sending in report. JULIET R. WOOD.

SUMMER ASSEMBLIES.

This year Summer Assemblies were made a special department, which claims the thought and support of all White Ribboners. Think which one of the several Summer Assemblies you can and will attend. Speak to your friends about the W. C. T. U. program and effort at those places. Write for particulars and remember we can get up the enthusiasm in others after it is within our own hearts and not until then. We plan and work for one hundred per cent increase in results this coming year. Will you help? MARY E. BALCH, State Superintendent.

PREMIUMS FOR NEXT YEAR'S WORK.

Time limit, October 15, 1901, to October 1, 1902. Premiums to the individual worker: First, second and third, for certificates returned, one for each medal ordered out and filled the neatest and completest.

First, second and third, for first, second and third largest amounts from door receipts from one contest. For the largest amount of door receipts, taking the sum of all the certificates sent in by one person. Collections will not count in.

For the greatest number of contests held by any one person.

For the person who shows, by the certificates sent in, the greatest number of male contestants.

For the person sending in the greatest number of subscriptions to the Contest Journal.

[NOTE—If the person holding the contest fails to sign himself or herself as chairman, the certificate will not count in awarding premiums.]

MARY E. BALCH, State Superintendent and National Associate.

I call the attention of the Unions and the friends of the cause to the above premiums. I shall be very much encouraged if many write me—I intend to work for premiums. One worker from Amboy has thus notified me of her intentions. One thousand contests in Indiana this year—I shall work to this end. If you wish a diamond or grand gold contest in your county or town, write me and we shall see if it cannot be arranged. I can give you my presence and time on terms that any can accept. SUPERINTENDENT.

ORGANIZATION.

Will County Presidents in organized counties remember that I can assist them in the further organization of their counties if they will write me? And if any one in an unorganized county will correspond with me, we may be able to find a way to fully organize the county. More organization is necessary, and please do not put off, until after Thanksgiving, or Christmas, or until I make that visit, etc., what should be done to-day. We must build this year, for soon the usual political turmoil will engross the minds of the people and then we can only stand and see the triumph of the rum forces helped into power by Christian drilled voters. MARY E. BALCH, State Superintendent Organization.

LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION.

Do you ever give room in your dear little paper for the W. C. T. U.'s children? It is chuck full of good things all the time, but as we are only coming once a year, maybe you will let us in for just a little while; we want to help encourage others to work in the L. T. L. Branch. We began this year to keep all the Red Letter days; our first was December 18—Peace Day—kept by organizing a peace society with fifteen members. Crusade Day we started our Hazing Protest, and now have nearly 200 signatures. We have planned to take it through all the schools within our reach.

January 3 we had a literary program and a history of Madam Willard's life. February 17 we had memorial reading. March 20 we had sketches of the lives of Neal Dow and Frances Willard and original talks. Sabbath day was kept by soliciting a larger attendance, and in circulating temperance pledge cards; fifty-eight were signed and returned to the State Superintendent of that department. Temperance Sunday was kept in all three of our churches here, and by the Legion in the afternoon, and by the Legion singing a temperance song for the C. E. in the evening. We kept Decoration Day by going one day ahead of the National, visiting five cemeteries and remembering "fallen friends" of temperance by placing flowers, tied with white ribbons, on each grave; each bouquet had a card attached with a message like this, "Always kind to the L. T. L.," or "He helped us all he could," etc. June 9 (glorious month of roses) we had special exercises, prepared a week before. We were given a wilderness of flowers that were arranged and sent out into many homes. We had a picture and a history of Jennie Cassady; also a talk on Missions; not forgetting the little school teacher who bravely worked alone, and the paper that willingly published good deeds and thus awakened the echo in Jennie's heart that carried on such a grand mission everywhere. We also visited five cemeteries with flowers for our friends, with L. T. L. cards (Flower Mission) attached, and tied with white ribbons. Bouquets were taken (with same card) to three different Sunday schools, four church services, one C. E. meeting and one Union meeting. July 21 was spent in soliciting any and everything needful for a family left destitute by fire, and a buggy load of stuff was taken to them in the name of Miss Anna Gordon. We purchased material and made a heavy comfort and gave to an aged widow near us. This we gave in the name of Mrs. Helen G. Rice. We have distributed a great deal of selected literature this year; eight pounds went, with a visit, to White's Institute; six pounds, in same way, to Orphans' Home, and twenty pounds to poor farm; also forty pounds to one Legion. The MESSAGE, Union Signal, Crusader, Phalanx, etc., were papers taken. We have made one hundred and fifty visits to the sick with food and flowers; five memorial designs have been given with L. T. L. messages attached. In one case the message was noticed and given especial mention in the funeral sermon, and a strong point made by the minister for the W. C. T. U. Three socials were held—two were box socials for the intermediate class (clearing $9.41) and one for the primary grade; this we held by taking the children to the white clover fields and making wreaths for the girls to wear home, and bouquets for the boys. At one of the box socials we gave a reward (Ten Nights in a Bar Room) to the person telling nearest the number of times intemperance is spoken against in the Bible. At the other we gave the reward to the person who repeated the greatest number of Bible verses against intemperance. Two dozen seals have been sent for and more will be ordered before the year ends. We visited the only other Legion in the county, gave a short program and offered to help them pay their yearly dues. We read the Union Signal, MESSAGE and Crusader; have paid our graduate dues ($4.75), also our yearly membership ($2.40); are out of debt and have over $2.00 in our treasury. We are sending two blocks for our L. T. L. autograph quilt; one block contains twenty-one names and the other will probably exceed that. We have one more Red Letter day, and have already spoken to speakers for a Harvest Home on September 28. M. A. HOLLOWAY, Leader.

Mrs. Mary A. Livermore was present at the annual convention of the Massachusetts W. C. T. U., held this week in Lynn, and was enthusiastically received. The reports show a gain in membership of 578 over last year. Fifteen new unions have been formed, and 151 of the old ones have increased their membership.

WHAT IS THE W. C. T. U.?

What is the W. C. T. U.
We hear people say,
And what does she do?

To answer this question
Will take some time,
For she is doing
A work sublime.

She was born in a struggle
Of right against wrong;
Her weapons of warfare—
Were faith, prayer and song.

God led forth the army
Of women so brave,
With hearts that were bleeding,
Their loved ones to save.

The hard-hearted rum-seller,
She met in the street;
With tears and entreaties,
She bowed at his feet.

She plead for her darling—
Her beautiful boy;
The pride of her heart,
The source of her joy.

Perhaps her dependence;
A widow, alone.
Ah! Who but a rum-seller's
Heart of stone.

Could resist her pleading
And turn deaf ears
To the widow's prayers
And the orphan's tears?

But alas! alas! She
Was spurned from his door,
With oaths and curses,
To enter no more.

Then she turned to the laws
He was breaking each day,
And for its protection
Continued to pray.

But she found it was bribed
With this terrible curse—
The rum-seller's power,
A well-filled purse.

Still further she went;
Alas, but to find
A nation with rum power's
Traffic combined—

A nation that licenses
Sin to destroy
And tear from her bosom
Her innocent boy.

So she banded together
The hearts pure and true;
The White Ribbon army,
The W. C. T. U.

She now girdles the world
With her ribbon of white.
She is pledged against evil,
To fight for the right.

Her plans are laid deep.
With infinite skill:
She is working each day,
Some task to fulfill.

The widow and orphan
Are sought by her care,
The victims of drink
In homes of despair.

The drunkard himself
Finds in her a friend,
Who has ever a helping Hand to extend.

The young man, entering Haunts of vice,
Is often saved
By her kindly advice.

The woman, too,
Who has gone astray,
With the blighting curse
That is licensed to-day,

Is rescued and saved
By her loving hands,
In homes of her many Sided plans.

But time would fail me
To tell of all
She has done to rescue
Those who fall.

And to teach the children
In ways of truth;
To guide the uncertain
Steps of youth;

To plead with those
Who make our laws
And enlist the pure
In our righteous cause.

For God and Home,
And Native Land,
In bonds of love
United we stand.

—Mrs. J. E. Skinner.

FIELD NOTES.

Floyd County Convention was held at the Y. M. C. A., September 13. After the devotional exercises, Mrs. Jones opened the business session. Minutes of the previous county convention were read, also the minutes of the County Executive Committee. The constitution was read and adopted. An instructive and interesting address was given by the County President. The morning session closed. Lunch was served and a social time enjoyed by all. The afternoon session opened with song and prayer. The minutes of the morning session were read and accepted. Miss Mary Pritchard read a paper on "Unconscious Influence." The Secretary read a letter from the State Treasurer. The Department reports were favorably received. The L. T. L., of Beulah Union then marched in with banners, flags and drums and rendered an interesting program. This was followed by the election of officers—County President, Mrs. Jones; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Davis; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Lobach; Treasurer, Miss Murphy; Y. Secretary, Miss Rilling; L. T. L. Secretary, Miss Brace. Mrs. Harris then conducted a parliamentary drill and the convention closed, all feeling that the day had been pleasantly and profitably spent.

Franklin County heard from. Mrs. Elizabeth T. Stanley and Margaret Smith organized a very promising Loyal Temperance Legion at Mt. Carmel, Saturday afternoon, October 19. At night Mrs. Stanley lectured in the M. E. Church; subject, "The Jericho Road." Sunday afternoon she lectured in the M. E. Church, at Bath. Large and attentive audiences greeted her in both places. The Demorest L. T. L. medal contest class will give their first contest for this year, November 9, in the evening. One more silver and we are ready for the gold.

MARGARET SMITH.

Mrs. Mary G. Webb, President of Putnam county, in company with several others, visited the grocery stores and tobacco stores of Greencastle. In conversation with the proprietors the tobacco and anti-cigarette laws were discussed. Copies of the laws were left with each. Miss Miller, one of the public school teachers, accompanied the ladies. The Greencastle editors are very kind to the W. C. T. U. and it is hoped that tobacco law enforcement will be considered beneficial by the authorities.

Daviess County Convention was held September 26, at the First M. E. Church, in Washington. Mrs. Rose Pearce, of Terre Haute, was with us and cheered us with her sweet smiles and loving words. Mrs. Pearce had organized two new Unions in the county shortly before the convention—one at Elnora and one at Montgomery. The following county officers were elected: President, Mrs. Alice Beaver, of Elnora; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Croucher, of Elnora; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Lillie Shields, of Washington; Treasurer, Mrs. Anna Goshorn, of Washington. The three Unions now in the county are conveniently connected by rail and we hope to keep our county well organized and alive to the well organized work of the State. We will hereafter endeavor to hold semi-annual conventions. The Washington Local Union has recently elected the following officers: President, Mrs. Dr. McGauhy; Vice-President, Mrs. Anna Goshorn; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Mina Ageton; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Laura Jackson; Treasurer, Mrs. Emma Ellis. The departments, with the Superintendents, are as follows: Literature, Mrs. Fannie Wright; Social Purity, Mrs. Laura Jackson; Press, Mrs. Lillie Shields; Scientific Temperance, Mrs. Davis; Flower Mission, Mrs. Ed. Smith; Mothers' Meetings, Mrs. Emma Ellis; Medal Contest, Mrs. Lillie Shields. Excellent work has been done the past year by our loved Flower Mission Superintendent, Mrs. Smith. The report of our worthy Treasurer, at the close of the year, showed that we had almost doubled our paid membership the past year. Two new departments are under consideration—the L. T. L. and Y. work. The only hindrance in each seems to be in getting leaders. Our new Methodist pastor of First M. E. Church, Brother Samuel Reid and his excellent wife, are fully in sympathy with the work. The newly elected President, Mrs. McGauhy, is very enthusiastic and is already beginning to push the work. A medal contest is being arranged for the middle of November. Moral questions in our city are being much agitated and an effort is being made by the citizens for a purer city government, which is very encouraging to W. C. T. U. workers.

MRS. LILLIE SHIELDS,
Press Superintendent.

Westfield Union has elected the following officers: President, Mrs. Anna F. Pinkham; Vice-President, Mrs. Melissa Emry; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Dollie Stalker; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Mary A. Cox; Treasurer, Mrs. Maggie E. Cox. Our delegate to the State Convention, Mrs. Cox, gave us an excellent report. We start with twenty Superintendents, so expect to accomplish much for God and home and native land the coming year. Our Superintendent of Mothers' Meetings, Mrs. Goldena Day, is accomplishing much by holding a meeting once a month.

The Canteen, by Mrs. Margaret Dye Ellis, is a summary of facts which ought to be in the hands of every temperance man and woman. Price 5 cents; ten copies 40 cents. Published by the Woman's Temperance Publishing Association, The Temple, LaSalle and Monroe Streets, Chicago, Ill.

The New South Wales legislative assembly has passed to its third reading a bill granting full parliamentary suffrage to women.

Mrs. Ellis Meredith says: "It is amusing to hear how women have 'rushed into politics.' On the contrary, women have obeyed that excellent old rule about trouble, and have rarely troubled politics until politics troubled them. Take, for instance, a case which occurred in Colorado about ten years ago. A young couple came here, the man being far gone with consumption. His wife had married him for the purpose of bringing him to this climate, and if possible, nursing him back to life; but they came too late. She was not even acquainted with his people; nevertheless that kind and loving husband willed the child that was not born until after his death, to his parents, and they came here and took it away from her. The law allowed it; and the court allowed it; and straightway that woman, and all the women who knew her unhappy story, became raging suffragists and they never rested until they had the ballot. The first law passed thereafter gave the mother equal ownership in her children."—Ex.

Woman's Column says: "A dispatch from Christiania, Norway, says: 'The privilege recently granted women to vote for, and sit in, municipal councils in Norway, is adding unusual interest to the approaching elections. The woman's battle-cry is: 'Away with politicians; only men and women who further social reform to the front!' Conservatives and Liberals are trying to induce the women to vote for their candidates, but even in the smallest towns the women insist upon their right to pick the best men of both parties and to support the women candidates. The men are greatly disturbed, and do not know how to vote.'"

The officers and Superintendents of LaPorte Union are as follows: President, Mrs. Sarah Peters; Vice-President, Mrs. Mary Baumgartner; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Seth Pease; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Joseph Vail; Treasurer, Miss Mary Holland; Evangelistic, Mary Baumgartner; Christian Citizenship, Mrs. Rachel Bowers; Systematic Giving, Mrs. Melinda Ridgeway; Flower Mission, Mrs. Martha Talmage; Mothers' Meetings, Mrs. Carrie Shanley; Hadley School, Mrs. Joseph Vail; Purity, Mrs. Seth Pease; Jail and Prison, Mrs. James Parkell; Medal Contests, Mrs. William Fargher; The Press, Miss Roxy Coplin; Temperance Literature, Miss Mary Holland; Anti-Narcotics, Rev. J. N. Harmon. These are all we have taken so far.

LETTER TO CORRESPONDING SECRETARIES.

DEAR SECRETARIES—It is of the greatest importance that I have a complete record of the officers of every County and Local Union in the State. You have recently elected new officers, but many of you have not yet sent in a list of them and our record at the present time is very imperfect. Next month the report blanks must be sent out and many errors will necessarily occur if the list is not revised. If you are a Secretary, dear reader, will you not at once send me a list of your officers? I will appreciate your promptness.

MRS. HATTIE WRIGHT BRAND,
Corresponding Secretary.

YOU GET WHAT YOU PAY FOR.

The law of life is the same as the universal laws of nature. All gain comes by strife and sacrifice. Where there is no giving there is no getting. A man must pay for the pure air he breathes and clear water he drinks. It is with a price he purchases any pleasure. He that would have the truth must buy it. Despite all that is said in story and song, neither air nor sunshine is free. They are abundant, but never gratuitous. By risk of colds, disease or pain, you pay for all you get from Mother Nature. He that would reap must sow the seed. The harvest will be in exact proportion to the quality and quantity of the seed and soil. Pay the price and you can have health and wealth, happiness and honors, just as readily and surely as any others ever obtained them. Natural laws know no favorites. Do as others have done and you will find riches, honors and length of days. Do not envy the millionaires, for if you work as they have done you will become one of them. Neither Vanderbilt nor Rothschild have a monopoly on the collection of wealth. There is an unlimited demand for producers and promoters. The young man or woman who desires a business education can obtain it precisely as Bede, Erasmus, and our great modern scholars acquired their education. Diligence, zeal and sacrifice will inevitably win it. All that is required of any one is the same effort. In any sphere of life you can get all you pay for.—Busy World.

PRESIDENT'S LETTER.

My patience as well as my strength has been taxed the past few weeks. It was a great disappointment to me not to be able to attend our National Convention at Ft. Worth, Texas. I need the education and spiritual uplift I had only in prospect for so many days. But the thoughtful kindness of friends has helped me bear my trial bravely by sending me the Ft. Worth Mail-Telegram, which contains the best report of our convention work I remember of ever reading in a daily paper. Also, the beautiful programme, the President's address—so pure in sentiment, so far reaching in thought; and I should not forget the beautiful white badge for the delegate, with the "Lone Star" at the top of the ribbon. But all these souvenirs make me more anxious to hear the report given by Mrs. Shugart, our delegate. I hope our method of reporting will be so well carried out that every White Ribboner will hear the echo of this great meeting by their respective representative. But if local Presidents and Secretaries have all been prompt in making arrangements for them you will all have heard the good tidings before this little message reaches you. We are so rapidly nearing the close of our first quarter's work that only a short time remains in which to do all that should be done in the first three months of this year. "A work well begun is half done," is a good maxim for W. C. T. U. as well as others. If the L. T. L. contests have been held (or will be, as well as the Suffrage contests by the older members), and the help we hope to receive from the door fee turned over to the Treasurer, not only will the Hadley School rejoice, but our Field workers will commence a campaign for good government for the Home and State and Nation also. If we do not give those plans laid down by our committee and approved by the convention a thorough trial now, we may not be able to act upon them in the future. As my usually good health is coming slowly back to me, I hope soon to be more helpful to you in the future than I have been in the past. I am trying to give my very best thought to you in the one hundred questions we hope to have ready for the January Message.
In Loving Comradeship,
EUNICE P. WILSON.

Y. W. C. T. U.

The first quarterly blanks have been sent to the Corresponding Secretary of the several Y. Unions, to be returned by the 15th of December. Now, dear girls, see who will be the first to send the largest paid list of dues this quarter.

I must tell you of the loyal girls at Loogootee, who furnished the music for the Parlor Meeting held in that town from the 18th till the 22d. What a help to the worker when the music is ready!

South Bend Y. gave up one of their honorary members to go to India as a Missionary teacher, the Rev. W. E. Lowther. His school will be Ypoh Straits Settlement, Malaysia. Let us pray for him, that God will bless him in his new work. Oh! for more such young men to go out in the Master's work!

Your Secretary goes to Springfield, O., for two weeks' work for the W. C. T. U. of that city, hoping to help as many of the young people as possible. Pray for me.

Rev. Dr. Wilbur F. Crafts was in Anderson and addressed the mass meeting on Thanksgiving evening to a full house. His lecture was full of good suggestions and helpful to the large audience. Dr. Crafts was the guest of Miss Sears and family, as also Mr. and Mrs. Whitson.

Trust that all Y. Unions are planning to increase their membership, and that County Presidents will remember their pledge to secure some Y. members in their respective counties. Lovingly,
CLARA M. SEARS.

AGAINST POLYGAMY.

Petitions should be sent to the United States Senators and Representatives asking them to use their endeavors to secure prompt action of the fifty-seventh Congress, proposing an amendment to the National constitution and submitting the same to the Legislatures of the several states, defining legal marriage to be monogamic and making polygamy, under whatsoever guise, a crime against the United States. The United States statutes, as interpreted by the courts, define polygamy so as to confine the term to cases where the marriage ceremony can be proved. Since polygamous marriage ceremonies occur in the secret places of Mormon temples, where none but oath-bound Mormons are permitted to be present, it has always been impossible to prove such ceremonies. Hence we must prohibit polygamous living in order to put a stop to the evil, as was done in the Edmonds-Tucker legislation prior to statehood. Now is the time when these petitions should be circulated. The petitions, three in a set, one each for the United States Senators and one for the Representatives, can be secured by addressing The Willett Press, 142 Fifth avenue, New York City. Price 25 cents per 10 sets, $1.25 per 100 sets. Every woman should sign a petition and secure many signatures. Let not a day pass until you have enclosed postage with an order for petition heads. This is very important. Mormon Roberts was kept out of Congress, now let us urge that our constitution be amended so polygamy will be prohibited. Will you help? Will you get the help of the church, the society, the club? Do so to-day.

TO CORRESPONDING SECRETARIES.

To you who have responded so promptly to my request for a list of county and local officers, I want to express my appreciation and thanks. And to you who have not responded I again make the request and remind you that this is your assigned duty and that I cannot get the blanks and important communications to the proper persons if I do not have the exact names and addresses. You can send them on a postal. I simply desire the names and addresses of your general officers, not Superintendents. Let us work together and make complete our co-operative plan.

Yours in love and for the best good of the work,
MRS. HATTIE WRIGHT BRAND.

THE NATIONAL PRIZE BANNERS.

A beautiful white ribbon star spangled banner is offered to the State making the largest gain in membership. This year it was awarded for a gain of 600. Let us bring it to Indiana next year.

A banner of exactly the same design is offered to the county making the largest gain. It was awarded for a gain of 131. Three years ago a county in Indiana made a larger gain than that. We can bring that banner to Indiana if we try.

A third banner of the same design is offered to the local making the largest gain. It was awarded for a gain of 117. Of course we can do better than that if we try.

A beautiful silk flag is offered to the State making the largest gain pro rata. It was awarded to Oklahoma.

Miss Willard's great desire was to augment our forces. We must have recruits. Let us work earnestly to double our forces this year and outstrip all other States in our gain and in systematic aggressive work. Next month I hope to give you a list of all prizes offered by National Superintendents.

MRS. HATTIE WRIGHT BRAND.

THE TRIP TO AND FROM FT. WORTH, TEXAS.

It was a delight from beginning to end, without a disagreeable feature to mar the pleasure of the occasion. The District Passenger Agent, Mr. G. A. A. Deane, accompanied us all the way and bestowed many courtesies which added much to our comfort and pleasure. We left Indianapolis via the Big Four route, Tuesday afternoon in a special coach, on each side of which was a banner bearing the words: "Indiana W. C. T. U. for Ft. Worth, Texas." At the larger towns, in Indiana, where we stopped, delegations and their friends came to the train to wish us a safe journey, and how we did want to gather them all up and take them to the feast of good things to which we were going! It was after 9 p. m. when we reached St. Louis, but we found our sleeper all ready with berths made up and curtains drawn. As our train via the Iron Mountain Road did not leave for several hours, we had ample time to go through the depot, which is one of the most complete and beautiful in America. Nothing that can be added to the comfort of the traveler seems to have been forgotten. Before retiring for the night we held a prayer service in the car. The next day when we reached Little Rock, Arkansas, we left the coach for a walk in the warm sunshine and to enjoy the scenery, for here we saw the roses still blooming and the hills gorgeous with fall foliage and bright evergreens. On the platform we saw men with boxes of most beautiful flowers, and imagine our surprise when a little later these were brought into the coach and each white ribboner was presented with a bouquet to which was attached a card bearing the following inscription: "Greeting, to Indiana White Ribboners, En-route to the Twenty-eighth National Convention, Woman's Christian Temperance Union, Ft. Worth, Texas, November 15 to 20, 1901. Iron Mountain Route and Texas and Pacific Railway. E. P. Turner, G. P. and T. A., Texas and Pacific Railway, Dallas, Texas; H. C. Townsend, G. P. and T. A., Iron Mountain Route, St. Louis, Missouri; G. A. A. Deane, Jr., Traveling Passenger Agent, Indianapolis." Later on a mayor presented to each of us a sugar cane souvenir. We were now in the southland and the great cotton fields, the cotton pickers with a long narrow bag strapped under the arm and trailing on the ground, the piles of cotton, and the thousands of bales ready for shipment, were very interesting to us. Wednesday evening we were invited to the coach containing the New York, New Jersey and Connecticut delegations. Much amusement was afforded by a mock trial in which Mrs. Mary Hunt was the criminal, charged with drinking a bottle of beer; Mrs. Ella Boole, prosecuting attorney; Margaret Dye Ellis, attorney for the defendant; Mrs. Luella F. McWhirter, judge, and Mrs. Forbes, sheriff. The verdict was "not guilty."

We reached Ft. Worth Thursday morning and were there one week. The most delightful feature of the home trip was the day at Hot Springs, Arkansas. Friday morning we found our coach side-tracked in a most convenient location, and soon after breakfast were ready for the day's outing. The town is built in a long narrow valley between the mountains, and because of its wonderful hot springs is almost made up of hotels and bath houses. Every one had a bath, and after dinner we chartered a car and rode through the valley and around the mountains. We walked up Happy Hollow and there most of the party mounted burros and rode to the top of the mountain. Mrs. Whitson and Mrs. Jones, of Terre Haute, were pronounced the prize riders. Space forbids further details. Best of all, was the sweet companionship of our white ribbon sisters. They are, in our estimation, "the best people on earth." To our dear Mrs. McWhirter, who with characteristic thoughtfulness had planned so many delightful things for us and arranged every detail of the journey, we are indebted for a trip to be remembered as one of the bright spots in life. We all want to go to Portland, Maine, next year, and we want you to go with us.

MRS. HATTIE WRIGHT BRAND.

Our Indiana party to Ft. Worth greatly appreciated the courtesy of the officials of the Big Four, Iron Mountain and Texas Pacific lines. To have a special coach streamered by the Big Four from Indianapolis to St. Louis without extra expense was a favor enjoyed by all. The sixteen section sleeper through from St. Louis over the Iron Mountain and Texas & Pacific to Ft. Worth added much to the pleasure and comfort of all. On our return arrangements were made by the Railway Representative—Mr. G. A. A. Deane, Jr., by which we came from Ft. Worth over the Transcontinental to Texarkana, thereby giving opportunity for seeing a different country. Besides this, the opportunity of spending 16 hours at Hot Springs; having our sleeper taken there 22 miles from the main line and returned, its use during the time, as well as the special mileage rates over the 22 miles of road from the main line and return, was all the result of our Indiana delegates and friends going as a party. Every courtesy possible was shown us by the representatives of the lines used, even to the transfer of our baggage by porters waiting our arrival at St. Louis.

The Indiana party to Ft. Worth was as follows: Miss Mary Hadley, Mrs. Amanda Whitson, Mrs. Hattie Wright Brand, Mrs. J. R. Wood, Mrs. Gulie Shugart, Mrs. Mary Balch, Mrs. Clara Balch and daughter, Mrs. Sarah Roberts, Mrs. Emma Sayler, Mrs. M. A. Tompkins, Mrs. Ida Wise, Miss Laura Cammack, Mrs. Carrie Jones, Mrs. Ida Mix, Mrs. K. T. A. Straw, Mrs. E. M. Houghton, Mrs. Ada B. Leck, Mrs. Mary E. Everison, Mrs. Luella McWhirter, Miss Ethel McWhirter, Mrs. Helen Sherfy, Miss Elizabeth Sherfy, Miss Susie McWhirter, Mr. Felix McWhirter, Jr., Mrs. Rena Smith, Mrs. Margaret Ross, Mrs. Lydia Hammond and Miss Sidney Farmer, the child elocutionist. On the return trip Miss Marie Brehm, of Illinois, Miss Ensign, of Ohio and Mrs. Allen, of New York, joined the party.

THE TENTH INTERNATIONAL PEACE CONFERENCE.

The Tenth International Peace Congress was held in Glasgow, from the 10th to the 13th of September. There were not as many delegates from the Continent as in some years, for Glasgow is a northern city and to reach it involves a long journey. Possibly also the unpopularity of England on account of her conduct of the South African war, may have been the reason for several remaining away. We in this country hardly realize the intensity of the feeling on the subject in Central Europe. Of non-English speaking countries, France was the best represented, and most of the French delegates took a very active part in the debates. Spain, Germany, Russia, Holland, Switzerland and other countries also sent delegates, and there were five from America, namely, Dr. Benjamin F. Trueblood, Edward Meade and wife, and Dr. R. H. Thomas and Anna B. Thomas.—Messenger of Peace.

Over 100 copies of the State Minutes have already been sent into Grant county, and more to follow. No wonder Grant county is ahead; it seems she intends to keep ahead.

FORT WORTH, TEX., NOVEMBER 15-20.

The twenty-eighth annual convention of the National W. C. T. U., was held in the beautiful First Baptist Church of Fort Worth, with every State and nearly every Territory represented. There were 293 voting delegates and several hundred visitors.

President Stevens' address was able and delivered with great earnestness. It concluded amid applause and the Chautauqua salute.

The report of the Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Fry, stated that "with a total population of over 27,000,000 in the Southern States, 17,000,000 of these people live in territory where the sale of liquor is absolutely prohibited under local option laws." Nearly one-half of the counties of Texas are under local option laws. Ten thousand copies of Appeal to Physicians, concerning the use of alcohol medicinally, were sent out. Copies were sent to medical journals and secretaries of about 400 medical societies asking that the subject be discussed in the annual meetings. In many of the journals the appeal was copied and much discussion has followed.

The first evening was "Welcome Night."

With genuine cordiality the White Ribboners were welcomed to Fort Worth and to Texas. For the city, Mayor Powell; Board of Trade, Captain Paddock; Legal Fraternity, Hon. O. T. Moreland; Stockmen, Hon. W. R. Hall, Vernon, Tex.; Y. M. C. A., Secretary Reeves; First Baptist Church, Rev. Luther Little, pastor; Churches of the City, Rev. A. B. Buchanan; the Press, Mr. T. O. Bateman, general manager Fort Worth Mail-Telegram; local W. C. T. U., Mrs. Dorothy Weaver, President; State W. C. T. U., Mrs. Helen M. Stoddard, President. Responses, Middle States, Mrs. Bessie L. Scoville, President, Minnesota; Southern States, Mrs. Mildred Dorsey, President, Arkansas; Eastern States, Mrs. Ida Read, President, Vermont; Western States, Mrs. Helen D. Harford, President, Oregon.

How we longed for the presence of the Indiana White Ribbon host as we listened to the words of welcome and realized its sincerity by many tokens of unselfish, genuine hospitality. The strong words of response cheered us and renewed our courage. The audience was very large; scores of people standing during the entire evening, although an overflow meeting was announced. The result of this first evening meeting aroused such an interest and enthusiasm in the city that the convention church was crowded and people standing at all afternoon and evening meetings. Overflow meetings were held every night and then the audiences were immense.

Saturday night was "Y. night." Mrs. Clara Parish Wright, Y. Secretary—the beautiful bride—presided. She wore her wedding gown and presided with dignity, ease and grace. The young women and all of us are very fond of the sweet-spirited Y. Secretary who won a thousand Japanese girls for Y. members in one year as a missionary.

On Sunday at the morning and evening service hours, the pulpits of nearly all the churches of Fort Worth were occupied by W. C. T. U. speakers.

At the close of the services over 150 people put on the white ribbon. Hundreds heard women speak in public for the first time on that day. The church collections for the National W. C. T. U. that day amounted to several hundred dollars.

A model annual L. T. L. meeting was the feature of Monday evening, followed by an address by Mrs. Addie N. Fields, returned missionary from Mexico, once Vice-President of Indiana. Miss Anna Gordon, World's L. T. L. Secretary, was present and made a short address in her sweet, winsome manner. She presented our dear little Sidney Farmer, from Auburn, Ind., who brought honor and credit to Indiana by her splendid ability as a recitationist.

State benefit night was greatly enjoyed by a very enthusiastic audience. Six States each made a net gain of over 500 members. These were represented by their State Presidents, some of whom brought their entire delegations on the platform. All had their State songs sung. The States victorious were, South Dakota, Massachusetts, Kansas, Oklahoma, New Jersey and Texas.

The Shenandoah Union, of Iowa, won the White Ribbon Star Spangled Banner given by Miss Willard for a Union's greatest gain in membership.

The old officers were all re-elected amid much enthusiasm and interest. The floral offerings to each were beautiful.

Platform night, the last, and some say the best, was Wednesday. The speakers were, Mrs. Nellie Burger, Organizer; Mrs. Ella A. Boole, President of New York State; Miss Amelia Humbert, Switzerland, and Mrs. Helen M. Barker, National Treasurer. The oratorical ability of each speaker was recognized; besides this, the ease and grace with which each presented the strong arguments for the home and against the liquor traffic was most convincing.

The last scenes of the convention were very impressive. Holding hands, the delegates joined with the National Officers in singing "God Be with You Till We Meet Again."

CONVENTION NOTES.

Mrs. L. M. N. Stevens has attended every National Convention held since she joined the W. C. T. U.—twenty-six.

Miss Anna Robbins, lately of Manila, presented President Stevens with a gavel made from the horn of the caribou, the beast of burden of the Philippines. The color is dark, typical, she said, of that still darkened country. The mother-of-pearl inlaid upon it represents the motherhood and the magic letters, W. C. T. U., here stand for the first Union organized in the Philippine Islands.

The Frances E. Willard National Temperance Hospital treated 300 patients during the year. It blazed the way for non-alcoholic medication. Bequests of $500, $700 and one of $25,000 have been received this year.

The hostesses of the convention were introduced amid much cheering, as were also the pages. Among the latter were Miss Elizabeth Sherfy, of Brazil, Indiana, and Misses Ethel and Susie McWhirter.

A very large painted county map of Texas was shown by Mrs. Stoddard, upon which all the prohibition counties were in black, showing where the death of liquor traffic has occurred. From the extreme of Texas the distance is further than from Chicago to New York.

Saturday afternoon being the time set apart for the introduction of Fraternal delegates and visitors, great pleasure was given the convention in receiving greetings from representative men and women from the great State of Texas and the southland.

The Philippine rally on Sunday afternoon was held in the Opera House, which seats 3000 people, and was taxed to its utmost capacity. President Stevens presided. She spoke of the object and aim of our cause in the Philippines. Miss Anna Robbins, recently returned from the island, gave an address upon the conditions and customs of a people which are to-day in allegiance to our flag. Mrs. C. C. Faxon, our friend from Michigan, was introduced by President Stevens, who said that Mrs. Faxon would go to the Philippines to represent our cause and for this purpose would give $500.00 besides giving herself. The National Society needed $1,500.00 more for its missionary purposes. $1,528.00 was contributed immediately by that audience in cash and subscriptions.

A resolution was adopted to effect that the W. C. T. U. should work in harmony with, but independently of all other organizations, controlling its own machinery, in all efforts to secure desirable legislation along reform lines and for the enforcement of law.

Magnificent bouquets were presented by individuals and by delegates to the National officers after the reading of their reports and upon their re-election.

By action of the National Convention, hereafter Y. and L. T. L. Secretaries will be elected by ballot in the open convention, following Indiana's plan.

During the days of the convention many subjects were discussed where there was intensity of feeling, but at no time was there other than a sweet Christ-like spirit shown. This fact was frequently commented upon by the newspapers. It rejoices us to know that in all the great National conventions there prevails harmony, sisterly-kindness and respect. Notwithstanding there are at times widely different opinions expressed, it is done in a respectful and kind manner. God has greatly blessed and extended the work of the W. C. T. U. during the past year.

The Reports of the National Superintendents of Departments were most encouraging. Every Local Union officer and Superintendant should be supplied with a copy of the National minutes, which contains the National Officers' and Superintendents' reports. For these send 15 cents in postage to Mrs. S. M. D. Fry, National Corresponding Secretary, Rest Cottage, Evanston, Illinois.

Mr. Wright, the husband of Mrs. Clara Parish Wright, came with her to the convention. He is a handsome man, a fine singer and an orator. He is an organizer for the Prohibition party of Illinois.

Invitations for the next National W. C. T. U. convention were extended from Kansas City, Missouri, Lexington, Kentucky, Hartford, Connecticut, Knoxville, Tennessee and Portland, Maine. By an overwhelming vote the invitation to Portland was accepted.

At Little Rock, Arkansas, on the reception of flowers and souvenir cards from the Iron Mountain and Texas & Pacific Railroads, Miss Mary Hadley hastily wrote some lines in response. At Ft. Worth, these impromptu lines from the Indiana White Ribbon delegation, together with all the names of the party, were printed in gilt on 10x14 inch cards as a souvenir, a copy given to each of the railroad officials and to each member of the party.

FORT WORTH L. T. L. CONFERENCE.

Met in St. Paul M. E. Church, Fort Worth, Texas, November 14, 1901, at 2 p. m. In the absence of our National Secretary, Mrs. Helen G. Rice, Miss Margaret Wintringer of Illinois, presided. After devotional exercises a letter was read from Mrs. Rice containing subjects for discussion. The first one taken up was "Honorary Members." We need to interest parents and adults more for their influence upon themselves and the L. T. L. than for their money. The amount of dues paid by Honoraries can be fixed by each local organization, as this is retained in the Local treasury. The tobacco habit is found to be the greatest hindrance in obtaining men as Honoraries. A plan was adopted to hold a Model L. T. L. meeting in County Convention using W. C. T. U. women as members of this L. T. L., dividing them into primary, junior and senior sections, asking them questions from the manuals, calling them by their given names, asking them to rise and answer just as though they were young folks. In this way Unions have become interested and instituted the Normal Course of study.

In asking a favor, such as railroad reduced rates, for an L. T. L. worker to county or district conventions explain our work and tell them as they demand total abstinence of all their helps, we are teaching and training the boys on this line. Where this has been done round trip half rates have been given.

EXCHANGE WORKERS BETWEEN COUNTIES AT COUNTY CONVENTIONS.

Friday morning 8:30. Miss Hollister of Minnesota presided. "The Relation of the L. T. L. to Church Union Societies," was the subject taken up. Pennsylvania reported that the "Traveling Leaflets" had not turned out satisfactory, but the hope and prospect for churches taking up the L. T. L. is brighter than ever before, but not much to report yet, and asks her County Branch Secretaries to send to Miss Guernsey for the leaflets and try the plan. Illinois had not sent them out. Indiana had sent the leaflets with a letter to county W. C. T. U. Presidents and considers it a seed sowing that will bear fruit. Indiana's State Superintendent of Junior Epworth League, since receiving the leaflets has pledged to recommend our Plan of Work to constituency. Minnesota's plan was to send the leaflets to all childless Unions. Mrs. Fields urged that L. T. L. work in church societies always have a separate set of officers, and that Mrs. Stevens' leaflet relation of W. C. T. U. to other societies applies to the L. T. L.

A bouquet of beautiful pink roses was sent in by a Mrs. Fout, a shut-in of Fort Worth, for the National Loyal Temperance Legion and to be placed on convention platform.

Moved and carried, that the Frances Willard Memorial Day, February 17, be made Hospital Day, a day for gifts to this work.

New York has a Federation of Legions; meets once a month, and believes the Senior L. T. L. will by its influence and advanced education close the rum shops. They pay ten cents State and National dues, and five cents county dues. Monroe county, New York, issues an L. T. L. paper Excelsior. Subscription price, fifteen cents. Help the boys and girls to earn their dues by giving them some work to do.

Pennsylvania has sixteen cents dues, ten cents State and National, five cents county and one cent in a fund to send L. T. L. Branch Secretary to National Convention.

Beaumont, Texas, has twenty-five cents Honorary Membership dues. A motion to appoint a committee to formulate a plan for payment of dues was carried. The report was as follows:

We strongly recommend the individual payment of dues and to this end re-endorse the Honor Roll entering names of all pledged members with silver star for county, and gilt star for State and county dues. Dues for other members may be paid from general treasury if thought best, but such receive no star.

We recommend a State Honor Roll to contain names of those Legions which have paid full dues on all their pledged members.

We recommend that the payment of county dues be made to push the work in the county even when there is no county L. T. L. organization.

MRS. P. H. ADAMS, New York.

MRS. ELMA PRESTON, Pennsylvania.

MISS LOUISE HOLLISTER, Minnesota.

MRS. IDA M. MIX, Indiana.

MOTHERS' MEETINGS.

Another year with its opportunities, its blessings, and its responsibilities, is before us. How shall we meet them? The work seems so sacred and so much greater than my ability, that I have just been asking the Father, how shall I proceed, what shall be done to arouse a greater interest among parents as to the responsibility of fatherhood and motherhood and the training of immortal souls for eternity. These words came to me, "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do with thy might." Then let us begin this year's work with renewed energy, faith and trust, "for as much as ye know that your labor is not in vain in the Lord." I would suggest that every Superintendent of mothers' meetings would ask her pastor to preach a strong rousing sermon on "Responsibility of Parents." At that meeting announce a time and place for a mother's meeting, extend a special invitation to all mothers. That will be the beginning of what you may follow up, as indications and opportunities of the locality may permit. Be well prepared with a good program of song, prayer and scripture. To become effective workers in this department, it will be important for mothers to exchange ideas in regard to intelligent study of children and to encourage all efforts for the advancement of good citizenship, of which good children are the root. To rear good children, parents must first know how character is formed. Make your meetings informal but spiritual. Let every mother feel that she has a part in this work. Let some woman write a paper, selecting her own subject or write on Character Building, Home Influence, Mother's Responsibility. Sometime have two women write on, Which is the Greatest Determining Factor in One's Life, Hereditary or Environments? Discussion. Sometime have a question box; it will add interest. Distribute literature; start a circulating library, and last, but not least, be sure to organize a White Ribbon Cradle Roll; all children under 6 years of age are eligible. Remember this is not confined to W. C. T. U. women only; it is "whosoever will" may belong. We want 1000 babies enrolled this year. One thousand babies enrolled with 1000 pledged mothers will mean much for our work. My leaflet on An Appeal to Mothers, will tell you how to organize. Price of leaflet with pledge card, 10 for 10 cents, or 50 for 25 cents. At the State Convention I will give a prize to the Superintendent who has enrolled the most children; enrollment based on amount of dues sent in. Also a prize to the Superintendent who holds the greatest number of mother's meetings.

Yours for service,

MRS. S. M. STAHL.

THE LATE ELECTIONS IN NEW YORK, COLORADO AND UTAH.

More than twenty associations of women united in a great mass meeting to help in the defeat of Tammany. The women worked hard to have a share in the result for God and home and humanity.

Mr. Crosby declared that women ought to have the ballot, and many New York papers declare that many converts to equal suffrage were made by this struggle against the powers of darkness.

Miss Emma Hersey was selected County Superintendent of Schools at Denver, Colorado. She received the joint nomination of six political parties, and was endorsed by a long list of prominent citizens.

The fitness of women for educational positions seems to be generally conceded in the equal suffrage States. All the political parties, except the Prohibitionists in Denver, nominated some woman for County Superintendent of Schools. This was the rule both in Colorado and Utah, to nominate women for Superintendents of Schools. In both those States men greatly outnumber women. So if women are chosen to these offices, it is because the men want the women to hold them. The Salt Lake Tribune reports that the election was as quiet as a funeral. A part of its editorial was, "The women! We love them, but we love them a little better this morning than usual. They can always be relied upon to keep the Ship of State in the channel."

It is high time to strike a blow for woman's enfranchisement in Indiana. Will you help? I offer a banner to the county that secures the most names above five hundred on our permanent enrollment petition this next nine months. Another to the person that secures the most names personally for permanent enrollment anywhere in the State of Indiana; have two petitions and get all names signed to both, one for the Senate, the other for the House. This also must be in the next nine months. I am now sending out the enrollment blanks to every county and County Superintendent.

M. A. TOMPKINS,

State Superintendent.

PRESS.

As your names have not all reached me yet, and I cannot send you personal letters, I will again address you through our State paper—with the consent of our kind editor. I want to urge you to make good use of the time as it speeds on; to press the press work and make every line count; ask for columns in your local and county papers, and keep them supplied with reports and items of interest on our work. Give the facts about the canteen, anarchy, Sunday laws, etc. Report your meetings in an interesting and attractive way. People will read the papers and we can, through our department, keep our work before them. So let us declare our principles with no uncertain sound and make ourselves felt along the line of temperance and reform work.

Do not forget to clip from these papers all articles written on our work, with reports, notices of meetings, etc., and paste them on muslin the width of a newspaper column, so that we may have hundreds of yards of these clippings to take to our next State Convention.

The first quarter is almost gone, so please be active and earnest, so that I may have good reports from each county in the State.

To those who have written me I will reply and send literature as soon as possible; would have done so ere this but for my absence from home, attending our National Convention at Fort Worth, Tex. Texas took the Press Star for the best work done the past year.

Let us see to it, dear sisters, that Indiana brings the banner home from our next National Convention. With a united effort we can do it. Will you help?

(MISS) LAURA CAMMACK,

Converse, Ind.

State Superintendent.

RELATION OF TEMPERANCE TO LABOR.

Will the County and Local Superintendents of this department please send in their names at once, so that I may know who my co-workers are? I hope that much more will be accomplished in this department this year than has been before. I kindly ask each County President to appoint a County Superintendent of this department, if you haven't already done so, for the work is so much needed among the laboring class of people.

Campbellsburg.

MISS FLORA WIRES,

State Superintendent.

EVANGELISTIC.

The time is very near for our first quarterly reports and I wish to urge every superintendent to promptly report all work done, be it ever so little. I have revised the list of questions for the Blanket Report Blank to correspond with the questions on the Plan of Work leaflet. I would earnestly ask that you will work according to the suggestions in the Plan of Work, then it will be easier for you as well as your State Superintendent to make out reports. Answer the questions on the report blanks; then if you have done anything outside of this add it on a separate piece of paper. I hope to hear from every organized county. If there is no County Superintendent will the Corresponding Secretary aid the State Superintendent in reaching the local Unions? If any County or Local Superintendent has failed to receive a copy of the Plan of Work please let me know immediately and I will see that you have it. Let us dedicate ourselves anew to the blessed work of soul winning and trust in our Leader to equip and strengthen us for the work. If I can serve you in any way let me know and I will gladly respond. Let us pray for one another and work together for the building up of our Dear Redeemer's kingdom in the earth. God bless you one and all, is the prayer of your superintendent,

ELIZABETH M. HAUGHTON.

NON-ALCOHOLIC MEDICATION.

The work of the Departments has always been one of great interest to me, but never more so than since the State Convention, when I was made State Superintendent of one of the most interesting and important Departments in all the State, that of "Non-alcoholic Medication."

The time has been when this was a very unpopular subject. But not so now. Thousands of people have become awakened to the fact that to use alcohol in medicine is a very dangerous thing, as a very large per cent. of drunkards are made so by having first begun to take it as a medicine. The number of physicians who do not use it in any form are rapidly on the increase. Many of our most eminent physicians are among them. They have decided by actual experiments that alcohol is not a food in any sense whatever, and that every particle taken into the system is a detriment.

I realized to some extent, when asked to take this State department, how much work would need to be done. The duties of a State Treasurer are many and heavy, and as such I felt that I could not add to my duties. The unanimous vote of the Executive of about forty members to help me in any way they could made it seem easier, and, as a result, I am now your State Superintendent. You can never know, dear sisters, how much I appreciate such loyalty and willingness to help. In order to do effective work I must be in direct communication with every county through a County Superintendent and with every Union through a local superintendent. Will County Presidents kindly see that one is appointed in your county and in your every Union? If it seems impossible to secure a County Superintendent, then may I consider you as the County Superintendent? If no local superintendent can be secured who is a member of the Union, then please give me the name of some one in the community who is interested in this Department, and who will distribute literature when sent. Please do not fail to do this at once, and send me the names, that I may communicate with them immediately.

The contest plan for this Department meets with the hearty approval of the National Superintendent, Mrs. M. M. Allen, who has kindly offered to help secure suitable recitations on the subject. The National Superintendent of Medal Contests offers to devote one entire issue of the Contest Journal (January or February) for these recitations. She also offers to have a medal made for this special use. I am sure we all appreciate the kindness of the Superintendents very much indeed, and as our State Superintendent of Medal Contests is anxious to have a great many contests this year, can we not greatly add to the number by holding more contests on this subject than does any other department in the State?

That we may have a plentiful supply of recitations, I make the following offer:

For the best original, type-written recitation, either prose or poetry, of not more than 1,000 words, that can be given with an oratorical effect, I will give a prize of $5.00; for the 2d best, $2.50, and for the 3d best a copy of "Alcohol a Dangerous and Unnecessary Medicine," written by Mrs. M. M. Allen, National Superintendent. All recitations must be in the hands of the State Superintendent by July 1. Competent judges will be secured, and prizes awarded at the State Convention. The Superintendent's blanks go out to you in a few days. I sincerely hope none from this Department will be consigned to the waste basket, but sent direct to me, with the name of the Superintendent on it if nothing more.

Any short article—prose, poetry or song, either original or a clipping—if sent to me will be greatly appreciated and will appear in print some time during the year.

Thanking you in advance for your kindness and help in this Department, I am yours to serve the very best I can.

AMANDA T. WHITSON,

State Superintendent.

HADLEY SCHOOL.

The readers of the MESSAGE expect some word from their girls in Hadley School and should not be disappointed. There is a change of officers in the school. Mrs. Steele has been called to another field of labor; Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Wells are now in charge of the house. They have each had some experience as teachers and are familiar with farm life, he being a practical farmer, and they are not adverse to taking a hand at whatever they find to do. The work is varied and heavy, but is well divided up among the girls, so that none need be over-worked, or none idle.

General good health prevails, and the day-school, under the care of Miss Ellen Piel, of Vincennes, is doing thorough work. She is highly educated and experienced, a lovely Christian woman and will lead the girls in the paths of usefulness and duty. She may not realize her ideals, but others feel to fully trust her. The industrial idea in education is fast gaining ground in the minds of the American people, as is shown in the establishing of numerous and varied manual training schools, for both sexes, all over the land. The founder of Hadley School was among the first to put this idea into execution, through the help of the W. C. T. U. organization. The school is now well begun and shows signs of advancement in all lines. It's greatest defect is in the matter of support. The plan adopted last year was an improvement over former methods, and if it had been fully carried out would have given ample support.

We hope each Union will respond to the call of the new by-law, requiring all Unions to hold one L. T. L. silver contest, during the first quarter of the year, covering the months of October, November and December. The net proceeds are to be sent to Hadley School to help pay officers and general running expenses. We should have $85.00 each month with which to pay the officers in the home. The farm does well, but there are some things we must have in this civilized world, which we cannot raise on the farm, such as coal, coal-oil, sugar, rice, crackers, lamps, beds and bedding and many more things. Furthermore, if we cannot pay our officers regularly, they are greatly inconvenienced, as they have needs and responsibilities same as all the people of the world have. There must be a financial basis for all enterprises to stand on. You who keep up homes know how much better you can buy with cash than on long uncertain time. If we had cash we could buy at wholesale rates, securing better goods and better treatment generally and a per cent. off. We sometimes receive sharp words for our tardiness in paying and then must ask credit from some parties. Please be prompt with your contests and let us make this a banner year for Hadley School. You probably know there is an endowment in the future, but not available at present, and while we are carrying it let us do it in a business-like manner, and make it an ideal school. "Let your light so shine that others seeing your good works will glorify our Father which is in heaven."

Three new, beautiful bed-rooms are now ready for furnishing, thus making room for more girls. Some pillows have already been sent in and we are hoping other furnishings will follow soon. We have a good supply of quilts, but need blankets and comforters, single bedsteads, rugs, lamps, sheets and pillow-slips, wash-bowls, etc. They would be highly appreciated, if in time for the admittance of girls.

The L. T. L's. of Knox county have sent in $9.00, made at two gold medal contests. At their request it is held as a special fund, with which to buy shoes for the needy ones who are waiting to be supplied by their Unions. This was a happy thought. When they are supplied the money will be returned to the treasury and kept to perform a like service for others.

When the annual minutes are out be sure to get them and read the report of Hadley School for last year, and breathe a prayer for the Board of Managers, for the school, that they may have discretion and courage to go forward.

L. HOBART.

For the best report in Department of Fairs, Outdoor Meetings and Expositions, Mrs. Ada B. Leck won the banner for Indiana.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO COUNTY AND LOCAL TREASURERS.

The By-law of last year in regard to the MESSAGE has now become a part of the constitution, and no one can be considered a member of the W. C. T. U. until the full dollar has been paid and divided as follows by the Local Treasurer: Keep 20 cts. in the local treasury; send 55 cts. to the County Treasurer (of which 40 cts. must be sent to the State Treasurer by the county treasurer), and send 25 cts. per member, together with the names and addresses of the persons who have paid dues, to the Business Manager of the MESSAGE—Clara Balch, 711 E. 11th st., Indianapolis.

According to this amendment of the Constitution the State Treasurer and Business Manager of the MESSAGE must compare books and receipts, which must correspond. If there are two or more members in one family, please supply the name of some one else to whom you desire the paper sent. If no name is sent, the Business Manager will supply the name, as the 25 cts. must be sent whether the name is sent or not. Where county is unorganized, send state and county dues direct to the State Treasurer.

CONVENTIONS.

Dearborn County Convention was held in the Baptist Church at Moores' Hill, October 31. After the devotional exercises at the morning session, the County President, Mrs. Culla Vayhinger, again called to mind the object of the W. C. T. U. and asked us to lay the work on our hearts for another year. The election of officers followed. President, Mrs. Culla Vayhinger; Recording Secretary, Miss Pearl Shockley; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Grace Pate; Treasurer, Mrs. Purlee. In the afternoon two excellent papers were read; The Relation of Temperance to Labor, by Miss Edith Shockley, and The Relation of the Press to Temperance, by Miss Grace Pate. The evening session was especially interesting and helpful. Mr. Allan Helm gave an excellent address on The Location of Power. He said that power lies in organization that has back of it a righteous principle, in activity, and in persistence. He said that the W. C. T. U. is the greatest organization of women in the world and that it yields such a wide influence because it is thoroughly organized, because it has a righteous principle and because it is active and persistent. The convention was helpful to all who attended.

Martin County Convention was held in the beautiful village of Loogootee, September 24 and 25. Although the attendance was not as large as we would have liked, the meetings were full of enthusiasm and much important work done. That dear consecrated woman, Mrs. Pearce, was with us and much strength was gained through her helpfulness. We also had with us one of our former Y. girls, now Mrs. Georgiana Moser White, of Colorado Springs, Colorado, whose magnetic influence was felt in every meeting, also the ministers of the churches were present with their wives and by their forcible addresses in behalf of our cause gave us renewed energy for our work. The old officers were retained with the exception of Mrs. Lizzie Harryman, who had moved away. Her place was filled by the election of Mrs. J. B. Marshall as Treasurer. Superintendents of Departments as follows: Literature, Mrs. May Moser, Sabbath Observance, Mrs. Lillian Marshall, Flower Mission, Mrs. Flora O'Brien, Jail and Prison and Evangelistic, Mrs. Gehres, Scientific Temperance and Franchise, Mary Williams, Systematic Giving, Susie Major, Press, Mrs. May Moser. A number of excellent papers were read, among which was one by Mrs. Gehres on Mother's Meetings, which was replete in its instructiveness. Also one by Mrs. Lillian Marshall on Advancement of Woman from Servitude of Savage Life to Political and Christian Equality, which was full of good things. A contest by Flower Mission Band was a decided success. We were filled with enthusiasm as a result of the meetings.

The New State Minutes are now in the hands of the State Treasurer, Mrs. Amanda T. Whitson, 3335 North Meridian street, Indianapolis, ready to be sent out. It is to be hoped that every Union will send an order at an early date. The State Convention, this year, re-affirmed its action of the year before and voted that every county should furnish a free copy of the minutes to all of the Local Presidents in the county, to the county officers and to all of the County Superintendents. The State Convention also voted that every local Union should furnish the other local officers and all of the local Superintendents with a free copy. In the minutes of next year a star will be placed opposite every county and local Union that complies with this. I am sure no one desires her Union or county left out. Every member of the W. C. T. U. needs a copy, that she may be made acquainted with the work of the convention and of the work done throughout the State by your officers and Superintendents.

The Annual Convention of Parke County was held at Marshall. Prof. A. F. Mitchell delivered an address to a good house in the evening, subject—"Responsibility of the Church in regard to the Liquor Traffic." Morning session was occupied with reports from Local President and County Superintendents. Each responded with a well written report, not one missing. Election of officers as follows: President, May T. Lindley, Bloomington; Vice-President, Salina Newlin, Marshall; Corresponding Secretary, Inez D. Woodard, Bloomington; Treasurer, Louisa M. Spray, Bloomington; Recording Secretary, Sarah Owens, Marshall. In the afternoon an interesting programme was rendered. Recitations along our lines of work, by Master Evans and Ella Newlin. Mary Hadley told us what the W. C. T. U. is, and what it is doing. Symposium—"Is Indifference to the Evils of Intemperance a Sin?" The Peace Congress of all Nations, in Costume, at night, with a full house, closed a successful Convention. M. L. LINDLEY.

Fewer State Minutes were printed this year than last. We are pleased to note that they are being sent out quite rapidly. No Union or County can afford to be without them.

A Spray of Holly will be sent to any address for five cents. THE MIDGET, Midget, Ga.

When Ordering State Minutes for the county, please to state whether your order will place the Minutes in the hands of all the County Officers, County Superintendents and local Presidents in the county. Where ordering for a local Union, state whether all your Officers and Superintendents will receive a copy. Unless this is done I cannot give you proper credit in next year's minutes. Every Officer and Superintendent in the State should have a copy, and see that the report of her special department in the minutes are read in the local union meeting.

Price of the minutes, 10 cents per copy when sent by express and you pay the postage, or 15 cents when sent by mail. This is less than half the cost of the printing.

FIELD NOTES.

Ashley's New Y. Officers are: President, Miss Reba Cahow; Vice President, Miss Golda Clark; Corresponding Secretary, Carrie Shaw; Recording Secretary, Edna Whitaker; Treasurer, Mr. Willie Taylor; Christian Church Vice President, Miss Sadie Gray; M. E. Church Vice President, Miss Jane Hunt.

The New Officers of the Ashley Union are as follows: President, Mrs. Lilly Wirick; Vice President and Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Alma Shaw; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Jennie Rinkle; Treasurer, Mrs. Malinda Cahow.

Ashley Y's and W. C. T. U. held a Parlor Meeting Tuesday evening, October 22. Had a house full of people and gained one Active Member for the Y, and two for the W's. The programme consisted of Music, Recitations and a Report of the State Convention. Light refreshments were served.

Fredericksburg Union elected the following officers: President, Mrs. Nannie A. Sieg; Vice-President, Mrs. Ella Witton; Secretary, Mrs. Willa A. Royse; Treasurer, Mrs. Anna Deweese; Superintendents of Departments: Medal Contest, Mrs. Ella Witton; Literature, Mrs. Hattie Roll; Press, Mrs. Florence Gresham; Sabbath Observance, Mrs. Martha Spigler; Legal, Mrs. Anna Deweese; Christian Citizenship, Mrs. Mary L. Hancock; Parliamentary Usage, Mrs. Nannie A. Sieg.

Chapin Park W. C. T. U., of South Bend, sent a barrel of clothing valued at twenty-five dollars and a check for five dollars to the Hadley Industrial School. This Union remembers the school each year with a liberal offering.

Newton County held a very successful convention in the M. E. Church at Morocco. Good reports of work done in the following departments were given: Evangelistic, franchise, mothers' meetings and purity, law and statistics, systematic giving, press and L. T. L. About thirty members of the L. T. L. marched in with flags and banners and gave a drill, sang songs and answered questions on the work. Rev. Alice Ruth Palmer gave them a short talk on the work of the Band of Hope in far away Zulu Land. Rev. Palmer was present during all of the convention and was a great help and inspiration. She addressed the people on the evening of the 5th. Lunch was served at the church at noon on Wednesday and a social time enjoyed by all. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. E. D. Hardy, Goodland; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Elzie Camblin, Morocco; Recording Secretary, Mrs. N. Bebout, Morocco; Treasurer, Mrs. Mary C. McConnahey, Morocco.

North Manchester W. C. T. U. have about 25 copies of the program receiving the premium at the State convention. We will offer them for sale for 10 cents, to cover cost of program and mailing.

Windfall W. C. T. U. is a new Union with but a few members. We have held two silver medal contests, which proved quite a success; Mrs. C. M. Myers, Superintendent of that department, being a very earnest worker. We have taken up the study of non-alcoholic medication, of which Mrs. W. O. Dean is Superintendent.

Hartford City officers and Superintendents are as follows: President, Mrs. S. M. Stahl; Vice-President, Mrs. Annie E. Robson; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Amanda Taylor; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. M. S. Armitage; Treasurer, Mrs. Emma McVicker; Organist, Mrs. Lena Coggeshall; Superintendent Temperance Literature and W. T. P. A. Agent, Mrs. E. P. Hall; Mothers' Meetings, Mrs. A. E. Lee; Mercy, Mrs. W. M. Cunningham; Flower Mission, Mrs. S. D. Anderson; S. T. L., Mrs. Florence Brady; L. T. L., Mrs. George Bonham; Purity, Mrs. S. J. Knight; Sabbath Observance, Mrs. A. Taylor; Medal Contest, Mrs. Lena Coggeshall; Christian Citizenship, Mrs. C. R. Cooley; Evangelistic, Mrs. M. S. Armitage; Jail and Prison, Mrs. Laura Peschange and Mrs. Ella Craft; Infirmary, Mr. and Mrs. T. Neal and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Gettys; Press Reporter, Mrs. Annie E. Robson.

South Bend Unions have placed a library of seventy (70) volumes in the county jail. Mrs. Zack Johnson is the efficient superintendent.

Colfax Avenue Union, South Bend, officers and superintendents for the coming year: President, Mrs. Sue Orner, 834 W. Jefferson street; Vice President, Mrs. — Hupp, 1027 W. Jefferson street; Secretary, Mrs. Lillian Jeffers, corner Oak and Cushing streets; Treasurer, Mrs. Emma Linard, 711 C street. Department Superintendents—Sabbath Observance, Mrs. G. Welton, 618 Cottage Grove avenue; Jail and Prison, Mrs. Daisy Shontz, 1201 W. Washington street; Press, Mrs. Lillian Jeffers, corner Oak and Cushing streets; Scientific Temperance, Mrs. Martha Huey, Rural Delivery; Mothers' Meetings, Mrs. Emma Linard, 711 C street; Purity, Mrs. Ellen Wert, 869 W. La Salle avenue; Parliamentary Usage, Mrs. Hupp, 1027 W. Jefferson street; Flower Mission, Mrs. Mariah Gorsuch, W. Washington street; Franchise, Mrs. —McCombe, 1022 W. Thomas street.

Wayne County W. C. T. U. held one of its most successful conventions at Economy, October 31. A well arranged program was carried out. The responses to roll call by the Presidents of the various Unions revealed a state of activity very gratifying. Miss Lavinia Baily gave an excellent report of the State Convention. The Hadley Home and its needs were presented by Mrs. Candler. It is doubtful if any county in the State has done more for the school than Wayne, and the Unions help every year; some by donation from the treasury, others observe the three cents a month per member. Mrs. Haughton, the newly appointed collector, by personal solicitation, secured $11.00 for the Home. The election resulted in Mrs. Stanley being re-elected for President, receiving 37 out of 38 votes cast. Mrs. Angie White, Fountain City, Recording Secretary; Miss Martha Harris, Fountain City, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. M. J. Gates, Centerville, Treasurer. Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, President of Union county, gave the evening address to the delight of all. The railroad—G. R. & M.—accorded rates to the delegates; the press asked for reports, and everything is bright for better work. The report of our new department, "Law and Statistics," will appear in the MESSAGE, also in the local press. The Superintendent, Mrs. Rena Randall, spared no pains in searching the records and we propose to let the public know the result.

Howard County was again the first to send an order for Minutes for County Officers, County Superintendents, and all Local Presidents.

For Copies of the tobacco-law and anti-cigarette law cards send to Mrs. A. T. Whitson, 3335 North Meridian st., Indianapolis. Size, 7 x 10 1/2 inches; price, 25 cents per dozen, or $1.75 per hundred. They are just what you want for hanging or tacking up in school buildings, post offices, drugstores, groceries, etc. Send for a full supply at once.

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE.—For copies of the State Minutes send to the State Treasurer, Mrs. Amanda T. Whitson, 3335 North Meridian st., Indianapolis, Ind. Orders sent elsewhere must be remailed to her. This requires time.

IN MEMORIAM.

MRS. JOSEPH VAIL.—The LaPorte Union mourns the loss of a dear sister, Mrs. Joseph Vail, who passed to her reward 9:30 P. M. November 14. She was Recording Secretary for the present year. "Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God."

MRS. RANDALL SPRAGUE.—We, the members of the Hoagland W. C. T. U., do hereby recognize the hand of God in removing from our midst our beloved sister, Mrs. Randall Sprague, who departed this life October 24, 1901. Although unable to attend many of our meetings, she was a good christian and temperance worker.

Resolved, That we extend to her husband our sincere and heartfelt sympathy and may he look to Him who is able to strengthen us at all times.

Resolved, That while we mourn her loss, we thank God for giving us such examples of christian life.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., JANUARY, 1902.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR.

THE SUNDAY PRESS.

We talk of the power and might of "The Press,"
Of its mission to teach, to enlighten and bless,
And we hail it: "Best fruit of the Ages,"
Yet a tide of corruption each Sabbath day rolls
From the fount, o'er the land, debasing men's souls
By the filth of its scandalous pages.

THE ANTI-POLYGAMY CRUSADE.

Upon the definite pledge of Utah that polygamy would be abandoned, she—after being held out many years—was admitted to the Union. It is a hard thing to either believe, say or write, but the evidence is conclusive on all sides, that the anti-polygamy provision, introduced into the State Constitution, was a blind, and is a dead-letter and a fraud. It has not been enforced and it was never intended to be enforced. A dispicable trick which ought to stir the contempt and indignation of all honest men who take pride in keeping their word and preserving their honor was perpetrated upon the country. This very thing was feared and prophesied by many. But Congress admitted Utah, believing that men could not be base enough to repudiate their solemn promises. It seems now that we have to do with men who are not held by the ordinary conceptions of truth telling or the binding obligations of oaths. Polygamy, directly or indirectly, is being constantly practiced throughout the vast western territory wherein Mormonism is rapidly spreading itself. The late President of the Church lived publicly in his official residence in Salt Lake City with the last acquisition to his polygamous household. An effort to secure his prosecution failed. Former polygamists who, in obedience to the law, had practically ceased their polygamous practices, resumed them, being encouraged by his example.

The polygamous element is the dominant power in the Church and in the politics of the State. Public sentiment in Utah renders the State laws against polygamous cohabitation practically unenforceable. It is almost impossible to induce officials, elected by Mormon votes, to enforce these laws. The thoroughly organized polygamous priesthood directs the conscience of most of the Mormon people, and, through the political influence thus acquired, controls the official conduct of office-holding politicians. Only about one-sixth of the complaints sworn out against violators of anti-polygamy laws result in arrests and then the fines are merely nominal. The "Evans Bill," introduced into the Utah State Senate in 1901, which made it impossible for an outsider to bring complaint against any person for unlawful cohabitation, was intended to shield new polygamists as well as the old and to directly legalize violation of the anti-polygamy statutes. It raised such a storm of protest that Governor Wells, though sympathizing with its object, vetoed it lest more drastic measures of suppression should be provoked. It is a piece of ardent hypocrisy when their leaders proclaim that the "Mormon people have kept faith with the American Nation," and that "there has never been an occasion when our pledge of honor has not been kept." On the contrary, those who are well acquainted with all the facts declare that they have deliberately and systematically and persistently violated every pledge and every oath they have taken upon this subject. Perfidy has had few worse illustrations.

Their leaders still openly teach the sanctity of polygamy. "You cannot practice it now, but keep it alive in your hearts," they say. "The law of plural marriage was God-given and as eternal as any law ever given." "If you have a teacher in your Sunday School who would repudiate or encourage the young to disregard and disrespect a single doctrine of the Church—plural marriage and all—turn them out; they have no right in the priesthood." There can be no mistaking the influence of such language. In that priest-ridden community, where the Hierarchy is in supreme power, such advice is practically a command.

We have tried every sort of a law in order to exterminate polygamy and each has failed. Brigham Young defied the law of 1862 and Mormon perjury prevented its efficacy to convict. In 1882 the Edmunds Bill was passed and three years later the Mormons in solemn assembly declared: "This (plural marriage) is a vital part of our religion, the decision of the courts to the contrary notwithstanding." Then followed the vigorous Edmunds-Tucker laws and President Woodruff's famous manifesto proclaiming the abandonment of polygamy.

But it still lives. We must have an amendment to the Constitution of the United States prohibiting polygamy forever and putting its enforcement in the hands of the federal authorities. We must act promptly. It ought to be done in the next Congress. It will take the vote of two-thirds of both Houses and must be ratified by three-fourths of the States. Here is the reason for haste: Mormonism is constantly spreading. Not only in Utah, but in Idaho, Wyoming and Nevada—holding the balance of power in these—Montana, Oregon, Washington, Colorado, New Mexico and Arizona, the Mormons have planted themselves. Their hope is to be such strong political factors in all these present and future States that they can prevent ratification by a three-fourths vote. Meanwhile they are disseminating their doctrines and urging everybody to "live up to their religion." Two thousand Mormon elders are scattered over the country propagating their system.—Western Christian Advocate.

MRS. EUNICE P. WILSON,
The Loved President Indiana W. C. T. U.

FROM THE PRESIDENT.

DEAR SISTERS—I had expected to have the one hundred questions ready for the January MESSAGE, and occupy the space I have used with my letters each month, but, owing to circumstances over which I had no control, I shall not have them ready, but must ask you to wait another month. I regret the delay more than I can tell you, but hope I may not disappoint you again.
In love, EUNICE P. WILSON.

LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION.

The following business-like letter was recently sent out to all the Legions by James E. Mix, the State Superintendent of Anti-gambling.

This splendid young man is vigorously pushing this Department, and deserves the co-operation of all the Legioners and the W. C. T. Unions:

"DEAR CO-WORKERS—As your Superintendent, again this year, of Anti-Gambling, I want to urge upon you the importance of this department. Very often a simple game of chance, playing marbles for keeps or small prize offered, has been the means of leading the young astray and has inspired them for greater gains. Our big gamblers of to-day had their beginnings in the smaller games of chance that are looked upon as harmless by so many thoughtless people, and we, as Loyal Temperance Legion workers, want to turn the least appearance of evil. 'An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.' Now let us get to work at once and see if we cannot have all our members on the Anti Gambling Pledge Roll. The plan I have is this: Appoint a superintendent in your Legion, and send for the Pledge Cards. I will furnish them to you at 50 cents per 100, and once a month have the Pledge read and ask for signers. The Superintendent keeping a list of them and giving the Pledge card to the one who signs it. Report to me the names of those who sign by the 15th of September, so that I can give my report at the Convention. And I will give a prize of a Roll of Honor with the names of those who signed the Pledge in your Legion if you have the most signers. Let us come up to the State Convention with a good report in this Department.

"Yours in the Work, JAMES E. MIX, Kokomo, Indiana."

PRIZES OFFERED BY NATIONAL SUPERINTENDENTS.

A number of the National Superintendents offer prizes for the best report of work done in their respective departments, and I am endeavoring to secure and place before you a complete list of these prizes. I am aware that the many consecrated Department Superintendents in Indiana are working for something higher than the winning of a prize, but I trust that the publication of this list will be an incentive to greater care in reporting. The report of a successful effort in one State encourages the workers in every other State, and there is nothing at our National Conventions which excites greater interest and enthusiasm than the awarding of these Department prizes. Indiana, with her State and County Boards of Superintendents and her quarterly department report blanks, is well equipped for successful work. If we will but use the power that is in us we can bring Indiana to the highest standard, and extend our influence beyond our own borders.

Soldiers' and Sailors' Department—Prize Banner awarded for the largest per cent. gain in Superintendents; also, a flag to the State doing the greatest amount of work.

Mercy Department—$5.00 for the best State report; $5.00 for the best County report, and $5.00 for the best Local report. Reports must be sent on blanks, must be in time, and numerical answers given to questions requiring them.

Flower Mission Department—$5.00 worth of literature for the best State report.

Systematic Giving Department—$5.00 worth of Literature for the best State report.

Press Department—Silver Star awarded for the greatest number of columns secured and quality of work.

Non-Alcoholic Medication—$10.00 worth of literature to the State; $5.00 worth of literature to the County, and $3.00 worth of literature to the local, for the best reports according to the National Superintendent's plan of work.

Franchise Department—To the State securing the largest number of names for permanent enrollment, a lecture will be given at the State Convention, by a National lecturer, for expenses and entertainment only. Also, Uncle Sam's Bible for the best local report.
MRS. HATTIE WRIGHT BRAND.

An error occurs in the report of the Appropriation Committee, page 55, State Minutes, where Summer Assemblies receive an appropriation of $100.00, and organization is not mentioned. According to the action of the Committee, each of these Departments were to receive $50.00 each.

MOTHERHOOD AS A PROFESSION.

Motherhood is a profession. Women, as well as men, are teachers, lecturers, doctors, lawyers and preachers. In these great fields of usefulness they have been successful. They hold their own with some of our best professional men. But, true as this is, woman's greatest calling, her profession, is motherhood.

What other profession would a woman dare enter with so little preparation as she does that of motherhood? Law, medicine, or the ministry require not less than three years' special training, and more often seven or eight. Who ever heard of a woman spending from three to eight years in study and preparation for motherhood? But is it not from her profession that all three others are supplied? Does she not give our professional men their first schooling? Is it not in the power of her profession to swing the nation's pendulum for weal or woe? Aye, verily! "The hand that rocks the cradle rules the nation."

From these well-known professions, such as law or medicine, we gain praise and wealth, honor and wisdom. From the profession of motherhood woman gains the greatest honor that earth or heaven can bestow on mortal man—the honor of being a co-partner with God in bringing a new life into the world, of "starting another soul voyaging toward eternity."

If she is prepared for this profession, motherhood brings contentment of heart and joy of life, the knowledge of God's approval, and we know that we have given to the race a child that is well born.

During our last commencement season there were not less than $15,000,000 given to our colleges and universities. This shows the trend of our national progress. We are an educational people, and our thirst for knowledge is not yet quenched. We are going still higher. Our colleges are receiving large endowments, and our universities are making education possible for everyone, whether rich or poor.

These educational institutions send forth well-trained women into all the professions of life, except that of motherhood, the greatest of them all.

Why is this department of our wonderful educational system so neglected? Why do we, as a government, spend thousands upon thousands of dollars annually to supply our markets and stock yards with hogs and cattle, sheep and horses, that have been well bred, well born and well raised, and then permit our boys and girls, human beings created in God's image, the ones who, in a few short years, will hold the reins of government in their hands, make our laws, doctor our sick, preach our sermons, make our homes, those in whose hands the nation's destiny rests, why do we permit these children to come into our homes, our states, our nation, under the most unfavorable circumstances? We treat our dogs better, and our cattle live on a much higher plane than thousands of our fellow-citizens! Think of it.

This sounds harsh, I know, but it is a fact. Any stock raiser who loses a pig or lamb or calf will study the cause of its death; he will know the reason, and henceforth that cause will not exist.

Over one million children die every year before they are twenty. Do you know the reason? Do you suppose that the parents of the children know? Authorities tell us that these deaths are caused by the lack of knowledge on the part of parents! Murder! It is a crime to enter the sacredness of creation in such ignorance, and should be punishable by law.

In no other department of human activity is there such a lack of culture as in the responsibilities of parenthood. If we would but stop to consider the social evils of the day, the vices and habits that are common but secret, we would realize the crying need of education along these lines, the need of training the mothers and preparing them for their great profession. Prevention is the only remedy which digs deep enough to eradicate these conditions, and motherhood is the only place to apply this remedy.

Mothers of America! How long will you stand idle? How long will you sanction these conditions by your silence? How long will you allow your profession to be trampled under foot of man? How long will you permit yourselves to be the slaves of passion? How long will you hold the balance in which totters the nation's destiny, and refuse to tip it for God and good? Oh, I plead with you, for character's sake, to shake off the shackles, to get abreast of the times (we are living in a new century). Put your shoulder to the wheel, and, with God's help, let us make motherhood the greatest profession of the twentieth century.—CHAS. L. PLYMATE, in the American Mother.

INSTITUTES.

Our W. C. T. U. Institutes are as necessary and helpful to the active membership as are the County Teachers' Institutes to the teachers. Now is the time for County Executives to plan for the spring Institutes. A gold medal contest should be held in every County Institute this year. This can be done with few exceptions. The county which thus early begins to plan definitely for the Institute will see good results. Each Union fortunate enough to be asked to entertain the County Institute should immediately prepare for it by:

1. Secure the best church.
2. Organizing an oratorical contest class for a Gold Medal.
3. Engaging the best musicians.
4. Securing entertainment for visitors.
5. Writing personal letters to all Unions in the county, inviting them to attend the Institute, assuring them of a hearty welcome, etc.

6. First, last and all the time remember that in order for the people to become interested enough in this Institute to attend, they must know something more about it than simply an announcement from the pulpits and through the papers that "the W. C. T. U. will hold a two days' Institute in — church — days." Such an announcement will never pack a house with people.

A write up of the wonderful plans of an Institute, the educated leaders, the interesting discussions, with pictures of the leaders, will arouse an interest or perhaps curiosity. Thus disinterested people will attend. Full and fine reports of first meeting in the papers, with explanation in regard to Oratorical Contest and the personal of contestants, will insure a large attendance. The newspapers will give space. What we most need in Indiana to-day is a bright, energetic, tactful Press Superintendent in every Union who will study reporting just as hard as she ever studied mathematics. The interest and attendance will constantly increase—enthusiasm will follow. Many people will become interested and identified with our cause. This will mean a successful Institute.

SUPERINTENDENTS.

It is high time every Superintendent was at work along her special gift line; and especially do we urge the work of Scientific Temperance during the school year.

First, let the Superintendent have a conversation with the teacher.

Second, have her subscribe for the Physiology Journal.

Third, see if the latest revised Physiologies are in the school.

Fourth, give the teachers a reception, and have the most scientific doctors in reach to address them.

By the time you have this much done there will be more to follow. MATTIE CAMMACK GIBSON,
State Superintendent.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

My dear Sunday School Superintendents! Awake! This, the second year of the new century, promises to be a year of golden opportunities. Sisters, let us use our Sunday School department; be diligent and fervent in spirit in serving the Lord. Let us do our work as unto Him, and it shall not return unto us void.

Please be patient, and pray for me in this great undertaking of being your State Sunday School Superintendent. I need your co-operation and earnest prayers for God's richest blessing upon our Sunday School department for 1902.

County Superintendents, visit all the Sunday Schools in your county, and work the Pledge chain as much as possible every Sabbath, and on Temperance Sunday have a temperance address in every Sunday School in your county, and if possible, a sermon from every pastor. Help your local superintendents all you can. Broaden your work all you can in the Epworth Leagues, Christian Endeavor and all young people's societies. Kindly ask all Sunday School boards to take several temperance Sunday School papers for their schools for 1902.

Local Superintendents, you will find the fields white for the reapers.

All Superintendents: Send to Stella B. Tevin, St. Paul, Minn., for a list of Sunday School helps. Please send all reports to me promptly.

Study this Sunday School Temperance work well. Broaden and deepen the work as much as possible. Visit all Sunday School conventions and make a temperance point if possible. Try and have a temperance chain in every Convention and a rousing temperance speech on every program. Try to have a motion prevail at the County Sunday School Convention that there be one collection a year in every Sunday School in the county for this Sunday School temperance work, and that said collection be forwarded to the local or County Superintendent. I hope every Union will have their County Sunday School Superintendent as well as local. We have received several reports—No work done! Sisters, who is at fault?

Mrs. Elisia Pshaw, of Ashley Union, Steuben County, sends the largest report of any received up to date—150 pledges, 300 pages literature, and 2 temperance lecturers and 4 co-workers. Sisters, I'll be glad to help any County Convention, or in any Department I can, if my car-fare is paid. My subjects are: 1. The Great Need of Temperance in the Sunday Schools. 2. The Attitude of the Saloon to the Church. 3. The American Saloon—Its Influence; Its Business. I'll do the best I can for all Temperance Workers.

Yours for the best work,

CYNTHIA M. JONES,
State Superintendent.

WORK AMONG RAILWAY EMPLOYEES.

We all come so closely in touch with railway employes that it would seem that this department should be one of especial interest to us. Almost daily we place our lives or the lives of those dear to us in their care. The character of their work—often Sunday work, with great temptations to drink—calls for our sympathy, cut off, as they frequently are, from influences that tend to nourish and stimulate the moral and spiritual side of their character. Let more women in the State rise to their opportunity and take up this branch of the Lord's work.

I desire very much to hear of much being done in this department. I am, yours to serve the best I can,

EMILY MCINTOSH,
State Superintendent.

PLANS FOR WORK AMONG COLORED PEOPLE.

As Superintendent of this Department I would like again, through our State organ, the MESSAGE, to submit the following for the year's work:

Have each union appoint a local superintendent. Dispense literature relating to our work. I have tracts on Mrs. Lucy Thurman's life and work, which any one can have.

Hold Mothers' Meetings or child culture classes. Hold Medal Contests, to interest, educate and make money.

Help in Sunday School work. Send to Mrs. S. B. Irvine, St. Paul, Minn., for S. S. pledge cards. Have each scholar sign two cards, one to be retained, the other sent to me. A good time to present these is when the quarterly lesson is taught. Ask the pastor to preach a sermon on that day suitable for the occasion, and be present yourself.

Explain the Flower Mission work, and ask some of the colored women and older girls to help sending the report to the local superintendent.

The same with Cottage Prayer Meetings. Find a competent leader among them, and keep her well supplied with literature bought from the W. T. P. A.

House to house visitations is a very effectual way to instruct and interest, leaving literature to be read.

Now, dear sisters, can we not do a good year's work? Remember we have our quarterly reports to fill. I will wait for surprises.

MISS SUSAN H. CLARK.

Will the MESSAGE please answer the following question in its columns:

What county received the premium for the best county roster at the State Convention?

MRS. ALICE BAXTER,
Press Superintendent.

Spencer County, Mrs. Alma Shaw, President—[EDITOR.]

HEALTH AND HEREDITY.

Miss Clara Boyd desires that the following be published:

PUBLIC HEALTH NOTICE.

The American Public Health Association is an organization of scientific medical men for the study of vital questions of health interests. They represent the Dominion of Canada, the United States and the Republic of Mexico—with their ninety millions of people. The prevention of disease by sanitary methods and restoration of health by the same means, are subjects of literature that will be distributed free. Specify circular wanted: "Prevention of Consumption," "Typhoid, Scarlet Fevers," "Chronic Diseases," etc. Address Mrs. C. P. Wood, 108 Powell Avenue, Evansville, Ind.

PRESS REPORTERS—W. C. T. U. COLUMNS.

The best writer in the Union is not always adapted for Press Superintendent.

The Press Superintendent should have pleasing manners, be practical, with a large share of common sense.

Such a girl or woman will be appreciative of space granted, and not speak, look or act as though newspaper men were not "all right," but will graciously accept all space as a courtesy. The newspaper columns belong to the Editor, and he seeks to please his patrons. Upon his ability to do this depends his financial success. He wants news. To all his readers W. C. T. U. items are not interesting, and by some would not be considered news. We are convinced that to reach the people in this country in the interest of temperance reform we must be able to use the newspapers, for a very small per cent. of the population attend the churches or read temperance newspapers. Upon the use of the Press depends much of the success of every Union. In accepting the office of Superintendent of Press Department, decide to give your best service.

1. Call upon the Editor when he is not busy, and in the name of the Union ask him to grant space for W. C. T. U. items, taking some with you. Better not ask for too much at first. Find out definitely at what time he prefers you should send in your material. Then send it in exactly on time; that means train time, not an hour, much less a day, late. Send by mail, if more convenient.

2. Always send in plain writing, or type-written, all items you expect to see in print. The editor can do his own scissors work. From you he expects written items, even though they are copied. One side of the paper only should be used.

In reporting the meeting of the Union, Y. or L. T. L., give time and place of meeting, name of presiding officer and any item of interest in regard to the place; business transacted (unless it be trivial financial items.) If there is an animated discussion, mention the subject and give names of parties that participated. Mention the names of visitors present, as well as those who took part in the program. Give name of the person that recited and title of the recitation. If the meeting is in a home, be sure and mention the decorations used. Give the items of every report made, except that of the Treasurer—this report seldom indicates the immense amount of real work done and is for members only, except on special occasions. The facts reported by the Superintendents of Departments should always be given—not the essay part of the report, but facts and figures showing amount accomplished.

Study how to be a good press reporter. The great Associated Press reports time, place, names of persons and important things said and done. To say an interesting paper was read or the program was good is too indefinite. Tell the point in the paper that made it interesting, or what especial features of the program made it good. In reports, too free use of adjectives in the superlative degree is in bad taste. Always bear in mind that the reporters for the great dailies and weekly papers in seeking items of news are very persistent in getting the names of people. Take note. Use full names in your columns whenever possible; not Mrs. Mary Dawson Howe; if her husband is living and known in the town, then it should be Mrs. John Deane Howe, unless she is well known as Mrs. Mary Dawson, a philanthropist, singer or writer or for some other reason.

The simple and practical plan for keeping an accurate account of all work done by the local press superintendent is as follows:

All items and articles the Superintendent has written or caused to be written are to be clipped immediately. These to be pasted on strips of muslin in column width. The number of feet or fraction thereof in length to be reported in figures. The roll of clippings to be taken to the County convention and State convention. Who will persistently and energetically do this work? One Superintendent's clippings last year measured more than 100 feet. Save the inches and they will make feet.

Pray and plan for this most important work and God will guide you and bless your efforts.

MISS LAURA GENEVA CAMMACK,
Converse, Ind. State Superintendent.

MISS MARY HADLEY,
Indiana's Sweet-spirited Vice-President.

Because of Miss Hadley's splendid work as State Superintendent of W. C. T. U. Institutes so far surpassed anything of the kind ever known, she was selected by the National W. C. T. U. to serve as National Superintendent of that Department. The largest and most aggressive State Unions have enthusiastically adopted Miss Hadley's plans. The States doing the best Institute work during the last year were represented on "State Benefit" night, at the National Convention, on account of the great gains in membership. From other countries Miss Hadley is appealed to for information in regard to how to proceed with W. C. T. U. Institute work. The Institute is a great educational factor. In it every department of our wonderful organization has a part, and in it all plans for Christian philanthropic work are advanced.

SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

At the last State Convention that enthusiastic and able speaker, Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, was appointed Lecturer for the Department of Sabbath Observance.

We have not asked Mrs. Stanley to confine her addresses to the one theme of Sabbath Observance; in fact we would not wish her to do that, since she could not do the Department justice unless she attacked the Liquor Traffic any more than she could do a Temperance address justice without attacking Sabbath Desecration, since the two go hand in hand.

Mrs. Stanley's terms are $5.00 a day, and expenses, for one or two addresses, with the privilege of sandwiching in a mass meeting, if desired. For full particulars write to Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, Richmond, Ind., or you may address communications to me. The greatest enemies of the Christian Sabbath to-day are love of pleasure, foreign immigration, love of money for pleasure's sake, greed for gain and the saloon.

We feel certain that not only Sabbath Observance workers but many others will want to take advantage of these liberal terms and secure the services of Mrs. Stanley.

KATHRYN WERT HOLLER,
State Superintendent.

27. Daviess County, at Plainville, June 5, 6.

Indiana's plan for joint effort for Institutes and Organization was not made, but discovered or evolved from conditions found to exist in the field.

Thus far we are evolutionists; if we exercise the tact and perseverance necessary to avail ourselves of the full benefit of this discovery we shall be revolutionists in a most important and helpful sense, and shall find that we have within possible grasp the opportunity of revolutionizing by a broader and more thorough construction our beautiful and wonderful W. C. T. U. structure, and we believe that Indiana will do this with the plan she has unanimously adopted for 1902.

You may count on Indiana
'Til stars fade from the blue.

So says our State Poet, and so says the President of Wisconsin in plain prose. And Wisconsin is the State which came so near winning from us the National Institute Banner at Fort Worth, Texas. But we are about ready to predict that it will be a high honor for the State which is able to win this banner from us at the close of this year.

Plans (for carrying out plans) which are deliberately and prayerfully thought out in the shortest, darkest days of all the year will doubtless develop into effectiveness and effulgence in the campaign of field work which is to follow in the bright spring months.

As we read thoughtfully the foregoing Schedule and re-read the Institute Plan as found in the State Minutes of 1901, we find that the short time intervening between the Institute sessions is to be given to Organization—either in organizing a new Union, a Y or an L. T. L. branch, or in building up organizations already existing. The County President, or the local President or worker in whose hands this work of organization may be placed should promptly correspond with the Section Leader, that carefully prepared plans may be made.

While the time can generally be most profitably spent at the place where the Institute session has just closed, in garnering the fruits of the effort, in organization, etc. there are possibly exceptions to this rule where there is some point a little farther on in the direction of the next Institute which can be organized. Correspond with the Section Leader, also, in regard to the Sabbath service.

The suggestive Program will appear in the next issue of the MESSAGE. Correspond with your Superintendent, at Bloomington, in regard to what you would like to have it contain this year.

Suggestions from County Presidents, Superintendents and others have been most helpful in the past.

Plan early for the Oratorical Contest. It has been earnestly and repeatedly suggested that it be Anti-Narcotic, or on the line of Non-Alcoholic Medication, this year.

For books, medals, instructions, rules and tickets, address the State Superintendent, Mrs. Mary E. Balch, 711 E. Eleventh Street, Indianapolis, Ind.

Also, notify her promptly of your acceptance of Institute dates, addressing her as above.

To recapitulate: 1. Correspond with the Institute Superintendent in regard to the Program and general suggestions for the work.

2. Write to Mrs. Balch, Superintendent of Organization and also of Contests, in regard to Institute dates and contests.

3. Write your Section Leader in regard to organization and Sabbath service in your section, and thus avoid the perplexity and delay which must occur when the wrong person is addressed.

With the season's greetings, and much love for the work and Workers, Yours in His glad service.

MARY HADLEY,
Superintendent National and Indiana Institutes.
BLOOMINGTON, Dec. 20, 1901.

L. T. L. REPORT OF NATIONAL CONVENTION AT FORT WORTH, TEXAS.

By MRS. IDA MIX, State Secretary.

Monday Morning, 8:30—Miss Wintinger in the chair. Scripture, Luke 2, 40th verse. Prayer, Miss Hollister. Letters of greeting were read from Mrs. Rice and Mrs. H. B. Wisner. A motion carried to answer these and a letter of greeting to Mrs. Belle Rowley.

Our work in Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines was taken up. Pledges of ten dollars from the Legions of Illinois and Pennsylvania were subscribed by their State Secretaries. Mrs. Fields said Leaflets and Song books were being prepared in the Spanish language for work in Mexico. A motion to recommend that the States push the work in our new possessions and that Mrs. Rice appoint a portion of the work to the different States was carried. Miss Wintinger presented the subject of our National paper, the Young Crusader, explaining the plan of printing same as to columns, and that Mrs. Mary Hunt and Dr. Mary Wood-Allen had promised to write for thirteen pages general matter this year. Miss Anna Gordon was introduced, and said she was glad to be with us, and to say "Howdy"; "how are you all?" as they do in Texas. How is the Loyal Temperance Legion getting along? That our paper ranked with any young people's paper; that the L. T. L. was coming to the front; that all the State Presidents were getting more and more interested in the work, and advised that we enlist the Teachers in our Public Schools to wear the White Ribbon for an encouragement for their pupils. A motion carried that the required readings prepared and printed in the Young Crusader be added to the conditions for receiving Diplomas. Resolutions of thanks to the editors for their efficient work and the improvement in Young Crusader were as follows:

Resolved, That we most heartily endorse the Young Crusader in its present greatly improved form, and pledge ourselves to endeavor to greatly increase its circulation in our respective States. Clubs, 10 to 50, price 20 cents. Suggested and accepted that a place in the columns of paper be used for questions.

Tuesday Morning, 8:30—Conference presided over by Mrs. Fields. A part of 14th chapter of John was read; several short prayers. The revised plan of the Seal Course was presented and accepted, the number of seal, being fourteen. (I will send this plan for the next issue of the MESSAGE.) Mrs. Wintringer advised that we form classes for study in the different church societies. Mrs. Preston suggested writing for the new papers a good plan for promoting our work. Miss Yontis, from Arkansas, was introduced. Words of greeting from the State Secretary of Missouri.

Tuesday, 5 P. M.—Miss Wintringer presiding. Various methods, whereby the L. T. L. may co-operate with church societies, were suggested as follows:

1. Legions may ask to furnish music and recitations for Temperance Sunday in the Sunday schools.
2. Legions may invite Sunday schools and Junior societies to meet with them, taking a part.
3. They may ask to give their L. T. L. lessons in Sunday schools.
4. They may send flowers to Sunday schools and Junior societies on Flower Mission day, with appropriate cards attached.
5. They may beautify churches and public grounds.

Mrs. Preston offered the following resolution: "We still feel that our greatest effort should be for the undenominational L. T. L., yet we urge that we enter every open door, or push when one is ajar, to plead for the L. T. L. in the churches, and, if not successful there, then seek to get the L. T. L. day in the Junior Church Society or Sunday school, with separate officers for that day and leaders for the L. T. L. lessons given."

Wednesday Morning, 8:30—Miss Wintringer in the chair. Scripture lesson, 3d chapter 1st Samuel; prayer. Mrs. Hunt, National Superintendent Mothers' Meetings, explained the Cradle Roll of this department, saying they had been combined for the best work. There were 537 members to the Cradle Roll, which was good for the first year's work, and urged we rush the work this year. Pennsylvanians say the work has prospered with them, but the difficulty was when at the age of six years they did not come into the L. T. L., but remained in the department of Light Bearers. Mrs. Guild, National Superintendent of Fairs and Open Air Meetings, told of her work, and was glad the department of Anti-Gambling had been taken up, as this was helping her department; that the young men could help locate these places of gambling, and carry literature, and hold Gospel Temperance meetings. A motion that we recommend the co-operation with the department of the Cradle Roll, also pledge our support to the Fair and Open Air meetings, carried. Miss Hollister thought the Chalk Talks a good thing for these Open Air meetings. A letter of greeting from Mrs. Alice M. Gurnsey was read, and Mrs. Adams asked to answer same. Miss Anna Gordon asked if we had any thing we wanted brought before the executive meeting. Mrs. Preston moved, if consistent, it is the sense of this conference that if appropriations are sufficient, we recommend a Year Book; carried. Moved and seconded, that it is the desire of this Conference that one or more of our State Presidents be on program L. T. L. evening, or hour given us at the National Convention; carried. A rising vote of thanks was given Miss Gordon for her presents and help in Conferences.

FIELD NOTES.

A contest in the first quarter of the year is what the by-law adopted by the State Convention provided for the running expenses of the Hadley School. Very few Unions have sent in for these contests. The school is greatly embarrassed for lack of funds. If you can't hold the contest at once, advance the money and send in without delay. Please give this your attention.

By order of CENTRAL COMMITTEE.

Miss Alice Ruth Palmer, President of Lake County, represented Indiana at the banquet given at the Sherman House, Chicago, in honor of Mrs. Stevens, Miss Gordon and Miss Brehm. She spoke on "The Mission of the Taffy Party at Home and Abroad." Mrs. Stevens on "The Outlook of the National." Miss Gordon in a very bright and winning way on the same subject. Chairman Stewart in behalf of the voters. Dr. Sarah Hackett Stevenson on "Alcoholic Medication," and Miss Brehm on "The Outlook in the State." Mrs. Stewart presided. Miss Palmer will soon begin a campaign with Miss Brehm before the ministers' meetings and then in the churches of Chicago for four or five weeks for the "New Hebrides Bill."

Miss Clara Sears recently conducted revival meetings at Loogootee. Most flattering reports of her work have been received. Our Clara is thoroughly consecrated to the work, and we hope many Unions will avail themselves of the opportunity to have her with them.

A Union of nine members has just been organized at Spencerville, DeKalb County. The officers are as follows: President, Mrs. M. D. Murray; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Laura A. Shutt; Treasurer, Mrs. Henry Beams. Mrs. Ida Wise, President of DeKalb County, attended the National Convention at Fort Worth, and since her return home has been working enthusiastically for the building up of her county. A speaker was employed for a week. It is probable that two other unions will be organized soon.

Auburn Union, on Sunday, November 10, held a gospel temperance meeting in the Lutheran Church. The speakers were Rev. Brosy, of the Lutheran Church; Rev. Krider, of the M. E. Church; Rev. Mr. Wilson, Rev. Mr. Mease and Mr. Smith.

Loogootee Union—Miss Clara Sears, State Y. Secretary, was entertained by the Loogootee Union one week, beginning November 17. She visited the schools and did house-to-house calling, mornings; held a parlor meeting each afternoon at the various homes, and a lecture at one of the churches each night. On Temperance Sunday she talked to a union of all the Sunday schools and preached in the forenoon at the M. E. Church, and in the afternoon to ladies at the same place, and held union services, at night, at the Christian Church. She had large audiences, and did much good. The people of Loogootee love and reverence Miss Sears, and the homes here will always be open to her. Officers—Miss Susie Major, President; Mrs. Maggie Brooks, Corresponding Secretary; Miss Virgie McCleskey, Recording Secretary; Mrs. May Moser, Treasurer. Evangelistic, Mrs. C. A. Donaldson; Suffrage, Mrs. M. Ehret; Purity and Mothers' Meetings, Mrs. Emma M. Sproull; Literature and Press, Mrs. May Moser; Scientific Temperance, Miss Virgie McCleskey. The executive committee does a great deal of work in many other departments that have no superintendents.

Eddy Coolman, of Cerealine, aged 12 years, had an ice-cream social, the proceeds to be given to Hadley Home. This was at his own request, instead of having a birth-day party. The children who came were shown a picture of the Home and also photographs of the children. Eddy says he thinks more will come next year, because they had such a good time. This is the second party he has had for the same good cause. He was quite pleased to find $3.00 at his disposal.

Miami County is pushing Oratorical Contest work—four silver and one gold medal contest since State convention. A fine contest was held recently at Converse. This union has organized an L. T. L. If this work is continued permanent good will result.

Eaton Union meets every two weeks. Mrs. S. M. Stahl was there and held a Gospel Temperance Meeting on Sunday evening. The house was crowded. Mrs. Stahl's lecture was fine and the audience was very appreciative. Both the churches want Mrs. Stahl for services.

Tippecanoe County President, Miss Addie Borum, gets her mail addressed Attica, Rural Route No. 1.

Miss Amelia Gilmore has entered on her seventeenth year as Superintendent of Literature for the W. C. T. U. of Monroe county. No county organization now, but her work goes on just the same. During the year just closed she distributed 1,500 leaflets with 25,232 pages.

Hartford City Union is steadily progressing in numbers and full of interest. Our meetings, well attended, are full of profit and pleasure under the wise and loving administration of our gracious President, Mrs. S. M. Stahl. On the evening of October 30, a reception was given in honor of "the Honorary Members and our Husbands." A good literary and musical program was well rendered and elegant refreshments served. Our Union observes all important questions, taking immediate action upon the same, always with an unanimous "aye" for the right.

Mrs. Louie A. Kightlinger, of Greentown Union, urged the unions to see that the World's Temperance Lessons were used in the Sunday Schools. Rev. Seaman, M. E. pastor, illustrated an exercise very impressively. A mass meeting was held on Sunday afternoon, and well attended. Rev. C. E. Davis, of Marion, gave his splendid stereopticon lectures on November 29 and 30, portraying vividly the destructive power of the liquor traffic. Rev. Davis is now devoting much time to the platform, and giving great satisfaction.

Miss Emma Rhoades, a member of the Richmond Mary F. Thomas Union, and for some time Superintendent of the Mission Sunday School, is now Superintendent of the Indiana Reform School for Girls at Indianapolis. Our prayers shall ascend for her in this responsible place.

The following counties paid State dues last, amounting to $50 or more: Wabash, $52, 130 members; Howard, $54, 135 members; Madison, $66.80, 166 members; Elkhart, $88.30, 220 members; Grant, $172.80, 432 members. The payment of dues for 500 members entitles a county to send a delegate to the National Convention.

Mary F. Thomas Union, Richmond—Officers: President, Mrs. Martha J. Little; Vice-president, Miss Letitia Smith; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Rowena Raudle; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Jeanette Strode; Treasurer, Mrs. L. W. Caudler. This Union has charge of the North End Mission. An orphan girl will be sent to the Hadley Home. In connection with the Associated Charities, the Union gave a nice Thanksgiving Dinner to the poor of Richmond, including the Mission people. Preparations were made for 300 people.

Thorntown Union—Mrs. Peery writes: A Mother's Meeting was held in the Baptist Church November 15. Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, a goodly number was in attendance. The Child in the Home was the topic discussed. Mrs. Todd and Mrs. Dr. Bassett read papers which were discussed by both members and visitors. Part of the music was furnished by a ladies' quartet. All returned to their homes, wishing that many more such meetings might be held. A short time before the above date, while Mrs. Cammack Gibson was in Indianapolis, we had her one afternoon at a parlor meeting, and had her deliver her lecture—"Five Boys in Knee Pants"—at night, much to our amusement. We hope to accomplish more this year than last.

Marion Central Union pledged 1,200 Sabbath School children on Temperance Sunday, and have ordered 600 more cards.

A Contest was held at the Soldiers' Home on Sunday evening, and Miss May Mazingo, of Marion, won the medal.

Grant County's earnest President went home from the National and immediately called the County Executive together to plan for more efficient work this year. She says we must send our own delegate to the National this year.

Mary Hadley Union, Grant county, held its last meeting at Hackelman. They were invited to come again, and are going to organize a union. Mrs. Cammack-Gibson was with them.

One of our busy Marion County W. C. T. U. women in one day baked 16 dozen doughnuts, 24 dozen rolls, 9 quarts of beans, 6 pies, and helped to bake 53 large cakes (not cookies). In the evening she attended the Mapleton Union parlor meeting held at the home of Mrs. Clara Myers, listened to an exceedingly interesting paper on Non-alcoholic Medication, enjoyed the social and refreshments that followed, retired at a late hour, to arise at 2 o'clock in the morning for a busier day's work than the preceding was. Who can now say—"I am too busy! I just cannot attend the W. C. T. U. meetings?"

Hoagland Union held a mass meeting on the P. M. of World's Temperance Sunday in the M. E. Church. The pastor delivered an address and several others took part on the program. There was a good attendance and much interest manifested.

LaPorte Union elected Mrs. Mary Bell to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Vail as Recording Secretary. We have completed a package of clothing and other good things for our wards at Hadley, which will undoubtedly be in their hands before this appears in print. We also sent them one in October. At our last meeting we found that our treasury was getting low, so we took up a collection among ourselves, and while there were only a few present, realized nearly three dollars. Where there is a will there is a way.

Grant County heard from again. This time it is Deer Creek Union, with an order for 27 more State Minutes—10 had been previously ordered. Mrs. Susan Ratliff says this will place the Minutes in the hands of every White Ribboner in their Union. Grant County is working for 500 members, and may have a delegate of their very own to the next National Convention. The enthusiasm created by the reading of the State Minutes will greatly aid them in their work.

A new L. T. L. of 70 members was organized at Walkerton, St. Joseph county, Tuesday, October 29, by Mrs. Daisy Shontz and Mrs. Kathryn W. Holler. Mrs. Noble, of Walkerton, one of the public school teachers, was chosen as leader, and Mrs. Dr. Merandia as assistant.

A W. C. T. U. was organized at North Liberty Wednesday evening, October 30, by Mrs. Kathryn Wert Holler, with eight members. The officers are: President, Miss Cecil Bane; Vice-President, Mrs. Lucy Alley; Secretary, Miss Lela Cullar; Treasurer, Mrs. Annie Grove.

A New Union has been organized in Kokomo since the State Convention. Immediately 18 copies of the State minutes were ordered for the members of this Union. They mean business.

IN MEMORIAM.

MARTHA E. HODGINS—A sweet, lovable and honored member of Bridgeport W. C. T. U., after an illness of ten weeks, was called to her Heavenly Home, September 25, 1901. During all her suffering she was always cheerful and patient, manifesting love toward all. She was especially interested in Temperance Work, and we feel that in our work we shall miss her loving counsel. She entered the valley of death without a fear, realizing that Jesus was with her. We bow in meek submission to our Heavenly Father's will, knowing that He doeth all things well.

On behalf of Bridgeport W. C. T. U.

MRS. MARTHA A. HILES—An earnest worker in the Campbellsburg Union, was taken home November 23, 1901. Her maiden name was Handy, and she was married to Samuel Hiles, May 11, 1859. He preceded her to the Glory land in 1889. She leaves three sons and one daughter, all of whom were married but the second son. This son, W. Elmer, was wholly devoted to his mother, having cared for her since his father's death. Her last words were "Beautiful river," and in a few minutes, "Peace," then again, "Over," and shortly her spirit took its flight.

THE MESSAGE.

"Not by Might nor by Power, but by My Spirit."

VOL. VII. No. 2.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., FEBRUARY, 1902.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR.

NOTES FROM CENTRAL COMMITTEE MEETING.

Dates for mid-year Executive Committee meeting, at Terre Haute, fixed for April 8 and 9. A grand gold contest for first evening; admittance, 15 cents. Speaker for second evening not decided on.

Mrs. Luella F. McWhirter resigned her place on the Central Committee, and Mrs. Sophia Toner, of Martinsville, asked to take her place.

Mrs. McWhirter was chosen to act as special solicitor for life memberships for the State W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Almira Staples, of South Bend, State Superintendent of Christian Citizenship, resigned. Resignation accepted, and Mrs. Davidson, of Evansville, selected to fill the place.

The Committee on Appropriations corrects the statement of $100 for Summer Assemblies. It should be $50 for Summer Assemblies and $50 for the Department of Organization.

Miss Ina Coggeshall, of Marion, was made an L. T. L. Organizer.

The recommendation given on the Blanket Report blank, that of Unions having a Department not duplicated in the State should send the report to the State Corresponding Secretary, led to the following appointment of Mrs. Hattie Brand as Superintendent of Work Among Foreigners.

Mrs. Travis, of Elkhart, was endorsed as a Solicitor for our Industrial School.

Mrs. Tarleton and Mrs. Hessong, of the Industrial School Board, met with the committee. So far, only one Union has held the recommended contest and sent in the proceeds to the Home. Some W. donations have been received, for which the Board was very grateful.

MATTIE CAMMACK GIBSON.

L. T. L.

A copy of the splendid letter of plans prepared by our State Secretary of the Loyal Temperance Legion, Mr. Ida M. Mix, of Kokomo, will be sent to the President of every Union as soon as she can get their names and addresses, these letters to be read in the Union and given to the L. T. L. Leader, if there is one. The Union that does not have an L. T. L. Leader should appoint one. Mrs. Mix will enclose a copy of the State L. T. L. constitution with her letter.

Required readings from the Young Crusader are added to the conditions for winning L. T. L. diplomas.

Y. W. C. T. U.

Dear Y. girls, it seems a little late to wish you a happy New Year and still I must, as I was in Ohio for several days' work in December, having some splendid meetings, but glad to get home again and into our work. Let our watchword be, this year, work and organize for Christ, to do better temperance work.

Chalmers, Goodland, Goshen, Martinsville, Monrovia, Fredericksburg, Anderson and South Bend Willard Y. paid dues. Fredericksburg Y. Branch is a new addition to our Y. family and I urge all the Unions to remember it in their prayers and to send it loving greetings.

Remember Chalmers Y. holds the State Y. W. C. T. U. Banner. Now, Y.'s, work hard. You stand a chance of taking it next fall at the State Convention at Huntington.

Less than fifty active members paid dues this first quarter. Treasurers, see to it that each member has been solicited. We must come up with our Y. work. Twenty-six honorary members this first quarter and 15 from Chalmers Y. Branch. We must say God bless them and prosper them. Goshen reports next largest number of honorary members—seven. Who will have the largest list of active and honorary members next quarter?

How many Unions need more State Y. W. C. T. U. programs? If you are in need, address the State Y. Secretary, Miss Clara M. Sears, 222 W. 14th street, Anderson, and they will be sent by return mail. Girls, please appoint committees from your various Unions to visit the public schools and see if scientific temperance instruction is taught. Appoint a committee to visit young people's societies on the evening of the temperance topic. The B. Y. P. U. has two in the six months, embracing 26 meetings, March 16 and June 15. Be watchful and a lookout of your own for our beloved temperance cause. CLARA M. SEARS, Y. Secretary.

INSTITUTES

Are now agitating the minds of our women and we want to talk to them through our medium of communication. How shall we have union in our organization unless we submit to majority rule and work the plans the majority makes the best we can? If Institutes build some counties and in some others do not, could any of the reasons for failure rest with the County workers, or is it conclusively the plan? If a County has had failure for two years, would be best to try once more or rather repudiate the legislation given us by the State and say our County can hold no Institute this year? Again: Will the State be considered an intruder and out of order if it fails to see how to cancel dates thus made? If the women have perfected themselves in methods and do not care to study them any more and will not co operate and hold the Institute, organization is then the object in view, and the State has her worker en route and the time should be given to this particular County. Will the County President object to having the State go into the town named for holding the Institute and organize a Union? The County President who does not find herself in harmony with her own plans—for we insist that the plans voted on and accepted by the organization in Convention are our plans, for one year—will need to consider carefully and pray earnestly. In union there is strength. To urge lack of means is to doubt our Father's promises. Last year some of the Institute Contests paid all the expenses of the Institute more than twice over. Instead of pleading want of means, better study how to conduct a successful contest.

Dear sisters, there are some things that can not be cancelled, and we are praying that 92 counties in the Hoosier State this year will hold their Institutes. No County would enjoy going up to Huntington next fall and reporting, "We could not have an Institute" in the midst of many other counties reporting their brilliant successes. You would all prefer to be with the successful crowd. And perhaps, if you study this momentous question—for it is momentous—a little more from every standpoint and decide it's always best to try again, the Lord will overcome hindrances in His name. We will all be of one heart and one mind and hold our Institute on schedule time at schedule places and give the plan an honest trial.

MARY E. BALCH,
Chairman of Organization.

THE MEMBERSHIP COMBINE.

Who will enter into this combine and double our membership and place our State at the very fore front? How? Each member get one more member. How simple; how easy; how legitimate! More money needed? Get one honorary member, and we have put in our local treasuries over five thousand dollars. It can be done if we will it that way. I am in the combine and have added my one working member and two honoraries. I shall keep on trying on this line.

MARY E. BALCH.

CRUSADE CIRCUS POSTER.

Every White Ribboner should have one of the "Crusade Circus Posters" which were posted in Canton, Ohio, during the Woman's Crusade, by parties unknown. It shows how much the brave women of that time had to endure. Mrs. McKinley did not escape notice; neither did Mrs. Ballard, mother of Mrs. Chambers, State President of Pennsylvania W. C. T. U.

Twenty-five cents each. Order of Mrs. K. D. Hauck, 4300 Fairmount Avenue, Philadelphia.

The Marion County W. C. T. U. Department Board Conference was held in First M. E. Church, West Indianapolis, January 15, with the President, Mrs. Mary Balch in the chair. Mrs. Mary Evertson, County President, conducted the devotional exercises. Roll called by the Secretary and a goodly number responded. The program was followed closely. Morning session was closed with prayer by Mrs. Emma Oakey.

At 1:15 the Board held a business meeting, at which it was decided to hold a Temperance Revival Meeting in the Alliance Church, East street, near Massachusetts Avenue, the meeting to begin the first Monday evening in February and continue one week.

Mrs. Stanley, of Richmond, a Temperance Evangelist, will have charge of the meetings. A chairman was appointed for each day, viz:

Monday, Mrs. Mary Balch; Tuesday, Mrs. Evertson; Wednesday, Mrs. Davis; Thursday, Mrs. Brand; Friday, Mrs. McWhirter; Saturday, Mrs. Lemon.

The Board voted to make Mrs. McWhirter editor of a column in Phalanx for Department of Marion County.

The afternoon session opened with prayer by Mrs. Dinah Welborn.

Mrs. Martha Gipe gave a ten minutes' talk on subject—"Compromise Methods; Shall We Use Them?" Her answer was, "No; There Can be No Compromise with Sin."

Dr. Homer J. Hall, of Franklin, gave a most excellent address on Non-alcoholic Medication. Dr. Hall's lecture was very instructive and was highly appreciated.

All County Superintendents present presented well-prepared plans for the year's work. After singing "Blest be the tie that binds," the meeting adjourned.

The evening's program was a Matron's Contest. Mrs. Evertson, "Eight Reasons Why a Woman Should Vote;" Mrs. Harry Wardwell, "Rum Tragedies;" Mrs. Hattie Brand, "The New Womanhood;" Mrs. Peter McDermid, "The Opponents of Woman's Suffrage;" Mrs. Frances Metz, "The Scourge of the Republic." Mrs. Hattie Brand won the Medal.

Mrs. Balch offered premiums to Unions having all Superintendents present. No Union received first premium; Broad Ripple, second premium, a set of W. C. T. U. Medal Contest books; Palmer Union, third premium, set of Demorest Medal Contest books.

Premiums were also offered to Union selling most tickets. Palmer Union won first premium, Do-everything policy; Central Union second, A Prohibition Story; Meridian third, "The Effect of Rum Traffic on Foreign Nations."

The Conference was well attended and a success in every respect. Treasurer reported all bills paid and a balance of $2.40 in treasury.

NON-ALCOHOLIC.

The statement has been made that 90 per cent of the families use alcohol more or less in medicines.

An alarming statement! Is your household free from it? Has your Union a Superintendent of Non-Alcoholic Medication? If not, will you please appoint one at your next meeting and send name and address to me at once.

Literature and Plan of Work has just been sent to every Union in the State by your State Superintendent. Let no one consider these leaflets of little importance. Read and study them. Begin the work at once. Some Unions did not return the Quarterly Report blank last quarter. Was it your Union? Please don't fail this quarter. The plan I have asked you to work for the next two or three months especially, can be worked by any one, whether a member of the Union or not. In addition to the prizes already offered, I will offer $5.00 to the person or Union who sends me the greatest number of recitations. The number must exceed 20. All must be subject to the plan as put out in circular letter and in December MESSAGE. Form your contest class for Institute from these recitations.

Yours to help, AMANDA T. WHITSON,
State Superintendent.

CORRESPONDING SECRETARY'S LETTER.

A few days ago, a White Ribbon sister greeted me with the words: "Watchman, what of the night?" and I know that many pairs of eyes eagerly scan the columns of the MESSAGE for signs of promise in our work in Indiana. From my view of the field the outlook is most hopeful. Much of the first quarter of the year is necessarily given to planning the work for succeeding months, and the letters which come to my desk indicate that the greater part of our army is well equipped for a telling battle with the rum power. This is particularly true of our noble band of State Superintendents. As they write me of their practical plans, so carefully and prayerfully thought out, it seems to me that we must have a great victory this year if each one will but do a little to open the way and help execute these plans.

The quarterly reports from Corresponding Secretaries are encouraging in many ways, though I regret that I did not receive a report from every one of the seventy-seven counties where our work was represented. But nine reports from organized counties were late. Every report received from counties where there is but one Union came in on time. This latter fact touched my heart, and I hope at the noontide prayer we will not forget those who stand like sentinels, alone.

Miss Amanda Turner, of Howard County, Miss Edna Maze, of Shelby County, Mrs. Elizabeth Rice, of Porter County and Mrs. J. W. Davidson, of Vanderburgh County, are the four County Corresponding Secretaries who succeeded in getting report from every Union in their counties and sending them in on time.

MRS. HATTIE WRIGHT BRAND.

South Bend Central perpetrated a unique surprise on their oldest member, Mrs. Doolittle, by presenting her with a very pretty comfort-bag, in which the members of the Union had each placed a gift, one gift to be taken out each day. Mrs. Doolittle has been a member of Central Union for more than twenty years.

So far as known, the North-East Union, of Indianapolis, was the first Union in the State to complete its program for 1902. The election of officers took place in September and the printed program was in the hands of every member by the first of October. This is an example well worth following. "Duty is doing the right thing at the right time."

Union County has increased its membership one-third since the State Convention, and the President writes that the dollar membership dues have been collected for each new member.

Vigo County reports a new Union at Terre Haute. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Emma Trail, 1506 South 16th street; Vice-President, Mrs. Josephine Pierson, 1700 South 18th street; Corresponding and Recording Secretary, Mrs. Jennie Swarthout, 703 South 17th street; Treasurer, Mrs. Mary Parker, 1303 South 13½ street.

BURNED.

The residence of Mrs. Martha Hadley, one of the donors of the Hadley Industrial School, was burned on the night of January 21. Small insurance; almost everything destroyed.

Bishop Potter and Dr. Rainsford made remarkable speeches before the church club in New York. Bishop Potter declared that "prohibition is a fraud and a failure." Dr. Rainsford contended that the saloon is a democratic institution and that we "are up against the working people" when we attack it. About the W. C. T. U., Dr. Rainsford said: "They are good women, yet doing the devil's work." The Central W. C. T. U., of Cincinnati, reports the following resolution:

"In considering the remarks, Resolved, That we declare them to be malicious and un-Christian, a positive means of attacking all who are working for temperance or moral reform, knowing the saloon to be a cesspool of iniquity, the headquarters for 90 per cent of all crimes committed, a licensed ruin of souls that yearly fill 100,000 drunkards' graves. In 1900 the American people consumed 1,343,176,033 gallons of intoxicating liquors at a cost of $1,157,748,245. This would give employment to 1,653,926 men at $700 a year. From an economic point of view we appeal to these eminent divines to give a reason why the saloons are a positive need."

SUPERINTENDENTS.

PEACE AND ARBITRATION.

I wish through the MESSAGE to thank Amanda Turner, Howard County Corresponding Secretary, for the following items sent in soon after the State Convention, viz: The Howard County Superintendent of Peace and Arbitration is Mrs. Lydia Greenstreet, Sycamore. There are seven Unions in the county and three Local Superintendents of Peace and Arbitration, namely, Mrs. M. P. Scott, Greentown; Mrs. Lida Outland, Sycamore; Mrs. Mary M. Stout, New London. If such information could be sent from the other counties, it would be very helpful to me and I would try to make it helpful to workers in the department.

H LAVINIA BAILY,
State Superintendent.

MOTHERS' MEETINGS.

Mrs. S. M. Stahl, State Superintendent of Mothers' Meetings, says: "I want, through the MESSAGE, to publicly thank the secretaries of Howard, Grant and Marion Counties for sending me a list of names of Superintendents of Mothers' Meetings. Let me suggest to other secretaries: 'Go thou and do likewise.' Let us be helpful one to another."

LAW AND STATISTICS.

For Wayne County and Richmond the Superintendent of Law and Statistics made the following report at the County Convention, at Economy, for the year ending December 31, 1900: Number of saloons in the county, 61; license fees to the county, $100 per saloon, $6,100; license to national government, $25 each, total $1,525; paid for attorney's and official fees, each $25, amounting $1,525; amount of fine and forfeiture for school fund, $800.86; number of persons in jail during the year, 467 (of these 36 were women); expense of prosecutions (approximately), $4,670; number sent to State prison, 10.

Statistics of the city of Richmond for the year ending April 30, 1901: Number of saloons, 41; amount of licenses paid (less county and government fees), $11,500; number of arrests for drunkenness, 348; arrests for selling liquor unlawfully, 41; for violating the cigarette law, 2; number of arrests for violation of the liquor law, 2; number of patrol calls, 225; entire cost of the liquor traffic of the city and county, $20,950.

FRANCHISE.

The State Superintendent of Franchise has offered a banner to the county which secures the most names over 500 to the enrollment petition by the first of September next. Also, a banner to the person who secures the most names over the same number in the same time. The new work this year for suffrage extension is franchise debates. Every one interested in this line of work can create a great interest by taking the following resolution, and choosing sides, discuss: "Resolved, That old maids have done more to advance the cause of women in the last 50 years than all other people."

How many will try the discussion?

M. A. TOMPKINS,
State Superintendent.

PURITY.

I am sending out a personal letter to each Superintendent whose name I have received. I have only about twenty-five names, though I have written to every County President for names of Purity Superintendents. Will not those who have charge of the Purity work send me their names as soon as possible, that I may write them? Dear sisters, though our work is of such vast importance and of such wonderful magnitude, I am sure we all feel like uniting in a supreme effort to make this year the most successful one of our organization, along this line of work. It seems to me that the keynote is purity in the home, and I am making this central thought the basis of all my personal work, both public and private. Though I have as yet received no instructions from our National Superintendent (and this has delayed my letters to my co-workers), I have not been idle. Since our State Convention I have given nine lectures in the interest of Purity and have distributed several thousand pages of literature.

I want to urge upon you the importance of securing a copy of the minutes of the last State Convention, that you may see the report of your department. Every W. C. T. U. worker should have a copy. Trusting that we may all take renewed courage and zeal and that the Lord may abundantly bless every effort put forth for the advancement of his kingdom in the earth,

RACHEL WEIMER McMAHAN,
State Superintendent.

PURITY IN LITERATURE AND ART.

DEAR SISTERS—At our State Convention at Kokomo I was made your Superintendent of Purity in Literature and Art, but shortly after we moved into and took charge of the Spiceland Sanitarium, and in consequence of moving, the work of my department has been hindered, but now I am beginning to feel settled. I realize the necessity of pushing the work of this important and beautiful department to the uttermost.

I have written personally to every County President in the State requesting that each county appoint a Superintendent, but have received very few replies. I now appeal to every local Union and ask that you appoint a Superintendent and send me her address, that I may provide her with literature and directions how to proceed.

Dear sisters, I fear some of us do not appreciate the importance and the beauty of this department. Literature and art came into existence through creation and the cleaner and sweeter we keep it, the nearer we are to the life God would have us lead. There is an increase of crime in our land and the principal cause is said to be indecent literature. We have a good law in our State. If you do not know what it is, any lawyer will give you the opportunity to copy it. It is for us to see that this law is put into effect.

Give attention to the kind of literature handled by the train news agents wherever you go. If newsboys are selling books, papers or anything that is objectionable and the facts are made known to the heads of news agencies and railroads, the boys will be removed and black listed for offering such material for sale. News stands, hotels, barber shops and reading rooms may be cleansed of these things if we but give them our attention. It is stated that in one of our largest prisons obscene pictures have been placed upon the walls of the cells. Have these removed and replace them with those which will inspire only beautiful and pure thoughts.

All books, magazines and pictures that are helpful are appreciated by men on railroads, in reading rooms, prisons, jails and hospitals, and by missionaries, home and foreign. Therefore do not destroy good reading matter, but pass it on and when you are making up your annual missionary or hospital box or barrel, enclose your very best literature, that other lives may be brightened and broadened; and please be sure and make note of every item in the work, that we may report at the end of the year. While speaking of purity in literature, what could be more purely beautiful than our holy Bible? I would suggest that every local Union see that a sermon be preached on Bible as Literature and report same to me. In this way we are educating the masses in an appreciation for high and noble things. I have spoken of beauty in literature. Our department also includes beauty in art. I know of no better way to elevate the artistic standard than to recommend to our Unions the picture branch of our department.

I desire that we shall make a specialty of the picture branch this year. Its aims are to create such a love for the good and pure that no taste can be formed for portrayed evil; to help those who need help in their love for art, and to uplift those who are cast down. Miss Carolyn A. Leech, 1735 First street, Louisville, Ky., is our National Superintendent, and will furnish any one with beautiful pictures for 5 cents each and postage. These pictures are clear, distinct prints, mounted on medium or dark gray boards 10 x 7½ inches, tied with white ribbons all ready to hang: They make beautiful gifts, or can be used as prizes or medals for excellence among both children and adults. They are not only beautiful for decorative purposes, but for parlor meetings, socials and the Y's, for art classes, societies, for kindergartens and schools and for hospitals, prisons and all charitable institutions. For illustrating the Life of Christ, what could be more beautiful than for the Unions of every County to have a picture of Hoffman's Christ in all the prison cells?

It is a known fact that two men have been converted simply through the presence of this picture of the Christ hanging in their cells.

What would more widely awaken the Temperance interest in children throughout the country than a large distribution of Miss Willard's pictures in the school room? They are also beautiful for home decoration.

How blessed are we of to-day, who for this small sum of 5 cents can place upon our walls copies of Raphael and Murillo, Rembrandt and Durer, Twiner, Landseer and Millet; also pictures of our American artists! Any one desiring a list of these pictures will receive one by applying to Miss Leech. How responsible we are if we do not improve these opportunities of placing the very best before our children and ourselves.

Sisters, I wish to impress it upon you to make the most of this opportunity. Will not every local Union immediately appoint a Superintendent of this department and send me the name?

Next month, with the permission of our Editor, I hope to place in these columns a copy of our State law for the promotion of purity in Literature and Art. Let us endeavor to make this one of the leading Departments of our work.

Yours for a pure life, a pure heart and a pure home,
MRS. SUSAN F. BAILEY,
State Superintendent.

SOLDIERS AND SAILORS.

By some mistake my list of questions was not revised on my Blanket Report Blanks, as I very much desired they should be. As the old list can aid me very little in making my reports to the National Superintendent, I send my revised list to the MESSAGE and desire my Superintendents to preserve the questions for future use.

Report of.....Union.

Name of Superintendent.....

1. How many meetings have you held this year with these men?
2. How many Comfort Bags sent?
3. How many boxes of articles of comfort given?
4. How many pages of literature distributed?
5. How many letters written to them?
6. How many have taken the pledge?
7. How many Christian Temperance Unions organized among them?
8. How many Bibles or Testaments given them?
9. Have you co-operated in any way with the G. A. R. or W. R. C. in celebrating Memorial Day, May 30? If so, how?
10. How many honorary members have you among the men?
11. How many clippings have you sent?
12. How many bouquets distributed in hospitals?

JULIA OVERMAN,
State Superintendent.

SCIENTIFIC TEMPERANCE.

Mrs. Mary H. Hunt has prepared Scientific Temperance programs for local Unions and has offered the custody of a beautiful banner for one year to the State reporting the largest percentage of Unions having used these programs. The programs are entitled, "What Shall We Teach?" and "To What Extent and by What Methods Should Scientific Temperance be Taught in the Public Schools?" These programs may be had of Mrs. Hunt, 23 Hull street, Boston, Mass. All necessary material is issued with the programs. The first, "What Shall We Teach?" is 8 cents and the other 5 cents. These lessons will be helpful and inspiring, not only to our Unions, but to teachers as well, and we recommend to Unions to invite the public school teachers to take part with them in the meetings. Another banner will be given to the State whose report shows the second largest percentage. But we are working for the first. There is nothing dearer to us than our children. We greatly desire them to possess strong, beautiful, healthy bodies. They must live in these bodies as long as they stay in this world and they need to be taught how to take care of them, that the body may serve the mind well in this life and help them to come to the very best God has in store for them. There are no dangers which the children of this land need more to be warned against than those attending the use of alcoholic drinks and other narcotics. The W. C. T. U. has had this vision. Now, like Paul, let us say, "I was not disobedient unto the heavenly vision."

MATTIE CAMMACK-GIBSON,
State Superintendent.

ANTI-NARCOTIC.

To teach the danger of using narcotics is the work of this department. To this end, then, let us inform ourselves. Secure some good reference books; take anti-narcotic papers; get the State and National Minutes and read the reports; interview physicians and educators and from personal knowledge form opinions and pass them on. Secure literature on the subject, study South Bend's plan described in the November

MESSAGE, and let us "go and do likewise." Send and get the pledge cards and pledge the boys against the use of tobacco, especially the deadly cigarette.

The National Superintendent offers a gold medal to the State that secures the greatest number of names of boys to the anti-cigarette pledge. The boy signs the pledge and coupon and the coupon is then sent to the State Superintendent of Anti-Narcotics.

While the manufacture of cigarettes has decreased, we should not be over confident, for the boys are now making their own cigarettes; and the number who are learning to use the pipe is increasing. So fight tobacco—fight it with every weapon to be secured. Hold anti-narcotic contests and use the proceeds for literature for your department.

And now, dear Superintendents, will you not please send me your names? I wish to correspond with you and the National Superintendent has something she wishes me to send you. But what can we do without your names? So thanking you in advance for your kindly responses, I am yours to serve to the best of my ability.

MRS. FLORA WOODARD,
State Superintendent.

MERCY.

DEAR SISTERS AND CO-WORKERS—The year 1902 has opened with all its limitless possibilities for good work or bad influences. On which side are we to stand? For good work I fancy I hear every Ribboner say. Well, let us look over the field of the Mercy Department. Are you going to work or will you be content to say you are in sympathy with it and then just as surely allow your influence to be bad. We cannot be inactive without a bad influence. I cannot comprehend the woman who allows herself to be made superintendent of a department and then for one year reports nothing done, or worse still, makes no report at all. "But the Mercy work is not exactly in line with the work of the W. C. T. U.," I hear some one say. I am moved just here to quote from the letter of instruction sent me this year by the World and National Superintendent, Mrs. Mary F. Lovell, as it expresses, better than I can, views which I have tried to present in various ways to your minds at our State Conventions.

She says: "I feel moved to begin my annual letter this year by speaking of a matter which has forced itself on my attention quite frequently of late, namely, the want of appreciation on the part of some of the workers of the real scope of this Department. It is not a W. C. T. U. branch for the prevention of cruelty to animals. Its aim is much higher. Its intent is to so promote the universal law of kindness as to become a part of the great regenerating force which is to elevate our race. As the common forms of cruelty are conspicuously inflicted on dumb creatures, and as our work deals primarily with the training of children, it is necessary to make prominent in our teaching the need of kindness to the brute creation, but the danger is of limiting it to that and the want of recognition of the necessity for all workers to set the example and enunciate the principle of universal kindness."

* * * It becomes a serious loss or injury when the local workers withhold the actual statistics of their work. I felt it necessary to omit in my annual report this year all mention of public meetings, addresses and resolutions, because so few reported in figures, substituting many and several, terms which it is impossible to add up and make a sum total."

Dear sisters, read that quotation over twice and ponder over it. Does it not fully explain why the Mercy Department is placed with the group called evangelistic?

Get the January number of the MESSAGE, which of course you ought to keep on file, and look for Mrs. Lovell's premiums offered on first page. I also continue the offer I made last year—one dollar's worth of literature to the Superintendent reporting the largest number of sermons preached by ministers on the subject of mercy and kindness to the lower animals, and fifty cents' worth of literature to the Superintendent who sends me a list of 300 signers to the Bird Pledge. If, after requesting a minister to preach on this subject, he signifies his willingness, a Superintendent will send me his name and address, I will send him a roll of literature to assist him. Any one wanting the bird pledge can have it by sending to me for it.

Sisters, I pray the spirit of all good may so permeate your hearts and influence your desires that you will at once begin to work. If you have no Superintendent of Mercy, appoint one who will accept the trust prayerfully, and then let such reports flow in to your Superintendent that shall gladden her heart, and let not "many" and "several" be its burden, but good round numbers, so that when she reads her yearly report next year before the State Convention in her own home city, she may not have occasion to blush for shame.

Write to me, comrades, I am willing and anxious to help you and report every bit of work you do. Don't fail to give at least one Mercy Contest during the year and turn part of the money thus earned into the Mercy Work. Send to Mrs. Balch for mercy books. And now may God bless you in your work during the coming year is my earnest prayer.

LOU E. RALL,
State Superintendent.

Women are admitted into full membership of the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church by a two-thirds vote of all the annual conferences.

If you accept this pressing invitation and are present, the Press Committee Will C. T. U.

MISS LAURA G. CAMMACK,
State Superintendent.

NATIONAL SUPERINTENDENTS' PRIZES (CONTINUED.)

ANTI NARCOTIC DEPARTMENT. A Gold Medal to be awarded for the largest number of Anti-Tobacco Pledges signed by boys under 21 years of age. The Coupon Pledge cards must be used.

SCIENTIFIC TEMPERANCE INSTRUCTION. A Prize Banner to the State reporting the largest number of Unions using the Scientific Temperance Instruction Programs. A Second Banner for the next highest percent.

PEACE DEPARTMENT. A Prize Banner will be awarded for the largest number of subscribers to the Union Signal.

NORMAL INSTITUTES. A Prize Banner will be awarded to the State whose reports show the most thorough Institute work. A Star to the State sending the best report, the points considered being neatness, accuracy and completeness. An Honor Roll will be formed of the six States following the Star as a State, in the order of attainment.

WORK AMONG FOREIGNERS. 10,000 pages of literature will be given to the State buying the largest quantity of tracts and twenty-five per cent of every dollar's worth sold will be given to the State Superintendent for State work among foreigners.

FROM THE AUBURN UNION.

Since the establishment of the Hadley Home, the Auburn Union has had a degree of interest in it; some of the ladies have been very much interested in it, and we have given it some financial aid each year; but for several years, when the reports came in from the State Convention, there has been a feeling of disappointment. So much time and energy has been taken from the real work of the Union in raising funds, yet we cannot meet the running expenses, and it has only been with persistent effort on the part of a few that we have kept up the interest sufficient to meet the financial demands upon our Union this year.

When we received the report of the last Convention and found that the Hadley Home was not able to meet their obligations this year, yet more girls were taken in, we felt constrained to submit the following questions, to be answered through the MESSAGE, not in a spirit of criticism, but that we might the better understand the conditions as they exist:

1. When we came out in debt with 24 girls, is it wise to accept 34?
2. Would it be better to limit the number of girls, and keep only as many as can be supported by the farm and individual donations?

While we are in an interrogative mood we will inquire into the seemingly growing custom of giving prizes and presents:

1. What is the object in giving prizes?
2. Do they not have a tendency to bring into the Union persons who have no interest in the work and who drop out in a short time and really injure the cause more than they benefit it?
3. Is it advisable to give costly presents to salaried officers when the treasury is in debt?

Very respectfully submitted.

AUBURN W. C. T. U.

[Presents given to individuals at our State Convention have been bought from free will love offerings only. No money from the State Treasury has been thus used.—EDITOR.]

NEWS FROM ELKHART COUNTY.

On the evening of December 10th, last, Mrs. Florence Whiteman, of Nappanee, conducted a very successful Silver Medal contest under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. It was held at the M. E. Church. The receipts were over $16. There were eight contestants.

The County President conducted a Silver Medal contest at Dunlap's. There were five contestants—four from Elkhart, one from Goshen. This was a silver-grey suffrage contest. Mrs. Amanda Kauffman, from Goshen, won the medal. After the contest, Mrs. M. A. Tompkins gave a lecture to the boys that came late, which so pleased them that they emptied their pockets of all their change for her.

The Goshen papers report a fine and entertaining lecture delivered by Rev. M. A. Tompkins, of Elkhart, in the Christian Church, on "The Women of Fort Worth and Prohibition," to a well filled house.

Goshen, Elkhart and Nappanee are each preparing to give a Medal Contest in the near future.

HADLEY INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

By request of Miss Hobart, I write a letter in regard to the school here. The old year has been linked with the endless chain of the past. New Year's day, with its new vows and aspirations, has been with us once more—that day when we look back on life's worn account book and with a mingling of regret and joy, lay it aside to turn the leaves of a new one, anxious to see what each page has in store for us. For, as Longfellow has said, "It is the mystery of the unknown that fascinates us." And it is to be trusted that with an equal interest the volume of Hadley School may be scanned as year by year it increases, and that each new leaf hold an added interest because of the sympathy and support we may have extended from time, for truly the motive that prompted Addison Hadley to organize such an institution was a most worthy one. All should be anxious to be co-workers and help carry forth the work begun, thus helping to prepare girls to meet the battle of life, for what can be sadder than to see a bright young girl, who, for the lack of an honest occupation, falls a prey to the seducer, who would rob her of that which she should prize most—her purity and virtue, which God has endowed her with, to be her blessing and not her curse?

At present there are thirty-eight girls enrolled in the school. The fourth floor being finished, makes it possible to take in eight or ten more girls. The rooms, though scantily furnished, were moved into just before the holidays. Christmas time is made much of here, for these children, separated from home and loved ones, appeal to us, and the Unions and all try to make the time as pleasant as possible. Boxes of presents came in time for us to have the tree Christmas night. After an entertainment by the children, the presents were given out, and to see how eagerly the bundles and boxes were opened brought back one's own childhood.

Among the donations for the use of the Home were a dozen window blinds, knives, forks, spoons, etc. Other donations have been received, but there are still many needs to be supplied. The walls need papering badly. A few persons, each giving a small amount, could get paper for one room, making the house appear more homelike.

The girls, when not in school or doing their duties, do a great deal of fancy work. Any one wishing some of this work should order some. The money would be used in buying something for the girls' rooms. Thanking the Unions for their kind donations and hoping that the interest in the Hadley School may ever be on the increase, I remain sincerely,

MRS. CLARA WELLS.

FIELD NOTES.

St. Joseph County Executive Committee has arranged a series of public meetings. The first one was held January 16—a mothers' meeting. All Unions in the county were represented. Enthusiasm prevailed throughout the meeting. Good advertising resulted in a fine audience. The subject "Games and Amusements for the Home" was presented by our own State Superintendent of Flower Mission Work, Miss Mabel Jeffres, in a very practical and instructive manner. "A Moral Issue, Food, Drink and Dress" was presented by Mrs. Sharpless, of Chicago. Music was furnished by talented musicians. Several new members were added. The county will hold a department meeting January 30, at which time the Superintendents will organize into a Department Board. The County Superintendents have been admitted as members of the County Executive with the hope of advancing department work. On January 27th the Willard Memorial Y. will hold a winter picnic at Temperance Hall.

On the evening of January 3 our honored Delegate to the National, Mrs. M. A. Tompkins, of Elkhart, gave us a very interesting and instructive account of the trip of the Indiana Delegation to Fort Worth and the doings of the Convention.

Kokomo—Recently the opening exercises of the Kokomo High School were under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. Mrs. Ida Mix, the local President, presided. The program was as follows: Scripture reading, Mrs. Hillis; prayer, Mrs. Hendry-Wootton; solo, "Lead, Kindly Light," Miss Edith Hillis; and papers by Miss Rebecca Trueblood and Mrs. Ida Mix, the latter concerning the life, character and work of Miss Frances E. Willard. At the conclusion of this paper, Mrs. Mix, on behalf of the State W. C. T. U. Convention, presented to the High School a beautiful life-size portrait of Miss Willard, handsomely framed in black and white. An engraved silver plate on the frame contained these words: "Presented to Kokomo High School by the Indiana W. C. T. U., October 7, 1901."

[The money for this picture was contributed by delegates to the State Convention and the order given for it at that time.—EDITOR.]

Newton County—Superintendents: Parliamentary Law, Mrs. E. D. Hardy, Goodland; Press, Mrs. Sarah Mugg, Goodland; Narcotics, Mrs. Anna E. Currens, Goodland; Mercy, Mrs. Lottie Patton, Goodland; Literature, Mrs. Gertrude Peck, Goodland; Soldiers and Sailors, Mrs. Trissa E. Sapp, Goodland; Mothers' Meetings and Purity, Mrs. Euphemia Garrard, Morocco; Unfermented Wine, Mrs. Sarah Parsons, Morocco; Franchise, Mrs. M. C. McConnahey, Morocco; Sabbath Observance, Mrs. Amanda Webber, Morocco; Law and Statistics, Mrs. Ida Moore, Morocco; Sunday School, Mrs. B. L. Archibald, Morocco; Evangelistic, Mrs. Emma Kessler, Morocco.

Salem Union has among its members our County President and five of the County Superintendents, to each of whom the Union furnished a copy of the State Minutes. Also, the Assistant Matron of the Hadley School, Miss Edna Pearl Menaugh, is a member of our Union. Her father, Mr. C. C. Menaugh, is the author of "The Progress of Woman in the 19th Century." By the way, his name is not given correct in the State Minutes. Last week we sent to the Hadley School a large box of clothing, spoons, knives, etc., donated by the different merchants of our town, of whom very few refused to give something. We had many things given by friends and members of the Union. We have another box of jellies and canned fruits to send as soon as the weather moderates. The members of the Union and all friends who would help gave a very interesting entertainment, consisting of music and recitations, which seemed to be enjoyed by all that were there. Although the weather was very bad we had a pretty good crowd and cleared a sum of money.

South Marion Union's program for 1902 is not only beautifully printed, but is comprehensive and indicates much aggressiveness. This Union is determined to help to bring Grant County membership up to 500, so that the county can send its own delegate to the National Convention at Portland, Me., next fall.

On the night of December 10 the Nappanee Union held a very successful Silver Medal Contest. The winner of the medal was Miss Dinah Frazier. All of the contestants did well.

Sedalia and Burlington Unions held a joint Gold Medal Contest at Middleport, New Year's night, in the Universalist Church. The program was good, but owing to the weather and distance some of the class had to come there were only four contestants. The Medal was awarded to Miss Grace Cleaver, to the satisfaction of all, on the piece entitled "Rum's Tragedies." Our work is gaining attention if we could get the church members aroused.

Officers of Morocco Union: President, Mrs. M. C. McConahey; Vice-President, Mrs. Sarah Parsons; Treasurer, Mrs. Mary E. Handley; Superintendent, Evangelistic, Mrs. Emma Kessler; Superintendent Literature, Mrs. Emma Kessler; Superintendent Mothers' Meetings, Mrs. Euphemia Garrard; Superintendent Purity, Mrs. Euphemia Garrard; Superintendent Franchise, Mrs. Amanda Webber; Superintendent Narcotics, Mrs. Ella Troxell; Superintendent Scientific Temperance, Mrs. Ida Moore. The Vice-Presidents of the churches are expected to be Superintendents of Sunday School work in their respective churches.

Mrs. Mary D. Hendricks, of Lebanon, writes: The temperance people are slowly but surely crowding the saloons out of our city. The Anti-Saloon League, assisted by the W. C. T. U., have accomplished some good work. Ten applications for licenses in the first ward have been defeated since February 1, 1901. The last saloon in the ward was closed in December. In one case the applicant went into court and was defeated before the County Commissioners and took change of venue to Clinton County and was defeated before the court in that County. The W. C. T. U. did some effective work in that trial.

The Willard Memorial Y., of South Bend, held a very pleasant and profitable meeting, Friday evening, January 10, at Temperance Hall. A good program had been prepared, several musical selections, and Mrs. Katie Wert Holler gave a very pleasing and instructive talk on "What the W. C. T. U. is doing." The Y's have been holding a membership contest, which will close the first week in February with a banquet given by the defeated side. They expect to gain many new members. The Y's are also arranging to hold a medal contest about the first of February.

Hadley School is now enjoying perfect health, with forty girls on the roll. This is as many as can be accommodated at one time in this school. The fourth floor is now the most inviting part of the dwelling. Furnishings are not complete, but so far as they go, are comfortable. Our dear Aunt Martha (Mrs. Addison Hadley) surprised us recently by presenting a check for $330.96. It is an inspiration to look into her dear, sweet face and hear her encouraging words of loyalty regarding this home. So far but five Unions have responded to the new law for sending the school the net proceeds from Medal Contests during the first quarter. We hope this is only deferred till second quarter.

Miami County. Mrs. Ridgeway, the President of Miami County, writes: "Personally I have held eight Silver and three Gold Medal Contests since the State Convention."

White County. This county bids fair to make a large gain in membership this year. The Corresponding Secretary sends the encouraging word that they have gained seventeen paid Y's in this quarter.

INSTITUTE PERSPECTIVE—A PLAIN TALK WITH THE WORKERS.

What victories shall we plan for our spring Institutes? Just about what we promptly and fully decide to do, we'll do. Haven't you found it so? And do you believe the declaration that "Whatever it is necessary to have done is possible to do?"

At our last series of Institutes a long sought and most desirable victory came to us in the way of a beautiful and helpful County Roster prepared by each County President for her county. Let the Roster be revised and kept up to date by such changes as occur in office, membership, special work, etc., and thus it will be as a map growing increasingly beautiful by every advancement made and every touch of your pencil, and helpful to the work because it shows relatively the work done, the work to be done and the workers enrolled (or that must be enrolled) for the service.

Now glance across your Roster to the column marked "Number of Messages taken" and you are delighted to find that the number equals your paid membership and with Mrs. Balch, as given in her letter in last week's Union Signal, you "sympathize with other States which have not as yet tried our sure way of a paying State paper and an intelligent membership."

Now look at the column marked "Number of Union Signals taken;" you blush and turn away and then grow faint, and conclude that you have symptoms of heart failure. You saw at a glance by the footing that the number of Signals taken does not equal the number of officers of your local Unions. You at first refused to look at the column marked "Number of county officers taking the Signal." But you have decided to confront the whole situation and thus completely revise this part of your roster and we have decided to help you.

You will call to mind that the Signal has been improved and the annual subscription price increased to $1.50. But we are pleased to announce that subscriptions at our Institutes will be accepted at the reduced rate of $1.25 for a year's subscription.

We have this to propose, trusting it may be an encouragement to the workers and of real value to the work. Every local president, or any other worker, who will bring to the Institute 10 or more paid subscriptions to the Union Signal at $1.25 each, will receive the beautiful life size aquarelle tint picture of Miss Willard, the one which appears so well in school rooms or lecture rooms and for which many of us paid $1.00 and promptly ordered a second copy for a friend.

These subscriptions may be either new names, or renewals, or both. All will count on your list. But don't fail to mark them old or new as the case may be, and don't forget that you can send the Signal to your ministers for 50 cents each, or to a reading room or library for the same price. Three 50 cent subscriptions will count one on your list of 10 or more.

If you cannot get the 10 names all before coming to the Institute, bring as many as you can and try to complete your list from your membership there. You will at least be favored with the reduced rate.

If all Local Unions succeed with their list of ten (or more) subscribers at usual or even unusual rates for the pictures, you see the Institute Leaders must stand for a good many dollars for the premiums offered.

But don't get alarmed about this. The State will not be asked to stand for the expense and I really believe your leaders would like to be bankrupt on a proposition which would mean at least three or four thousand new readers for our grand national and world's organ, the Union Signal, and a growth in intelligence, enthusiasm and permanency in our work which cannot be estimated.

Mother National would have no banner to offer equal to our case, and the W. T. P. A. would surely have to make a little bow to us.

What say you, dear local workers, will you go to work at once and make the list of ten (or more)? Don't it seem a little thing to do compared with our great need, great faith and the great victory which it will bring to us along main lines? I am yours for the kind of bankruptcy indicated.

Some Unions have done this. After forwarding all county, State and State paper dues and meeting all other demands, they have looked into their treasury and found a little money there and have decided it could be best used by making a present of one-half of an annual subscription to the Signal to all of its members or to as many as would accept it and pay the other half.

The Unions referred to have rejoiced in the fruits of their plan. Each Union can find the plan best adapted to its needs.

Others of our periodicals and also books and other literature necessary to our work will no doubt be offered at Institutes at special rates which we are not now prepared to announce.

If a social service should be decided on for the first evening, as provided for by the plan for this year (see State Minutes, page 68) let it be simple but thoughtfully worked out in minutest detail and with reference to interesting those outside of our ranks and a pleasant, instructive time for every one. Our honoraries should not be forgotten. The Leader might help by a very brief, cheery, informal talk relative to our work.

Good music, including some special music along our lines, would be appreciated and helpful.

Refreshments, if any, should be light. The young people should be invited and used in some of the many ways in which they can so acceptably contribute to a pleasant and profitable evening and with a view to enlisting them in our work.

It has been thought best to give the entire afternoon of the last day meeting to an Evangelistic Service, touching our work vitally and practically from the gospel standpoint, and that of the many interests represented.

Things to think about, pray for and work for:

1. The consecration service just spoken of (see program.)
2. A well prepared contest—on time.
3. A new Union, a Y. and an L. T. L.
4. A neighbor or friend you would like to enlist in the work.
5. A wide and enthusiastic advertisement of the Institute.
6. A good advance subscription list for the Union Signal, large enough at least to secure a premium.
7. A well filled program with the county membership out to hear it and take a part.
8. Ourselves always abounding in this great work for humanity to which we have pledged our faith and plighted our love and loyalty; with a consecration which says "What I can do I ought to do and what I ought to do by the grace of God I will do." With confidence and expectation.

MARY HADLEY,
Superintendent National and Indiana Institutes.

IN MEMORIAM.

MRS. ELIZABETH CURRY was called from labor to reward November 1, 1901. She was one of the Crusaders and one among the first W. C. T. U. members. She was loved and esteemed by all who knew her. We bow in submission to our heavenly Father's will, believing our loss is her eternal gain.

MRS. MARY MCFARREN departed this life October 25, 1901. She was a kind and loving wife and mother and a faithful member of the W. C. T. U. While we miss her from among us here, we believe she has gone to the mansion prepared for her in our Father's house on high.

PRESIDENT'S LETTER.

DEAR PRESIDENTS AND CO-WORKERS—As Nature is bringing new life to what seemed dead through the long winter months and planning new beauty for each little leaf and flower, and each little atom of beauty is getting ready to join the great chorus of praise to our Father in Heaven for the glad spring time, let each one of us do our part, so that perfect harmony will make the anthem more blessedly sweet to Earth and more joyful to Heaven. If any Union has been dormant through the winter, let it take on new strength now. I am believing the Institute will help every one to have broader views and grander thoughts concerning our organization and serve as a helping hand to every sincere woman to find her place in our ranks. While I meet with many dear sisters who are doing more of our work than their strength warrants, I am also convinced that there is no task so irksome as that one that brings with it the consciousness that the work I am doing will help no one to a better life, and no service so sweet as doing good to others. So nearly as I can comprehend our duty as a State, our present vetoed the anti-tobacco law; as Attorney-general he nullified the anti-canteen law, and he left President McKinley's Cabinet to become attorney for a whisky ring.

Y. W. C. T. U.

Goshen Y. was the first to send in their second quarterly report blank, and it was well filled. Just think of it, 70 attending next to the last meeting!

Anderson Y. will have a debate on the 24th between the Y. W. C. T. U. and a member of the Y. M. C. A. Have you arranged for the debates as planned in the State program?

The Anderson Y. held a meeting in North Anderson for women. The meeting was well attended and much interest taken.

How many of the Y. Unions have held Contests this year? If you have not, I urge you to arrange for one soon.

The Y. Secretary is in Wayne County at this time, from the 15th to the 22d, hoping to secure some new members for the Y. W. C. T. U. Indiana must bring up their membership this year. Will you help?

our country and the world, let us gird on our armor and prepare for a peaceful warfare. We desire the help, not only of all our Sunday School Department workers, but also all White Ribboners, leading Sunday School workers, ministers and every one who will volunteer to co-operate with us.

Beloved comrades, I am sure you are all in line and waiting for your marching orders. First to State Superintendents: Ascertain at once when and where the next State Sunday School Convention will be held. If held before June 20 have the following memorial presented by some influential worker who will champion our cause:

WHEREAS, The evil of intemperance prevails to an alarming extent in our land; and

WHEREAS, the Church has a duty to perform in keeping youth unsullied by such evil; therefore,

Resolved, That it is the wish of this Convention that no change shall be made in providing the Quarterly Temperance Lesson.

Report results to me. Also, secure and send to me the names and addresses of all officers of the State Association, all prominent Sunday School workers in the State, and especially all delegates elected to the Denver Convention. The latter information must come from Local Superintendents. County and District Superintendents are asked to act in accordance with the same instructions in their respective fields, reporting to their State Superintendents.

To the local Superintendents and to all local Unions having no Superintendents we turn with urgent requests for co-operation. Dear Local Presidents, will you not attend to this work at your next meeting? Appoint a superintendent or a committee who will follow the directions given for local work. March 23 is our next Temperance Sunday. We should make the day count for our cause. Let the temperance lesson be announced in advance by sending each School Superintendent a kind letter and our circular containing the list of temperance lessons for the year. Enclose also our Quarterly Blackboard Exercise. Let every Sunday School teacher also receive the helpful Quarterly Leaflet published by the Department. These will help to emphasize the temperance lesson, and, with the pledge signing which should be done, the day will be marked for temperance. Send to me for above named materials. Circulars, 20 cents per 100; Blackboard Exercises, 2 cents, or 50 cents per 100; Leaflets and Pledge Cards, 25 cents per 100.

The imperative work for March 23 is to present the following resolution in every Sunday School where it is not already presented:

WHEREAS, We feel the deep importance of training our youth in the principles of Righteousness, Temperance and Purity, giving them both the Gospel and Science as a reason for this hope which we strive to implant in their lives; and

WHEREAS, The Sunday School is the agency through which the Church influences and instructs the young; therefore,

Resolved, That as Sunday School teachers and officers we advocate the continuance of the Quarterly Temperance Lesson in the International Sunday School Lesson System, recognizing the same as one of its essential features.

Send all signatures to my associate, Mrs. Dora B. Butts, 154 Western Ave., Albany, New York. We urge this effort, desiring to increase the number of signatures to at least 30,000 before the Denver Convention. Please do not fail to do this work on March 23. We desire the support of the Christian ministers. In nearly every city there is a Ministerial Association. Let Local Superintendents or W. C. T. U. Committees visit these Ministerial Unions and present the above resolutions, with such modifications as will adapt it to such use. Secure the signature of every Minister of the Gospel everywhere, with the name of the denomination represented, and send same to my associate. We desire that the above or a similar resolution shall be presented at all denominational conferences, assemblies or church councils which may be held within the reach of our White Ribboners. Report all results to me.

Three months yet remain in which to accomplish the above specified work. Let this work have your first thought, your very best effort, to the end that we may convince Sunday School leaders that the Christian world values the quarterly temperance lesson and desires that it shall be retained in the International Lesson series.

While we labor, let us pray earnestly that the Holy Spirit will move upon the hearts of Christian people everywhere to give us their sympathy and support. Let us have faith in God, our Father, believing that He will overrule all things to His own glory and the advancement of His cause of Temperance. Remember, however, that "Faith without works is dead" and only loyal service will be rewarded with victory.

MRS. STELLA B. IRVINE,
National Sup't Sunday School Department.

INDIANA'S ANTI-CIGARETTE LAW.

APPROVED MARCH 6, 1897.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Indiana, That it shall hereafter be unlawful in the State of Indiana for any corporation, company, firm or person to sell, barter, furnish or give away, directly or indirectly, to any minor, any cigarette, cigarette wrappers or any substitute for either; or to procure for, or to persuade, advise, counsel or compel any child under said age to smoke any cigarette.

SEC. 2. Any such corporation, company, firm or person violating any of the provisions of the preceding section shall, for the first offense, upon conviction thereof, be fined in any sum not more than fifty dollars, nor less than ten dollars; and for a second and any subsequent offense, such corporation, company, firm or person shall, upon conviction thereof, be fined in any sum not more than five hundred dollars nor less than ten dollars, and to which may be added imprisonment in the county jail, for any period not exceeding sixty days. It is hereby made the special duty of Prosecuting Attorneys to enforce the provisions of this act, and he may summon any minor who may have or have had in his possession any cigarettes, and compel him to testify before the Mayor of a city or a Justice of the Peace as to where and of whom he obtained such cigarettes.

SEC. 3. All laws in conflict with the provisions of this act are repealed.

work should be to do our part in circulating petitions for signatures, that we may ask all who will join us in a protest against any action to leave out in the future the Temperance Lesson in the International Sunday School lesson helps. While these lessons are very far from being all that we could wish, they are much better than none.

Let us also use our best efforts to turn the Search Light of Truth on the Department of Inspection of our unfortunate sisters of Manila and other cities of the Philippines, that try to turn aside the wrath of God from those that lead an impure life, and thus help to debase our soldiers in those places—to insult our Christian nation. We have sent out to County Presidents Information and Petition blanks concerning the dangers I have referred to, knowing, if the signatures are secured, it will take time, energy and patience. But my sincere prayer is that our efforts may be rewarded by success.

Yours, hopefully,
EUNICE P. WILSON.

IMPORTANT LEGISLATION.

Every Union should send a protest at once against the appointment of John W. Griggs to the Supreme Court. Embody the following objections in a concise letter, have it endorsed by the Union and as many business men as possible and send to our senators and representatives. As Governor of New Jersey he Plans are made by Miss Della Mae Connett, Ohio Y. W. C. T. U. Secretary, to spend five days in Indiana in May. We hope much good may be done and new Y.'s organized through this effort.

In the May MESSAGE I will publish a list of the Unions that sent in their quarterly report blanks, etc.

Pray for our work, girls, please, and do all you can to secure us new members, and let us double our membership.

Lovingly,
CLARA M. SEARS,
Y. Secretary.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS.

Doubtless you have learned of the effort that it is feared will be made at the Denver International Sunday School Convention to eliminate the quarterly temperance lesson from the Sunday School lesson series. The alarm has been sounded and now I want the bugle call from the Sunday School Department to be heard throughout the length and breadth of our country summoning our army of Sunday School temperance workers to the front. You well know what the loss of the temperance lesson will mean to the cause of temperance and to the millions who are now receiving more or less of Bible temperance instruction. If we must battle to maintain that which Frances Willard foresaw would be a powerful agency in establishing temperance and purity among the youth of

ANNUAL SERMON.

While pastor of the First Baptist church in this city, Dr. Ellison preached a sermon for the W. C. T. U. once a year. This he had announced upon the church bulletin as the W. C. T. U. annual sermon. A collection for the W. C. T. U. work was taken at the close of the service. Dr. Ellison urged that this collection should be generous, speaking for it himself. It usually amounted to twenty dollars or more.

Every Union should, if possible, get at least one minister to make such arrangement. Great good would result in the increased interest in our cause by the church. Later other churches would no doubt take it up and the entire community become interested.

Morgan County directory is a credit to its splendid membership. May the W. C. T. U. banner continue to wave there until in every community there may be a band of White Ribboners through whose influence the time may speedily come when the saloon will go.

PURITY IN LITERATURE AND ART.

This month I send out another appeal to you to appoint Local and County Superintendents for the promotion of Purity in Literature and Art. I have replied to every Superintendent already appointed, sending them suggestions and literature. I beg that you will respond to my call this month. Why, we have one of the most attractive and important departments in the W. C. T. U!

In the next number of the MESSAGE I wish to publish a program for a meeting to be devoted to the subject of Purity in Literature and Art. Cannot each Union take this up and give at least one meeting to this wonderful work? It is so inspiring to know that the work of this department is not only for the "now," but for eternity, and these exalted standards of Literature and Art that we are holding before the young will result in future men and women of pure hearts and high ideals. Have you sent to Miss Leech for any of those beautiful pictures of which I spoke in the last MESSAGE? You do not know how much you are missing if you have not.

Please let me hear from every county which has not already reported before next month. You will see below our State law upon this subject. I hope everyone will read it carefully and after becoming familiar with it you will see that it is being enacted wherever you are.

Yours for an elevated home life,
SUSAN F. BAILY.

DISPOSING OF OBSCENE LITERATURE.—91.

Whoever sells or lends or offers to sell or lend, or gives away or offers to give away, or in any manner exhibits or has in his possession, with or without intent to sell, lend, or give away, any obscene, lewd, indecent, or lascivious book, pamphlet, paper, drawing, lithograph, engraving, picture, daguerreotype, photograph, stereoscopic picture, model, cast, instrument, or article of indecent or immoral use, or instrument or article for procuring abortion or for self-pollution, or medicine for producing abortion or preventing conception; or advertises the same or any of them for sale; or writes or prints any letter, circular, hand-bill, card, book, pamphlet, advertisement, or notice of any kind; or gives information orally, stating how, when, where, or by what means, or of whom, any of the obscene, lewd, indecent, or lascivious articles or things hereinbefore mentioned, can be purchased, borrowed, presented, or otherwise obtained, or are manufactured; or manufactures, or draws or exposes, or draws with intent to sell, or have sold, or prints any such articles or things, shall be fined not more than five hundred dollars nor less than ten dollars, to which may be added imprisonment in the county jail not more than six months nor less than ten days; but nothing in this section, or in the next two sections, shall be construed to affect teaching in regularly chartered medical colleges, or the publication of standard medical books, or the practice of regular practitioners of medicine, or druggists in their legitimate business.

SENDING OBSCENE LITERATURE.—92.

Whoever deposits in any post-office in this State, or places in charge of any person to be carried or conveyed, any lewd, obscene, indecent, or lascivious book, paper, pamphlet, drawing, lithograph, engraving, picture, daguerreotype, photograph, stereoscopic picture, model, cast, instrument or article of indecent or immoral use, or instrument or article for procuring abortion or for self-pollution, or medicine for procuring abortion or preventing conception; or any circular, hand-bill, card, advertisement, book, pamphlet, or notice of any kind; or gives oral information, stating when, where, how, or of whom such articles or things or any of them can be purchased or otherwise obtained; or knowingly receives the same or any of them, with intent to carry or convey the same; or knowingly carries the same except in the United States mail, shall be fined not more than five hundred dollars nor less than five dollars, to which may be added imprisonment not more than six months nor less than ten days.

The sending of obscene letters comes within the provisions of this section. Thomas vs. State, 103 Ind., 419.

In a prosecution for sending an obscene letter it may be proven that the letter and address is in the handwriting of the accused. Thomas vs. State, 103 Ind., 419. (Acts 1895, p. 230. In force June 28, 1895.)

PERNICIOUS LITERATURE OR PICTURES.—1.

That it shall be unlawful for any person to sell, or offer for sale, or to print or publish, or to bring into this State for the purpose of selling, giving away, or otherwise disposing of, or to circulate in any way, any paper, book, or periodical, the chief feature or character of which is the record of the commission of crime, or to display by cut or illustration crimes committed, or the acts or pictures of criminals, desperadoes, or of men and women in lewd and unbecoming positions or improper dress.

PENALTY FOR VIOLATING ACT.—2.

That any person guilty of violation of this Act shall be fined not less than ten dollars and not more than two hundred dollars (1881, S., p. 174. In force September 19, 1881.)

FLOWER MISSION.

Spring is coming, and soon it will be much easier to find the flowers for our work. I suppose each Superintendent is planning for her flower beds or thinking how she may have the best flowers to use in this department during the coming summer weather.

We must improve the time during the warm weather, for it is then that this Department can do the best work. I hope we will improve every opportunity to do this work, and then, dear sisters, I do hope each one will be very careful about reporting what she has done.

If any of the Superintendents are wanting literature in this Department, or text cards, they can get them by sending to the State Superintendent, or to Ethel Austin Shrigley, National Superintendent.

MABEL R. JEFFERIES,
State Superintendent.

South Bend.

PRESS.

My heart is made glad by the excellent reports which are coming to me at the close of this the second quarter, but I regret to know that so few of our women are subscribers to the Union Signal. To be an efficient and intelligent worker in the W. C. T. U. without the Union Signal is like trying to run a locomotive without water. To do the best work in our Local Unions first, county second and so on, we must be posted on the work; we must read and keep in touch with our sister workers; we must know what is being done and what is to be done; we must keep up with the times. Our Unions have the right to expect of us our very best work, and the Union Signal coming to our homes each week will help us wonderfully in doing our best. What is worth doing at all is worth doing well. A number of questions concerning clippings and what to do with them, have come to me of late. In the January MESSAGE you will find in the press article full directions for saving and reporting all clippings. If you have lost your MESSAGE, borrow one of a sister long enough to read the article.

I would gladly reply to each one of you personally if I had the time and strength to do so. Owing to my recent illness I am unable to do the work which I had hoped to do, but with your help and prayers the work will go on and the last half of the year will see much more work done than the first half.

Keep your work before the public in an interesting, attractive way; report your meetings and let the people know what you are doing. It is a very encouraging fact that we are gaining favor with the newspaper men and they receive our notices and items gladly and willingly. With an earnest prayer that you will do your best in the very best way and that we may see splendid results from our work, I am,

Yours for the Press,

LAURA GENEVA CAMMACK,
State Superintendent.

Converse.

JAIL AND PRISON DEPARTMENT.

I shall in a few hours leave my home to go to the hospital, where the physicians tell me they can (they hope) restore me to health or at least relieve me of my suffering. My thoughts go out to you at this moment as never before. I may go very near to "The Valley of the Shadow," yet I know your prayers will go with me. I know you will go on with this work that lays so near your hearts. You will go on and on. Arbor Day will soon be here. Can we not arrange to observe it in our Department? Our jails and poor asylums are oft-times so barren and devoid of all natural beauty as well as in architectural design. Our work in this line will grow and grow, and we may, by means of some flower, shrub or plant that mother loved and planted in the childhood home, bring some soul back to Mother, home and heaven. Then, let us use the means at hand.

Get the consent of your County Commissioners to plant a tree or two in your jail, poor asylum or courthouse yard; if there are unsightly fences or walls, cover them with vines or morning glories; if a bare spot in the yard or in a corner, there plant flowers. I know, dear Editor, you will indulge me for this once to tell of my success in my own county. We (the W. C. T. U.) were on the Fair grounds; the fair was over, all packing up to leave; the beautiful cut flowers from Horticultural Hall had been given to me. There were several hundred horsemen on the grounds. I sat alone watching our "Mothers' Rest" until some moving van should come, when one of the horsemen came to me and said, "I want to ask a favor of you. It has been many, many years since I saw my childhood's home, but when I passed here this morning and saw these beautiful flowers, there came back to me the happy boyhood days, and a longing to be what mother wanted me to be in the sunny, happy days when we planted the morning glory vines beside the log-cabin door. The sight of these flowers have brought to my heart and brain the childhood, the mother's love and yearning, and, alas, the thought that I have wandered far, far from her teachings and from God. This little flower has stayed up wandering, erring steps, and I will try to follow Him to where mother is."

Our Flower Mission Superintendent came just then. God sent her. We took the flowers that I had planned to distribute otherwise and with a prayer that they might fulfill their mission, we distributed them among the horsemen, and out of that grew the thought to send the flowers—God's beautiful thought—to carry the message to those shut in who had wandered into sin. We secured permission of the Sheriff to plant flowers in the jail yard and to cover up all unsightly places with vines. It improved the appearance so much that the County Commissioners gave $10.00 and the Sheriff $5.00 to further beautify our jail last summer.

I was requested to accompany the sheriff's wife to the greenhouse to select the flowers and now it is a fixed thing in our county. An appropriation is made for the flowers. Last summer it was $35.00 and our county jail has one of the most beautiful lawns in the city. The prisoners take great pride in caring for it. What was once a square of cinders, tin cans, waste of all kinds, is now a beautiful green lawn where flowers bloom and vines run riot throughout all the summer day. Arrange to hold services in the jail on that day—a mothers' meeting, so that some wandering boy may know what we are doing for some other mothers' boy. Let each mother give a little talk, read a poem, sing some of the sweet old ballads (in themselves a story) which our grandmothers taught us, such as "We shall meet, but we shall miss him," and "Under the Greenwood Tree," and above and before all, the precious promises, or arrange a little program for the L. T. L. and let them assist the mothers in planting the trees or shrubs. Each Superintendent can arrange according to local conditions, and God will abundantly bless every effort. The teachers in the public schools will gladly assist you in planting the trees, especially in the court house yard. Many of them having beautiful programs for the day, you can make it a most potent object lesson for temperance. Have the children and the mothers plant a tree.

SUGGESTIONS FOR EVANGELISTIC SUPERINTENDENTS.

It hardly seems possible that we have almost come to the time for our second quarter's report, but so it is, and there are some things that I am very anxious that you should remember. In reporting your work, please be definite. Some, many, almost all, etc., cannot be counted. Much good work is lost to the State and National because not properly reported. I was greatly disappointed last quarter because so few Unions reported. The following counties were heard from: Allen, 1 report, Benton 2, Clay 1, Grant 3, Marion 4, Martin 1, Miami 1, Morgan 2, Newton 1, Tippecanoe 1, Vermillion 1, Washington 1, Wayne 1—only 20 unions reporting. I am sure there are many more unions doing evangelistic work. Please, dear co-workers, let me hear from you. I sent copies of my Plan of Work to sixty-seven counties last year. Did the County Superintendents send these copies to the Unions? I have sent personal letters with a copy of Plan of Work to all Superintendents reporting that they were not supplied. Any County or Local Superintendent not supplied should send to me for a copy and I will promptly and gladly supply you. At the State Convention I took the names of several workers who desired copies, intending to send them upon my arrival home. If I have failed to supply all who requested copies sent, please advise me. After you have answered all the questions on the blanks sent you (omitting question 5), please turn to the questions in Plan of Work and answer all not printed on the Report blank. That the Heavenly Father may "bless you and make you a blessing" is the prayerful desire of your co-worker,

ELIZABETH M. HAUGHTON.

WILL HADLEY SCHOOL LIVE? WILL IT BE SELF-SUPPORTING?

In reply to the first question I must answer; it certainly will live and do a noble work for the girls who call it "home."

It was founded in prayer and every plan for its advancement is prompted by benevolent ideas of Christian workers. It has had severe struggles with adverse opinions, proclaimed by the fainting few. But there is loyalty enough to hold it at present and a growing element will be found in the L. T. L.'s of Indiana that will never see it fail. Its growth is not rapid, but each year finds it ahead of previous years in some respects. It has never yet been run on strictly business principles. The greater part of the buying must be done on credit, without the assurance of prompt payment. This is a very unpopular method, as it often loses us friends and we must buy at higher rates. This could be remedied by each individual, composing the organization, paying a small annual amount at stated intervals, or by complying with the law requiring Unions to hold contests and send net proceeds to the school. There are two Unions in Indianapolis which feel it a duty and privilege to send $12.00 per year toward its support, equal to $1.00 per month from each Union. The more the organization does toward its support, the stronger friends it will have outside.

The second question, "Will the school be self-sustaining?" That depends on the endowment placed on it and the number of girls admitted, also the amount of training bestowed on them. The higher the advantages, the greater the expense. The present dwelling house will comfortably accommodate forty pupils. It has that number now and many more are asking admission. Let us enlarge our ideas and perhaps a Rockefeller or Carnegie will come to our aid and we shall have more buildings, and can protect and educate a greater number of girls.

- 3.00. Miscellaneous Business.
- 4.00. Adjournment.

This meeting will be strictly a business meeting and will be held in the Century Club Room, at the Denison House, Indianapolis, April 16. Every member of the Executive is urged to be present promptly at nine o'clock. The central location and half fare rate ought to insure an unusually large attendance. Remember that tickets will be sold on the 14th and 15th only, and will be good to and including the 17th. Entertainment for members of the Executive will be provided from the 15th to the 17th. On the night of the 15th you will have an opportunity to hear Oliver W. Stewart, National Chairman of the Prohibition party, at the Masonic Temple. On the afternoon of the 15th there will be a Diamond Contest at the same place. Dear Sisters, pray earnestly that the Holy Spirit may guide us in the work of the Mid-year Executive, so that our power for good may be increased.

HATTIE WRIGHT BRAND.

The Ladies' Entrance to the Denison Hotel is on Ohio street, just off of Pennsylvania street. Go through to elevator and tell the elevator boy to take you to the Century Club Room.—EDITOR.

FIELD NOTES.

Fremont Union is still "In the land of the living and the home of the brave," and, although we have our ups and downs, we still are doing the little things that will be set to our account by that dearest of friends. We have sixteen paid members; though not many of the number are rich in this world's goods, they are certainly the consecrated Christian women of our town. Although the local Union was organized early in the W. C. T. U.'s first existence, there is still much to be done in Fremont. Senator Henry W. Blair made this statement in 1890: "The W. C. T. U. is one of the grandest organizations. It can do anything of which God will approve, within the powers of humanity, to accomplish its great end. It can preach, sing psalms, watch and pray; lecture, print and raise money; it can work at all times and seasons, on Sabbath or week day; there no time when its work is not in order, and the liquor traffic has never before met such a foe as this educated, organized, Christian American motherhood." Such words, coming from such Christian men, encourage us. One of our members, Mrs. Mary Boor, accompanied by her kind husband, is now in Charleston, S. C., and will be in attendance W. C. T. U. days. A member greatly loved by all, Mrs. Mary Bunker, leaves us soon to make her home in Nebraska with a son, who has kindly sent for her to spend her remaining days. When we said to her, "Oh! how can we spare you?" she said: "It is best." Our loss is their gain. May the Lord be with her.

The Bridgeport W. C. T. U. was favored, on February 28th, by having Mrs. McWhirter with us to lecture, which was highly appreciated by all, and our wonder was how any one can refrain from active temperance work after hearing these noble plans and facing the facts which she revealed to us. We feel sure her lecture was a benefit to us all.

Sabbath Observance Meeting—Mrs. S. M. Stahl held a public meeting in behalf of Sabbath Observance, at Priam, Sunday, February 16th. Our literature was freely distributed and thirty-nine persons signed the total abstinence pledge. A good collection was taken for Sabbath literature. After the address a Union was organized with eleven active and five honorary members.

South Bend Unions held a very unique Matron's Contest, March 14, in the Y. M. C. A. hall, which was filled to its utmost capacity, many being compelled to stand. All of the contestants were from Chapin Park Union. The announcement that the contestants, singers and ushers would be dressed in old fashioned costumes brought out the people. Mrs. Jennie Sharples won the medal. Mrs. Cora Sarle and Mrs. C. C. Byers received very high marks. The efficient Superintendent of Contest Work, Mrs. Mattie W. Berry, had charge of the contest class, assisted by Mrs. S. P. Barker, the Associate Superintendent.

Miss Laura Geneva Cammack, of Converse, Indiana, our State Superintendent of the Press Department, has been very ill for weeks, but is much improved now. For days she lingered very near death's door. During this time, however, she talked much about the Department and was anxious to have her mail promptly answered. Her aged father and mother were both very ill at the same time, but the death angel passed on and they are all recovering.

Marion Central W. C. T. U. held a Willard Memorial Service on the 6th of March at the beautiful new home of Mrs. L. C. Beshore, wife of the nominee for mayor of the City of Marion on the prohibition ticket. The service was in charge of the President, Mrs. Kate Wolf. Roll call, and responses from Miss Willard's golden thoughts, proved a very impressive service. A quartette sang Miss Willard's favorite hymns. Mrs. Cammack-Gibson gave a sweet and tender biography of our sainted leader. Closed the service by joining hands and singing "Blest be the tie that binds." Two dollars and sixty cents was contributed to the Willard Memorial Fund.

Bluffton Union had Mrs. McWhirter with them the 16th and 17th, and she gave three fine lectures to crowded houses. She won the hearts and admiration of all who heard her and in her pleas for members many were added to the Union. Collections were splendid and after all expenses were paid money was left in the treasury.

Miss Eva Marshall Shoutz, who is well known as a temperance worker, was the guest of Bluffton Union the same time Mrs. McWhirter was their guest, and held two large audiences spell-bound, who responded with cash and several new members for the Union. Bluffton recommends all Unions to entertain these two noble women and arouse public sentiment, increase their membership and put funds in the treasury.

Spencerville W. C. T. U. gave a Prize Contest February 22. The class consisted of eleven young ladies, and all recited remarkably well. The prize, which was a copy of Whittier's Poems, was awarded to Miss Esta Boger. The subject of her recitation was "The Foes of Drink." A great deal of interest was manifested in the contest, and all seemed pleased with the evening's entertainment.

Mrs. Toner, County President, writes: "Morgan County held W. C. T. U. Executive Committee meeting and decided to hold Institute at Monrovia, April 21, 22, instead of Martinsville, as Monrovia had never had an Institute and there were other conventions in the way at Martinsville. We do hope to have a helpful Institute and will try and work for it until the last day in the evening. We will hold Gold Medal Contest at Institute."

Ft. Wayne—Frances E. Willard Union held commemorative services on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 15, at the Grace Reformed Church. The following program was rendered: Singing, "Rock of Ages," by congregation; Devotional Exercises, the Rev. A. K. Zartman; Solo, "There is a Land No Eye Hath Seen," Miss Gill; "The Christian Life of Miss Willard," The Rev. J. N. Field; Solo, "A Clean Heart," Mrs. Gray; "Miss Willard as a Reformer," the Rev. J. B. Fleming; Reading, Miss Anna Philley; Solo, "If I Were a Voice," Miss Elsie Johnson; Benediction, The Rev. J. N. Field.

Greensburg Press Reporter writes of their Union holding Willard Memorial services and because it was as well the birthday of their President, she was remembered with flowers from Miss Mary Wright, who gave the recitation "To the Living." The honoraries entertained the Union; had charge of program; Subject: "Our New Possessions—Vice in the Philippines." They served mush and milk, cake and lemon ice. The Charity Committee entertained the Union at Mrs. Wright's, asking each member to bring a donation for the poor of the city. All came and brought an abundance of flour, apples, canned goods and clothing. Mrs. Wright had a comfort ready for them to tie out, which was soon accomplished. Four White Ribboners are on the board of six, known as the County Board of Children's Guardians, in harmony with an act of our late legislature. Two new young lady members reported.

Danville, Hendricks County, reports contest, with $25.10 door fee; Mrs. Emma Ratliff, chairman.

No further orders for State Minutes can be filled. The supply is exhausted.

Lawrence County Institute was held March 10 and 11 in the new Presbyterian church at Bedford. With Mrs. Balch as leader, and Mrs. Luella McWhirter assisting, the institute could not be anything but a success. Monday afternoon Mrs. Balch gave a very instructive lecture on the different departments of the W. C. T. U., enlarging especially on Systematic Giving, Franchise, and presented petitions for Suffrage, and against polygamy. The sweet Christian spirit, yet strong character of Mrs. Balch, ran through every thought expressed by her, and was highly appreciated by the audience. Mrs. McWhirter spoke on the department of Mothers' Meetings, and realizing herself the great responsibility that each mother is under to God and humanity, she sought by earnest words to give her listeners a higher view of life, and by her enthusiasm, to urge us on to nobler work for our loved ones. Monday night the Mary Alexander Y.'s gave a medal contest. Five girls and one boy recited and Mabel Erwin was awarded the silver medal—the other members of the class were given a button, with Miss Willard's dear face upon it, as a souvenir of the occasion. Tuesday morning was so rainy that but few were present, but they were richly rewarded for braving the elements, by the interesting subjects discussed by the State workers present. Tuesday afternoon Institute program was carried out by local workers, ministers, teachers, Sunday-school Superintendents, and one of our physicians. Mrs. Balch kindly discussed them all and added additional temperance thoughts which I am sure will be of use to us all in the different walks of life represented in this program. Tuesday evening Mrs. Luella McWhirter gave an address on "The Rival of the Home." She presented her facts in a very forcible manner and completely captivated her audience. Her magnetic influence was keenly felt throughout the Institute, and her pleasing manner and personality have won her many warm friends in our city who will gladly welcome her to our county again. The music was furnished by local talent under the direction of Miss Sanders. The members of the Institute feel under many obligations to the gentlemen and ladies for this delightful music which added so much to our work.

On March 4 Sister Rebecca Studebaker, of Bluffton, gave a W. C. T. U. thimble social which netted $9.55. This she gave to the Local Union, to be expended where most needed. Since then this pioneer White Ribboner of Wells County met with a serious fall which debarred her from attending the two days' meetings which she had worked so hard to bring about. But with prayers for our success, she and her aged husband bade us God speed from their sick beds, while their purses were open to meet any emergency.

Mrs. A. Tingley, of Logansport, writes: Mr. James Gipe was here and gave an address to the W. C. T. U. the evening of the 14th of February and in the afternoon of the 15th he addressed the young people and organized an L. T. L., and in the evening he spoke for the Prohibition Alliance in the west part of the city. The Alliance paid one-half the expense of all. The people were well pleased with him. The L. T. L. has not had a meeting yet for the want of a place to hold it, but they think there is some prospect of securing one soon.

LaPorte Union held a very interesting Willard Memorial meeting. A number testified of having had the pleasure of a personal acquaintance with our sainted sister, Miss Willard. While I, the writer, did not have, I love her and her works and wear her dear picture much of the time. She is not dead, but liveth.

Mrs. Benjamin, President of Michigan, says of Mrs. E. L. Mudge, who has recently moved to Hammond, Indiana, from Michigan: She is one of the most capable, efficient, right minded women you have ever known. So intelligent concerning our work that she can fit in any sphere. I hope you will call her out into a larger place, for you will find her abundantly able to fill it.

Vincennes Union observed Miss Willard's Crowning Day. We prepared a program and invited all the members and their husbands and a number of friends, including the pastors and wives. After the program we served sherbet and cake and gave for a souvenir each a copy of the Annual Leaflet, tied with white ribbon. After Scripture reading and prayer, "Some Glad Day" was sung. A paper on "How it All Began" was fine. An address on "Miss Willard in the Work" was practical and helpful. Solos, "O When Shall I be Free?" and "On Heights of Power," and the quartet, "The Home in the Sweet Bye-and-Bye," were greatly appreciated, as was also the reading of "Poor House Nan." There were 65 people present, many of them men.

Brazil Union held a Medal contest for the benefit of Hadley Home, which surpassed all expectations in numbers and was a rousing success in every particular. Two of the seven contestants were unable to be present, but the remaining five acquitted themselves with distinction. Master Allan Griffin was awarded the Medal. After expenses were paid, forty-three dollars was sent to Mrs. Hessong, treasurer of Hadley Home, who congratulated Brazil Union for being ahead and on top. All the credit is due Mrs. Zellar, President; Mrs. Nettie Devor, Superintendent Medal Contest Work, and Mrs. Minnie Snyder, Corresponding Secretary, who labored with untiring zeal and energy for the success of the Contest. We held a Mothers' Meeting in January which was largely attended. The program was very interesting, and the social feature of the occasion was all that could be desired. Seven new members were gained at this meeting. March 25th we are to have a Fathers'

Meeting, which we look forward to with great pleasure, hoping it may be profitable and pleasant.

The two Richmond Unions—Frances E. Willard and Mary F. Thomas—united in a memorial meeting for our beloved Frances E. Willard, on Sabbath, March 16. Two of our State Superintendents—Mrs. E. M. Haughton and Miss Lavinia Bailey—and Mrs. Jeanette Hill Knox, Vice-President of North Dakota, were on the program, which was successfully carried out. Both Unions will send the $2 for the Memorial Fund. We have always sent ours direct to National Treasurer Helen M. Barker.

Brazil Union is doing a grand work. The mothers of the town are aroused. Dues have been paid for 23 members more than was paid for at this time last year. At this rate the victory of no saloons there will only be a question of time.

Wells County has a wide-awake Superintendent of Non-Alcoholic Medication, Mrs. Dr. Goodin, of Bluffton. She has purchased the Book, "Alcohol, a Dangerous and Unnecessary Medicine," and says "It's all right." She is planning to push the work vigorously. She will at an early date visit all the Unions in the county and secure a superintendent for her department in each.

Mrs. Stahl, of Hartford City, was at Anderson and gave two grand talks on last Monday afternoon and evening, the 16th.

Logansport Union held a meeting at the Home for the Friendless, Mrs. J. Troutman presiding. Devotional exercises led by Mrs. C. P. Wright. Responses at roll-call were from Miss Willard's writings. Superintendents made reports. Mrs. McElheney reported 174 bouquets and 125 visits to sick; flowers to four funerals. Mrs. Van Buskirk, Superintendent Literature, reported 5,500 pages distributed. Mrs. Neff, Superintendent Mercy, gave some startling facts in regard to cruelty and vivisection. Mrs. Stevenson reported progress in L. T. L. Jail work reported by Mrs. Wright and assistants, Miss Tingley and McElheney. 800 pages literature distributed at Gospel services. Press Superintendent Mrs. Tingley spoke of the great kindness and courtesy of the Reporter, Pharos and Journal. Mrs. Knauss reported interest in Mothers' Meetings. Christian Citizenship was reported by Mrs. Grable. Much enthusiasm prevailed over the Department work. Mrs. Trautman read a paper on Frances Willard as a leader. Mrs. C. P. Wright spoke on Miss Willard, "Though Dead, Yet Living," in her sweet, forcible manner.

The Wells County W. C. T. U. is coming to the front. The County President and Corresponding Secretary of the organization, Mesdames Manson Reiff and Frank McBride, drove to Ossian and attended the regular meeting of the Union, held in the home of Mrs. Hunter, who is County Superintendent of Contest Work. The meeting was well attended and very interesting, founded on current events, and after a select reading by Mrs. Thurber the meeting was turned over to the County President, who brought out the ideas of the State Union in the plans for the State Institute to be held in May, after which some very interesting communications were read and discussed. The plans of the State will be carried out to the letter, and every effort is being put forth to bring this organization to a higher standard than ever before. The women of Ossian are loyal to the cause, and willing to help the other unions of the county push the work.

Blackford County Institute was held at Montpelier March 12th. On the evening of March 11th a Matrons' Contest was held in which there were four contestants. The horrors of the demon rum were depicted as only mothers could tell them. Mrs. O. H. Shull, of Montpelier, was awarded the medal. Wednesday morning the Institute was called to order by our County President, Mrs. S. M. Stahl. The forenoon was spent in enthusiastic talks and papers on Department work, in which each department was so enthusiastically discussed that you would think each one, while being discussed, was the most important on the list. The afternoon session was equally interesting. Two excellent papers read in the afternoon were voted to be re-read in the evening session—one by Mrs. S. M. Stahl, subject, "What has the W. C. T. U. Accomplished?" and another by Mrs. Willis, subject, "Apathy of the People on the Liquor Traffic." The evening session was one of equal interest, at which there were seven regular members and eleven honorary members added to our Union and fifty signers to the pledge. At the close of school in the evening the school children were invited to the church, at which time seventy-five signed the pledge and an L. T. L. was organized. Blackford county is alive in the good work.

Frankfort W. C. T. U. has two good Loyal Legions under her supervision—Senior, with 27 members enrolled, and Junior, with 92 members enrolled. We hire a teacher from the public schools to help, and thereby are better able to hold interest of the children. Mrs. Frank Hinder, County Superintendent, and Mrs. Emma Condon, Local Superintendent, both help in the work. We held a Gospel Temperance Meeting in the Colored Church in January. Two ministers gave talks and Mrs. Emma Saylor presented the W. C. T. U. work in her usual able manner. Frankfort W. C. T. U. observed Miss Willard's heavenly birthday by holding a parlor meeting at the beautiful new home of our President, Mrs. Hattie Barricklow. An excellent program, musical and literary, was enjoyed by all. During the social hour delicious refreshments were served. Our Flower Mission Superintendent, Mrs. R.

C. Clark, has been confined to her home with nervous prostration all winter, and all the members of the Union are helping do her work for her. Rev. Horace Ogden gave a lecture for the benefit of the Senior Legion, by which they cleared twenty dollars. We have bought a nice new piano for the benefit of the Legion work.

Upland Union held a Willard Memorial Meeting. The program given in the Union Signal was carried out. Two dollars was sent for our National Organization fund.

At Auburn, on February 28th, Miss Eva Shoutz, of Chicago, gave her famous lecture, "Who Killed Joe's Baby?" Full house and good collection.

Miss Edith Bailiff, formerly of Mapleton Union, was recently married to Mr. G. E. Stout, of Olinsville. We wish these young people much happiness, and feel sure that theirs will be a White Ribbon home.

At Peru a Willard Memorial meeting was held at the home of Mrs. J. O. Ward, on February 17th. An interesting program was carried out. Hymn, Rock of Ages; Prayer, Mrs. Anna Hollinshade; Reading 139th Psalm, Mrs. Anna Hollinshade; Essay, Founder and Leader of W. C. T. U., Mrs. Mary Sharp. Mrs. DeBolt read a paper of interest on "Her Influence Still Lives;" Mrs. Moon, on "Her Childhood;" Mrs. Ward, Her work among colored People. Mrs. Dunlap gave a talk on the Childhood Home of Miss Willard and of the mother's influence over child; although poor in this world's goods she was rich in the love of Christian parents, and how Miss Willard's life goes to show that our best workers in the cause of humanity are brought up in poverty. Recitation, The Drunkard's Child, Miss Marian Richer. Much interest was manifested, and the attendance was good.

Mrs. Unruh's Meetings for men only were most notable, those of Florence and Rocky Ford especially, nearly two hundred men taking the White Cross pledge.—Colorado Tidings.

Josephine R. Nichols Union, of Wabash, held an interesting meeting at the home of Mrs. Hettmansparger, with a good attendance of members and a number of visitors. Mrs. Smith, of Franklin, Penn., was present and reported that their county had the honor of having elected a prohibition sheriff. The Union was favored with a solo by Mrs. Lin. Dawes, entitled "Save the Boys," which was highly appreciated by all present. The reports of Superintendents of the different departments all show a great interest in the work. Mrs. Murphy read a paper written by Mrs. Ella Boole, which represented the W. C. T. U. as a large canvas which needed to be stretched over the nation; each department representing a guy rope and the members as the power to do the erecting; each one to have the work which she was best fitted to do. One having Temperance, one Sabbath Observance, one Non-Alcoholic Medication and so on through the list. Two new members were added to the Union.

Otterbein Loyal Temperance Legion. The W's, seeing the need of temperance training and the field lying ready before us, have organized a very prominent band of about thirty-five Loyal Temperance Legioners, Mrs. Margaret Homric, Superintendent, and the following teachers, viz: Mrs. Nettie Maddox, Miss Ida Baugher, Mrs. Wachtel and Miss Belle Moore, with the juvenile officers, Miss Nellie Homric, President, Master Ernest Waddell, Secretary, Miss Coy Laird, Treasurer. Miss Belle Moore will have charge of the music.

The Otterbein Y. is still increasing in membership, having made a gain of eight at the last few meetings. We carry out the program as laid down by the State. Our business meetings are well attended, and our parliamentary drill very instructive. The socials are the drawing cards. It was our pleasure to be entertained at the beautiful home of Miss Ida Baugher, Valentine eve., with about one hundred present.

Wabash—Josephine R. Nichols Union held a pleasant and instructive meeting at Mrs. E. P. Small's recently. The Union voted that a fine of five cents should be levied on all members failing to wear the white ribbon, the money to be placed in the flower fund. The Union was highly entertained by Mr. Whitesete, of Broadhead, Wisconsin, who recited "The Drunkard's Doom" in a most pleasing manner. A motion was made and carried that the superintendent of Sunday School work solicit the co-operation of the ministers and Sunday School superintendents to endorse the International Quarterly Temperance Lessons, as they now stand. The Union rejoices in the fact of the compulsory scientific temperance instruction having been accepted by Georgia, she being the last State of our country to adopt it. This removed the last black cap, and our national superintendent, Mrs. Mary H. Hunt, by invitation, held a jubilee at her home in Dorchester, Mass., in honor of the same.

IN MEMORIAM.

Mrs. HATTIE HOLLOPETER—In the death of Mrs. Hattie Hollopeter, wife of Rev. W. M. Hollopeter, the M. E. minister at Wakarusa, the church lost a loyal, earnest member and the W. C. T. U. an indefatigable worker and self-sacrificing member, whose work as treasurer of the Greencastle Union is yet bringing forth fruit. She was a courageous worker and a staunch Prohibitionist. Up to the time of her death she was planning and working for the advancement of the Union, that being her last work. She was laid away with her babe in her arms.

MISS ANNA D. DAVIS—In the removal, by death, of Miss Anna D. Davis, the Liberty Union has lost a friend who was faithful and diligent in all life's duties. For years she served as president. Her life was a benediction to those who knew her.

THE MESSAGE.

"Not by Might nor by Power, but by My Spirit."

VOL. VII. No. 5.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., MAY, 1902.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR.

Y. W. C. T. U.

Another month has slipped away and again I want to talk to my own dear girls and members of the Y. We had three new Unions to join us; two in Terre Haute organized by Miss Hadley, and a Y. branch at Shirley organized by your Y. Secretary. We welcome all women and men coming into the work with us and may each one of you secure a new member before the 15th of September.

Your Secretary spent eleven days in Henry County, where the Shirley Y. was secured, also an L. T. L. at Kennard.

Local Treasurers, please be in earnest about collecting the dues for the 15th of June, the end of the third quarter. Only nine Y. Unions paid dues in the last six months, amounting to only 83 members.

Goshen Y. sends a splendid report by their Press Superintendent, Mr. Eugene Davis. The members are not afraid of rain; go in any kind of weather. They had Neal Dow and Prohibition in Maine discussed at a recent meeting. The Goshen Y. has as much literary and musical talent as any society in Goshen and if they could furnish a temperance quartette or musical club and use them at public meetings much temperance sentiment could be created. The public reading room conducted by the Y. has been given up, as they are to have a public library and reading room. While the Goshen Y. has lost some thirty-five members by marriage and removals, not one has been removed by death, and the Goshen Y. to day is the largest in the State.

Plan to put aside your dues, girls. They must be paid or you cannot be a member of the Local, County, State, National or World's W. C. T. U. and when your dues are paid, girls, you are eligible to fill the place of a delegate to any of our W. C. T. U. Conventions.

Anderson Y.'s held a Contest in the Y. M. C. A. parlors, March 31. Miss Cordelia Britton won the medal.

South Bend Y. sends splendid reports of the work there.

Miss Della Mae Connett, the Ohio Y. Secretary, also the Associate Superintendent of the Physical Education to the National Superintendent, Mrs. Frances W. Leiter, of Mansfield, will give Indiana five day's work in May. Beginning at Marion, Grant County, Elwood, Anderson W.'s and Y.'s have her each one day and Indianapolis for one day. Pray that much good may be done. Lovingly,
CLARA M. SEARS,
State Y. Secretary.

TEMPERANCE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSONS QUARTERLY.

It is known to most, if not all, readers of the MESSAGE that since 1890 one lesson each quarter has been devoted to temperance in the International Series. This plan was adopted as the result of the earnest and eloquent pleading of Frances E. Willard at the Pittsburgh convention. Now, after twelve years, it is astounding that concerted effort on the part of prominent Sunday School workers will be made at the Denver convention to abolish these lessons. Alarm was sounded by the New Voice, and protests ought to be heralded from every religious and family paper in the Nation. The writer of this article is and has been an ardent supporter of the Sunday School Evangel, the national organ of the Interdenominational Sunday School Union. Picture the surprise and indignation at the position taken by the Evangel in the May number, page 206. The Evangel says:

"That the Sunday School should be arrayed against the liquor traffic is right, and, moreover, it is a wise policy that directs that specific attention shall be given to this subject in the one place where the youth of the Nation are being taught man's responsibility to God, to himself and to his fellow-men, from the religious and moral standpoint. Notwithstanding all the difficulties in the way, and there are real difficulties, we believe the great body of Sunday School workers of America will continue to insist on this special recognition of the cause of temperance in our lesson system until some one shall present a better way whereby specific temperance instruction will be assured in the Sunday School.

"It certainly is a disadvantage to arbitrarily break into the sequence of the lessons to interject a special Bible temperance lesson at a specified time, particularly as the great cry is for the Bible lessons of the Sunday School to be kept in the natural order and continued without break. We have faith to believe that some one will yet provide a better plan to insure the specific instruction than this arbitrary plan of one temperance lesson a quarter. If there were some practical way to get at it, more good could be accomplished by the lesson writers and publishers giving more attention to the temperance thought as they prepare the lesson notes. The fact of the matter is, the Scripture selections by the Lesson Committee for the four temperance lessons have never been satisfactory to all of the temperance workers, and the Lesson Committee itself has said that the Bible is lacking in lessons which may properly be called temperance lessons. If there is a lack of sympathy in this matter, why would it not do for the Lesson Committee to select its series of lessons for each year according to its general plan of going through the Bible and without special reference to the matter of temperance, and then ask a representative body of temperance workers to designate which four of the lessons so selected for the year should be particularly designated as temperance lessons, and then for the Lesson Committee to adopt this suggestion and so designate these particular lessons when the Lesson Committee issues its list of topics to the publishers? This would be a compromise, in a sense, but we believe it might result in more specific temperance teaching in the Sunday School and certainly both sides would then be satisfied."

To any fair-minded observer this plan is a retreat. What is the small objection of breaking into the sequence of the lessons to the mighty demands for saving our young people from the curse of intemperance and the sin of complicity with the awful, blighting power of the liquor traffic?

Who does not know that the ludicrous plan of labeling any lesson, regardless of context, temperance, would be a travesty on sincerity, honesty and good sense?

How can we meet the enemies of temperance, who have pushed their way into the very camps of the Sunday school; and now find an advocate in the organ of the national and international organization? The time is short—other ways may suggest themselves, but these two plans I trust every reader of THE MESSAGE will speedily adopt.

First: Write a postal card in compliance with the following request from the Evangel: Address Editor Sunday School Evangel, St. Louis, Mo., stating your desire to have temperance lessons continued as now. This editor has promised to present these cards to the committee.

1: See your delegate to the Denver Convention and pledge him to loyalty to the temperance lesson, as now appearing and insist upon every teacher and the Superintendent and officers of your respective schools joining in a petition for continuing quarterly temperance lessons.

Surely, if our sainted leader, Frances E. Willard, could face the opposition and win at Pittsburgh, in 1890, almost single handed, the great army of W. C. T. U. will wield a mighty influence now.

TO WAR ON PROHIBITION—WHISKY INTERESTS DECIDE ON A VIGOROUS CAMPAIGN—MUCH MONEY WILL BE SPENT IN TEACHING THE PEOPLE THAT PROHIBITION IS A FAILURE.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 27.—A secret meeting of representatives of Louisville whisky interests—manufacturing and jobbing—was held at the Galt House this afternoon to revive the National Protective Association, organized in Chicago in 1886, to wage war against the prohibition movement and to endeavor to show that "prohibition laws are ineffectual."

The association will be a national organization. It will have its headquarters in Louisville and will be supported by a fund to which the distilling and liquor jobbing interests of the entire country are expected to contribute. It is understood that the organization will have unlimited financial backing, for representatives of the trade everywhere are taking a deep interest in the movement and have already authorized the promoters to call on them for funds. The money will be used in employing speakers to conduct campaigns in States where the Prohibitionists are strong, in distributing printed matter, in employing statisticians and writers on economic subjects and anti-prohibition arguments particularly. Steps will now be taken to hold a national convention of liquor men, at which a permanent organization will be made.

A prominent distiller, discussing the meeting, said: "The trade is clamoring for the organization, and there is apparently little doubt of its success. The entire trade of the country will be combined on a campaign of education. We have received numerous letters from distilling concerns offering us $100, $200, $400 and $500 a year for a period of five years. None of these concerns is large. The concerns with more capital will give more money. The special aim of the organization will be to show the people in some States, where the prohibition movement is especially strong, the fallacy of their position. At present a prohibition movement is sweeping over the Southwest, and liquor interests are being hurt. In Michigan, Maine and Kansas prohibition is also strong. We want to show these people, with speakers and literature, that in passing prohibition measures they only reduce their revenue and do not benefit their States. In order to convince them that this is a fact we will employ statisticians to compile figures in support of our statements. The work will require much money and persistent efforts, but the liquor men are united in the movement and will accomplish their object, just as the old association did."—Indianapolis Journal.

EXTRACT FROM THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MEETING.

The W. C. T. U. State Executive Committee met in mid-year session, April 16, 1902.

Meeting was held in the Century Club room of the Denison hotel, Indianapolis. Mrs. Tompkins led in prayer. Mrs. Gulia Shugart brought a donation of $10.00 to the State from an unknown friend.

Mrs. Clara Balch sent in her resignation as business manager of the State paper, because of permanent removal from the State. The resignation was received with many regrets and Mrs. Luella McWhirter was appointed to take her place. Miss Hobart, of the Industrial School Board, and Mrs. Hessong, Treasurer, were present.

Mrs. Hessong stated that only sixteen Unions had held contests and reports that $138.00 had been realized from contests and $460.90 from donations.

Mrs. Stanley reported a bequest of some where near $1,500.00 for the home.

Mrs. Balch tendered her resignation as chairman of organization and Mrs. Hattie Brand was appointed to the position for the remainder of the year. As Mrs. Balch is looking forward to a permanent removal from the State, all other positions held by her in State work became vacant, and the appointments were made as follows: Summer Assembly Work, Mrs. Mary E. Evertson. Reporter for the Union Signal, Mrs. Luella McWhirter. For the department in the Phalanx, Mrs. McWhirter was given this also. Mrs. Balch desires to keep the medal department until the close of the year, and was allowed an assistant, and Mrs. Cora Steel, of Muncie, was nominated by Mrs. Balch and endorsed by the Committee.

Recommended that the county Presidents send in short, spicy articles for the Phalanx. Mrs. Whitson gave report of the treasury. The ten cents per member being taken from the treasury for the State paper and a shortage in dues of some 200 members, had produced a deficit of $578.82 for the two quarters.

Mrs. Cammack urged the collecting of dues and soliciting new members as the true way of reimbursing the treasury.

Mrs. Brand urged advertisements for the annual minutes, which matter was left in the hands of the Central Committee.

Mrs. McWhirter suggested that Unions have printed cards for distribution at all public meetings, upon which donations of money to the W. C. T. U. may be pledged.

Mrs. McWhirter moved, and it was carried, that the Executive ask the Transportation Committee of the International Sunday School Convention, to be held at Denver, in June, to not allow the dining cars on the trains to which their cars are attached, to serve liquors en route.

On motion of Mrs. Balch it was recommended that the Board of Superintendents have demonstration night.

Moved by Mrs. Cammack-Gibson that each State officer evolve some simple financial plan and execute it for the benefit of the State Treasury.

A Diamond contest will be conducted by Mrs. Balch at the State convention and $50.00 given to the State treasury.

On motion of Mrs. Rall, recommended that County Presidents ask for free will offering from their local Unions for State work. The time for State convention was fixed from October 3 to 7, inclusive.

Recommended that County Presidents confer with the County Executive and be prepared to make pledges of the number of the annual reports desired in the county.

Mrs. Wilson appointed the following members of the Plan of Work Committee: Mrs. Gulia Shugart, Mrs. Lida Outland, Mrs. Retta Jones.

On motion of Mrs. Jennie Ridgway, recommended that we memorialize the international Sabbath School Committee that they do not omit the Temperance lesson from the Sabbath School Quarterly.

MATTIE CAMMAK-GIBSON,
Secretary.

FROM MRS. MARGARET DYE ELLIS.

Another order has been issued by the War Department, discontinuing the periodical examination of prostitutes and suspected women, and the charges connected with the same, viz., fifty cents or two dollars, as the case might be.

In view of this action, further correspondence with President Roosevelt or others in authority regarding the "Regulation of the Social Evil" in the Philippines is, for the present, unnecessary. And so, step by step, we are gaining ground.

NON-ALCOHOLIC MED. SCRAP BOOK.

I want to ask, through the columns of the MESSAGE, that every Superintendent of this department make a Non-Alcoholic Medication Scrap Book. By clipping every article you see on this subject and pasting it into a book you will soon have a fund of valuable information. Ask every member of the Union to save clippings for you. If your Union has failed to find a Superintendent for this department you can certainly find some one that can make the scrap book. Please report the name of the woman appointed, to me.

Mrs. Rebecca Smith, M. D., Howard County's Superintendent of Non-Alcoholic Medication, upon the perusal of the book "Alcohol a Dangerous and Unnecessary Medicine," writes, it is just the book all Superintendents of this department ought to have. She says every W. C. T. U., as well as every woman, ought to have it also. From this she is gathering material for a paper to be read before their County Institute. Price of the book only $1.25. It contains much valuable information. The compiling of this book meant many years of hard work by our National Superintendent, Mrs. Martha M. Allen. Many Unions use this book as a reading book in the Union meetings. Send to Amanda T. Whitson, 3335 North Meridian street, for a copy. AMANDA T. WHITSON.

VERSES.

By H. Lavinia Bailey. (The American Friend Publishing Co., Philadelphia, 1901.)

May be ordered from the Secretary of the Peace Association of Friends in America, Richmond, Ind. This attractively printed book of 124 pages has recently been issued by the Secretary of The Peace Association of Friends in America. On the title page we have the only word of introduction in the book:

"Shall only the nightingale sing in the wood,
Or the lark in the upper air?"

which we take to mean that the writer wishes, at the outset, to enter her plea that the gift of song is not to be confined to the men and women of great genius, but that those who make no pretensions to such gifts have, nevertheless, their legitimate place to fill in the world of song. We believe she is right, and no one can read these "Verses" without feeling sure that the lines written, as so many of these were, on occasions of rejoicing or sorrow in her large circle of near friends, have in the one case added to the pleasure and in the other soothed the sorrow of those for whom they were written.

CIGARETTE BOYS.

Dr. David Starr Jordan gives a "grim argument for the use of cigarettes"—what John Bunyan would call a short by-way to destruction:

"As a college teacher, my experience with boys who have formed the cigarette habit is somewhat limited. It, however, confirms me in my opinion that such boys are like wormy apples; they drop long before the harvest time. Very few of them ever advance far enough to enter college. Very few of those last beyond the first year. They rarely make failures in after-life, because they do not have any after-life. The boy who begins cigarette-smoking before he is fifteen never enters the life of the world. When other boys are taking hold of the world's work he is concerned with the sexton and the undertaker. There is one grim argument to be made for the use of cigarettes by boys—it helps on the survival of the fittest. The manly boy does not take to such things."

List of Counties that paid dues for one or more Unions last year than the year previous: Benton, 1; Blackford, 2; Daviess, 1; DuBois, 1; Elkhart, 1; Floyd, 2; Grant, 1; Madison, 1; Marion, 3; Perry, 2; Pulaski, 1; Putnam, 1; Steuben, 1; Vermillion, 2; White, 2.

List of Counties that paid dues for one or less Unions last year than the year previous: Bartholomew, 1; Boone, 1; Carroll, 1; Cass, 1; Clinton, 1; Decatur, 1; Greene, 2; Hamilton, 1; Hancock, 1; Hendricks, 2; Huntington, 1; Jefferson, 1; Jay, 2; Johnson, 1; Knox, 1; LaPorte, 1; Miami, 1; Morgan, 2; Newton, 1; Noble, 1; Posey, 3; Randolph, 2; Rush, 2; Wabash, 1; Wayne, 2; Whitley, 1.

INSTITUTES.

"The best Institute ever held in Vigo County" was the oft repeated exclamation at the close of the session recently held at Terre Haute. The able ministry of the city was promptly on hand and did valiant service, especially in the symposium and first evening's meeting. The State Normal School was ably represented on the program. But nothing could excel the pungent and delightful discussion of department work by our own resident White Ribboners. Much interest was taken in the literature presented and subscriptions were given for nearly all of our periodicals.

Before the close of the second meeting such a demand for organization was apparent as has made this Institute a record breaker and following came the organization of The Allen Chapel Union, the Frances E. Willard Y., the Mary Hadley Y., the Collett Park L. T. L. and the Allen Chapel L. T. L. and I learn since leaving the city that other organization has followed, which was planned at the Institute, and now there is a trinity L. T. L. and another to follow. It was of especial interest that the name Frances E. Willard for that fine Y. of 17 members was proposed by a young man who was once an L. T. L. boy and I cannot tell you how proud I am that the other Y. should bear my name. As you will have a full report of officers, etc., I will not say more, only that these fruitful results could not have been possible but for the energetic, sacrificing efforts of Vigo County's President, Mrs. McDaniels and her predecessor, Mrs. Joyce, with such able co-workers as Mrs. Squires, Mrs. Bair, Mrs. Shurley and others equally able, and my own delightful Institute co-worker, Mrs. Rose Pearce.

Tippecanoe County Institute met in the First Christian church of LaFayette, April 14, Monday at 2 P. M., with Miss Palmer as leader and Miss Borum, County President, presiding.

Mrs. Powers gave the key note for the Institute, by reading and commenting on the 4th Psalm, followed by short prayers.

Miss Palmer spoke, with enthusiasm, of the permeating influence of the W. C. T. U. and the extension of our work.

Mrs. Oiler read an excellent paper on Systematic Giving, which was followed by an animated discussion. The larger number present believe in and practice tithing; of these some see no wrong in social and suppers, as an organized effort to honestly earn money for the Lord's work; while others condemned the same, and think that as long as women are willing to gather church money by these tiresome methods, so long they will have it to do, and that it is a hindrance to tithing, becoming the universal habit of giving.

Mrs. K. T. A. Straw gave a paper on Anti-Narcotics and the L. T. L. She urged each woman to help secure, this year, the five million boys pledged against tobacco, thinks that the honorary and the regular members of the W. C. T. U. should be pledged against the use of tobacco, in any form, and related some of her experiences while in the southern states and in the Republic of Mexico, how the southern women and girls use tobacco, in the form of snuff and the common use of cigarettes among Mexican women.

Indiana W. C. T. U. should work for a law similar to New York state law, to punish the minor for smoking cigarettes. Monday evening Miss Palmer spoke very acceptably and Rev. Detch, in a solo, sang the same gospel which as pastor he fearlessly preaches.

Tuesday morning was devoted to the semi-annual county convention. Miss Borum, County President, resigned, because as companion to her aged mother she has no time for active county work. Miss Eliza Baker, so long president of Benton county, was elected, and Mrs. Straw to fill the vacant office of Recording Secretary.

The Treasurer, Mrs. Bone, reported for 6 months the receipts $36.86, expenditures $24.79. Superintendent of Literature, Mrs. I. S. Wade, reported 19 State Minutes and 6 Union Signals. The S. T. I. Superintendent, Mrs. Bone, reported 60 subscribers to School Physiology Journal, and one S. T. I. lecture by Mrs. Helen Gougar, Tuesday afternoon, in the symposium on the "Next Step in Temperance Work."

The minister advocated a place always open in each church where the social instinct of men is met. The S. T. I. Superintendent—the State plan of prize essays in the public schools. The Y. M. C. A. President—a campaign for Christian homes. The Superintendent of the Sunday School—Retain the quarterly temperance lesson and teach it thoroughly, bring the boys into the Sabbath Schools.

In the evening, in the West Side M. E. Church, which was beautifully decorated, Mrs. Ray Stinespring conducted a successful medal contest of six contestants, Miss Howell obtaining the silver medal. Master George Johnston delighted the audience with a number of pieces on the mandolin and Flossie rendered a fine solo.

Receipts of Institute in collections and medal contest, $9.87. Subscriptions obtained—Union Signal, 1; Young Crusader, 6.

Mrs. —, totally blind, sold a number of gingham aprons which she made, the proceeds to go to the Hadley Home. One of the queries in the question box was, "Is it consistent with W. C. T. U. principles for Hadley Home to make cider?" See their report in April MESSAGE.

Parke County Institute, held at Coloma, came on the first perfect spring days we had for weeks. This was in sharp contrast with the equinoctial storms this county has so often had at its Institutes. But the weather was really too fine, for it kept an energetic part of the program away for awhile, but about all finally responded to duty and the well filled program was well carried out. Department work was exceptionally well presented. The social meeting the first evening quite a success; at it names were given for a new Union and a good organization of thirteen members was formed the following day. The names of the officers elected and further details will be given by Parke county's competent and energetic President, Mrs. M. T. Lindley, who knows just how all these fruitful results were brought about and what they cost and I am just giving this running account to obey orders and to keep on good terms with "the powers that be." On behalf of Section 3.

MARY HADLEY.

Vigo County Institute was held at Terre Haute, on March 24 and 25. Miss Mary Hadley was our leader. The first session was held in the Trinity M. E. church, Mrs. Alice McDaniels in the chair. The meetings throughout were well attended, and great interest was manifested. Most excellent papers were read by Mrs. Ethel Bair, Mrs. McBeth and Mrs. Squires. Addresses were given by Revs. Dunn, Waller, Case, Long and G. W. Pearce. Two Y's were organized, three L. T. L's. and one colored Union. In all, forty were added to the membership. We feel that the cause has been helped and strengthened by the visit of our sister. We realize, more than ever, the great benefit that the annual Institute is to a county. It is a harvest of the year's sowing, a gathering of the crops into the barns of the W. C. T. U. Vigo county starts out for work with new energy, and means to come up to State Convention with a better report than ever before. Our Y's are earnest, and eager for work. Pray that we may lead them right. The Institute was one of the best ever held here.

Jennings County Institute at Hayden, March 17 and 18, in the Baptist church. The day attendance was unusually small, the evening better. Receipts at contest $8.30. A small gold medal. Class from North Vernon. Miss Esther Long winning the medal on "College Old Cars." The music for evening meetings was very good indeed, in charge of Mrs. Grace Sullivan. The evening audiences were largely young people. You detected prohibition in the prayers and the conversation of the people as they lingered for a social season.

Greene County. The dear loyal women of Lyons and Worthington came right up to the work for Greene County, enlisted the best of local talent for the Institute program given at Lyons, organized the children for song service and secured a fine quartette of young people, who sang at the evening lecture. This lecture was given to a full house of most patient and attentive listeners. All this was brought about on short notice by such workers as Mrs. Hand, Mrs. Fox and Mrs. Miller, of Lyons. Pretty well for an unorganized county, you say, but Greene county is not unorganized now, for a fine organization was effected and the following officers chosen: President, Mrs. Millie Turney, Worthington; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Maggie Hand, Lyons; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Leslie Shaw, Worthington; Treasurer, Miss Rose Miller, Lyons. Following this organization we were delightfully entertained by Mrs. Turney on "A History of the Crusade," and by Mrs. Miller, on a general dissertation on the work. Discussion followed. Thus closed an interesting, fruitful Institute session and we gladly welcome Greene county to our ranks.

The Dearborn County Institute was held at Moores Hill, April 7 and 8. Mrs. Cammack Gibson, of Jonesboro, was with us and rendered most valuable service. Her Institute talks were fine, and the one on "What the W. C. T. U. has accomplished" was especially instructive and inspiring. On Monday night Mrs. Gibson delivered her lecture "Five Boys in Knee Pants," to a large and appreciative audience. Five boys in knee pants on the front seat were especially attentive.

On Tuesday evening a silver medal contest was given. Eight misses composed the class. The sentiment of all the readings was so good and they were rendered so excellently by the contestants that we believe good was accomplished. The receipts at the door were enough to pay all the Institute expenses and place a neat little sum in the county treasury. God is blessing our cause. We are right and shall win.

Benton County Institute will be held at Boswell the 24th and 25th of March.

Parke County's Institute was held at Coloma, Parke county, the 3d and 4th of April, with Miss Mary Hadley as Leader. The Suggestive Program was followed. The first night was a social, literary evening. Our Leader told us, in a brief but pertinent way, a few things the W. C. T. U. had accomplished, which, with questions from the audience, brought out very much credit to the W. C. T. U. Then came the Silver Offering and Social Hour, which proved an opportune time for securing names for a new Union. On the second day of the Institute most excellent papers were read on, "What is the Next Step to be taken on the Abolition of the Drink Traffic and Tobacco Habit?" By the Press, Grace G. Maddon. "Medical Men," Dr. F. Woodard; by Superintendent Scientific Temperance, Inez D. Woodard. The different heads of subject were discussed in a very interesting way, by C. F. Morris, C. X. Lewis, Stanton Cox and others. But best of all, a Union of nine active and four honorary members was organized, with Laura Morris, President, Coloma, Ind.; Hattie Shannon, Recording Secretary, Coloma, Ind.; Mary R. Morris, Treasurer, Coloma, Ind.

FIELD NOTES.

Boswell Union entertained Benton County Institute, Miss Alice Palmer, Leader, on Sabbath evening, March 23. She spoke in the M. E. church to a crowded house. Her message was received with much interest. March 24th the County Institute met in the M. E. church, with Mrs. Smith, of Oxford, the County President, in the chair. Miss Anna Eberly, President of the Boswell Union, conducted the devotions by calling on Miss Palmer, who gave a brief Bible reading showing why the members of the W. C. T. U. do not get discouraged. She said it is not because we are great, or wealthy, or successful, or loved, or admired for our work's sake. The reverse is often true. We are poor and few in numbers and our work unpopular, but it is done in Christ's name, and because of his mercy we faint not. Mrs. Useler, a visiting delegate from LaFayette, led in prayers. Representatives of four W. C. T. Unions of the county were promptly on time at the Institute, Monday afternoon, to receive this mutual instruction. A prominent feature of the afternoon meeting was a fine talk on God's plan of finance given by Rev. Mr. Lawhon, followed by free discussions. Miss Palmer spoke to young women in an effective manner. The afternoon program was shortened in order to be through in time for Dr. Parson's lecture at the Presbyterian church. In the evening Miss Palmer spoke on "The Reason Why Christian Women of America Find it Necessary to Send Out Their Representatives in This Reform Work?" Clearly and fairly was this subject handled. Mrs. Davis, of Oxford, sang very effectively a mission song.

The Report of Every Local Union Meeting Should be Sent to the Newspapers. Thus Many Hundreds Will Know About the Work.

On Thursday, March 25, the feature of interest to the general public was a symposium on the question, "What Shall Be the Next Step for the Abolition of the Liquor Traffic and the Tobacco Habits by the Churches?" by Rev. Van Allen, of Ambia, who said, the people of the church should see to the enforcement of the law and should vote for men who are pledged to law enforcement. Miss Sylvie Freeman, of Boswell, read a very interesting paper in answer to what is the next step for young people's societies. She spoke of the influence and power of a good example and education. Miss Palmer showed what the use of the press is doing at this time. J. O. Berrett spoke of the influence of the reform organizations. Mr. Berrett advocated the formation of a reform political party which should have the suffrage of church members, both men and women. Mr. Clint Narquest spoke of the quiet home influence of woman in her fourfold relation of mother, sister, sweetheart and wife. Miss Palmer closed the discussion by showing that women have always exhausted their efforts in an exercise of personal power, which has been restricted and antidoted by unjust legislation and corrupt political action and that without one jot abating their desire and prayer to be womanly, loving, patient and tender and she asks that these attributes shall be supplemented by the privileges of citizenship.

The people expressed themselves as highly pleased with the Institute, the crowning feature of which was a contest in declamation for a silver medal. The contestants were Mrs. Birdie Cartwright, Boswell; Mrs. Nettie McDade, Chase; Mrs. Idia Debra, Boswell; Mrs. Amanda Smith, Oxford; Mrs. Roun, Otterbein. Mrs. Cartwright received the medal, but because of general excellence, the other ladies were afterward awarded smaller medals as souvenirs. There was an excellent program of music. Mrs. Rowe, who spoke first, already holds a silver medal, so of course was not graded as a contestant. She kindly went into the class to fill out the program.

Hope Union, Bartholomew County, has been successful in defeating an application for license—they sang the Doxology in the court room. The threat was made that the application would be renewed again in April.

Greensburg Press Reporter writes of their Union holding Willard Memorial Services, and because it was as well the birthday of their President, she was remembered with flowers from Miss Mary Wright, who gave the recitation "To the Living." The honoraries entertained the Union; had charge of program. Subject: Our New Possessions—Vice in the Philippines. They served mush and milk, cake and lemon ice. The Charity Committee entertained the Union at Mrs. Wright Atkins, Mrs. Wright asking each member to bring a donation to the poor of the city. All came and brought an abundance of flour, apples, canned goods and clothing. Mrs. Wright had a comfort ready for them to tie out, which was soon accomplished. Four White Ribboners are on the board of six, known as the County Board of Children's Guardians, in harmony with an act of our last legislature. Two new young lady members reported.

North Vernon Union has held its contest for Hadley, sending in $5. This with a donation of $5.25 previously sent the Treasurer of the Board, is very liberal for so small a Union. They held the Willard Memorial Service in the Methodist church. The interest was good.

Fairmount Union finds the yearly printed program quite a convenience. The Superintendents of the departments named have already had a special program this year. Scientific Temperance, Purity, Peace and Arbitration, Systematic Giving, Sabbath Observance and two Mother's Meetings. Also a special meeting on The Army Canteen, a Frances E. Willard Memorial Service and a Mrs. L. M. N. Stephens Birthday Service. Nine other Superintendents have programs prepared, besides two Mother's Meetings, a Young Ladies' Day in August, four meetings for Quarterly reports, at three of which we have parliamentary drills by the Superintendent of that department, two general programs and a W. C. T. U. Rally, July 4, at which we expect to have a Young Men's Contest in the forenoon and James L. Gipe as speaker in the afternoon.

We are happy to announce two contests given, the net proceeds of which go to Hadley Industrial School. An L. T. L. contest at the Baptist church, March 8, in which six girls took part, resulted in raising $14.00. A contest given at Fowlerton, Sabbath afternoon, March 23, in which nine young ladies and girls spoke, was very interesting. Standing room was at a premium, not all succeeding in getting inside the door. A male quartette from this place furnished the music. A collection of $9.00 was taken.

Mrs. Mattie Cammack-Gibson gave us a very helpful Parliamentary Drill last Friday afternoon; spoke to a large number of children in the assembly room of the South Public School Building at 4 o'clock and lectured at the Friend's church at night. The crowd was not large on account of the continued rain, but those present were well entertained.

The State Prohibition Convention was held in Indianapolis, April 15 and 16. The attendance was the largest ever known. The interest and enthusiasm was intense. More than one thousand people came in on the railroads, who were present at some of the meetings.

In the Death of Nathan Coggs, the father of Mrs. Sarah Lenfesty, of Marion, the church has lost a valuable member and the State a courageous, patriotic citizen, who had the courage of his convictions.

Mrs. Mattie C. Gibson spent Sunday and Saturday night in Huntington. A very large house greeted her on Sunday night in the M. E. church. She gave "Five Boys in Knee Pants," greatly to the pleasure of the Union.

A Loyal Temperance Legion was organized at Andrews, Huntington County, Indiana, March 15, by Mrs. Elnora G. Zent, of Roanoke, who is the county L. T. L. Secretary. Twenty-nine children signed the triple pledge, which was considered a fine showing.

Mrs. Cammack-Gibson held a fine meeting at Roanoke, March 16. She did the Local Union much good by her coming.

Jonesboro Union held a Matron's Contest on the evening of April 1. The Presbyterian church was well filled and the seven contestants appeared in ancient costumes and recited fearlessly and effectively their good selections. Mrs. Gulia Shugart, County President, conducted the class. The Silver Medal was awarded to Mrs. Mary Eaton, Local Superintendent of Contest Work. The net proceeds will be forwarded to the Industrial School for Girls.

The Contest Superintendent of Nappanee Union, Mrs. Florence Whiteman, has held two very successful silver medal contests since the last State Convention. One, December 10. The last, March 21. The winner of medal at the former was Miss Dinah Frazier, subject "Nell;" at the latter, Miss Clara Whiteman. Subject, "The Potter's Field." At the last contest all the contestants except Miss Whiteman received a Miss Willard Book Mark. Both contests were well attended, the latter especially so, at which the Silver Offering at the door amounted to $17.95. All went away pleased, and we believe with a feeling at the heart that our beloved land must soon be free from this curse.

A Matrons' Contest was held at Jonesboro, recently, with a fine musical program. Our State President, Mrs. Eunice Wilson, presided with usual ease and grace. All contestants were dressed in plain black and wore white neckerchiefs. Their hair was parted in the middle and combed smooth. One woman 60 years old had not spoken a "piece" for 50 years, yet she spoke fine, without a blunder. It is the Holy spirit back of mothers' love that prompts our women to do these things. The contestants were: Emma Hawkins, Claissa S. Spence, Emiline Hill, Mattie Cammack-Gibson, Mary Eaton, Almeda Small and Pharaa Pierson. The medal was won by Mary Eaton.

On the Walls of the Sanatorium of the Mineral Springs Company, at Spiceland, Indiana, there is a complete set of the larger pictures belonging to the Picture Branch of our department of Purity in Literature and Art. They are much admired. Dr. G. D. Baily is President of the Mineral Springs Company, and his wife, Mrs. Susan Baily, is our enthusiastic State Superintendent of the department of Purity in Literature and Art.

Danville, Hendricks County, reports contest, with $25.10 door fee. Mrs. Emma Ratliff, chairman.

Northeast Union, Indianapolis, held a week's meeting, afternoon and evening, with the best of speakers at each service. A real temperance revival. We had ten members added to our list, of which we are very proud. Our meetings met the approbation of all, not a voice against them. I believe each Union would do well to follow this effort and have the needs of temperance taught in each meeting. In the afternoon meetings we had motherhood and its duties taught, with good interest in each meeting. What we most need is to place before our women what they can do to forward this great movement. The last night of the meeting only one woman left the house who did not wear the white ribbon, and she will soon. Only Eternity will tell the result of this week's meeting.

Rockport Union held special Memorial Service for our beloved leader Frances Willard at the home of Mrs. Mary Graham, February 25.

Program—Welcome words, by the President; Singing, "Press On," White Ribbon Hymnal; Bible Reading, "Crusade Psalm;" Prayer, Rev. Dr. E. H. Wood; "Sketches of Miss Willards Life," by Mrs. Hackleman; also some beautiful quotations from Dr. Keipher's memorial sermon; Singing 162, White Ribbon Hymnal; a pleasing recitation, Margery Hackleman; quotations, by members; Singing, "Some Glad Day;" Solo, "What We Shall Be," and beautiful selection, Mrs. Pearl Basye; Remarks by Rev. Dr. E. H. Wood were thoroughly appreciated; "Eulogy to Miss Willard by Mrs. Graham Martin.

The reading by Miss Hicks was to quote the sentiment of those present, alone worth coming to hear, without the other interesting items on the program. Remarks were made by Mr. Whitehouse.

After Margery Hackleman's beautiful song, all joined in singing, "God Be With You." With large attendance and much interest manifested this completed a thoroughly enjoyable afternoon.

Cedar Union, of Randolph County, held a very interesting meeting on March 18, at the home of Rev. Arbelia Wright. There was good attendance, several honoraries being present. Our hostess presented a very able paper on "Purity and Reform." She called particular attention to the fact that society shields and protects so much sin and crime. Mrs. Miranda Thornburg gave the poem "The Ambulance or the Fence." Both papers were highly commented on.

Mrs. K. T. A. Straw organized a promising Senior Legion of twenty members at Sugar Grove, with the following young people as officers: President, Miss Lulu, Greensburg; Secretary, Mr. Vinton Davidson; Treasurer, Mr. Clinton Stewart. The Branch Secretary is Mrs. Ida H. Rust, New Richmond Rural Free Delivery. Committees on New Members, Flower Mission, Young Crusader, Music and Socials, to be appointed later.

Burlington Union is still working in the Contest work. Quite a while ago a class for the L. T. L. Silver Medal was formed of eight girls, and the night was very bad and only a small crowd was had. Ruby Witter received the medal. Recitation, "The Converted Rumseller." Then, April 2, we took them out in the country to the Salem church. Only five contestants were present. Blanche Ridenour received medal on recitation, "The Old Man's Account of the Meeting." A nice evening was had and a large audience. Little Rowena James spoke the collection piece. A recitation from Ruby Witter and Hazel Kelly was enjoyed, and Grace Cleaver spoke "The Old Woman's Complaint." Good music was had and all enjoyed the meeting.

Brazil W. C. T. U. held a "Father's Meeting" at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Carpenter the evening of March 26, which was a success in every particular. The program was carried out as arranged by the committee. Rev. Bentley, of the Methodist church, talked for a short time on the "Financial Backing of the Rum Power," and his carefully prepared statistics in this direction were appalling. Rev. Gregory, of the Presbyterian church, followed with a talk on "The Relation of Temperance Reform to the Labor Question." He was very earnest in his remarks, and his strong point was to get a man's heart right and the tendency to the drink habit would not exist. Mrs. Bentley spoke last, on "The Duty of Fathers" and she included the mothers. Her talk was very interesting and truly profitable to all present. Special vocal and instrumental music was much enjoyed. At the conclusion of the program refreshments of coffee, cream and cake were served and the social part of the occasion was all that could be desired. To all the Unions, we would recommend "The Fathers' Meeting," as well as the "Mothers' Meeting."

The Bridgeport Union held a very successful anniversary meeting at its meeting in March. Seven years ago this Union was organized with ten members, now we have twenty-two. One paper on "What our Union has been since its organization," told us we could never know the good we have done, and the influence of each individual member; the bow of ribbon white means more than many think. Another paper on "Why am I a member of the W. C. T. U.?" showed the truly pure and noble purposes of this organization. "The W. C. T. U.," said the writer, "has done more for the banishment of drink than any other organization. If we love our homes and loved ones better than the world, we must be on the side of right. For these reasons, and believing that the W. C. T. U. organization is working for the upbuilding of our homes and country, and that which is pure and right, I am a member of the W. C. T. U." The charter members feel that our Union has certainly been improving.

A Debate by women is considered by many as a great curiosity, which perhaps is one reason for woman's timidity in this line; but notwithstanding these hindrances, the women of the Bridgeport Union held a most interesting and spirited debate at their February meeting. The subject was, "Resolved, That we are educating the child's mind at the expense of his body," and, with this interesting subject, women, for once, were thoroughly aroused to the points of debating. The judges decided in favor of the negative.

The Sikeston, Mo., W. C. T. U. endeavored to persuade the city council to grant no saloon licenses, but was met with the argument that the city needed the saloon revenue. The members thereupon promised that if the saloons were closed each member of the Union would raise a large fat hog each year to help pay the running expenses of the city. They said, they preferred raising hogs rather than boys for that purpose.

IN MEMORIAM.

MRS. ELIZABETH SHOEMAKER—God has taken unto Himself another one of His faithful soldiers and Argos Union realizes the loss it sustains in her going home. She was among the first to lend her influence in our cause and continued a steadfast member until her death. Next September she would have been eighty years old. What a joy to have been associated with these venerable characters.

MRS. A. B. FOSDICK—Death has again entered our ranks and taken from us the one we termed the mother of our Union. Mrs. Fosdick and Miss Anna Davis, who so recently laid down life's cares, made a house to house canvass in March, 1890 to secure enough ladies, who pledged to take up the work, to be sure of a Union before Miss Palmer came to organize. Since that date nine of our sisters have been promoted and fifteen have changed place of residence. Miss Davis always paid her dues promptly that she "might not wear the white ribbon unworthily," and she always displayed her emblem of purity no matter what her work, or how old her dress; also kept her badge on each of her outside wraps, even to the shawl rapped about her in her illness. Let us follow her example of steadfastness.

THE WORLD'S SEVEN WONDERS.

The Pyramids first, which in Egypt were laid;
Next Babylon's garden, for Amytis made;
Then Mausolus' tomb of affection and guilt;
Fourth, the Temple of Diana, in Ephesus built;
The Colossus of Rhodes, cast in brass, to the sun;
Sixth, Jupiter's statue, by Phidias done;
The Pharos of Egypt, last wonder of old,
Or Palace of Cyrus, cemented with gold.

BABY LOGIC.

She was ironing her doll's new gown,
Maid Marian, four years old,
With her brows puckered down
In a painstaking frown,
Under her tresses of gold.

'Twas Sunday, and nurse coming in,
Exclaimed in a tone of surprise:
"Don't you know it's a sin
Any work to begin
On the day that the Lord sanctifies?"

Then, lifting her face like a rose,
Thus answered the wise little tot:
"Now don't you suppose
The good Lord he knows
This little iron ain't hot?"

STATE TREASURER'S LETTER.

The close of the third quarter of this year is near at hand. Blanks will be sent out to all County Treasurers and to all Local Treasurers in unorganized counties the last week in this month. I wonder, sometimes, if you grow weary of this announcement; but, for the benefit of the new treasurers and some others who sometimes forget, it seems necessary that it should be repeated. These blanks should be in the hands of the Local Treasurers in less than a week. If they, from any failure on the part of Uncle Sam or any other person, do not reach you, please write for them and ask that others be sent at once.

Again let me call your attention to the by-law which says, "Any woman may become a member by endorsing the constitution, paying an annual membership of $1.00, of which 40 cents shall be paid for State dues, 15 cents for County dues, 20 cents for Local Union dues and 25 cents for the Official Organ." By the passage of this by-law it makes it just as obligatory upon the Local Union and Y's to send the 25 cents for the State paper as it does to send State and County dues. The 25 cents belong to the State, to meet the expenses of publishing the State paper. The fact that two members reside in the same family does not change the by-law. If two copies are not desirable, send the name of some one else to whom you desire the paper sent. If no name is supplied, then the State supplies the name. No one is a full member of the W. C. T. U. until the full dollar is paid and the proper division of the money is made. No doubt you have all read the State Treasurer's report, in the May MESSAGE, and have made note of the fact that your county is or is not in the published list. If not, I am sure you want to be in the next, and that every effort will be put forth that you possibly can to be there. Many Unions are doubling and some more than doubling their membership and are making rapid strides in arousing Christian people to their full duty to stand up and be counted on the right side of this liquor question. A new Union of 42 members has just been organized by Miss Mary Hadley, in Franklin, Johnson county. Twenty of those paid their dues the day of organization; others will pay at once. This Union is well officered and promises to be a fine Union. Will not every county put forth extra effort in one special place, make house-to-house visits, give each person visited a copy of the "Annual Leaflet" and the Leaflet "What the National W. C. T. U. Has Done"? Take with you the Pledge Cards, asking every one you visit to sign and become a member. You will find some not ready to join. Invite them especially to your meeting for organization and many will be there.

The 42 members secured at Franklin was the result of only four days' canvass. If your county cannot do this work yourselves, call some one to help you. If necessary, give an entire week for this one Union. To every Union thus organized with 40 paid members, two days' work will be given, free, by one of the State Organizers.

Now, dear Sisters, try this plan, and, if successful, Indiana can again be on Benefit Night at the National. In this plan an Organizer may be called to help you; give her a list of those you want called on. If the 40 paid members are secured, you will not need to pay her for two of the days. Do not say "We cannot do it" until you have made the effort. Franklin secured the members and is delighted. You will be equally pleased. If every county will do this, all bills will be paid, with a surplus in the Treasury.

In His Name, try it! Let every member pray to work earnestly for success, and He will give you the victory.

Yours for active service,
AMANDA T. WHITSON.

In the Education of the Blind the use of the type-writer forms a very important part. Its use is a great convenience and help to those who can only with great difficulty ever learn to write legibly. So expert do they become in the use of the type-writer that on several large pages not a mistake will be made.

ANNUAL PIC-NIC TO HADLEY SCHOOL.

On June 25 occurs the Annual Pic-nic at Hadley School. Bring your baskets and take the morning train at Union Station, Indianapolis, in special coach, which will remain on side-track at Hadley for the day and return to Union Station at 5:30 P. M. Morning train leaves station at 7:15 A. M. Fare for round trip, 75 cents.

This affords an opportunity to spend a day in and near the school. There will be a Silver Medal contest and songs and a drill by the girls.

Cheer them by your presence.

LETTER TO CORRESPONDING SECRETARIES.

By the time this MESSAGE reaches you the blanks for the June report will be in your hands. The supply of old blanks and local record books having been exhausted, we took advantage of this opportunity to revise the questions, eliminating all which pertain to finances and which properly belong in a treasurer's report. The new questions which have been added make the blank more in harmony with the National Secretary's blank, and we believe you will be pleased with the changes.

The first question which will arise in your mind will be in regard to your unfilled record book. You can use your book by simply changing four questions with pen and ink. When new books are printed they will be in harmony with the blanks, but we will probably not have them before the first of the year.

I was much gratified over the improved condition of the March reports. The blanks were filled out more carefully and accurately and were sent in more promptly. I am hoping for even better results in June.

Thanking you for your response and co-operation,
I am, Loyally yours,
MRS. HATTIE WRIGHT BRAND.

GREETING TO INDIANA WHITE RIBBONERS.

On account of the removal of Mrs. Clara Balch from our State to Kentucky and consequent resignation as Business Manager of the MESSAGE, I have been chosen to fill her unexpired term of office. Having been connected with the paper since its beginning, I am greatly interested in its success. As I read over the names of the subscribers there is many a heart throb as a precious memory comes to me at the sight of a name. Dear sisters, I need your hearty co-operation in every line of endeavor for our blessed cause. Please send me items of news and suggestions, and be sure and send me a postal telling me if you fail to receive the MESSAGE by the third of the month. I am anxious that every woman who wears the white ribbon in our State shall have the MESSAGE promptly. Help me by your prayers. I need them. Depending upon each of you for loyal, loving co-operation,
I am, most cordially,

LUELLA F. MCWHIRTER,
Editor and Business Manager the MESSAGE.

FROM OUR PRESIDENT.

There are some very encouraging results of our work of the past few months. The organization of some large and promising Unions, and the coming of so many bright and enthusiastic young women, to our ranks, is encouraging. It is very clear to my mind that our cause is making head-way along the lines of reform, as never before. Grant county has now reached the high water mark of five hundred members. This gain over last year has not been brought about without work and much thoughtful planning on the part of our leaders. But what they have done others can do. The last quarter of the year will soon be here; let us work and believe for a "land slide" our way in membership. Mrs. Stevens, our National President, has expressed her belief that Indiana would be one of the states that would have a gain of five hundred members this year. I hope we may not disappoint her. Indiana must have a corner on the platform, Benefit Night, at the National Convention, at Portland, Maine.

I wish we might have had a sufficient amount of those circular letters, sent out by the National Officer, about the Temple in Chicago, to have sent one to each one of you. Now it is not for me to dictate to you how you shall spend money, but dear hearts, I regret that those people who still cling to that Temple project should still persist in sending out letters misrepresenting our relations to it, to the women of my

State, after they have been asked not to do so. I am sure we have abundant opportunity to give of our means where we can have reason to expect good results in the future. With unbounded love and confidence in the women of Indiana,

EUNICE P. WILSON.

AGAINST "REGULATED" VICE.

Much of the credit for the partial abolition of the State regulation of vice in the Philippines is due to Mrs. Margaret Dye Ellis, of Washington, D. C. She has been untiring in her efforts to convince prominent officials of the iniquity of the system, and failing in this, to make the facts known to the country. The result of the revelations was such a pressure of public opinion that the War Department was obliged to act.

There was a strong disposition in some quarters to smother the facts. Mrs. Ellis made an earnest appeal before the Woman's National Council and secured the adoption of strong resolutions by that body. She showed the officers of the Suffrage Association and the Council the official registration-book issued by the U. S. authorities to one of the child prostitutes of the Philippines, whose name, translated, is "Mary of the Cross." Her photograph (the photograph of each "registered" woman was required to be pasted on the front of her book to identify her) was the portrait of a girl seemingly about twelve years old, with a childlike face and big, pathetic, dark eyes. The book contains the official records of her regular examinations by a government surgeon, and his signature testifying to her state of health.

Mrs. Ellis left this dreadful little book at the White House, to be shown to the President; she placed it in the hands of a number of members of Congress. Finally she published a circular, giving the facts and a facsimile of the portrait, and left a copy in sealed envelope at the house of every member of the Congressional Committee on the Philippines, besides sending copies out elsewhere. This was on February 17. On February 19 the following order was cabled to Manila:

"Wright, Manila: It is considered advisable that upon medical examination of prostitutes no fees be charged and no certificates of examination given. Medical officers can keep their own records of names, descriptions, residences, and dates of examination, and it is believed that the necessary protection against disease can in a great measure be secured in this way without the liability of a misunderstanding and the charge of maintaining a system of licensed prostitution. Root."

The circulars left at the homes of the Congressmen fell into the hands of their wives, and stirred them to womanly indignation. The public began to wake up to the facts, and a storm arose. Mrs. Ellis had an interview a few days ago with Col. C. R. Edwards, chief of the insular division in the War Department. In a letter to the Union Signal she says:

"He asked if I knew who had been sending out the circulars with the picture of the Filipino girl? I replied, 'I sent them.' With a laugh he rejoined, 'Well, it was legitimate, but it has swamped us; ten clerks were employed answering the mail, which reached from the floor to my shoulders, and I have been late into the evening working myself. We expect soon to issue a book answering the many questions we have received, and it will not be a small book, either.'"

Before making her appeal to the public through the circular, Mrs. Ellis, representing the W. C. T. U., had repeatedly asked Governor Taft to accord her a ten minute's interview, but on the plea of lack of strength he declined to receive her, although he was strong enough to speak at public dinners, besides testifying daily before the Senate Committee on the Philippines. If Mrs. Ellis had represented as many organized voters as she did organized W. C. T. U. women, Governor Taft would probably have found himself strong enough to see her. The W. C. T. U., through its wide organization and friendly relations with clergymen of many denominations, has been able to do most effective work in stirring up public opinion.

We call the attention of all persons interested to the fact that the State regulation of vice has been only partially abolished, since its central feature, the effort to make vice safe by the compulsory examination of women, is still continued; and so long as this is the case, the time for protests is not over. Mr. Roosevelt should be urged to go on and complete the good work he has begun.—From The Woman's Column.

On July 1 the revenue tax on beer and other fermented liquors will be reduced from $1.60 to $1 per barrel.

The occasion for this reduction is the repeal of the war tax. This repeal of the war tax will also affect bankers, brokers, dealers in grain and securities, pawn-brokers, proprietors of theaters and circuses and other shows, bowling alleys, billiard halls and tobacco, which have been subjected to special taxes.

THE EMPLOYEES OF THE STREET CAR LINES SHOULD RECEIVE BOUQUETS ON FLOWER MISSION DAY.

GENERAL OFFICERS AND BRANCH SECRETARIES.

OFFICERS, 1901-1902.

President—Mrs. Eunice P. Wilson, Fairmount.
Vice-President—Miss Mary Hadley, Bloomington.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. Hattie Wright Brand, 1403 Ashland avenue, Indianapolis.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. Mattie Cammack-Gibson, Jonesboro.
Treasurer—Mrs. Amanda T. Whitson, 3335 N. Meridian street, Indianapolis.

BRANCH SECRETARIES.

General Secretary Young Woman's Branch—Miss Clara M. Sears, 222 West 14th street, Anderson.
General Secretary L. T. L. Branch—Mrs. Ida Mix, Kokomo.

In editorial Mrs. Mary Wood-Allen writes: "The American Mother believes in sunshine. The editorial sanctum is a small room, but it is flooded with the light from seven large windows. Whenever I look up from my writing I see green fields and blue sky, and I can feel the genial warmth of the sun at all times. Blessed sunshine! I wish all tired women knew the virtue of sunlight as a tonic and invigorator. It is ever so much better than quinine or sarsaparilla for 'that tired feeling.' Housekeepers live too constantly indoors and do not invite outdoors to come in, as they might. There are not so many closed up 'best rooms' nowadays as there were fifty years ago, and yet the housekeeper's instinct seems to be to throw down the window shade when the sun looks in. No friend comes with a surer promise of help and good cheer than comes the sun. Let us recognize it and invite him to visit every corner of our homes. To be sure, we can shut him out when in the July days he becomes too ardent, but every morning, the whole year through, we should rejoice to open our houses to his visits and to live in the light of his countenance.

"I have a porch where the sun shines all the fore part of the day, clear up till noon or after, and here I have my hammock stretched and my rocking chair placed and here I live all summer long. Here I sit and write or lie and rest. Here I take my afternoon naps, and here I receive my guests and here we often eat our meals, making of them a delightful picnic while we lessen the labors of the cook.

"Do you really know the pleasure of eating out of doors? Of course I do not advocate elaborate meals served, with an extra number of steps, because the table is set out under the trees or on the piazza. I mean simple fare, taken al fresco, or 'in the fresh,' as the Italians say. I used often to see them in their own land eating at their little tables on the sidewalks before restaurants, or under a picture of a vine or tree painted on a wall, and I wished that we in our own land were as fond of living out of doors. The Italians have another fashion of taking daily what they call their dolce far niente, their 'sweet do-nothing.' I wish our busy women would adopt this custom.

"Put up a hammock under the trees or a cot on the porch, and every day take your dolce far niente al fresco, your 'sweet do-nothing in the fresh.'"

NON-ALCOHOLICS.

It is quite encouraging to me that so many of the counties and Local Unions are appointing Superintendents of this Department. There are, however, a large per cent. that have not done so, because of so many Departments already taken up, and perhaps no one can be found suitable for the place. If no woman can be found, let me suggest that one of your honoraries be appointed. I am delighted to know that Dr. Homer J. Hall, of Franklin, has been appointed Superintendent of this Department in their new Union. The 1st of July is the date for the contest on Non-Alcoholic Medication recitations to close. If your Union has not already secured one or more, please make the effort at once. Is your Superintendent or Union making the Non-Alcoholic Scrap-book The Phalanx contains a column on this subject almost every week. You can not afford to miss reading them and clipping them for your book. The articles contain much valuable information from eminent physicians and scientists. No one can read these articles carefully and feel that this subject is not of the very greatest importance to every person and Union in the State. I hope every Union and County in the State will soon see the importance of having a Superintendent appointed and report the name at once to your State Superintendent.

Please do not fail to fill out your blank report at the close of this quarter. If you have not reported during the past two quarters, please report all that has been done up to this time. If the Unions and Counties do not report to me I can have no report for the National Superintendent.

Send to your State or National Superintendent for literature on this subject. To be informed on this line is to be convinced.

AMANDA T. WHITSON,
State Superintendent.

THE DEPARTMENT OF PEACE AND ARBITRATION

Has sent out the following: "In compliance with a plan suggested by Mrs. May Wright Sewall, Chairman of the Peace Committee of the International Council of Women, and endorsed by Mrs. H. J. Bailey, National Superintendent of Peace and Arbitration in the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, I heartily recommend that we in Indiana arrange for and hold a Peace Meeting of some kind in every county, and, as far as possible, in each local Union, on or near the 15th or 18th day of May. The date is placed in the month of May in commemoration of the World's Peace Congress, which was held at The Hague in May, 1899, and which resulted in the organization of the World's Permanent Court of Arbitration.

"Let it be the object of these meetings to awaken increased desire for peace in the public heart, and to present the reasonableness and the possibility of the establishment and the maintenance of national life and safety without recourse to war; and further,

"Let this be the beginning of a campaign for peace, to be continued through the summer, and reported at the assembling of our annual convention in October.

"The plan of work in this department is indicated by the questions on the report blanks. Let meetings be held, sermons preached, papers written, literature circulated, addresses given, and let all work be reported carefully, so that we may show a decided advance on the work of previous years.

"Write for literature or for further information to Yours cordially,

H. LAVINIA BAILY,
Sup't Peace and Arbitration, Indiana W. C. T. U.
Richmond, Indiana."

In Indianapolis there was held a very notable Peace demonstration on May 14, at 2:30 P. M., at the First Baptist church, Mrs. Eliza Blaker, President Local Council of Women, presiding. Addresses were made by Hon. Addison C. Harris and Mrs. May Wright Sewall. The White Ribboners were in attendance, in large numbers, composing at least half the audience. Great interest prevailed.

ORGANIZATION.

Our warfare is a continuous one. We cannot stop for heat or cold, shine or shower, because our foe is ever alert and busy; but there are seasons when certain lines of work can be carried on most easily, and the beautiful month of June is an ideal one for organization. I earnestly ask your co-operation in bringing up our new organization to the one hundred mark, and I solicit your correspondence in regard to this work. Since our last State Convention 23 Unions have been organized, with an aggregate membership of 200 active and 50 honorary members. Vigo County is in the lead, having secured six new organizations since March. One was organized by Mrs. Squier, one by Mrs. McDaniels and four by Miss Hadley. Mrs. Stahl, President of Blackford County, added two Unions to her County in February. The largest new Union in the State was organized at Bremen, Marshall County, by Mrs. M. A. Tompkins.

Dear Co-workers, will you not take steps at once to increase the membership of your Union or secure a new organization? Choose your women, pray them into the work. Send them the Annual Leaflet and "What the National W. C. T. U. has Accomplished," so that they may know of our broad plans and practical methods.

A recent letter from a National Officer says that they are expecting Indiana to come in on Benefit Night at the Portland Convention. Our President has replied that we expect to be there. Let us rally to the standard of the White Ribbon Army and march forward to victory.

HATTIE WRIGHT BRAND.

HADLEY SCHOOL.

This is a time of general health and activity at the school. Garden and farm crops are mostly planted, young chicks and turkeys are becoming numerous, and the calves and pigs are delighting the little girls and giving them exercise in the choice of proper names.

Edith Eaton, one of the older girls, is succeeding well in teaching the younger girls since our free school closed. Numerous gifts have been recently received and are greatly appreciated.

Two loyal and enterprising members of our organization gladdened our hearts by the presentation of a valuable and nice appearing two seated carriage. Mrs. Lydia A. Binford and her sister, Mrs. Deborah Binford, drove through from their homes in Hancock county and delivered it in first-class condition. Mrs. Deborah Binford's husband gave the carriage to Westland Union, and the Union put it in first-class order, not forgetting dusting brush, foot rugs, etc. We who must make trips through the county by private conveyance remember these ladies with appreciation every time we go. The Carthage Union, of same county, sent by them in the carriage a set of decorated dishes, which were also highly gratifying. There have also been boxes of fruit and useful articles about house and kitchen department which were greatly needed and thankfully received.

Dear sisters, these remembrances make us feel we are not alone in caring for Hadley School, and we feel stronger in the work.

LUCRETIA HOBART.

NATIONAL W. C. T. U.—DEPARTMENT OF LEGISLATION.

I desire to call attention to a matter of vast importance to the men and women coming to our shores, and which reflects most seriously upon us as a Christian Nation. It is in reference to ports of entry, more especially at the great port of New York, where thousands of immigrants land weekly and almost daily. We find, upon investigation, that there is not suitable provision made for their comfort and protection; especially is this true of women and children.

Mothers, with babies in their arms, and children, clinging to their skirts, after being huddled together in the steerage, are often compelled to wait many hours at Ellis Island before passing to their destination; these should certainly find nourishing refreshment for their bodily needs. The parties licensed to provide provision for the immigrants furnish nothing in the way of drinks but beer, soda water, sarsaparilla, etc.; no tea or coffee for a wearied mother, or a drop of milk for a sick and crying child, and this at the great gateway leading into this "land of promise."

Doctor Senner, at one time Chief Commissioner, although a German and not a total abstainer, has declared, "all the trouble he had with his employees there, rose from liquor."

Doctor Wheeler, a physician in charge, said: "The port would be in much better condition if the beer was entirely banished."

Mr. McSweeney is entirely opposed to it, and said if he had his way "not a drop more would be sold there."

Father McCaul, a Missionary Priest, said: "It exerted more bad influences than all other causes combined; specially was this a most pernicious influence in the case of girls."

And Miss Matthews, for a long time employed as a Missionary in the M. E. Church, has confirmed these statements.

Then, too, the fact that beer is provided in an official way commends itself to these people, and it is no wonder that out of 250,000 saloon keepers of the United States more than two-thirds are foreign born, when the first money they spend in this country is to Uncle Sam for beer.

On April 23 last a hearing was held before the Senate Committee on Immigration, Senator Penrose, of Pennsylvania, chairman, who is greatly interested in the welfare of the immigrant, and did not know of these conditions until we brought them before him, and a few days later he presented the following bill:

A BILL TO PREVENT THE SALE OF INTOXICATING LIQUORS IN IMMIGRANT STATIONS.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That hereafter it shall be unlawful to sell intoxicating liquors in any immigrant station owned or used by the United States Government or in the grounds appertaining to the same.

Sec. 2. That any violation of this act shall be deemed a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall for each separate offense be punished by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars.

Now, it is necessary to reach the other members of the committee, and we need your help.

Every Woman's Home Missionary Society—State, county or local—should be urged to pass a resolution condemning the situation, and asking the Senators to act. Letters from Pastors, as well as from other influential men and women of your community, should be sent to the members of the committee at once, urging them to push the matter. I do not think there will be any great opposition to the bill, only in the pressure of personal and great national questions, and coming toward the end of the session such matters as these are likely to be swallowed up and lost sight of, but if sufficient outside interest is taken, and letters and resolutions are sent to Senators, it will undoubtedly pass the Senate, and I have no doubt but that the House will concur. For the sake of the "stranger at our gates" let us help in this matter, remembering the words, "Inasmuch as ye did it to one of the least of these, ye did it unto me."

Letters, petitions or resolutions should be sent to either of the following gentlemen, members of the Senate Committee on Immigration:

Senator Boies Penrose, of Pennsylvania.

Senator Charles W. Fairbanks, of Indiana.

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts.

Senator W. P. Dillingham, of Vermont.

Simply address them Washington, D. C., will be sufficient.

Kindly communicate with any of the above named gentlemen at your earliest convenience, and pass on this request to your friends, that others may be informed and lend their aid and influence.

MARGARET DYE ELLIS.

Island Park W. C. T. U. Day is Tuesday, August 5.

The W. C. T. U. is a strong feature in this Assembly work under Mrs. Mary E. Balch. It has so enlarged its field of usefulness as to have charge, this year, of its former work in Temperance Literature Distribution, Mothers' Meetings, etc.

The W. C. T. U. Department—This strong feature in Assembly work, under Mrs. Mary E. Balch, has so enlarged its field of usefulness as to have charge this year, of its former work in Temperance Literature Distribution, Mothers' Meetings, etc., and in addition:

The Boys' and Girls' Classes in Elocution and Physical Culture. These Departments will be in charge of Miss Anna Quimby, of Edenton, Ohio, and other workers.

Mrs. S. M. Stahl, of Hartford City, will have charge of the Home Department—Mothers' and Children's Culture Meetings—and Mrs. Clara Balch, of Indianapolis, will superintend the Literature Booth with Mary Everston, of the same city, in charge of W. C. T. U. Home.

MISS MARY HADLEY GREETED BY A FINE AUDIENCE AT MISSIONARY BAPTIST CHURCH.

The union temperance meeting at the Missionary Baptist Church was a success and an event for our city which will be remembered. The different churches were represented and our ministers were out in full force. People drove in from the country and kept coming until the beautiful auditorium of this new and hospitable church was well filled. All listened with rapt attention to the speaker of the evening, Miss Mary Hadley, Vice-President of the Indiana W. C. T. U., whose lucid and pleasing discussion of the alcoholic and nicotine poisons brought a general verdict from the audience of "the most interesting presentation of the subject we have ever listened to." Charts were used for illustration. The young people were given something to think about. The children were delighted. Their apt and sometimes comical answers to questions proposed to them were diverting as well as complimentary to the excellent training given them by the teachers of our public schools.

After the close, organization was proposed and seconded by many; but as Miss Hadley passes on so soon to Institute work in another county, this must for the present be deferred. It is expected that in the future she will favor the many invitations extended to her to return to our city in the interest of the temperance work.—Connersville Evening News, May 19.

THE STATE DEPARTMENT BOARD MEETING, JUNE 9, 10 AND 11.

At Lebanon, Ind., on Tuesday and Wednesday, meetings in the Baptist church. A reception Monday evening, the 9th, in Castle Hall parlors, 8 to 10 o'clock. The members of the local W. C. T. U. and the State Superintendents extend cordial invitations to friends of our cause in Lebanon and throughout the county and elsewhere to attend these social hours. This general invitation is the only one that will be issued, and it is hearty and sincere.

Tuesday and Wednesday, June 9 and 10, will be given to the discussion of plans and methods of Department Work. Morning meetings will begin at 9 o'clock, sharp, the afternoon at 1:45; 30 minutes for devotional services at each opening, in charge of Mrs. Elizabeth M. Houghton, Richmond, State Evangelist. Tuesday morning, subjects under discussion: "Organization and Prevention." Tuesday afternoon, "Education—What Education Has Done in the Past; Its Promise for the Future."

Wednesday morning, "Evangelistic Work—Manner, Scope, Power." Wednesday afternoon, "Our Opportunities from a social standpoint; and the Legal Field for a White Ribboner." Question Box.

The evening meetings will begin at 8 o'clock sharp; 15 minutes song and devotional services. Tuesday, platform night, addressed by our branch secretaries, lecturers and organizers. Collection. 9:30, adjournment.

Wednesday night, grand Gold Contest, by a class of matrons. The music will consist of a Musical Contest. Admission, 10 cents.

Superintendents should provide literature. Try tying with white ribbon in 5 and 10 cent rolls for sale.

An object lesson of our departments for decoration in the church. Superintendents, originate something. Do not forget to bring our State banners.

Arrange a meeting for your department going and coming, to help out on expenses.

Remember if we can have one hundred certificates signed at Lebanon it means one and one-third fare.

MARY E. BALCH, President.
ADA B. LECK, Secretary.
J. R. WOOD, Treasurer.

The brave little Cassell Union, of Denver, has raised the money, all alone, to purchase a Frances E. Willard memorial window for the People's Tabernacle, Parson Tom Uzzell's new church, and it will soon be in place, where the southwestern sun will glorify the face of our sainted leader, in full view of the thousands who will gather there for the next fifty years we hope.

And evermore beside him on the way,
The unseen Christ shall move.
That he may lean upon his arm and say,
Dost thou, Lord, approve?

—Longfellow.

INSTITUTES.

Marion County Institute held at Broad Ripple, April 17 and 18, with Miss Hadley as leader, was the most successful Institute ever held in the county. As it followed the Mid-year Executive, the General Officers and Y. Secretaries were all present and added much to the interest and enthusiasm of the meetings. The program as arranged was carried out in full, and the carefully prepared papers and instructive talks were most helpful. Every County Officer was present. There are fifteen Unions in the county, and ten were represented by a delegation of over fifty. The lecture and contest were well attended, and receipts about covered expenses.

Floyd County Institute was held at Galena, April 21 and 22, Miss Mary Hadley leader. The attendance was good. Mrs. J. H. Jones was the winner of the medal at the contest. Subject, Satan's Stronghold, an Original Story. By vote of the Institute, Mrs. Jones was requested to send it to the Contest Journal for publication. Several regular and honorary members were added to the New Albany Union.

Washington County Institute met in the Baptist church of Salem, April 28, with Miss Mary Hadley as leader, and Mrs. Mary Overman, the County President, presiding. The business session was held the morning of the first day, and in the afternoon the regular program was taken up. Mrs. Alice Menaugh took subscriptions to the Union Signal. In the evening Miss Hadley gave a lecture on "Scientific Temperance," to a large and appreciative audience. The second day was a very interesting and profitable one to all present. Department of Mercy was presented by Miss Hadley. The Bird Pledge was explained and five signatures were secured. A paper on "Peace and Arbitration" was read by Mrs. Ella Howard, of Livonia, and was so highly appreciated that the Institute asked that it be printed in the Phalanx and MESSAGE. "State and National Plans" were given by the leader. A paper on the "Expendency of an L. T. L." was read by Mrs. Tilla Minor, of Salem, which was full of good thought and instruction; this paper was discussed by Revs. Lloyd and Howard. "What the W. C. T. U. has accomplished," was presented by the leader and was very encouraging to all the White Ribboners present. The ladies of the Salem Union served a nice lunch at the church at noon, which was enjoyed very much by all present. In the afternoon a very interesting and instructive paper was read on the "Hadley Industrial School," by Pearl Menaugh. "What shall be the next step in Abolition of the Drink Traffic and the Tobacco Habit?" was then taken up. "What shall be the next step taken by the churches?" was presented by Rev. Lloyd and discussed by Rev. Bachelor; by the Sunday School, Rev. Howard; by the Medical Profession, Dr. Overman. The Institute appreciated the service of Miss Hadley so highly that a vote of thanks was extended to her by the Institute. A Silver Medal contest was held in the evening, consisting of seven young ladies. The program was interspersed with good singing and instrumental music. Flora Hobbs won the medal. The subject of her recitation was, "The Tragedy of a Life."

Floyd County Institute was held at Galena April 21 and 22. Institute was called to order by our County President, as our Leader did not arrive at Galena until afternoon session had adjourned. Monday afternoon Mrs. Jones gave a very interesting talk on the different departments of the W. C. T. U. and especially on Systematic Giving and Literature. The sweet, Christian spirit of Mrs. Jones ran through every thought expressed by her and was highly appreciated. Mrs. Lyons gave a beautiful talk on the mission work. Monday night Miss Hadley gave a very instructive lecture on Scientific Temperance, illustrated. She presented her facts in a very forcible manner and completely captivated her audience. Tuesday morning the Institute Leader, in a very interesting way told of the growth of the W. C. T. U. An excellent paper read by Miss Maie Pritchett, subject "A Call to Young Women—How the Honoraries Can Help," was voted by Institute to be sent to the Phalanx for publication. The afternoon session was equally interesting. On the evening of April 22 a W. C. T. U. Contest was held, in which there were four contestants. Mrs. J. H. Lyons was awarded the medal. Subject: "Satan's Stronghold." It was her own composing and was especially requested to be sent to Contest Journal. We had three regular members and two honorary members added to our Union. Miss Hadley's magnetic influence was keenly felt throughout the Institute, and her pleasing manner and personality have won her many warm friends in our town, who will gladly welcome her to our county again.

Elkhart County Institute was held in the M. E. church at Wakarusa, May 15 and 16, with Mrs. Rose Pearce as Leader. The County President, Mrs. M. A. Tompkins, presiding. A consecration service was held, the Leader telling us that we W. C. T. U. women were such busy women that when we get together at an Institute or convention we are so apt to hurry on to the business part of the program that we sometimes forget to consecrate ourselves and our work to God. The devotional exercises of the afternoon were conducted by Rev. Miller, of the Christian church. The afternoon subjects under discussion were "National and State Plans of Work," by Mrs. Tompkins. This subject was well handled and brought forth quite a discussion. "How to Secure Superintendents for Our Work," was presented by Mrs. Troxel, of Elkhart. This also was a good subject for discussion. We were told that Presidents should know and understand their members before appointing them as Superintendents. The question as to how should the family of a saloon keeper be treated by the W. C. T. U. was quite thoroughly sifted.

On Thursday evening the devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. Dudley, of the Mennonite church. There was fine music by the M. E. choir and other young folks, followed by a lecture by Mrs. Pearce and only those who have heard her can appreciate the treat we had. On Friday morning the devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. Hollopeter of the M. E. church. Mrs. Vail, of Goshen, presented the subject of "Duties of Officers." This was well handled by different ones present. "In What Does the Influence of the W. C. T. U. consist?" was the subject of a well prepared paper read by Mrs. Phenix, of Middlebury. This also brought forth suggestions. Friday afternoon Dr. Barwick, of Wakarusa, read a paper on "Non-Alcoholic Medication" which was fine. Rev. Hollopeter gave us a talk on "Peace and Arbitration." Rev. Miller, a talk on the Mercy and Help Department. All subjects were ably presented, which brought forth some interesting suggestions. Mrs. Tompkins gave us a talk on the Hadley Home, which was quite interesting and instructive. In all the discussions and work of the Institute we were so much benefited and instructed by the sweet and gentle comments from our Leader, who was ever ready to enlighten us on any subject. On Friday evening a Medal Contest was given by eight young ladies of Wakarusa to a crowded house. The contest was arranged by the President, Mrs. Swartz, and the Wakarusa Union. They felt well repaid for their efforts, as they received inspiration and strength from the Institute. Miss Vena Atchison received the medal. "The Drunkard's Dream," was the title of her recitation. The Institute appreciated the musical and literary help received from the town people. It was such a help.

Madison County held a most successful Institute at Pendleton on May 5 and 6. Miss Alice Palmer, already well known to the readers of the MESSAGE, met with us. She and our County President, Mrs. Retta Jones, made the Institute a smooth running, never-flagging-in-interest Convention. Miss Mae Connett, of Ohio, proved to be an acquisition to the White Ribboners, and gave several practical talks on physical culture. Miss Palmer spoke on the first evening to a large audience. She talked of the New England rum that is being sent out to heathen lands; of the idea prevalent in foreign lands that liquor drinking and Christianity go hand in hand. She spoke well on the unity of the liquor traffic and the division of the temperance people. Miss Palmer is thoroughly posted on temperance matters and speaks with an earnestness that strikes conviction to the hearts of the people.

The second day's session brought out some very practical suggestions. The work of the Department of Mercy was presented by Miss Palmer, who talked of the "sweat shops," even those so near at home as in Indianapolis. The women who purchased ready-made garments were urged to see that the Consumers label was on such garments, and know that such a label is a certificate that the article was made under sanitary conditions and the maker had received reasonable wages for the work.

The query, "What has the W. C. T. U. Accomplished?" brought forth the fact that it had not only accomplished much for its own members in renewed consecration and development of character, but had been the means of having many good laws passed, notably the one requiring Scientific Temperance instruction in schools, the Anti-Canteen law, Anti-Cigarette law, etc.

The symposium, "What Shall be the Next Step in the Abolition of the Drink Traffic and the Tobacco Habit?" was the feature of interest the last afternoon. Miss Palmer spoke for the church, which should come out openly and throw open its doors as a recruiting office for enlisting against this traffic. Mrs. McMahon believed the schools should teach physical as well as mental development. Mr. Collis believed young people should be imbued with temperance principles and that young men should vote for a law granting suffrage to women. Mrs. Cascadden believed the press should refuse liquor and tobacco ads, refuse articles sanctioning the use of these things; publish articles favoring temperance and anti-narcotic work. Mrs. Stoner believed that women should agitate and educate; should make a greater demonstration on the occasion of temperance meetings and have more faith. The little Misses Ora Hester and Ethel Hardman gave recitations, and Mrs. Riley, of Alexandria, read an excellent paper on "How to Stand for what is exalted in Christian Citizenship."

The Pendleton people are good people to be among. Frank Pyke, one of their young men, had decorated the church beautifully, the choir rendered special music, and it was a delightful Institute all round.

Bartholomew County Institute was held at Hartsville, May 1 and 2. In the forenoon May 1, a consecration service was held. The afternoon session had to be adjourned until after 4 o'clock on account of a funeral. The Institute was then organized by County President, Mrs. Jennie Guffey. Memorial services were held in remembrance of our departed White Ribboners, Mrs. Paulina Rawlings, Mrs. Laura Phillipy and Bro. Tyner. The Silver Medal Contest was one of the finest ever held in the State. It was composed of young ladies, who acquitted themselves creditably. Miss Nora Sanders won the medal. Some very fine music was rendered and especially by a quartette of young men.

Urge Our Temperance People to Go as Delegates to the International Sunday School Convention, Denver, June 25 to 30.

May 2 was crowded full of interesting and instructive elements. The symposium, "What Shall Be the Next Step in the Abolition of the Tobacco Habit and Drink Traffic?" was exceedingly interesting, as was the eloquent address made by Rev. Grimes upon "How to Stand for What is Exalted in Citizenship." Two subscriptions to the Union Signal were received. Three honorary members, two to Hope Union and one to Petersburg, were added. All of which are ministers. Miss Hadley's lecture upon the subject, "The Effects of Alcoholic and Other Narcotic Poisons on the System" was well received. We believe that the Institute was a success in that good was accomplished and the White Ribboners came from it with new zeal and courage for their work.

WINNING ORATORS FROM TWELVE STATES TO COMPETE.

CHICAGO, ILL., May 17.—The outlook to-day at the office of the National Secretary for the approaching National Oratorical Contest of the Intercollegiate Prohibition Association is the brightest ever known in the history of College Prohibition work. Twelve will be represented at Lincoln, Neb., June 4 and 5, each orator having previously won first prize at a closely competed State contest. None but the very best oratorical talent of the colleges has been able to gain admission to this contest. The orations so far received are of a distinctly higher quality in composition and thought and together contain some of the strongest arguments for Prohibition ever written.

This is the first time that representatives from the opposite shores of the nation have been brought together in contest by the association and probably it will be the best and largest ever held in the country by any college organization. The convention and contest will occupy two days and in addition to the strong oratorical talent from the colleges, some of the best Prohibition speakers of the country will be present and address the various sessions. The national officers of the association, all of whom are thoroughly experienced in the college work, will speak at various times and have charge of special conferences of local and State work. The program opens at 1 p. m., Wednesday, June 4, with reception of Delegates and Contestants, followed by opening of convention. Welcome Address, Chancellor, D. W. C. Huntington, Nebraska Wesleyan University. Address, College Students and Prohibition, Oliver W. Stewart, National Chairman. President's Annual Address, President D. Leigh Colvin, University of California. In the evening will be held Oratorical Contest, Auditorium, Lincoln. Music. Winning State orators in following order: Iowa, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Missouri, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Illinois, Michigan, New York, Oregon and possibly North Dakota. Decision of Judges and Awarding of Prizes. Thursday, June 5, Conference and Business Session.

FIELD NOTES.

South Bend Central Union is working quietly but thoroughly, especially with Literature—1,250 pages of Scientific Temperance Instruction leaflets were given to the members of the State Teachers' Association, recently held here; also, 1,000 pages of "Who is Responsible?" by Bishop Fitzgerald. All of the churches of South Bend and Mishawaka were supplied with petitions and requested to take a vote of their Sunday Schools on the continuance of the Temperance Lesson. The fact that so many of the Sunday Schools voted to retain the lesson is very gratifying.

South Bend Unions Banquet Their Friends.

—The W. C. T. Unions of South Bend, together with the Prohibition Club, held a banquet Wednesday evening, April 30, in the Y. M. C. A. building. From 7:30 to 8:30 there was a reception in the parlors. The high character of those in attendance added to the impressiveness of the occasion. Between 125 and 150 persons were present, Mishawaka and other near-by towns being represented. The guests were seated at the table at about 8:30 o'clock, and the speech making began at 10:30. The exercises at the banquet were opened with prayer by Dr. J. G. Campbell. Rev. G. M. Lehigh, pastor of the First Baptist Church, acted as toastmaster. His wit and humor brought forth much applause. Toasts were responded to by Hon. T. C. Barnes, Rev. Eli Phillips Bennett, Kathryn Wert Holler, J. G. Campbell, Ph. D., Miss Ina Burton and Hon. Chas. F. Holler.

Shugart Union—On Wednesday evening, April 30, the honorary members of the Shugart Union, Marion, Ind., held a very interesting meeting. Our pastor, Rev. J. Shannon, gave a fine address on the subject, "What should be the attitude of a Christian toward Legalized Wrong?" Three honorary members were taken into the Union. The public collection was $2.04.

Major George W. Hilton, after a series of evangelistic services in the various Presbyterian churches in Fort Wayne, offered to give two lectures for the benefit of the Woman's Christian Temperance Unions on April 7, 1902. Three thousand invitation cards were distributed in nearly all the Protestant churches of the city by members of the Unions. A large audience came to hear his lecture to "Women Only," entitled "Thieves in the Temple," which was a heart-searching talk to Mothers. In the evening a mixed audience listened to a lecture entitled "The Revenue of Ruin." Sixty-five names were added to the membership roll as a result of the meetings. The following Wednesday afternoon a reception was given the new members at the home of Mrs. N. W. Bloom. The "Declaration of Principles" had been copied in the Secretary's book, and the members were asked to attach their names to it.

At Franklin a most promising Union of 42 members, 38 active and 4 honorary, was organized May 13 by Miss Hadley, in Section 3, for Institutes and organization. Mrs. Whitson gave able co-operation. The following officers were chosen: President, Mrs. A. W. Beam, Franklin; Vice-President, Mrs. W. H. Fisher, Franklin; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Anna Bergen, Franklin, R. R.; Recording Secretary, Mrs. W. L. Pangburn, Franklin; Treasurer, Mrs. A. I. Mathes, Franklin. Our principles were discussed, literature considered and department work taken up. Franklin W. C. T. U. will meet every two weeks. Twenty dollars in dues were turned over to the Treasurer at the time of organization and more to follow at the next meeting. This bright new Union is launched into the galaxy of our State with a membership zealous for our cause and with a mind to work, and Indiana gives it a right royal welcome.

LaPorte Union held a purity meeting in March, the Superintendent, Mrs. Seth Pearse, having previously distributed the following topics: Purity in Literature, Rev. Lizzie Murphy; Purity in Art, Rev. Mrs. Moor; Purity in Public Schools, Dr. Brigid Malone; Purity in Our Homes, Mrs. Ward; Purity in Society, Mrs. Wellington West; Purity in Our Living, Mrs. M. F. Fargher.

The papers were read and discussed and a very interesting and helpful meeting crowned the effort. Dear Sisters, if each Superintendent would hold several meetings during the year along her line of work, I think they would help us so much.

They also held a rummage sale, which put thirty-two dollars in their treasury. The credit of this successful enterprise was due to Mrs. Martha B. Talmage, for which she received thanks and the Chauqua salute.

The Union is rejoicing over a letter received, saying that they could have dear mother Trish for a few days. Oh, they do want her so much!

Marion—The Shugart W. C. T. U. held a very interesting meeting at the home of Mrs. Hippensteel, Wednesday afternoon, the 23d. Mrs. Stahl, State Superintendent of Mothers' Meetings, was present and gave a fine address. Ice cream and cake were served. In the evening at the U. B. Church, Mrs. Stahl delivered a Temperance Lecture, which was well attended. A collection of $1.40 was taken in the afternoon and $3.04 in the evening. Eight new members were taken into the Union. The Union issued fifty type written invitations, which were delivered by the L. T. L. boys.

Mrs. Ellen Dayton Blair, National Chalk-Talker, writes: Will you kindly explain in the MESSAGE that I have not only been suffering from the anxiety and suspense of a very painful and protracted illness of a dear brother, who "passed away" April 16, in Tacoma, Wash., but I have been ill myself the past six weeks, so I have been unable to redeem the pledges I made at your State Convention to your County Presidents for work during the past winter and spring? I have hoped I could yet arrange some work before the summer heat comes on, but I fear I must wait until fall.

Bridgeport W. C. T. U. held a Silver Medal contest on the evening of May 2. The contestants included the eighth year of School No. 8, Washington township, Hendricks county, numbering eight—five boys and three girls. The medal was won by Miss Flora Nickerson, on a "Mother's Influence." The contestants were greeted by a large audience and each one spoke splendidly. Music was furnished by a chorus from Plainfield, which was greatly enjoyed, and a very interesting and we believe beneficial evening was passed. At the April meeting of the Bridgeport Union a paper was read by Miss Rhoda Harvey on "Why Take our Official Organ," which was instructive. "Every Union," she said, "is a vital part of the World's Union; thus every White Ribboner may feel she has an honored part in the World's Union. In order to do the best work possible, we must know the methods and work done in other Unions. Our societies will grow in ratio to their knowledge of the work. The preacher, doctor, etc., would not think of undertaking his work without some paper on that work. We want to be intelligent workers, and to be that we must be familiar with our official organ." We have had a number of papers in our Union this year which were highly instructive and just what W. C. T. U. workers need.

In Indianapolis—A short time ago a Mothers' Meeting was held at a home from the Olive Branch Church. About twenty-five ladies were present. The subjects were: "General treatment of children; What only mothers should tell them; Hints on how to better guard our boys." Five papers were read, followed by talks. Meeting was led by Mrs. McDermod and Mrs. Moody. An invitation to continue the subject was given by the ladies at their church gathering.

Lapel Union was fortunate enough to secure Rev. Alice Palmer for a meeting on Thursday, May 8, and for a meeting on Friday afternoon. Her coming was unexpected to herself and also to our Union, so that not much time was given for advertising and there was not as large an attendance as we would have liked. But her address was to the point and well received. Mrs. Wright, who entertained Miss Palmer, invited a number of friends to her home on Friday evening, and Miss Palmer was kind enough to tell some of her experience in South Africa. Lapel's quartet, of whom we are justly proud, and who are always good about helping the W. T. C. U., sang several beautiful songs. Messrs. Wm. Woodward, J. R. Woodward, Geo. Wright and J. C. McCarty compose the quartet, the latter gentleman being a Prohibition candidate for Representative. We hope to see Miss Palmer again.

Great Gain in Honorary Members—Last year the Campbellsburg Union won the premium for largest gain in honorary members, and it bids fair to carry off the honors this year. They have recently gained twenty-five members, most of which are young men. Miss Flora Wires is President of the Union.

Hadley W. C. T. U., Grant County—Mrs. Stahl, of Hartford City, State Superintendent of Mothers' Meetings, held a meeting with us recently, at which six new members were secured. Our Superintendent of L. T. L. work, Mrs. Sadie B. Harvey, has organized a Legion with Roy Wells, President; Carrie Ratliff, Vice President; Ora Wright, Secretary; Grace Winslow, Treasurer.

NEARING THE THOUSAND MARK.

CHICAGO, ILL., May 17.—At the present rate of increase the Prohibition Alliance movement will pass the thousand mark by the time the next report is sent out from National headquarters. The total number of Alliances up to Friday evening, May 16, was 972. Nebraska and Illinois are in a close contest for fourth position, with Pennsylvania safely established in third place for a while, Wisconsin in second and Indiana in first. Notwithstanding the fact that it is a busy time of year, when ordinarily there is a cessation of Prohibition work, reports from Alliances show unusual activity and the steady increase has clearly proved that Prohibitionists believe the Alliance plan has come to stay, and intend to see it firmly established. Indiana has 125 active Alliances.

NEW COLLEGE PROHIBITION LEAGUES IN CALIFORNIA.

STANFORD, CAL., May 14.—A thriving Prohibition League has just been organized at Leland Stanford University by President D. Leigh Colvin, who put in several days' work here this week. The membership is very good, although the close of the college year being so very near precludes extensive work this spring.

The officers are determined to make it a great success at the opening of next year. The President, Lloyd E. Harter, is the General Secretary of the University Y. M. C. A. The Secretary is Secretary of the student body of the University—both among the strongest men of this large University.

Mr. Colvin organized a fine League at the University of the Pacific a few days ago. Here the young women are taking a prominent part in Prohibition work.

THE QUARTERLY TEMPERANCE LESSONS IN SUNDAY SCHOOL.

We are pleased to note a change of sentiment in The International Evangel, evidenced by its editorial June issue, pages 258 and 259. This ably edited journal, so largely read by workers of all denominations and possibly in closest touch with the National Sunday School Association, now recommends adoption of the Temperance Lessons without debate. Of 460 votes received from teachers, 446 are for retention of the lessons. The Evangel says that "the votes in favor will be significantly overwhelming in the affirmative and that in advance we can so clearly show the sentiment of the Sunday-school teachers of America that the (Denver) Convention will not undertake to discuss the question, but vote at once without debate."

The Evangel has discovered the direction of the tide, and with considerable awkwardness and some disconcertedness has turned its keel toward the peaceful harbor of retention of the present specific quarterly lessons on temperance topics.

The editorial in the May MESSAGE seems to have stirred the Evangel very greatly. Our readers will enjoy reading some three columns provoked by timely protest from our paper. If space permitted we would be pleased to quote at length.

The Evangel says: "The MESSAGE, Indiana's bright temperance paper, is fighting a good fight and will, of course, honorably devote another column to Evangel editorial matter."

The MESSAGE cheerfully accords this request and forgives the mistake of the Evangel if it will now use its great power for our sacred cause and bend its energies toward the crying need of instruction for temperance, systematically and definitely provided in Quarterly Sunday School Lessons.

"Not by Might nor by Power, but by My Spirit."

VOL. VII. No. 7.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., JULY, 1902.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR.

Y. W. C. T. U.

Some of you know that I helped to finish Mrs. Balch's section, No. 4, of the Institute Work for the W. C. T. U., and it was my pleasure to meet the most interesting and delightful girls and young women. I wanted them for our beloved work. Mount Vernon's President of the Y. is a beautiful Christian young woman consecrated to the Master's work. It was in Miss McGregor's home that the "Coffee" was given, where I was able to reach a large number of the ladies and try to interest them in the Temperance cause. The work in Mt. Vernon was pleasant throughout.

At Duff, DuBois County, I succeeded in securing 23 signatures to the Pledge, 11 of these to be organized into a Y. W. C. T. U., Mrs. Jennie Lennon having the meeting in charge.

Bethel was the place where the Institute for DuBois County was held, and on Sabbath eight young ladies were organized into a Y. W. C. T. U., Miss Clara Brittain, President. Other Y. Unions must work hard, or some of the new ones will surpass you in activity.

A meeting was held at Petersburg on Decoration evening, and next morning several came to the church and a talk was given along our line of work. We hope and pray seed was sown that will result in a Y. W. C. T. U. in that place.

Knox County Institute, held at Westphalia; three young women took the pledge and came into our work; one hundred young people ought to be secured in Knox County alone for our work.

Martin County Institute, held at Shoals; fine program, few out to receive the good. Splendid contest at night, and it seemed like many ought to have been reached. I am safe in saying 100 from this county, too, ought to be ours.

Some work was done in Daviess County, in Washington. The field is already white to the harvest, but where are the laborers? A few faithful women are doing all in their power, with the help of the Lord, to keep the temperance sentiment alive. Young women there, talented! Oh, how we do need them! Pray for them, too.

I was later in sending out the Report Blanks than common, but you will please return immediately. I will continue from this time on, dear Y's, to urge the payment of the dues. We must not fall below our mark of last year, 423. At the end of the first six months only 80 had paid dues. Wake up, and save or earn money enough to pay your dues. The last chance for the year closes the 15th day of September. Pray for me and for the work. Each day take some girl on your heart and pray for her; hand her literature until she becomes one of us.

CLARA M. SEARS.

LETTER TO COUNTY PRESIDENTS.

I trust you are already planning to make your fall County Convention the most successful in the history of your meetings. I hope it will mean for you days of rejoicing over work accomplished along our various lines of effort, and an increased membership with which to begin the work of the coming year.

In our State Plan of Work, page 61, of the State Minutes, you will see that any county having organized three new Unions is to have a speaker free for their fall Convention; and any county organizing two new Unions is to have a speaker for their fall Convention by paying the traveling expenses only. If the dues for these new Unions are properly collected and sent to our State Treasurer, we already have eight counties which will claim one or the other of these offers. We hope many others will be added during the next month, and in order that the many demands for speakers for fall Conventions may be met, it will be necessary for you to decide early upon the date and communicate with me in regard to the speaker. As many of our County Conventions are held about the same date, their is often confusion and disappointment because the worker has been asked for too late.

LIST OF NEW UNIONS.

BOONE—Jamestown Union; President, Mrs. K. L. W. Stockton.
BLACKFORD—Hartford City Union; President, Mrs. Lina Powers.
PRIAM Union; President, Mrs. Mary Zimmerman.
DEKALB—Spencerville Union; President, Mrs. M. D. Murray.
NEWVILLE Union; President, Mrs. Alice Coats.
DELAWARE—DeSota Union; President, Mrs. Flora Shroyer.
FOUNTAIN—Newton Union; President, Mr. Mary McKinney.
HARRISON—Elizabeth Union; President, Mrs. Ada M. Heartman.
HOWARD—Kokomo Union; President, Mrs. V. C. Kern.
HENRY—Shirley "Y"; President, Miss May McCain.
KENNARD Union; President, Mrs. Evalina Griest.
JASPER—Rensselaer Union; Mrs. M. F. Hall.
JOHNSON—Franklin Union; President, Mrs. A. W. Beam.
KOSCIUSKO—Leesburg Union; President, Mrs. Mollie Armstrong.
LAKE—Hobart Union; President, Mrs. May Patterson.
MARSHALL—Bremen Union; President, Mrs. Minnie Hale.
MARION—N. Indianapolis Union; Pres., Mrs. Christina Schmidt.
PARKE—Bridgeton Union; President, Mrs. Edith Kerr.
COLOMA Union; President, Mrs. Laura Morris.
RANDOLPH—Modoc "Y"; President, Mrs. Edna Hamilton.
ST. JOSEPH—North Liberty Union; President, Miss Cecil Bain.
WALKERTON "Y"; President, Mrs. E. B. Hostetter.
VIGO—Terre Haute, Mary Hadley "Y"; Pres., Miss Lillie LeDrew.
TERRE HAUTE Union; President, Mrs. Emma Trail.

TERRE HAUTE, Francis E. Willard "Y"; Miss Mabel Rice.
TERRE HAUTE Union; (Colored) Pres., Mrs. Mary E. Crutup.
PIMENTO Union; President, Miss Jessie Stark.
TERRE HAUTE "Y"; President, Miss Cora Viet.
VERMILION—Perrysville Union; President, Miss Laura Kerns.
WABASH—Rich Valley Union; President, Mrs. Jennie Fisher.
WABASH Union; President, Mrs. Mary M. Unger.
WELLS—The Salem Union; Pres., Mrs. Rev. Bockman, Vera Cruz.
REIFFSBURG Union; President, Mrs. Mira Galbraith.
SIX MILE Union; President, Mrs. Clara Deam, Bluffton.

The above is a list of the new Unions, reported since our last State Convention. It represents a gain in one-third of the organized counties in the state. Several counties not in the list are preparing to organize one or more Unions soon, and if this earnest effort continues it will mean a great increase of power in Indiana. Can we not have every organized county in the state on this list by the time the August MESSAGE is issued? If you need help, write to me at once in regard to our field workers. I will supply you promptly and at as little expense as possible. Mrs. Stahl is very successful in securing members; Mrs. Haughton is at this date working in DeKalb county, where we expect her to win many to our blessed cause; Mrs. M. A. Tompkins is a veteran organizer; our Institute workers, Miss Hadley, Miss Palmer and Mrs. Pearce are now at liberty and I am sure that any of our workers will do you good. Remember, dear sisters, that we are in a great conflict, which demands the very best we have to give.

Loyally yours,

HATTIE WRIGHT BRAND.

STATE BOARD OF SUPERINTENDENTS' MEETING.

The Department Board Conference was held in Lebanon, Boone County, June 10 and 11. Most of the members arrived in time to attend the delightful reception, held at Castle Hall, on Monday evening. Lebanon Union had extended a general invitation, and a large number of ladies were present to welcome our W. C. T. U. workers. A delightful program of music, recitation and song was rendered, and the evening passed very pleasantly.

The Conference was called to order in the Baptist Church Tuesday morning by the President of the Board, Mrs. Mary E. Balch. The earnest words of her opening address touched the hearts of all who listened, and inspired us to more earnest and determined efforts for the promotion of our Department work. Our State President, Mrs. Wilson, Vice President, Miss Hadley, and Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Brand, were present and spoke words of cheer and encouragement.

The program was perhaps the most practical and helpful that has yet been given at a Department Meeting, and it was a matter of regret that every State Superintendent was not present to help and to be helped. Two were busy in the field and four were detained at home by sickness.

A double contest, musical and oratorical, was held on Wednesday night. This is a new feature in contests and promises to become a very popular one, as it increases interest and supplies a most delightful entertainment. The grand gold medal was won by Mrs. Ella Seal, of Marion, and the musical medal was awarded to Miss Carrie McKee, of Lebanon.

At a business session of the Board, Mrs. Balch tendered her resignation as President, and Mrs. Leck tendered her resignation as Secretary. These resignations were accepted with regrets, and Mrs. Elizabeth Haughton was chosen President, and Miss Flora Wires, Secretary, to fill the unexpired term.

Mrs. Brand presented the matter of the Blanket Report and urged that a committee be appointed to supervise the revision of the questions, as many of them are unsuitable for a local report and cause confusion among local Superintendents. Mrs. Brand was appointed Chairman of this committee, with power to choose its members.

Members of the Board and visitors were most delightfully entertained in the hospitable homes of our Lebanon sisters, and many were the words of appreciation expressed.

ONE WHO WAS THERE.

PURITY.

You have all no doubt received the communication I sent out the first of the month of June. Let us make the most of the short time we have left before the State Convention to forward the cause of purity and righteousness.

I have been prevented on account of illness from pushing our department work as I had hoped, and I very much fear I shall have to forego my personal work with many of our unions as I had planned.

Some of our superintendents are doing excellent work in their communities. I wish they might hold regular meetings in the interest of their departments.

Our Anderson Superintendent has held five women's meetings in the interests of Purity. Two of these were addressed by State Superintendents and the others were simply informal meetings. All were very helpful. LaPorte Purity Department is setting a good example. I hope all have read the report of their March meeting in the last MESSAGE.

Sallie Osborne, Union County Superintendent of Purity, has done most excellent work along the line of contest work. Every superintendent, or every worker, should have her Contest Papers, a little booklet containing five prize papers on the theme: Love Against Its Counterfeit. These papers furnish first-class literature for the Purity Departments of the Christian Endeavor, B. Y., P. Y., Epworth League and W. C. T. U. Price single copy (by mail, post paid) 20 cents. Address, Miss Sallie Osborne, College Corner, Ohio. (She lives just across the line.) West LaFayette has done good work in the distribution of literature.

I want to urge you all to keep a faithful record of all work done, however small, and report promptly. I trust none will neglect to fill out the blanks I sent and return to me by September 20. They are intended for the yearly report. Some have returned them as a quarterly report. I will send others to those thus understanding it.

MRS. R. W. McMAHAN.

STARTLING STATISTICS.

It is estimated by reliable statistics that each American saloon has an average of 40 customers, 10,000,000 people steady drinkers, who spend on an average of $100 per year for drink; it amounts to a total of $1,000,000,000 a year.

If each of the 10,000,000 stop drinking alcohol and buy one pair of shoes costing $2.50 this would make market for $25,000,000 worth more of shoes.

If they buy each a $2.50 dress or pair of trousers, costing a total of $25,000,000, this would boom woolen goods.

If each should yearly consume one more barrel of flour than formerly, at $5 per barrel, $50,000,000 more would be spent for flour. One dollar more each year for useful literature would be $10,000,000, and $1.50 each for underwear would be $15,000,000, and $2.50 hat or bonnet each would be $25,000,000 for headwear.

In the above calculation we have expended only $15 for each of the ten million drinkers, whose demand for these useful goods would create a supply without overproduction. They need the goods. This leaves $85 each to be laid out for meat, fuel, furniture, bedding and other home comforts, costing $850,000,000 more, all of which is now paid away for drink.

Now to spend one billion dollars for twenty of the leading necessary comforts of life in proportion to the amount of each produced during the last census taken, will make a demand on the farmer by the manufacturer for $490,000,000 worth of raw material.

The same money spent for liquors requires only one-fifth as much from the farmer; here is a gain of $400,000,000 to the farmer, which, at an average of $391—as per last census produced by each farm yearly—would give work to 1,024,472 more men on the farms.

To manufacture the raw material would require 372,836 men. But to produce one billion dollars' worth of liquor requires only 50,179 men.

If, on the other hand, this billion be spent for food, fuel and clothing, it will give employment to 1,397,408 men, which is 1,347,229 more than now employed, who will have work at good wages.

Any thoughtful person can now estimate the benefits which would thus come to the country, if the money now spent for drink was paid for useful articles, to say nothing of the absence of crime, poverty, personal sufferings and national disgrace. But if only one man keeps this pledge, the benefit to him is very great.—Selected.

Deer Creek Union is composed of farmers' wives and daughters, and they are a busy set. On a recent Sabbath a member of this Union, who is County Superintendent of Mothers' Meetings, held a meeting of her Department in a church several miles away. She incidentally remarked to a friend that day that the day before she had washed three large pieces of bed-clothing, had churned and scrubbed, had set out three hundred sweet potato plants and one hundred and fifty cabbage plants, in addition to her usual house work. Then she sat up until 10 o'clock that night and prepared her address for the next day. The service she gave in the meeting was full of love and helpfulness, just as her life is full of grace and beauty. Surely the rank and file of the W. C. T. U. workers are women who have not a minute to spare.

Mrs. J. B. Heath, of Marion, one of our much loved White Ribboners, passed successfully through a very serious surgical operation, performed by Dr. L. H. Dunning, specialist at the Deaconess Hospital, Indianapolis. Her many friends will be glad to know of her splendid courage and cheerfulness, which were wonderfully in her favor toward ultimate recovery. She had the prayers, love and sympathy of many, including a host of comrades at home.

Our State Convention will be Held at HUNTINGTON the First Week in October.

JULY, 1902.

GENERAL OFFICERS AND BRANCH SECRETARIES.

OFFICERS, 1901-1902.

President—Mrs. Eunice P. Wilson, Fairmount.
Vice-President—Miss Mary Hadley, Bloomington.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. Hattie Wright Brand, 1403 Ashland avenue, Indianapolis.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. Mattie Cammack-Gibson, Jonesboro.
Treasurer—Mrs. Amanda T. Whitson, 3335 N. Meridian street, Indianapolis.

BRANCH SECRETARIES.

General Secretary Young Woman's Branch—Miss Clara M. Sears, 222 West 14th street, Anderson.
General Secretary L. T. L. Branch—Mrs. Ida Mix, Kokomo.

Miss Laura Geneva Cammack, our State Superintendent of Press Department, has recently returned to her home at Converse from Indianapolis, after spending sometime at St. Vincent's Hospital, where she passed successfully through a very painful surgical operation performed by Dr. J. B. Kirkpatrick, specialist. After months of great suffering, she feels now assured of renewed health and strength.

For the loving messages of sympathy received and the assurance from workers that the Press work is being pushed, she desires to express her great appreciation.

INSTITUTES AND ORGANIZATION.

We are reminded that to the July MESSAGE is due some account of the joint effort for these two Departments during the spring months, as per State plan for 1902. But, as material is not yet at hand for complete summary of results, only a very informal and meagre advance report can now be given.

Mrs. Rose Pearce, the much appreciated leader of Section 1, is now finishing these Institutes by giving additional time to work which, it seemed, could not be just on time for the scheduled date.

Rev. Alice R. Palmer, who has so ably and acceptably led in Section 2, has granted a like favor to this Section, and thus a part of her report has also been delayed, but encouraging accounts of the work in these and other Sections have already been given by local workers through the MESSAGE.

In Section 2 Miss Palmer gave 12 weeks work in 19 counties, organizing 3 unions and adding many members at Institutes.

In Section 3, with your Superintendent as leader, the work closed June 6, as per closing date published in the schedule given in January. Ten weeks work were given in 15 counties.

In this Section, 13 organizations have been formed—consisting of 4 W. C. T. Unions, 3 Y.'s, 1 County Union, and 5 L. T. L.'s—which, including accessions to membership made at Institutes, makes a total addition of 207 adult members and 136 Legioners—all of the latter coming in with the approval of parents and as willing and joyful workers bearing aloft the banner of their triple pledge.

Many of the adult members paid dues at the time of organization, and others proposed payment at a time near at hand. Will not local Treasurers all over the State do their duty in gathering and forwarding dues, and thus allow the members to promptly and uniformly receive the MESSAGE, etc.?

Retain 20 cents for each active member in the local Treasury; send 25 cents for the MESSAGE to its Editor and Publisher, Mrs. Luella F. McWhirter, 2312 College Avenue, Indianapolis, and send the remaining 55 cents to your County Treasurer, who will retain 15 cents and promptly forward 40 cents to the State Treasurer, Mrs. Amanda T. Whitson, 3335 North Meridian street, Indianapolis. Accompany the MESSAGE dues with a carefully written list of the active members. This list must at least equal the active membership and include the names of such honorary members as do not already have the paper taken in their homes.

The honorary list for the MESSAGE generally about equals the duplicates in names where both mother and daughter are members, thus allowing a sum equal to the entire honorary dues to remain in the local Treasury for local work.

A most earnest and self-sacrificing effort has been made for Section 4 by our much beloved Mrs. Balch, who was all too prodigal of her strength, and had to stop off for a vacation which she had planned to take in her recently adopted home, Kentucky.

If this State has been basing too much on our Mrs. Balch's membership, we will just remind Mrs. Beauchamp and her force that Louisville is only just across the line, where Southern Indiana workers go sometimes to get a good perspective of their own State, and that Mrs. Balch has already been back to us, presiding at our State Department meeting at Lebanon and making a lively campaign for contest work.

Mrs. McWhirter, Mrs. Whitson and Miss Sears came promptly and loyally to the Institute work for Section 4, and excellent results have followed, but, like Sections 1 and 2, the work has not yet been fully reported.

Now we are almost to the place of entering upon Summer Assembly work and we speak for the most loyal co-operation with Mrs. Eva Everson, Superintendent, and her leaders in W. C. T. U. work for the different Assemblies of Indiana.

If White Ribboners generally will give their attendance and co-operation in carrying out the W. C. T. U. program at the assembly most convenient to them, the success of the work will be assured.

More anon, and truly,

MARY HADLEY,
Superintendent.

PROPOSED CONSTITUTION FOR THE INDIANA WOMAN'S CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE UNION.

PREAMBLE.

We, Christian women of Indiana, in order to enlist and unite the women of the entire State in temperance work, and to devise and execute measures which with the blessing of God will result in the suppression of intemperance, and to secure as soon as possible the entire prohibition of the liquor traffic, do adopt the following constitution for our government:

CONSTITUTION.

ARTICLE I.

This organization shall be known as the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Indiana, auxiliary to the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

ARTICLE II.

OFFICERS.

The officers shall be a President, a Vice President, a Corresponding Secretary, a Recording Secretary, a Treasurer, a Secretary of the Young Woman's Branch, a Secretary of the Loyal Temperance Legion, and a Vice President, ex-officio from each County Union, who shall be the President of the County Union.

ARTICLE III.

COMMITTEES AND SUPERINTENDENTS.

SECTION 1. There shall be an Executive Committee consisting of all the officers of the State Union, the President and Secretary of the Board of Superintendents, and the Editor of the State paper. It shall convene once a year or oftener at the call of the State President, one month's notice being given, and at such a meeting seven members shall constitute a quorum.

SEC. 2. There shall be a Central Committee consisting of the President, Vice President, Corresponding Secretary, Recording Secretary and Treasurer, with two others chosen at the Annual Meeting for the transaction of urgent business in the interval of annual meetings when the Executive Committee cannot be convened. The said committee shall constitute a Board of Trustees for the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Indiana competent to transact its business legally.

SEC. 3. Such departments of work as are deemed advisable by the Annual Meeting shall be in charge of Superintendents specially fitted for the work of their respective departments.

ARTICLE IV.

AUXILIARIES.

SECTION 1. Any local W. C. T. U. in the State shall become auxiliary to the State Union by endorsing the constitution and paying annually into the State Treasury a sum equal to 50 cents for each member.

SEC. 2. Any Y. W. C. T. U. shall become auxiliary by endorsing this Constitution and paying annually into the State treasury a sum equal to 50 cents for each member.

ARTICLE V.

ANNUAL MEETING.

The Annual Meeting shall be held in October, at such a time and place as shall have been designated by the preceding Annual Meeting or by the Executive Committee.

ARTICLE VI.

MEMBERSHIP.

SECTION 1. The Annual Meeting shall be composed of the officers of the State Union, the Superintendents of Departments, Chairmen of Standing Committees, State Organizers, Editor and Publisher of the State Paper, the officers of the Board of Management of the Hadley Industrial School of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Indiana, the President and one delegate at large of each auxiliary union, and one additional delegate for every twenty paying members thereof, and one delegate who shall be a W. C. T. U. member, and an active L. T. L. worker, for each ten dollars of L. T. L. dues from the combined Legions of the State. Ex-officio members of the convention must vote in person.

ARTICLE VII.

AMENDMENTS.

This Constitution may be altered or amended by a two-thirds vote of the members present at any Annual Meeting, provided notice has been given at the previous Annual Meeting.

ARTICLE VIII.

PLEDGE.

I do solemnly promise, God helping me, to abstain from the use, manufacture or sale of distilled, fermented and malt liquors, including wine, beer and cider, and from tobacco in any form, and to employ all proper means to discourage the use of and traffic in the same.

BY-LAWS.

ARTICLE I.

DUTIES OF OFFICERS.

SECTION 1. The President shall perform all duties usual to such office. She shall also preside at the meeting of the Executive Committee, and may, through the Recording Secretary, call special meetings to that Committee when deemed advisable, on consent of any three members.

SEC. 2. It shall be the duty of the Vice-President to perform the duties of the President in case of her absence or inability to serve.

SEC. 3. The Corresponding Secretary shall attend to the correspondence of the Union. She shall forward quarterly to the Corresponding Secretaries of County Unions (or to the Secretaries of Local Unions, where there is no county organization) blanks for their reports, and shall collate from such reports her annual report. She shall be chairman of the Credentials Committee of the Annual Meeting, of Program Committee, of Department of Organization and State Reporter for the Union Signal.

SEC. 4. The Recording Secretary shall be Secretary of the Executive Committee. She shall send to each member of that Committee a notice of each meeting, and notify Superintendents, Officers and Committees of their appointment. At the first session of each Annual Meeting, she shall read, for action by said meeting, the minutes of all meetings of the Executive Committee held since the last Annual Meeting, and shall perform all other duties pertaining to such office.

SEC. 5. The Treasurer shall keep accurate accounts of all receipts and disbursements of money, present a detailed account thereof at each Annual Meeting, and furnish quarterly report for publication in the official organ of the State Union. She shall pay no bills except on an order signed by the President and Recording Secretary. She shall remit quarterly to the Treasurer of the National Union 10 cents of each 50 cents State dues received. At the Annual Meeting she shall give to the Corresponding Secretary the whole number of delegates to which each Local Union is entitled, according to the amount of dues paid. The Treasurer's books shall close the 25th of September for the receipt of dues for that year.

SEC. 6. All reports of officers and Superintendents shall be in the hands of the Recording Secretary five days previous to the State Convention.

SEC. 7. The County Vice Presidents shall have supervision of the work in their respective Counties, and shall be responsible for the organization of Local Unions therein. They shall write quarterly to the State Corresponding Secretary, concerning the condition of the work in their respective counties.

SEC. 8. The Program Committee shall consist of the President, Corresponding Secretary, Treasurer, and the President and Secretary of the Board of Superintendents of Departments.

ARTICLE II.

DUTIES OF SUPERINTENDENTS.

SECTION 1. It shall be the duty of the Superintendents to correspond and co-operate with National and County Superintendents in carrying out plans of work relating to their several departments, and to present to the Annual Meeting a written report of work accomplished and proposed, with an itemized account of receipts and expenditures in department work.

ARTICLE VI.

HADLEY INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

SECTION 1. The Annual Meeting shall elect the nine members of the Hadley Industrial School Board of Directors as follows: Tellers having been appointed by the chair, an informal ballot shall be cast for the President, Secretary and Treasurer separately and the Convention shall proceed to ballot for the persons thus nominated. The convention will then elect, by rising vote, one woman for each of the six permanent divisions of the State known as Hadley Industrial School Districts 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6, these women to be known as the soliciting members of the Board. They shall be nominated by the Executive Committee.

SEC. 2. DUTIES OF SOLICITORS. An estimate shall be made of the necessary amount for the current year's expenses of the School and it will be the duty of each of these six solicitors to collect their portion of this sum. As much more as they will collect will be to the advantage of the School and their profit.

SEC. 2. THE SOLICITOR'S REMUNERATION. The solicitor shall receive thirty per cent of all moneys collected and on pledges the same per cent when the pledges have been paid into the treasury of the Board. On endowments the same per cent pro rata when the Board has invested the endowment and receipts come in on the investment. The solicitor shall report monthly to the Treasurer of the Board on the blank furnished, turning all money, pledges and endowment over to the Treasurer of the Board, who will settle with the solicitor monthly as per date of blank furnished for that purpose.

SEC. 4. DUTY OF CENTRAL COMMITTEE. If vacancies occur in the Board during the year, caused by resignation, removal, death or failure of duty, the Central Committee shall be empowered to fill such vacancies within thirty days' time.

SEC. 5. LIMITING EXPENSES. The Board shall not add to the ordinary current expenses of the year by improvements, additions to the school or increase in number of helpers without consulting the Central Committee.

SEC. 6. The President, Secretary and Treasurer of the Board shall receive $1.00 per day for every day's actual service and all actual expenses. This outlay shall be considered a necessary part of the running expenses of the school.

SEC. 7. DUTY OF UNIONS—CONTINGENT FUND. Unions shall hold one L. T. L. silver medal contest during the first quarter of the year, October, November and December, taking the usual 10 cents admission fee, and after deducting the price of the medal and tickets, send the balance of the proceeds to the Treasurer of the Board. No other call should be made on the Union by the school that year. If on account of storms or epidemics or like misfortune the contest proves a failure financially, it shall be the duty of the Union to repeat it within thirty days or the first favorable opportunity.

SEC. 8. HADLEY INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL DISTRICTS. District No. 1.—Lake, Porter, LaPorte, St. Joseph, Marshall, Starke, Newton, Jasper, Pulaski, Fulton, Cass, Carroll, White, Benton, Miami—15.

ARTICLE VII.

These By-Laws may be altered or amended by a two-thirds vote of the entire delegation present at any annual meeting.

INSTITUTES.

Steuben County Institute was held in Ashley, May 8 and 9. A contest occupied the evening of the 8th and though some of the contestants failed to be present a number of recitations suitable for the occasion were given by friends who kindly filled vacancies, so that those in attendance were well entertained. The medal was awarded to Orlo Wyrick, of Ashley.

The Institute Thursday morning was called to order by Mrs. Willinner, Vice-president. The forenoon was spent in a conference of County Superintendents which, it is hoped, will result in good to the work in the county. Mrs. Rose Pearce, of Terre Haute, presided over the remainder of the sessions. She won laurels for herself by her genuine, sweet-spirited helpfulness. Mrs. Woodhull presented "Our Periodicals" with so much skill and ability, and the discussion that followed was so general and spirited, that it was one of the best features of the Institute. I find I cannot mention the many fine papers and talks that were given us, several of which would make good reading in our papers, but I do want to say we owe much to the gentlemen who came so bravely to our help. Brethren Fry, Wyrick and Matson are held in kindly remembrance by those present. The plans for entertaining delegates were unusually good and much of this was due to the kindness and help of Elder Wyrick of Ashley. The resignation of the President, Mrs. Shaw, on account of the serious sickness of her daughter, was the sad note of a very enjoyable meeting. Mrs. Willinner, of Pleasant Lake, was elected to fill the vacancy.

Union County Institute—On account of the inclemency of the weather during the Union County Institute, May 22 and 23, Miss Mary Hadley, National Superintendent of Institutes, kindly consented to stay with us at College Corner over Sunday. On Sunday evening, at a union meeting of the three churches, she gave a lecture on "The Effects of Alcoholic and Nicotine Poisons," to a well-filled house. An L. T. L. of 48 members having been organized during the Institute, a large number of children were present, occupied front seats, and showed their interest by the strict attention and intelligent answers to Miss Hadley's questions. The logical reasoning, based on the authority of the world, will surely convince many that the narcotic poison of alcohol is not a necessity, but that it is an evil that should be dealt with as the most poisonous serpent would be treated. College Corner W. C. T. U. feels very grateful to Miss Hadley for the interest that she has awakened during the Institute and actual work that has been accomplished.

Wells County Institute—The leader, Miss Palmer, arrived on Saturday, May 24, and on Sunday she gave two fine lectures, one at Six Mile, and the other, in the evening, at Poneto. Monday morning, at 9 o'clock, the Institute was called to order by County President, Mrs. Reiff, and after devotions the business and general convention work was attended to. The afternoon session was filled with general talks, papers and music. Splendid remarks by Leader were very helpful. The Monday evening lecture by Miss Palmer was a pleasing as well as an educational service. Miss Palmer was highly spoken of by every one who heard her here, and much appreciated by the W. C. T. U. All day Tuesday the program was carried out, and showed that the members on the program had made careful preparation. Tuesday evening, 27th, the Gold Medal Contest was well attended and one of the very best entertainments ever held in Bluffton. Mrs. Doan, of Ossian, carried off the medal. The Daily Orchestra furnished excellent music. The Contest was under the direction of Mrs. M. J. Hunter, of Ossian, County Contest Superintendent.

Huntington County Institute, reports Mrs. F. C. Myers, was held at Roanoke M. E. Church, Thursday morning, May 29 and 30. Mrs. Lou E. Rail, County President, in the chair. The Institute was organized for regular work. The Plan of Work as adopted by the county was reported as generally carried out. The leader, Rev. Alice R. Palmer, returned missionary from South Africa, was introduced and given the Chautauqua salute and responded in a few well chosen words. Mr. J. S. Zent, husband of one of the enthusiastic Roanoke White Ribboners, made the address of welcome. Among other good things, he said he could not be a Christian and not oppose the saloon. The Cradle Roll Department discussion was led by Mrs. E. S. Druly, who was appointed Superintendent of the Mother's Department for the county. A paper on Purity, was read by Mrs. Rhodes, which excited spirited discussion. The central thought, which was, a deeper sense of duty to our children. The topic, What Shall be the Next Step in the Abolition of the Drink and Tobacco Habit? was the feature of the afternoon. A number of papers were read, treating the different phases of the subject. Mr. Stockbridge, Editor of the Roanoke Review, said the W. C. T. U. column helped the circulation of his paper. Much interest was shown in the paper given by Dr. Wilking, on Non-Alcoholic Medication. Mrs. Day, of Huntington, represented the Franchise Department, in an excellent paper. Mrs. DeLong gave a spirited talk on How to Stand for What is Exalted in Citizenship. In the evening a grand gold medal contest was given, in which four young ladies were the contestants, Miss Opal Bechtol, of near Huntington, being the winner. Excellent music was rendered by the M. E. quartette and U. B. choir.

The first Institute of Franklin County was held in Brookville. The first session was informal and was held at the home of Mrs. Harrison. On Friday morning the Institute convened in the town hall, the County President, Mrs. Margaret Smith, presiding. The regular routine business was transacted and committees appointed. The afternoon meeting was called to order by the President. Scripture reading was by Mrs. Vawter and prayer was offered by Rev. Carnes, after which the regular program was taken up. The State Superintendent of Institute Work, Miss Mary Hadley, gave a short talk on "What Shall be the Next Step in the Abolition of the Drink Traffic and Tobacco Habit?" Mrs. John Cowan read an excellent paper on "Temperance," showing the danger of the first drink. Rev. Carnes presented a paper on "What Steps Should the Church Take Towards the Abolition of the Drink and Tobacco Habits?" He favored agitation—keeping the matter before the minds of the people until they have a just appreciation of the danger of these habits. Little Olita DuBois recited to piano accompaniment a sweetly pathetic story of the little boy for whom there was no room "In the House of Too Much Trouble." Miss Hadley read a number of resolutions adopted by the Liquor Dealers' Association, after which Mrs. Smith read a few things which the W. C. T. U. has accomplished and some which she still hopes to do, introducing the thought that while some people feel sure that their sons and daughters will be so carefully reared that they will go out to the world strong to meet temptation, there are hundreds of children who have scarcely known a father's care or a mother's love. It is this class that the W. C. T. U. comes to as a guardian angel. Miss Ida Dare sang "The Girl that 'Sassed' Her Mother." Mrs. Frank Merrill read a good paper describing the organization and work of the Mt. Carmel L. T. L. Rev. McMillen favored us with an excellent talk on "How to Stand for Exalted Citizenship," showing that we should choose high principles and then stand firmly for them. Rev. Jones added some good remarks on this subject. Mrs. Smith rendered a solo entitled, "My Mother's Bow of Ribbon White."

The Oratorical Contest in the evening was one of the best that has been given in the county. The class was ably presented by Mr. Hugh Murphy. Mrs. Anson Irwin, of Bath, was awarded the medal. The orations were interspersed with music. A vocal solo by Miss Laura Merrill was well rendered; also one by Mrs. Margaret Smith, entitled, "Down in the Licensed Saloon." The violin solo by Miss Nellie Smith was highly appreciated. In response to a hearty encore she rendered a short number. Notwithstanding the fact that Miss Leona Brady's reading was the last number of a lengthy program, she held the audience spellbound to the end. Thus ended a pleasant and profitable meeting.

Martin County Institute met in the First M. E. Church at Shoals, June 2, with Miss Clara Sears as leader. The first session was held at 3 p. m. Miss Sears gave a general talk on the work and its needs and the members discussed plans for bettering local conditions. A lecture by Miss Sears in the evening, was truly appreciated. On the morning of the 3d the programme as outlined was taken up and each subject discussed. An excellent talk on God's Plan of Finance was given by Rev. A. W. Gehres, of the Christian Church.

Mrs. J. T. Morris gave a talk on Evangelistic Work which was highly appreciated, as was also a talk by Miss Mabel Yenne, on Temperance Work in Young People's Societies. She showed the need of higher ideals of life and practical living. Miss Sallie Rogers read a paper on Christian Citizenship which showed most excellent forethought and gave a lucid account of the true citizen. A medal contest followed in the evening, which was interesting. The silver medal was won by Miss Eva Gray. Subject, The Result of Treating. The music was excellent throughout.

An Institute was held at Newcastle, June 1 and 2, with Miss Mary Hadley as Leader. The first session was taken up mostly with parliamentary rules. The L. T. L. was highly recommended for the young; also, Mothers' meetings. Some good thoughts were given as to some of the hindering causes of the Local unions. But with all the hindering things existing as they do, we see a rift in the cloud. Have patience, sisters, and a great deal of love. After the appointment of committees, Miss Hadley spoke very encouragingly of work in organization. Surely her work is great and will live after her. We were encouraged to trust God and be in condition for God to trust us. Financial plans were discussed; give according as God has favored us. On Monday night a grand Gold Medal contest was held, conducted by Mrs. Balch. There were four speakers, each doing well. The Medal was given to Hazlep Clark, of Indianapolis. Tuesday morning the Institute convened at 10 a. m. Though very rainy, great interest was manifested. Round table department was talked of; a great many good points were brought out. Scientific Temperance was spoken of, also Contest work, and State and National plans were emphasized by Miss Hadley. Let us build up the Unions we have rather than organize new ones. Study Leaflet carefully. A good paper was read by Miss Florence Macy—A Call to Young Women. We will succeed because it is promised. Mary Brown read a good paper; subject: Anti-Cigarette Law. In the afternoon I. S. Dungan spoke of the abolition of the drink evil and tobacco use by the church. Rev. J. C. Wier, of the New Castle schools, said the reason we accomplish so little is because we are so cowardly. Men of worth act. Teachers have great opportunities. Help the children to right living and they will as naturally turn to the right as the flowers to the sun. Love children unto good. Ora Bell Shafer on Church Societies. Right is right; we are not our own. All felt greatly helped and inspired to move on in the work, and that God is pleased.

Lake County Institute was held at Lowell, June 5, 6. Mrs. Pearce, of Terre Haute, leader. A business session was held in the morning of the first day, after which Mrs. Pearce gave an instructive talk on Institute Work. After the noon day prayer, all repaired to the parsonage, where a substantial lunch was provided, the Y. members acting as Hostess. In the p. m. the following appointments were made: Mrs. Mary Clark, Secretary; Committee on Membership, Mrs. Rathfon and Mrs. Shortridge of Hammond, Mrs. Smith and Mrs. M. L. Wood of Lowell, Mrs. E. C. Harrison, Press Reporter, Mrs. Jennie Dickenson for the Union Signal. Mrs. Mudge, of Hammond, gave a talk on God's Plan of Finance, followed by an enthusiastic discussion. Mrs. S. G. Wood (President of the Crown Point Union) read an excellent paper on Literature.

In the evening Miss Ollie Bates gave an appropriate recitation on What Has the W. C. T. U. Done? followed by a lecture, which was highly appreciated by all. On the second day morning a short business session was held, Mrs. Coffin of Crown Point, acting as secretary, as Miss Palmer has been out of the county. For some time it was thought by some that we should elect a new County President, but after some discussion it was thought best to continue Miss Palmer to the close of the year in the hope of having her with us in the fall Convention, which was decided to be held at Crown Point. Mrs. Merrill, of Crown Point, was elected to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Fuller, County Treasurer. After some encouraging talk by Mrs. Pearce and others, we again adjourned to the parsonage, where we found the faithful Y's still ready to serve. The afternoon was taken up by the Evangelistic Symposium Topic: What Shall be the Next Step in the Abolition of the Drink Traffic and the Tobacco Habit? From the Young People's Societies papers were read by the Misses Lerrine Ault and Estella Bates. Lulu Spalding read a paper on The Attitude of Business Men. Mrs. E. C. Harrison gave a short talk on the Press, followed by Mrs. Mudge, Dr. I. E. Davis on The Medical Profession, the M. E. Minister (E. D. Smith) on The Reform Organizations and Mrs. Ada Lynch on Exalted Citizenship.

We had an enthusiastic and helpful Institute from start to finish and all think Mrs. Pearce is the right woman in the right place. All who failed to hear our genial and proficient Leader missed a real treat.

We had with us from Hammond Mrs. Mudge, Rathson, and Shortridge, from Crown Point Mrs. S. G. Wood, Merrill, Crowell, Hilburn, Coffin, Pearce, DeCamp, and Lane, from Hebron Mrs. Rice and Mrs. S. E. Davis.

Randolph County Institute was held at Modoc, May 28 and 29. Our leader, Miss Mary Hadley, was present and fully equipped for the work. The first session opened with a good attendance and much interest and enthusiasm, which increased to the close. The three Unions were well represented, and a large number of Wayne County White Ribboners were in attendance, some of whom were Hannah Stanley, County President; Miss Emma Lamb, returned missionary from India; Charles and Aseneth Osborne, Hannah Taylor and Mrs. Wright. Miss Hadley delivered an address the first evening to an audience which filled the largest church even to standing room, while all listened with appreciation to her excellent methods in presenting the Effects of Alcoholic and Nicotine Poisons upon the Human System, through the use of charts illustrating various phases of havoc manifest in the stomach. The children took an important part, giving ready and correct answers, which shows that some training on this line is being done in the public schools. The young men, especially, gave their undivided attention. During all spare moments Miss Hadley worked sweetly and vigorously among young men and women for a Y. branch. Her efforts were crowned with success, and as a memorial of her services she leaves a Mary Hadley Y. of 35 members. The Symposium was, as the word indicates, a merry feast: Excellent talks and papers were presented. The conclusion of the whole matter was, that there is but one way to abolish the drink traffic, and that is to meet the question squarely at the ballot box. A Matrons' contest was held the second evening, in which some of the ladies of the Local Union took part. Mrs. Behringer won the medal. The report of the Committee on Resolutions was unanimously adopted, expressive of much appreciation for the carefully prepared program and for the local management, which developed into a strong presentation and discussion of the topics to be considered in Indiana this year; also resolved that we most heartily commend our State plan for the W. C. T. U. Institutes, and recommend them for their enthusiasm and educational value. We feel and believe that this has been the best Institute of the County, and God speed and bless our beloved Leader, Mary Hadley. She won our hearts through her simplicity and purity of character while bringing sunshine to our hearts and homes.

Grant County Institute was held at Friends' Church, South Marion, June 2 and 3. State President, Mrs. E. P. Wilson; Alice Palmer, Institute Leader; County President, Mrs. Shugart; Mary Balch, Visiting Delegate, and M. O. Gibson, occupied the platform. Do you wonder at Grant County's success? Miss Palmer's opening words, the keynote of the convention, Second Timothy, first chapter. We expect great things of you, but please stir up the gift that is in thee, for there are many more things to be accomplished yet.

"God's Plan of Finance" was ably handled by Millicent Haisley, of Fairmount. Our periodicals all received special attention, Miss Palmer speaking for the Union Signal and MESSAGE; Mrs. Gibson for the School Physiology Journal; Mrs. Woodard for the Young Crusader; and Carrie Mendenhall for The American Mother. The Problem of the Nation, the subject of Miss Palmer's lecture the first evening, was exceedingly fine, she presenting her thoughts very forcibly. Ten-minute papers were read by Superintendents of the departments of Non-Alcoholic Medication, Law and Statistics, and Sabbath Observance. Discussion by leaders and State President, with Mrs. Balch to do all the clinching. Duties of an Honorary was presented by B. L. Shugart. My pen trails idly in my hand when I undertake to tell the merits of this paper; but one thing he said was, "It is the duty of an honorary to pay his dollar, be disfranchised and keep sweet." Expediencies of an L. T. L. was presented very forcibly by M. O. Gibson. She said Grant County has 14 Unions and that Grant County should have 14 Loyal Legions. State finance, Frances E. Willard Memorial Fund, Organization, the Study of Books and Periodicals, were presented by the Leader, with Mrs. Balch's help. The symposium was exceedingly fine—What Shall be the Next Step in the Abolition of the Drink Traffic and Tobacco Habit? Ten-minute talks on these topics were presented for the churches. Rev. Shannon, U. B. Church, Marion; Schools, Prof. Tyler, Fairmount Academy; Young People's Societies, Margaret Slifer, President of the Y. W. C. A., Marion, Normal College; Sunday Schools, Mr. McVickers, Superintendent of South Marion Friends' Sunday School; Medical, Dr. Voton-Marion. To write of these papers would require columns of the MESSAGE. I only wish you all might have heard them.

This Institute excelled all of the past. Our Leader, Miss Palmer, is a sweet and pleasant woman and we enjoyed her presence with us, and hope that she may again pass this way. We all love Mrs. Balch and were glad to see her enter our open door. Please come again, Mrs. Balch. Our latch string is out at all times. The contest was a decided success. Door fees, $35; new members received, four, and possibly more. As our County President often expresses herself, this was a high day in Zion.

Wabash County Institute was held in Memorial Hall in Wabash, June 11 and 12, with Miss Alice Ruth Palmer as leader. Mrs. Mary Unger, County President, presided.

An unusual interest was taken in the work and the Institute was voted one of the most interesting ever held in the County. A business session was held in the morning of the first day and in the afternoon the regular program was taken up.

Miss Palmer formally opened the Institute and gave as a watch word, the seventh verse of the first chapter of II. Timothy. Mrs. Wheeler, a blind lady of Huntington, sang a selection entitled, That Earthen Vessel. A paper was read by Mrs. Ama Jones entitled, God's Plan of Finance; the subject was ably handled. Rev. Little, of the Presbyterian Church, being present was introduced to the Institute and spoke a few words, heartily endorsing Mrs. Jones' plan as outlined, and voicing his belief that in God's Plan of Finance, the church would be strengthened. A talk on Literature and Periodicals was then given by the leader, Miss Palmer.

In the evening Miss Palmer gave a lecture in the First M. E. Church. Subject, The Problem of the Nations and What I Saw in South Africa.

SECOND DAY—MORNING SESSION.

Word was received of the death of our beloved sister Crabbs, and Mrs. Murphy, under whose charge the devotional was to be, held it in the form of a memorial and read the 46th and 146th Psalms, followed by prayer.

Round table on Department work. Ten minutes drill and discussion by Superintendent. Miss Holloway then took up the subject of Juvenile Work and Anti-Narcotics, and showed the harmful effect of tobacco on the system. Miss Palmer gave a talk on State and National Plans; illustrating that plans must be made and followed to achieve the best results. Music, Save the Boys, by Mrs. L. A. Dawes. Session closed with prayer.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Devotional by Mrs. Unger, County President. What Shall be the Next Step in the Abolishing of the Drink Traffic and the Tobacco Habit?—By the church, Rev. Kemper, First M. E. Church; Business Men, Rev. Moorman of the Friends Church; Medical Profession, Dr. Jordan; Women, Mrs. Riser, of North Manchester; How to Stand by What is Exalted in Citizenship, Rev. Rilling of Evangelical Church; A Call to Young Women, Miss Palmer.

The Committee on Resolutions then read a resolution of sympathy to the family of our departed sister Crabbs; also of thanks to all friends who have entertained and assisted us in making this meeting a success. Session closed by consecration prayer and benediction.

A gold medal contest was held in the evening. Six young ladies contesting. Miss Lulu Deal being the fortunate winner of the prize.

MRS. EDNA KERR.

Mrs. M. A. Tompkins writes: I suppose our County Secretary of Institute has sent you a report for the MESSAGE of Elkhart County Institute, held at Wakarusa. It was fine and netted $6.50 over all expenses. I went from there to Leesburg on Saturday last, lectured Saturday evening, preached Sunday morning, lectured Sunday evening and organized a W. C. T. U. which promises to grow and increase because the members are progressive women and full of enthusiasm. President, Miss Mollie Armstrong; Secretary, Mrs. Jennie Anderson; Treasurer, Mrs. Snyder. The Union is to meet to-morrow evening, pay their dues, and decide what departments they will take up. I urged them to begin work right away, and when I pinned the White Ribbon on them I exhorted them not to put it on only in a determination not to leave it off until the liquor traffic was banished or they should take their flight to the Celestial Country.

Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley says: Union County is neither dead nor sleeping. Our Institute at College Corner on the 22d and 23d ult. was a decided success. The Contest met expenses and we organized an L. T. L. with 45 members, and got six honorary members with as many dollars to buy supplies for the Legion, and our women all feel much encouraged. Miss Hadley stayed over Sabbath with us, and the Union service on Sabbath eve was crowded. All praised the lecture and want Miss Hadley to call again. Decoration Day I went to Brookville as the guest of the G. A. R. of that city for the Decoration Day address. I am glad to find the old veterans everywhere falling into line for the New Emancipation of the rum shackled slaves of America. June 1—delivered the Memorial Address to a great mass meeting at Abington. I am now in Marion County for three services, at West Newton, Center and Fairfield. Monday I go to Mooresville; Tuesday, Martinsville; Wednesday, Danville and Hadley; Thursday, Amo; Friday, Plainfield; Saturday, Liberty; Sunday, Blooming Grove. On the 22d will be in South Bend. If you have any special work in that section that you would like to have me do, I will be glad to know it. Now for the work in my own County, and our great Annual Temperance Rally and Union County Oratorical Contest will take most of my time after June up to the State Convention. God bless the MESSAGE and the busy hands that fill its pages and carry it to Temperance homes.

FIELD NOTES.

Mrs. Stahl, State Superintendent of Mothers' Meetings, addressed a mothers' meeting at Gas City recently. Her plea for new members was the means of adding several new names to our list, among them the M. E. minister's wife. Mrs. Cammack-Gibson gave a parliamentary drill at one of our meetings, in which we gained a new member and much information.

Deer Creek Union always has her hand out for new members. Distance or locality is not considered. A late acquisition is a promising young woman from a neighborhood seven miles away. She brings into the Union a good body, a cultivated voice and a consecrated heart. She is the only White Ribboner in that section. The Union appointed her a Contest Superintendent and recently she held a very successful contest. Her class is strong, entirely new and made up of young men and women from her own community.

Brazil—A Mothers' Meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Dora Keith Tuesday afternoon, June 17. There were a large number of members and their guests present. An excellent paper was read by Mrs. Harger, on the educational influence of books, pictures, flowers and music, which was ably discussed by Mrs. Zellar, Mrs. Ranney and Mrs. Schultz. Piano selections were given by Misses Bulah Risher and Theo. Ranney, a vocal duet by Mrs. Stunkard and Mrs. D. Army, and a vocal solo by Mrs. Nussel, all of which were highly appreciated. Refreshments were served by the committee in charge and a pleasant social time was engaged in. The hospital entertainment by the hostess, together with the enthusiastic co-operation of the members, made the meeting a memorable and interesting event.

LaPorte Union felt very much elated and greatly honored by having Mrs. Lillian Stevens and Miss Anna Gorden, the highest officers of the National W. C. T. U., with them on May 25. June 5 they held a very interesting meeting, Rev. H. N. Harmon, the Superintendent of Narcotics, having charge. The topics were: The Uncleanliness of the Tobacco Habit, Mrs. Malinda Ridgway; The Enslaving Power of Tobacco, Mrs. Seth Pease; The Cigarette the Most Harmful Form of Tobacco, Mrs. M. F. Fortis. On June 6 the ladies, 14 in number, went to Kingsbury to aid and encourage the Rose Pearce Union, of that place, which was organized during the May Institute. Its members are much interested and very willing to work. Dear Sisters, let us not forget them in our prayers.

Grant County—Following the previously arranged plans of Grant County President of the W. C. T. U., Mrs. S. M. Stahl, State Superintendent of Mothers' Meetings has just completed a successful visit to that county. She visited eleven Unions. As a result of her labor she gained for the county thirty-eight new members. Her meetings were spiritual blessings and by her earnest lectures she awakened in many mothers a keener perception of their great responsibility in correctly training their children.

Reports of L. T. L. Contests held during last year: Bartholomew County, 3 silver; DuBois, 3 silver; Clinton, 4 silver; Benton, 1 silver; Franklin, 3 silver; Grant, 6 silver; Carroll, 1 silver; Huntington, 1 silver; Howard, 3 silver; Hendricks, 2 silver; Knox, 2 silver and 2 gold; Marion, 5 silver; Morgan, 1 silver; Monroe, 1 silver; Marshall, 3 silver; Miami, 1 silver; Parke, 2 silver; Randolph, 1 silver; St. Joseph, 2 silver; Steuben, 4 silver; Vigo, 6 silver; Whitely, 3 silver—making a total of L. T. L. 51 Silver Medal Contests held in the State of Indiana and 2 small Gold Medal L. T. L. contests.

MARION COUNTY SUPERINTENDENTS' MEETING.

Marion County has thirty-three Department Superintendents who are organized into a Department Board, which corresponds with the State Board of Superintendents. The officers are: Mrs. Mary Balch, President; Mrs. Quincy Lee Morrow, Secretary; Mrs. Ida Copper, Treasurer.

On June 17 this Board held an all day meeting in the Sixth Christian Church. The Board of officers and seventeen County Superintendents were present, together with a number of White Ribboners and visitors.

The program was on the order of a class recitation. Questions were propounded by the leader, Mrs. Balch, and answered by the Superintendents.

The Marion Contest, held in the evening, was thoroughly enjoyable. One who has been long in the work said at the close of the contest: "I shall be a more enthusiastic worker for temperance from this night on." The gold medal was awarded to Mrs. Quincy Lee Morrow.

At the close of the contest Mrs. Mary Balch presented Miss Mamie White a diploma, for having completed the Contest Course. Miss White is the young lady who won the diamond medal at the State Prohibition Convention Contest. Miss White responded in a pleasing speech. Rev. White then spoke of the time, years ago, when he first saw and heard Mary E. Balch, when her cheeks were rosy and her voice was strong, when the daughter who had just received the diploma from her hands was a tiny tot. He told of the impression her earnest words had made upon him, and paid a beautiful tribute to her spirit of self sacrifice and unselfish devotion to the temperance cause. Appreciative hearts responded Amen, and all joined in singing Blest Be the Tie That Binds.

MUSICAL CONTESTS.

Furnish the music for the Oratorical Contest. They add very much to the attendance. The sentiment of the song, as well as the sentiment of the recitation, educates—two forces, music and oratory combined, make a double power—try it Unions, I am giving you my experience with, and my endorsement of them. I prefer vocal to instrumental contests; both are allowable.

Island Park Chautauqua begins July 23 and closes August 14. August 15 is our W. C. T. U. program day. I shall have charge of the W. C. T. U. Cottage and be present during the whole time. I have resigned the State Superintendency, but as President of the Island Park Chautauqua Union I will be there this year and hope we can do the best work ever done there for our cause. Our W. C. T. U. sisters can have the conveniences offered by our W. C. T. U. Cottage for $5.00 for the full time, three weeks, or one week for $2.00. No County except Steuben has made any offer of carrying out last year's plan, hence that will be dropped and those who go will pay the above prices. The Cottage will furnish place for lodging, the lodgers furnishing their own blanket and pillow—they can get their own breakfast and supper—using dining room, gas stove, ice chest, etc., but providing their own dishes, spoons, napkins, towels, etc. Dinner will be taken at the hotel just across the street. Correspond with the President, 1514 Vernon Ave., Louisville, Ky. Do not wait to make your arrangements or the Cottage may be full. Quincy Lee Morrow, Indianapolis, makes the afternoon address and you can urge any one of your friends to hear him—there is no discount on his service in our cause. And thus saith the Lord, makes strong and convincing his every argument. He has a good voice and a strong delivery. The Reading and the Star Contest on the morning program will be great attractions. Rates, one and one-third fare over all roads.

IN MEMORIAM.

MRS. ELIZABETH HAYS THOMPSON, a beloved sister and charter member of the Gas City Union, passed to her reward at the age of 57 years. She was one of the faithful few to help keep a small weak Union alive, until it became established. We so sadly miss her kindly presence. Her beautiful christian life was an example to all who knew her. The Union had resolutions of sympathy printed in the local paper, also a bouquet of flowers with white ribbon and scripture text placed on her grave decoration day.

THE MESSAGE.

"Not by Might nor by Power, but by My Spirit."

VOL. VII. No. 8.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., AUGUST, 1902.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Indiana will meet in convention in the city of Huntington, October 3 to 7, inclusive, 1902, in the M. E. Church, corner of Market and Guilford streets.

EUNICE P. WILSON,
President.

The sixth biennial convention of the World's W. C. T. U. will meet in Geneva, Switzerland, June, 1903.

The twenty-ninth annual convention of the National W. C. T. U. will meet in Portland, Maine, October 17-22, 1902.

DEAR SISTERS AND CO-WORKERS—Our State paper is deficient in space, not in good material to give to its readers, and for that reason I feel satisfied to now and then give the room my letter would take to some dear worker to tell us how she won that victory, or to a superintendent to report a bit of good work done in her department.

There is much yet to be done in this last quarter of the year's work if we come to our convention feeling that our plans have all been worked out. If we are faithful to our trust, we will gather together feeling our faith in God strengthened and a new determination to give our best to the W. C. T. U., that our country may become a safe place for our children.

The Trustees for Hadley Industrial School for Girls have been earnest and energetic in their efforts to keep the school at its best, and I would especially urge delinquent Unions to do their duty for our school, so that your own hearts, as well as ours, will be made glad. I also lovingly ask each Union in the State to comply with the request of the Central Committee to observe the day of prayer and thanksgiving, as dictated in this MESSAGE. If any Union finds it impossible to hold the service on the day thus set apart, then do so as nearly as convenient. Dear hearts, let us come together with songs of praise on our lips, while we give our offerings as unto the Lord. It may be in remembrance of some great blessing that has come to us or our dear ones; and let no one withhold her mite because she cannot give as much as her friends can afford to give. The Savior took notice of the widow's gift, as well as of the possessions of the rich young ruler. I feel sure, if every White Ribboner will give of her means and ask her friends who believe in our organization for a donation, our Treasurer would be able to close her books at the end of the year with a very light heart and have a balance left in the treasury with which to start our superintendents in their work the coming year. Will you, dear co-worker, be one of the helpers?
EUNICE P. WILSON.

SUGGESTIONS FOR FREE-WILL OFFERING MEETING, AUGUST 28, 1902.

1. Have a public meeting, well advertised by pulpit and press, and extend a cordial invitation to all.
2. Instruct your Corresponding Secretary to take the list of members and send to each one (by mail, if necessary) two or three envelopes for herself and friends. Let every member solicit at least two friends for contributions, either large or small, for our cause. More envelopes will be sent your Union if needed. Envelopes sent into neighboring towns or communities where there are no Unions may be good seed-sowing.
3. If you have in connection with your Union a Loyal Temperance Legion, invite the members to attend the meeting and give them envelopes, that they may have a part in the free-will offering.
4. Place a basket, decorated with white ribbon, in charge of some one at each entrance to the church to receive the envelopes as the audience comes in.
5. At a specified time during the meeting open the envelopes and read the accompanying sentiments or texts and announce the results.
6. After the envelopes have been opened, let some one recite a good collection speech and take a basket collection, as some of the audience may not have envelopes.
7. Give the program suggested by the State Central Committee, or have a lecture or address by a State or National worker. Ask the members of the L. T. L. or other young people to assist in singing, taking an offering or other exercises.
8. Specially invite the pastors and other Christian workers, but let the meeting be in the hands of the W. C. T. U.
9. Endeavor to secure new regular and honorary members at the meeting.
10. After the meeting the Local Treasurer will divide the proceeds, sending one-half the offering (plus 25 cents for printing expenses) to the State Treasurer, Mrs. Amanda T. Whitson, 3335 N. Meridian street, Indianapolis, retaining the remainder in the local treasury for home use. The sum given by each Union will be published. If more envelopes are needed, please send to Mrs. Amanda T. Whitson, State Treasurer, for more. The following is a suggestive program:

- 10:00 A. M. Bible reading or prayer.
- 10:30 A. M. Season of prayer for personal consecration and holiness in the temperance work.
- 11:00 A. M. Testimony and discussion on the spiritual needs of the Union.
- Noontide prayer.
- 2:00 P. M. Singing and devotions.
- 2:15 P. M. Address—Systematic and Proportionate Giving—Discussion.
- 3:15 P. M. Exercises in connection with the opening of the envelopes. Collection speech, followed by a collection.
- 4:00 P. M. Announcement of thank-offering Prayer.
- 4:30 P. M. Adjournment.

Please give careful consideration to this letter and its suggestions at the next regular or specially called meeting of your Union:

DEAR CO-WORKERS—At the time of our last State Executive meeting the question of finance and the need of more funds for State work was discussed at some length. It was decided by a full vote to adopt the free-will offering plan, preliminaries being left with the State Central Committee, who decided to set apart August 28 as a day of prayer and thank-offering. Envelopes will be sent you, with directions for their use and suggestions for the public meeting which, we trust, will be held by every Union in the State on the date designated, or as near it as possible. In this way the attention of the public will be awakened to the object and methods of our organization and thus become interested in our great work.

The demand upon all the treasuries increases with our growth and unless replenished in some way our work must be seriously crippled. We appeal to each Union to prayerfully consider this plan of widening our influence. The gifts secured by the envelopes systematically and energetically circulated among friends outside the Union, combined with the free-will offerings of our members and Loyal Legion companies, will give us a grand total in money, which, mixed with prayer and good works, will hasten the coming of His kingdom.

Please give special attention to the accompanying suggestions for the public meeting and for the distribution of envelopes as specified.

Yours in behalf of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Indiana,
EUNICE WILSON,
President.
MARY HADLEY,
Vice-President.
HATTIE BRAND,
Corresponding Secretary.
MATTIE GIBSON,
Recording Secretary.
AMANDA T. WHITSON,
Treasurer.

Y. W. C. T. U.

One of the questions asked by our National Secretary, Mrs. Clara Parrish Wright, for the annual report, is this: How many societies observed the Willard memorial and Mrs. Barnes' birthday? Now I will be obliged to say one, the Anderson Y.; the free will offering 50. If any did observe either one please report to me at once.

The engravers and publishers say that the finest almanac we have had will be the one this year, and will be in my hands at the State Convention for sale. Order now from me if you want any extras. The sale of these go toward helping send out a new missionary for the W. C. T. U. work, Miss Kara Smart. She needs our gold and our prayers.

Another word about the dues. Please see that your Y. W. C. T. U. Treasurer calls upon each one enrolled on the Secretary's book. Call soon, so it will give them a chance to lay the dues aside, as our year closes September 15. A little over two months to lay aside $1.00. Suppose we only have five weeks at 20 cts. per week and we will be ready. Girls, say I can and I will pay my dues and be recognized in the local, the county, the state, the national and world's W. C. T. U. work. Be preparing to send your delegate to the State W. C. T. U. Convention at Huntington, in October. We need and want the girls there to catch the enthusiasm and get new plans and ideas.

The Diamond Medal Contest and Y. night, will be held on Saturday evening at Huntington and it ought to prove to be young people's night for the societies in the city.

Girls, sell papers, bake or do some kind of work the second week in August, to earn your dues. Let us all try it together.

Goshen Y. gives up one of their dear workers, Miss Daisy Rohr, to the far off mission field of Corea. May the blessing of God attend her and husband, the Rev. Kerns, whom she marries this month in their far away home.

Do you attend and try to keep your meetings up during the heated term? Plan some out of door meetings, a lawn social and as much out door work as possible.

Remember and keep account of all the flowers you give away and make out State Flower Superintendent's heart rejoice. Study God's word carefully and pray much for the work and workers and let us bring Indiana's Y. membership up. CLARA M. SEARS.

LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION.

While no edict has ever been issued making L. T. L. dues binding, yet the recommendation for the payment of such dues, sent out from our State and National W. C. T. U. conventions, should be construed as amounting to an obligation. Even had no such recommendation been passed, we could hardly fail to recognize the fact that the W. C. T. U., which inaugurated and has sustained through all the years of its own existence this L. T. L. branch, has a right to expect that auxiliary dues will be brought as a willing offering to the State and National W. C. T. U. treasury. When we consider that the amount asked is only ten cents per member annually and that it requires only one thousand members, each paying this very small sum, to entitle a State to an L. T. L. delegate of its own to the National convention, it would seem that Indiana should be thus represented; and remember any local or county whose ten cent dues amount to $10 shall be entitled to elect its own delegate (who shall be a W. C. T. U. member and an active L. T. L. worker) to the State convention. We find some local superintendents afraid to ask dues, lest they lose members, but we believe this is a needless fear, since it is a well-known fact that people have always an especial interest in an object in which they have invested something. If this matter is skillfully managed, the dues may be a means of lending dignity to the Legion in the estimation of the boys and girls and of increasing their interest. We will have a State Honor Roll this year at our State convention containing the names of all Legions who pay dues on all pledged members, and I know you will all want to see it and have your Legion entered on it (see circular letter for explanation). Remember to send all ten-cent dues to our State W. C. T. U. Treasurer, Mrs. Amanda T. Whitson, 3335 N. Meridian street, Indianapolis, and all the Senior 25 cent dues to Felix McWhirter, 2312 College avenue, Indianapolis, as soon as the year closes, which is September 15. I have received reports from just a few Legions. Let us not fail to report all work done during the year at the close of this quarter. Give a definite answer to all questions on the report blanks and write me of anything done outside of the questions, or new plans tried by your Legions; it may help some one else. Where you have a Senior organization, let your Secretary of the Legion send a report also to Miss Katharine Elizabeth Straw, 328 Haggard street, LaFayette.

Remember the awards and let each Legion try for one or more of these banners—the Organization banner for the county organizing the largest number of Legions; the Willard Gordon banner for the greatest amount of L. T. L. dues, and the new Senior banner for the largest graduates' class.

Those having foundation blocks for the autograph quilt will please get them completed by our State convention. Let us try and finish the quilt this year.

At the first of the year our dear Mrs. Brand sent me the names of each local W. C. T. U. President. I sent each one a circular letter and Plan of Work. I heard from quite a few, but some counties I have not heard from. Now, I am going to ask through the MESSAGE for each County L. T. L. Secretary to please send me her name and address, as well as of all local secretaries in her county.

The National prize flag will go to the State paying the largest percentage of National dues in proportion to its pledged membership, provided not less than $20 is paid. Now, I do not say we can get this prize flag, but let us strive to pay the $50 National dues and have our delegate to the National convention.

IDA M. MIX,
State Secretary, L. T. L.

D. H. McAbee, State Factory Inspector, is sending out a circular letter to about forty of the large foundries, machine shops and rolling-mills of the State, suggesting that they provide bath-rooms for their employees. He comments on the excellent results of an experiment of the kind in Michigan City. He says that the effect of a bath after the hot, dirty work of an engine-room or foundry, would reduce the desire on the part of the men for a stimulant.—Indianapolis News.

Character and choice go hand in hand. Where there is preference for good, there the thing done reacts upon the doer, fashions itself into a readiness, becomes a joy and a renovation of the whole nature. A grumbling, reluctant virtue has no formative effect.—B. H. Alford.

WILL SCIENTIFIC TEMPERANCE BE TAUGHT IN YOUR SCHOOLS NEXT YEAR? IF SO, HOW?

Put temperance leaflets in your letters and keep several on the shelf for friends. Read the Union Signal, the Phalanx and the New Voice, then tell somebody something you have read. It will be news to them.

Send temperance papers to your ministers and Sunday School Superintendents. Few plans for riding this country of saloons do they ever find in their church papers. Definite plans, with a right purpose, will bring decision and action.

Attend the County Teachers' Institute and carefully listen to the scientific temperance teaching. In every county the very best talent should be secured to present this subject before the teachers. Our temperance people should assist in the selection of these instructors by wisely suggesting proper persons.

At the Teachers' Institute practical temperance and anti-tobacco literature should be distributed (with tact).

If you are an officer in the Local or County Union be faithful, do promptly and well your part.

The great need of our organization is women of conviction, who are willing to do the sowing and leave the harvest for the Lord to care for.

How can any woman who is a White Ribboner allow herself to be called County President or Local President or any other officer and not work hard to discharge the duties of the office? If she does not desire to loyally serve this great cause, the just thing for her to do is to resign. She can not excuse herself by saying some of the other officers did not do their work. There is no excuse for disloyalty and it is certainly disloyal to accept of an office by the ballots of the membership and then not strive to perform all of the duties of that office—keeping to the constitution in spirit and letter. To hold an office on public occasion and in name, without honestly following duty, can not bring success. Honest efforts without tangible results are always appreciated and are known and understood.

Why do you belong to the W. C. T. U.? If you joined because you wanted to lend your influence and efforts toward the everlasting overthrow of king alcohol, and you are honest with yourself and with God, you are doing something that counts. It may be little in your estimation, but if it is all that you can do, then it is great. If you enlisted from a deep sense of your obligation to God and to humanity, you are in this warfare until victory comes. There will be no discharges except those brought by the death angel. If you wear the White Ribbon under that condition, your influence will count for much.

Life is short at best and each day's record is made. The hours are laden with opportunities. Are you using them against king alcohol and for God and Home and Native Land?

HADLEY SCHOOL.

The Board of Control for the Hadley School most kindly ask the Unions which endorse the girls sent to the School, to send none who are feeble-minded or vicious. Under the conditions of the deed, girls must be pure and worthy and of sound mind. This home is in no sense a Reformatory, but a Christian home, free from prison rules.

L. HOBART.

FRANCHISE.

Federated Australia has passed the adult suffrage bill, and at the next federal election all the women in Australia will be able to vote for both houses of the Federal Parliament. This gives 800,000 women the privilege to vote on the same terms as men. The women of New Zealand have had the elective franchise for nine years and good has come out of it in many ways. With the women of the four States—Wyoming, Colorado, Utah and Idaho—there are at the present time 1,500,000 women who may cast the ballot on the same terms as men.

General Reale, of Colorado, says: "With us, women exert a great influence on public affairs. They do this everywhere, but in our state they do it openly and legally." General Hale also said, "Every argument against woman's suffrage would, if impartially applied, disfranchise certain classes of men who now exercise the privilege." "So far as I have been able to judge by observation of elections and analysis of returns, more women vote in the better districts than in the slums; the average result has therefore been beneficial." Differences of political opinion do not lead to family quarrels nor divorces.

Massachusetts has just given mothers equal rights with fathers as to the care and disposition of children. This makes twelve states of our Union in which mothers have been granted this power. In all the other states the father has the sole control. From study we find that the majority of intelligent workmen are for women's suffrage; the ignorant workman is against it.

What is most needed to educate by agitation? Will not the Indiana women take up this work in earnest? Circulate the enrollment petitions for women's ballot and come up to the State Convention with laurels won and receive the two banners that have been offered by your State Superintendent of Franchise to the county securing the most names on the petitions over 500, a banner. To the individual securing the most names over 500, a banner. Send in your reports by September 15.

Meeting at Mrs. Motts, River avenue, Elkhart, was a very enjoyable affair. A cool breeze swept through the parlors where the ladies were seated. We learned from articles read and from discussions that at this present time, 1902, there are in the world one and a quarter million women that enjoy the elective franchise.

The most important victory that the equal right movement has won is the granting of National Suffrage to the 800,000 women of Federated Australia. For nine years the women of New Zealand have had full suffrage, and it is said to work well. Wyoming women have had the elective franchise over 33 years, with the finest results. Within the last ten years equal suffrage has been secured in Colorado, Utah and Idaho. Many other states have granted to their women municipal and school suffrage.

We believe that the women of America are not inferior to those of Australia in intelligence and patriotism, and we call on American men to emulate the Legislators of Australia in justice and chivalry.

President Roosevelt is an equal suffrage man; he voted for it when he was a member of the New York Legislature. He recommended it when he became Governor of New York. In his message to the Legislature in 1899 he wrote: "I call the attention of the Legislature to the desirability of gradually extending the sphere in which the suffrage can be exercised by women."

The question, who owns the baby, brought out the fact that Massachusetts has just passed a law making mothers equal guardians of their minor children with the fathers. Under the old law the husband had the sole control and disposal of the children. This often works great hardships both to mother and child; notwithstanding, that same old law is now in force in many of our states. We call attention to the fact that whereas fifty years ago married women were subject to all the legal disabilities of minors, these disabilities are gradually being removed, until now it is only in regard to the ballot that a perpetual minority is kept up.

It is owing to the work of the W. C. T. U. and the W. C. A. that our brothers' eyes have been caused to see the injustice of our laws to the wife and mother. We expect to continue agitating and educating.

Fine refreshments were served by our hostess and we considered the hour well spent.

M. A. TOMPKINS,
State Superintendent.

MOTHERS' MEETINGS.

As you all know, we are now on the last quarter for this year. Please remember, all reports must be in so I can make my report and have it in the hands of the Recording Secretary five days before the State convention, so please be very prompt in sending in your reports. There seems to be a little confusion in the ranks with regard to the W. R. C. R., how to dispose of that ten cents. One Superintendent thinks she is to keep six cents and send four cents to some State officer. No, dear, the State officers do not get one bit of that ten cents. It is this way: The Local Superintendent keeps five cents for literature for mothers' meetings and sends five cents to the County Superintendent, who keeps two cents and sends three cents to the State Superintendent. The State Superintendent keeps two cents and sends one cent to the National Superintendent. If you have no County Superintendent, let each Local Superintendent send to me three cents for every child enrolled. I must have the name of every Local Superintendent that has organized W. R. C. R.'s and the number enrolled, with the money, then I will know who will be entitled to the prize that I promised at the first of the year to the woman who enrolled the most children. You remember I also offered a prize to the woman who held the greatest number of mothers' meetings. I will fulfill my part of the contract at the State convention. Please be careful and definite in your reports and write plainly. Sometimes it is quite a puzzle to understand some of your reports. Let us make these last few weeks full of life and energy and tell for the cause of God and our work for humanity. If there is a class of educators who need special preparations for their high and holy duties, it is those who assume the responsibility of parents. It is recognized now by the progressive that pre-natal influences are a most potent factor in a child's education; and since it is within the power of parents to thus intelligently mould the character of their children, duty would seem to demand that they do so. The two things that most powerfully affect humanity for good or ill—heredity and environment—should be made as good as possible. "The entrance of truth bringeth light." Push the battle, dear sisters, for the betterment of humanity.

MRS. S. M. STAHL.

THE TRUTH DEFENDED.

No braver battle was ever fought than is being waged now, in one form or another, by Mrs. Mary E. Hunt, National Superintendent of Scientific Temperance Instruction, for the whole truth against alcoholic drinks and other narcotics to be taught in all public schools of this country. The great prominence given by the press to the pro alcoholic views of Professor O. W. Atwater sometimes obscures the fact that there are many good and wise men in the ranks of science who do not agree with the Atwater position and who, recognizing the deep meaning for the future of Mrs. Hunt's labors, are ready to defend them.

It will be remembered that at the annual meeting of the New York State Science Teachers' Association in Syracuse last December, Professor Atwater delivered a long address on scientific temperance instruction in the public schools, the substance of which was his claim that "the teaching in the schools as to the effect of alcohol upon the human system is not in accord with the latest scientific knowledge." Professor Atwater cited his own experiments, which he claimed were supported by Dr. Rosemann, of Griefswald, Germany, as this latest scientific knowledge with which the endorsed schools of physiologies are not in accord. Mrs. Hunt, who was present, was given ten minutes in which to reply to Professor Atwater's address of more than an hour, and, reading from the very article by Dr. Rosemann which Professor Atwater cited, she showed that Dr. Rosemann, instead of supporting them, said distinctly that the Atwater experiments on the important point in question did not prove what Professor Atwater said they did, and that therefore his often repeated charge against the present temperance teaching in the schools has not the scientific support he claims. A prominent New York school man present said, "That scene led us teachers to wonder if Mrs. Hunt always has in her pocket the scientific documents to meet every emergency."

A significant sequel of that discussion is found in the Journal of the American Medical Association of June 21 in the report of the annual meeting of the American Academy of Medicine at Saratoga, N. Y. It is especially interesting because called out by the question of a layman, one of the state school officials of New York. The Journal of the American Medical Association says:

"Mr. Taylor, of the Board of Regents of New York, said that in a recent discussion the views of Professor Atwater, of Wesleyan University, were diametrically opposed to those of Mrs. Hunt, a leader of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and he desired to know the judgment of the academy."

"Dr. Didama (Dean of the Medical School of Syracuse University) said he had been present at the discussion referred to by Mr. Taylor. The majority of those who favored Professor Atwater's views were teachers who felt that they had already too many studies to teach and did not want to add to them the teaching of temperance and physiology. Professor Atwater's statements had been answered by Mrs. Hunt. Quotations had been made from some of the most prominent authorities from abroad and Professor Atwater had gone away with the opinion of the people against him—except some of the teachers who wanted to teach less and some who themselves wanted to drink."

"Dr. W. S. Hall (Professor of Physiology in Northwestern University Medical School, Chicago) said the whole matter rested on the definition of food. If we define a food as a substance which is oxidized within the body, then there is nothing more to say about it. Because a substance possesses characteristics similar to another substance, it is not justifiable to conclude that it is to be classed with that other substance. It is not until we take into consideration the whole influence of alcohol that we see the many reasons why it should not be classed as a food."

CORA F. STODDARD.

PRESS.

It has indeed been gratifying to me to know that I have had your sympathy and prayers during my continued illness and my heart is full of praises to our God that my life has been spared and that I may still have a small place among His workers.

I have been pleased with the reports which have come to me of the work of the third quarter, but may I not hope for and expect more reports for the fourth and last quarter of the year? Let us try hard to make it the very best quarter of the year. Write of the coming State convention to be held at Huntington; speak of it through the columns of your local and county papers and advertise it well. Then the coming National convention at Portland is of far more than usual interest because of the attractions it promises, both in speakers and in the opportunity to see two of the large eastern cities. A day of sight seeing in Boston and a great rally there are part of the convention arrangements; and with Lady Henry Somerset as the guest of the convention, we all feel that we want to go.

Watch for the notices in the Union Signal and repeat them in your dailies and local and county papers. Much of the success of any convention or gathering depends upon the press notices, so let us see our responsibilities and grasp the opportunities for doing much work during the next few weeks. I hope you will help me in keeping Indiana to the front in press work. Let us do a work of which we need not feel ashamed and which will bring credit to our State. We can do this, dear superintendents, if we work for it unitedly. Will you help?

It has been a source of great regret with me that I have been able to do so little of what I hoped and wanted to do for this department. But our plans are not God's plans sometimes and I trust that the chastening, through affliction, which I have received may be a great blessing to me and that He may use me in some way for the advancement of the cause which binds our hearts together.

LAURA GENEVA CAMMACK.

ANTI-CIGARETTE WORKERS, ATTENTION!

Please remember all chain letters, postal cards, anything and everything that is being done to secure names, unless endorsed by the W. C. T. U. is done for advertising purposes.

If a plan is practical it is always endorsed by the W. C. T. U. Be sure the plan is signed by a worker who is known to at least your State President.

Mrs. Ida B. Cole, 5442 Madison Ave., Chicago, Associate Superintendent and Lecturer for the Department of Anti-Narcotics, will speak entirely upon "Cigarettes." Please write Mrs. Cole for dates and terms.

MRS. E. B. INGALLS.

OUR REVISED CONSTITUTION.

In the July MESSAGE we find the report of the Committee. We call attention to Article IV, Auxiliaries. If the report is accepted as it reads, it will unsettle the payment of the price of the MESSAGE. Now the 10 cts. coming from the State Treasurer, added to this from county and local Union Treasurers, pays for it. If this revised constitution, as it is given to us from the hands of the Committee is accepted, it will necessitate a radical change. We shall be very much unsettled again. Consider the matter in your Local Unions and County Conventions and executive committee meetings and be sure you understand the points when we come to ballots in our State Convention.

MARY E. BALCH.

WHITE RIBBONERS, TAKE NOTICE.

The happiest of all the happy opportunities of spreading the White Ribbon gospel is to be found at the Summer Assemblies. Dear Sisters, I wish to urge all who live near any of the Summer Assemblies to attend and assist in unfurling the white banner of the temperance reform. The gates are thrown open at so many places and White Ribboners receive a more hearty welcome than ever before. The following is a list of those yet to come:

Island Park, Rome City, July 23 to August 15. W. C. T. U. day is August 5. Grand preparations are being made.

Acton Park, W. C. T. U. day July 30. Preparations are being made for a large crowd and basket dinner. Principal speakers—Quincy Lee Morrow, of Indianapolis, and Dr. Homer J. Hall, of Franklin, Ind. Pine Lake, July 31, under the direction of Miss Palmer, of Franklin, Ind.

W. C. T. U. day at Bethany Park, Monday, July 28, has one of the best programs we have noticed, so far. Speakers—Oliver W. Stewart, Prof. Dungan, Dan G. Carter, State Home Masters, Dr. W. H. Boles. Only those who have attended the assemblies know what they miss by not being present.

MRS. MARY EVALYN EVERTSON,
Superintendent of Summer Assemblies.

NICHOLSON LAW IN DANGER—ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE SENDS A LETTER TO VOTERS.

E. G. Saunderson, superintendent of the Indiana Anti-Saloon League, for the State Board of Trustees, has issued an address to voters, in which he says:

"The liquor interests of the State are making a most determined effort to secure the repeal of the Nicholson law by the next Legislature, notwithstanding the fact that the law was passed in response to a general sentiment, receiving a majority vote of both political parties in both House and Senate. Because of the very popularity of the law, shown by the closing of 100 saloons in five weeks following the upholding of the power of attorney by the Supreme Court and the springing up of the remonstrance in a score of towns, the saloonists hasten to try to force candidates for the Legislature into pledges to vote in the matter contrary to the wishes of a majority of their constituents.

"In passing this law the Legislature took a position of neutrality and handed the liquor problem over to the people. It is demanded now that the Legislators become the champions of the saloon and force the traffic upon those who do not wish it; and to avow that those who know enough to vote for them do not know enough to decide whether they want a saloon next to their homes or not. We confidently appeal not only to temperance people, but to all lovers of fair play and majority rule, that this nefarious, un-American plan shall not succeed; that the voters of Indiana stand by their candidates who stand by the rights of the people."

If you really desire to be happy and to make others around you happy, think of others more than self. Canon Kingsley well describes the selfish person who, to our mind, must be of all others most miserable. He says: "Think about yourself; about what you want, what you like, what respect people ought to pay you, what people think of you, and then to you nothing will be pure. You will spoil everything you touch; you will make sin and misery for yourself out of everything which God sends you; you will be as wretched as you choose on earth, or in heaven, either."

The Sterling Union now numbers 129 members, probably the largest in the State. We glean from the W. C. T. U. column in the Democrat: "The reception given to the new members in the beautiful home of Mrs. Sherman was a great success from a White Ribboner's point of view. Refreshments were served and a short program was rendered. Each new member was given a certificate of membership, a copy of our National and State papers and an Annual Leaflet, all rolled together and tied with a white ribbon. Each was also presented with a bow of white ribbon. Choice words of welcome were spoken by our President, and all too soon the hour for home going arrived. We older members who have struggled along for so many years, sometimes barely keeping the organization from going to pieces, feel greatly encouraged and rejoice that a wise, energetic young President has come into the kingdom for such a time as this. It is our exceeding great pleasure to stand by her, help her and do her bidding and thus grow a good leader and a good, intelligent working Union. And in justice to her we want it known that to her energy and enthusiasm belongs the credit of our membership boom."—Colorado Tidings.

A LETTER.

On another page of this issue you will read the call for a special Day of Prayer and Thankoffering for the State work. The day set apart is August 28, and I do earnestly hope that every Union will do its best to carry out the program suggested by the Central Committee. We all have so very much to be grateful to God for that each member will surely feel that they have a thank-offering to offer to our heavenly Father. Shall Christian women who are W. C. T. U. workers and members, wearers of the "bow of ribbon white," which means so much to humanity all over the world, be content to let the cause we love so well languish for the lack of money? From all over our beloved State comes the call for workers and organizers, but very much of the Lord's money which should be used in this work is locked up in the pocketbooks of Christian people.

Dear sisters, did you ever think of the difference between personal salvation and a purse and all salvation? We need both if we are faithful followers and obedient children of the Lord Jesus Christ. Let each local Union begin at once to arrange for the suggested meeting and strive to carry out the program as closely as possible. For those needing help in preparing the address or in the discussion, I would advise that they write to "Layman," 310 Ashland avenue, Chicago, enclosing 25 cents for literature on this subject. Also I would recommend Miss Frances E. Townsley's new leaflet, "How Shall I Give of My Substance?" and Mrs. Esther Tuttle Pritchard's leaflet on "Tithing and Entertainment." Woman's Temperance Publishing Association, The Temple, Chicago. I shall be glad to send you leaflets I have on hand if you will send five or ten cents in stamps, and any of these last named would be good for distribution at the meeting. As texts for Bible readings I would name the following: Prov. 3:9, 10; 2 Chron. 31:5; 2 Cor. 9:7; Deut. 16:17, 18; 2 Cor. 8:12; Lev. 27:30; Mal. 3:8. Let each pray and work that a great blessing may be the result of this day of prayer.

In closing, let me remind you that the close of our convention year is fast approaching. I want to thank all those superintendents who have so faithfully sent me their reports each quarter and to ask them to be on time in September. To those who have not reported, let me say, will you not make an effort to report your work before the year closes, that our department may have a good showing at the State convention?

ROSE PEARCE.

INSTITUTES.

Pulaski County held a very successful Institute in the M. E. Church at Winamac, June 16 and 17, with Mrs. Rose Pearce as leader. The first day in the afternoon, temperance literature was thoroughly discussed. Mrs. Mary Blue, of Star City, read a very interesting paper on the subject. Sabbath Observance was also ably discussed, the Winamac ladies taking an active part. Mrs. S. M. Dunn, of Star City, gave a report of good work done along that line. The second day Mother Trish was with us and led the morning devotional. The department work was taken up. Mrs. Anna Rush, of Francisville, read an excellent paper on Mothers' Meetings, which was helpfully discussed by Mother Trish. Miss Clara Crosson read a very instructive paper on Temperance Work in Sunday Schools, which was thoroughly discussed. Mrs. Ellen S. Potter gave report of work done in all five schools in Van Buren township. Pledge cards signed, and petition to keep temperance lessons in the Inter-Nation series, signed by all schools in the township, and cards and petitions sent to Denver convention. Mrs. Emma Korner, of Star City, read an excellent and convincing paper on Peace and Arbitration, which was thoroughly discussed. Mrs. Wilson, of Francisville, read a paper on Department of Mercy, which was ably discussed by Rose Pearce. Seven little girls from Star City sang Indiana Song. A paper on Non-Alcoholic Medication was read by Mrs. Ellen S. Potter. Mother Trish led the afternoon devotional. Symposium topic—What Shall be the Next Step in the Abolition of the Drink Traffic and Tobacco Habit? was taken up and occupied most of the afternoon. The speakers were Rev. Windbigler, W. R. Lowe, Miss Clara Crosson, Mrs. Rush, Mrs. Pearce and Dr. G. W. Thompson. Mrs. Higgins, of Francisville, recited The Drunkard's Wife. Misses Lucy and Marie Lytle, of Star City, sang beautifully for us. The lecture, first day evening and contest was well attended. The judges gave their decision to Miss Clara Burrows, of Winamac, her recitation being the Nation's Curse. Receipts of offerings and contest more than covered expenses.

Fulton County W. C. T. U. held a two days' Institute at Kewanna, on the 12th and 13th inst. Mrs. Pearce was the efficient leader and the meeting was pleasant and profitable throughout. The lecture on Thursday evening, "Side Lights of the Temperance Question," was especially interesting. The attendance was small on account of the extreme heat and occasional showers, but all who attended felt amply repaid and Mrs. Pearce will always find a warm welcome in Fulton County W. C. T. U. circles.

Pulaski County Institute was held June 16 and 17, at the M. E. Church at Winamac; with Mrs. Rose Pearce as leader and Mother Trish assisting, the Institute could not be anything but interesting. Monday morning was spent in devotional services. Monday afternoon was devoted to organization and the opening numbers of the program. A paper was read on Temperance Literature, by Mary Blue, and a very interesting discussion by the leader, Mrs. Rose Pearce and others. Monday evening Mrs. Pearce gave a lecture on the Side Lights of the Temperance Question. After her discussion names were taken to form a local organization of the W. C. T. U. Tuesday morning Mother Trish led the devotional services, after which the Round-table of department work was taken up. Papers were read on each department and each was so enthusiastically discussed by the leader and others that you would think each one, while being discussed, was the most important on the list. Tuesday afternoon was equally as interesting. The symposium topic, What Shall be the Next Step in the Abolition of the Liquor Traffic and Tobacco Habit? was ably discussed by Rev Windbigler, W. R. Lowe and others. Tuesday evening was silver medal contest. The contestants were Melville Merriwell, Maud Saunders, Julia Frierick, Mildred Manders, Vera Yarnell and Clara Burroughs. Miss Burroughs won the medal. Subject, the Nation's Curse. Much enthusiasm was manifested and much good work accomplished and our faith renewed in the good cause of Temperance.

MARY BLUE,
County Corresponding Secretary.

Coloma Y., organized by Miss Mary Hadley. President, Miss Minnie B. Moore; Secretary, Miss Ethel Cook; Treasurer, Miss Orpha Morris.

Since the close of the third quarter the following Unions have paid dues: Valparaiso, $4.40; Hebron, $1.80; Columbus, $2.00; Hope, 40 cents; Petersburg, 40 cents; Hartsville, $3.60; Jeffersonville, $2.00; Shelbyville, $2.00; Lyons, 40 cents.

LaPorte Union held its annual picnic at the Talmadge cottage, Waverly Beach, July 10, to which all W. C. T. U. members of the county and others were invited. A letter from the Hadley Home was read, stating that the insurance had expired and to renew it each Union was assessed $3. A collection was taken and more than that amount raised. It was decided that the county rent a cottage at the Pine Lake Assembly grounds, to be occupied by the W. C. T. U. and their friends during the last week in July. A cordial invitation was extended to all White Ribboners of the State and others to come and take a few days' outing and help in a good work, as Mrs. Balch said last year, it will do all good.

Montpelier Union took advantage of the offer made by the State and secured ten new members, for which we obtained a speaker. Mrs. Hattie Wright Brand, of Indianapolis, was sent us. Her lecture was full of enthusiasm and was listened to by a large and appreciative audience. Mrs. Stahl, our County President, was with us. Our Union is alive in the good work and we look forward to our county convention this fall, anticipating one of the best meetings we have ever had in our county.

FIELD NOTES.

Indianapolis Frances E. Willard Union held a Gold Medal Contest at Hall Place Church, May 19; there were five contestants. Clara Chrumm won the medal. There was a large attendance, a very interesting program, consisting of music and recitations $10.00 of the proceeds were sent to the Hadley Home.

Mrs. Fargher, President LaPorte County, writes: We had dear Mrs. Pearce with us as leader in our Institute at Kingsbury, where we organized a fine union of young women with young children in all their homes, also a Y. with four members, with the promise of more to come. We had a little contest. We done well, we thought, with the children in the last month of school. The County President and a delegation of members from LaPorte Union go down there soon to help with the first meeting.

Mrs. Eves, of North Vernon, writes: North Vernon Union observed Flower Mission Day. An interesting programme was rendered and bouquets, with text cards attached, were taken to the sick and bereaved of the city. A Grand Gold and Musical Contest in charge of Mrs. Balch was held June 12, which was highly appreciated by the audience. Receipts $11.00.

Auburn W. C. T. U. held an open meeting in the home of our President, Mrs. Lewis, with 27 members present and 30 invited guests. After the usual work short talks were given by Charles Eckheart, Rev. Krider and Rev. Magdeny. After meeting refreshments were served to all.

Through the W. C. T. U. of Upland the Loyal Temperance Legion and Junior Epworth League arranged a highly successful picnic to the Soldiers' Home at Marion, June 24, 1902, in which about one hundred and thirty participated. A general invitation was given to all of the Sunday schools of the town, the object being to give all the little folks an outing. The weather was highly favorable for the occasion. The railroad officials kindly helped us by giving half fare rates and stopping at the Home crossing, both going and coming, for our accommodation. A trip long to be remembered by the little folks. Fares were paid for some who could not otherwise have gone.

A Union was organized at Winamac with fifteen members by Mrs. Ellen S. Potter, County President, June 26, 1902. Mrs. Florence Sowers, President; Mrs. Blanche Smith, Recording and Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. Carrie Griffin, Treasurer. Superintendent of Literature, Mrs. Blanche Smith; Superintendent of Temperance in Sunday Schools, Mrs. Linda Dilt; Flower Mission, Mrs. H. M. Yarnell; Sabbath Observance, Mrs. Edwards; Franchise, Mrs. E. J. Clark.

South Bend Central Union visited the County house and distributed seventy five bouquets, and ten were given to the sick. Colfax Avenue carried seventeen to the jail and four to the sick; Chaplain Park gave thirty-four to a hospital; the East Side thirty to another hospital and the sick; the Y.'s forty to the orphans' home, making a total of 210 bouquets, each with a Scripture text, tied with white ribbon.

Pulaski County—The following officers were elected to fill vacancies in the county organization: Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Myrtle Higgins, Francisville; Treasurer, Mrs. Clara Wilson, Francisville. Also the following Superintendents: Evangelistic, Mrs. Cramer, Francisville; Scientific Temperance, Mrs. Reese, Francisville; Medal Contests, Miss Maud Myers, Francisville; Flower Mission, Miss Mae Blue, Star City; Sabbath Observance, Mrs. S. M. Dunn, Star City; Temperance Literature, Mrs. Mary Blue, Star City; Franchise, Mrs. Jones, Star City; Temperance in Sunday Schools, Mrs. Emma Korner, Star City; Peace and Arbitration, Mrs. Emma Korner, Star City; Press Work, Mrs. Ellen S. Potter, Oak; Narcotics, Mrs. Ellen S. Potter, Oaks

Campbellsburg Union is in a flourishing condition. Fourteen members paid dues the last quarter. We have 32 active members. We had an entertainment in April—the Milkmaids' Convention—which was very amusing. Mr. James Gipe, of Indianapolis, delivered an excellent discourse on temperance, June 27, from which the temperance people were greatly benefited and encouraged to press forward in the good work. We are preparing to hold an L. T. L. contest in the near future for the benefit of the Hadley school.

Fairmount Union very successfully celebrated the 4th of July at the Wesleyan camp ground with an all day meeting. The day was perfect and the place almost ideal for open air meetings. A silver medal contest of young men was held in the forenoon. The medal was awarded to Mr. Dwight Lindley, his selection being Old Soappy. James Gipe delivered the address of the afternoon. We were expecting much of Mr. Gipe and were not one whit disappointed, the address being both logical and eloquent. The State President cheered us with her presence and words of hearty encouragement. Dinner was served on the grounds, also refreshments were on sale. The receipts were good, there being several dollars for the treasury after all expenses were paid.

W. C. T. U. at Lake Maxinkuckee—As a result of W. C. T. U. day at the Maxinkuckee assembly, it has been decided to build a W. C. T. U. cottage, the construction of which will begin without delay. Quincy Lee Morrow, of Indianapolis, and W. E. Allan, of Flora, have the matter in charge. Quincy Lee Morrow and Oliver H. Stewart were the speakers. Much interest was manifested.

L. T. Legions organized this year: James-town, Boone County, Mrs. Mary Young, Secretary; Upland, Grant County, Mrs. Edella Hower, Secretary; Andrews, Huntington County, Mrs. Dr. Coffey, Secretary; Terre Haute, Vigo County, Mrs. Alice D. Smith, Secretary; Terre Haute, Vigo County, Rev. Lida Stewart (colored), Secretary; Kennard, Henry County, Mrs. Mary Creter, Secretary; South Kokomo, Howard County, Mrs. Martha Richards, Secretary; Elizabeth, Mrs. Sadie E. Hildebrand, Secretary; Auburn, DeKalb County, Mrs. Ida Wise, Secretary; Monrovia, Morgan County, Mrs. Flora Henley, Secretary; New Albany, Floyd County, Mrs. Ida M. Woolfin, Secretary; College Corner, Ohio, Union County, Miss Grace Applegate, Secretary; Lebanon, Boone County, Mrs. Jennie Perry, Secretary; Hartford City, Blackford County, Mrs. Ella Hollingshead, Secretary.

Mrs. Alice McDaniels, President of Vigo County, visited Prairietown, made house to house visits and secured names for a Union. Mrs. Rose Pearce desired to help, so arrangements were made for her to make an address to the people in the near future. The churches were available, but as meetings were being held in a tent by the Seventh Day Adventists, the people secured the tent for the services. Mrs. Pearce delivered a fine lecture and more names were added to the list. Later Mrs. McDaniels organized a good Union. The tent was offered to the W. C. T. U. for one night each week for temperance meetings. Mrs. Carrie Jones has this in charge. Mrs. Ada Squires, Rev. Geo. Pearce, the Mary Hadley Y.'s and others will help. Great is the opportunity for preaching the temperance gospel thus opened to our people.

Mrs. Ada L. Squires, of Terre Haute, writes: "We have held a number of contests within the past few months, among them six boys' contests. One, however, was of young men, Dr. Case, pastor of the First Baptist Church, winning the medal (silver). Have had one small boys' gold contest. Leonard Nattkemper won the medal and he is ready for a grand gold medal contest anywhere in the State. If you can help me in placing him in a boys' grand gold class somewhere, let me know and I will send him on. He is sixteen years old. Emma and I held a temperance service in the M. E. Church at Brazil two Sundays ago in the afternoon. It was planned by the Sunday School Superintendent. There were 700 people in the audience and the W. C. T. U. was out in a body."

From private letter sent by LaPorte County President: On May 23 and 24 our National President and Miss Gordon came down to LaPorte in answer to my asking (and how many things do we miss because we have not faith enough to ask) and we had a reception Saturday evening which cheered us so much. On Sabbath day in the afternoon Miss Gordon spoke to the Sabbath schools at the Presbyterian Church, at which a good number of grown folks were present. Collection, $3.75. In the evening of the same day Mrs. Stevens spoke to a union meeting of three churches and we had a big crowd. Collection, $10.85, so we had enough to pay all expenses and had $5.00 left in the county treasury. On May 22 and 23 we held our County Institute at Kingsbury. With Mrs. Rose Pearce, leader, organized a new Union with 24 members, four of them being Y's, with the promise of more to come. Two weeks after, when they held their first session, I took ten of our LaPorte members down and we had a good meeting. I will be able to report the departments they will take up in my next report. I hope the new Union will be called the Rose Pearce Union of LaPorte County. LaPorte Union held a rummage sale and took in $30. Our special work is caring for two little girls at Hadley Home. We had a good anti-cigarette meeting and hold a flower mission day to-morrow.

Flower Mission—The W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. E. S. Ross and observed Flower Mission day. Devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. Murphy. Mrs. Haupt read a short article as a memorial in which special mention was made of the sad and recent death of Mrs. Crabbs. A very able paper was read by Mrs. Lilly Lines as to the mission of flowers among the inmates of jails and prisons. At the close of the program the ladies rode to Falls cemetery, where they decorated the graves of the following members: Mesdames L. W. Munson, Sophia Hazen, Dr. A. J. Smith, Mary Christman, Rebecca Small, Helen DePuy, J. K. Haas, Susan Ross, Anna Little, Elizabeth Osborne, Elizabeth Crabbs, Mr. E. S. Ross, Miss Hattie Baker, Mr. B. O. Spencer, Dr. A. J. Smith and Mr. A. M. Atkinson. Many flowers were distributed to the sick of the city by the members of the society.

All Communications in regard to Hadley Industrial School must be addressed to either Mrs. Mary Tarlton, 2115 College avenue, Indianapolis, or to Mrs. Rebecca Hessong, of Nora, Marion County, Indiana. Miss Lucretia Hobart, of Gallaudet, has gone to the Pacific coast for a two months stay.

Mary Hadley, assisted by County President, May T. Lindley, organized a promising Y, named Frances Willard, at Coloma, on the 29th day of June, with Minnie B. Moore as President; Ethel Cook, Corresponding and Recording Secretary and Orpha Morris, Treasurer.

July 3, Dr. W. F. Curryer, of Indianapolis, while in the prime of splendid manhood, died of apoplexy, without a moment's warning. This came as a severe shock to his family and to his friends. For years Mrs. Curryer has been an efficient officer in the Marion County W. C. T. U. and also in Meridian Union, where she is greatly loved. Much sympathy has been manifested for her by the White Ribboners at this time of great affliction. Meridian Union sent a beautiful floral offering to the funeral and many attended.

Sunday, June 22, was an auspicious occasion in the annals of temperance workers in South Bend. Temperance day was appropriately observed and awakened much interest. Our own Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, of Richmond, was with us; also Miss Eva Shontz, of Chicago. The places of meeting during the day were crowded to overflowing. Mrs. Stanley spoke at the Grace M. E. Church in the morning, and in the evening, together with Miss Shontz, conducted a mass meeting at six o'clock in the First Baptist Church under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. All of the young peoples' societies in the city were represented. At 7:30 o'clock in the same church Mrs. Stanley spoke on Sabbath Observance to one of the largest audiences that ever gathered in a South Bend church. Every available seat was occupied and standing room was at a premium. Many were turned away because they could not gain entrance. At least two hundred young men stood in the aisles. After the address of Mrs. Stanley, Miss Shontz gave a dramatic recital of the greatest story ever written for temperance reform—"At the Mercy of the State," by Bernie Babcock. Miss Shontz is not only eloquent, but logical and appealing. Mrs. Stanley spoke four times while in the city and proved herself a leader in this warfare against the saloon in defense of the home. Her audience was moved to tears, to smiles, and to applause. We will more than welcome these two consecrated workers for temperance to South Bend any time.

IN MEMORIAM.

RACHEL RUSSELL GALE was born in Richland county, Ohio, October 3, 1825, and died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. N. P. Lewis, Angola, Ind., June 6, 1902; aged 76 years, 8 months and 3 days. Mrs. Gale was baptized into Christ in August of 1862, and lived devoted to Christ the remainder of her life. Her faith in His promises never waned. Funeral at the home of Mrs. N. P. Lewis, Elder C. S. Medbury officiating.

Y. W. C. T. U.

Last month I sent to each Union a typewritten letter in regard to your dues, the collecting of them, etc. Two replies have come saying, "We will try and collect dues from every member whose name appears on our roll." Now, won't you all try and do the very same?

I am requested by Mrs. Frances B. Yarnall, 1011 Park Avenue, New York City, to say that the 1903 Y. Almanac is now ready for sale. Price, 25 cents per copy. I will order and bring to the State Convention one dozen, which I hope you will be ready to buy and I will not have to take them home.

Girls, you have the fourth quarterly blanks now in your possession sent to each of your Corresponding Secretaries. They must be returned to me by Sept. 15, so that I can get my State and National reports ready. Be prompt, girls. It will save me a good deal of extra work.

September 28 the Y.'s have that number of the Union Signal commemorating Miss Willard's birthday. Try and secure that number from a friend and take it to your Y. meeting. It will interest all.

Select your Y. delegates to the State Convention soon and let me know who they are, as I want to use them in the Y. conference work. Saturday night will be Y. night. The Diamond Medal Contest will be held then. A class of young people should interest all.

Do not forget to take all the little cares and worries to Jesus. He will help us to carry them. May this be one of the best years of the work when the reports come in. Work and pray and come to the convention in a prayerful spirit.

Be sure, Treasurers, and collect the dues from each member.

CLARA M. SEARS.

FROM STATE PRESIDENT.

I am supposing the October MESSAGE will not reach you before the coming state convention. I will take this opportunity, then, of giving you my usual greeting and also a loving good bye as your President.

Nothing but kind words and actions have been given toward me for the two years I have tried to lead you. Only the ever present consciousness of my inability to be the leader your loyalty deserved has been unpleasant to me. I am praying the right woman may be found to lead us in our service and to greater victories in the future. I have no thought of going out of the white ribbon ranks while the saloon and I live, but the local work is appealing to me in a way that will not down. I am looking forward to our next state convention as one that will be of vital interest to every member of our great organization. I cannot remember a time when so much important business has come before a convention as must be considered at Huntington. The changing, in any considerable degree, of our constitution must always demand our most careful conclusions.

Our Hadley Industrial School must have a more systematic support if its present usefulness is maintained or its future insured. Our finances must be so arranged, if possible, to meet the demand of our ever widening field of usefulness, in a way that will not be burdensome to our work and workers.

I wish I might, in this little message, say some word that would cause you, every one, to see the great importance of sending a full delegation from each local Union to our next state convention. Women should be chosen, if possible, that could be present at every session and remain until the close. We shall need the wisdom, the best thought of those who have met with us from year to year, but I hope also to have the enthusiasm of our bright young women, who have never had the opportunity of attending a state convention.

EUNICE P. WILSON.

MISS EDITH HILLIS.

LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION CONVENTION CALL.

The eighth annual Convention of the Indiana State Loyal Temperance Legion will meet in Huntington, at 9 o'clock A. M., October 4. It is very much desired that every Legioner who possibly can, and especially all who have a seat in this convention, be present. Come prepared for two hours of strict attention to the business necessary to close the past year's work and to open the new year. Our time is quite limited, but we mean to put all we can into our two hours and trust that every Legioner will make an especial effort to be present.

EDITH HILLIS,
President.

IMPORTANT NOTICE IN REGARD TO PREMIUM LECTURES.

According to our plan of work, counties having gained three Unions may have a speaker for their county convention at the expense of the state. Counties having gained two Unions may have a speaker by paying the car fare only. Unions will not be counted unless dues are in the hands of the State Treasurer, Mrs. Amanda T. Whitson, and the speaker must be engaged through the Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Hattie W. Brand.

SPEAKERS FOR COUNTY CONVENTIONS.

I am in receipt of many letters asking what speakers are available for county conventions in September. In reply I will say that the following workers are prepared to fill dates: Mrs. Mattie Cammack Gibson, Miss Mary Hadley, Miss Alice Palmer, Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, Mrs. M. A. Tompkins and Mrs. Elizabeth Haughton. With the approach of state convention my desk work is increasing so that it will be impossible for me to do any field work, and I regret to say that Mrs. McWhirter is not available for September.

Mrs. Viola D. Romans, of Ohio, who is to be the speaker at our state convention, is also open to dates for county conventions upon terms you can well afford to accept. Dear Sisters, when you write for a speaker, please state definitely the date of your convention. It is impossible to assure you a speaker when the instructions are: "Our convention will be held some time between the 15th and 25th."

It is gratifying to know that the counties are planning largely for the work this fall. Make your convention the most helpful and enthusiastic possible. Whether the work of the past year has come up to your expectations or not, push on for higher and better things and plan to make the work more distinctly temperance than ever before.

Mr. Wilbur Craft, Superintendent of the National Reform Bureau, said to me that the coming winter would develop some of the most important national and international temperance legislation yet attempted. I assured him that Indiana would do her part. Our own legislature will be in session before many months, and the state liquor dealers have already been in session, looking after their interests. The recent decisions of the Supreme court, in regard to blanket remonstrances, has made our Indiana liquor law more effective than ever before, and the battle against the saloon is at present waging more fiercely than heretofore. Let us be found in the thickest of the fight, crowding the saloon from every possible inch of territory, and claiming the state for constitutional prohibition.

HATTIE WRIGHT BRAND.

TREASURER'S LETTER.

On account of the National Convention coming so early in October, it became necessary for Indiana to hold her State convention as early in the month as possible, so October 3 was decided upon as the opening date. According to the Constitution, the State Treasurer's books close September 25, or ten days before the opening of the convention. This makes the time a little short for the State Treasurer to get her report ready for the printer. The Mid-Year Executive took this into consideration and decided to ask, through the columns of the MESSAGE, that all Local Treasurers begin the collection of dues a few days earlier this quarter and send the report to the County Treasurer a few days earlier, that she may be able to send her report to the State Treasurer by the 20th of September. This will be a very, very great kindness to me and will be appreciated more than I can tell you. The Local Treasurers should have their reports in the hands of the County Treasurer by the 15th. Please do not keep her waiting for your report.

The Local Treasurer is very anxious to collect the dues from every member and as many new ones as possible. It would be a very great pleasure and assist her very much if you could place your dollar in an envelope and send it or take it to her before the 15th. Do not let your membership dues, by not being paid on time, cause a tardy report to the County Treasurer. The County Treasurer is anxious to hear from every Union in the county before she makes her report to the State, and the State Treasurer is very, very anxious to hear from every county in the State and also every local Union through the County Treasurers in the State before the books are closed for the year.

Dear Sisters, it requires promptness all along the line to insure success. Received a letter just now from our next Convention hostess asking in regard to the fifty cents Convention fund for the use of the Local Committee. I hope this year every Union will respond promptly. Send it to your County Treasurer when you send her your dues, then she will forward it to the State Treasurer. When counties are unorganized, send direct to the State Treasurer. Do not wait until the State Convention to pay it. The ladies who will so kindly entertain us need the money early. Fifty cents is a small sum for a Local Union to pay, but it will mean much to the Local Committee, if every Union responds.

Blanks have been mailed to you. Card me if not received by the first of September, and others will be sent.

With many desires for an increased membership in every Union and believing that every one will do all in her power to make it possible for the reports to reach the State Treasurer by the 20th of September, I am, most hopefully and loyally yours,

AMANDA T. WHITSON,
State Treasurer.

THE FREE WILL OFFERING SUPPLIES

Have been sent out to one of the local officers of every Union in the State. Enough have been sent to supply every member with one or more. We presume most of you have planned and held your meetings with very great success. It is an excellent financial plan for the Local as well as the State Treasury. If worked energetically, as our own W. C. T. U. women can work it, we are assured of a bountiful harvest. If for any reason it was impossible for you to hold your meeting in August, can you not plan for one to be held some time before the 15th, thus enabling you to get it before your books close for the year? If a church cannot be secured at all, then hold your meeting in some one's parlor. To succeed, "we must first plan the work, then work the plan." This we believe you will do as unto the Lord, and the home coming at Huntington will be one of rejoicing and thanksgiving that we have done what we could.

NOTICE.

In answer to a question just received, will say that half of everything collected, either by envelopes, private collections or collections at the church, plus 25 cents for printing, goes to the State Treasury. The remainder is to be placed in the local Treasury for local work. This is a fine plan for local work, as well as State, and we are glad the Unions are working the plan so enthusiastically. With a little effort by every member, many dollars can be placed in both State and Local Treasury. Success to you all.

LOCAL PRESIDENTS AND TREASURERS.

The September or fourth quarter of the year is fast approaching, and I take this opportunity to have a little chat with you. By our State plans you know every paid member of every Union in Indiana should receive the MESSAGE. The plan is this: Quarterly, at the time the Treasurer sends the membership dues, she sends to the business manager of the MESSAGE a list of members who have paid dues and 25 cents for each one to pay for the MESSAGE. Dear sisters, when these lists of names come in, sometimes they have several names on the list as renewals whose first names are given; in previous years these same persons' names have been sent in their husbands' names. Not knowing them personally, I do not know then whether Mrs. Mary Alice Brown is the same as Mrs. James H. Brown or not. If you can send them as previously, it will be a great favor. Please do send all of the names to me as early in September as possible.

I shall consider it a personal favor if the Presidents will kindly assist the Treasurers in getting for me the names and correct addresses of the paid members. When a name is sent thus: Mrs. Rainsford, Marysville, I am very doubtful as to her ever getting her paper. Please send the full name or husband's initials to insure speedy delivery.

Hoping to meet you every one at Huntington, I am, very cordially,
LUELLA F. McWHIRTER,
Editor and Business Manager.

COUNTY CONVENTIONS.

In every county, State or national, speakers should be used. These people bring new ideas, give helpful suggestions. If they can remain two days or longer, usually it is very much better for the local work and workers. In every convention it is well to use as many new people on the program as possible. Be sure and use many boys and girls in songs or in a chorus. We must seek to interest the youth.

Arrangements have been made to send "the general officers, the editor of the MESSAGE and our Mrs. Baleh, as a token of our love," to the hotel for dinner during the convention. This means great generosity and business planning on the part of our dear hostesses. To have the noon hour thus for consultation and quiet will mean much to each of those women, especially the general officers, who seldom spend as much as ten minutes a day together during the convention. It will help to expedite the work, in as much as it will give a definite, uninterrupted hour for conference. Such kindness and consideration will be very greatly appreciated by the individuals thus favored and by all delegates and members of the convention who consider the advantage this will be to the entire convention.

The rates to the National Convention at Portland have not been announced. We expect them to be about one fare for the round trip or less than $30.00 from Indiana points.

THE NATIONAL W. C. T. U. CONVENTION.

The National W. C. T. U. Convention will be held at Portland, Maine, in October. Our Indiana delegates and friends will go in a party. The fare for the round trip we expect to be about one-half the regular fare.

Every friend of the W. C. T. U. and legal prohibition is invited to join our party. We will go to the home of that grand Prohibition leader, Gen. Neal

Dow, who was able to accomplish so much for the Prohibition cause when he "sowed the State knee-deep with literature." The Prohibition sheriff, Pearson, has been called to his eternal home, but the deputies are still prohibiting all liquor selling in the great city of Portland.

Men may come and men may go, but the cause of God will move on forever. Invite your friends to join you and go with us to Portland. The aftermath of the convention will be held at Boston, where stop-overs will be allowed on all of our tickets.

MISS DAISY STEADINGTON.
Elocutionist and Y. Worker.

This young lady is an elocutionist of rare ability and is using her talent in the interest of temperance. She holds a grand gold medal, is an enthusiastic Y. worker and has successfully conducted several contests, giving the young people instruction on their selections. Miss Steadington gives an up-to-date elocutionary recital, and has a plan by which she can remain at a point, where she has given a recital, and conduct an oratorical contest, giving the contestants private lessons on their selections. She will also organize Y.'s and prove a valuable helper along other lines of temperance work. Those wishing to know of her plan of work can address her at 620 Cherry street, Terre Haute.

LETTER FROM THE NATIONAL TREASURER.

When this letter reaches you it will be less than six weeks to the closing of the books of the National Treasurer. Undoubtedly you, too, have considered this brief time and realize how much of thought and work must be crowded into this limited space in order that your State may be creditably reported at the convention, that every White Ribboner may be counted, that every obligation may be met and that we may be ready to begin the arduous work of the new year with clean accounts and a fair balance.

We are expecting that many States will be in Benefit Night, but in order that such may be the result, every local Treasurer must do her duty in collecting and forwarding dues. Every county and district Treasurer must be prompt and faithful and each State Treasurer must see that all dues are in the hands of the National Treasurer by October 1. The early date of the convention necessitates prompt and energetic action. Some of the pledges made at Fort Worth for Manila missionary work are still unpaid. Let us see that everything is brought up in a business-like manner. We believe that great advance has been made during this year of hard work, but in order to show that we have advanced, we must collect and report all dues, donations and gifts. Many Unions have failed to send the two dollars for the Willard Memorial Fund, but it is not yet too late. Let us make such thorough preparation that our convention in Portland will show the best record ever made in any one year.

HELEN M. BARKER.

INTER-STATE W. C. T. U. INSTITUTE.

One of the attractive features of the great Summer Assembly at Bay View, Michigan, is the W. C. T. U. Institute, conducted by the energetic and sweet spirited President of Texas, Mrs. Helen M. Stoddard.

Bay View is but one mile from Petoskey, and covers three hundred and sixty acres of land, which rises from the bay in natural terraces, covered with primeval forest. Among the trees nestle five or six hundred summer cottages and the Assembly buildings. The bay, with its ever changing hues and refreshing breezes, is surrounded by summer resorts to which thousands of people come every year. From all these points Bay View is easily reached by steamer or dummy cars, and so the Assembly furnishes instruction and entertainment to a great multitude.

Evelyn Hall is the most attractive Assembly building on the grounds. It has recently been repainted, and a consecrated White Ribbon sister has added much to the beauty of the interior by carpeting the Reception Hall and Assembly room. Here the Institute was held, and each morning our hearts were gladdened by the profusion of floral and fern decorations kept fresh by the local committee. Miss Marie Brehm was made chorister and Mrs. Hattie Wright Brand pianist.

The Institute was in session for ten days from 9 to 11 each morning. The program was practical throughout, and exhibited that great variety of talent which the W. C. T. U. has developed. First each morning came the Bible Hour in charge of Rev. Frances E. Townsley, of Vassar, Mich., and a few who have heard Miss Townsley once will miss an opportunity to hear her again. She was an uplifting influence to us all. Dr. Mary Wood-Allen gave two lectures on Purity and Child Culture. In her refined, delicate way she unfolded some of the mysteries of life and development, and exalted the sacredness and privileges of parenthood. She is a woman with a mission, the friend and helper of mother and child.

Mrs. A. S. Benjamin, National Superintendent of parliamentary law, is one of the leading parliamentarians of the United States. In her inimitable way she drilled us and made difficult points seem so easy and plain that we wondered at our own stupidity.

Two of the strongest suffrage and temperance speeches were made by Miss Marie Brehm, who is recognized as one of our most forceful and talented speakers. A symposium on the liquor traffic, by five ministers, was very enjoyable and brought out an animated discussion from the floor. Various phases of the liquor problem were ably presented by Mrs. M. A. B. Smith, of Wis., Mrs. Julia Stannard, of Mich., Miss Margaret Angus, of Texas, Mrs. Calkins and Barnes, of Mich. Mrs. M. A. B. Smith refreshed us with physical culture drills, and each day's session closed with a lesson from the Loyal Temperance Legion Manuals by Mrs. Hattie Wright Brand. The Assembly W. C. T. U. membership was larger than in any previous year of which we have record, and included representatives from ten states.

The auditorium speech was made by Wilbur F. Crafts, who was greeted with an audience of about three thousand. His subject was "Living and Dying Nations." Most vividly did he portray the rise and fall of Egypt, Rome and Athens, and said that few nations had been able to stand the test of civilization. He pointed to China, Turkey, France and Spain as the dying nations of to-day, and to England, the United States, Russia and Germany as the living nations; but with a mighty marshalling of facts proved that intemperance, impurity and Sabbath breaking will surely destroy any nation. MRS. HATTIE BRAND.

OPPORTUNITY TO SECURE A NATIONAL WORKER.

As the National convention is to be held in Portland, Maine, October 17 to 22, many western workers will be going east and will pass through Indiana. I am already in receipt of a number of letters from national and state workers saying that they will fill dates, on their way through, for five dollars per lecture and entertainment. Under other circumstances they could not come to us on such liberal terms, and I sincerely hope that many Unions will take advantage of this opportunity. Dates must be made between October 1st and 15th.

L. T. L.

Secretaries, please fill out your blanks as soon after the 15th of September as possible, send one copy to me, the other to County Secretary; do not send a general statement, but give definite answers to all questions. Name special methods or new plans that have proved successful in raising money or in advancing the interest of the Legion along any line; tell how many, if any, of your Legioners have joined the Y. or W. C. T. U. during the past year, as well as the number of Juniors that have won examination seal certificates. Have you a class in the W's studying for diplomas? Let us all make an effort to be on the honor roll by paying dues for all our pledged members. Send all ten cent dues to W. C. T. U. State Treasurer and all graduates dues to L. T. L. State Treasurer. I want to meet all our county and local L. T. L. Secretaries at the state convention, as I believe we can make our conference very instructive as well as entertaining.

IDA M. MIX,
State L. T. L. Secretary.

QUINCY BALDWIN LEAVES MONEY FOR FALLEN WOMEN.

The will of Quincy Baldwin has been filed for probate. William Baldwin was appointed executor by the instrument and letters of administration were issued to him. Bond in the sum of $200 was filed. The will bequeaths all his real and personal property to his widow, Amanda Baldwin, during the term of her life. At her death the property is to be divided into four equal parts. One part is to go to the Indiana Woman's Christian Temperance Union for the benefit of fallen women and girls. The remainder is to be divided among Almada Trueblood, Dr. Rhoda Johnson and William H. Baldwin.—Marion News-Tribune.

NON-ALCOHOLIC.

A letter just received from the National Superintendent of Non-alcoholic Medication says: "Please instruct your county superintendents to send you the report in full of the local Union in their county doing best work this year. You will decide which local Union and which county in the state has done the best work, and kindly send to me their report in full, together with your summary of the rest of your state work. Tell Superintendents to prepare reports carefully, as there is a $5 00 prize for the best county report and a $3 00 prize for best local. Of course you know there is a $10 00 prize for the best state report. These prizes all to be paid in Department literature."

She also says: "Please tell your Unions through the state paper, and at your convention, of the great growth of Marietta Union, Ohio, through Non-Alcoholic Medication meetings."

The blanks have already been sent out by our State Secretary and are doubtless in your hands ere this.

Dear Local Secretary or President, if it has been impossible for your Union to secure a Superintendent for this department will you please fill out the blank yourself and send it to me? I am sure there are very few Unions in the state that have not done something in this line. Tell me what you have done? a little from every Union will make a very fine state report. If that little is withheld by you it may be the means of Indiana losing one or more of the National prizes. The best state report wins a $10 00 prize. If every Union will report what it has done, I believe Indiana can win it. No state needs this prize more than ours. A little study, a few minutes work and a two cent stamp from you and we stand a good chance. If you have no Superintendent yet appoint one now and send name and address when you send report. If no County Superintendent has been appointed, please appoint one at your fall convention. Our National Superintendent says the prize will be given to the state making the best report, including largest number of County Superintendents gained according to number of counties in the state.

Please send report to me by the 15th if possible. Thanking you in advance I am, yours for a grand sum total Non-Alcoholic Medication work in our state.

MERCY.

Reports have not come in in the first three quarters as I had hoped they would, but will not all Local and County Superintendents do their best in this last quarter, before our State Convention? Our National Superintendent offers the following prizes: $5 00 for the best State report; $5 00 for the best County report; $5 00 for the best Local report. Reports must be on blanks (prepared by her); must be on time, and numerical answers given to questions requiring them.

Now, dear sisters, if you will drop me a postal, saying you wish a blank to report on, I will send it at once. Try and see if you cannot win a prize.

I offer $1 00 worth of literature to the Superintendent who has the most sermons preached on the subject of Kindness to the Lower Animals, and fifty cents worth of literature to the one who secures three hundred signers to the bird pledge, and if any woman has a reasonably large number, even though none reach the limit of three hundred, I shall see she gets a premium.

It is not too late to work yet, but report blanks will soon be out and I want prompt returns. I hope every Superintendent will at least make my heart glad by responding with an answer, whether it is much work or little. Let everyone consider the added burdens that rest on my shoulders this year from superintending the entertainment of our beloved Convention, and do the little she can to lighten it, and nothing will do that so effectually as to have good, prompt reports coming in. No work can be more noble and Christ like than teaching the principles of kindness to all creatures.

"So many Gods, so many creeds,
So many paths that wind and wind,
When just the art of being kind
Is all the sad world needs."

LOU E. RALL.

REVISED CONSTITUTION.

In the August number of the MESSAGE Mrs. Balch calls attention to Article IV, Section 1 of the proposed constitution for the state and thinks it out of harmony with Article III, Section 1 of the local constitution, which virtually makes a woman's test of loyalty to the state depend upon her taking the state paper.

Mrs. Balch overlooks the fact that the state constitution must first be fixed and the local will then be made to harmonize with that. The members of the committee have frequently had attention called to the deficit that is constantly occurring in the state treasury, which must either be provided for or the appropriations lessened. It is neither business-like nor honorable to contract debts without the ability to pay them. The additional five cents per member in the state treasury, means one hundred dollars for ever two thousand members, while left to the local Unions it could amount to but very little for each. Some of our best County Presidents agree that it is easier raising extra funds for local work than for state work, and speak favorably of raising the auxiliary dues to fifty cents.

The remaining fifty, after the state paper has been paid for, is to be divided between local and county work, as the women of the organized counties shall decide. While on this topic of the paper I will add that I believe the plan of sending seventy-five cents at once of each woman's dues to the state treasurer and leaving her to settle financial matters with the editor and publisher, would simplify matters.

Hoping this explanation is clear, and reminding the members of our local Unions that it is a question for them to decide, I am,
ALICE RUTH PALMER,
Chairman of Committee on Revision of Constitution.
Franklin, Indiana.

NOTICE.

The Free Will Offering supplies have been mailed to every Union President in the state when the name and address was known; when not known, they were sent to one of the other officers of the Union. No doubt changes have been made and our directory is not complete. Where this is the case, will the person to whom the supplies have been sent kindly give them to the proper person at once and oblige? If supplies have not been received by any one, please notify me at once and others will be sent immediately.

This is one of the many times it seemed necessary for the state officers to have a complete directory of the Unions. Many changes will, no doubt, be made in county and local Unions at the close of this year. Will you please remember to send us notice of the change at once?

Sincerely yours for victory all along the line.
AMANDA T. WHITSON, State Treasurer, 3335 N. Meridian street, Indianapolis Ind.

MAXINKUCKEE LAKE ASSEMBLY.

This being my first visit, I was unprepared for the grandeur of the lake and the pleasant surroundings. White Ribboners receive a hearty welcome there. W. C. T. U. day, July 10, was a grand success; the crowd was the largest they had had so far this year. After the W. C. T. U. conference, was held the election of officers for the Assembly Union:

President, Mrs. Quincy Lee Morrow; Vice-President, Mrs. Shedd; Second Vice-President, Miss Stacy; Treasurer, Mrs. W. E. Collane; Secretary, Mrs. R. P. Voorhees.

One hundred and twenty-five dollars were raised last year for the building of a W. C. T. U. cottage; seventy-five dollars were pledged July 10 this year. It was decided to collect the money and build the cottage before the opening of the season next year. No special excursion was given; the cheap rates were given for the entire season—$2 00 for the round trip. This being their third annual assembly, everything is new and very interesting.

Miss _____, of Terre Haute, received the grand gold medal, and Miss _____ the musical silver medal. Quincy Lee Morrow's address at night was a grand effort, receiving much applause. The singing of Jesse Van Kemp was a musical treat, the pure boyish face corresponding with the clear, ringing tones and gospel truths of his song. At the close of the day many regrets were given that they had not come prepared to stay longer at the beautiful lake and enjoy the many treats in store for its visitors. We trust White Ribboners of Indianapolis and elsewhere will take advantage of the invitation next season.

The lot and twenty-five dollars were donated by the Assembly. Mr. Collane also donated twenty-five dollars and has offered to take responsibility of the building and help the White Ribboners push it through to completion. The gold medal contest and the musical silver medal contest occurred at 1:30 in the afternoon. There was a large, appreciative audience, and we were made very proud of our classes.

RAILROAD RATES TO STATE CONVENTION.

A rate of one and one-third fare will be granted on the certificate plan to all those who desire to attend the Annual Convention of the W. C. T. U. to be held at Huntington, October 3 to 7. When buying your ticket for Huntington, ask for a certificate. Every Union is entitled to send the President, one delegate-at-large and one delegate for every twenty paid members.

Great preparations are being made by the Huntington County White Ribboners for the entertainment of the State Convention. Be sure and send the list of your delegates to Mrs. Lou E. Rall, Huntington, Chairman of the Entertainment Committee. Send the names early, so that on the very last days before the Convention Mrs. Rall and her committee may be through their work of assigning plans of entertainment and have some time to rest before the convention begins.

STATE CONVENTION NOTES.

The committee on decoration for the State Convention will be very glad to have local and county Unions and department superintendents send or take their banners for use during the convention. Please bear this in mind and send (express prepaid) or take them to the chairman of the committee, Miss Pearl Rall, Huntington.

Be sure and take your White Ribbon Hymnal with you to Huntington. Take your daughter or son with you. The Committee on Hotel and Boarding House Rates will be able to secure board for all visitors at reduced rates. A convention gives a great opportunity for a boy or girl to learn many things. Be sure and take yours if possible.

The Executive Committee will meet at one o'clock P. M., October 2, in the convention church (M. E. Church), corner of Market and Guilford streets.

SENIOR LEGIONERS.

Every graduate of the Loyal Temperance Legion is hereby urged to send their dues of twenty-five cents immediately. It will save many dollars in postage if you who read this will kindly mention it to the graduates whom you know. Postage stamps will be received for dues from those who desire to send for one or two members only. Please send your dues if you are a graduate of the Loyal Temperance Legion. You will thus enable us to help on our work in the State. We need you. Will you help us? I shall anxiously wait to receive your dues and those of the other members. Any amount sent as a donation will be thankfully received. Waiting for the dues of many Legioners. Send to my address below.

Your comrade,
FELIX M. McWHIRTER.

Greencastle, Ind.

PRIZES

For the best filled Institute Report Blank. Awarded to County President, Mrs. Alice D. McDaniel, Terre Haute, Ind., a beautiful life size portrait of Miss Willard. Vigo counties Report Blank was filled without a single omission in answering fully and definitely the questions asked by the Superintendent. The penmanship, which was neat, was in ink. This report of Vigo County indicates that a splendid Institute was held in that county at Terre Haute on March 24 and 25, but our committee was advised that the success of the session could have no bearing on the awarding of the prize and your committee has acted accordingly. Roll of Honor for 1902, Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, Richmond, Ind., and Mrs. Emma Hedges, New Castle, Ind. Why cannot all County Presidents completely fill the Institute Report Blank is the query of your committee?

AMANDA T. WHITSON,
ALICE LAMB.

WHITE RIBBONERS AND PROHIBITIONISTS.

From now until the time of our State Convention, October 3, I shall give my time and effort to Indiana and not return to Louisville until that event has passed. I offer my services for organizing, evening lectures, visiting Unions and attending county conventions on very moderate terms. Address me at Rome City until further notice. I am soliciting for our Industrial School, in District No. 2, Elkhart, LaGrange, Steuben, Kosciusko, Noble, DeKalb, Allen, Wabash, Huntington, Wells, Adams, Jay, Blackford, Whitley and Grant counties. Soliciting for the school does not hinder me in doing the other work. It rather makes it possible as to terms. I hope to make my last days in Indiana count for our cause.

MARY E. BALCH.

FACTS AND FIGURES—SEARCHLIGHT SERIES.

Statistics are often dry reading; nevertheless, it is intensely profitable that temperance people should be posted upon positive facts relating to the enormity of that traffic which they protest against. Figures will not lie, and are not apt to be distorted to suit anybody's opinion, since all such tabulated statements are somewhere accessible to everybody.

100,000 drunkards die annually, while in 1898 there were 8,000 murders and 7,000 suicides directly traceable to the liquor traffic.

The amount spent for drink in this country last year was about $1,225,850,000. This sum in one-dollar bills placed together end to end would girdle the world fifty-eight times, making a belt of solid money about twenty feet wide around the entire earth. It would form a strip six bills wide from the earth to the moon; or would make a solid carpet of bills larger than the State of Connecticut.

FIELD NOTES.

Illinois reports over a thousand gain in membership over this time last year and a month more to work in.

Mrs. Hattie W. Brand, State Corresponding Secretary, has just returned from Bay View, Mich., and is enthusiastically at work, spending much time at her desk.

The State Superintendents are very anxious to get full reports of the work done in all departments. Local Presidents should encourage all the Superintendents to make reports in figures. All the State Superintendents are required to make their reports to the National Superintendents in figures.

In all parts of the State medal contests are being held. The agitation is thus being kept up in a very practical manner. Now is the time for all Unions to make arrangements for their delegates to attend the State Convention at Huntington.

Every County Convention should, so far as possible secure either a State or National speaker.

Consider no Union's work a success that does not include some work among the boys and girls.

Be sure and elect delegates to the State Convention at Huntington. If possible, arrange to pay their expenses.

Mrs. Hattie Steckel, of Mulberry, spent some time with Mrs. Balch at Island Park and greatly enjoyed the privilege.

Mulberry Union mourns the death of Mrs. Jennie Brinkhuff. She will be greatly missed; was so loved by everybody that knew her and was a strong, steadfast white ribboner.

Mrs. Anna Kilmer, the former President of Miami County, has been made President of the W. C. T. U. at her new home in Benton Harbor, Mich., and also President of Berrien county. She is doing much active temperance work and is greatly appreciated by Unions in her county.

In the death of Mrs. Emma Joice, of Terre Haute, a noble, kind husband has a broken home circle and mourns the loss of a loving wife. The Terre Haute Union has lost an indefatigable President and the White Ribboners have lost a valiant, earnest, faithful and loyal comrade. The funeral services were held on Sunday afternoon, Aug. 17, in Trinity M. E. Church, Terre Haute, under the auspices of the W. C. T. U., in charge of Rev. George D. Pearce. Many floral offerings and large bows of white ribbon adorned the casket.

Indianapolis Mapleton Union was entertained last Friday afternoon in the home of Rev. Charles Jessup and was one of Mapleton Union's best and most enthusiastic Mothers' Meetings. The subject presented and discussed was "Children and Alcohol," "What to Use in the Place of Alcohol and Opium," and "Is the Common Belief in Alcohol as a Medicine a Hindrance to the Temperance Cause." Mrs. Will King, Mrs. Dr. Magel and Mrs. Charles Newlin read excellent papers which will appear in full in the Phalanx. The discussions that followed added great interest to the occasion, nearly every one there taking part and feeling that the meeting was theirs. If anyone thinks for a moment that this is an uninteresting subject for a Mothers' Meeting, let them try it and conversion will be the result. Our hostess, Rev. Hannah Jessup, is an ideal hostess in every respect; nothing was left undone to make everyone enjoy the occasion. New members were added to our already increasing membership. Many free will offering envelopes were accepted, to be returned later laden with a thank offering and prayer. During the social hour that followed cream and cake were served. Everyone seemed delighted with the meeting and went home feeling that if alcohol could be banished entirely from the medicine chest, that one of the greatest victories for temperance would be scored. If you have not already done so try a Non-Alcoholic Medication Mothers' Meeting some time before the 15th of September and report success to your State Superintendent by that date. If held in the evening invite your husbands and brothers. You will be delighted with results.

Mrs. Farqher writes regarding Pine Lake Assembly W. C. T. U. Day. On July 10, I received a postal card from Miss Alice Palmer, saying she could not be with us on the 31st, also that she had not made a program for that day. Also one from Mrs. Katie Wert Holler that she could not be with us and the same news from Mrs. Tompkins. As Second Vice-President I was in for something which I knew very little about. Mrs. Esther Vail was gone, which left no one to consult with that knew anything about last year's work. I asked God to help me and to put it in the hearts of those I would call upon to respond and the prayer was answered; all helped gladly and things ran along easier. Our Local Union rented a cottage and trimmed the front porch with a nice white banner with the cabalistic W. C. T. U. Rest printed on it; also a white ribbon bow above the door, and this was headquarters for a week. The above is the program that was carried out to the letter on the 31st, and all went home feeling tired but well repaid, for all that. Members were present from all three Unions of the county. Some leaflets were scattered, and we hope some seed was dropped that will bear fruit in the future. The following new officers were elected for the coming year: Mrs. Van Patten, Michigan City, President; Mrs. Reagan, Englewood, Recording Secretary; Mrs. Sisson, Chicago, Ill., Treasurer. We all rejoice that so good a beginning has been made and hope it will be better in the future.

LaPorte Union broke camp August 2, at the Pine Lake Assembly grounds, where they had rented a cottage for a week. The cottage was in a very pleasant location, with the letters "W. C. T. U." above the entrance, and with the cheerful occupants it gave, as some expressed it, tone to the whole Chautauqua. Mesdames Baumgardner, Talmage and Zell were the regular entertainers for the week, while others came and went. July 31 was temperance day. All present had the opportunity of listening to an excellent address by Mrs. Van Patten, of Michigan City, and also by Mrs. Cammack Gibson, who gave her lecture, "Five Boys in Knee Pants," in an eminent manner. The following officers for the Assembly Union were elected: President, Mrs. Van Patten, Michigan City; First Vice-President, Mrs. Baumgardner; Second Vice-President, Mrs. Dr. Wardner, LaPorte; Secretary, Mrs. Regan; Treasurer, Mrs. Sisson, Chicago. Aug. 16 the local gave a supper, which put a neat little sum into their treasury. Dear sisters, let us all, as officers and superintendents, get our reports ready, so as to present them in full at our annual meeting in September. I am sure if this is done we will feel that this has been a prosperous year in W. C. T. U. work.

The October issue of the MESSAGE will reach you on October 1. Be sure and read the Huntington convention items.

Every person attending the Huntington convention should secure a certificate when buying a regular one fare ticket for Huntington. When signed at the convention this certificate will entitle the holder to buy a return ticket home from Huntington for one-third the regular fare. Ask the ticket agent to have these certificates on hand.

Mrs. Sadie H. Eves has moved from North Vernon to Richmond, but her love for and interest in North Vernon Union has not decreased. She has sent a gift of $3 for the State debt fund, to be credited to North Vernon Union.

In Wells County every W. C. T. U. has an L. T. L.

Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, of Richmond, attended the Steuben County temperance rally and held two services in Auburn. She also attended the Fayette and Franklin County pioneer reunions. Everywhere the people are enthusiastic over Mrs. Stanley's work.

Mrs. Mary E. Balch visited the Winchester Union four days—August 16 to 20. She lectured Sunday evening to a large audience, held one parlor meeting and solicited for the Hadley Home. We took our free will offering at this time and sent the State $3. For ourselves we have all been inspired to better work for the future. We feel that the public has a clearer understanding of our work. One new member.

Saturday evening, July 28, the Morristown Union held its second gold medal contest. The program throughout was good. A choir of young people under the leadership of Miss Nona Wagner, rendered some splendid prohibition songs. We were also aided by the following with solos: Miss Stapie Brannan, Miss Ruth McKnight and Miss Alcestes Charles, the latter wearing one of our gold medals, which she won at one of our musical contests. Our class was composed of one young gentleman and six young ladies. Miss Sarah Brant won the medal on the recitation of "American Bluebeard." Many think it was our best contest in every point. The judges were Rev. J. T. Skull, Mr. Aaron Wagoner and Mrs. Alice Conger. The proceeds netted $9.15. Am glad to now be able to aid in a small way Hadley Home, which we hold very dear and near to our hearts. Another contest soon.

Fredericksburg Willard Union held a temperance meeting June 12. County President, Mrs. Mary N. Overman, was present and delivered an excellent address on the work of the W. C. T. U., and Miss Pearl Menough, of Salem, read an interesting paper on the subject "Is Woman Handicapped?" At the opening exercises Rev. Crawford, the M. E. Church minister, gave a short talk, which was very encouraging to the women of the W. C. T. U. Bro. Crawford is an ardent supporter of the temperance cause. At the close two members were added to our Y. branch.

On June 22, at the close of the Sunday School temperance lesson, the Willard Union and Y. of Fredericksburg observed Flower Mission Day. The Y's gave a very interesting entertainment, after which the President, Mrs. Nannie Seig, explained the origin and work of the Flower Mission. A beautiful item, "Tell Him Now," was read by Miss Fleda Royse, and very beautiful and appropriate recitations were given by Misses Gertrude Mitton, Florence Morgan and Nellie Seig, interspersed with beautiful songs. An explanation of why we strew flowers along the pathway of the living was given by Mrs. Florence Gresham, after which bouquets of flowers with scripture texts were distributed among the sick. Appropriate gifts were presented to Freddie Boston, a little shut-in boy in our community.

Mrs. Viola D. Romans, a State officer of the Ohio W. C. T. U., will be in attendance upon our State Convention at Huntington. Mrs. Romans is an eloquent speaker. We will gladly welcome her.

Mrs. S. M. Stahl is greatly loved by her comrades, who have sought to show their appreciation by making her a life member of the State W. C. T. U., the particulars of which we hope to give you in the next issue of the MESSAGE.

Burlington W. C. T. U. held a Mothers' Meeting in connection with the regular meeting, Friday, August 9. The program consisted of Bible readings, songs, recitations and select readings. Each sister gave two invitations. There were thirty-one present and all expressed themselves as well pleased. One sister gave us her name and dues, so making our number ten. After the program, all were invited to the dining room of our beloved President, where the sisters served cake and cream. Our Union meets on the second Friday in each month.

A fine L. T. L. was organized by Mrs. Lou Rall at Warren, July 25. About twenty-five children enlisted in the ranks. This is the fourth in Huntington county, each Union maintaining a flourishing Legion. Huntington has a live Legion. Mrs. O. L. Day, its present President, and the membership, planned a unique social in the way of a dolls' millinery store, where not only the latest creations in Parisian hats were to be purchased, but lemonade, ice cream, fruit and flowers, also. Eight dollars was thus added to the Legion's treasury. Needless it is to say the little lady has an earnest White Ribboner for a mother.

Hadley Union, of Grant County, arranged a temperance meeting in a church standing just over the line in Madison county, in which Mrs. Cammack-Gibson was the speaker. She gave her famous lecture, "Five Boys in Knee Pants." The lecture is composed from her own observations and experience. There were many hindrances to the meeting in the way of wheat threshing, the Fairmount fair and other things, yet she was greeted with a full house and rapt attention was given by young and old alike from beginning to end of her long lecture, and many said, I wish she had talked longer. She must come again, and arrangements were made for another meeting soon, for they are hungry for gospel temperance teaching.

South Bend Unions held a series of Purity Meetings from August 23 to 26, under the leadership of Mrs. R. W. McMahan, State Superintendent of the Purity Department. A mass meeting was held, Sunday afternoon, August 24, for women only. An effort was made to interest all working girls of the city in these meetings.

Mrs. A. B. Leck writes: Well, we prevented the applicant from getting a license to sell liquor at Illinois and Fifteenth streets, and the work our members did was so much appreciated that the residents of that immediate neighborhood made up a purse of $36.00 and sent it to us for temperance work, with compliments and high appreciation of the Indianapolis Frances E. Willard W. C. T. U.

Miss Ina Burton, South Bend, President of the Willard Memorial Y. W. C. T. U., was the victim of a cleverly planned surprise, perpetrated at her home, 118 South Emrick street, July 30. About fifty members of the Union and a few intimate friends of Miss Burton participated in the event. The affair was in the nature of a farewell party. Miss Burton will take a two years' course at the Baptist Missionary Training School, Chicago. She will enter upon her duties on September 10 and will probably engage in missionary work after the completion of her studies. The evening was spent in a diversity of social pleasures, including music, phonograph selections and refreshments. A feature of the evening was the presentation of a beautiful chain to Miss Burton as a token of the high esteem in which she is held. The presentation was made by Mrs. Katie Wert Holler, County President of the W. C. T. U. Miss Burton was filled with emotion, so she was unable to respond but briefly.

At Kokomo the first annual Fourth of July picnic of the W. C. T. U. was held at the city park and was a very successful, as well as pleasurable affair. Misses Ellis, Kopler, Fox and Metcalf and Mr. Shockley, of Phlox, were the participants, and their oratorical efforts are pronounced by competent judges to have been among the best speeches heard at W. C. T. U. events in this locality. Mrs. Amy Rindge and Misses Nellie Kern and Rebecca Trueblood, who acted as judges, awarded the honors of the contest to Roscoe Shockney. Rev. Myers presented the successful contestant with a gold medal, which was of the value of $5. The singing by the South Kokomo Loyal Temperance Legion was splendid and inspiring for the occasion. The table cloths were spread and the evening meal of sumptuous description greatly enjoyed.—Exchange.

Colfax Avenue Union, of South Bend, held their annual picnic at Springbrook Park, August 13. In the afternoon they held a meeting in the pavilion, a good program being prepared consisting of songs, readings and a parliamentary drill, by our County President. This Union is under the leadership of Mrs. Orner, and is doing much good work.

IN MEMORIAM.

MRS. RETTINGTON—Death visited LaPorte Union in July, taking away one of its loved ones, Mrs. Rettington. She was of a quiet, sweet disposition, loved by all who knew her.

THE MESSAGE.

"Not by Might nor by Power, but by My Spirit."

VOL. VII. No. 10.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., OCTOBER, 1902.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR.

MISS MARY HADLEY,
Indiana's Vice-President.

THE BENEFIT OF W. C. T. U. INSTITUTE.

- DEDICATED TO MISS MARY HADLEY.
Tune—Stand Up, Stand Up for Jesus.
- (1) Praise God, the gracious Author
Of every perfect gift;
Thro' the dark clouds of midnight
There now appears a rift;
North and South and East and West,
And lands across the waters,
Unite in plans wrought one by one
Of Indiana's daughters.
  - (2) You who are weak take courage
And prove this noble plan
To educate the masses
And uplift fallen man;
Let youth and age together
The Institute attend,
And thus gain strength and knowledge
And blessings without end
  - (3) Let counties form a phalanx,
With "John Barleycorn" to cope.
In strong debate, song and pray'r
He leads a "forlorn hope."
Let State by State, the nation o'er,
Strike down the demon Rum,
Then thro' this grand Institute
Shout loud the "Harvest Home."
  - (4) Behold God's people coming
'Gainst Rum a war to wage;
Trust ye God of battles,
Nor quail at Satan's rage,
For "One shall chase a thousand,"
The Holy Writ declares;
Press on to certain vict'ry
Thro' pain and toil and pray'rs.

New Albany, Ind.

Harriet Matheny.

All persons having resolutions they desire brought before the Convention will please send them now by the first mail to the Chairman of Resolution Committee, Miss Alice Palmer, Franklin Ind.

NATIONAL W. C. T. U. CONVENTION.

Will be held at Portland Maine, October 17 to 22. The Indiana delegates and visitors will go through in a special coach, leaving Indianapolis at 6:15 p. m., October 14, via the Big Four route, arriving at Buffalo and Niagara Falls about 8:00 o'clock a. m., October 15. Spend the day at Niagara Falls, leaving Buffalo at 8:30 p. m., October 15, going via New York Central through Albany, arriving at Boston 10:30 a. m., October 16. Spend a few hours sight seeing and get to Portland, Maine, at 5:00 p. m., October 16. Every person desiring to visit the Convention is invited to join our party. We will go through from Indianapolis to Boston in a sleeper without change. The sleeper rates are $2.75 each, for two persons in a berth. From Boston the short run up to Portland will be made over the "Boston & Maine" route.

It is necessary to go via Boston, for upon the return trip a big rally will probably be held in Tremont Temple.

The delay in granting reduced rates has made it impossible to answer inquiries any sooner, which we regret. The fare from Indianapolis to Portland, Maine, is about $23.50 and one-third that rate for the return trip. Those desiring to go should write for further particulars. Everybody going is expected to take a well filled lunch basket and not depend upon lunch stands or dining car service.

Any information gladly given to those thinking about going. Address

MRS. LUELLA F. MCWHIRTER
Superintendent Transportation, Greencastle, Ind.
"Rosa Bower."

ON TO HUNTINGTON!

On October 2 and 3 the W. C. T. U. clans will gather for the annual convention at the beautiful city of Huntington. They will be welcomed there by the press, the churches and into the hospitable homes. If you are a president of a Union or a delegate, it is your duty to go. If you are neither, it will be a blessed privilege to go. Secure board from the local committee and attend the convention.

Take the husbands and brothers to Huntington and be sure to take the boys and girls. Reduced rates have been secured for board. The convention cannot help but be an inspiration to all who attend. Delegates will be entertained for breakfast, supper and lodging and over Sunday. Since our conventions have become so large it means much to be entertained. To entertain about 300 women for nearly a week is a task.

All delegates whose names have been sent in to the chairman of the Entertainment Committee have received cards notifying them whose guests they will be. Let no one receiving such a card fail to immediately write the hostess at what time she expects to arrive. If in doubt about going, write and say so. Every White Ribboner should be courteous and endeavor to follow the golden rule. Those receiving cards who cannot go should return them so that others may be assigned in their places. Take your banners with you to be used in decorating. Go to the convention determined to love everybody and to be slow to censure or criticize. Take with you only kind thoughts and kind intentions and keep sweet en route and all the time. Thus you will win favors for our blessed cause and help the work of the convention.

THE L. T. L. CONVENTION

Will be held in connection with the W. C. T. U. convention and the Legioners should receive our support and encouragement. Take your boys and girls to this convention. It will do them more good than two days in school. The educational value cannot thus be estimated.

ADVERTISEMENTS FOR STATE MINUTES.

The printing of our Annual Minutes costs in the neighborhood of $250 or $300, and as they are sold for less than cost and many copies given away, the receipts from sales seldom amount to one-third of the expense. It was decided at the Mid-year Executive that in order to meet this bill we should solicit advertisements, to be placed in the back of the Minutes. It will be possible to pay for the Minutes in this way. Blanks the size of a page of the Minutes have been prepared, with terms and a promise to pay when the work is completed printed at the bottom. I will gladly furnish any one with several blanks. The terms are $15 for a whole page, $10 for a half page, $5 for a quarter of a page and $2.50 for an eighth of a page. As these Minutes go into the hands of women all over the State, they furnish a valuable medium for advertising any goods used in the home or by women. If there is a college near you, try to secure their advertisement, for White Ribbon mothers are seeking the best possible advantages for their children. Make an effort at once to help in this way and bring the one you secure to the State Convention or mail it to me. The Minutes will probably not be printed before the first of November, so there is time if you will act promptly.

Cordially,

MRS. HATTIE W. BRAND.

TAKE NOTICE.

Unions that have not already sent to the State Treasurer the fifty cents for Local Committee convention expenses will confer a great favor on the committee by doing so at once. Bills must be met and they are depending upon this fund to help meet them. Kindly send money to the State Treasurer, 3335 N. Meridian street, Indianapolis.

SABBATH SCHOOL RALLY AT HUNTINGTON.

One of the great features of the Huntington Convention promises to be a Sabbath-school Rally, at which 1,100 children are expected to be present. Mrs. Mattie Cammack-Gibson was their choice for speaker and Mrs. Rall writes: "She will be the biggest advertised woman at the Convention." Mrs. Gibson recently made several addresses in Huntington County and made a most favorable impression.

THE LITTLE THING TO DO NOW.

By the time this issue of the MESSAGE reaches you nearly every Local and County Union will have had its election of officers. Whether you have re-elected old officers or chosen new ones, will you not please send me a postal at once giving the name of your Union, names and addresses of the officers and superintendents? I greatly desire that the new Directory for 1903 shall be completed by the first day of November. It is a great loss in expense to the State and valuable material to you when the State record is not correct and mail is sent to the wrong woman. The way to make it all right and easy for us all is for you to buy one postal card and take the little time it requires to send the list of officers for 1903. Let us all try to make the coming year the very best in the history of the Indiana W. C. T. U., and begin by doing this little important thing now.

MRS. HATTIE W. BRAND

THE KNOT OF WHITE RIBBON.

A beautiful song entitled "The Knot of White Ribbon" has been composed and published by our Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Hattie W. Brand. Mrs. Brand was a student at the College of Music at Cincinnati and is a lover of music. The words were written by Miss Mary Averill, of Dover, Maine, so by a combination of eastern and western talent this sweet song has been added to our repertoire of White Ribbon music. After the expense of publishing has been met, Mrs. Brand intends to make the sale of the song a source of revenue to the State Treasury. It is a soprano solo and the words are as follows:

How dear to our hearts is the knot of white ribbon,
The tie that unites us around the great world;
The symbol of purity, badge of our Union,
As potent as liberty's flag when unfurled.
It speaks to the heart of the prayers that rise ever,
Of the hands that are working to overcome wrong;
Of the faces aglow with the light of endeavor,
Of the feet that are pressing for right as they throng.

Oh, knot of white ribbon, the light silken ribbon,
The pure tie of ribbon which shows we belong.

Sweet emblem of hope and united endeavor,
What joy it imparts to the co-worker's soul;
The dear love of Christ it bespeaks for us ever,
And bids us press onward to reach the fair goal.
Our sisters are marching in every nation,
Our brothers are pressing to join in the throng;
Oh, how the heart swells with divine exaltation,
At sight of the ribbon which shows we belong.

Oh, the knot of white ribbon, the light silken ribbon,
The pure tie of ribbon which shows we belong.

Price twenty-five cents. Order of Mrs. Brand.

HARTFORD CITY—LIFE MEMBERSHIP.

As the name of our own dear Mrs. Stahl is so familiar to the readers of the MESSAGE, she needs no introduction. As an evidence of the high esteem in which she is held in her home city, we wish to say to your readers that at one of our meetings she was, by unanimous vote, made the recipient of a life membership in the W. C. T. U. One beautiful feature of this gift was that it was done in her absence, therefore it came to her in the nature of a complete surprise, which made it none the less enjoyable.

Mrs. Stahl has been the President of the Hartford City Union ever since its organization, with the exception, perhaps, of a year and a half. She has worked unceasingly and untiringly in her efforts to bring the Union to its present prosperous condition. While she has had so much of general work upon her as State Superintendent of Mothers' Meetings, etc., yet she has worked with untiring zeal in the interest of the local Union. Therefore, in some measure to express our appreciation of her worth and labors, some of the sisters conceived the beautiful thought of substantially expressing our appreciation, which thought, when presented to the Union, met a hearty approval.

Sister Stahl being away from home at the time engaged in the temperance work, we concluded it would not lessen the enjoyment to not say anything to her about it until she had received the notice from headquarters; and you may just say to those men (and they are the same fellows, you know, who won't let us vote) who say that a woman cannot keep a secret, that we did not tell her when she returned home!

Suffice it to say, that to we who had the privilege of being present when Sister Stahl undertook to thank the Union, was again verified the Scripture, "It is more blessed to give than to receive." While language failed her to express her appreciation of the gift, you know there is a something that is far deeper and more beautiful and eloquent at such times than language.

To each Union that has such an opportunity of manifesting its appreciation of the labors of a diligent worker in the cause, we would say, "Go thou and do likewise." We have no objection to the strewing of flowers on the bier when we are done with the busy cares of this world, but how much better to strew them in each others' pathway while in this world! How it lightens the burdens of the worn and weary! How it strengthens the weak! How it cheers the downcast! How it comforts the sorrow-stricken! How it helps over the rough places! How it encourages the discouraged! Can we afford to do it? Yea, eternity will reveal the fact that we can well afford it.

E. A. WILLIS.

Mrs. Mary E. Balch and Mrs. Frances Metz have been soliciting for the Hadley School. Mrs. Metz has secured contributions in provisions.

EVANGELISTIC.

The time is drawing very near for our last report and I trust that you are, each one, purposing to send your State Superintendent a good full report. If you have not done much please do not think that it is not worth while reporting the little. I will know by this that you are not dead and the sum of many small reports will make one large one. There are a number of counties I have not heard from. I do not want to say this in my report at the State Convention, but will have to unless you report in September. Remember that I cannot guess at figures and our National Superintendent urges us to report accurately. I am sure that you will help me in this. Please refer to the questions in my Plan of Work and any that are not on the report blank answer on the back of the blank.

SUPERINTENDENTS.

You, no doubt, know that at the department meeting, in June, I was elected President of the Board. I cannot take much space in THE MESSAGE, but want to ask each one of you to send me any suggestions that may come to your minds, that will be helpful in our work. I trust that you will all be on hand in time for the first meeting, which will be the day before the convention at large begins. My heart says: "God bless you each one and give you grace and wisdom to accomplish the work He would have you do."

JAIL AND PRISON.

I have not received my blanks from our National Superintendent, but I have asked to be given a few days time in order to give our state report to national in figures, as that is the only way in which we can show what has been done. Grant and Howard counties have sent in reports of grand work done.

Will you please send me your report in figures. So many report thus: Have visited jails, distributed literature, etc. please state how many visits made to jails; how many to almshouse; how many pledges signed; the number of local Superintendents in your county. I have been shut in so much of the past year that I have not done any of the work planned for the state (outside of my own county), but I know the dear sisters have worked and planned and the seed sowing has gone on by those who have been in the work for years; and let us send to the national a true report of what the Indiana women, of this department, have done for the Master.

Will you get a statement from your sheriff or police judge of what help the W. C. T. U. have been to them? I will pray and trust for a full report in time for our state convention. Just send report on postal.

ANNA E. PALMATEER,
State Superintendent.

TEMPERANCE WORK AMONG FOREIGNERS.

Alexander DeToqueville said nearly fifty years ago: "I look upon the size of certain American cities, and especially upon the nature of their population, as a real danger which threatens the security of the democratic republics of the New World." The marked difference which he observed between European cities and American cities was that the population of the former was largely native, while the population of our cities was heterogeneous and foreign. London is the largest city in the world, and while representatives of nearly every nationality and race are to be found there, the census reports show that over one-half its population are London born, and over ninety out of every hundred are natives of England or Wales. In marked contrast with this stands our great city of Chicago with its vast foreign population. In some of our large cities as high as three-fourths of the population are foreigners. Many of these foreigners are as loyal to the principles which the stars and stripes represent as any son of American soil, but the majority have no conception of the duties of Christian citizenship, and so become tools in the hands of unscrupulous politicians. There are two sides to the immigrant problem, and they are—What can we do for him and What is he doing for us? If we win him for Christ and teach him the responsibilities of citizenship in a country where supreme power in government rests in individual ballots, he will be one of us and do us good; but if left to be influenced by the baser element he will do us harm.

The first thing which attracts the attention of the immigrant as he approaches the New York port is the great Bartholdi statue of Woman Enlightening the World, and almost the first to extend a friendly hand at the port is our W. C. T. U. missionary, Miss Mary Orr, who meets every steamer. We have temperance and Sabbath Observance literature in eighteen different languages and with this mighty appeal we seek to turn his thought and power into the right channel.

There is a new star of hope in the immigration bill which has passed the House and been favorably reported to the Senate. If friends of the bill will continue to ask for its passage, the victory will be won. This bill now includes the exclusion of intoxicants from immigrant stations, where the conditions and influences have been most deplorable. The bill is opposed by steamboat companies, brewers and priests, each of whom would lose about a third of their patrons by immigration restrictions.

One of the principal things that should be done now is to get up a deputation in each town where a Congressman or Senator resides, and by personal interviews, letters and petitions urge the passage of the bill.

As compared with many States, Indiana has a small foreign population, there being only 142,121 foreign born according to the last census report, but it is worth while to try to reach them, and any one living in a neighborhood of foreigners will be doing valuable work by placing temperance literature in their hands in their own language. I will most gladly supply any one with a limited amount if they will indicate the language desired. I will also gladly receive and forward donations for work at the New York port.

MRS. HATTIE WRIGHT BRAND,
State Superintendent Foreign Work.

HADLEY INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

Many of your readers already know of the epidemic of scarlet fever which so suddenly appeared in our home. Twenty-six of our girls were smitten with it. Twenty five have recovered and one is now with her mother in Indianapolis for further nursing. I was on the Pacific coast at the time, but Mrs. Tarlton and Mrs. Hessong were prompt in sending a professional nurse, and a physician of experience who resides near the school was summoned and the united efforts of the officers in charge all contributed to the perfect recovery of so many from this dread disease. Mrs. Anna Buchanan Logan is first in charge and is associated with other efficient workers. The farm and garden products are more abundant than last year and the outlook is encouraging.

LUCRETIA HOBART.

NATIONAL CONVENTION PLEASURE TRIPS.

To midland visitors to the National Convention, one of the most interesting things to be seen will be the ocean. To gratify this desire a trip will be arranged by the transportation committee, to visit old "White Head," an island in Casco Bay. The other islands not too far from Portland will also be seen on this little excursion by steamer. A very nominal sum will be charged, and it is hoped the weather may be pleasant. Time and all other details will be announced at convention.

JOSEPHINE NICHOLS UNION AT WABASH.

This Union has been actively at work during the past year. Its membership has been increased from 50 to 76 paid members. They have given $10.00 to the Hadley Industrial School and have supplied the Principals of the Public Schools of Wabash with the School Physiology Journal. The newly elected officers are as follows: President, Mrs. Edna Kerr; Vice President, Mrs. Cynthia Jones; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Emma R. Davis; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Lillie Lines; Treasurer, Mrs. Carrie Jordan. Mrs. Elizabeth Houghton, State Evangelist, was the speaker at their County Convention.

Miss Addie Smith, a solicitor for the Hadley School, is again at work after a visit home. She is working in and about Terre Haute.

OUR PRESIDENT'S CAMPAIGN WORK IN MAINE.

In addition to the constantly increasing labor involved in the preparation for our approaching annual Convention, Mrs. Stevens has entered actively into the political campaign just closed in her own State, writing and speaking effectively in the cause of home protection. A campaign document of which she was the author went into every home in York county. On the evening of September 5 she spoke in the home town of the candidate for sheriff of that county, going from there to an adjacent town, where she delivered an address the same evening. The night before election Mrs. Stevens addressed a large audience at Brunswick, the seat of Bowdoin College and the home of Mr. Bisbee, candidate for sheriff of Cumberland county, in which Portland is situated. The members of the twenty-five Unions in this county, led by our valiant President, entered heart and soul into this campaign for the election of men pledged to faithfully and vigorously enforce the prohibitory law.—Exchange.

CHRISTIAN CITIZENSHIP RALLIES.

CHICAGO, ILL., September 13—The Christian Endeavor society of the Hyde Park Church of Christ, corner Fifty-seventh street and Lexington Avenue, is inaugurating a series of Christian Citizenship Rallies to be held at eight o'clock on Sunday evening, beginning September 28 and closing November second. The desire, on the part of the committee, is to arouse interest in the question of civic righteousness, temperance and prohibition. Following is the list of speakers: September 28, Oliver W. Stewart; October 5, John G. Woolley; October 12, Mrs. Ella S. Stewart; October 19, Wm. P. F. Ferguson; October 26, James A. Tate; November 2, Oliver W. Stewart.

HEREDITY.

One of the most startling and stumbling passages among the early truths of scripture is the one found in the second commandment, where by the eternal and just laws of God in nature, "the iniquity of the father is visited unto the children of the third and fourth generation," and lest that overwhelm the soul with its sadness, in the same breath God tells us that His mercy extends "to thousands of them that love Him and that keep His commandments." Of late years social economists have made much of the study of heredity and claim it almost as a new truth but just discovered by modern science, while in a brief study, we find the Bible is the oldest and strongest authority on the subject of heredity, teaching that sin was the inheritance of our race, and that special sins were transmitted from father to son, just as family traits were curable by care and culture in the third or fourth generation, if not in the second. The voice from Sinai ought to have been enough, without human experience, but one of the saddest facts of life everywhere is that every one seeks his own experience, and people will not begin where the former generation left off, but must too oft seek similar paths of sin and misery. Thousands of years ago Jeremiah said: "The Gentiles from the ends of the earth say our fathers have inherited vanity and things wherein there is no profit." We turn the old Bible stories over and can understand the deceit that so mars the character of Jacob, when we recall the deceitful nature of his mother Rebecca, who though beautiful and beloved, had what so many later day "beauties" possess, a vanity of self, out of which so easily grows deceit. (Let us be thankful that this generation demands something more of a young woman than a beautiful face.)

God's mercy shines wonderfully in all his dealings with Jacob. It seems as if God always took into account, what Jacob's early home training had been, and so made allowance for all of his lies and trickery—letting Jacob reap bitter results, and heart sorrows, but never forgetting to bless, and to love him through it all. Rebecca is well offset by Rachel's pure spirit, that so descended to her son, whose transparent character we all love.

We trace several generations of kings that forgot God in India, the result of the marriage of Jehoshaphat's son with Jezebel's daughter. It didn't pay then to marry a godless woman any better than it does to-day (though possessed with rare beauty.) We get a glimpse of David's mother, when we read Ps. 88:16. "Oh turn unto me and have mercy upon me and save the son of thine handmaid" and the secret of young Timothy's devotion. We all remember when Paul spoke of "the faith that dwelt in his grandmother Lois, and his mother, Eunice." Peter passes the truth along when he says "The promise is with you and your children."

Ezekiel, the brave young prophet of the Captivity, sends a clarion note down through the ages, in that great chapter on heredity (Ezekiel 18), where results and their cure, run side by side and divine mercy overtops heredity by divine grace—the only cure—so ably expressive in later days by the words: "Who is He that overcometh the world, but he that believeth that Jesus is the Christ." Medical journals are full of cases of "Inherited Tendencies," and cite diseases that seem incurable in less than three generations; the disease ever cropping out in the innocent victims, down to the fourth generation.

In England, a long line of night watchmen had their heartiest meal at midnight. Finally, a man of the fourth generation, sought other employment but had to rise and eat at midnight. His son was brought up by a relative, who was astonished the son awakened nightly, faint and hungry, quired food as a necessity. Here heredity itself as a natural law of development, in of human action.

"The drunkard's thirst is only wine in generation, whisky in the second, and delirium in the third." No father can be a drinker and this awful fact not stand in his way.

It is claimed that there is not to-day in a family untainted, who cannot point with the blighted life of some one within the radius. Too often a loved one nearer home ere midday, a living derelict, or cut off, full is, through the awful blight of the drunkard. Hundreds of our noblest men in America recognizing this truth, are total abstainers, and knowledge of this truth, a better race of men come. Give America four generations of total abstainers and what may she not do?

Criminal heredity is being made a study, and a late census of our larger prisons that fifty per cent of the worst criminals came from families where other criminals were found. "old Margaret," that criminal of New York, over two hundred descendants in jails and and think what might have been saved to had she been rescued in girlhood. She has a terrible lesson, and thereby done more to in to Christian work in the slums, than any other in America. Questionable fame, but we have a lesson.

Every Sunday-school teacher may have power sometime to save hundreds through the opportunity to just save one soul.

Surely "no man liveth unto himself, or doth he himself." "Human Influence," a thought replete with meaning. It begins the study of and it helps to solve the problem of "environment," overcome by God's grace, proves heredity or order reaching to Heaven, as we sing together taught over again in the 103d Psalm: "But the Lord is from everlasting to everlasting righteousness unto children's children."—The

The L. T. L. was organized May 20, 1886 incorporated May 16, 1890. Much of the success the work is due to the former State leaders, L. T. A. Straw, Miss W. E. Peckinpaugh and Amanda R. Shedd. The departments taken up: Organization, with two organizers in the field (Mr. James L. Gipe of Indianapolis, and Miss Ina Coggeshall, of Marion), Anti-Narcotic, Anti Gambling, Medal Contest, Mercy and Help, and Flower Mission. Our State Convention will meet in the city of Huntington, in connection with the W's, October 3 to 7. Fifteen new Legions have been organized so far this year. Kokomo has the largest general Legion, with Miss Fannie Pedigo as leader. Seymour is the oldest Legion. Every Union in Huntington county has a Legion. Our Medal Contest Superintendent reports fifty-four silver and two small gold medals used.

New York State L. T. L.

Nearly every one of New York's sixty counties has a general L. T. L. secretary and seven counties have L. T. L. organizations holding conventions twice a year. The State Senior L. T. L., organized in 1893, has 1,402 graduates. Seven departments are carried on. Much money has been raised by asking each Senior Legion to contribute $2 to the State fund and by securing life members at $10 each. The Senior Legions have been the best training schools for young men in reform work. At least four saloons have been closed through their efforts.

Nearly every young man who graduates becomes a Prohibitionist. In one Legion thirteen young men vote the Prohibition ticket. The largest Senior Legion in Ithaca has ninety-six pledged and paid mem-bered all ages are brought together. Successful Legions are maintained in German settlements among a beer-drinking population. The pledge is not at first presented, but is gradually introduced and carefully explained and illustrated many times before signatures are asked. In one case twelve

On the evening of the 12th forty et at the home of our Treasurer, Mrs. Mary o assist in the opening of the free will offering es. Choice recitations, interspersed with music, ed by Bible Salad and light refreshments. More an five dollars was added to the treasury. Our County Convention will occur the 26th in Muncie. Alice Ruth Palmer will attend the convention and deliver a lecture in the evening. There will be a gold contest in charge of Cora M. Steele.

Jonesboro Union elected its officers and ap- pointed its Superintendent for the new year. All posi- tions were willingly accepted and we hope to be ready to begin more work with the new year. Also ap- pointed a delegate at large to the convention. We are glad to have Mrs. Cammack-Gibson with us when she can be, for her kind words are always soothing and en- couraging. Mrs. Gordon's patented badge pin will be introduced at the State Convention and orders taken for the same by Mrs. C. S. Spence.

Lapel Union collected $3.25 by means of thank offering envelopes, though they came too late to hold meeting September 28. Sorry not to have done bet- ter, glad we did as well. We hope to have Mrs. Rev. Hobson, of California, in our union soon. She has just moved here and is an active worker in W. C. T. U. Her husband, Rev. Hobson, evangelist, is a very able temperance worker and a prohibitionist.

Jefferson Union, Clinton County, elected the following officers: Harriet Elliott, President; Ida VanSickle, Vice President; Jane Harshman, Secre- tary; Mary Thompson, Treasurer.

Superintendent of Social Purity, of LaPorte, writes: We regret that the house was not filled to overflowing to listen to the able and instructive addresses given by Mrs. R. W. McMahan, August 27.

Frankfort W. C. T. U. have elected their officers for the coming year as follows: President, Mrs. Emma Saylor; Vice President, Mrs. Robbins; Corres- ponding and Recording Secretary, Frank R. Hinds Treasurer, Mrs. Hattie Barricklow.

Elkhart County W. C. T. U's had an opportu- nity of an afternoon and evening's work by, Mrs. E. M. Haughton, our State Superintendent of the Evange- listic department. Three unions accepted gladly, one after some consideration and three did not find it con- venient to arrange for a meeting. In our work, the harrowing and the sowing do not manifest themselves readily, and many a worker has toiled without any idea of the immeasurable results, but though we can say with Paul, "We are perplexed, but not in despair" this we know, "The Day of Sheaves" shall reveal our labor. Sister Haughton sowed with prayer and en- deavor where she was permitted to; now we will trust the Lord for the growth and the yield.

September 3, in the Friends church in Bloom- ingdale, occurred the annual convention of Parke County W. C. T. U. This was the first September con- vention we heard of and in point of success will do for a leader. Reports of Local Presidents and County Superintendents showed good work done along our different lines. Result of election: President, May T. Lindley, Bloomingdale; Vice President, Salina Newlin, Marshall; Recording Secretary, Sarah M. Owens, Marshall; Corresponding Secretary, Mary C. Cook, Montezuma; Treasurer, Lou M. Spray, Bloom- ingdale. Afternoon session. Orpha Morris recited in a most pleasing manner. "Alcohol and Opiates for Children; What shall we give in their stead?" was ably discussed by Dr. McKinley. "Effect of Alcohol and Opiates on the past Generation and on the Com- ing," Dr. Woodard. The final result of the complete enforcement of the Nicholas Law, was ably discussed by Rev. McGaughey and others. Mrs. Rose Pearce, of Terre Haute, was with us throughout the conven- tion and most ably assisted in discussing the differ- ent topics of the day. Her lecture at night, "The Twentieth Century Boy, What Shall He Be?" was thoroughly enjoyed by all. Our people were capti- vated with her bright and pleasing ways and hope she will come again.

A very interesting meeting of Bloomingdale Union was that of the opening of the thank offerings. $6.00 was the amount enclosed. And the reading of the texts was a real uplift. Such as, "Give and it shall be given to you; good measure, pressed down and shaken together and running over shall men give into your bosom. For with what measure ye mete, withal it shall be measured to you again." "He that hath a beautiful eye shall be blessed; for he giveth of his bread to the poor." "The Lord loveth a cheerful giver."

Mrs. Anna Palmateer has recently presented the Hadley Industrial School with a dictionary and rack—surely a practical gift.

Peru Union held its annual meeting at the home of Mrs. Dr. Ward, September 2. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. John Blair; First Vice President, Mrs. Hollingshade; Second Vice President, Mrs. Dr. Ward; Third Vice President, Mrs. J. W. Cain; Fourth Vice President, Mrs. Harry Nyce; Fifth Vice President, Mrs. I. N. Grisso; Sec- retary, Mrs. Moses Puterbaugh; Treasurer, Mrs. L. E. Parsons. A paper on Christian Giving, by Mrs. Parsons, was very interesting. Following this was the repeating of texts accompanying the free will offerings, which was impressive.

LaPorte Union's yearly meeting was held Sep- tember 4. All the old officers and Superintendents were re-elected. Delegates to the State Convention were appointed.

During latter part of June Mrs. E. M. Haughton spent eight days in DeKalb County, speaking every night and twice on Sabbath and Wednesday. The W. C. T. U. of Auburn had a very large parlor meet- ing, which was held in Mr. Eckhart's beautiful home. There were over 60 present, although the day was not pleasant. They had music, a good recitation and a short address from Mrs. Haughton and closed with refreshments and a social time. Each member was privileged to invite a friend and Mrs. Eckhart invited as many as she desired. Mrs. Haughton spoke in seven towns, riding over the country with Mrs. Wise, who is earnestly working to build up the W. C. T. U. in her county. At the meeting in Butler, all of the ministers dismissed their Sabbath night audiences and came out to hear Mrs. Haughton speak and a young lady recite who went from Auburn. Although the weather was threatening the church was full and the ministers were very kind and sympathetic as well as the audience. Mrs. Wise appreciated the work very much.

Dr. C. H. St John, of Salina, has been elected a member of the faculty of the Kansas Wesleyan Col- lege, to deliver a series of lectures on Hygiene and Heredity, or the effects of nicotine and stimulants on the human system. The faculty is composed of pro- gressive men who believe that institutions of higher education should make a specialty of teaching and promulgating the principles of total abstinence.—Ex.

Morocco Union officers for 1902-03: President, Mary C. McConnahey; Vice President, Euphemia Gar- rard; Vice President of Churches, M. E., Emma Kess- ler; U. B., Mary Camblin; Christian, Matilda Archi- bald; Corresponding and Recording Secretary, Aman- da Webber; Treasurer, Mary Camblin; Superintend- ent Literature and Evangelistic, Emma Kessler; Purity and Mothers' Meetings, Euphemia Gerrard; Narcotics, Ella Troxell; Franchise, Amanda Webber; Scientific Temperance, Matilda Archibald; Flower Mission, Mary E. Handley; Non-Alcoholic Medica- tion, Hester Urch; Visiting Committee, Mesdames. Urch, Archibald and Bebout.

Washington County held at Campbellsburg, in the First Baptist Church. We had with us Miss Palmer, of Franklin, who gave several good talks and a great deal of encouragement. The program for the evening consisted of a W. C. T.

THE MESSAGE.

"Not by Might nor by Power, but by My Spirit."

VOL. VII. No. 11.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., NOVEMBER, 1902.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR.

WELCOME SONG.

Words by Mrs. Lou E. Rall.

Music by Rev. C. C. Strickland and Charles Strickland, Huntington.
(As sung at the State Convention at Huntington.)

There's a glad and happy greeting in the faces here to-night;
There's a warm and joyous beating, 'mong the hearts that flutter light;
There's a bright and smiling welcome, shining from our loveliest eyes,
With a glow that burns as tender as the warmth from summer skies,
For comrades are all coming, from the East, the South, the West,
They are gathering in glad numbers, all of those whom we love best;
Comrades true, with steadfast purpose, brave of heart and high of aim,
Bearing high our pure white banner, marching forward "In His Name."

CHORUS.

Welcome! Welcome! joyous Welcome! All who wear the Ribbon white!
To our homes and to our hearthstones, you are welcome here tonight.

We are proud to give a greeting to this noble temperance throng,
And this tiny bow of ribbon shows that we, too, "all belong."

There's been much and busy planning for the dear White Ribbon friends;

Such a joyous, happy meaning always, love to duty lends.
Hands have given willing service, tireless feet run to and fro,
Bearing burdens without murmur, glad the weary way to go.
Now has come love's full fruition, as we greet your faces bright,
Joining hearts with hands and voices in our services to-night,
For we all work under orders, Christ the Captain of our throng,
And we gladly shout and sing it, "We belong, we all belong."

You have worked with earnest praying, in the battlefield of life,
Hordes of evil ever staying, making peace place of strife.
Some have fallen in the striving, gone to broader fields above,
But we feel they guide and help us, from our Father's home of love;
So our hearts are warm and tender, as we gather here below,
Thanking God, our Heavenly Father, who protects and guides us so.
Praise Him with increasing courage, marching in this Temperance band,
Working always for our motto, "God and home and every land."

HUNTINGTON CONVENTION.

The twenty-ninth annual convention opened in Huntington, October 3, and held until 1 p. m. October 7. 115 delegates present.

Preparations had been most fully made for our coming by Mrs. Rall, the County President, and her faithful corps of helpers. Committees met us at the trains, messenger boys saw us to our places of entertainment and baggage was duly dispatched by expressmen. Banners and flags and white and yellow bunting decorated the beautiful M. E. church wherein we were made to feel at home. All General Officers were present. Forty-four ex officio members answered to roll call.

The Loyal Temperance Legion convention was held on Saturday forenoon, which brought many bright boys and girls to the platform.

Kokomo Legion has paid most dues and also has largest class of graduates, and thus won the banner.

The following officers were elected for the State L. T. L.:

Miss Edith Hillis, Kokomo—President.
Lee Pedigo—First Vice-President.
James Mix—Second Vice-President.
Miss Susie McWhirter—Corresponding Secretary.
Miss Hazel S. Crowley—Recording Secretary.
Nathan Lenfestey—Treasurer.

A most excellent plan of work was given and adopted by the convention, which will be given in full.

Much time was given to amending the Constitution. No material change was made, simply correcting the typographical errors and changing the phraseology of the subject matter without changing its meaning.

The convention voted a life-size picture of Miss Willard, framed, presented to the convention church.

Miss Sears was made a life member by the convention, and the $25 passed over to the Treasurer.

Mrs. Zent was the musical director for the convention in the absence of Mrs. Studebaker.

Mrs. McDaniels, of Terre Haute, Vigo County President, received the premium for the most completely filled blank in Institute work.

Mrs. Anna Campbell, of Frankfort, received premium for most work done in department of railroad employes, and the Josephine Nickols Union, Wabash, received premium for most money spent in this department.

Messages of Greetings were received from Kentucky and Ohio W. C. T. U. conventions, from the Friends' yearly meeting held at Richmond, from the Sheriff of Vigo County, and from Mr. Masters, Chairman of the State Central Prohibition Committee.

The convention accepted the invitation to hold its annual meeting at Terre Haute in 1903.

A beautiful spirit pervaded the convention throughout. The Officers and Superintendents made excellent reports. Many Unions have done good work during the year. One of the very interesting features of the convention was the State convention of the Loyal Temperance Legion, which was held on Saturday morning. The State President, Miss Edith Hillis, presided. The attendance was unusually large and very enthusiastic.

Great advancement is being made in this branch of our work by developing the young people.

Miss Clara Sears, in her sweet, winsome manner, conducted the young woman's hour. It is encouraging to see so many young faces in our conventions. We welcome them. May each one of us help to bring them in.

The diamond medal contest was conducted by our own dear Mrs. Mary E. Balch in her inimitable way. Daisy Steadington, of Terre Haute, was awarded the medal. MESSAGE readers have seen her face in these columns. Mrs. Balch said good bye! it being her last service for Indiana in the capacity of Superintendent of Contest Department. Indiana's loss is Kentucky's gain. No other woman in the history of Indiana W. C. T. U. has been permitted to build for herself so great a monument in the hearts of the young people as has Mrs. Balch. When she can no longer talk Prohibition, those she has started in the work will be talking and voting it.

The mass meeting on Sunday afternoon was a great success. The attendance was very large. President Wilson presided. Mrs. Elizabeth Haughton conducted the devotional exercises. The address was by Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, the newly-elected Vice-President. In the truest sense it was eloquent, able and convincing.

The pulpits of Huntington were occupied morning and evening by White Ribboners. The lecture on Monday night, by Mrs. Viola D. Romans, of Ohio, was considered one of the very best ever heard in an Indiana convention.

Miss Alice Ruth Palmer, of Franklin, the newly-elected Treasurer, is one of our round-the-world missionaries, who spent several years in South Africa. After returning to this country she served a few years as pastor of a Congregational church in Minnesota, and also State Vice President of the Minnesota W. C. T. U. Returning to Indiana, she was pastor at Hammond of the Congregational church, but now devotes most of her time to W. C. T. U. work. As our State Treasurer, Miss Palmer will receive the hearty sympathy and co-operation of all Indiana White Ribbons.

Every W. C. T. U. should plan some way to interest, and if possible to organize, the young people for definite temperance work. If these seem impractical then the appointing of large committees on temperance should be urged in all young people's church societies. When this is done the energetic, aggressive W. C. T. U. membership will cautiously suggest and help such committee to hold quarterly public temperance meetings. If victory comes soon it will only be brought by the young peoples' assistance. At the beginning of this new year consider well what can be done to secure the efforts of the young people for Prohibition.

THE TREASURER'S MESSAGE.

Greeting from the Treasurer entering upon her new duties, as you read these words. Please lend your attention, dear comrades, to the following:

NEW DUTIES OF THE TREASURER.

You have commanded me, through action of your State Convention, by a unanimous vote taken on the recommendation of both our Editor and past Treasurer, to receive of each woman's dollar dues sixty-five cents, and her name and address for the MESSAGE. Also to accept and pay all bills on account of the MESSAGE. You see this will increase considerably the work of the State Treasurer, but we think will prove wise legislation, both from the standpoint of convenience to the subscriber and the economy of State funds. Your State will save almost the entire appropriation paid the Business Manager, and postage on receipts for money sent to her.

ANNUAL REPORTS.

Please send me your orders early and remit the price—fourteen cents each for copies to be sent by mail, ten cents for each copy to be expressed, the Local Unions and not the State to pay the express charges. Please do not keep the publishers waiting for their money. Cannot we have the entire edition sold, and sold early in the year? We certainly all need, and our friends need the information the Report gives us.

THE FREE WILL OFFERING MEETINGS.

"If any of you lack wisdom let him ask of God, who giveth to all men liberally and upbraideth not." Our work is so important we have need of wisdom from on high. We have need of funds that the work may be wisely prosecuted. We believe that the annual meeting for prayer, praise and consecration, with the free will offering from members and friends not only a helpful plan for State and local Unions, but an absolute necessity for best development and vitality. Let us look forward to these meetings, and carry them out with faith and joy in His service.

ALICE RUTH PALMER,
Franklin, Ind.

SCIENTIFIC TEMPERANCE EDUCATION.

Friends of the cause will welcome Dr. H. D. Didama, Dean of the Syracuse University Medical School, and Rev. James R. Day, L. L. D., Chancellor of Syracuse University, as members of the Advisory Board of the Department of Scientific Temperance Instruction of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. Dr. Didama ranks high in the medical world, and his knowledge of the alcohol question, being that of the specialist, eminently fits him for service with the men of science on the Text-book Committee, on which he is to serve. Dr. Day is well known as an educator and administrator. His counsels regarding a form of education which concerns the children of the entire country will be gratefully received by the whole people. The closing words in his letter of acceptance ring true. He says:

"Never was there such demand for all good people to unite in the great cause as now."

A GREAT DISCIPLE PROHIBITION RALLY.

OMAHA, NEBRASKA, October 16—The Disciples of Christ have just opened their General Church Convention in this city. It will last for a week or more. The first day preceding the convention, which was today, was given entirely to the consideration of the Prohibition question. A most excellent program was prepared by a committee of which W. H. Boles, of Alma, Ill., was chairman, and of which J. A. Lord, editor of the Christian Standard of Cincinnati, and J. H. Garrison, editor of The Christian Evangelist, of St. Louis, were also members. There was a great rally last night in the Coliseum, addressed by Oliver W. Stewart, of Chicago. Promptly at nine o'clock this morning the Prohibition conference began with W. H. Boles in the chair. George F. Hall, of Chicago, sent a stirring paper which was read by Noah J. Wright. Another paper by D. R. Dungan was read by Simpson Ely. J. A. Lord, of Cincinnati, followed with an address that brought the people to a high pitch of enthusiasm and the morning program was closed by one of the best papers ever read in a Prohibition conference, by W. J. Lahmon on "The Treble Appeal for Prohibition."

The afternoon was a sort of free for all and consisted of addresses and papers by Emerson, of Kansas, Wright, of Illinois, Jackman, of Indiana, Ely, of Minnesota, Jones, of Texas, Stewart, of Illinois, and others. During the entire day the attendance ran from one to two thousand people. Strong arguments were made in support of the Prohibition party. While the way was left open for representatives of other parties to express themselves, the conference was so overwhelmingly for the Prohibition party as to make the meeting appear as nothing else than a Prohibition party rally. A committee was appointed of which W. H. Boles was made chairman, to prepare the program for another such rally a year from this time at the next convention. It is intended to make these rallies permanent features of the great annual gathering of the Disciples of Christ.

PROHIBITIONISTS BUSY IN WASHINGTON.

SEATTLE, WASH., October 4—These are busy times in Washington. State Chairman R. E. Dunlap is on the move most of the time attending conferences, holding rallies and meeting with County conventions. A determined effort is being made to arouse all our forces with a view to a largely increased vote.

CUSHING IN PENNSYLVANIA.

UNIONTOWN, PA., October 4—W. M. Likins is rejoicing over the fact that the National Committee has granted him the use of Volney B. Cushing for one week commencing October 8. Mr. Cushing will put in the seven days in this County in a series of big meetings which Mr. Likins already has under headway.

AT EVERETT, WASH.

Recently the largest church in the city was packed to the doors to the close of the Dobbins Trio's Illustrated Prohibition Lecture. No temperance speaker except John G. Woolley has ever drawn and held such an audience in this town. Numbers were added to the Prohibition ranks who may well congratulate themselves on having secured Prof. Dobbins and family.

TEMPERANCE LEADERS TO BE WEDDED.

It is with pleasure that we announce that Dr. Homer J. Hall, of Franklin, and Miss Mary Hadley, of Bloomingdale, will be married on November 6.

The significance of this marriage is apparent—Dr. Hall, as a physician, has been one of the most aggressive men in his profession in denouncing the use of alcohol medicinally. It was his paper read at a recent convention at Omaha, which caused much enthusiasm on the subject. As State Chairman of the Prohibition party of Indiana, Dr. Hall's splendid ability as an organizer and his wonderful leadership, brought Indiana into the front rank of States in Prohibition work.

Miss Mary Hadley, Indiana's sweet-spirited Vice-President, has served in that capacity for nine years. As State Superintendent of W. C. T. U. Institutes, Miss Hadley made a remarkable record and was elected Superintendent of the Department of Institute in the National W. C. T. U. For years she has been afield in Indiana and recently in other States. Everywhere her beautiful spirit and splendid ability has been recognized and appreciated. She has been warmly welcomed into many white ribbon homes of Indiana. Hundreds, yea thousands, claim her friendship.

It indeed seems fitting that two such noble, beautiful, philanthropic characters as these should unite their hearts and interests. Surely the hand of Providence is guiding in this. In a very peculiar manner Dr. Hall and Miss Hadley have been identified with the temperance movement and Christian advancement. They are both greatly loved, admired and appreciated. Their marriage will not be private. No formal invitations sent out, but all friends will be welcome. The wedding will occur November 6, at high noon, in the Friends' church, Bloomingdale, Parke County, Ind.

The business management of the MESSAGE goes into the hands of our State Treasurer. This by recommendation of the present incumbent and by vote of the convention. The present term of office expires November 1. The new plan, I am sure, will be heartily favored by all who consider it. The Local Treasurer remits dues, MESSAGE money and names of members to the County Treasurer, who in turn remits to the State Treasurer. The Local Treasurer's quarterly report blanks will contain a blank lined sheet for the names and addresses of all members who have paid dues during the quarter. These will be filled out by the Local Treasurer and sent to the County Treasurer at the end of the quarter. The County Treasurer makes out her summary report as usual, including the money for subscriptions to the MESSAGE, and sends with this report the lists of paid members received from Local Treasurers, to the State Treasurer. Thus names and money go directly to the State Treasurer.

In the past there have been many who did not regularly receive their papers. Since I have had the books this has caused me much regret, how much I cannot express. Some members receive all their mail except the MESSAGE in their husbands' names, and sometimes this causes their paper to miscarry. Then, too, sisters, you would be surprised to know how many names come on the list of subscribers, as Mrs. Brown or Mrs. Allen, and without street number or Rural Route. It often takes some time to get the correct name and address. Of all things necessary it is to write very plainly the proper names.

When our paper can be mailed by machine the subscribers' lists will be printed and copies of the lists for Unions, not getting their papers properly, can be sent to the Union and corrected. Then all renewals will be made to read same as old list. You see the names and addresses will be printed in a column, the paper folded by machinery and each name cut off and past by machinery, the entire work writing names, folding and pasting of the MESSAGE being done in about two hours. Because it is necessary to keep the lists set up all the time, the type can not be used for anything else. Then it takes some work for the printer to set 5,000 names and addresses, the latter including not only name of town or city and State, but street number and Rural Route. Yes, and it means something to copy all these on wrappers once a month by hand. I hope that the MESSAGE may soon be put out by machinery, and that everyone of our dear White Ribboners will get the paper promptly.

For your courteous, kind, sympathetic co-operation I thank you all, especially do I appreciate the leniency extended to me by those who have failed to get their papers.

Heartily and cordially,

LUELLA F. McWHIRTER.

P. S.—By mistake I thought my term of office ended at time of convention. For this reason did not answer letters and send receipts, expecting to turn them over to another. Please pardon delay thus caused.

MEDAL CONTEST.

MY DEAR CO-WORKERS: It is with hesitancy that I undertake the Medal Contest work, when we all know so well how efficiently it has been carried on with Mother Balch at the helm. I am strange to most of you, but trust we may soon become acquainted and that I shall have the hearty co-operation and earnest prayers of all sisters, that we may do much good in the name of our God. I should like to request that you always enclose money order when sending for medals and books, and in your first order please give full address, including County, that I may be enabled to keep a correct record by counties. Push the work, dear sisters, for we represent a most noble cause, and our department is one which will tell. Pray for me and help me. Yours for Victory,

CORA M. STEELE,
Medal Superintendent.

SCIENTIFIC TEMPERANCE INSTRUCTION.

Now is the time to begin work in the Scientific Temperance Department. Near 20,000,000 children are marching to and from the public school and the future success, largely, in after life of these girls and boys will depend upon the training, impressions and impulses that are received while they are pupils of our great government. The habits of life first, for these make character after habits are well instilled in the mind and heart of the child. Then the further infusing of all knowledge and understanding.

There is nothing so near to a child as its own body and the proper care of it should be the first thought of parent or guardian. So many parents have not been educated along the line of "Health and Hygiene," and we who have received the vision of the destruction of mind and body by the use of narcotics, must stand as monitors for the public health and welfare. But, judging from the work reported in this department last year, little thought was given to the public health. In the great State of Indiana only 120 Scientific Temperance Journals were reported taken by teachers. This journal contains the most excellent lessons for every grade from the baby room to the high school. Not only is the subject matter most excellent, but the advertisements are worthy to be read. The revised and authorized and carefully inspected physiologies are advertised in this Journal. One of the first things to do is to get subscriptions to this Journal. Let us begin now.

MATTIE CAMMACK-GIBSON,
State Superintendent.

THE DRINK PROBLEM.

We get the following figures from the report of the board of managers of the National Temperance Society, June, 1902, entitled "Prohibition vs. High License."

According to the last report issued by the U. S. Commissioner of Internal Revenue—

In 1901 Prohibition Kansas produced 22,486 gallons of distilled liquors,

While high-license Nebraska produced 2,137,769 gallons of distilled liquors.

High-license Missouri produced 166,097 gallons of distilled liquors.

For each 1,000 of her people Kansas distilled 15 gallons, Nebraska 2,000 gallons and Missouri 500 gallons.

Of fermented liquors Kansas produced 9,022 barrels, Nebraska 255,792 barrels, and Missouri 2,699,788 barrels. Per 1,000 of inhabitants Kansas produced 6 barrels, Nebraska 230 barrels, and Missouri 840 barrels.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue reports that for manufacturers' stamps and liquor sellers' license during 1901 he collected from Kansas $115,843; from Nebraska, $2,776,908, and from Missouri $5,576,945. Per 1,000 inhabitants this amounts to $77 in Kansas, $2,520 for Nebraska, and $1,740 for Missouri.

Increase of taxable property in Kansas under prohibition from 1880 to 1900, $200,234,312.06. In high license Nebraska $92,363,920.41, a difference of $11,600,000 a year in favor of Kansas. From 1831 to 1889 the prison population of Nebraska increased 167 per cent, while Kansas decreased 5 per cent.

About 1893 a brewer in St. Louis failed and gave as one of the reasons of his failure that his business in Kansas had decreased about 90 per cent.—Exchange.

CONVERSE TEMPERANCE MEETING.

A series of Prohibition meetings were held in Converse beginning Monday night, October 13, 1902, when Rev. Waldo, Pastor of the United Brethren church, spoke on the duties of Christian officers. The other speakers for the week were, Rev. S. W. Traum, pastor of the Christian church; Rev. W. T. Outland, of Amboy, pastor of Friends' church; and Rev. Enos Harvey, of Fairmount, pastor of Friends' church. On Friday night the local W. C. T. U. rendered the following program to an appreciative audience: Scripture reading and prayer by the President, Mrs. Nettie Traum. Favorite Scripture texts given by several present. Reports from the State convention at Huntington by Messrs. Hainlen Babcock and Edward Reading, "Young Woman's Influence in Temperance Work" by Miss Laura G. Cammack. Recitations by Mrs. Mattie Outland, and Mr. Bert Lamb, of Amboy. Solo, Rev. S. W. Traum. Short talks by Rev. Armentrout, pastor of Presbyterian church, and Rev. Parker of Presbyterian church. A stranger present spoke of the work of the W. C. T. U. in the settlement districts in Chicago and the amount of good done by them. Much interest was manifested in Prohibition and W. C. T. U. work, and we believe that good was done.

LAW AND STATISTICS.

"Knowledge is power." Do you not see at once the great importance and value of our becoming acquainted with our own Indiana State laws on all reform questions handled by our W. C. T. U.? It is recommended that we, as Unions, take up the study, "Abstract of Laws" concerning the "Welfare of every citizen."

Gather up the results of the work of the saloon; count the cost. You will be surprised in the balancing of the accounts as shown in this fine report from Shugart Union, Marion, Ind.:

Name of Local Union, Shugart; County, Grant; name of Local Superintendent, Laura Haines; post-office address, 1339 West 1st st., Marion, Ind. What Literature do you use, MESSAGE; do the Unions of your County make a study of the laws of Indiana which relate to the home, to purity, to child labor, prosperity of women, cigarettes, etc., yes; how many saloons in your County, 144; what is your county license fee, $100.00; what is your city license, $250.00; total amount of revenue obtained from license in your county, $14,750.00; how many violations of law, 847; how many days spent in jail, none; what crimes have been committed for which the liquor traffic is responsible, murder, theft, etc., etc.; cost of prosecution, $21,265 97; how many convicts in your jail brought there through drink, 800.

It gives us an outline of the work expected of the Superintendent of this Department. Am indebted to Mrs. Stevenson, Superintendent of Grant County, for many helpful suggestions for a plan of work.

Dear Sisters—This is a very important department of work. We are to be the gleaners for facts and figures which make undisputable arguments in favor of prohibition.

FLORENCE DELONG.

EDITOR MESSAGE—By motion at State Convention held at Huntington, the report of Shugart Union, Marion, Ind., was to be published in the MESSAGE.

The word law is only three letters of the alphabet, but it is simply immense to me.

FLORENCE DELONG.

STATE CONVENTION ITEMS.

The election of State officers was as follows: President, Mrs. Eunice P. Wilson, Fairmount; Vice-President, Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, Richmond, R. R. No. 1; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Hattie Wright Brand, 1403 Ashland Ave., Indianapolis; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Mattie C. Gibson, Jonesboro; Treasurer, Miss Alice R. Palmer, Franklin.

Mrs. Lou. Rall, as General Chairman, and her associates on State Convention Committees, planned beautifully and well for the comfort and pleasure of the delegates and visitors.

The welcome in cordial greetings and loving care, as well as beautiful song, bound closer and closer the ties of the White Ribbon sisterhood.

Across the street from the Convention Church was the Jackman Hotel, where all the State Officers, Mrs. Balch and Mrs. McWhirter (Editor) were entertained free by the committee for dinners.

On account of the rain many delegates stopped at the Jackman, where everything possible was done to make them comfortable.

Mrs. Kathryn W. Holler went home from the Convention very ill. For days, anxious, loving friends watched her bedside. At this writing she is improving.

The Press work of Miss Pearl Rall in Huntington means much to our cause. This dear young girl throws her ability and enthusiasm into the W. C. T. U. work, and splendid results follow. This year she is to be an associate in the Franchise department. This seems fitting. Last spring she graduated from the Indianapolis Law College with great credit to herself and her friends.

Mrs. Viola D. Romans, of Ohio, was a guest of the Convention, and made a most able, convincing and beautiful address. A welcome awaits Mrs. Romans whenever she will come again to Indiana.

The mass meeting on Sunday afternoon was one of the best ever held at a State Convention. The music was far superior to what would be possible in many cities. Huntington has some of the finest musical talent in the State, several of whom are genuine White Ribboners, too.

Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley's address was eloquent. She stirred the people in a wonderful manner. Truly Mrs. Stanley is a brilliant woman on the platform.

Many young faces were in the Convention. The young life is greatly appreciated.

Previous to the election of officers Miss Mary Hadley and Mrs. A. T. Whitson announced that they appreciated the love, loyalty and associations during the past years of service, but that they felt they could no longer serve as State officers. Miss Hadley, as State and National Superintendent of Institutes, finds her hands more than full. Mrs. Whitson is becoming very much absorbed in the efforts to push the great department of Non-Alcoholic Medication. Besides this, Mrs. Whitson has been giving much time and thought to work as a member of the Temperance Committee of the Friends Western Yearly Meeting. These workers have been for years closely allied to the interests of our White Ribbon cause in the official counsels of the Indiana W. C. T. U. For their success we bespeak from their constituency the same loyal, earnest support as has been given them.

FIRST OF ITS KIND—BILL AGAINST DRUNKENNESS TO BE INTRODUCED IN AUSTRIA.

VIENNA, October 19.—The bill for the purpose of combating drunkenness which is being prepared by the Austrian government is the first measure of its kind in the history of Austria. It is an outcome of the strong pressure of public opinion and the efforts of the temperance party.

It provides for the imprisonment of persons found intoxicated in a public place over a certain number of times within six months, and restricts the sale of bottled spirits, which, it is declared, leads to home drinking, to holders of special licenses. Only one such license is to be granted for every 500 inhabitants.—Indianapolis Journal.

"Are you paid anything for swearing?" Eli Perkins once asked a commercial traveler. "No, I do it for nothing." "Well," said the lecturer, "you work cheap. You lay aside your character as a gentleman, inflict pain on your friends, break a commandment, and lose your own soul—and for nothing! You do certainly work cheap—very cheap!"

PORTLAND.

The National W. C. T. U. Convention was held at Portland, October 17-23, in the splendid Opera House. Lady Henry Somerset was present, and by her magnetic presence and great personality added much to the interest and importance of the Convention. Her strong denunciation of Bishop Potter was in unmistakable language.

Lady Somerset said she had heard that in New York women have begun to frequent the saloons. "I have felt," she said, "the bitterest possible sorrow because of the position assumed on the temperance question by a distinguished Episcopalian Bishop in America, a Bishop of my own church. Over and over again have I tried to think when some of his words have come to me with all the force of a cruel blow.

FIRST DISCREDITED.

"I could not believe at first that a bishop so honored, who had so long filled a great place in the church of God, could be so blind to the evils of intemperance, so ignorant of the misery it causes."

She then quoted what Bishop Potter said concerning the terribly hard, trying life led by the poor man: "I can not blame him, who evens up, as he says, and introduces a little variety into his life by getting drunk."

"It would be well," said Lady Somerset, with almost passionate earnestness, "if Bishop Potter would go to the homes of some women who wait trembling for footsteps that should be music in her ears, because her husband introduced a little variety into his life and got drunk."

TEMPERANCE BEFORE POLITICS.

"Why is it that so few people are willing to go into this reform movement? Because they fear to lose some little political social advantages. The community is so bound up that it is hard for a man to come out strongly against intemperance without offending some one, and they remain silent. At the ballot-box men should put up their temperance principles before their political principles. When they do this they will settle a great many evils that now prevail all over the world."

The Indiana party left Indianapolis, October 14, at 6:25 p. m., in a sleeper, for Buffalo, spent a day at Niagara Falls and that evening took a sleeper on to Boston, where a few hours were spent, and then they went to Portland, where the White Ribboners met them. The party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Wilson, of Fairmount, and the following delegates: Mrs. Carrie Jones, Terre Haute; Miss Lucretia Hobart, Gallaudet; Mrs. A. P. Daub, Goshen; Mrs. Sallie Roberts, Pendleton; Mrs. S. M. Stahl, Hartford City; Mrs. Culla Vayhinger, Moore's Hill; Mrs. Julia Trish, Warsaw; Mrs. Lou. E. Rall, Huntington. Visitors: Mrs. Anna Palmateer, Terre Haute; Mrs. Helen Sherfey, Mrs. Sherfey jr., Miss Elizabeth Sherfey, Mrs. Sarah Ranney, Mrs. Wilder, Mrs. Kemp, all of Brazil; Mrs. Emma Weatherwax, Bloomfield; Mrs. Dr. McNabb, Indianapolis; Mr. and Mrs. Sumner, Mooresville; Mrs. Jennie Ridgeway, Amboy. Besides these, Mrs. J. W. Pritchett, of Madisonville, Ky., and Mrs. Mary Balch, Louisville, Ky.

The party wore the Indiana badge, and was most congenial.

Rest Cottage continues to be the Mecca of visitors to Chicago and Evanston, one hundred and fifty friends from different States having registered within two weeks. Two visitors were from Bulgaria, Rev. S. J. Shoonkoff, pastor of the Baptist Church in Sophia, Bulgaria, and Miss Amalia Rosenberg, who has come for a course of study in America. Mrs. Davidson, of Ontario, and Miss P. T. Duncan, of Birmingham, England, were interested callers. Miss Wintringer took a party of twenty bright young people from the State L. T. L. convention and they made headquarters ring with their pretty and inspiring songs. Mr. S. Frank, an enthusiastic Prohibitionist from Stephenville, Texas, brought his whole family to visit the home of Frances Willard. Mr. and Mrs. Horace Mann Willard, of Wollaston, Mass., cousins of Miss Willard, also paid a visit to the National Officers.—Union Signal.

Miss Willard says, "The W. C. T. U. has done more for women than she can ever do for the world." To thousands and thousands of women with few advantages and opportunities, limited in education, restricted, shut in, the W. C. T. U. has been more than a college course—more than travel, more than wealth. It has opened the eyes of woman's understanding, broadened her horizon, deepened her sympathy for all humanity, quickened her spiritual perception, broken off ecclesiastical fetters, levelled sectarian walls, enlarged her whole being, and opened to her a new earth and a new heaven.—Exchange.

ONE DOOR FOR SALOONS.

Judge Wakefield, of Sioux City, Iowa, declares that "one door" in a saloon means what it says, and that back doors and side doors must be boarded up or bricked in. Hereafter not a saloon in the town will be allowed to have more than one door, and that door must open upon the public street. In this ruling of the court the benefit to the carpenters and brick masons will be the least of the advantages gained.—Union Signal.

CANTEN SOPHISTRY.

Gen. Funston, in his annual report, asserts that legislation against the canteen "has had no effect except to lower the discipline of the army, ruin scores of good soldiers and fill the pockets of a lot of saloon keepers." A canteen-sympathizing paper, in commenting on the foregoing, expresses its conviction that reform should have been begun at home in stamping out the disreputable saloons which the soldier patronizes outside the military reservations. We perfectly agree with our contemporary, affirming emphatically that such an end is the one we have been striving for all along, and we earnestly solicit the co-operation of all like-minded spirits and the press in general. The testimony of such Generals as A. S. Daggett and Nelson A. Miles, showing the demoralizing influence of the canteen, ought to have no small weight with persons seeking enlightenment on this question. If our soldiers cannot live without the canteen, how strong must be the manacles that bind slavish, pernicious habits, and how incompetent must be our officers to maintain army discipline.—Union Signal.

A LETTER.

The following letter from the Hayner Distilling Co., of Dayton, Ohio, was received by a prominent business man, a total abstainer, in one of our Indiana towns:

DEAR SIR: Won't you please tell us why you have never favored us with an order, though we have written you several times soliciting your patronage? If you don't use whisky, either medicinally or otherwise, kindly say so and we will not take up your time with any more letters. If you do use whisky, please be frank enough to tell us why we have not interested you, if you are not willing to fill out and mail us the enclosed card.

We hand you a stamped and addressed envelope for your reply. It will take but a minute or two of your time, and will be a favor which we will greatly appreciate.

A few words more, if you use whisky. Won't you let us ship you a trial order? You don't have to pay a cent, not even a postage stamp, if you are not perfectly satisfied. When you receive the whisky, take several drinks, have your friends sample it, and if the verdict is not in our favor, then send back what is left. We pay the express charges going, and coming back, too, if you don't want to keep the whisky. How could an offer be fairer? It certainly indicates that we have confidence in you and in the satisfying quality of our goods.

We thank you in advance for the courtesy of a reply, even if you will not give us a chance to please you and save you money as we have done with over a quarter of a million people who are now our regular customers.

Yours very truly,
THE HAYNER DISTILLING CO.,
Wm. Hayner, Pres't.

IMPORTANT.

83,350,000 bushels of grain were used last year in the manufacture of alcoholic liquor. This grain, if made into bread instead, would supply every family in the United States with 365 loaves of bread—a loaf every day in the year.

Over 1,175,370,000 gallons of alcoholic liquors were used in our country last year. This would fill a reservoir sixty feet wide, thirty feet deep, and twenty-five miles long, and would float all the navies of the world, from the smallest cutter to the most powerful war ship.

It is stated by the National Watchman, that "England has $91,000,000 invested in breweries in the United States," and that "last year she took out of the country, as beer receipts, $8,100,000 in gold."

Illinois has more distilleries than any other State in the Union. It pays one-fourth of the total internal revenue collected in the United States on the manufacture of liquors.

INDIAN TERRITORY.

MOTTO: "An L. T. L. in every town, for our God, our homes and our Territory."

RALLY CRY.

Indian Territory, L. T. L.
Hurrah! Hurrah!
We stand for all things pure and good,
For noble man and womanhood:
Prohibition—Home Protection, Peace and Purity.
Hurrah! Hurrah! Indian Territory.

We are making progress slowly. The sisters have not yet learned to report their work. Several new Legions have been organized this year and we are trying to do what can be done in a territory where you may organize a Legion and find out in a short time it has moved out and left you. Our largest organization is at Muscogee, Mrs. Harsha, leader.

MRS. ELLA HAYNES, Territorial Secretary.

This being the first year of our Territorial W. C. T. U., our people are not yet fully awake to the need of temperance work. We have three Legions: Vineta, Muscogee and South McAllister, all of which are doing well. We shall adopt mottoes and rallying cries at our coming State Convention. In March the South McAllister Legion participated in a Street Parade, their float being pronounced second in beauty and effectiveness only to that of the Queen of the Carnival. The boys and girls scattered a large quantity of temperance literature. We are now preparing for our first medal contest LILLIE B. HUNTER,
L. T. L. Secretary Amanda Richey Union.

CONVENTIONS.

The annual convention of the W. C. T. U. of Wells county was held in the beautiful new Methodist church at Ossian and the attendance was large. A ladies' quartette composed of Mesdames L. C. Davenport, L. C. Bender, J. J. Baumgardner and H. A. Welker, and Miss Mary Staver, as pianist, accompanied the ladies from Bluffton and rendered some very excellent music at all sessions of the day.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. Goodin; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Elizabeth Ellingham; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Serepta Worley, and Treasurer, Mrs. Mary Krewson.

The lecture in the evening was given by Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, of Richmond, who held her audience spell bound and filled them with enthusiasm. The collection was large and everyone pronounced the day and evening well spent in the service of Christ for "God and Home and Humanity."

Last evening Mrs. Stanley was taken to the home of Mrs. Henry French, near Kreps, where a parlor meeting was held. The church at Salem would have been packed to have heard her, but owing to the rain continually pouring, the meeting was private. Mrs. Stanley is a lecturer of much ability.

At Middlebury the gold medal contest, the closing feature of the sixteenth annual convention of the W. C. T. U. of Elkhart County, occurred at the Methodist church, being won by Miss Clara Whiteman, of Nappanee. The other participants were the Misses Pansy Kantz, of Nappanee; Joy Bechtel, of Goshen; and Othny Van Dorsen, Ethel Murray and Fern Diley, of Middlebury. Mrs. Aldrich, of Cleveland, Ohio, and Messrs. H. O. Eldridge and A. F. Yoder, of Middlebury, were the judges. The Misses Callie Wertz and Pearl Deal, the Elkhart contestants who were to participate, were not present. The funeral of Miss Deal's grandfather, John C. Evans, occurred that day. All contestants did splendidly and some difficulty was experienced in awarding the medal, so close was the contest. Miss Whiteman is now eligible to compete for the great gold medal contest. Mrs. M. A. Thompson, of Elkhart, presided over the meeting. The orations were interspersed with instrumental numbers. The attendance was large. The next convention in Goshen. The County W. C. T. U. convention in session at the Methodist church Thursday and Friday was a success in every way. The next annual session will occur in Goshen in September, 1903. Following are the officers elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. A. P. Daub, Goshen; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Laura A. Phoenix, Middlebury; Recording Secretary, Miss Madge Work, Elkhart; Treasurer, Mrs. Charles E. Kauffman, Middlebury. The Press Superintendent's report showed that during the past year 250 feet, which is equivalent to 150 columns of the length of the News-Times' columns, were given by the newspapers of the County to the W. C. T. U. reports of meetings and contributions.—Goshen News.

Blackford County Convention met in the M. E. Church at Millgrove. The President, Mrs. Stahl, presided. Mrs. Albright led the devotional exercises. The Secretary being absent, Mrs. Willis was appointed secretary pro tem. A round-table talk on W. C. T. U. work was participated in by Mesdames Hall, Schull, Emshwiller, Stahl, Brown and Glover, each of whom gave spicy little talks in different departments. The annual address of the President was able, interesting, entertaining and instructive, followed by the noontide prayer service. The afternoon session was opened by devotional exercises by Mesdames Shull and Miller, of Montpelier. Bro. Wood, an honorary member, was introduced and gave an interesting talk. Mrs. Glover read a very interesting paper, giving many instances of the work of the "Crusade," and spoke of a time when there was not a saloon in Blackford county. The election of officers resulted as follows: Mrs. Willis, President; Mrs. Lanning, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. Bugh, Recording Secretary; Mrs. Emshwiller, Treasurer; Mrs. Cox, Secretary of Y's, and Mrs. Shull, Secretary of L. T. L. The afternoon session closed with the reports of the local presidents and county officers. The resignation of Mrs. Stahl came as a surprise to the Convention, and many were the expressions of regret on the part of members, feeling, as they do, that her place cannot be filled, and as a very small token of their appreciation of her labors and the esteem in which she is held by her co-laborers she was made a present of a nice sum of money to help defray expenses to the National Convention.

The evening session was opened by music and devotional exercises conducted by Rev. and Mrs. Albright. Miss Lena Lanning sang a beautiful solo, entitled, "Don't Drink, my Boy, To-night!" Then came the Matrons' Contest, by Mrs. Cox, Mrs. Bugh and Mrs. Hall. Mrs. Cox was awarded the medal, which was presented by Mrs. Laning in a happy little speech. While the judges were making their decision, Mrs. Shull, by request, gave the recitation which won her the medal at the Spring Institute. Several little boys and girls sang, very beautifully, a song entitled, "We'll Vote the Traffic Down," which was warmly applauded. Thus closed another encouraging and successful convention.

The Sixteenth Annual Convention of the Noble County W. C. T. U. was held in the Methodist Church in Albion, October 8-9, and a very entertaining meeting was enjoyed by all. Our attendance was good, and the White Ribbon Sisters still ready to press onward in this great struggle for mankind. God help the patient women, all over the world! The first evening the audience was favored with an address on "Our National Sin," by Miss Sears, of Anderson, which was appreciated; and the second evening an L. T. L. Oratorical and Musical Contest, two beautiful silver L. T. L. Medals being awarded the successful contestants. The old officers were re-elected by acclamation, viz: President, Mrs. Nora Nowells, Millersburg, Ind.; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Addie B. Seymoure, Wawaka, Ind.; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Mary Gorrell, LaOtto, Ind.; Treasurer, Mrs. Flora Clapp, Albion, Ind.

FIELD NOTES.

Pt. Isabel W. C. T. U., in session September 27, 1902, tendered a vote of sympathy to our brother, G. W. McManaman, in the bereavement of his beloved wife. She was a member of our Union whom we mourn as counselor and peacemaker, whose place is vacant and none can fill. The life of Emma McManaman is a story of humble good doing, being faithful, pure, steadfast, beautiful. Her life was an example. She lived the life beautiful and died the death saintly. She sleeps beneath the flowers, the fairest of them all.

Indianapolis—Frances E. Willard Union elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. A. B. Leck; Vice-President, Mrs. G. M. Smith, Recording Secretary, Mrs. Dotia Daugherty; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Ella Rose; Treasurer, Mrs. Mary Shad; Press, Dotia Daugherty.

Bridgeport Union held a very interesting meeting on the evening of October 7. The program consisted of papers, which had been written and read at various meetings during the year, with a few recitations and good music interspersed. Our Union has just closed its year's program, and by giving this meeting, we showed to the public what we have been doing. Six papers were read on subjects which interested the public as well as the members of the Union. We obtained some help from outside in the music and recitations, and thus interested the children and young people of our community in the meeting. A good audience greeted us and we felt that our year's program had not only been a blessing to us, but a help to our community as well.

Jonesboro's President attended the State Convention and became very much interested in the young people's work. The first thing she did when she went home was to begin a Y. Eight members have promised, and as soon as ten are pledged, Jonesboro will have a Y. branch.

Lake County held its fall convention at Crown Point in September. Miss Alice Palmer was leader, and the convention was an enjoyable one. Mrs. E. H. Mudge, of Hammond, was elected President, and Miss Jennie Ault, of Sewell, is the new Corresponding Secretary. This county is not largely organized, but there are earnest, loyal women in the ranks and the Lord of Hosts is with them.

Hammond Union held its annual meeting in the Congregational church. Reports were given and officers elected as follows: President, Mrs. E. H. Mudge; First Vice-President, Mrs. E. R. Williams; Recording and Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Edith Miller; Treasurer, Mr. P. A. Newman. The departments of Evangelistic, Sabbath Observance, Mother's Meeting, Purity, Franchise, Christian Citizenship and Press were duplicated and Superintendents appointed. Light refreshments and a social hour were enjoyed by all.

Bluffton Union—Officers: President, Elizabeth Ellingham; Vice-President, Mrs. Dr. Goodin; Recording Secretary, Mrs. D. T. Smith; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Manson Reiff; Treasurer, Mrs. William Angel.

The Camden W. C. T. U. presented a life size picture of Miss Willard to their High School. Nothing more appropriate or beautiful could be given to a College or High School.

Mrs. Jennie Ridgeway, of Miami County, has accomplished much in contest work this past year. She held ten silver, eight gold, three grand gold and one diamond medal contests. Some splendid young men have been identified with her classes.

Union County Convention was held at College Corner. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley; Vice-President, Mrs. Sarah Harvey; Secretary, Mrs. H. F. Hanna; Treasurer, Mrs. Fred Miller. County Superintendents of Departments—Juvenile, Miss Grace Applegate, College Corner; Evangelistic, Mrs. Lucy Benedict, Liberty; Sabbath Observance, Mrs. E. E. Martin, Liberty; Flower Mission, Mrs. Sarah Harvey, College Corner; Anti-Narcotics, Mrs. Frank Hawley, College Corner; Purity and Contest, Miss Sallie Osborn, College Corner; Suffrage, Mrs. Lila Laird, College Corner; Christian Citizenship, Mrs. Applegate, College Corner; Literature and Press, Mrs. Mary Draper, Liberty; Peace, Arbitration and Mercy, Mrs. H. L. Bake, College Corner. Mrs. Stanley's lecture was fine in evening.

IN MEMORIAM.

MRS. EMMA McMANAMAN—In the death of Mrs. Emma McManaman, of the vicinity of Pt. Isabel, a noble, kind husband has a broken home circle and mourns the loss of a loving wife. The Pt. Isabel W. C. T. U. has lost a much loved and esteemed member also a valiant, earnest, faithful Press Superintendent. The funeral services were Saturday afternoon, Aug. 30, in the M. E. Church. Pt. Isabel in charge of Rev. Homer Ellis. Many floral offerings and white ribbon bows adorned the church. Sleep on, dear sister and take your rest; such as you the Lord has blest.

THE HALL-HADLEY WEDDING.

Dr. Homer J. Hall, of Franklin, and Miss Mary Hadley, of Bloomingdale, were married on November 6th, at high noon, in the old historic Friends' Church at Bloomingdale.

The church was beautifully decorated in green and white. The green foliage and plants, with the white flowers and white ribbon, made an effective decoration.

Just as the hands of the clock pointed to 12, Mrs. Jessup began to play Lohengrin's "Wedding March." From the east door came Dr. Chas. R. Hudson, the minister, and Mrs. Luella F. McWhirter, followed by Dr. Hall and Miss Hadley. They marched slowly to the center of the platform, in front of a bank of plants and flowers. Mrs. McWhirter stopped and Dr. Hudson stepped on a short distance, leaving room for Dr. Hall and Miss Hadley to stand between. Mrs. McWhirter offered prayer. The marriage ceremony by Dr. Hudson, which was beautiful and most impressive, was closed with an appropriate prayer. While the music continued, the bridal party marched on across the platform and out of the west door.

The reception which followed, at the home of Mr and Mrs. Harlan D. Newlin, was largely attended. On account of the claims of the public upon these two persons, whose lives have been so closely allied to the Temperance Reform and the broadest philanthropy of our day, no formal invitations were sent out, but a general invitation extended to all friends.

At an early hour in the morning the people began to come in buggies and carriages from all parts of Parke County. The trains also brought many people. The Indianapolis train brought almost a coach full of friends.

The church is very large, and was filled with interested, admiring relatives and friends, many hundreds being present. The presence of this large company and of the beautiful and costly gifts was evidence of the love and esteem borne these two people.

Among those who came from a distance were Dr. and Mrs. L. C. Masters, Muncie, Ind.; Mrs. M. A. Tompkins, Elkhart, Ind.; Mrs. Margaret Ross, Wabash, Ind.; Dr. and Mrs. H. M. Hill, Logansport, Ind.; Mr. H. Maxwell Hall, Lexington, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Whitson, Indianapolis, Ind.; Prof. and Mrs. F. T. McWhirter, Greencastle, Ind.; Mr. Dan Carter, Rosedale, Ind., and Mr. and Mrs. James Elder, Marshall, Ind.

Dr. and Mrs. Hall left on an afternoon train for points in the East, where they will remain for some time. They will reside at Franklin.

Dr. Hall is a leading Prohibition worker of the central West. He was State chairman of the party from 1892 to 1898 and also in 1900. In the last Presidential campaign Indiana made a larger gain than any other State. Dr. Hall originated the now famous "Indiana plan" in 1898. He is a prominent member of the medical profession, and for the past ten years of his practice he has prescribed no alcohol whatever, notwithstanding his extensive field of work. He is regarded as an authority upon non-alcoholic medication, having written and spoken much on the subject, and having been for the past five years chairman of the standing committee on Inebriety in the Indiana State Medical Society, which position he now holds.

Mrs. Hall has been Vice-President of the Indiana W. C. T. U. for nine years, and was for some time a member of the executive committee of the Prohibition party. She is at present the National Superintendent of the W. C. T. U. Institutes. An earnest member of the Friends' Church, Mrs. Hall is also widely known as an authoress and poetess of much ability.

Both Dr. and Mrs. Hall expect to devote themselves more than ever to Prohibition work in future. Mrs. Hall was a member of the State Central Committee that perfected the plan for our dear little MESSAGE. In the first issue her Editorial was one of the main features. From the very first Mrs. Hall has been identified with the closest interest of the MESSAGE. We feel sure that we express the sentiments of friends in this and many States when we say that we wish them joy, happiness and prosperity.

PRESIDENT WILSON WRITES.

DEAR SISTERS AND CO-WORKERS:—My time was so fully occupied in preparing for, and attending conventions, that I did not get my letter of greeting in the November MESSAGE, but the paper was not lacking in good suggestions and helpful hints for that reason.

Our State Convention was one of great profit to me. The reports of Officers and Superintendents were never better; familiar faces were on the platform and in the county delegations also. To meet the dear workers with whom I have been associated for years at our annual meetings gives me not only great pleasure but enthusiasm, and a determination to try very hard to serve better in the future. A very hopeful feature of our work was manifested by the presence of so many young women, both at our State and National Conventions, and I will take this opportunity to thank you, every one, for helping to make it possible for me to attend the great conventions at Portland, the best I have ever attended. The privilege of seeing and hearing the world's W. C. T. U. President, as well as many other distinguished guests was greatly appreciated by me, and the love I have always had for our own National President, Mrs. Stevens, is intensified. Not only her great executive ability, but also her sweet spirit of love and justice to everyone, and finding out the timid ones and giving them a word of encouragement is one of her noble characteristics other Presidents would do well to imitate.

I talked with both Miss Brehm, President of Illinois, and Mrs. Clark of Ohio, whose states had made large gains in membership to find out their plans for gaining new members and keeping them. No new methods were given, however, but persistent effort along lines already tried will no doubt give good results in the future. While encouraging numbers were reported, I believe our growth in the estimation of the people as an organization for good is encouraging. Even the Liquor Dealers' Associations are not saying so many unkind and foolish things about us, but some of their latest utterances are conclusive to me that they are watching "The little cloud rising out of the sea" to a few not so "large as a man's hand," but to them containing the element of a coming deluge. In my range of vision indications are hopeful for a prosperous year in our State. I know your officers are willing to serve and be helpful. Superintendents are making and sending out their plans to County and Local workers. Unions are planning new and profitable programs for the coming year in harmony with State plan of work.

A knowledge that the saloon cannot live without the ruin of somebody's children is a sufficient reason to me why we should give our best to our great work for God and home and native land.

EUNICE P. WILSON.

P. S. I have not changed my location, but now receive my mail from Jonesboro, Route 16. Please remember.

MRS. ELIZABETH STANLEY,
Newly Elected Vice-President of Indiana W. C. T. U.

Y. W. C. T. U.

We are to work together another year in this blessed Temperance work, to lift the standard higher for true womanhood and noble manhood. I do plead with those who are already members not to be satisfied with the few, but to reach out—each one secure at least a new member by not later than the 15th of March.

Our dues are at last settled upon: 40 cents to be paid when the girl gives her name for membership; in three months 30 cents per member is to be paid by the Union, and in the next three months 30 cents—then in six months the $1.00 is paid. Some girls said they are going to earn the extra 30c per month by selling cookies or doing some kind of work. We can, girls, and let us prove ourselves to be Y. W. C. T. U. women.

Now, what shall I say to the dear, precious ones who made me a life member of the W. C. T. U.? It was so sudden, and such a surprise to me at the time, that I felt myself falling and was obliged to sit down. Dear co-workers, to say I thank you is putting it in a very mild form. May God's richest blessings rest upon all! Another beautiful surprise followed when the $25.00 was voted to me for organization on motion of Mrs. Whitson in the Central Conference meeting and sent to me. Now I give warning: There are places I can visit where I am sure I can have a Y. W. C. T. U., so you see we start out with bright prospects this year.

Modoc Y. W. C. T. U. received the State Banner this year. Now, who will work for it for next year? Let each Union try.

Bedford Y. members who are interested in temperance work have joined the W. C. T. U.; also those of the Martinsville Y. We must have new Y.'s to take the old ones' places. We hope to have a splendid Y. at Huntington. It was our privilege to return and hear Mrs. Lou Rall's report of the National Convention. She really only began, and the ladies have a treat in store for them when time can be secured for Mrs. Rall to finish. I talked that evening for a Y., and have left it in Mrs. Rall's hands.

Your Y. Secretary goes to Martin County the 22d of November, for World's Temperance Sunday at Loogootee, to give them one week's work, with the exception of the time spent at Shoals at the County Teachers' Institute, where Scientific Temperance Laws and Impurity in the Public Schools are to be presented, returning home December 1.

If there are any Unions which have not received the new State Y. Programs, will you please drop the State Secretary a card and they will be forwarded by return mail.

Now, girls! More prayer this year, and greater faith in our Heavenly Father! More personal work, inviting those who do not belong to our Y. meetings, and let our Motto for this year be: "1,000 membership for Indiana Y."

Two of the Anderson Y. members were married on the 19th of October—Mr. Walter Jones and Miss Nellie Levy. Holiday times takes another faithful worker; Miss Effie Wilhot unites her life with Mr. Melvin Janeson.

Lovingly, yours to serve,
CLARA M. SEARS.

W. C. T. U. NATIONAL CONVENTION.

As I begin the report of the National Convention, which is at this writing in session in Portland, Maine, I am sitting where I can look out over the broad Atlantic. The Indiana delegates, together with about one hundred and fifty delegates from other interior states, are being entertained at the Cliff House, which is a large summer hotel situated where it commands a view of the ocean and the bay. In the bay can be seen vessels from many ports, and distant islands add fairy-like touch to the view. The beach, which is so full of interest to most of us, is but a moment's walk from the hotel.

The convention is pronounced one of the greatest we have ever had. Delegates are here from all parts of the country, many having crossed the continent. Representatives from England, France, Armenia, the Philippines and South Africa have come, bringing glad tidings of the onward march of our blessed cause in other lands.

The meetings are held in the Jefferson Theater. The entire lower floor is occupied by the delegates, and every seat in the boxes and the two great galleries has been sold and is occupied by interested visitors. The aisles are kept clear, but many persons stand at the rear and hundreds are turned away. The decorations suggest the "Pine Tree State," for the galleries are festooned with great strands of ground pine and pine cones, gathered and prepared by the Y's of Maine. Branches of gorgeous autumn foliage and a profusion of Chrysanthemums make the parlor scene on the stage a thing of beauty. Our banners, beautiful as works of art and in the thought they express, add character to the scene which greets us. Doubtless the theater presents a strange appearance to regular theater goers. Each night there shines from the top of the building in letters of fire the letters "W. C. T. U." Citizens pronounce it the greatest convention this city has ever known. The business sessions are carried on in the masterful way which characterizes the national conventions of the W. C. T. U., and our beloved president, Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens, has won for herself, if possible, even greater admiration and love. At this convention she has been fittingly called "Our good queen Lillian." Her annual address, which was the document of a statesman, was full of items of encouragement, showing that the past year has been one of many victories, and that the future has many signs of promise. Among our own ranks there is great cause for rejoicing. Nearly every state in the union has made a gain in membership, Illinois being in the lead with a net gain of 1770. The general officers were all re-elected, only a small scattering vote being cast against any of them. The matter

LAW ENFORCEMENT—PLEDGING.

In some towns the laxity of law enforcement is so great that some petitions or remonstrances would have a tendency to awaken some Fathers to the enormity of this saloon business.

Agitation is as necessary this winter for the W. C. T. Unions as are the new recruits to keep the saloons thriving.

Your Unions should get down to definite planning for some kind of a campaign in your community, and that right speedily. Now is the time.

The educational work of the W. C. T. U. can not be estimated. The results are woven into the warp and woof of all our temperance laws and much of the advance temperance sentiment of all countries.

We find some of our lines of work being embodied in the programs of other organizations. This greatly rejoices us. The departments which particularly strike at the root of the Liquor power are still left for us to work. Let us do it with a will. Decide right now to do all that you can. In this instance the you means 5,000 subscribers besides others in the families who read these lines. Resolve just now that whatever you can do to help break King Alcohol's rule will be done. No! You cannot vote; but if you did, your ballot would not be like a saloon-keeper's ballot—it would be entirely different; of that I am sure. You can pray, you can sing, you can urge that "some thing be done" and help to do it. While others are getting ready you can hold a Medal Contest. You can sell some of the tickets, but you can get the boys and girls to sell more while you secure a quartet or chorus to sing real Temperance songs—not love songs or lullabys. You can have much advertising done, and tell the boys and girls to invite everybody. You can ask the Press Superintendent to write up the contest to be, and afterwards the contest that was. Her audience will be larger than yours, but not so responsive.

Every union, so far as possible, should hold a series of Temperance meetings, secure good speakers for several days or a week if possible. Get such speakers as will arouse the people. Have pledges printed and enter into a "pledge signing campaign." Few of the present high school generation have ever been asked to sign the Total Abstinence pledge. It helps them and should be done.

To secure pledges from an audience it is sometimes well to buy several dozen lead pencils and cut them into three or four pieces, sharpen each piece and with a rubber band fasten a "little" lead pencil to each pledge card—distribute these through the audience, after some one recites an appropriate selection or some one talks, have these gathered up. The pencils, of course, will always if used be replaced upon the card. Thus they may be used many times. Another practical use of the pledge card is to have printed the following upon the reverse side, in this way making cards and pencils serve double purpose:

I hereby agree to contribute $.....to the W. C. T. U. of .....to be paid within thirty days.

Our cause needs money and many people will pledge and pay a dollar toward its work if given opportunity.

Try in some way to arouse the people of your community to action against the license saloons.

It will be well for our Indiana Unions to become familiar with the laws, State and National, which pertain to women and the liquor business.

Colorado W. C. T. Unions have drills upon State laws at evening meetings where gentlemen are present. This is an excellent plan, and should be tried by our Unions.

LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION CONFERENCE AT PORTLAND, ME.

L. T. L. sunset hour observed. At first meeting a number of visitors and workers introduced. Mrs. Harvey, of Old Orchard, Maine, reported an Animal Zoo held by her Legion having trained cats, dogs and rabbits, etc., to raise money to pay dues. Motion passed that we urge the payment of dues from both pledged and enrolled members; fees from all pledged members to be sent to State and National W. C. T. U. Treasurer through regular channels. Children may secure honorary members for L. T. L. and keep one fee out of five.

L. T. L. leaders should study for variety in teaching the lessons. Following program suggested: First meeting in month, Reception of Members; Second, Special Program; Third, Band of Mercy; Fourth, Address by some prominent worker.

Pennsylvania paid $100.00 National dues this year; New York, $72.70; New Jersey, $31.00; Massachusetts, $38.25; Mississippi, $22.70; Ohio, $18.16, and Indiana $15.37.

Where only two meetings can be held in a month, leaders are advised to hold the two Junior meetings, and have Parlor meetings for the Seniors of an evening. Senior L. T. L. boys and girls may be appointed District or County L. T. L. Organizers, under direction of the State General Secretary.

Miss Wintringer and others spoke of the harmony between the Senior L. T. L.'s and the Y.'s.

Wisconsin has Parlor or Neighborhood L. T. L.'s where church or hall is not convenient.

Mary C. Only told of the adult Diploma classes of Rhode Island and Miss Guernsey of the adult classes in New York.

In presenting prize banners for social meetings and red letter days, proportional basis shall be used in future, with 25 meetings as the minimum number, the proportion to be the ratio between the number of Legions in the State and the total number of meetings held.

Miss Blanchard, of California, who has for twenty years been an L. T. L. leader, was introduced, and told of one W. C. T. U. in Los Angeles that has five Legions under its care.

L. T. L. Diplomas and Seal course explained.

Mrs. Rice urged the pushing of Junior study for certificates, and announced that examination questions are now in the hands of Mrs. Straw, of Indiana, for the Juniors.

A committee was appointed to look up errors in L. T. L. Manuals and ask the W. T. P. A. to revise them or insert corrections.

Miss Anna Robins, former chief nurse of the U. S. Hospital at Manila, was introduced, and spoke of the needs in the Manila Mission field; when sending literature send bright stories and illustrated magazines, as the natives cannot read much in our language and must be educated by the eye. She spoke, also, of the need of ready drawn charts, and advised that all matter be sent by mail.

Miss Wintringer told of Miss Robins' excellent work as a lecturer on Manila and of how she had helped local Unions who had engaged her.

Mrs. Rice spoke of the important work among Children's Homes and institutions, and emphasized the advantage of getting Senior and Junior Legions organized in these places. This was made a special recommendation for the coming year.

Motion carried that Temperance programs be prepared for Epworth League and Christian Endeavor societies.

Miss Guernsey explained the Leaflet Brigade and Mrs. Rice strongly recommended this method of work. South Dakota Legions distribute Anti-profan and Anti-cigarette literature.

A vote of thanks was sent to Mrs. Jewett for the excellent L. T. L. number of the Union Signal.

Telegram of greeting sent to Mrs. Blair, National Organizer.

A committee was appointed to have the name of L. T. L. copyrighted.

Senior Legions should be urged to study W. C. T. U. Annual Leaflet, and both Seniors and Juniors encouraged to the study of birds.

Mrs. Rice said never before had there been held such successful L. T. L. Conferences as during this Convention—never were the members at Convention so faithful to attend the Conferences.

Motion prevailed that no State L. T. L. Secretary or National Organizer shall have another State Department.

Moved and carried that all pledged members of both Junior and Senior be urged to wear the White Ribbon, either alone or in connection with the L. T. L. badge.

Mrs. Preston, of Pennsylvania, showed her State Honor Roll, with fifty Legions; that every member has paid 16 cents annual dues. Her State has the banner again for red-letter days and social meetings.

Mrs. Thatcher will give a banner or flag for the greatest number of Comfort Bags.

Mr. Burns, ex President of Pennsylvania State L. T. L., who served as leader seven years, was introduced. He said a Southern brewer offered $1,000 to any young man who would write the best paper on "Personal Liberty and Drinking Beer"; said a large placard in Boston saloon window reads—"Our prohibitory laws are as stupid as they are ineffective." Advised the term post graduate courses instead of seal courses.

of the Union Signal was left in the hands of the general officers, with power to make satisfactory terms with the publishers, buy the paper, or issue an official organ of our own. It is a matter of regret that space will not permit a detailed recital of the night sessions of the convention, so full of enthusiasm and which brought out the wit and wisdom of our talented and noble leaders. The demonstration by our national superintendent was particularly fine. The large stage with commodious wings on either side gave opportunity for a demonstration such as we have never had before. It was on the order of a trades parade. One by one the superintendents came before the audience and in some novel way illustrated the work of her department. Hundreds took part, including children, young ladies and gentlemen, soldiers, sailors, conductors, news and messenger boys, doctors, nurses, foreigners, Indians, Negroes, and even a pony and cart. The various groups either left the stage or were artistically grouped at the rear. The practicability and scope of each department as thus presented was a revelation not only to our visitors but to many within our ranks.

One of the eventful things of the convention was the presence of Lady Henry Somerset, president of the World's W. C. T. U. When she was first presented she was greeted by the waving of flags, each delegate having been provided with a little flag for that purpose. She made several short addresses and spoke to a great crowd on Sabbath evening. The presence of this noble woman, who has done so much for the betterment of humanity and who is especially endeared to us because of the close friendship which existed between her and our departed leader, was a great pleasure and inspiration to us.

On platform night sheriff Dunn, who is filling the unexpired term of the famous sheriff of Cumberland County, Mr. Pearson, gave us an address in which he told us of the work in this county, and of the success of prohibition throughout the State of Maine. He very kindly had the novel devices used by men who tried to evade the law, and which were seized by Sheriff Pearson or himself, placed on exhibit at the theater. During our stay in this city we have not seen a saloon, or an intoxicated man, or anything that suggested the sale of liquor. Prohibition may not absolutely prevent the sale of liquor, but it so far minimizes the evil that it ought to be the aim of every man and woman opposed to intemperance.

A pretty part of the program on the last night of the convention was a handkerchief shower, when each state represented presented our president with a linen handkerchief. There is much more to tell, and possibly I can have space for it next month. We who have had the help and inspiration of this convention have thought of our beloved comrades at home and have wished that each one might share it all with us.

Lovingly your co-worker,

HATTIE W. BRAND.

BLANKET REPORT BLANKS ABANDONED.

For several years a blanket report blank, covering all the Departments, has been sent out semi-annually or quarterly to the corresponding secretary of each Union in the State. The plan was carefully discussed at the State Convention, and it was the unanimous desire of the State Superintendents that it be dropped. The reasons were that the number of reports returned did not warrant the heavy expense of postage incurred to the State in sending them out: better results were obtained by the Superintendents who corresponded directly with their Superintendents, and the plan of sending one report to the State Superintendent and another to the County Superintendent was not clearly understood, so that it caused confusion and some dissatisfaction.

This year the State will furnish each State Superintendent with one thousand local superintendents' report blanks, and she will send them to her County Superintendents, in organized counties, and to Local Superintendents in unorganized counties. Local Superintendents will report to County Superintendents according to the established plan of County organization work, unless there is no County Superintendent, in which case Locals will report direct to the State.

The State Corresponding Secretary is preparing a list of all the County and Local Superintendents in the State, and will furnish each State Superintendent with a list of her County and Local Superintendents, so that she may get into direct communication with her co-workers and not waste postage and energy by sending blanks and communications where her department is not represented. Any change always causes a little confusion at first, so we will all need to be patient and "keep sweet" until the wheels go round all right.

HATTIE WRIGHT BRAND.

MOTHERS' MEETINGS.

Another year is before us. What shall the harvest be? Let each one of us sow such seed that as it shall grow and develop the harvest will bring a blessing to our own souls and be helpful to humanity. I am glad for the aroused interest on our line of work. I have already received letters asking for plans. I have waited my reply except as I have answered individually until I could see the National Superintendent at Portland, Maine, hoping to get some new plans to give to you, but after a personal talk with her all I got was "Push the work as never before." If I say that to you will that be sufficient? I know not. I hope every Superintendent will feel the importance of her department, and as she comes in contact with the mothers, she will help them to feel the importance of starting a young life right. Start on sound principles, and the work will deepen and widen with you as it has with others. The blessing and responsibility of motherhood cannot fail to touch hearts when properly presented. Be informed yourselves, be supplied with good literature. Get all our women to read, think and talk. We must not be unremindful of the fact that the child's education has made rapid progress from the hour of its birth. Ah, more than that, that children now are framing the character of unborn generations, that the child has received more education in the first six years of its life, than it will in any subsequent six years. To revolutionize society we have but to make parents into competent and conscientious teachers of children. What would be the outlook for humanity if every child was from this time on to be brought from infancy under the sweetest and holiest influences? Sisters, let us watch for opportunities, pray for grace to bring the truth before the people that what we say and do in the sight and hearing of the child is of more direct importance in framing his character than all of his schooling. If all parents believed that, would they not guard their words, govern their tempers, correct their conduct? I know of no other way at present than to get the mothers pledged to the purposes of the white ribbon cradle roll. Apply to me for pledge cards, 10 for 10c. or fifty for 25c. I again offer a prize to the Superintendent who will enroll the most children. Enrollment determined by the amount of dues sent in, also a prize to the Superintendent who holds the most Mothers' Meetings. Start a circulating library, with such books as Dr. Mary Wood Allen offers or "What A Young Wife Ought To Know," "What A Young Girl Ought To Know," "What A Young Woman Ought To Know," "What A Woman Of Forty five Ought To Know." All of the above books can be gotten from the Wood-Allen Publishing Co., Ann Arbor, Michigan. The same class of books for boys and men, by Sylvanus Stall. Price, $1.00 per copy. I want to be helpful in any way I can.

MRS. S. M. STAHL,
State Superintendent.

DEAR PRESS SUPERINTENDENTS.

How glad I would be if I could talk to each one of you and tell you of my appreciation of your loyalty and splendid work during the past year, and plan for the new year. We all recognize the great importance of using the Press and using it all the time, ask for and keep up a column in your daily and weekly papers.

Advertise your meetings well, report them in an interesting and attractive manner. Let the people know what you are doing, keep the work before the public, for in that way we can educate the masses and win them for our blessed cause.

Splendid reports came to me from several counties of good work done last year. Grant county took the lead in Press work, and I trust that many other counties will try this year to do as much if not more than Grant county. We all know that Grant county has been a leading county and had you thought of the cause? Do they not attribute much of the success to the Press work? To be sure it has played an important part. Let me say to other counties, "Go thou and do likewise." To County Superintendents I would say in answer to certain inquiries which have come to me, see to it that there is a Press Superintendent in each Local Union in your county, and be sure that every paper is supplied with the W. C. T. U. news. See that the Superintendents are energetic, capable women, urge them to keep abreast of the Temperance movement, to give our side of local conditions, local news, state news and occasionally some item of national interest.

About the clipping of articles, etc., I will write another time. Put forth every effort to get the articles and reports in the papers, for the people will read them, and in that way many people will know of your work who would not know of it in any other way.

So many Superintendents reported at the close of last year that the general work of their unions had been helped by the Press work. Sisters, it will wonderfully help and strengthen your work. Be diligent, kind, wise and ever on the alert, doing something for our blessed cause. God bless you one and all.

LAURA GENEVA CAMMAK.

HADLEY SCHOOL.

Have spent a week in the Home since my return from the National Convention held in Portland.

If anything would inspire one to work, would be the attendance of such a grand Convention as this was. All seemed lost to self and self interest, so I returned to the scene of so much care and anxiety with fresh vigor for work. But alas! One must have something to work with!

We had an open day at school the 8th. The day was fine, the dinner excellent and the attendance fair. We hoped our treasury would be reimbursed to the extent that we could at once order our winter coal, but such was not the case. So we appeal to the Unions to begin the Contest work as soon as possible.

An ex-State Senator attended one of our Contests, and at the close said to me: "Take your girls before large audiences and let them make such speeches as they have to-day, and you will not lack for funds."

This will apply to Contests held over the State.

These Contests are educational to the audiences, developing to the speakers and remunerative to the Unions. Let us have plenty of them during the coming winter months.

LUCRETIA HOBART.

MINUTES OF STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE.

Central Committee met in English's Hotel, October 31, 1902, 4 p. m.

In Mrs. Wilson's absence, Miss Mary Hadley presided.

Prayer by Mattie Cammack-Gibson.

Moved by Mrs. Whitson that the State paper be put out by the mailing machine. Motion prevailed.

By motion the $25.00 turned into the State Treasury by Miss Sears' life membership was directed sent to the "Y" Secretary, to be used in that branch.

Moved by Mattie Cammack-Gibson that Miss Pearl Rall be given a full vote as Superintendent of Franchise, Mrs. Tompkins having resigned. The Recording Secretary had previously secured a majority of the vote. Motion prevailed.

Mrs. Tompkins was made Lecturer for this Department.

The necessary supplies in the way of stationery, with names of Central Committee omitted.

The Resolutions committee was appointed, as follows: Miss Rose Pearce, Mrs. M. A. Tompkins, Mrs. L. D. B. Cowan, Miss Lavinia Baily, Miss Culla Vayhinger.

Moved by Mrs. Whitson that we urge County Presidents and others to send in short, fresh, spicy articles for our columns in the Phalanx. Motion prevailed.

Moved by Mrs. Cammack-Gibson that Mrs. McWhirter be continued as Editor of the MESSAGE and also our columns in the Phalanx. Carried.

The Committee directed the Annual Reports sold for 15c. each, if State paid the postage, and 10c. if sent by express, Unions paying cost of carriage.

Committee rose.

MATTIE CAMMAK GIBSON,
Secretary.

Gambling Devices valued at $4,000 were destroyed by the police of Richmond, Va., October 3. The huge bonfire near the City Hall attracted many spectators.

CONVENTIONS.

St. Joseph County—On account of the illness of our dear Mrs. Holler, our County Convention was not held until October 24. The St. Joseph County W. C. T. U. Convention was held in the parlors of Mrs. Carrie Warner, 213 South Franklin street, South Bend, Ind. Mrs. Holler was re-elected, but on account of ill health she tendered her resignation a week later, and the County Executive Committee was called and Mrs. Daisy D. Shontz elected to take her place. I am so sorry she is ill, and so sorry, too, that she will not be able to serve as County President, for she has been so faithful and has W. C. T. U. work upon her heart. I take the office very reluctantly. I do not want to be less faithful than she, but I fear I shall not be able to devote my time to the work as she has. I thought you would like a report of our Convention for the MESSAGE. We appointed our Superintendent. The following are the names of officers for County: Daisy D. Shontz, President, 1201 West Washington street, South Bend, Ind.; Miss Mabel Jeffries, Corresponding and Recording Secretary, corner Oak and Cushing streets, South Bend; Miss Ada Barnard, Treasurer, 613 South Fellows street, South Bend. The Superintendents appointed were as follows: Y. Secretary, Mrs. Cora Eckert, Mishawaka; Flower Mission, Mrs. M. G. Huey, Rural Route, South Bend; Sunday School, Mrs. J. Sharples, South Bend; Parliamentary Usage, Mrs. A. Axtell, South Bend; Medal Contest, Mrs. Berry, and Mrs. Barker, Assistant, South Bend; Temperance Literature, Mrs. Cora Searle, South Bend; Christian Citizenship, Mrs. Eva Stover, South Bend; Press, Mrs. C. Fassnacht, South Bend; Narcotic, Mrs. E. Linard, South Bend; Purity, Mrs. George Hodson, South Bend; Mothers' Meetings, Mrs. Sue Ornes, South Bend; Evangelistic, Mrs. R. O. Cotton, South Bend; Jail and Prison, Mrs. Zach. Johnson, South Bend; Sabbath Observance, Mrs. Daisy D. Shontz, South Bend; Systematic Giving, Mrs. Nina High, South Bend; Mercy, Miss Myrtle Huey, South Bend; Purity of Literature and Art, Miss Belle Harris, South Bend; Relation of Temperance to Labor, Miss Grace Shwaller, South Bend. Board of Superintendents—Mrs. J. Sharples, Superintendent of Superintendents; Miss Myrtle Huey, Treasurer. DAISY D. SHONTZ.

Delaware County Convention was held in Muncie at the Friends' Church. The President, Mrs. Ella Bond, opened the services with devotion.

Thursday evening a grand Gold Medal contest was given, in which Mrs. Odessa Foorman won the medal.

Friday morning interesting reports of officers and Superintendents were given. Especially encouraging were the reports of the Superintendents of Flower Mission, Mothers' Meetings, Medal Contests and the Press.

The election of officers was as follows: Mrs. D. R. Nelson, President; Mrs. Martha Lockhart, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. Ella Bond, Recording Secretary; Mrs. Maud Murphy, Treasurer. Mrs. Odessa Foorman, Mrs. Cora Steele and Mrs. Maud Murphy each gave excellent recitations. The open Parliament, conducted by Mrs. Lydia Carmichael, was very interesting and very instructive. The topic was, "The Most Important Department." Mrs. Carmichael spoke specially of Mothers' Meetings. In the discussion, Mrs. Steele spoke of Contest Work; Mrs. Palmer, Systematic Giving and Christian Citizenship; Mrs. Nelson, Press work and Christian Citizenship; Miss Rayle, Purity; Miss Palmer, Non-Alcoholic Medication; Mrs. Bond, Mothers' Meetings. The President closed the discussion with the decision that "Every department is important."

Miss Alice Palmer was present from beginning to close and gave much reliable information. Her lecture Friday evening was fine, and was listened to by a very appreciative audience. A special feature of the evening was a solo by Miss Clarissa Koons.

The Morgan County convention of the W. C. T. U. met at the M. E. church at 10 o'clock on the morning of Oct. 30. For the business sessions, the lecture room on the first floor was used, and the platform was tastefully decorated in the national colors, with vase bouquets of white, red and rose chrysanthemums; back and above the organ, were hung the pledge cards of red, white and blue, secured by white ribbons. A framed picture of Miss Francis Willard, circled in Ivy, rested on an easel at the left of the presiding officer, Mrs. Sophia Toner. The visiting delegates and friends were taken to the National hotel, where they were entertained for dinners.

Among the delegates who came in on the morning trains and reported at the church, were Mesdames Martha J. Sumner, Lida Hadley, Saloma Thompson, Sarah Keller, Alice Burk, Anna Dickerson, Anna Mitchell, Eliza Harvey, of Mooresville; Mesdames Pearl Brown, Savannah B. Sandy, Matilda Whitesett, of Paragon; Mrs. Maggie B. Kirk, of Centerton; Mesdames Sarah Monical, Malinda J. Rinker, of Brooklyn; Mrs. Flora B. Henley, of Monrovia. Many arrived on afternoon and evening trains.

The convention closed with an address by Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley in the auditorium at the M. E. church.

A number of the G. A. R. posts attended and were given the honorary seats facing the lecturer.

Mrs. Stanley is an earnest, forcible speaker, relating her experiences and expressing them in plain, good, common-sense manner, which duly impresses her hearers with the sincerity of her convictions.

The officers of the County Union for the ensuing year are: President, Mrs. S. P. Toner, Martinsville; Vice-President, Flora E. Henley, Mooresville; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Fannie Blankenship; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Malinda Rinker, Brooklyn; Treasurer, Mrs. Rhoda Wilhite, Monrovia. Other appointments were made, as follows: Young Woman's branch, Miss Jennie Edwards, Monrovia; Loyal Temperance Legion branch, Miss Josie Maxwell, Martinsville; Non-Alcoholic Medication, Mrs. Mary Green, Martinsville; Scientific Temperance Instruction, Mrs. Whitesett, Paragon; Sunday School, Mrs. Lida Hadley, Mooresville; Temperance Literature, Mrs. Tomlinson, Martinsville; Parliamentary Usage, Mrs. Flora Henley, Mooresville; Press, Mrs. Fannie Blankenship, Martinsville; Anti-Narcotics, Mrs. Eliza Harvey, Mooresville; Medal Contest, Alice Burke, Mooresville; Gospel Temperance Meetings, Mrs. Lydia Painter, Mooresville; Systematic Giving, Mrs. Rachel Clark, Monrovia; Jail and Prison, Mrs. Louisa Olds, Martinsville; Sabbath Observance, Mrs. Martha Sumner, Mooresville; Mothers' Meetings, Mrs. Sarah Monical, Brooklyn; Flower Mission, Miss Tessie Winter, Martinsville; Franchise, Mrs. J. W. Richardson, Martinsville.—Martinsville Daily.

The Dearborn County W. C. T. U. met in convention at Dillsboro, Ind., in the Presbyterian Church, on October 31. Mrs. Culla Vayhinger, County President, presided, and two very interesting sessions were held. The following officers were elected for the coming year: Mrs. C. J. Vayhinger, Moore's Hill, Ind., President; Mrs. Squires, Moore's Hill, Ind., Corresponding Secretary, and Mrs. R. A. Perlee, Dillsboro, Ind., Treasurer. On the evening of the 31st a Silver Medal Contest was held. The class consisted of four young men—three from Dillsboro and one from Moore's Hill. Elmer Miller, of Dillsboro, was the successful contestant. The church was beautifully decorated with cut flowers, bunting and autumn leaves, while Miss Willard's picture occupied a prominent place on the platform. The floor receipts were $17.00.

"Duty is doing a thing at the right time."

NEW STATE DIRECTORY.

It is expected that every Local and County Union in the State will elect officers for the ensuing year just prior to the State Convention, so that we begin the new W. C. T. U. year with the officers who are to serve during that year. One of the first duties of the State Corresponding Secretary after the Convention is to prepare the new State Directory, so that communications, reports, literature, etc., may be sent to the proper persons, and so that we may know our fellow workers, but it is impossible to do this unless the names and addresses are sent in. This year I am preparing a Directory of County and Local Superintendents, and I urge all Unions and Counties which have not yet sent me a list of their Officers and Superintendents to do so at once. And please do not forget to send the address of each one. If you have re-elected your old officers, send me the list just the same.

I wish, Dear Sisters, you would all bear in mind the importance of a correct State Directory to our State work. Many delays, misunderstandings, and waste of postage result from an out-of-date Directory, and I am ambitious to have an up-to-date record this year.

Most cordially,
HATTIE W. BRAND.

THE W. C. T. U. AND EDUCATION.

This was a jubilee year of the department of Scientific Temperance Instruction in the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union convention at Portland, Maine, as for the first time the great temperance education map of the department is white because temperance physiology is a mandatory public school study in every state, territory and new possession under our territorial laws.

The people are mistaken who imagine that the projectors and defenders of this study are "well meaning but misguided enthusiasts" who know nothing either of science or of the philosophy and practice of the best modern educational methods. At one time in the convention, when the delegates were practically all in their seats, everyone was asked to rise who had been or is now a teacher or connected in any way with public or private education. Almost the entire body came to their feet. A further canvas showed that every phase of education was represented, from primary public school teachers to college and normal school instructors, school principals, supervisors, members of school committees and boards of education. Hence, the delegates knew whereof they affirmed when, on motion of Miss Marie C. Brehm, president of Illinois, they passed unanimously the following preamble and resolution:

WHEREAS, president Charles W. Eliot, of Harvard University, in his recent New Haven speech, has presented no evidence to prove that total abstinence is not supported by the exact experimentation of modern science; therefore,

Resolved, that we respectfully differ from his statement that "the effort to inculcate total abstinence in the public schools has been to the injury of science because the manuals of instruction used for that purpose are inaccurate."

We remind the public that the teachings on this subject in the public schools which is approved by the advocates of this cause has the approval of men of acknowledged eminence in science, and has never been proved false. We, the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union, representing mothers and teachers who come into closest contact with the children of this country, testify to the great educational, hygienic and moral value of this study. We therefore believe that its removal from our schools would be a national calamity which we pledge ourselves to do everything in our power to avert.

The following resolution was also adopted by the convention.

Resolved, That we stand committed to the principle and practice of compulsory scientific temperance instruction for all pupils in all public schools of this country.

We rejoice that this study is now universally mandatory in the United States, and urge our organization everywhere to resist every effort to weaken the laws that require it; to work for good, well graded text books on this subject in the hands of pupils who use books on other subjects; and to oppose books that fail to teach total abstinence as revealed by modern science.

HON. HALE JOHNSON MURDERED

By a man to whom he had gone with an officer to collect a debt. Because of his great-heartedness he had endeavored to collect a standing debt by amicable arrangements that failed, and at last when it was in an officer's hand to collect, Mr. Johnson went with the officer in the hope of yet making arrangements that would be satisfactory, he was shot dead by the man—who immediately took poison and died.

Mr. Johnson was the Prohibition candidate for Vice President of the United States, with Joshua Levering for President.

A great man is gone—a man of worth and power, with a great heart and fine brain, whose every influence was for good. He was a highly-esteemed member of his profession, a good Christian and an exemplary husband and father.

The funeral took place at Newton, Ill., November 6. The services were plain and simple, as he would have had them. The attendance was extremely large. It was said by many to have been the largest ever seen on such an occasion in this county, which was fitting, since he was the most distinguished man given to the world by Jasper county. His home is but a few steps from the Christian Church which he had helped to build. Though the notice was short, many friends came long distances to be present. Prominent Prohibitionists from all sections of the State were there. Addresses were made by Alonzo E. Wilson, secretary of the State Prohibition Committee; G. T. Smith, former pastor of Mr. Johnson's church, and Oliver W. Stewart, of Chicago. Members of the Bar Association of Jasper county attended in a body, as did the members of the Grand Army of the Republic. The addresses at his funeral were all pitched in a triumphant key. While there was universal sorrow, which showed on the faces of the people and was expressed in the addresses, there was a note of victory about the entire services. There was plainly apparent a feeling that all were standing in the presence of a conqueror.

Jasper County appreciated Mr. Johnson for his worth and also for his public work. They took pride in him and gloried in his record.

FIELD NOTES.

The Executive Committee of the Grant County W. C. T. U. and its Board of County Superintendents held an all-day meeting, November 7, at the Christian Tabernacle in Marion. Plans were laid and methods discussed for the year's work. The State President, Mrs. Eunice P. Wilson, was there, and gave a cheery, encouraging report of the National Convention. The County President, Mrs. Gulie E. Shugart, and Mrs. Cammack-Gibson gave much instruction and encouragement to the workers. Mrs. Stephenson, of Gas City, conducted a beautiful Bible Reading on "Our Banking Privileges." There were fourteen Departments represented. Great earnestness was manifested by the women, and there were resolutions made to do better work this year than ever before.

Wabash Union sends the MESSAGE to all the Ministers who are Honoraries.

At Bedford Mrs. Mary E. Balch reported the National Convention and addressed a union meeting of the Junior societies of all the churches. Eighty-one boys and girls signed the triple pledge. Good! The Bedford White Ribboners are very active and aggressive. Mrs. Braxton is a forceful, magnetic leader. Admired and respected by her fellow townspeople, she wields a wonderful influence. This year every Pastor in Bedford is to receive the Union Signal, and it is to be also sent to the Public Library. Bedford Officers and Superintendents are now as follows: President, Mrs. E. A. R. Braxton; Vice-President, Mrs. Mary Coleman; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Milda Mathes; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. C. Freeland; Treasurer, Mrs. G. West; Vice-President from Baptist Church, Mrs. Matthews; Vice-President from Presbyterian Church, Mrs. C. McKinney; Vice-President from Christian Church, Mrs. O. Wire; Vice-President from M. E. Church, Mrs. K. R. Norton; Superintendents—Scientific Temperance Work, Mrs. I. Day; Parliamentary Usage, Mrs. H. McDonald; Temperance Literature, Mrs. Denniston; The Press, Mrs. Wm. Brown; Anti-Narcotics, Mrs. Lizzie Holcombe; Evangelistic, Mrs. Brumley; Sabbath Observance, Mrs. E. Ramsey; Flower Mission, Mrs. Ella Sproull.

LaPorte Union has had an awakening. The attendance is larger and all seem more interested, consequently better and more work is being done. November 7 they sent a large barrel to Hadley Home filled with made clothing, also goods to be made up on its arrival, and $4.00 in money. The delegates from this Union promised Miss Hobart at the State Convention that they would send a package, but they were so successful that it took a barrel to hold what they wanted to send. November 13 Mrs. Ogle, from California, gave an interesting and very encouraging talk. They also enrolled two new members. The work has been nicely planned for the ensuing year. Every other meeting is given to some Superintendent to use for the best interest along the line of work which he or she represents. Rev. Harmon will have charge of the next meeting as Superintendent of Narcotics. Every two weeks will be for business, opening with 20 minutes' devotional exercises led by some member of the Union.

Huntington County unions are still rejoicing over the results of the State Convention held at Huntington. All of the expenses of the convention were paid before the convention week ended and some money left in the county treasury. This of course was the result of careful planning; excellent financial ability. The flutter of white ribbons during the convention helped to arouse a still stronger sentiment among Christian people against the license saloon. This we hope will cause some definite action to be taken that will loosen the grip of the tyrant King Alcohol in that community. Mrs. Rall, as County President, is a very strong aggressive leader, her County Executive is one of the best in our state; by their united efforts great things have been accomplished and Huntington County is close to the top in order of "work done."

Franklin White Ribboners gave a very delightful reception in honor of Mrs. Mary Hadley-Hall, whose future home will be "among them." Mrs. A. T. Whitson was a guest of honor on account of being the organizer of the union.

Anti-Polygamy—The Anti-Polygamy question is a very serious one, with the new complications arising from the elections in Utah. Probably there are over a million signatures to Anti-Polygamy petitions in the rooms of the Judiciary Committee of the House of Representatives. These lose their significance and become of no effect at the termination of the present Congress, March 4, 1903. Strenuous efforts should be made to bring to bear upon members of the House of Representatives all possible influence through petitions, and also through securing letters from prominent men of both political parties to their Representatives in Congress, urging that attention be given to these petitions. Petitions and letters can be sent to representatives at their homes now, or later to Washington, simply addressing them Hon. ...., Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Margaret Dye Ellis, the General of the White Ribbon Army stationed at the National Capital, says: There are two bills before Congress which should receive early attention in the coming session, before the great moneyed interests are reached, viz.: the McCumber bill, "To forbid liquor selling in all Government buildings," and the Penrose-Lawrence bill, "To forbid liquor selling in U. S. Immigrant Stations." Members of Congress should be written to early in December, and persons living in the vicinity of their homes should call upon them before leaving for Washington, urging them to vote in the interest of these measures.

The Executive Committee of Wells County W. C. T. U. met in Bluffton, October 25, and appointed the following Superintendents of Departments for the County: Mrs. Dr. Goodin, Bluffton, Anti-Narcotics and Non-Alcoholic Medication; Mrs. D. E. Studebaker, Bluffton, Parliamentary Usage; Mrs. M. J. Hunter, Ossian, Medal Contests; Mrs. Cora McBride, Bluffton, Press; Mrs. Maggie Roe, Ossian, Purity; Mrs. Martha McBride, Bluffton, Mothers' Meetings; Mrs. D. A. Walmer, Bluffton, Relation of Temperance to Labor; Mrs. Martha McBride, Bluffton, Jail, Prison and Evangelistic; Mrs. Sarah Sawyer, Bluffton, Flower Missions; Mrs. Hannah Reif, Bluffton, Franchise; Miss Della Roma, Kreps, Scientific Temperance Instruction.

Churubusco Union entertained their country members and a few friends of the organization, October 29, at the home of Mrs. Lucy Thompson; about fifty friends and members were present. A short literary program was given, which consisted of music, recitations, a paper on the Origin and Purpose of the W. C. T. U., the reading of the Declaration of Principles of the W. C. T. U.; also, a short address by the Pastor of the U. B. Church. Three new members were added to our local W. C. T. U. At the close of our literary program refreshments were served and a good social time was enjoyed by all present.

First Gold Medal Contest was given in the U. B. Church, Saturday, Oct. 25, at Churubusco. The Church was crowded with people who came to hear the contestants deliver their recitations, "which they did in a very able manner." Miss Sadie Claxton won the Medal; her subject was "The Vagabonds." We were also entertained with excellent instrumental music—Solo, Duet and Quartet—the last two being given by little girls. The door receipts were $19.10.

Medal Contest—On the evening of November 8, by invitation, we drove to Roll to attend a medal contest. It was a lovely evening and upon our arrival at the church an hour before the appointed time we found the house more than half filled with people. The church was simply and tastefully decorated.

The contest was participated in by seven young ladies and gentlemen, four of whom were school teachers. The recitations were exceptionally well rendered, showing a careful interest on the part of the contestants and reflecting much credit on their training.

By the hour of opening, the house was packed with as attentive, appreciative congregation as it has ever been our privilege to meet. The order through the exercises was commendable. While waiting for the hour of opening the time was well spent in singing hymns. The Recitations were interspersed with music—a song by the little girls very beautifully sang, also some very appropriate selections by a quartet, whose singing was excellent. Miss Bessie Buckles, a young school teacher, was awarded the medal. The recitations were not only fine, but were so well given that it was a very close race.

To Mrs. Palmer, the Superintendent of contest work in her local union, great praise is due. An admission of ten cents for adults and five cents for children was charged, and as the receipts for the evening amounted to $23.75, Mrs. Palmer felt amply paid for her untiring labors in carrying forth the work, and on every hand was heard the declaration "it was a decided success." She feels willing to do the same thing again sometime in the future. While the judges were making their decision, Mrs. Stahl gave a short address which was pronounced deserving of a medal. As this union is very small, it was certainly very very encouraging to them and us to see what they have accomplished, and as they have done so well what might be accomplished if we will but get our eyes off the probable failures and get them on the possible success of our best endeavors.

Dear readers, let us try it this year on all lines as God may lead and see if we do not have such a year of prosperity for the temperance cause as we have never had before. May God inspire us with zeal and energy to push the battle. Let, "Down with the rum traffic!" be our watch-cri until we shall hear the death knell of the saloon reverberating all through this fair land of ours.

The foregoing is no "blow up" for the paper—no newspaper story—but a faithful presentation of facts. Now, my dear readers, reflect on this work done by this union of fourteen members, five of whom are honorary, and then ask yourselves, cannot we do as much?

IN MEMORIAM.

MRS. BELLE WRIGHT—WHEREAS, death has again entered our ranks and removed from our midst, our dear sister, Mrs. Belle Wright.

Resolved, that the Hadley W. C. T. U. extend to the husband and children our heartfelt sympathy, asking them to remember that God plucks from us our earthly friend, that we may look upon Him as He is, our very best Friend.

He foils our earthly hopes, that we may not fail of heaven. Are our trials great, great is our reward. Let us bear them with a smile, for the external joys of heaven far exceed the suffering of earth. Would we be strong we must often be put to the trial of our strength, but with the testing comes the promise, "As thy day is so shall thy strength be."

THE PEACE JUBILEE.

Air: "There is a Happy Land."
There is a happy time
Not far away,
When over every clime
Love shall have sway.
O, bright will be the hour
When the war-clouds doth not lower,
When Oppression hath not power
On sea or shore.

Darts of hatred in that day
No more are hurled;
Flags of good will alway
Now are unfurled.
Prisoners, too, shall find release,
Clang of sword and gun shall cease,
'Tis the Jubilee of Peace
All 'round the world.

Work for that happy time.
Speed, speed the day
When every land and clime
Shall own Love's sway.
Peace makes the nations free;
Peace is truest victory;
Peace brings the Jubilee
To all the world.

FROM STATE PRESIDENT.

Fresh air and pure water are our best physicians, as neither of those use alcohol in their treatment of diseases. It seems clear to my mind that doctors of less experience might abandon this dangerous drug with all safety. My father, being an invalid for many years, gave me a good opportunity to study the effect of alcoholic medicine, occasionally given by his physician, and I have no word to give in its favor. There is so little to be said in favor and so much against its use as a medicine that I think we, as White Ribboners, should protest against its use in any form. I remember good Christian friends whom I have good reason to believe died intoxicated from the use of brandy, given them as medicine in their last illness, depriving them of giving a parting message to the family, which would have been more highly appreciated than the earthy possessions left to them. For these reasons and others of much more importance I will not take this poison if I know it.

EUNICE P. WILSON.

Y. W. C. T. U.

The Goshen "Y's" are trying something new. They call it a Clipping Contest, with a girl captain on one side and a boy captain on the other side—twenty-six in all. They cut out of the papers any item or all items relating to the evils of the liquor traffic, fines for drunkenness, jail sentences, murders, etc. They get their parents, brothers and sisters to help them. A committee of three of the older "Y's" take charge of the clippings and about the first of February the defeated side is to entertain the victorious side. One little boy sent 300 clippings. Let us pray that this may awaken parents to the awful crimes and ruinous effect of the liquor traffic on their boys and girls and do something to help overthrow it. Let other "Y" Unions do likewise. We think it a splendid plan and something new.

We want all the MESSAGE readers to know of the splendid plans for the meetings the "Y" Secretary held in Martin county, beginning World's Temperance Sunday, November 23, presenting the work at the three Sunday Schools and securing pledge signers; in the morning occupied the Christian Church pulpit and a mass meeting at night in the M. E. Church, special music helping in the service so much. The musical talent of Loogootee is especially nice to furnish extra music for the parlor meetings in the afternoons.

Monday afternoon a reception was held at the home of Mrs. Thomas, to which a number of ladies braved the rain and attended. Music, an address, refreshments and social hour helped to give the meetings for the week a splendid start. Tuesday afternoon at Mrs. Flora Rodgers; Wednesday afternoon at Mrs. Maggie Brooks; Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. May Moser, and we must speak of the pleasure of having as a guest of that meeting the invalid mother, Mrs. O'Brian, also Mrs. Wright, of Washington. Flowers, music, a paper on the Temperance Hospital, prepared by Mrs. Georgie Moser White, of Colorado, was read by Mrs. Brooks. The State Secretary of the Y. W. C. T. U. then read a paper on "Impurity in the Public Schools and How to Cope with It." Friday the County President, Miss Susie Majors, accompanied Miss Sears to Shoals, where Miss Sears was given a place among the instructors for the Teachers' Institute, with Dr. Lowder, of Greencastle, and Prof. C. M. Curry, of Terre Haute, speaking on Friday afternoon and Saturday morning to a large number of teachers. Each evening, with the exception of Friday and Saturday, public meetings were held at night in the M. E. and Presbyterian churches, on the last Sabbath evening in the Christian church. Mrs. Moser and Miss Majors and other W. C. T. U. ladies did all they could to make the meeting a success. The rain for days and scarlet fever scare interfered somewhat, but we know God will take care of the results, and may He bless those women is our constant prayer.

Anderson "Y's" gave another one of its girls, Miss Effie Wilhoit, for three years the Recording Secretary, in marriage to Mr. Melvin Jameson, December 11. They will make their home in Anderson and went to it the night of the wedding.

I did not send out any of my blanks this quarter, because they have never been sent to me; but if I do not receive them, "Y's," you will hear from me before December closes. We must do all in our power to bring up the membership in the State this year.

Please send me items in regard to work you are doing in your local "Y" Unions. Do you need State programs? If so, send to my address and they will be forwarded.

I am open for dates now, and if you who do not have a Y. W. C. T. U. in your county don't send for me, I think you will get a notice that I am coming.

Above all things, girls, pray and keep close to God and he will lead us to victory.

Lovingly,
CLARA M. SEARS,
Y. Secretary.

FROM PRESIDENT WILSON.

I believe we have lost good opportunities to get the temperance work before the people by supposing that when the usual revival meetings begin in our churches we must postpone our work until after the meetings close or the revival season is over. Now, dear hearts, the work done by the W. C. T. U. is church work in every department. I do not believe any denomination of the church will or can hope to have in the future, to any great extent, a revival of religion or ingathering of souls into the kingdom until the saloon is outlawed and church members sever their connection with this iniquitous business, and not only that but cry out aloud, "in season and out of season," against these soul destroying murder mills of our country.

Therefore I hope, as nearly as possible, each local Union will see to it that the minister in charge of the meetings be invited and encouraged to preach one or more temperance sermons during the series. I do not mean a recital of the evils of the drink habit, every man, woman and child knows more or less about them, but rather how the church may arise in her strength and slay her worst enemy.

If this cannot be done, or if it can, let each Union, or two or three join together, and secure one or more of our own evangelists to come to your place and hold a series of temperance meetings. Tell the editor of the local paper about it and ask him to give the meetings a kindly mention. Send out personal invitations to those who are not in the habit of attending church service. Ask your pastor and those who do not belong to the Union to pray for and take part in the meetings. Then, like Daniel of old, with "open window toward the throne," ask the Lord to bless your efforts. Then look for great results in saving young men from the enemy's net, and young women will become interested in the work and join the Union. You will have a consciousness that those who attended your meetings will not die ignorant of their duty toward the saloon. Souls will be born into the kingdom of God, your Union built up and strengthened, the church blessed, and your own hearts sing for joy because you did your duty.

EUNICE P. WILSON.

A REMARKABLE SHOWING.

One week ago I published a statement showing that in answer to a recent appeal for cash and pledges for the national prohibition committee for our party work, 86 persons had given, in cash and pledges, $845.80. I expressed the belief that by the end of the week the total amount contributed would come up to the two thousand dollar mark.

I am forced to confess to the prohibition party of the country that the best that I thought I ought to hope for has proved far too small. The total amount contributed within the week following was $3,990.45, which came from 534 persons. This, added to the amount previously reported, makes a total of 620 contributors and a total amount contributed of $4,836.25. Instead of the two thousand dollar mark, we have fallen but a few dollars short of the five thousand dollar mark. I now have faith to believe that we will, at an early date, reach ten thousand dollars. Practically we are half way there now. Shall we go the rest of the distance, and go it quickly? Out of our voters, who number hundreds of thousands, so far only 620 have made individual contributions. The 620 names constitute a roll of honor, to be on which is well worth large sacrifice. We must number our contributors by the thousands, not by the hundreds. I am happy to say that the week that closed to-day has broken all records since I have been chairman of the national committee. Never before has there come in such a large sum in subscriptions and payments as came this week. Good as the record is, we could beat it every week between now and the first of January if we would. Do you want to put your name on the roll of honor? Will you send your pledge or payment at once to OLIVER W. STEWART, Chairman,

1518 Manhattan Bldg., Chicago, Ill.

Later—Over Eight Thousand Dollars.—

The national organizing fund for next year now amounts to over $8,000. During the week now closing 108 contributors sent cash and pledges amounting to $605.10, which, added to the number and amount previously reported, give totals of 1,173 contributors and $8,308.25 contributed. If the many friends who have fully intended to give for next year will hurry on their pledges within the next few days, we can reach the ten thousand mark before the end of the year 1902. What a victory that would be, to have $10,000 subscribed for our fund for next year before the end of this year. It is certainly well worth the effort. We are within striking distance of it. A little less than $1,700 will carry us up to that mark. Friends of the prohibition cause, what is to be your response? May I hear from you within the next few days? Send all cash and pledges to

OLIVER W. STEWART, Chairman,
1518 Manhattan Building, Chicago, Ill.

PLAN OF WORK FOR 1903.

Fifty questions on the Annual Minutes, Annual Leaflet and the MESSAGE and Union Signal, beginning with the October, 1902, issues, shall be prepared by the State Central Committee and published in the April MESSAGE. Any member who answers seventy-five per cent of the questions shall have her name enrolled in the State Minutes. Answers to be sent to the State Recording Secretary.

WILLARD MEMORIAL MEETINGS.

February 17 has been set apart for the commemoration of the beautiful life of Frances E. Willard, and it is recommended that every Local Union hold a Memorial Meeting on that date. Have short addresses, extracts from her writings, and ask for a generous offering, $2.00 of which shall be forwarded to the National Treasurer as a Willard Memorial Fund.

TEMPERANCE REVIVALS.

Let every Union hold a week of temperance revival meetings during the winter months, such meetings to be a campaign for pledge signing, the distribution of temperance literature and the proclaiming of the doctrine of legal prohibition. Every Union which will hold such a revival shall receive a package of pledge cards and temperance literature.

GAINS IN MEMBERSHIP.

STATE BANNER. The Union making the greatest gain in paid members shall have the custody of the State Banner for the year.

HONORARY MEMBERS. The Union making the largest gain in honorary members shall receive a copy of the life of John G. Woolley.

COUNTY GAINS. Any County having made a gain of one hundred over the paid membership of last year shall have their County President's car-fare paid to the State Convention by the State and receive honorable mention.

Any County having three new Unions of ten paid members each shall have a State speaker free.

Any County having two new Unions of ten paid members each shall have a State speaker by paying her car-fare only.

Any County President who organizes a Union of ten paid members shall have a cash premium of $2.00.

Dues must be in the hands of the State Treasurer before any of the above premiums will be awarded.

LOCAL UNION GAINS. Any Union making a gain of ten paid members in any quarter of the year shall have a State speaker by paying her car fare only.

FINANCIAL.

The Union sending the largest amount as a Free Will Offering for State work shall receive from the State Treasurer 20 per cent of the amount given.

PROGRAMS.

Local Unions shall prepare a program for the year's meetings, printed, type-written or written, and send a copy to the State Corresponding Secretary. A premium shall be awarded for the one which best presents the temperance cause. Also the County Executive shall furnish a suggestive program for the Local Unions of the County.

General Secretary L. T. L. Branch—Mrs. Ida Mix, Kokomo.

This Non-Alcoholic Issue of the MESSAGE contains much valuable information. This department strikes right at the root of the drink habit.

Our State Superintendent of this department, Mrs. A. T. Whitson, is courageously pushing the work along. She is doing much to disseminate knowledge along this line.

Our aggressive physicians, the most successful practitioners, do not use alcohol in their practice.

Upon the women of to-day largely depends the attitude taken by the youth and by physicians upon the non use of alcohol in medicine. When our women refuse to allow the use of alcohol in medicine physicians will use other remedies. The blind faith of the people in the doctors and the conservatism and slowness of the doctors to accept any theory that has not been handed down through clinic work, etc., is amazing.

Our White Ribboners must get the scientific information and become posted, for to them the outside world looks for examples of right living and teaching. Let there be no alcohol used in any W. C. T. U. home.

MEDAL CONTESTS.

Fearing some of the White Ribbon sisters do not yet know of whom to order medals and books, I take this opportunity to inform you. My address until further notice is 1330 E. Washington St., Muncie, and I shall be delighted to fill all orders as promptly as I can. I love the work, but need the prayers and help of the workers. Pray that our work may tell in eternity.
CORA M. STEELE.

FRANCHISE.

"Rise up, ye women that are at ease." This injunction would scarce seem to apply to the women within our ranks, and yet such a plea is well to be heeded.

Being but recently notified of my appointment to this most important of departments, the Franchise, and feeling my great deficiency and incompetency, I beg of the rank and file of Indiana to "rise up" and lend me their hands and brains that I may not fail. The cause is not mine alone, but yours as well. Our's it shall be to enter the halls of the Legislature this winter and ask for presidential suffrage, and with this aim in view let us push the petition work. Secure names to the following declaration: "We believe women should vote on equal terms with men." Secure signatures only from people of legal age. It will be of great and direct value to our cause to secure, as soon as possible, a number of signatures in addition to those already signed, large enough to demand the attention of the Legislature, and send the same to me at once.

Report your work carefully and on time, and communicate freely with me at any time. Any suggestions from wiser heads will be greatly appreciated by one who desires to do her very best.

MISS PEARL RALL,
State Superintendent.

EVANGELISTIC.

Another year has passed with all its successes and failures, and we are already in the second month of the new year. I would be glad if I could see you face to face and have the privilege of conferring with you regarding the interest of our most important department. I wish to thank each one who sent me a report last year and exhort all who did not to be more diligent this year, that you may have a good report to make e'er this year closes. Let us each one endeavor to do better work than we have ever done before. Keep a faithful record of all your work, and follow as fully as possible the suggestions in my plan of work. I do not think it advisable to get out a new plan of work this year, as the old edition is not quite exhausted, and I can, from time to time, speak to you through the MESSAGE. I am anxious that each one of you should have a copy of Miss Greenwood's Recommendations for 1902. I have sent for 100 copies, which I will send to the County Superintendents, that they may supply the Local Superintendents. Where there are no County Superintendents I will send direct to the local, providing you will send me your name and address. I greatly desire to be helpful to my co-workers, but I cannot help you if you do not let me know who and where you are. When there is a change in the Superintendent, please inform me promptly. I only heard from 31 counties last year. May I not have a report from every organized county this year? If there is no County Superintendent will the County Corresponding Secretary please send me the names of the Local Superintendents in the County? I have made out a new set of questions for my report blanks in harmony with Miss Greenwood's Recommendations for 1902. Will you please report in figures, as Miss Greenwood earnestly requests this? She says, "A vast amount of enthusiasm and power are lost because not one-tenth of the work done is reported in figures." I earnestly desire that each Union will, if possible, arrange for a special revival service of a week's duration; seeking earnestly the co-operation of ministers, Sunday-school superintendents and teachers. If I can be of any assistance to you, let me know and I will gladly do all in my power to carry out your wishes. Any suggestions from the Superintendents or Associate Evangelists, by which our department may be made more effective, will be gladly received. The most important thing for each individual is to be in harmony and fellowship with the divine leader. Earnest, sympathetic study of the word, accompanied with fervent prayer, is absolutely essential if we would be equipped for effectual service; therefore, let us spend as much time as possible in these exercises. I will close with Paul's injunction to Timothy: "Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth." Yours for the uplifting of our dear Redeemer's Kingdom in the earth,

ELIZABETH M. HAUGHTON.

PLAN OF WORK, SABBATH OBSERVANCE DEPARTMENT.

In the department of Sabbath Observance there are fifteen distinct lines of work which may be classified under the four heads: Educational, Evangelistic, Social and Legal, as here represented by a tower standing upon the foundation rock of God's word.

The light in the dome is typical of the truth we wish to have spread over land and sea. The efficient superintendent will work along these lines, using the links of past experience as a cable to lash to new helps, and prayer as the anchor of hope for protection from the storms of difficulty. Correspondence with those in positions above her will be the life preserver upon which she may depend in cases of extreme need. A study of the plans and workings of other superintendents will serve as a signal lantern in case of approaching dangers. The STATE MINUTES will be her chart, faith her compass and God her pilot. Thus equipped, she will safely reach the harbor of success.

A GENEROUS DONATION.

The charity fund of the Bluffton Woman's Christian Temperance Union was recently increased by a check for fifty dollars, which was presented by the Order of Elks of that city. This order numbers among its members some of the most generous, large-hearted men in Wells county. The organization, though yet in its infancy, is loyal to its principles, and, remembering that "the poor are always with us," has made it possible for the ladies of the W. C. T. U. to lend a helping hand to those who are in need.

Intemperance is the egg out of which all vices may be hatched.—St. Augustine.

Mrs. Mary C. Woody is the Superintendent of the Evangelistic Department in the North Carolina W. C. T. U.

Our National Recording Secretary, Mrs. Clara C. Hoffman, is very ill of inflammatory rheumatism. She is in Chicago.

Lancaster County (Penn.) W. C. T. U. publishes a bright newsy four-page paper. The editorials are forceful and to the point.

The prohibition vote in Ontario is very encouraging, and proves the power of the prohibition sentiment there. Our Canadian White Ribboners helped in many ways.

Hon. Jno. G. Woolley has greatly improved the New Voice since he assumed personal charge and dropped out the bitter, which was disagreeable when served so frequently and in such allopathic quantities.

The amount spent for drink in this country last year was about $1,225,850,000. This sum in one-dollar bills placed touching end to end would girdle the world fifty-eight times, making a belt of money about twenty feet wide around the entire earth. It would form a strip six bills wide from the earth to the moon; or would make a solid carpet of bills larger than the State of Connecticut.—Search Light.

After the fall elections the Washington Sentinel, a liquor organ, sounded an alarm. It said: "It seems to us that the friends of personal liberty are not fully aware of the danger which threatens them from prohibitionists, who are working day and night, and successfully, too, to bring about total prohibition. In fact, there is hardly a State in the South where the majorities of counties do not prohibit the sale of liquor."

The W. C. T. U. claims, as it has for twenty-five years, that the only way to make total abstinence possible, the only way to insure temperance and good order, is the enactment of prohibitory laws. They have come to this conclusion not hastily or unthinkingly. The W. C. T. U. started out with an idea of using moral suasion in the temperance work, but found by experience that what was necessary was to get at the fountain head of the evil and absolutely close the saloons. Few men kept the pledges they made when they were tempted by the allurements of the saloon. The whole trouble is that the government is in partnership with the rum-sellers, and until this partnership is dissolved drunkards will continue to be made. Then, and not till then, can men grapple with this question as they should. Give us enforcement for a hundred years and then, if the conditions are no better, come to the W. C. T. U. and we will believe you if you say it is a failure, and not till then.—Rev. Anna Shaw.

At a recent meeting of the Louisville Ministers' Association Mrs. Mary E. Balch, with a committee of Louisville White Ribboners, asked that the Association join in extending an invitation to the National W. C. T. U. to meet in Louisville next fall. Quickly Rev. J. Kinsey sprang to his feet and asked if the W. C. T. U. was an adjunct to the prohibition party? "If it is," he shouted, "we should have nothing to do with it." This same minister had, in his Thanksgiving sermon on the Thursday previous, said of Louisville: "Look at this vast city with saloons strewn as thickly along its crowded streets as the electric lights which hang over them. Look at the dives, and dance halls, and dens of hideous and festering impurity; at the vile theaters, open every day in the week for the exhibition of lust and indecency; at the Sunday desecration; at the poisoning of the public mind by a frivolous and degraded press." The following comments of the New Voice are to the point: "And after all, the invitation was not extended. Perhaps it is for the best. If the old party city of Louisville is half as bad as Rev. J. Kinsey says it is, it is not a fit place to invite respectable women. The sagacity of a preacher who will on Thursday paint in such colors the condition of a license city and then on Monday go into fits over the proposal to extend a civil invitation to friends of prohibition is so illuminating as to suggest Bright's disease."

Anti-Saloon League.—The seventh convention of the American Anti-Saloon League closed on December 11. The meetings were enthusiastic and well attended. It was a very representative body. Rev. Elwood O. Ellis, of Indiana, was made chairman of the resolutions committee. Rev. E. G. Sanderson, Superintendent of the League in Indiana, read a paper on "The League; What It Is and Does." Mrs. J. Ellen Foster was in evidence. She will be remembered as a traitor to the W. C. T. U. Mrs. Leonora Lake, Vice-President of the Catholic Total Abstinence Society, delivered an eloquent address on "Unification of Effort for Sobriety and Against the Saloon." There were many addresses, and discussion followed. The army canteen naturally occupied much attention. The Inspector General of the Division of the Philippines, in his official report just issued says: "Between 10 and 35 per cent. of the men (soldiers) drink to excess habitually." The address prepared by Rev. E. C. Dinwiddie and Dr. I. C. Funk was adopted. In this address the army canteen was set forth in its true light, and the League pledged itself to work and vote against the repeal of the anti-canteen law.

PATENT MEDICINES—A RECITATION.

For every pain and every ache,
There is a medicine to take,
That has a patent to insure
That it will absolutely cure.
It's strange that any one is sick,
When medicines will cure so quick.
Directions plain, that all may read;
Alas, they do not wisely heed.
And then the good effects are lost,
Which makes them grumble as to cost.
They'll try another, advertised,
Because they were so ill advised.
The temperance folks can, one and all,
Be sure there is no alcohol,
Or any drug of dangerous kind,
But of the best, pure and refined.
Shake once, shake twice; and o'er and o'er,
They try the remedy once more,
And from the bottle drink it down
Without a grimace or a frown.
For tooth, and ear, and eye, and nose,
For stomach, back, and limbs, and toes,
And lung and liver, heart and brain,
Made over new, without a pain.
There's balsams, tonics, salves and pills,
And tinctures, syrups, tablets, squills—
You read of them on fence and barn,
And every stump about the farm.
And not a paper or a book,
These days, would have a paying look
Without these ads of strange device,
That fool the wise once, twice and thrice.
Patent medicines are a trade
By which large fortunes oft are made,
And grave-yards fill, and homes deplete,
While all are ill you chance to meet.
There's something wrong, some how, some way,
Whatever quacks and doctors say.
The Healer's word is true to-day,
And all may try the better way;
Obedience the only rule,
And Faith the Healer's wondrous school.
Then there's the temperance people's fad,
You'll find their way is not so bad;
They've facts and figures both to show
Their loss of life is far below
Where alcohol is used to cure,
And beverage users can't endure
Disease, hardships and wearing pain
Like those who carefully abstain.
All patent medicines they pass by,
For they all know these medicines lie.

—Mary E. Balch.

PRIZE RECITATION NO. 3.

BY INHERITANCE.

To Moses was given the law of inheritance, by the Lord himself, "Visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generation or them that hate me."

This is a warning that should cause each one of us to shrink from all manner of evil. Oh, that we could impress this awful responsibility upon the minds of the youth! Would they not hesitate about forming habits of dishonesty, drinking, gambling, impurity?

It has become an appalling matter to read the daily papers. The assaults, the murders, the suicides, the infanticide, the parricides and all the rest of the black and awful list. In reading these details, two distinct conclusions are placed before our eyes. Either these acts are the result of the inheritance received from our ancestors, or, by giving ourselves up to the snares of the evil one, we are laying up for our posterity a most infamous inheritance.

A most touching incident, taken from real life, was once given:

A certain man of education, talent and hope had fallen to the lowest depths of a drunkard. His sixteen year old daughter, Alice, a noble Christian girl, resolved to spend her life, if necessary, in leading her father back to sobriety and usefulness. For two years, summer and winter, night and day, she went to his haunts and brought him home. She supplied all his wants and always gave him the tenderest of care. When he awoke from his drunken sleep she would plead with him, pray with him and lead him to pray for himself. After breaking many promises, the man's heart was reached. He could no longer withstand the daughter's faithfulness and love. He made a confession, joined the church and once more took his place in the world, and to the end of his life became a great worker for the Lord.

To that town moved a gay young married lady. She had ample time and ample means for enjoyment. It was her great delight to draw around her the young people and furnish dainty lunches and banquets. Choice wines and wonderful punches were compounded for the entertainments. She laughed mockingly at the "cranks" that were afraid of a sip of wine. Having heard of this daughter's life of sacrifice and devotion, she lent her brains to a mischievous scheme. So this young girl was invited to one of her entertainments, and being ignorant of the nature of her table, accepted the invitation. The married woman, however, knew whom she had in her house and no suspicious looking drinks were in sight. Tea was served with this supper. Alice drank hers with great relish. "What have you in this tea that tastes so nice?" she inquired. "Oh," replied the woman, "this flavoring was sent to me from Paris. I thought you young ladies would like it. Have another cup." Alice passed her cup the third and fourth time, drinking her tea with great delight. Her face flushed, her eyes sparkled. "This is delicious," she exclaimed, "you must tell me what you have put in your tea." "Well," replied the lady with a triumphant smile, "it is nothing more than whisky, the good drink you have abused all your life." Alice rose from the table, her eyes wildly glittering. Beating with her hands upon her brow she cried, "If this is whisky I must have it. I have all my life been longing for something, and I never knew until now what it was." Her would-be friends, half terrified at what they had done, tried to soothe and detain her, but Alice, wild with excitement and conscious stricken, snatched her wraps and rushed from the house. In her own room she fought and struggled with the awful demon into whose grasp she had fallen, but in vain. A match had been applied to the dormant heritage in her blood, and the fire continued to burn more and more fiercely. Under cover of darkness she sought a place where she could buy the much longed for beverage. When her condition was discovered the next day, her father was stricken with despair and grief. He realized that he had sown those fatal seeds in his child's blood. He now returned the prayers, care and watching that she had bestowed upon him; but the die was cast, drink she would have in whatever way it could be procured. She could not stand the smittings of conscience and would drown her dismay in the much craved for drink. When money was withheld from her, she would sell or pawn her clothing. For nearly three years this career was hers, then her health failed and worn out, wretched and repentant, she sank into an early grave, watched over to the last by a broken hearted father.

I will now read the remainder of the law given to Moses.

"And showing mercy unto thousands of them that love me and keep my commandments."

What a blessed promise. By loving him and keeping his commandments and by placing ourselves in good environments, we can even cheat inheritance itself. But beware of the mischievous person. We have all descended from drinking races. Not one knows what demon may be sleeping in his blood. In a thoughtless moment a spark flying from a careless hand may consume and utterly destroy the careful toil of years. It matters not from whence the spark may come, the social board, the medicine chest or the legalized vender of intoxicants. Friends, pause and think of the many liabilities from medicine. Is it not time to arise and announce to the world the danger lurking therein, and the non-necessity of alcohol in medicine? Too long this has been our deceiver. We now know it only as an irritant and depressant, leaving a soothing sensation, for a time, which comes from the benumbing influence upon the nerves.

Surely a new and better era is dawning upon us, when many of our best physicians are speaking of the "passing away of alcohol."

MRS. PETER McDERMID.

SUPERINTENDENTS OF NON-ALCOHOLIC MEDICATION.

Did you all notice in the report from the largest W. C. T. U. on record, Marietta, Ohio, that the department of Non-Alcoholic Medication has one meeting a month devoted to its study? The President of this flourishing Union says:

"Last year we began studying Non-Alcoholic Medication. We saw so much evil resulting from the medical use of alcohol that we wished to know if it really was necessary. Our Superintendent was the daughter of a physician and a very bright woman. She had the opportunity of studying the best medical works on the use and results of alcohol. We gave one afternoon each month entirely to this study. We commenced with diseases peculiar to children. We advertised the meetings in the daily papers and several ladies were asked beforehand to lead in the discussion. We had large audiences of interested women. Then we took up different diseases and their treatment by different physicians, noting carefully the results. Next, we gave a number of women a certain disease to study and report upon at next meeting. In this way they became not only interested, but instructed, with the result that very many women who thought they must keep a little whisky in the house for cases of emergency have thrown it out, and have found that common colds, la grippe, cramps and all other diseases, are much more easily cured without alcohol in any form.

"Our superintendent moved out of town in six months, but the work so well established went right on. We also sent leaflets to physicians. We had Dr. Beardsley, of Hartford, Conn., two weeks in January of this year. His lectures reached more people with better results than anything else could have done. Several prominent physicians attended his lectures. The good to our city will be lasting.

"Unions cannot be too careful in the selection of a superintendent for this most important department. She must have unlimited patience, with much tact and willingness. She must study the leaflets and all other literature on the subject she can find.

"There should be at least one meeting a month devoted to this vital subject, with not more than two original papers; one paper with thorough discussion is enough, with reading from one of the leaflets; always read some simple remedies. We know this study of Non-Alcoholic Medication is so interesting and helpful that once taken up systematically it cannot but increase in interest and profit."

This letter from Mrs. Ogle explains the Marietta method so clearly that I wished you all to have it as an inspiration to like deeds in your own Union. All Unions cannot have a superintendent who has access to medical works for study, but this is not absolutely requisite, since the department book, "Alcohol a Dangerous and Unnecessary Medicine," gives an abundance of material in compact form for just such use. No Union should be without this book. Try the Marietta plan of studying diseases and their non-alcoholic treatment, using the chapter under that heading, and for results use the chapter on Death Rates. Don't forget to thoroughly advertise your meetings.

At the last California convention a very taking number upon the program was a dramatic representation of "The Doctor's Day Off." This has now been published and is for sale at State Headquarters, 132 McAllister street, San Francisco, Cal. Price, ten cents single copy or sixty cents a dozen. It is well adapted to use at State or county conventions, or for public meetings of local Unions.

Those desiring copies of the "Appeal to Physicians" can get them from me at five cents a dozen, or twenty-five cents a hundred. The leaflet "Alcohol Not a Food" should accompany the Appeal. Price of leaflet, twenty cents per hundred.

Are you remembering the prize to State, county and local superintendents this year? Does every member of your Union own a sample package of leaflets to study and loan? I fear not; indeed there are hundreds of Unions which even yet seem untouched by this total abstinence work. Whose fault is this? Can you do anything to remedy it?

The sample package of leaflets, price ten cents, and the department book, $1.25, can be obtained from the W. T. P. A., 184 La Salle street, Chicago, from me, or from your State Superintendent. Use these helps and grow in numbers and usefulness as has Marietta, Ohio.

WHAT SHALL BE THE NEXT STEP IN THE ABOLITION OF THE DRINK TRAFFIC BY THE MEDICAL PROFESSION?

"Thou hast no healing medicines."—Jer. 30-13.

Dr. Homes has said that if the contents of our drug stores were taken out upon the ocean and thrown overboard it would be better for the human race, but worse for the fishes.

It has been clearly proved by scientific experiments that there is no healing power in alcohol, even though the discoverers of this liquid extract thought and proclaimed that they had found at last a panacea, or a cure-all, for every ill that flesh was heir to or afflicted with.

That alcohol is a poison we scarcely need be told at this stage of W. C. T. U. development, and from a scientific view as well as from a Christian stand point. A prominent physician defines a poison to be "a substance, in whatever form it may be, which, when applied to a living surface, disconcerts and disturbs life's healthy movements. Such is alcohol. Such in all its forms, mix it with whatever you may.

In the wonderful make up of our bodies are cells, fibers and fluids.

The cell is the most important structure in the living body. Life resides in the cell. The matter which forms the mass of a cell is called protoplasm or bioplasm, and resembles the white of an egg. Bioplasm is living matter. It is structureless, semi-fluid, transparent and colorless. It is the only matter that can grow, move, divide itself and multiply; the only matter that can take up food and convert it into its own substance, and the only matter that can be nourished. The bioplasm in the cell gets its nourishment by drawing in food through the cell wall, and in that way building up the formed material while it is being disintegrated on the outer surface. The body is kept in repair by this living matter, and all the functions of the body are but the result of its action.

Under the microscope we may see, when bioplasm is immersed in a harmless stimulant solution, the activity is increased, it moves faster, takes up more food and divides more rapidly than in an unstimulated condition. But if an astringent be added it moves more slowly, and soon contracts into a spherical shape and remains contracted, or may move slowly to a limited extent according to the strength of the stringent solution. Then add a relaxant, and gradually the living matter begins to spread in all directions in a lazy-like manner and becomes so thin as to be almost undiscernible, and takes up very little if any food.

Alcohol is ironically called a stimulant, but if we use a weak solution of it, almost instantly the living matter contracts into a ball like mass, and we may conclude that alcohol is an astringent. If we now use the same harmless stimulant as before, which caused it to move faster, etc., it makes no impression; it does not move; it is dead matter.

So we see that alcohol destroys the very life force that alone keeps the body in repair. This can be more clearly demonstrated by immersing the white of an egg (which consists of albumen, and is very similar to bioplasm) in alcohol. Notice it turn white, coagulate and harden.

The same experiment can be made with blood with the same result, killing the blood bioplasts. When taken into the stomach it has the same effect on the blood and all the living tissues in the system as out of it, and this alone is enough to condemn its use as a medicine.

There have been times, when I have thought of the injuries alcohol and drug medication, including the nicotine of tobacco, have done and are doing the human race, it seemed to me I could adopt the sentiment expressed by a noted physician on this subject, when he said, "I am disposed to give up my profession and go forth upon a holy crusade, preaching to all men: 'Beware of these enemies of the race.'"

Under the progressive educative influence of the W. C. T. U. and the medical profession this fight against "Alcohol as Medicine" must go on, to the winning in the battle against "Alcohol as a Beverage," for the two are like the Siamese twins—inseparable, only the latter is upheld by the former.

Skillful, scientific, philanthropic, Christian physicians, such as Dr. B. W. Richardson, of the London Temperance Hospital; Dr. N. B. Davis, Sr., of Chi-

NON-ALCOHOLIC MEDICATION. RECITATION.

Our beautiful and God given earth is being blighted with Satan's strongholds, and oh how deep and how firmly are his roots implanted! Only arms strengthened with power from on high can ever hope to uproot them.

Intemperance is the curse that is bringing our land to ruin. For many years the temperance army has worked from various points, in various directions, only to meet with more bitter opposition. It is now bending its energies to bear upon the foe at a point where he has entered every household in the land.

ALCOHOL AS A MEDICINE.

Who can count the lives that have been deceived thereby? From time immemorial the potion that should have given life and health has contained this most fatal agent. It has given us a nation of craving appetites. Many doctors have laid up for themselves a fearful retribution.

They, who should have known the dire effects of alcohol upon the system, blindly urged upon the patient that which custom called a tonic.

We are creatures of habit; that which becomes a habit and support in time of weakness, becomes a second nature in time of health. Habits cling to us through life; they follow us like our very shadow.

Men and women who have been redeemed from the curse of drink have been again and again hurled into that awful abyss by the very hand endeavoring to save them. Our land is flooded with literature describing patent medicines. Each one is urged upon our use. Almost every bottle contains alcohol. Is there no escape from this? Must we ignorantly be pushed on to our ruin forever? "Thanks be unto God who giveth us the victory," he has sent us enlightenment. We can study and enlarge our minds with knowledge. We have learned how this parasite sucks the life fluids from our bodies, causing a thirst that can never be quenched, a thirst that feeds upon itself.

We have learned how it has dried and deadened man's nervous system and brain, leaving him bereft of his nobler emotions; making him selfish and cruel; causing him to become lower than a beast.

With our knowledge we can teach the rising generation the awful ravages of this monster. Before the evil days come upon them we can warn them of the "traps set to lure our boys to drinking."

It was ignorance of the effect of alcohol that has caused us to be bound as with a chain of iron. Let knowledge be our liberator. Be it known for our encouragement that numbers of our physicians have had the scales fall from their eyes. They have thoroughly tested this matter and have denounced alcohol either as a medicine, food or tonic. Their testimony of its baleful influence upon the system is far reaching and conclusive. It is a true saying that "the key to the temperance reform lies in the hands of the physicians." It is within our power to enlarge this number of converts. Allow no alcoholic medicine to enter our households. Help to make respectable no drug store that deals unscrupulously in this infamous traffic. If it be the Lord's will that our dear ones should return to their Creator, let them go to him sober, free from Satan's most vile bondage.

Unless we displace alcohol as a medicine, we can never banish it as a beverage. The two things are inseparable; one upholds the other. There is no greater hindrance to our success than the general belief in the necessity of alcohol as a medicine. As long as these views are popular, so long will our land be filled with drunkards.

The temperance procession is increasing, slowly but surely. Let us bravely march on with reform, and as some one has aptly said, "those physicians who lag behind must either step up or step out." Can you point out a department that is of more importance, or one that will lead to greater results than this of Non-Alcoholic Medication?

With thankfulness, perseverance and prayer, surely Satan's strongest hold can be banished from our land.

SALOON KEEPER GAVE UP HIS KEYS AT A FREEDOM REVIVAL.

The Rev. P. H. Faulk, pastor of the Baptist Church at Bloomfield, recently closed a revival at Freedom. The revival continued for five weeks, and for three weeks the minister preached on street corners. Seventy-five people were converted, who will join the Baptist Church, and many other converts will become members of other churches.

During one of the meetings a saloon keeper came forward and threw down three keys. "One is to the front door of my saloon," he said; "one is to the rear door, and the third is to the cellar. I will never enter that saloon again."—Indianapolis News.

NOTICE.

Owing to ill health in my family I am obliged to abandon my publishing work. I wish to close out my entire lot of tracts at once, and offer a special less than cost rate on them. "Whiskey" is especially good. I will send them postpaid as follows so long as they last: "Tobacco; Parables, Poems and Pithy Points." Regular price 2½ cents each; special price 75 cents per 100. "Whiskey; Parables, Poems, Facts and Figures." Regular price 5 cents each; special price $1.00 per 100. They will not last long at this rate, so order early.

OF INTEREST TO LOCAL UNIONS.

The Treasurer has on hand a number of large cards on which is printed the anti-tobacco law. These are on sale at 25 cents by the dozen. Please order. There are a few Willard stick pins at 10 cents each. Please order. Also a number of copies of the State song, words only, and the song named "A Call to Service." Membership cards are 25 cents a hundred. Please order of ALICE RUTH PALMER, Franklin, Ind.

Dear sisters, last year Mrs. M. M. Allen, National Superintendent of Non-Alcoholic Medication, offered a prize of $10.00 worth of literature to the State securing the most new Superintendents and doing the best work. It will be quite gratifying to you to know that Indiana won at least one-half of this prize. Our sister State just over the line (Ohio) received the other half. What might have been the result had all the Unions reported all the work they had done, I will leave for you to guess. We learn from experience. I am sure this is no exception to the rule and I trust every Union will be on time this year. She cannot afford to not be reported at the close of this year, even though the work done be ever so little. "Little drops of water, little grains of sand, make the mighty ocean and the pleasant land." If every one who reads this will do a little, and every Union do a little, and then report it, can any one imagine what the results will be? May I depend on you for your own special part?

The appointment of the 60 new Superintendents and the work done by them and by the Unions having no Superintendents has been quite a gratification and encouragement. I cannot tell you how much I appreciate your efforts which made it possible for Indiana to carry off a part of the National honors. Have you a Superintendent in your Union? If not and a suitable person cannot be found, then will you not, as a Union, take up this work and hold at least one mothers' meeting on this subject each quarter? The study of the alcohol question is an exceedingly interesting one. No more important question can be brought before the public and none that will be of greater interest if rightly presented. Also at these meetings plan for two fifteen minute or three ten minute speeches or papers, with discussion following each presentation. Urge that every one present take part in the discussion. The meetings on this subject, if well planned and plans well worked, will be the most interesting meetings held by your Union during the year. Do not depend entirely upon public announcements of your meeting. Extend personal, pressing invitations to neighbors and friends. Good music should be a special feature throughout. If refreshments are served, let them be light and inexpensive. Last, but not least, please do not fail to give the press an interesting account of the meeting. Write it up for the Phalanx and send it to me for the Non-Alcoholic column. Write it up for the MESSAGE and send it to Mrs. L. F. McWhirter. When you have done this I will feel that you have done beautifully. When you have held one each quarter you will have done magnificently.

AMANDA T. WHITSON,
State Superintendent.

FIELD NOTES.

Thanksgiving Day was observed at Fairmount by a union service of the churches at the Friends church. The church was tastefully decorated with a great variety and abundance of fruits and vegetables which were given to the W. C. T. U. to distribute to the needy. Nearly thirty families were thus remembered. One of the furniture dealers gave us a fine display dinner, which was given the needy sick, all of which was much appreciated by the recipients, and we think the donors felt truly "it is more blessed to give than to receive."

A Successful Alliance—UNION CITY—The Wayne Township Alliance is one of the best in the country. Though it is a country Alliance it has forty-nine members, thirteen of whom are voters. The meetings are in a country school house. The President is a young man of seventeen years of age. New active members are being received at every meeting. The programs are more literary and educational than otherwise. The young people, and even the children, take a part in them. It is felt that great good is being done, especially among boys who are being interested.

Huntington County moves on victoriously! The State convention was a source of much inspiration that is being widely felt. While unable to offer fair skies as would have best pleased, the will was good. Financially the county is most flourishing. After paying convention expenses, from the remaining funds $5.00 was voted to Andrews as a gift for her courageous work. About twenty-five ladies took the trolley to that place, December 1st, and met with that Union, giving the gift mentioned. After a fine program a sumptuous repast was served to the visitors.

Mrs. Lou Rall, Huntington, recently presented the beautiful picture of Frances Willard, voted at the State convention, to the Methodist church of Huntington. Huntington Union had it handsomely framed, completing a most elegant gift.

A new Union has been added to Huntington's group, known as the College Park Union. Miss Mary Hadley organized it during the convention time, and now it has twenty-five active members, ten of whom are men. Mrs. Rall gave her report of the National at one of its recent meetings.

Arrangements are being made to hold the County Institute for Huntington in Markle. There is as yet no organization here, but it is hoped this may result in one. Mrs. Rall believes "it is the early bird that catches the worm," and has begun thus early.

Lindley Union observed World's Temperance Sunday by rendering an excellent program. At the close of Sunday school Mrs. Hannah Harper, superintendent of Sunday-school work, assisted by Mrs. Carpenter, conducted unusually interesting class exercises, accompanied by suitable music and followed by a rousing talk by one of the W. C. T. U. members.

Mrs. Ada L. Squires has been busy doing most acceptable work at Hendricks and at West Lebanon. Mrs. Squires can do much to arouse an interest in oratorical contest work in any community. Her address is 620 Cherry St., Terre Haute, Ind. Miss Daisy Steadington also arranges classes and trains them for contests. Her address is the same. Now is the time to urge contest work.

Deer Creek Union—The program rendered last Sabbath evening at West Branch for the benefit of the Hadley Home was a success. Prof. Tyler, of the Fairmount Academy, gave a very interesting address; several recitations and songs were also given. This year our collection for the school is $25 or more.

Mrs. Cammack-Gibson gave a public meeting at the Christian church at Broad Ripple, November 16, 1902. The meeting was largely attended and was very much appreciated by all. Our W. C. T. U. regular meeting met at the home of Mrs. Brown. We had a good meeting. Two new departments were added. Christian Citizenship, Mrs. Medsker, Superintendent, and Sunday-school work. Our next meeting will be held at the home of our President, Mrs. Kelso. Our Union will offer our services to the Alliance and help with remonstrance.

Mrs. Eva Evertson, who was Marion County's President last year, is spending this winter with relatives at Dallas, Texas, after a most enjoyable trip to the Pacific coast. She writes of the White Ribboners she met and says, "Indiana White Ribboners will compare favorably with those of any State. I am anxious to receive the MESSAGE and other temperance papers that will put me in touch with our workers. In spite of all the beautiful things I have seen to occupy my mind and attention, I have hungered for your dear faces and a message from you all."

Greensburg W. C. T. U. has just had the pleasure and inspiration of a series of meetings, conducted by Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, our State Vice-President. On Friday afternoon she addressed the County Teachers' Institute on "Scientific Temperance Instruction" in her usual convincing way. On Saturday afternoon a reception was tendered her in the parlors of the First M. E. Church, to which the women's organizations of the city were invited. On Saturday evening she talked to the members of the G. A. R. in their hall. On Sunday afternoon a grand mass meeting was held in the Presbyterian Church, where Sheldon's matchless story, "Who Killed Joe's Baby?" was presented by her in a most touching and impressive manner. At night Centenary M. E. Church welcomed her. The appreciation of the people was manifested by the crowds which flocked to hear her. We believe Mrs. Stanley's to be one of the strongest minds we have had in our midst. With her keen insight into human nature, her broad survey of the needs of humanity, her intense conviction of human responsibility, her pleasing manner and personality all combine to make her a speaker of great force in the glorious work of the W. C. T. U.

The Superintendent of Social Purity of La-Porte Union kindly urges other Unions to take up their plan of having every other meeting conducted by a superintendent of some department. She deems them not only essential but very helpful, both to the leader and to all present. Their next meeting will be in charge of Mrs. Melinda Richway, Superintendent of Systematic Giving.

Frances E. Willard Union, Indianapolis, held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Bennett in November. After the business a very interesting Mothers' Meeting was held. These meetings must result in great good.

Randolph County. The White Ribboners of this county are doing some good work. A Union of 23 members was organized at Farmland since the County Convention. Mrs. Flood was elected President and Miss Garret, Secretary. The members seem to be very energetic, and we hope that much good may be accomplished. Cedar Union held a Mothers' Meeting December 21. Papers on "Social Purity" and "Tobacco" were read, and recitations, songs and readings were given. An excellent meeting was reported. Winchester Union will organize an L. T. L. the first of the year. Modoc Union held a joint W. and Y. meeting last month. With our four Unions, one Y. and an L. T. L. we hope to keep moving forward on educational lines.

Mrs. J. M. Carmichael entertained the Eaton W. C. T. U. at her home on December 18. A three course lunch was served, which was enjoyed by all. Two new members were added to the list. We hope to do more work for our blessed Master next year.

IN MEMORIAM.

OLIVE ELLEMAN—From the cradle roll of the Amboy W. C. T. U., has recently been called by the angel reaper, little Olive Elleman, a sweet little rose bud of only two summers. But she is only transplanted to bloom more beautiful in the paradise of God.

WE HAVE JOINED YOUR NOBLE ARMY.

By CHARLES A. STORY, M. D.

We have searched the realms of nature—far and wide our search has spread;
We have analyzed the products that compose our daily bread;
And examined all the organs of the living and the dead,
But we fail to find an organ in the human body laid,
Or an appetite in nature, in its native form arrayed,
That requires, for its promotion, any alcoholic aid!

We have studied all diseases, as the faithful only can,
That have blighted human pleasures since the dawn of time began,
In all our many windings through the fragile frame of man,
But we fail to find an evil or a pain in all the field,
Or disease, mild or malignant, whether open or concealed,
That requires the poison alcohol to hasten it to yield.

We have found in all our studies that the poison is a blight
That enfeebles every organ, burns its vigor, rots its might,
And that darkens all the future with the heavy pall of night;
That it certainly exposes (thus the book of nature saith)
Its victims to diseases that will steal away its breath,
And drag them down in sorrow to the iron gates of death!

You have waited for our councils, waited patiently and long,
For the voice of careful science to denounce the giant wrong;
And it has our condemnation, earnest, pious and strong!
We have joined your noble army, with the strength that within us lies,
To subdue the fell destroyer that the laws of health defies,
And to urge the war with vigor till the giant evil dies!

LETTER FROM THE NATIONAL SUPER-INTENDENT OF NON-ALCOHOLIC MEDICATION.

I congratulate you upon gaining the national prize of this department, even though it had to be divided with Ohio. The prizes for the present year you will find mentioned elsewhere in this paper. Your State has put one of its very best workers at the head of this department and I hope you will all encourage her to the utmost. There is no more hopeful line of work than this of trying to banish alcohol from the medicine chest. When we convince people that it is never necessary to use any intoxicating drink in time of illness, and that it is often detrimental to recovery to do so, we have them where they can never be deceived into drunkenness. A person may sign a pledge to abstain from whisky, beer, wine, etc., as a beverage, yet be led into drunkenness through using these things as medicine, and many are innocently led to ruin by this path. Multitudes of women, as well as men, are forming an alcoholic appetite through using disguised whisky and wine in the form of patent medicines. If the W. C. T. U. does not warn against these dangers, who will?

I hope every local Union will devote at least two meetings this year to the study of non-alcoholic literature. There will be several new leaflets—"Alcohol and Nursing Mothers," "Alcohol in Children's Diseases," by a famous specialist, and one designed for private circulation among young women. They will be sold as cheaply as possible—about 30 cents a hundred, I should think—so you should purchase a good supply for putting into letters and giving to neighbors. The "Safe Remedies" leaflet answered questions as to what to do in illness where liquor is generally considered essential, and it should be widely circulated. The department book, "Alcohol a Dangerous and Unnecessary Medicine," should be owned by every white ribboner, as it is packed with most valuable and interesting information from successful physicians. It is being used by many Unions for ten or fifteen minute readings at every meeting. I have taken the sale of this book from Haskell & Son, the publishers, so please remember to order it from your Indiana State agent, Amanda T. Whitson, and not from them.

The greatest encouragement we now have is the outspoken condemnation of alcohol as medicine by some of the great specialists of Europe. Among these is Prof. Max Kassowitch, of Vienna, who says: "I have not prescribed alcohol for my patients for more than twelve years, and can affirm positively that they have fared well under this change of treatment. Since I formerly followed the universal practice, I am competent to make comparisons, and these speak unconditionally in favor of treatment without alcohol." He asserts that the common teaching that alcoholic drinks are nourishing or strengthening is a grave scientific error, the removal of which is the most important preliminary condition to an effectual battle against alcoholism.

The Department of Non-Alcoholic Medication holds the same opinion as Prof. Kassowitch, that the medical profession has made, and a large section of it is still making, a grave scientific error in ascribing nourishing and strengthening properties to alcoholic drinks, and the great aim of this department is to disabuse the public mind of such error, especially as it applies to the use of these drinks during illness. If every white ribboner in Indiana will thoroughly inform herself upon this subject and then do all in her power, seeking Divine wisdom, to pass along the facts to others, there will be a marvelous change of sentiment in your State in a few years. Who will help this year? Hoping to hear of grand work,

MARTHA M. ALLEN.

PRIZE RECITATION No. 1.

NON-ALCOHOLIC MEDICATION.

"Alcohol is born of decay and decomposition. It is a deceitful and virulent poison and is often used in connection with other drugs. Alcohol benumbs sensation and its action upon the red corpuscles, which take up oxygen in the blood and convey it through the body, mingles these little messengers from fully purifying the system. Alcohol shrivels and hardens these little cells so that they cannot take up as much oxygen as they otherwise would. It likewise weakens the heart structure." These are a few of the many reasons "why alcohol is dangerous as a medicine," given by Mrs. Martha M. Allen in her able booklets on that subject. But let us look around us and see the harm wrought by alcoholic medication on our acquaintances and then draw our own inferences.

A delicate babe contracted a slight fever. The alarmed mother hastily called a physician. He mixed some medicine with alcohol and gave it to the child. The undiluted antidote might have been beneficial, but the poisonous alcohol blazed through the soft, immature tissues of the infant like a simoom over young, tender herbage. The child soon lay cold in death. "I cannot give up my baby!" shrieked the mother. "He had so many pretty, loving little ways. All the time he seems near me, and yet when I try to clasp him to my aching heart my arms are empty." Thus with many tears and moans she gave the child back to Heaven.

But King Alcohol laughed derisively. "Ha! ha! ha! What fools these mortals be! It was I that poisoned the delicate babe. King Satan could not have deadened the tender thing quicker. Had the infant been tougher, I might have left him life with some painful and lingering disease. Had he been uncommonly coarse and uncommonly strong, I might have given him a lasting appetite for myself in all my deceitful disguises. I might have made cruelty so active throughout his nature that he would never try to relieve human suffering. I might have given him such a propensity for blood that he would never be influenced by humane sentiment. In this way I help on King Satan's affairs on earth more adroitly than in any other manner."

A tired middle aged worker came to his home at the beginning of twilight. The day's business conflict had seemed to him very hard and disagreeable. Prowling eyes had glared at him with wolfish spite. Sharp, harsh words had rasped his ears and angered his mind. He forgot Christ's patience under unkind treatment and retorted fiercely, like a wild animal, and to-night he was so fatigued that he could scarcely breathe. "Mix a soothing powder in a little alcohol," he bade his wife as soon as he was within doors. She hastily complied with his request, and when he complained of his heart she led him to bed. He rapidly grew worse and sent for a doctor, who likewise prescribed alcoholic medicine. He lived but a few days longer and learned men pronounced his death a case of "heart failure." "Heavenly Father," cried the agonized widow, "who is to care for my helpless children and myself?"

But King Alcohol again laughed. "Ha! ha! ha! These mortals are nothing unless ridiculous. That man was well enough, but he liked me—believed that I was necessary to his health! I deceitfully weakened his heart structure. Indeed, I am responsible for many heart failures."

A housekeeper had become so exhausted cleaning house that she ached from head to foot when it was at last finished. Her husband kept intoxicants in his cellar, for he was a politician and used to say that fermented liquors were political machinery oil. She had wondered to see men quaff this fiery stuff at their table, and though many of them grew muddled in their reasoning, they always voted as her husband directed. She concluded to strengthen herself by drinking some of the political machinery oil. After imbibing a liberal potation she reclined on a lounge, where she was afterward found by her husband. He looked grave, but did not understand her danger. "I use alcoholic stimulants to influence the rabble and gain power for myself, but I should not think it wisdom for you to partake of the seductive liquids." The poisonous drug rapidly deadened sensation in her wearied form and she suddenly died. Then her husband sobbed, "I selfishly dug a pit for my neighbors and my beloved fell into it." Her children knelt over her remains and cried, "How can we live in this world without a mother?"

But King Alcohol laughed. Ha! ha! ha! How foolish are these mortals! That man has helped to guide the affairs of his State, but he does not know that I injure the guardian white blood cells of the body. The work of these cells is to destroy bacteria and other noxious organisms within the blood and tissues. These enclose, disintegrate and absorb the enemy. Even very diluted solutions of myself will paralyze these cells so as to prevent them from attacking invading microbes. But sin thrives by ignorance and my suggestions."

A temperate couple who followed in Christ's footsteps, who strove neither for great riches nor for what the world calls power, made all happy with whom they came in contact. They treated each other with honesty, sympathy and equality, so that their children always had pleasant memories of their home lives. No alcohol was stored in their dwelling nor contaminated their lips. They saw what a curse it was. When King Alcohol saw these persons he made up a very wry face. "If there were many such," he said, "I should be forced to retire to King Satan's regions. The world would change to one of peace, happiness and harmony." MRS. JOSEPHINE R. FULLER.

Knox, Ind.

The National officers realizing the great importance of more work being done in this department, sent out the following letter and urged that every physician in the United States be furnished with a copy:

TO THE PHYSICIANS OF THE UNITED STATES.

The National Woman's Christian Temperance Union has been active for 27 years in combating the evils of alcoholic liquor drinking. Among its most effective allies have been those physicians who do not prescribe alcoholic liquors, allowing alcohol a very limited sphere of usefulness, or none at all.

We are endeavoring to bring the teachings of such physicians to the people and we believe that much good is being accomplished thereby. It is apparent, however, that if the evils of liquor drinking (ill health, poverty, insanity and crime) are ever to be fully abated, the medical profession must take a more active part in this much desired reform. They, more than others, can disabuse the public mind of old-time errors concerning the use of or necessity for alcohol either as a beverage or for medicinal purposes. It would seem to be the duty of those to whom the public looks for guidance in all things pertaining to health, to continue to make the most careful investigations of the nature of alcohol and its effects upon the human system, and to see to it that their medical practice and teaching, as well as their personal example, is upon the side of safety.

The New York School of Clinical Medicine, a post-graduate college for physicians, has just now opened a new department for the study of the constitutional effects of alcohol and other drugs.

An eminent Russian physician, in a paper read before the International Medical Congress, held at Moscow August, 1897, said: "The struggle against alcoholism merits as much attention on the part of the medical profession as that against the various epidemics, and the success of the struggle is impossible without the active sympathies of the medical profession."

Realizing the truth of the foregoing statement, the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union, at the beginning of this new century, appeals to physicians to aid in the efforts being made to remove as far as possible all tendencies and temptations toward the formation of the drink habit. The medical profession can wield a powerful influence by bringing to the knowledge of the people the consensus of scientific opinion and practical observation, on the disastrous results which follow the habitual and indiscriminate use of alcohol.

Particularly would we ask physicians to warn parents against the home prescription of alcohol and against the use of proprietary medicines containing alcohol or other narcotic drugs, by showing them the danger and by teaching them a better way.

We respectfully ask that this appeal be published in all medical journals, and that it be brought before National, State and County Medical Societies for discussion.

With profound respect for your honorable profession, and with hope for your active co-operation in this work, we are,

Sincerely yours,

LILLIAN M. N. STEVENS, Pres. Nat. W. C. T. U.
SUSANNA M. D. FRY, Corresponding Secretary.

Every Union should own a copy of "Alcohol a Dangerous and Unnecessary Medicine."

cago; Dr. J. H. Kellogg, of Battle Creek, and others who might be mentioned, have prepared strong weapons in the form of scientific experimental investigations. If these valuable weapons are used persistently and prayerfully by all temperance workers until the whole medical fraternity refuses alcoholic medication in all its forms, then the cause of total abstinence will receive such an impetus as it has never had in all its history, and the medical fraternity see to it that the laws placing restrictions on certain systems of healing be repealed, and recognizing the truth of the source of all healing power in God, and communicated by him to the living body, and with the Psalmist adopt the language, "Bless the Lord who healeth all thy diseases."

PAREGORIC—ITS COMPOSITION.

There are many mothers, nurses and others who have charge of children and who readily give paregoric to their children, who would hesitate to do so if they knew that the active ingredients of that drug are alcohol and opium. Below is the composition of paregoric, taken from United States Dispensatory, which speaks for itself:

PAREGORIC, (Ingredients and Proportion.)

Powdered Opium, grains.....	.62
Dilute Alcohol (to make 33 ozs.) oz.....	.33
Benzoic Acid, grains.....	.62
Camphor .....	.62
Oil of Anise, drops.....	.65
Glycerine.....	.01

The opium has the chief narcotic effect, and the alcohol is next in its sedative effect.

An ounce (tablespoonful) of paregoric contains nearly two grains of powdered opium. Children who are given paregoric will soon cry for the opium and alcohol it contains.

Giving paragaric to children is the kindergarten school to make drunkards and opium eaters. BEWARE!

NATIONAL TEMPERANCE HOSPITAL ANNUAL REPORT FOR 1902.

FRANCES WILLARD NATIONAL TEMPERANCE HOSPITAL.

It will be difficult to tell you in the ten minutes allotted to the report of a year of hard, aggressive work in our hospital all, or indeed scarcely to touch on the most important points.

To begin with, the word advance must be distinctly written above and over all I shall say, for this has been a year distinctly encouraging, and marked advancement will be shown and read between the lines, not in a boastful spirit—far from it—for each year comes freighted with its peculiar trials, tending to show us our frailties and "muddy crossings" at which we instinctively pause to pick our way. Three hundred and fifteen patients have been treated during the year, with a death rate of less than 4½%, which is comparatively very low, proving that it is safe to avoid alcoholic remedies. In this there can be no risk, notwithstanding the occasional newspaper report of the enormous death rate of the Temperance hospitals.

Throughout the year the services of Superintendent of Training School have been of a most excellent grade. Activity and higher standards have brought our class of twelve nurses to an enviable position among those of their profession. They have been honored, by preference, of other hospitals by our staff physicians in calls for private practice, all of which has been most gratifying to the trustees, whose aim has been to reach this high mark.

Each nurse now wears the White Ribbon, and is being educated in the "Y" work by the efforts of our most worthy White Ribbon matron, who is a delegate to this convention.

She has shown thrift and economy, with a general interest which has been instrumental in keeping the Hospital out of debt, with no complaint from patients, or household, of the food, either in quantity or quality, which leads one to say that to "look well to the ways of her household" is ideal womanhood.

The house physician's services have been excellent; harmony and a right spirit have permeated the institution, bringing blessings in its train. The expense of supporting the institution this last year has been not far from ten thousand dollars. Bills have been met with considerable satisfaction, and the strain has been much lighter upon the trustees than in former years, none of whom receive compensation other than the reflex blessing which the Master never fails to give his workers.

These ladies give time, money and much valuable service to this work, because they, too, see the great need, and have answered the call "Here am I; use me."

A most generous donation of two hundred dollars was given early in the year by the women of California. Seldom, if ever, has the Hospital received so telling a gift. This amount, with fifty dollars added, equipped the operating room with instruments and furniture most essential in major operations. The additions have brought a most desirable line of operations most advantageous to the general work. This gift was made in honor of Henrietta Skelton, whom the California sisters wished to thus remember.

The bed endowed by the ever loyal State of Illinois, and one by Mrs. J. B. Hobbs, of Chicago, enable us to have free patients, which is one of the most pleasant duties of the entire work.

This month, while visiting the hospital and carefully inspecting each room with the Superintendent, several facts were noticeable, such as the good house-keeping, the liberal supply of bright screens in the wards, the spotless beds with new covers and fresh blankets, the windows with pretty sash curtains, new rugs before some of the beds, made out of old carpets, all largely through the efforts of our working force, shows that they love the work and take an interest in it.

The old threadbare story of alcoholics being served surreptitiously to the patients has, I believe, died and been buried. It may have been treated with alcoholics and died for that reason. At any rate, we have not heard of it through the year.

Of course we are occasionally asked what is the Temperance Hospital living for, any way? And we answer:

First, according to Miss Willard's first inception of the idea of organizing a hospital to prevent men (and women, too,) from becoming drunkards through the physician's prescriptions, and to convert physicians themselves, who in turn convert multitudes of their patients; to educate the masses of people in the great principle of non-alcoholic remedies. Think you the Hospital has lived in vain? A thousand no's. We have built better than we knew, and the principle which will now stand for all time is a bright and shining light to this and all coming ages of the great work of the W. C. T. U.

The principles demonstrated by the Hospital are most distinctively the heart principles of our great organization. We cannot go back; we must go forward. Larger and better accommodations must be provided.

If every one of our women for one year would send five cents to the treasurer, a new building, thoroughly equipped, would be the result. Our land is paid for, and a small health growing fund in hand toward this object.

Sisters, send in your own and your neighbors' nickles this year, and we will speedily show you, with the Master's blessing, what the Hospital trustees can and will do without burden to any one.

MRS. MARGARET INGLEHART,
President Hospital Board.

OUR PLEDGE.

I am glad to note the growing sentiment with our Indiana women to drop out the words, "as a beverage," from one form of our pledges. Some States have already done this. Indiana does not want to be behind, especially in so important a work as this. It is being clearly demonstrated by our most eminent scientists, physicians and surgeons that alcohol is not necessary as a medicine. Our National Superintendent says in one of her reports, "Strike out from the pledges the phrase, 'as a beverage.' Alcohol is not good either as medicine or as food. The body requires no alcohol under any circumstances. When the majority of the people believe this we shall banish liquors from use, and not before." Our National President, in her address before the Texas convention, most heartily urged that greater attention be given to the Non-Alcoholic Department. The National Temperance Hospital is clearly demonstrating the fact that patients can be successfully treated without the use of alcohol. One form of our pledge allows the use of alcohol as a medicine, yet we have a department of Non-Alcoholic Medication in State and Nation which says, "No alcohol should be used as a medicine." Think about it and let us educate on this line.

A. T. WHITSON,
State Superintendent.

Where alcohol is used the mortality is great. Some recover in spite of its use.—Selected.

Many an appetite is created for alcohol by its use in the sick room.

Dear Co-worker:

The more you study this department of Non-Alcoholic Medication, the more you will be convinced of its great importance to the temperance reform and the more you will become interested in its advancement. Much work and education is required to arouse the people on this subject. I am glad, as Superintendent of this department of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Indiana, to do all I can; but with the small means at my disposal the work I can do is small compared with what should be done. The State W. C. T. U. appropriation of only $5.00 will meet only a part of my postage. In studying over this matter I have wondered if there were not many in this State who would gladly make a donation to help push this very work. Possibly there are many who have homes, or have observed the homes of some near friend who have been touched by this hidden foe, who would like to help banish it from the kitchen, from the prescriptions of doctors and its use as a common home remedy.

I present this subject to you earnestly and prayerfully and ask you to consider it earnestly and prayerfully also. The donation of $5.00 or $1.00 would prove a great blessing, first to the cause and second to you for the giving. By faith and some practical encouragement, we are sending out six thousand copies of the Special Non-Alcoholic Issue of the MESSAGE, the State W. C. T. U. organ of Indiana. We desire to repeat this two or three times this year and will if we receive the needed encouragement. Any donations may be sent to the undersigned, who will make prompt acknowledgment. Thanking you in advance, for any assistance and co-operation, I am,

Yours to serve,

MRS. AMANDA T. WHITSON,

3335 N. Meridian st., Indianapolis, Ind.

State Superintendent Non-Alcoholic Medication.

NOTE--I know of no better educational work against the liquor traffic than that which the State Superintendent of Non-Alcoholic Medication is doing. Let us help her most cordially,

HOMER J. HALL, M. D.
Late Chairman of Indiana.

Nearly all Patent Medicines contain Alcohol or some other Dangerous Drugs. Beware!

Are we Deceived by Alcohol as a Medicine?

TO COUNTY SUPERINTENDENTS OF MOTHERS' MEETINGS AND PURITY.

Dear Sisters: I want to speak to every one of you through the MESSAGE with regard to report blanks. The plan of reporting has been changed. I send the blanks to the County Superintendent, she to the Local. Then the Local will report to the County, and the County to me. Hitherto there seemed to be no place for County Superintendent or report blanks, but now, dears, please show your efficiency by being both prompt and accurate in your reports to me. Keep your reports carefully, so that when summing up the work at the close of the year I will know what Superintendent held the most Mothers' Meetings, also the one who enrolled the most children in the W. R. C. R. The State has combined Purity and Mothers' Meetings. Some counties have and some have not. As far as the list has been furnished me for either I have sent blanks to both, one blank for every quarter for every Union, taking the Treasurer's report for the number of Unions. Don't lay your blanks away and forget or lose them, but see that there is something done in your community for God and home in the interest of purity and for the mothers and babies. It would be a good plan to have a circulating library, or have a shelf called mother's shelf, well supplied with such books as Dr. Mary Wood-Allen's, or "The Twentieth Door," by Sheldon; "Stepping Heavenward," Mrs. Prentiss; "Self and Sex" series, by Sylvanus Stall, D. D.; "Children's Rights," by Kate Douglas Wiggin. "Oh, the good we all may do while the days are going by" if we have the love of Jesus to prompt us. Yours for service.

MRS. S. M. STAHL,
State Superintendent.
Hartford City.

CONTESTS.

I have been requested to put my address in the MESSAGE, as some of the workers do not yet know of whom to order books, medals, etc. Your letters reach me when directed to Muncie alone, but I think it much safer to add "1330 E. Washington St." I am much encouraged by the letters from different parts of the State, and mean to press forward in our Master's name and do all I can to put down this dreadful curse which blights all it touches. Let us take courage and seek to know our Father's will and prayerfully do it. Lovingly,

MRS. CORA M. STEELE.

LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION CONFERENCE AT PORTLAND, ME.

Motion carried that the required reading of the Young Crusader for the seal course for diploma be optional.

Committee appointed to revise the Organizers' outfit and change to L. T. L. outfit.

L. T. L. extension fund was continued and a protest made against any change.

Vote of thanks sent Mrs. Benjamin for her parliamentary drills and she be asked to continue her articles.

Mr. Shattuck, of Cornell University, said New York has 165 Legions; enrolled members, 5,000.

Editor of Young Crusader would like to have photos of State L. T. L. leaders and organizers.

Mrs. Preston said Pennsylvania has 10,000 L. T. L. members.

Fishing club recommended here: Every one that brings in a new member can have a "gold star." Get Father, and Mother and grown people for honorary members.

Two L. T. L.'s were organized in Portland, a Junior and a Senior. Great interest manifested in both.

"L. T. L. Diploma and Seal Courses" was changed to "L. T. L. Diploma and Post-graduate Reading Courses."

Ohio has gained 489 new members this year.

Maine L. T. L. Rally Cry: "Maine! Maine!! Here we come, to drive right out Tobacco and Rum. Our heads are clear, our hearts are true; we'll stand for the Right the whole world through."

The L. T. L. and Y. meeting Saturday night was a grand success. The chorus, by 200 children of Portland, was a taking feature. Several songs were sung by them, each one acted out. Bells were used by them in the song "The Temperance Bells," handkerchiefs in "The Ship" and flags in the "Flag" song. These children showed careful training and much preparation.

Mr. Shattuck, President of the New York Senior L. T. L., said Senior L. T. L.'s teach young people to think, and the highway robber is a credit to the man who votes to perpetuate the dram shop.

Miss Bessie Palmer, President of Illinois Seniors, told the story of her father's life, and how, after his early life was wasted in dissipation, he reformed, married, and that she was consecrated by him to the Temperance work before her birth.

Rev. Burns, of Pennsylvania, said children are often loved because of their parents, and the L. T. L.'s are loved because of their Mother W. C. T. U. Wherever the L. T. L. banner is seen floating in the breeze there the battle is the thickest.

Some one else, during the Convention, told of an L. T. L. parade: A saloon-keeper, seeing the children marching with banners and songs, said, "Well! That beats the Devil!"

On Friday night about 75 boys from the L. T. L. Maine Reform School for Boys were present, and their songs and yells were much appreciated and enthusiastically cheered.

Lady Henry Somerset said "there is no suffering from the drink traffic so severe as that of the children."

Massachusetts took the Membership banner this year.

Each State, as introduced, gave its L. T. L. mottoes and rally cry. The children brought sunshine and brightness to this great Convention.

I am very grateful to Mrs. Jennie Ridgway, of Amboy, for this excellent report of the L. T. L. Conferences held at our National Convention, as well as three beautiful souvenirs, from the homes of Mrs. Stevens and Miss Anna Gordon and the White Mountains, in Vermont. As Miss Hillis, our State President, nor myself could go, Mrs. Ridgway was chosen as our delegate. Read the report carefully, and see the position Indiana has with amount of dues paid. Our Senior dues were left out entirely, on account of the State Treasurer not sending in until the National books had closed. There was a great deal of work done over the State that was not reported in time for our reports.

Dear Sisters—Let us be prompt this year, and bring the work in Indiana to the front. How would our Indiana Roll of Honor look by the side of Mrs. Preston's from Pennsylvania—fifty Legions paying dues on all pledged members, while our Roll showed three at State Convention. Other Legions had paid, but failed to make report. Let us keep an account of all work done, and when blanks are sent you please fill out and return before it is too late.

IDA M. MIX,
State L. T. L. Secretary.

ITEMS FROM PLAN OF WORK.

TEMPERANCE REVIVALS.

Let every Union hold a week of temperance revival meetings during the winter months, such meetings to be a campaign for pledge signing, the distribution of temperance literature and the proclaiming of the doctrine of legal prohibition. Every Union which will hold such a revival shall receive a package of pledge cards and temperance literature.

GAINS IN MEMBERSHIP.

The Union making the greatest gain in paid members shall have the custody of the state banner for the year.

The Union making the largest gain in honorary membership shall receive a copy of the life of Hon. Jno. G. Woolley.

Any Union making a gain of ten paid members in any quarter of the year shall have a State speaker by paying car fare only.

PREMIUMS FOR BEST WORK.

To the County Superintendent of two or more Unions who has secured an active superintendent in every Union and has held two contests on this subject with an admission fee, who can report the work presented by paper, at the Spring Institute and Fall Convention by some one not the Institute leader, who will send to the State Superintendent within two weeks a copy of these papers together with a short write up of the presentation of the Non-Alcoholic Department at these meetings for the Phalanx and MESSAGE, and who will fill out and return promptly all blanks, including Institute blanks, sent out by the State Superintendent, I will give one dollar's worth of literature, the same to be selected by the State Superintendent.

To the Local Superintendent or Local Union who has held one or more contests on the subject of Non-Alcoholic Medication, who has held two or more Parlor Meetings, who has distributed at least 200 pages of non-alcoholic literature, who has reported all work done to the County Superintendent when there is one, and to the State Superintendent if there is no County Superintendent, who will furnish the State Superintendent with a write up of each meeting held for publication in the Phalanx and MESSAGE, and who will send to her address within two weeks a copy of each paper read, I will give one dollar's worth of literature, the same to be selected by the State Superintendent.

To the county having an active Superintendent with an active local Superintendent in every Union, and which reports best work done in the State, will be given two dollars' worth of literature.

To the Local Union with an active Superintendent that reports best work done in the State will be given two dollars' worth of literature.

For the second best reports of County and Local Superintendents, according to above proposition, will be given a copy of "Alcohol a Dangerous and Unnecessary Medicine," compiled by National Superintendent Martha M. Allen.

AMANDA T. WHITSON,
State Supt. Non-Alcoholic Medication.

Mrs. Elizabeth Haughton, our State Evangelistic Superintendent, is winsome in manners and in a pleasing, earnest way conducts meetings of much spiritual power. She has spent some time at Muncie, Albany and Bluffton, where the audiences were large and greatly interested. The State President of Louisiana W. C. T. U. is writing for Mrs. Haughton to go down there and help the Unions in evangelistic services. Indiana cannot afford to let her go. We need her in our own Unions.

NON-ALCOHOLIC MEDICATION LITERATURE.

Alcohol a Dangerous and Unnecessary Medicine, 19 chapters, 429 pages. $1.25

Safe Remedies, 17 pages with cover. $1 per 100.

The Danger of Patent Medicines. 60 cents per 100.

Reasons why Alcohol is Dangerous as Medicine. 60 cents per 100.

Is Alcohol Useful or Necessary as Medicine? 60 cents per 100.

Alcohol and Children. 40 cents per 100.

Alcohol Not a Food. 20 cents per 100.

Death Rates With and Without Alcohol. 25 cents per 100.

Alcohol Not Needed in Medicine. 30 cents per 100. Sample package leaflets with Plan of Work, 10 cents.

For books and leaflets, send to Mrs. M. M. Allen, 348 Delaware street, Syracuse, N. Y.

All profits from sales go to help the department work.

In this day sobriety has come pretty nearly to mean total abstinence. As a cold business proposition, great corporations and private firms are enforcing practical abstinence. They demand such a condition of their employes that practically any drink at all becomes too much drink. Science has come from another direction to support the same end. The old idea of the efficacy of moderate drinking finds no support in modern medical science. "A man is as old as his arteries" is a saying well known in medicine. When the arteries take on the ossified character the end is at hand. Now, modern science says that frequent indulgence in alcohol tends to produce arterial ossification.—Selected.

WHISKY MADE IN INDIANA.

The Terre Haute revenue district is now second in the country in annual receipts. The Peoria (Ill.) district is first. John R. Bonnell, collector at Terre Haute, says the average daily receipts for his district now reach $80,000. The receipts for the current year will probably exceed $19,000,000.

The Terre Haute district is second because of two large distilleries at Terre Haute and one at Vincennes. The two Terre Haute distilleries are now grinding 15,000 bushels of corn a day. The Vincennes distillery grinds 3,000. Each bushel makes five gallons of "spirits," and the government receives $1.10 in revenue for each gallon.

The receipts are at the top notch now because the distilleries are running at capacity. But in the summer time, when they are not so busy, the receipts from them are over $60,000 a day. The receipts of the Peoria district are greater because it has more large distilleries.

The annual receipts of the Lawrenceburg district, of which A. E. Newlin, of Lawrenceburg, is collector, are about $10,000,000.—Ex.

COPY OF NON-ALCOHOL MEDICATION REPORT BLANK.

1. Name of Local Union? Name of County?
2. Name of Local Superintendent? Postoffice address?
3. How many pages of literature distributed? What leaflet has been most helpful?
4. How many meetings of Union devoted to this department? How many a portion of the time?
5. How many original papers on this subject read before the Union?
6. How many parlor meetings held on this subject?
7. Was this department presented at your Spring Institute? Was it presented at the Fall Convention? How?
8. How many Non-Alcoholic Medication contests held? How many debates?
9. Have you held a 20th century reception for physicians?
10. Have you a copy of "Alcohol a Dangerous and Unnecessary Medicine?" Do you read from it at Union meetings? Have you loaned, sold or given this book to physicians?
11. What have you done to interest those outside of the W. C. T. U. circles in favor of non-alcoholic medication?
12. What have you done to interest teachers, ministers and editors on this subject?
13. How many articles in the press upon this subject?
14. Have any women been led by your efforts to cease using alcohol as medicine or in cooking?
15. Do you know of any persons led into drunkenness through using liquor as medicine?
16. Is there a medical college in your city? How many of its professors and students favor non-alcoholic medication?
17. Does your physician use alcoholic medicines? Have you asked him not to administer any to yourself or family?
18. Has any literature been given him on this subject?
19. How much money raised for this department? How raised?
20. Is the interest in this department growing in your community?

Remarks on the other side. Please return this blank, filled out, by the 15th of December, March, June and September to the State Superintendent.

STATE SUPERINTENDENT, AMANDA T. WHITSON, 3335 N. Meridian street, Indianapolis, Ind.

Have you an Active Superintendent of this Department?

Every chemist knows that most of the liquid patent medicines contain alcohol in a greater or less quantity.

The use of blood letting and the prescribing of alcohol as a medicine began with the same medical men, and they both should have practically ceased together.

Alcohol is not a true stimulant, but a narcotic. Still in a certain sense it is both a stimulant and a narcotic; it stimulates death and narcotizes life.

As long as physicians prescribe alcohol in preparations when people are sick, they will prescribe it for themselves when well.

No mother would allow wine or whisky in her home if she realized the danger of its creating an appetite for strong drink among her own loved ones.

Experienced and capable medical men tell us that all that is necessary to lead our good doctors to cease prescribing alcoholic preparations is an honest, independent investigation.

If you want a family to degenerate into a worthless class, encourage them to use alcoholic beverages moderately.

If either the preachers, the lawyers or the doctors would each tell what they know professionally about the evil effects of alcohol upon human society, it would be enough to arouse the people so they would arise in their might and put an end to the legal existence of the saloon.

The White Ribbon host would add twenty-five per cent to their useful educational work if they would individually take a heroic stand against the use of alcoholic preparations as a medicine.

Recently a physician in Indiana was called to see a girl of 14 whom he found dangerously ill with delirium tremens. She had been given whisky freely for three weeks by direction of another physician.

The use of alcohol internally leads to mental, moral and physical decay.

The good law, secured mostly by the influence of the W. C. T. U., requiring the effects of alcohol and narcotics be taught in the public schools, is largely nullified at present by license party politics.

The use of brandy, wine, etc., in cooking is even more dangerous in forming the alcoholic habit than prescribing alcoholic preparations as a medicine.

Beware of the wine sauces in hotels. It is one of Satan's alluring plans of creating an appetite for strong drink among many good people.

The laws of heredity and observation teach us that the greatest sufferer from alcoholic beverages is not the drunken father himself, but his children and his children's children.

In the great battle between Alcohol and Non-Alcoholic Medication, the former has big guns, but no ammunition except blank cartridges; while we have a supply of ammunition as inexhaustible as death and disease.—The Pacific Ensign.

SPECIAL OFFER.

This department will pay the traveling expense to the next State Convention for the County or Local Superintendent of Non-Alcoholic Medication who makes the best report on all lines of work in this department during the year, and who shall send to the State Superintendent on or before July 1, 1903, the best original paper on this subject, prepared by the Superintendent or some one else in the county, said paper never having appeared in print before.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

Please preserve this issue for future use in your Union work. If you do not want the copy yourself file it with your Secretary.

NON-ALCOHOLIC MEDICATION.

It has long since been demonstrated in the biological laboratories the effects of alcohol on living matter. Living matter is that minute portion of substance through which life manifests itself, and it is the component part of the cell. And the cell is the unit of life through which function is performed. The cell is the physiological unit of organization and the structural unit of specialized function. Whatever is destructive of the cell is destructive of its activities and influence upon other cells. Perfect health depends upon the whole organic structure being in a state of natural vigor, endowed by an all-wise Creator with that undefinable characteristic which we call life.

As every organ of the body is dependent on every other organ of the body, and if one suffers the whole body suffers, then it is plain to see that anything which does not act as a food to the weakened matter is destructive, and through the correlation of cells the whole body succumbs to the injury.

It has been argued by medical authorities that alcohol is a food. But if it were a food, a continued use of it would demonstrate a different result upon animal life than it does. Every medical agent has an inherent property peculiar to itself and it does not matter how small the quantity that is taken, the effect is the same upon living matter as far as it goes.

Alcohol is at first exhilarating to the matter of the nerve cells, consequently stimulating, but its power is soon exhausted and the cell left like the poor Samaritan who fell among thieves, wounded and half dead. It takes more stimulation next time to arouse it to functional activity.

When the cells composing the organs of digestion are impaired, by the direct contact with alcohol in any form, their power to act upon food, to assimilate it for other tissues of the body, is weakened. Thus follows lower vitality, and the body becomes a prey to disease. Every tissue cries out for help. Mental sensibility is blunted and the way is paved for moral degeneration.

The basis of our thought, action, habit and character is largely what we eat and drink. Think it over and you will see the truthfulness of the statement.

A gardener, in starting his young plants, is careful to give them the proper care and environment, making every condition favorable to their growth. Yet how many a mother there is who seeks to quiet the little one by giving it some potent nostrum such as Bromidia, which softens brain structure; Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, Jayne's Expectorant, Paregoric, Paine's Celery Compound and a whole list which fill the daily papers and circulars with their glaring advertisements and testimonials. The principal ingredients of the above preparations are alcohol and opium. The amount of patent medicines used by the American people is appalling. The pharmaceutical chemists and factories are busy twenty-four hours a day making all kinds of nostrums and lozenges for people to prescribe for their own individual ailments.

One remedy or set of remedies on general principles will not meet the needs of every case, consequently the error. The victim suddenly awakens to the fact that he has lost the power of some organ of the body and calls a physician, who after examining the patient finds him beyond restoration.

Over nine-tenths of the patent medicine is of largest per cent alcohol. Is it any wonder that, when infants are given all sort of nostrums for their childish complaints which could be remedied by very simple means in the way of diet, clothing and bathing, that they develop the taste for strong drink and tobacco? What kind of characteristics may we expect this generation to impart to their offspring. The advanced step which the medical profession is to take in this century is to relegate alcoholic medication to the past together with other practices, which in the light of present knowledge is ignorance.

Other remedial agents are taking the place of alcohol, which do not leave a blighting effect on the body or endanger the moral character of the patient. I would sooner see a child of mine die with disease than undertake to restore it with brandy and thereby endanger its life by a remedy which may damn its soul. This statement may seem strong to some, but according to the living witnesses and dead ones too, alcohol destroys more lives than it ever saves. It deepens more diseases of the body than it ever cures.

Beware of alcohol, whether administered in medicine or how—there is a deadly poison serpent there.

DR. M. F. WOODARD.

Bloomington, Ind.

CASH PRIZES

For stories, poems and orations for the Department of Non-Alcoholic Medication of the National W. C. T. U.

1. For the best story showing the evils of the medical use of alcohol, $12.00.
2. For the best humorous article, suitable for recitation, showing the evils and absurdities of the use of patent medicines containing alcohol, opium, cocaine or other dangerous drugs, $12.00.
3. For the best poem, suitable for recitation, showing the evils of the medical use of alcohol, $10.00.
4. For the best oration showing the evils of the medical use of alcohol, including alcoholic patent medicines or fraudulent medicines, $10.00.

CONDITIONS.

Each story, poem, humorous article or oration must contain at least 800 words, and not more than 1,400, and must never have appeared in print. All manuscripts must be sent to the undersigned by June 1, 1903, and each must be accompanied by $1.25, for which a copy of the department book, "Alcohol a Dangerous and Unnecessary Medicine," will be sent to the address given by the contestant. Prize winners will be announced in the Union Signal. A committee of three judges will decide upon the manuscripts. Writers are expected to show the danger of the home prescription of alcoholics, as well as the professional.

M. M. ALLEN,
National Superintendent.

HEALTH OR WHISKY—WHICH?

A recent president of a State medical society said, "The health of the people demands the suppression of the saloon." And he was right. If any disease, like smallpox or cholera, caused one-half as many deaths in our country during a year as has intoxicating liquors sold over licensed bars, the United States Congress would appropriate a hundred thousand dollars to stamp out the disease and then appoint special officers to see that the health orders were enforced. This would be right and the people would give such a measure their hearty approval.

The health of the people is a precious heritage, and no legislative power has any right to legalize any business that destroys or endangers the health of the people. We speak the more positively on this question because the United States Supreme Court has so decided.

You will permit me to speak briefly from my own experience, especially if I substantiate what I say with high authority. Having been a busy physician for more than twenty-five years and in that time having never lost a week by ill-health myself, and having had my office located with a saloon on one side and another saloon in front, and my residence with a saloon keeper living each side as neighbors, you see I have had a fair opportunity for practical observation and study as to the effects of alcoholic preparations on health.

A drunken man is a sick man, and it is cruel to send him to jail, where he is disgraced and often cruelly treated, when he should be sent to a hospital and there kindly treated and restored to health. A drunkard may be a sinner; we leave that to a merciful God; but one thing we do know, and that is, that he is a diseased man and made so according to law.

A noted physician, a few years ago, when he observed that most men who died of cholera were drinking men, declared that every dram shop ought to be labeled, "Cholera sold here." And I declare unto you, every saloon in America and the world over ought to be labeled, "Disease sold here." We know it is a severe charge to say that saloons sell disease, but it has the merit of being true. And we have the facts to prove it, a few of which we will give here.

Dr. Willard Parker, who for many years stood at the head of the medical profession in New York City, said: "One-third of all the deaths in New York City are caused directly and indirectly by alcoholic drinks." Dr. Hammond, of Washington, D. C., who enjoyed such success in his specialty of treating nervous diseases as to make $100,000 a year, names twenty diseases of the nervous system caused by alcohol. He said in a letter to Senator Blair: "I am free to admit, weighing all points for and against, mankind would be better off mentally, morally and physically if alcohol were altogether abolished."

The Massachusetts Legislature appointed a committee to investigate the cause of idiocy, and Dr. Howe, its chairman, reported that of 300 idiots investigated he found that 145 of them had drunken parents, and he estimated that three-fourths of the idiots of the State had intemperate parents.

Insanity is the worst form of mental disease. One of my students, who has been the physician in charge of the largest hospital for insane in the State for fifteen years, recently told me that 65 per cent of all their patients came to the hospital directly or indirectly by the influence of alcohol. Were it necessary these facts could be multiplied a thousand fold.

When the immortal Gladstone declared that "Strong drink destroys more of the human family than war, pestilence or famine," he could have meant nothing short of the mighty destruction caused by alcohol through disease which it produces.

Fathers spend their money at the saloons and their children go half clad, take cold and die of pneumonia or other diseases of exposure. The mother and children of the drunkard go half starved and become an easy prey to the germs of disease. If moderate drinking fathers and patent medicine taking mothers realized how such narcotics weaken their offspring, making them an easy prey to the germs of disease, they would cease the use of intoxicants forever.

Many, many are the good reasons why the saloon should be wiped off the face of the earth, but one of the greatest of these is its destructive powers over the health of the people. Therefore, every one who values the health of his family and succeeding generations should use his influence and vote to kill the saloon.—Prize Recitation by Dr. Homer J. Hall, of Franklin, Ind.

Send to your State Superintendent for literature for distribution. Give them to your neighbors and friends. Distribute at all public meetings held on this subject. Many people use alcoholic medicines that would not if well informed on the subject.

Leaflets on this subject should be read and discussed at your Union meetings.

Number of parlor meetings held during the year, 28; lectures, 16; original papers read, 35; non-alcoholic scrap books 2; superintendents at the beginning of the year, 12; number at the close, 72; amount of state appropriation, $5.00; donations from friends, $16.60; donated by State Superintendent, $26.82; total receipts, $48.42; total disbursements, $48.42; number of Institutes at which this department was presented, 42.

PATENT MEDICINES—A RECITATION.

For every pain and every ache,
There is a medicine to take,
That has a patent to insure
That it will absolutely cure.
It's strange that any one is sick,
When medicines will cure so quick.
Directions plain, that all may read;
Alas, they do not wisely heed.
And then the good effects are lost,
Which makes them grumble as to cost.
They'll try another, advertised,
Because they were so ill advised.
The temperance folks can, one and all,
Be sure there is no alcohol,
Or any drug of dangerous kind,
But of the best, pure and refined.
Shake once, shake twice; and o'er and o'er,
They try the remedy once more,
And from the bottle drink it down
Without a grimace or a frown.
For tooth, and ear, and eye, and nose,
For stomach, back, and limbs, and toes,
And lung and liver, heart and brain,
Made over new, without a pain.
There's balsams, tonics, salves and pills;
And tinctures, syrups, tablets, squills—
You read of them on fence and barn,
And every stump about the farm.
And not a paper or a book,
These days, would have a paying look
Without these ads of strange device,
That fool the wise once, twice and thrice.
Patent medicines are a trade
By which large fortunes off are made,
And grave-yards fill, and homes deplete,
While all are ill you chance to meet.
There's something wrong, some how, some way,
Whatever quacks and doctors say.
The Healer's word is true to-day,
And all may try the better way;
Obedience the only rule,
And Faith the Healer's wondrous school.
Then there's the temperance people's fad,
You'll find their way is not so bad;
They've facts and figures both to show
Their loss of life is far below
Where alcohol is used to cure,
And beverage users can't endure
Disease, hardships and wearing pain
Like those who carefully abstain.
All patent medicines they pass by,
For they all know these medicines lie.

—Mary E. Balch.

PRIZE RECITATION NO. 3.

BY INHERITANCE.

To Moses was given the law of inheritance, by the Lord himself, "Visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me."

This is a warning that should cause each one of us to shrink from all manner of evil. Oh, that we could impress this awful responsibility upon the minds of the youth! Would they not hesitate about forming habits of dishonesty, drinking, gambling, impurity?

It has become an appalling matter to read the daily papers. The assaults, the murders, the suicides, the infanticide, the parricides and all the rest of the black and awful list. In reading these details, two distinct conclusions are placed before our eyes. Either these acts are the result of the inheritance received from our ancestors, or, by giving ourselves up to the snares of the evil one, we are laying up for our posterity a most infamous inheritance.

A most touching incident, taken from real life, was once given:

A certain man of education, talent and hope had fallen to the lowest depths of a drunkard. His sixteen year old daughter, Alice, a noble Christian girl, resolved to spend her life, if necessary, in leading her father back to sobriety and usefulness. For two years, summer and winter, night and day, she went to his haunts and brought him home. She supplied all his wants and always gave him the tenderest of care. When he awoke from his drunken sleep she would plead with him, pray with him and lead him to pray for himself. After breaking many promises, the man's heart was reached. He could no longer withstand the daughter's faithfulness and love. He made a confession, joined the church and once more took his place in the world, and to the end of his life became a great worker for the Lord.

To that town moved a gay young married lady. She had ample time and ample means for enjoyment. It was her great delight to draw around her the young people and furnish dainty lunches and banquets. Choice wines and wonderful punches were compounded for the entertainments. She laughed mockingly at the "cranks" that were afraid of a sip of wine. Having heard of this daughter's life of sacrifice and devotion, she lent her brains to a mischievous scheme. So this young girl was invited to one of her entertainments, and being ignorant of the nature of her table, accepted the invitation. The married woman, however, knew whom she had in her house and no suspicious looking drinks were in sight. Tea was served with this supper. Alice drank hers with great relish. "What have you in this tea that tastes so nice?" she inquired. "Oh," replied the woman, "this flavoring was sent to me from Paris. I thought you young ladies would like it. Have another cup." Alice passed her cup the third and fourth time, drinking her tea with great delight. Her face flushed, her eyes sparkled. "This is delicious," she exclaimed, "you must tell me what you have put in your tea." "Well," replied the lady with a triumphant smile, "it is nothing more than whisky, the good drink you have abused all your life." Alice rose from the table, her eyes wildly glittering. Beating with her hands upon her brow she cried, "If this is whisky I must have it. I have all my life been longing for something, and I never knew until now what it was." Her would-be friends, half terrified at what they had done, tried to soothe and detain her, but Alice, wild with excitement and conscious stricken, snatched her wraps and rushed from the house. In her own room she fought and struggled with the awful demon into whose grasp she had fallen, but in vain. A match had been applied to the dormant heritage in her blood, and the fire continued to burn more and more fiercely. Under cover of darkness she sought a place where she could buy the much longed for beverage. When her condition was discovered the next day, her father was stricken with despair and grief. He realized that he had sown those fatal seeds in his child's blood. He now returned the prayers, care and watching that she had bestowed upon him; but the die was cast, drink she would have in whatever way it could be procured. She could not stand the smittings of conscience and would drown her dismay in the much craved for drink. When money was withheld from her, she would sell or pawn her clothing. For nearly three years this career was hers, then her health failed and worn out, wretched and repentant, she sank into an early grave, watched over to the last by a broken hearted father.

I will now read the remainder of the law given to Moses.

"And showing mercy unto thousands of them that love me and keep my commandments."

What a blessed promise. By loving him and keeping his commandments and by placing ourselves in good environments, we can even cheat inheritance itself. But beware of the mischievous person. We have all descended from drinking races. Not one knows what demon may be sleeping in his blood. In a thoughtless moment a spark flying from a careless hand may consume and utterly destroy the careful toil of years. It matters not from whence the spark may come, the social board, the medicine chest or the legalized vender of intoxicants. Friends, pause and think of the many liabilities from medicine. Is it not time to arise and announce to the world the danger lurking therein, and the non-necessity of alcohol in medicine? Too long this has been our deceiver. We now know it only as an irritant and depressant, leaving a soothing sensation, for a time, which comes from the benumbing influence upon the nerves.

Surely a new and better era is dawning upon us, when many of our best physicians are speaking of the "passing away of alcohol."

SUPERINTENDENTS OF NON-ALCOHOLIC MEDICATION.

Did you all notice in the report from the largest W. C. T. U. on record, Marietta, Ohio, that the department of Non-Alcoholic Medication has one meeting a month devoted to its study? The President of this flourishing Union says:

"Last year we began studying Non-Alcoholic Medication. We saw so much evil resulting from the medical use of alcohol that we wished to know if it really was necessary. Our Superintendent was the daughter of a physician and a very bright woman. She had the opportunity of studying the best medical works on the use and results of alcohol. We gave one afternoon each month entirely to this study. We commenced with diseases peculiar to children. We advertised the meetings in the daily papers and several ladies were asked beforehand to lead in the discussion. We had large audiences of interested women. Then we took up different diseases and their treatment by different physicians, noting carefully the results. Next, we gave a number of women a certain disease to study and report upon at next meeting. In this way they became not only interested, but instructed, with the result that very many women who thought they must keep a little whisky in the house for cases of emergency have thrown it out, and have found that common colds, la grippe, cramps and all other diseases, are much more easily cured without alcohol in any form.

"Our superintendent moved out of town in six months, but the work so well established went right on. We also sent leaflets to physicians. We had Dr. Beardsley, of Hartford, Conn., two weeks in January of this year. His lectures reached more people with better results than anything else could have done. Several prominent physicians attended his lectures. The good to our city will be lasting.

"Unions cannot be too careful in the selection of a superintendent for this most important department. She must have unlimited patience, with much tact and willingness. She must study the leaflets and all other literature on the subject she can find.

"There should be at least one meeting a month devoted to this vital subject, with not more than two original papers; one paper with thorough discussion is enough, with reading from one of the leaflets; always read some simple remedies. We know this study of Non-Alcoholic Medication is so interesting and helpful that once taken up systematically it cannot but increase in interest and profit."

This letter from Mrs. Ogle explains the Marietta method so clearly that I wished you all to have it as an inspiration to like deeds in your own Union. All Unions cannot have a superintendent who has access to medical works for study, but this is not absolutely requisite, since the department book, "Alcohol a Dangerous and Unnecessary Medicine," gives an abundance of material in compact form for just such use. No Union should be without this book. Try the Marietta plan of studying diseases and their non-alcoholic treatment, using the chapter under that heading, and for results use the chapter on Death Rates. Don't forget to thoroughly advertise your meetings.

At the last California convention a very taking number upon the program was a dramatic representation of "The Doctor's Day Off." This has now been published and is for sale at State Headquarters, 132 McAllister street, San Francisco, Cal. Price, ten cents single copy or sixty cents a dozen. It is well adapted to use at State or county conventions, or for public meetings of local Unions.

Those desiring copies of the "Appeal to Physicians" can get them from me at five cents a dozen, or twenty-five cents a hundred. The leaflet "Alcohol Not a Food" should accompany the Appeal. Price of leaflet, twenty cents per hundred.

Are you remembering the prize to State, county and local superintendents this year? Does every member of your Union own a sample package of leaflets to study and loan? I fear not; indeed there are hundreds of Unions which even yet seem untouched by this total abstinence work. Whose fault is this? Can you do anything to remedy it?

The sample package of leaflets, price ten cents, and the department book, $1.25, can be obtained from the W. T. P. A., 184 La Salle street, Chicago, from me, or from your State Superintendent. Use these helps and grow in numbers and usefulness as has Marietta, Ohio.

WHAT SHALL BE THE NEXT STEP IN THE ABOLITION OF THE DRINK TRAFFIC BY THE MEDICAL PROFESSION?

"Thou hast no healing medicines."—Jer. 30-13.

Dr. Homes has said that if the contents of our drug stores were taken out upon the ocean and thrown overboard it would be better for the human race, but worse for the fishes.

It has been clearly proved by scientific experiments that there is no healing power in alcohol, even though the discoverers of this liquid extract thought and proclaimed that they had found at last a panacea, or a cure-all, for every ill that flesh was heir to or afflicted with.

That alcohol is a poison we scarcely need be told at this stage of W. C. T. U. development, and from a scientific view as well as from a Christian stand point. A prominent physician defines a poison to be "a substance, in whatever form it may be, which, when applied to a living surface, disconcerts and disturbs life's healthy movements. Such is alcohol. Such in all its forms, mix it with whatever you may.

In the wonderful make up of our bodies are cells, fibers and fluids.

The cell is the most important structure in the living body. Life resides in the cell. The matter which forms the mass of a cell is called protoplasm or bioplasm, and resembles the white of an egg. Bioplasm is living matter. It is structureless, semi-fluid, transparent and colorless. It is the only matter that can grow, move, divide itself and multiply; the only matter that can take up food and convert it into its own substance, and the only matter that can be nourished. The bioplasm in the cell gets its nourishment by drawing in food through the cell wall, and in that way building up the formed material while it is being disintegrated on the outer surface. The body is kept in repair by this living matter, and all the functions of the body are but the result of its action.

Under the microscope we may see, when bioplasm is immersed in a harmless stimulant solution, the activity is increased, it moves faster, takes up more food and divides more rapidly than in an unstimulated condition. But if an astringent be added it moves more slowly, and soon contracts into a spherical shape and remains contracted, or may move slowly to a limited extent according to the strength of the stringent solution. Then add a relaxant, and gradually the living matter begins to spread in all directions in a lazy-like manner and becomes so thin as to be almost undiscernible, and takes up very little if any food.

Alcohol is ironically called a stimulant, but if we use a weak solution of it, almost instantly the living matter contracts into a ball like mass, and we may conclude that alcohol is an astringent. If we now use the same harmless stimulant as before, which caused it to move faster, etc., it makes no impression; it does not move; it is dead matter.

So we see that alcohol destroys the very life force that alone keeps the body in repair. This can be more clearly demonstrated by immersing the white of an egg (which consists of albumen, and is very similar to bioplasm) in alcohol. Notice it turn white, coagulate and harden.

The same experiment can be made with blood with the same result, killing the blood bioplasms. When taken into the stomach it has the same effect on the blood and all the living tissues in the system as out of it, and this alone is enough to condemn its use as a medicine.

There have been times, when I have thought of the injuries alcohol and drug medication, including the nicotine of tobacco, have done and are doing the human race, it seemed to me I could adopt the sentiment expressed by a noted physician on this subject, when he said, "I am disposed to give up my profession and go forth upon a holy crusade, preaching to all men: 'Beware of these enemies of the race.'"

Under the progressive educative influence of the W. C. T. U. and the medical profession this fight against "Alcohol as Medicine" must go on, to the winning in the battle against "Alcohol as a Beverage," for the two are like the Siamese twins—inseparable, only the latter is upheld by the former.

Skillful, scientific, philanthropic, Christian physicians, such as Dr. B. W. Richardson, of the London Temperance Hospital; Dr. N. B. Davis, Sr., of Chicago; Dr. J. H. Kellogg, of Battle Creek, and others who might be mentioned, have prepared strong weapons in the form of scientific experimental investigations. If these valuable weapons are used persistently and prayerfully by all temperance workers until the whole medical fraternity refuses alcoholic medication in all its forms, then the cause of total abstinence will receive such an impetus as it has never had in all its history, and the medical fraternity see to it that the laws placing restrictions on certain systems of healing be repealed, and recognizing the truth of the source of all healing power in God, and communicated by him to the living body, and with the Psalmist adopt the language, "Bless the Lord who healeth all thy diseases."

PAREGORIC—ITS COMPOSITION.

There are many mothers, nurses and others who have charge of children and who readily give paregoric to their children, who would hesitate to do so if they knew that the active ingredients of that drug are alcohol and opium. Below is the composition of paregoric, taken from United States Dispensatory, which speaks for itself:

PAREGORIC, (Ingredients and Proportion.)

Powdered Opium, grains.....	.62
Dilute Alcohol (to make 33 ozs.) oz.....	.33
Benzoic Acid, grains.....	.62
Camphor .....	.62
Oil of Anise, drops.....	.65
Glycerine.....	.01

The opium has the chief narcotic effect, and the alcohol is next in its sedative effect.

An ounce (tablespoonful) of paregoric contains nearly two grains of powdered opium. Children who are given paregoric will soon cry for the opium and alcohol it contains.

Giving paragoric to children is the kindergarten school to make drunkards and opium eaters. BEWARE!

NATIONAL TEMPERANCE HOSPITAL ANNUAL REPORT FOR 1902.

FRANCES WILLARD NATIONAL TEMPERANCE HOSPITAL.

It will be difficult to tell you in the ten minutes allotted to the report of a year of hard, aggressive work in our hospital all, or indeed scarcely to touch on the most important points.

To begin with, the word advance must be distinctly written above and over all I shall say, for this has been a year distinctly encouraging, and marked advancement will be shown and read between the lines, not in a boastful spirit—far from it—for each year comes freighted with its peculiar trials, tending to show us our frailties and "muddy crossings" at which we instinctively pause to pick our way. Three hundred and fifteen patients have been treated during the year, with a death rate of less than 4½%, which is comparatively very low, proving that it is safe to avoid alcoholic remedies. In this there can be no risk, notwithstanding the occasional newspaper report of the enormous death rate of the Temperance hospitals.

Throughout the year the services of Superintendent of Training School have been of a most excellent grade. Activity and higher standards have brought our class of twelve nurses to an enviable position among those of their profession. They have been honored, by preference, of other hospitals by our staff physicians in calls for private practice, all of which has been most gratifying to the trustees, whose aim has been to reach this high mark.

Each nurse now wears the White Ribbon, and is being educated in the "Y" work by the efforts of our most worthy White Ribbon matron, who is a delegate to this convention.

She has shown thrift and economy, with a general interest which has been instrumental in keeping the Hospital out of debt, with no complaint from patients, or household, of the food, either in quantity or quality, which leads one to say that to "look well to the ways of her household" is ideal womanhood.

The house physician's services have been excellent; harmony and a right spirit have permeated the institution, bringing blessings in its train. The expense of supporting the institution this last year has been not far from ten thousand dollars. Bills have been met with considerable satisfaction, and the strain has been much lighter upon the trustees than in former years, none of whom receive compensation other than the reflex blessing which the Master never fails to give his workers.

These ladies give time, money and much valuable service to this work, because they, too, see the great need, and have answered the call "Here am I; use me."

A most generous donation of two hundred dollars was given early in the year by the women of California. Seldom, if ever, has the Hospital received so telling a gift. This amount, with fifty dollars added, equipped the operating room with instruments and furniture most essential in major operations. The additions have brought a most desirable line of operations most advantageous to the general work. This gift was made in honor of Henrietta Skelton, whom the California sisters wished to thus remember.

The bed endowed by the ever loyal State of Illinois, and one by Mrs. J. B. Hobbs, of Chicago, enable us to have free patients, which is one of the most pleasant duties of the entire work.

This month, while visiting the hospital and carefully inspecting each room with the Superintendent, several facts were noticeable, such as the good house-keeping, the liberal supply of bright screens in the wards, the spotless beds with new covers and fresh blankets, the windows with pretty sash curtains, new rugs before some of the beds, made out of old carpets, all largely through the efforts of our working force, shows that they love the work and take an interest in it.

The old threadbare story of alcoholics being served surreptitiously to the patients has, I believe, died and been buried. It may have been treated with alcoholics and died for that reason. At any rate, we have not heard of it through the year.

Of course we are occasionally asked what is the Temperance Hospital living for, any way? And we answer:

First, according to Miss Willard's first inception of the idea of organizing a hospital to prevent men (and women, too,) from becoming drunkards through the physician's prescriptions, and to convert physicians themselves, who in turn convert multitudes of their patients; to educate the masses of people in the great principle of non-alcoholic remedies. Think you the Hospital has lived in vain? A thousand no's. We have built better than we knew, and the principle which will now stand for all time is a bright and shining light to this and all coming ages of the great work of the W. C. T. U.

The principles demonstrated by the Hospital are most distinctively the heart principles of our great organization. We cannot go back; we must go forward. Larger and better accommodations must be provided.

If every one of our women for one year would send five cents to the treasurer, a new building, thoroughly equipped, would be the result. Our land is paid for, and a small health growing fund in hand toward this object.

Sisters, send in your own and your neighbors' nickles this year, and we will speedily show you, with the Master's blessing, what the Hospital trustees can and will do without burden to any one.

MRS. MARGARET INGLEHART,
President Hospital Board.

OUR PLEDGE.

I am glad to note the growing sentiment with our Indiana women to drop out the words, "as a beverage," from one form of our pledges. Some States have already done this. Indiana does not want to be behind, especially in so important a work as this. It is being clearly demonstrated by our most eminent scientists, physicians and surgeons that alcohol is not necessary as a medicine. Our National Superintendent says in one of her reports, "Strike out from the pledges the phrase, 'as a beverage.' Alcohol is not good either as medicine or as food. The body requires no alcohol under any circumstances. When the majority of the people believe this we shall banish liquors from use, and not before." Our National President, in her address before the Texas convention, most heartily urged that greater attention be given to the Non-Alcoholic Department. The National Temperance Hospital is clearly demonstrating the fact that patients can be successfully treated without the use of alcohol. One form of our pledge allows the use of alcohol as a medicine, yet we have a department of Non-Alcoholic Medication in State and Nation which says, "No alcohol should be used as a medicine." Think about it and let us educate on this line.

A. T. WHITSON,
State Superintendent.

Where alcohol is used the mortality is great. Some recover in spite of its use.—Selected.

Many an appetite is created for alcohol by its use in the sick room.

Dear Co-worker:

The more you study this department of Non-Alcoholic Medication, the more you will be convinced of its great importance to the temperance reform and the more you will become interested in its advancement. Much work and education is required to arouse the people on this subject. I am glad, as Superintendent of this department of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Indiana, to do all I can; but with the small means at my disposal the work I can do is small compared with what should be done. The State W. C. T. U. appropriation of only $5.00 will meet only a part of my postage. In studying over this matter I have wondered if there were not many in this State who would gladly make a donation to help push this very work. Possibly there are many who have homes, or have observed the homes of some near friend who have been touched by this hidden foe, who would like to help banish it from the kitchen, from the prescriptions of doctors and its use as a common home remedy.

I present this subject to you earnestly and prayerfully and ask you to consider it earnestly and prayerfully also. The donation of $5.00 or $1.00 would prove a great blessing, first to the cause and second to you for the giving. By faith and some practical encouragement, we are sending out six thousand copies of the Special Non-Alcoholic Issue of the MESSAGE, the State W. C. T. U. organ of Indiana. We desire to repeat this two or three times this year and will if we receive the needed encouragement. Any donations may be sent to the undersigned, who will make prompt acknowledgment. Thanking you in advance, for any assistance and co-operation, I am,

Yours to serve,

MRS. AMANDA T. WHITSON,

NOTE--I know of no better educational work against the liquor traffic than that which the State Superintendent of Non-Alcoholic Medication is doing. Let us help her most cordially,

NEWS ITEMS.

The World's Woman's Christian Temperance Union Convention will be held in Geneva, Switzerland, June 9 to 11.

A bill to repeal the anti-canteen law has been introduced in the House and referred to the military committee. There will be work for every Christian.

Our government has decided against the sale of alcoholic liquors of any description in our Samoan possessions.

Texas has ninety-two counties totally "dry," fifty-four totally "wet," fifteen unorganized, and the remaining counties partially dry. Within the past year forty-seven counties have voted and forty-one have adopted prohibition.

The McCumber bill forbids liquor selling in government buildings. It should become a law. Wilbur F. Crafts, our champion of righteousness at Washington, earnestly desires that petitions and letters be sent to Congressmen for the passage of this bill.

The defeat of the Georgia dispensary bill was brought about through the influence of the Georgia W. C. T. U., and the defeat of the scheme to fasten upon Florida the dispensary system is the notable victory of the year of the Florida W. C. T. U.—Exchange.

The citizens of Indian Territory are anxious for Statehood, but strongly opposed to joint Statehood with Oklahoma. They want to go in with their prohibitory law. If joined with Oklahoma, with a license law, they fear the loss of their peace and prosperity.

A concerted attempt to amend the New York State law concerning temperance teaching in the public schools is being made by the State Science Teachers, an organization said to be backed by the liquor lobby. It is the aim of the "science" people to kill the study of physiology and the effects of stimulants and narcotics.—Exchange.

The W. C. T. U. of Canton, O., recently held a reception. A number of the women had each earned $1, and the program consisted of poems and prose which told of their struggles. About fifty persons were present, and $75 was raised by this method. Canton Union is rapidly growing, about sixty new members having been added this winter.

At Colorado Springs, Col., prohibition orators were in attendance and spoke effectively at the recent State Teachers' Convention. An address on "Morality in the Public Schools" by Mrs. M. A. Weir was given wide publicity and has aroused no end of discussion.

From Three Rivers, Mich., we learn that the "Temperance Volunteers" have started to go through the State in the interest of prohibition. They purpose to canvass every home in the State, to make a complete record of every person of ten years of age and over. The campaign will end only when Michigan is solid for total abstinence.

A dispatch to the New Voice from Toronto says: The belated returns from outlying districts indicate that the total referendum vote cast on December 4 may yet come near the desired 212,000 votes. All Prohibition candidates for the city council were elected, notably, Messrs. F. S. Spence and J. R. L. Starr, who headed the poll in their wards, and Mr. J. J. Graham. This is the second crushing defeat of organized liquor interests in Toronto. Prohibitionists are greatly encouraged by the outcome of this hard-fought battle.

President Bashford, of Delaware, in a recent address, said: "When our statesmen begin to realize the necessity of moral courage and high ideals, when our business corporations lead in forces favoring total abstinence, prohibition, not license or tax, will be the final policy for dealing with the saloon, and I believe the saloon will be put down within the next twenty-five years. I want American young people to engage in some high, brave task for the twentieth century. I've no respect for cowardly people who try to hide in a safe place while this struggle is on."

From Pennsboro, W. Va., the New Voice correspondent says: "This city has scored a great victory for prohibition, electing J. B. McGregor mayor by twenty-six majority, as well as two out of five members of the common council, losing one other by the narrow majority of one. Ritchie county has no legalized saloons, but the American Express Company delivers great quantities of liquor daily, the amount brought here during Christmas week being valued at $1,500."

In New Jersey a feature of the State W. C. T. U. Convention was the pinning of thousands of "Vote No Saloons" badges on the breasts of school children as they left the various schools.

Send PETITIONS and LETTERS to members of Indiana Legislature regarding the Nicholson Law and Cigarette Law. The enemies of our homes must not be victors. You must help defeat them.

MRS. ROSE PEARCE.

Y. W. C. T. U.

I wish that each Union would try a Medal Contest and put some money in its treasury. It's a splendid way to earn money because it gives such good opportunities to sow temperance seed. Please try it, and be preparing yourselves for the payment of dues, March 15.

In the March MESSAGE we hope to tell you the result of the Goshen "Y" clipping contest. The Anderson "Y" has entered one, with Dr. Boyden as captain of one side and Miss Grace McMahan captain of the other. We know the father of one of our girls helped her to find clippings. The interest is fine, and we believe it is very helpful when you can tell members of the family to help.

Dear ones, remember I look to you to send me items in regard to your work, and what your Local Unions are doing, so I can always have something helpful for our column in the MESSAGE.

If your "Y" Secretary's health will permit she will go out in the field as one of the W. C. T. U. Institute Leaders, and asks that you pray for her. To those who have known of her illness we want to say she is now on the way to recovery.

How many Y. Unions would like the 1903 Year Book, prepared by our National Secretary, Mrs. Clara Parrish Wright?

If our State Motto means anything to us, it means that you and I will pray, work and at all times do all that is possible to enlist those who are so indifferent to our cause. Lovingly,
CLARA M. SEARS.

PRESIDENT'S LETTER.

It was my privilege to attend a conference held in connection with a revival service at the First Methodist Church in Marion on the 15th of January. Under the topic, "Municipal Sins," some startling facts were brought to light. After the usual exposure of weak officials who had been sworn to do their duty and failed in so many instances, one minister said that he had found by good authority that at least one thousand men go home every Saturday night drunk. That in a city of about 20,000 inhabitants, and perhaps there is no more drunkenness in Marion than in most places of its size in our State. But can we afford to be silent about the sin of drunkenness and the equally great sin of allowing an institution to live that takes the wages of one thousand men every week from their families in one town alone? But we must multiply this by the number of cities and towns in our State of 20,000 and more, and then we must add to this great army the perhaps as great per cent in small towns, where not only the young men of the place are being ruined, but the lads from the country as well.

If every coal bin in the State were full the "wolf at the door" would yet be the fear of many homes while so great a drain is made on the wages and muscle and brain power of the wage earner that the families of the brewer, the distiller and saloon keeper may live in luxury.

I know we have not yet come to the place where our influence will be felt most in the prohibition of the drink evil, but we are already where silence on our part is criminal. We have no time to waste as reformers. It has been a busy winter with our forces at the Capital, trying to influence Congress to pass laws for the protection of the home, and to retain those we already have that are better than none. While conditions concerning the licensed sins of our day are to me perfectly appalling, I yet believe the signs of the times are hopeful in many respects. The influence for good by the W. C. T. U. is being felt more and more.

A minister said to me at the conference referred to: "The Church must adopt the policy of the W. C. T. U. if we are to succeed. We have spent too much time trying to reform the judge, and the mayor and the other great people, while we have lost opportunities of much more value to us. We must, like you, commence with the children, although the old sinners are neglected."

The open door is before us. There is not a Union in the State that cannot work with and for the dear children.

If we will take the time to think, let us count those manly young fellows that were in the ranks of the L. T. L. a few years ago. We will find them prohibitionists to a boy. Let us take courage. When our boys and girls of the L. T. L. come to the ballot box, King Alcohol will tremble in a way that will gladden your heart and mine. EUNICE P. WILSON.

TEMPERANCE LITERATURE.

As State Superintendent of Temperance Literature I want to urge upon every local Union the importance of this department in advancing the principles for which we contend. This is the age when printers' ink sways the world. People are more and more being swayed by what they read.

The Leaflet does good often as an arouser of interest in our reform, but the most effective literature work is the placing of Prohibition newspapers in the homes of the people. A paper that comes into a home fifty-two times a year advocating our principles is building line upon line and precept upon precept. If a falsehood concerning some phase of our movement gains currency in the Daily Press, the truth follows quickly in the weekly Prohibition organ. I am thoroughly convinced that no other one line of work will bring such large results as securing subscriptions to Prohibition newspapers. The Union Signal is the organ of the W. C. T. U., and should be in the home of every member. Each Local Union should have a local agent for the Signal. If your Union is without an agent, appoint one at once. Then every local Union should do its utmost to extend the circulation of the New Voice and the Patriot-Phalanx. Secure a large list of subscribers to either or both papers and you will do much to solve the problem of awakening interest in our cause, and every line of work will become easier, and best of all, an increased Prohibition vote inevitably follows.

We wish to inaugurate a special campaign for subscriptions to the New Voice and the Phalanx, and to this end this department offers a prize of $25 to the Union sending in the largest list of subscriptions to either or both the Voice and Phalanx by April 1, and Mr. Morrow has kindly consented to give a public lecture to the Union furnishing the second largest list. These prizes are conditioned upon this department receiving not less than 100 subscriptions by April 1 from any part of the State. Any profits from commissions offered by New Voice and Phalanx will be devoted to State W. C. T. U. work, so that in pushing this line of work local Unions are not only spreading Prohibition truth through our own papers, but also assisting in carrying forward State work, with a chance to add $25 to your local treasury, or a free lecture with a collection entirely your own. Now let every local Union take up the matter promptly and systematically, divide the community and make a thorough canvass. All subscriptions, with cash for the same, should be sent to me, 2432 N. Delaware st., Indianapolis, Indiana.

GERTRUDE MORROW,
State Superintendent.

WORK AMONG RAILROAD EMPLOYEES.

Four months of the W. C. T. U. year have gone; how much have we done in the great field of labor before us? I hope many of the dear sisters are planning much work in my department, and I am praying for great advancement in this department. This year, through the efforts of our State Secretary, I have received the names of seven County Superintendents, to whom I have sent literature and blanks. Now, dear County Presidents, can I not hear from more counties in this our beautiful State, where there are so many White Ribboners ready to press onward in the great struggle for mankind? In the United States there are more than a million steam railway employees, besides the army of street railway men, policemen, firemen and postmen, all of whom we desire to have brought in touch with this department of W. C. T. U. work. Will not the counties that have no Superintendent of the Railway Department please appoint one and send name and address to me, and help Indiana to come to the front in her next report to the National Superintendent?

EMILY MCINTOSH,
State Superintendent.

PRESS.

Our National Press Superintendent makes a suggestion which I like, and I want to pass it on to you. Instead of pasting our clippings on muslin, as heretofore, let us make scrap books of them.

I will give as a prize a nice book to the woman taking to our next State Convention the neatest, best filled scrap book of temperance and other clippings pertaining to our work.

I am so glad to know that there are so many counties and Unions carrying on the press work. The blank reports reached me too late to send them out for the last quarter, but you will receive them in good time for the next, and please add your first quarter's report to the second, so that all the work may be reported.

Let us be active and in earnest about our press work, let no time be wasted, ask for and keep up columns in the local and county papers, and keep our work before the public all the time. The outlook for our work is most encouraging.

If the canteen question becomes an issue again I know the press workers will be ready to do their part, which is a most important one.

Save all your clippings, dear sisters, and begin now on your scrap books. Keep in mind the great importance of our work and be earnest and prayerful.

MISS LAURA G. CAMMACK.

Converse, Ind.

CLASS FOR THE STUDY OF PARLIAMENTARY LAW.

One of my plans for the department of Parliamentary Usage is to organize as large a class as possible for the study of Parliamentary Law by correspondence. My desire is to have every County and Local Superintendent of this department in the State a member of the class, and as many others as may desire to unite with us. The condition of the membership is the payment of 10c, five of which will be used for the payment of a Parliamentary card to be used in the study. On the first day of each month, beginning with March 1, I will send to each member of the class an outline of study for the month, together with a list of questions to be answered and returned to me. The course will extend over six months, and the members answering the largest number of questions correctly will receive honorable mention through the columns of the MESSAGE and in my annual Report. Please send your names and a dime as early as possible.

With desire that we become equipped for the best possible service in the cause we love, I am

Cordially Yours, HATTIE W. BRAND,
1403 Ashland Ave., Indianapolis,
State Superintendent Parliamentary Usage.

D. LEIGH COLVIN,
National President Inter-Collegiate Prohibition Association.

THE INTER-COLLEGIATE PROHIBITION ASSOCIATION

of Indiana is making preparation for its State Contest and Convention, which is to be held at Taylor University, April 17.

The object of the Association, as expressed in its constitution, is to promote a broad study and discussion of the questions arising from or connected with the liquor traffic, to advance the principle of prohibition, to secure the participation of college men and women in this reform, to promote the application of prohibition through party action as the best policy offered by political science for the complete solution of these problems, and to support the Prohibition party as long as other political parties remain silent concerning the liquor traffic.

There are now active prohibition Leagues in nearly every college in the State. They hold regular meetings, usually once in two weeks, in which a systematic study is made of some of the most important phases of the prohibition question. The percentage of leading students who are joining the Leagues is very remarkable. In one college nearly ninety per cent of the entire student body are party prohibitionists, while in nearly all there is a large and growing sentiment.

One of the important features of the Association's work is the system of inter-collegiate oratorical contests. There is first a contest in the college, with original orations on prohibition, the winner of the local contest representing his college in the State contest, and the winner of the State contest will represent Indiana in the national contest. There is nothing which arouses more enthusiasm in the college than a contest. There is nothing which gives a student a better acquaintance with the question than the preparation necessary for writing an oration.

In order to bring out the best ability in the colleges of the State the Association desires to offer a prize of $50 at the State contest, and makes an appeal to the prohibitionists and the W. C. T. U. and others of Indiana to contribute toward the prize.

It is believed that some of the most important work that can be done for prohibition at the present time is to enlist the college students, those who are to be the natural leaders of society, for prohibition, and it is hoped that they will be given the encouragement at least of a liberal prize.

Please send contributions to Dr. Homer J. Hall, Franklin, Ind., who will see that the money is properly applied. Any amount will be appreciated.

D. LEIGH COLVIN,

En route in Indiana.

NOTE—Between sections dates are left for workers to attend Mid-year Executive Committee Meeting at Franklin, Johnson County, April 16 and 17.

DEAR COUNTY PRESIDENT—It is with unusual pleasure and expectation I come to you in the interest of Institute work this year, as I remember the marked victories which were won in some counties last year. I am convinced that these victories can be made general under like conditions of timely, thorough and persistent effort.

Turn to page 59 of Indiana W. C. T. U. Annual Report for 1902 and read again the Plan of Work adopted for 1903. Following this re-read the Institute plan adopted for this year, on page 61, and determine how many of the premiums offered in the State Plan of Work your coming County Institute can be made to help your County and Local Unions secure.

Then read Institute program and schedule of dates in this MESSAGE, note carefully the date of your Institute and make a mental invoice of your county's resources and what you can reasonably expect to ac-comply at your coming Institute, and write at once to the Leader of your section and report your plans and enlist her to help you carry them out.

Call a County Executive meeting early. Make your program and avail yourself of the active co-operation of all other county officers. If bad weather and bad roads do not favor a meeting on time make the program by correspondence.

Form your Contest Class four weeks in advance of your Institute, and have the selections in the hands of those who are to recite them at least three weeks before contest evening.

Work all your plans persistently.

Give a good advertisement to the entire Institute program two weeks before the session opens.

The foregoing suggestions, so often repeated, we find are most welcomed by the Presidents of experience and ability who have, from year to year, so successfully carried them out, and we trust they will prove equally so to those who are new and earnest in the work.

Our new Contest Superintendent, Mrs. Cora M. Steele, 1330 E. Washington St., Anderson, Ind., is ready and eager to co-operate with you in arranging your contest. Send to her for supplies, and do not fail to avail yourself of the 200 contest tickets, so nicely arranged on the envelope plan that your young people can easily sell them for you in advance, thus securing their own admission and insuring you a $20 house. This is no experiment, but one of the proven successes. Try it. Send Mrs. Steele 35 cents for 200 of these tickets in envelopes.

Correspond with your Leader promptly if you desire her services on Sabbath. (See plan.)

Come to the Institute prepared to make a club of ten or more for the Union Signal, and expect to receive the paper for one year at the reduced rates always offered to Institutes. For these rates see March MESSAGE.

PRIZE AND ROLL OF HONOR.

Again I will offer a prize for the best filled Institute report blank by County President, she to preserve the blank sent to her in February, fill it and hand it to the Leader at the close of the Institute.

Points for competition: Neatness, completeness and accuracy. Also a Roll of Honor will be made of all Presidents who completely and accurately fill the blank. Let us exemplify the motto, "What is worth doing is worth doing well."

Last February the President of Illinois wrote to your Superintendent saying: "We are going to carry out Indiana's Institute plan to the letter, and if you will come over and help us we will relieve Indiana of carrying home the national banner."

They did carry out our plan and carry off our banner, which we had held so long, and I could but respond to their pressing call for help. But now, with our improved plan for this year and strong working force, shall we not bring the banner home? Let County Presidents answer promptly to their respective Leaders and we will pass the good word along the line. Enthusiastically yours to help,

MARY HADLEY-HALL,
285 E. Jefferson St., Franklin, Ind.

MORMON APOSTLE ELECTED TO UNITED STATES SENATE.

Reed Smoot, one of the twelve apostles of the Mormon church, has been elected United States Senator from Utah. Polygamy is one of the basic principles of Mormonism, and the followers of that faith openly boast that the apathy of Christians is their opportunity, and that they will yet choke polygamy down the throat of the American people. Every Mormon young man must give two years of his life to missionary work. They are trained for the work and are sent into the field thoroughly equipped. Their method is to establish a mission and make house to house visits, where, with argument and the placing of literature, they seek to make converts. Their success is revealed in the fact that they had 20,000 converts last year. Utah made six attempts to come into the Union before she was admitted. Each time the hideous institution of polygamy stood in the way, and it was under promise to cease this practice that she was admitted. President Harrison justly doubted the sincerity of those promises, and time proved his fear to be correct. Since coming into Statehood eight of the twelve apostles who swore to abandon polygamy have been convicted and imprisoned for polygamous living. Their founder and president, Joseph Smith, said that he would not dare enter the kingdom of heaven with less than three wives, and it is only reasonable to believe that a people who believe that their eternal salvation rests upon the number of their wives and posterity will continue to be polygamists. Mormonism glorifies polygamy, and it is the purpose of its followers to gain political ascendancy and then turn the monster loose upon the American people. They now have control in five States and two Territories, so there is most urgent necessity for immediate and determined action. The campaign promises to be as vigorous as was that against Brigham H. Roberts, and in some respects it will be a harder fight. Roberts was a known polygamist, having three wives, but Smoot declares that he is "law abiding," but he does not say that he does not believe in polygamy. As a man thinketh in his heart, so he is, and we leave it to the reader to decide whether his power would be used for the promotion or suppression of polygamy.

Churches and other Christian societies are already actively at work, looking toward the passing of an amendment to our United States constitution forever prohibiting polygamy, and if we do not succeed in that such a protest will be sent up against the seating of Smoot in our Senate that he will be sent back to Utah as was Roberts.

The Inter-denominational Council of Women was organized for the special purpose of fighting polygamy, and this Council will work hand in hand with the National W. C. T. U. A talented speaker, Mrs. Maria Weed, of Chicago, who has had exceptional opportunities for the study of this question, is speaking throughout the central and western States under the auspices of these two societies. Three days after the nomination of Smoot, Mrs. Weed began work in Indianapolis, where she held a successful meeting every day for a week. From Indianapolis she went to the northern part of the State, and will continue her work until early in February.

Literature on this subject has been sent to every local President in the State of Indiana by our national officers, and we urge that every Union will seek information, watch the progress of the campaign, and respond promptly to any call from State or national officers. Anything which affects the purity of the home and tends to prevent the degradation of woman is the legitimate work of every Christian organization. Let every Press and Literature Superintendent in the State be active in this work, and meet the opposition with facts which cannot be refuted.

With pride and hope in the Indiana W. C. T. U. in every good work, I am loyally yours,

HATTIE W. BRAND.

"DRY AS DUST."

That is what we sometimes say of business details, but this letter is an exception, for it is thoroughly mixed with thanks to local and county Treasurers who have sought for accuracy in carrying out new plans, and have so well succeeded. Then it must be spiced with a warning. The note on the face of Local Treasurers' Reports, sent out by County Treasurers in organized counties, is certainly plain English. If not full enough for perfect understanding, there is fuller explanation to be found on page 48 of the Annual Report of 1902, and page II, State Constitution, Article IV, and Section 5, under By-Laws of the Local Constitution, page xiv. After this any Local or any County Treasurer who does not promptly, and accurately, and faithfully, and conscientiously follow her Constitution is going to be morally responsible if any inaccuracy creeps into the State Treasurer's accounts. How can anybody expect her to keep her books, when she is responsible for all bills accruing on account of the MESSAGE, and money which should be in her hands for that purpose is lying in local treasuries instead of being sent on with the quarter's dues and the address of the woman who is entitled to the MESSAGE? As it is, some of our members whose membership began with September, and who should have been getting the paper all winter, have only just now had their names put on the list, and some of the Treasurers are still holding the MESSAGE money for members whose dues have been paid for six months or more.

Beloved, your State Treasurer must be Constitutional, and so she must compute membership and pay national dues on the basis of "sixty-five cents" annually per member received by her.

Yours for a true statement,

ALICE RUTH PALMER.

SPECIAL OFFER.

This department will pay the traveling expense to the next State Convention for the County or Local Superintendent of Non-Alcoholic Medication who makes the best report on all lines of work in this department during the year, and who shall send to the State Superintendent on or before July 1, 1903, the best original paper on this subject, prepared by the Superintendent or some one else in the county, said paper never having appeared in print before.

HADLEY SCHOOL.

We, in the Home, are rejoicing in milder weather and brighter days. We experience some anxiety as we watch the decreasing coal supply.

We enjoyed the Christmas times, as so many of the friends and the live unions remembered the school royally. Boxes containing nuts, candies and cake were highly appreciated. Then came the essentials of life in the way of bedding and clothing, and one box contained a present for each girl in the Home, with her name pinned to it.

This was done by writing for the names and ages in advance. This box was highly appreciated, as all fared well.

There is still room for donations in the matter of kitchen utensils, large spoons, paring knives, ladles, towelings, etc. The bed-rooms would be more comfortable with rugs at the bedside and muslin or lace curtains at the windows, and almost anything that would give a homelike appearance to the rooms.

In the lack of shoes we experience the greatest difficulty, as we have none at hand to replace those worn out. If some friend could secure us the donation of a box of shoes of many sizes, we would not be choice as to the style, if the heels are not too high or the toes too pointed. Please remember these hints, and come and see for yourselves where you can help us.

L. HOBART.

Hadley, Jan. 18, 1903.

HADLEY INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

Scarlet fever has again broken out at the Hadley Industrial School, which increases the burden and perplexities of our faithful Board. The Matron having fallen under nervous prostration, Miss Hobart, our self sacrificing President, is now at the school. She writes: "Myself and two other women and the farmer constitute the well corps of workers." Dear Sisters, certainly this is a time for us to show our interest in the school and our appreciation of the workers who are bearing such heavy burdens of work and worry. Few of us but have felt the pressure because of the price and scarcity of coal this winter, and it is a heavy expense to heat the school. We need a hundred dollars right away to pay for coal, and several hundred dollars more are needed for other necessities. This illness in the home will necessitate a great deal of washing, and our washing machines are almost entirely worn out. We need rugs for the floors, and kitchen utensils of all kinds. Things wear out in our own homes, and our School Home is no exception. Marion County will have a kitchen shower for Hadley soon, and I write this little letter to you because our dear women at the school are so uncomplaining, and I know you will wish to help when you know the stress they are under at the present time. Do the thing that the Spirit suggests as you read this letter.

Cordially,

HATTIE W. BRAND.

FIELD NOTES.

Prohibition Victories.—Oliver W. Stewart was elected Representative in the Illinois Legislature from the Hyde Park district, Chicago. J. H. Cunneen was elected Attorney General of New York by prohibitionists. W. M. Rogers was elected Justice of the Supreme Court of New York by prohibitionists. F. T. McCullom was elected sheriff of Venango County, Pa. J. Lamberton, prohibition commissioner-elect, Venango County, Pa. N. C. Gilbert was elected prohibition city official, Geneseo, Ill. L. W. Mills was elected prohibition town clerk, Wheaton, Ill. D. Worthey was elected prohibition alderman, Pontiac, Ill. J. M. Purdum was elected prohibition alderman, Batavia, Ill. C. L. Burnett was elected prohibition assessor, National Park, N. J. J. J. Sweetland was elected prohibition school commissioner, Tompkins County, New York.—The New Herald.

South Bend women are taking an active interest in the canteen law, and are determined to fight against its repeal. At a meeting of the Central W. C. T. U. held recently at the residence of Mrs. C. L. Warner, 321 South Franklin street, the ladies decided to write letters to United States Senators asking them to support the law. The Union has placed a picture of Miss Willard in the High School and has sent a box to a needy family in northern Michigan.

Grant County.—The Hadley W. C. T. U. held a reception for its honorary members at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Doherty on New Year's eve. About forty persons were present, and enjoyed a pleasant evening in guessing contests and other games. Refreshments were served at 10 o'clock, all agreeing they had spent a most enjoyable evening. For honoraries this is the banner Union in the State, having thirteen members. On Sabbath evening, Jan. 4, 1903, our State president, Eunice P. Wilson, paid our Union a visit, giving a pleasing account of her trip to Portland, Me. She spoke of the different attitude of the newspapers toward the convention at the present time in comparison to former years. The W. C. T. U. has grown in popularity until all papers are glad to report their proceedings. She spoke of the success of prohibition in Maine. We received two new members at this meeting.

Mrs. E. B. Ingalls, our National Superintendent of Non-Alcoholics, says: This year I will give a diamond stick pin to the woman sending me the greatest number of pledge cards signed by boys under 21 years of age. Coupons must be received before October, 1903. The woman can have all the help she can get. This is to count on the 5,000,000 boys, but also pledges every girl. Send to me for plan of work, constitution for anti-cigarette league and pins, 4119 Westminster Place, St. Louis, Mo.

Program for February 17.—The Heavenly Birthday of Frances E. Willard. Bible Reading, Prov. 31, 29-31; First Cor. 15, 51-58. Music, Memorial Ode (White Ribbon Hymnal). Roll Call. Responses from Miss Willard's writings. Selection by a Y., "Miss Willard's Influence upon Young Women." (Y. number Union Signal, W. P. T. A., 5 cents.) Five minute talks by members: "What Phase of Miss Willard's Character has Most Impressed Me"—Her Loyalty to God; her Breadth of View; her Unselfish Spirit; her Eloquence; her Power of Leadership. Recitation, by a member of L. T. L. Remarks by President, "How We May Perpetuate Her Influence." Offering for memorial organization fund for State and National work. (Helps, The Beautiful Life of Frances E. Willard, $2.00. W. T. P. A., Chicago.)

Marshall County Institute is to be held at Culver this year, a pretty little town on the banks of the beautiful Lake Maxinkuckee. They have no Union, but as our State Superintendent of Institutes requested that Institutes be held in unorganized towns, we responded with ladies there and found that they were very anxious to have us come. We hope to be able to organize at that time. I do not want to make promises, for "actions speak louder than words," but I believe that Marshall County will be recognized at the next State Convention. The new Union at Bremen is doing aggressive work under the leadership of Mrs. Anna Ditty. Bourbon has prepared an excellent annual program. Argos has placed Miss Willard's picture in the hall of the public school building. Plymouth is holding her own bravely.

Mrs. White writes: Broad Ripple W. C. T. U. held a union gospel temperance meeting during the protracted meeting at the Christian Church. We were greatly aided by both churches, Methodist and Christian, uniting, and both pastors taking an active part. We were also aided by Sisters Davis and Carr, whose help we appreciated very much. Mr. Gebbs and others assisted with music. One pastor made the assertion: "I would be the greatest hypocrite living if I were to go ahead helping to lift souls up from this great evil, and then go into the booths and vote for it." We feel as if we had secured a great victory in gaining unity in the churches.

Mrs. Emily McIntosh, President of Allen county, writes: Madison township, Allen county, has just filed a remonstrance against the only saloon-keeper in the township, with 190 names signed, so he will not get a license, and we are hoping from this on to be enrolled with the dry townships. Ours is the first in Allen county to canvass with the blanket remonstrance giving the power of attorney to sign the names. Pray for us, that we may be able to gain the victory.

Bedford Union held a very interesting Mothers' Meeting at the house of Mrs. E. R. Braxtan. The meeting was opened with singing and prayer, followed by the reading of the Christmas lesson entitled, "The World's Savior." Every child that is raised in the world is in a degree a savior of mankind; not in the sense that the Divine Savior was, but every railroad conductor who carries his train, laden with human lives, over the line and in safety reaches its destination can be termed nothing less than a savior of humanity. So in every avenue of life, where duty is performed conscientiously and with the best knowledge one has, does each one prove to be, in a certain degree, a savior of their fellowmen. Hence the necessity of child study and child training on the part of parents and teachers, that each individual, as he enters the active arena of life, may perform his or her duty to the best possible advantage and the most good of all whom it may touch. An open parliament was next held on the subject of "How can the Sabbath be made attractive, and yet be reverently kept?" All were unanimous in the desire to keep the Sabbath free from desecration, and that an agitation should be raised in our own city against Sunday baseball and football, amusements that in themselves are innocent, but not in keeping with the Sabbath day. The Mothers' Meetings are growing in interest and earnestness. Great good will be accomplished by the awakening of the true mother hearts of our city.

Mr. Carey, of the New Home Sewing Machine Company, of Indianapolis, made a gift to the Hadley Industrial School of one of his choice machines at Christmas time. It was received with cheers by all in the home.

The Frances E. Willard Union, of South Bend, a new organization, is doing much active work, and is planning to start a Loyal Temperance Legion. This promises to be one of the largest Unions in the city. At every meeting since the organization new members have been added. Following are names of the officers: President, Mrs. Wesley Close, 706 Keasey street; Vice-President, Miss Nettie Taylor, S. Fellow street; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Sue Orner, 1208 S. Michigan street; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Chas. Brodbeck, 1108 S. Michigan street; Treasurer, Mrs. Anna Davis, 727 Carroll street. All of South Bend.

Lowell Union, Lake County, has held three medal contests this winter, and is sustaining a good Loyal Temperance Legion.

Leaflets can be had for free distribution on the Industrial School, to be used in contests. Order of Mrs. Rebecca Hessong, Nora, Ind.

The South Bend Chapin Park W. C. T. U. held an interesting meeting yesterday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. C. Fassnacht, in Chapin Park. The program included Scripture reading by Mrs. Cotton and a prayer for the work by Mrs. Fassnacht. Mrs. Sharpless made a report of her jail and prison work. A box valued at $16 was sent to the Hadley Home. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Cotton, 334 North Michigan street, on February 10.

At Bedford Mothers' Meeting, in December, there was held a Free Parliament on "Why are the boys of our high school allowed to smoke on the school grounds?" The result of this discussion is the teachers have forbidden any smoking on any of the playgrounds in the city.

In the Election of Oliver W. Stewart, National Chairman of the Prohibition party, to the Illinois Legislature the Prohibitionists won a great victory. He is a member of the House of Representatives from one of the Chicago districts. On the election of the Speaker of the House Mr. Stewart was appointed to serve on a committee of three to escort the Speaker to the chair. By invitation of the Speaker Mr. Stewart, in the absence of a Chaplain, offered prayer at the opening of the second day's session of the House of Representatives.

The Presentation of the following recommendation in the Philadelphia Presbytery caused heated discussion, but the facts were not disputed: "No public denial has been made of an article which appeared in a reliable newspaper a few months ago, that twenty-five members of this Presbytery are members of a political club which sells and dispenses liquor. We would recommend that a committee be appointed to learn whether the statements in said article be true." The Union League Club of Philadelphia, referred to, has on its membership list four brewers, 13 wholesale liquor dealers and 94 doctors of divinity of the city of Philadelphia. The Club sells liquors every day and night, Sunday not excepted. According to its own published annual report it sells $42,000 worth of wine a year. The names of these 25 Presbyterian clergymen who are members of the Presbytery have been published and sent out.

Mrs. McDaniels, of Terre Haute, writes: The new Maple Avenue M. E. Church was dedicated recently, and the entire indebtedness was subscribed or given that day. There was $125 pledged separately for our beautiful Willard window. We are proud of the window. Our former pastor, the Rev. Shemmaker, said there wasn't anything about the church that he was prouder of than the Willard window. The window has for the center Frances E. Willard's portrait, with our motto, "For God and Home and Every Land," and below in large letters, "W. C. T. U."

IN MEMORIAM.

MRS. MINA SQUIRES.—In the death of Mrs. Mina Squires the Cherubusco W. C. T. U. has lost a loved and faithful member; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the cause of Temperance has lost a worthy supporter and one who was always ready to contribute of her means to suffering humanity. That by kindness of spirit and grace of conduct, by patience and fidelity in the discharge of the many duties of her life, she has inspired nobler views of life and has won the love and confidence of all. That we commend our sister's life as an example well worthy of imitation, and that we hope to meet her again when we form a more perfect Union in the home beyond.

Resolved, That the Woman's Christian Temperance Union extend to the bereaved family our sincere sympathy, and commend them to Him who said, "I will not leave you comfortless."

God bids her rest for a season,

For the pathway had grown too steep,

And folded in fair green pastures,

He giveth His loved one sleep.

THE MESSAGE.

"Not by Might nor by Power, but by My Spirit."

VOL. VIII. No. 3.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., MARCH, 1903.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR.

March 20th, birthday of Neal Dow. Prohibition day for the world.

Of the 27,000,000 people in the Southern States 17,000,000 are under prohibitory liquor laws.—Local Option.

Hon. Oliver W. Stewart, elected by the Prohibitionists to the Illinois Legislature, has been appointed on a number of important committees in the House of Representatives.

THE UNION SIGNAL.

The Union Signal is the official organ of the World's and our National W. C. T. U. It is the greatest philanthropic journal published in the world to-day. Mrs. Cornelia T. Jewett, one of America's brightest young journalists, is managing editor. Every Christian home should have this most remarkable of Woman's papers as a regular weekly visitor.

All Special Subscription offers to the Union Signal have closed, but, desiring to do our part in the observance and celebration of Mrs. Stevens' birthday, which has been made by the National W. C. T. U. Union Signal Red Letter Day, we shall, during the week of March 1st to March 8th, again have a special subscription season, offering the Union Signal for this week only in clubs of ten at the $1.00 rate.

When a White Ribboner reads this item and wants to do Temperance Missionary Work she should secure a subscriber herself and urge others to do so. Fifty-two visits of the Union Signal into a home in one year for less than two cents a week! Send it to your ministers, public libraries, and to the young women whom you expect to win for God, and Home, and Humanity.

ORGANIZATION.

At the National Convention we made inquiry concerning the methods employed by the States which reported the most progressive work and the largest increase in membership. As Mrs. Wilson, our President, has before stated, we found that it was not by the adoption of new methods, but by the careful application of old ones, all of which are well known to us. One of our great methods is that of education through the medium of public meetings and the distribution of up-to-date literature. There are hundreds of towns in Indiana in which not a public temperance meeting was held during the past year, and yet there is no subject of greater importance, because our State is the battle ground for a fearful conflict between the advocates and opponents of the liquor traffic. As Chairman of Organization I desire to do all in my power, not only to organize new Unions, but to build up old ones. Many Unions are weak, dying or dead because they have neglected to push the work and increase their forces. This I repeat from their own statements to me. Dear sisters, nothing worth achievement is won without effort, and I want to help you to have one stirring public temperance meeting this year in your town. I am in communication with several of the most talented speakers in the nation, with a view to making a route for them through our State. The terms will be just as reasonable as I can arrange for, but remember that our cause is worthy of the very best talent, and we can not secure this talent without compensation. Will you not begin to think and plan to have one of these speakers, and communicate very soon with me in regard to it? I shall endeavor to secure only such women, and will do the most practical and aggressive temperance work, looking especially to the increase of membership.

HATTIE W. BRAND.

A CALL—LORD'S DAY WEEK, APRIL 19-25, 1903.

Let us, in the Lord's Day week of this year, pray definitely that the Sabbath may not be profaned for purposes of business, of travel, or of recreation, especially in these countries which owe their life and prosperity to the fostering care of God and the observance of His holy day.

We therefore call the attention of all Christians to the twenty-fifth annual Lord's Day week, April 19-25, 1903, and urge them to devote as much of it as practicable to prayer that God will arouse the whole church to renewed consecration and zeal in keeping the Sabbath as He has directed. We request each pastor to preach on this subject during that week, and each church, young people's society and W. C. T. U. to devote at least one meeting to its prayerful consideration, seeking three definite results: First, A higher standard of Sabbath keeping among Christians. Second, Release of as many as possible from Sunday toil. Third, Discontinuance of Sunday amusements, especially Sunday excursions and games. We urge that leaflets in reference to the Sabbath be distributed that week in every home and as occasion may offer at other times.

The Call to Prayer is now ready, and we are anxious that the circulation shall be very large. At the present writing (Feb. 16th), the circulation has more than doubled that of any preceding year. The "Call" Report blanks and samples of literature have been sent to each County and Local Superintendent whose name is on my list. If you are a Superintendent and have not yet received your supply, please send me your name and address. Have the Call to Prayer printed in your daily and weekly papers; also, church and temperance papers.

The past year has not been without its victories. Recently in Nimes, France, 1,000 employes from shops and stores paraded the streets carrying banners saying "Buy nothing on Sundays." The same thing was repeated in Paris.

Formerly, trains that ran on the Belgian State railroads ran on all days alike. By recent report, out of the 2,514 freight trains 2,227 have rest on Sundays, 202 run in special emergencies, and only 85 run regularly. This gives 9,000 former Sunday toilers a complete Sunday's rest.

The Milwaukee City Council has forbidden crying goods on the streets on Sunday.

At one point, where the churches united and protested against Sunday excursions, the officials replied: "We sent the excursion train at the earnest request of your business men." Securing the names of the business men, it was found that they were all saloon keepers. So it is in most cases,—saloons teach Sabbath desecration because it leads to drinking and many other evils.

Organized effort, petitions, letters, telegrams, etc., secured from Congress a law that the Louisiana Exposition, at St. Louis, shall receive no gift from the nation until a contract is signed that the gates will be kept closed every Sunday.

Sabbath Observance workers and others made the Sunday open fair in Ohio such a failure that it is not likely to be repeated.

The Call to Prayer Leaflets, Sabbath Pledge cards and all kinds of literature can be secured from Mrs. V. F. Cox, Tabor, N. J., or from your State Superintendent, at 10 and 15 cents per 100 leaflets.

KATIE WERT HOLLER,
State and Associate National Supt. Sabbath Observance.

The death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Balch, at 1514 Vernon avenue, Louisville, Ky., and took their beautiful little Beulah. The desolation in that home is great. Deep is the grief of the devoted parents, grandmother and "Auntie Wood." Our hearts ache for them. We know only too well how this wonderfully bright, affectionate little birdling had nestled close to their hearts. The MESSAGE extends sympathy to the stricken ones.

JUDGE C. A. POLLOCK ON PROHIBITION.

Extracts from a speech at a union temperance meeting of the Methodist conference and Presbyterian synod at Jamestown, North Dakota:

In the absence of our regular official channel of gathering statistics it becomes largely a matter of personal judgment whether or not the prohibitory law has proven a success. The angle of vision, the self-interest of the party speaking, was likely to largely color his statements.

With this thought in mind, having received a letter from a prominent citizen of Mississippi relative to the merits of the prohibitory system, the Legislature of that State then having before it for discussion a statewide prohibitory measure, Judge Pollock wrote to several prominent citizens of the State, of long residence and widely scattered as to location, persons of very high personal and official standing, whom he believed were in touch with public affairs, and therefore competent to speak.

The inquiries made from Mississippi covered the following points: "Measure of enforcement; effect on the moral welfare of the people, especially the rising generation; effect on crime, and the general sentiment of the people concerning a retention of the law."

The Judge stated that all the answers received were remarkable in their unanimity as to the favorable working of the law. In some cases word came from persons who did not and do not in principle favor the prohibitory system, and yet conceded its working a success. Without being able to quote the letters in full, he gave the following statements made by the several writers referred to:

U. S. Senator Henry C. Hansbrough, of Devil's Lake: "I am thoroughly convinced that the abolition of the open saloon in our State has done wonderful work from the standpoint of morality and economy for our people. I can recall the time in territorial days when the saloon was the principal institution in many of our towns, and all classes of people went in and out and thought nothing of standing at the bar with ladies and children passing along the sidewalks.

All this has been done away with under our prohibition law, and I do not believe the people of North Dakota, if they should ever be given an opportunity to vote upon the question, would put themselves on record in favor of the return of the saloon. The law has been enforced to an extent which has been highly beneficial to our people, and there has been a great lessening of crime. I know a great many who cannot be said to be prohibitionists who nevertheless would never cast their ballot in favor of a return of the saloon."

Congressman B. F. Spalding, Fargo: "My estimate of the result would be that in the eastern part of the State the sale of spiritous and malt liquors does not exceed in amount more than one-fourth the sale prior to the enactment of prohibitory legislation, and that the consumption of such liquors is not more than 40 per cent of its consumption prior to prohibition. Not nearly so favorable results appear in the western part of the State. The effect of prohibition has been an improvement of the moral welfare of the people, and it certainly makes it more difficult and less respectable for the rising generation to obtain or use it. It has lessened crime. In my opinion the general sentiment of the people favors the retention of the law."

Congressman Thomas F. Marshall, Oakes, N. D.: "Referring to your inquiry relative to the enforcement of the prohibitory law in this State, will say, the law seems to me to be as well enforced as other similar laws. The matter of enforcement depends to a great extent on local sentiment, and I believe the territory where prohibition sentiment prevails is being extended in this State. To my mind, the most striking benefit resulting from the prohibitory law lies in the practical absence of open saloons, which will have a very great influence for good with our boys and young men of the State, and will, in turn, greatly strengthen the cause of prohibition in the near future."

Ex-Congressman M. N. Johnson, Petersburg: "The results of twelve years of prohibition have been good. Classifying rum selling as a crime makes it repulsive. While not well enforced in some places, and not an absolute preventive, its tendency is like other laws against vice and crime, diminution and extermination of the evils aimed at. I consider our educational endowment (probably worth fifty millions) our most precious heritage, in so far as we owe nothing to human legislation. Our next and most valuable asset in the State, I think, is our prohibition law. These are the foundation of our future greatness. The people of the State are more emphatic than ever in favor of prohibition."

Justice Newman C. Young, of Fargo, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, now a resident of Fargo, was, before going on the bench, a long time resident of the Seventh district, and was for several years the prosecuting attorney of Pembina County, in that district. He says:

"In my opinion the results of the prohibition law in this State have been decidedly satisfactory to the friends of the law and emphatically unsatisfactory to those who believe in the open saloon. The middle class, who believe in good morals and good citizenship, but doubted the efficacy of the remedy, are constantly moving toward an attitude of friendliness to the present law. As to its enforcement, in my judgment, barring the extreme western part of the State, which has peculiar conditions, will say that offenders against its conditions meet with as certain and speedy punishment as offenders against other laws, and I may say this enforcement is due to the increasing sentiment in favor of the law, which demands of public officers a full performance of their duty. The general moral effect upon the State has been marked, and in every branch and department of society and government. The demand for a better class of officers in township, village, city, county and State has followed gradually. Our villages are better governed. Instead of being run by saloons and saloon influence, a better element is in control, and streets and public places are fit for the presence of women and children. For twelve years the boys of the State have been free from the pernicious influence of the profanity, vulgarity and criminality of the open saloon. The result is that they are more under home influence, have more time to read and form habits and character based upon a more exalted idea of the value and purpose of human life than can be drawn from the bestial influence of the licensed saloon. During my four years' service as State's attorney of Pembina County I had some experience in the enforcement of the law. A good lesson had to be given in the first instance, and since that time there have been few convictions, and in fact few prosecutions, no occasion existing; they had received their just deserts, found the law would work, and that it did not depend wholly on public sentiment for its enforcement. I know there have been fewer crimes of any kind in the county since—probably one prosecution where there were five before. The sentiment in that county has grown steadily in favor of the law, and from personal knowledge I can say that this is also true of Cavalier (Continued on second page.)

MARCH, 1903.

GENERAL OFFICERS AND BRANCH SECRETARIES.

OFFICERS, 1902-1903.

President—Mrs. Eunice P. Wilson, R. R. 16, Jonesboro.
Vice-President—Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, Richmond, R. R. 1.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. Hattie Wright Brand, 1403 Ashland avenue, Indianapolis.

Recording Secretary—Mrs. Mattie Cammack-Gibson, Jonesboro.
Treasurer—Miss Alice R. Palmer, Franklin.

BRANCH SECRETARIES.

General Secretary Young Woman's Branch—Miss Clara M. Sears, 222 West 14th street, Anderson.

General Secretary L. T. L. Branch—Mrs. Ida Mix, Kokomo.

Our State Treasurer, Miss Alice Ruth Palmer, of Franklin, has charge of all the business management of the MESSAGE. In regard to subscriptions or failure on the part of any member to receive the MESSAGE, communicate with Miss Palmer. We have earnestly endeavored to have the subscription lists entirely accurate so that every regular member would receive the paper. Any failure is greatly regretted by Miss Palmer and by the editor.

The Funeral Ritual of the Huntington W. C. T. U. is recommended by the State Central Committee for general use in all Unions. The Huntington Union has been asked to keep a sufficient number of copies on hand to supply the Unions. For sample copies, price, etc., write to Mrs. Lou E. Rall, Huntington. All rights to publication reserved by the Huntington Union.

LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION.

It has been almost four months since meeting at Huntington. In many ways the L. T. L. Convention was a great disappointment to me, and I came away from that meeting greatly impressed that something must be done in Indiana for the Senior Loyal Temperance Legion. Several of the Legions have members ready for diplomas, and others have members who would be glad to study for one. Won't you give especial attention to the Senior work for the rest of this year? You understand that all Legioners over twelve years of age are Seniors, but only those holding diplomas are entitled to vote in State Convention or hold State office. Those of you who attended the Huntington Convention will remember what a serious time we had to secure our present officers, and I plead with you, for the sake of our State, for the sake of the work, put your energies into the Senior work and bring big graduating classes and voting delegations to our next Convention. Unless you do, the work will not advance any during this year. If you do not now understand how to proceed, secure through your State Secretary, Mrs. Mix, of Kokomo, or through the W. T. P. A., the leaflets and literature necessary to enlighten yourself in regard to the work. Please let me hear from all those local secretaries having Senior Legioners before another month shall have passed, so that I may know what the outlook for our State Legion is.

EDITH HILLIS,
State L. T. L. President.

Y. W. C. T. U.

Miss Rena Day is President of the new Y. W. C. T. U. at Jonesboro, organized by Mrs. Mattie Cammack-Gibson the 26th of December. They began with ten members, and we trust by the fall Convention they may have such a gain that they will receive the State Y. Banner.

Anderson Y.'s and W.'s arranged for a Parlor meeting in the Y. M. C. A. Parlors on Saturday afternoon, February 7, to which quite a number of ladies responded, and appreciated the eloquent address given by Mrs. Maria Weed on Sabbath evening. She occupied the pulpit in the Presbyterian Church. The large audience spoke in the highest terms of her work.

Anderson Y.'s Clipping Contest closed on the 8th, after six weeks' work. The judges found 29½ yards of clippings, and they reported 1,110 arrests. Think of what the arrests must be in a year from Alcohol! Dear girls, let us do all we can to put it down.

I have requested the Y.'s in the State to send me reports of their work, so I can have it for our Y. column in the MESSAGE, but they do not respond as I wish they would.

Treasurer Miss Palmer sends the list of the Unions which paid dues the first quarter, Fredericksburg, Goshen and Anderson. Coloma Y.'s free will offering was $5.85; just think of that! We want to congratulate them.

South Bend's Y. President, Miss Showalter, has been quite ill, but is recovering now. Let us pray that she may soon be strong.

Remember, March 15th the half of our year has passed. It will be time to pay dues. Those whose dues become due in the second quarter, do not wait for the Treasurer to ask you, but you ask her if it is time for you to pay.

Mrs. Retta Jones, Madison County's President, accompanied the Y. Secretary to Summitville the 8th of February, where we hoped, after the evening service, we could organize, but no interest was shown to our cause, sorry to say.

Let us do our very best the rest of the year to organize new Y.'s and secure new members to our home Unions. Above all things, be much in prayer.

CLARA M. SEARS.

(Concluded from first page.)

County, and in my judgment is true of all counties east of the Missouri river. I think, if the question was left to a popular vote, 75 per cent of the voters would favor prohibition. I also think that the consumption of intoxicating liquors is not to exceed 25 per cent of what it was before prohibition. The great number of small towns and the absence of proper police protection in this State make the saloon dangerous and intolerable, and furnishes one of the chief arguments in favor of prohibition. Had I the time I would attempt to paint a picture of this State fifty years hence, when every village and hamlet will have its free library instead of the saloon, with homes of happiness and culture instead of pitiful poverty, moral, intellectual and financial (ruin) which always accompanies the open saloon. In a new State, with many different nationalities with selfish interests to counteract, with strong aid from the State government or from county officials in many instances, the law has increased in favor and effectiveness, so that with 12 years behind us so large a measure of success has come that those who believe in good order and good citizenship can feel assured that at least for conditions such as we have in this State our method is the best and promises much for the future of the State and its people."

Judge W. S. Lauder, Wahpeton: "I have no hesitancy in saying that the general results of the prohibition law in the State of North Dakota have been good. It is unfortunately true that the law has not been strictly observed in all places within the State, but these have been inhabited by people who are to a large extent unfriendly to a strict enforcement of the law. In the Fourth district, as a whole, the law has been fairly well enforced. It is my deliberate judgment that in this district, under prohibition, there has not been one-tenth as much intoxicating liquors sold as would have been sold under the license system. As a whole, the effect of the prohibition law on the moral welfare of the people has been good, especially on the rising generation, and there can be no possible question that because of the prohibition law crime has greatly decreased. As to the general sentiment of the people concerning retention of the law will say, in a few localities in this district on a test vote, a majority would be in favor of repeal, but in my opinion, taking the district as a whole, on a fair test, the vote would be largely in favor of retaining the law as it is. My observation leads me to believe that many persons who themselves habitually use intoxicating liquors would, if the question were again up, vote and work against the repeal of the law. While these persons drink liquor themselves, they do not, for the general good of the community, wish to see the saloons again established in North Dakota."

No class of men have so much influence upon the people of a community as the editors. They speak to us daily upon all important questions. Hear what George B. Winship, editor of the Grand Forks Herald, writes under date of Feb. 12, 1902:

"The morals of the people have improved. Were it necessary I could cite numerous instances of the moral improvement of families and neighborhoods which formerly were in a low, degraded state, owing to the proximity of saloons. The beneficial effect upon the rising generation cannot be estimated. There are thousands of children in this State who have never seen a saloon or public drinking place. Crime has materially lessened in the past decade, especially in the minor degrees, such as street brawls, fights and general disorderly conduct. Public sentiment is certainly three to one in favor of the retention of the law. Prohibition in North Dakota is here to stay."

The following written me from Washington during the temporary absence of Major A. W. Edwards, of Fargo, is so characteristic of the whole souled editor who is known to more people in the State perhaps than any other man, I insert in its entirety. It speaks volumes:

"WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 15, 1902.

"DEAR JUDGE—Your inquiry, addressed to Fargo, followed me here. Although thoroughly favorable to the proposition, I did not vote for the prohibition clause at the time of the adoption of the State constitution because I was impressed that Fargo, with over a half hundred licensed saloons, would have a number of empty buildings should prohibition prevail, and that many business men—of that kind—would be left without legitimate employment.

"As it happened, prohibition did prevail, and became a potent factor in our statehood.

"As a member of the General Assembly of 1895, sustained by personal observations of the workings of the law in North Dakota, when the question of resubmission came before the Legislature, I did what was possible to prevent a resubmission resolution being passed at that time. This I regarded as a turning point, and have never doubted either the righteousness of the cause or the people of our State. North Dakota is, beyond question, in favor of prohibition, and so am I, because it is right.

"The buildings made empty by the abolishment of the saloons have been turned into emporiums of trade—a credit to the city and to the people. Fargo, whatever may be her shortcomings in other directions, is a homelike city to live in, and I attribute it largely to the fact that the prohibition law is enforced as near perfectly as it is possible for humanity to walk in a straight line.

"I am convinced that the prohibition law is stronger in this State to-day than ever before, and that it will grow in the hearts of our people as time rolls on.

"I recall various arguments, admissions and demurrers promulgated by those adverse to the proposition. We often hear it asserted that the law is a farce because it is not enforced. Another says, 'Why, I know many places where saloons are run as wide open as under the license system.' Occasionally we hear it said: 'I would favor prohibition if it prohibited.'

"Sometime ago I read in what is called the Spirits and Wine Makers' Journal an article giving an account of the sales of spirituous liquors by States, and the assertion was made that in North Dakota the sales have been reduced 70 per cent since prohibition was adopted, and then the resubmissionists argue from that that the law is a farce because there is still 30 per cent of stimulants sold, as proven by government license, and therefore accurate. My answer to that is, as a prohibitionist, that, if prohibition has reduced the sales of spirits 70 per cent compared with license days, in the face of the growing population, we ought to feel proud of that record, considering the sort of merchandise and the kind of merchants within our borders handling the same.

"I am glad that prohibition is a part of the fundamental law of North Dakota. Our people are benefited. I have four boys who never saw an open saloon in North Dakota, and proud to say that, in my judgment, they never will."

SCHOOL SAVINGS BANKS.

I have sent out Literature on School Savings Banks to a number of you, hoping to hear from you, and have just received a new supply. I believe we ought to try this year to do something in this department, and then if, after faithfully trying, we fail, I will think we are not ready for it in Indiana and be willing to close the Department. We must reach the school principals and bankers, and this can be done by you and no one else. A personal appeal from the President of the Union, if you have no Superintendent, will accomplish more than a package of Literature will from me. Every town that has a bank and graded school ought to have an appeal to the officials of these. Let any President who will try, send me a card, and I will send her a sample package of Literature. Let her study it carefully herself, then take it to the school and ask the Principal to read it; then call for it and talk the matter over with him—then take it to the banker and do the same thing. This will mean only a few hours of time, and it is surely worth that much effort. Send your name for literature as soon as you read this, and I will send it immediately. Let us do something along this line, or at least try.

CULLA J. VAYHINGER,
State Superintendent.

LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION.

Dear L. T. L. Workers: May you prove the truth of our National Golden Text for 1903 (Phil. 4:19), as you faithfully observe our daily concert of prayer at 7 P. M. Let us extend our work. First, by a brave effort to make all childless Unions realize that they cannot afford to be without Legions. Circulate Miss Willard's "Appeal to Mothers," urge the Unions to appoint a standing committee on L. T. L. work, to adopt the L. T. L. Normal Grade. Second, seek definite, practical co operation with junior church societies and Sabbath schools. Send to Miss Alice M. Guernsey, No. 17 Webster Place, East Orange, New Jersey, for leaflets prepared by a national committee for this purpose, price 5 cents per set. Superintendents to keep in touch with up-to-date methods and helps to be obtained from National and State L. T. L. Secretaries and from every available source. Miss Guernsey publishes a valuable little paper, "Loyal Temperance Legion Helper," price 10 cents for the eight monthly numbers issued annually. Consult the Young Crusader each month for practical suggestions. To increase the active membership, enlist the boys and girls in the work by offering them some recognition for good results. Hold red and blue membership contests. Institute fishing clubs. Let each Legion aim to double its active membership this year. Plan definitely to hold the children after they are secured by making the meeting so interesting that they will be unwilling to stay away. A program committee should carefully plan each meeting in advance, remembering that what the Legions are trained to do themselves will hold their interest far better than what is done for them. A Plan of Work committee should arrange to have always on hand some work by which the Legion itself or some outside object is to be benefited, as our L. T. L. room in the Frances E. Willard National Hospital, L. T. L. extension fund for planting and maintaining Legions in the mission portion of our own country and in our new foreign possessions. Mrs. Rice says, "I am very desirous that our Legions, both Junior and Senior, shall contribute to the Willard memorial organization fund by raising any amount that can be secured from 25 cents to $2.00. I know that such contributions will be especially gratifying to Mrs. Stevens, Miss Gordon and the other National officers, and they seem very fitting to me for the L. T. L." And then our own State Hadley Home needs our attention, and I am sure our donations, however small, would be thankfully received. The ways of working are so numerous and interesting that the Legion may be kept in a constant state of enthusiastic expectation. Have the meetings strictly parliamentary, while always breezy.

A crusade for honorary (adult) members, who pay ten cents a year, is a source of revenue, in addition to their interest when secured. Let the Legion arrange to render a brief program at a regular W. C. T. U. meeting, to be followed by an appeal for honorary members. Endeavor to collect from each Legioner the small amount of dues asked, five cents for State and the same amount for the National W. C. T. U. treasury. This to be sent through the same channel as the W. C. T. U. dues, to the local W. C. T. U. Treasurer, then the county, up to the State W. C. T. U. Treasurer. The success of this matter depends almost wholly upon the kindly persistency of the local Superintendents. Scarcely a child is so poor that he does not spend money for candy. Part of our mission is to teach the young people the joy of giving. Suggest ways for them to earn the small amount. One of the easiest methods is to allow each child who secures five honorary members to have the fee for one of these members to pay his own dues.

Remember our State Honor Roll. All Legions will be enrolled who pay dues on all pledged members.

More attention should be paid to our L. T. L. diploma and post graduate courses, as fully explained in the leaflet bearing this title. This includes work for both Juniors and Seniors.

Juniors should take thorough study as well as Seniors, and the requirements for obtaining the two Junior certificates and seals are not difficult. On Vol. 3, examination on Nos. 1 and 2, and the reading of Nos. 3 and 4; on Vol. 2, examination on the four numbers. The certificates can be obtained of the W. T. P. A., price two for five cents, the seals of Mrs. K. T. A. Straw, No. 306 Salisbury street, LaFayette, one cent each. The Junior examination questions need not be written, but oral, leaving each Superintendent to use the review questions at the close of each manual or to prepare questions of her own as she may choose.

SENIOR COURSE.—When twelve years old they are ready for Vol. 1, four books, the only study that will win the L. T. L. diploma. Examination questions and diplomas can be obtained for this course through the State L. T. L. Secretary. After the diploma is secured they are ready for the post graduate course. Graduate's dues are 25 cents, and must be sent direct to the State L. T. L. Treasurer, Nathan Lenfesty, at Marion, never to the State W. C. T. U. Treasurer.

The Organization Banner to the county for largest number of L. T. L.'s organized in the county was won by Mrs. Elnora Zent, Huntington County L. T. L. Secretary.

The Willard-Gordon Banner, for greatest amount of L. T. L. dues, and the new banner, for largest graduate class, were won by the Kokomo Legion. Now let each County Secretary try for the Organization Banner and each Legion strive to win one or both the other banners. The report blanks have been sent out to the County Secretaries as far as I have been able to secure their names, and to the local where there is no county organization. Now if there are any county or local leaders who have not received their blanks, please drop me a postal card and I will forward them by return mail. Yours for a big report for quarter ending March 15, 1903.

IDA M. MIX,
L. T. L. Secretary.

The Williamsport Index says: "The New Voice is in more senses than one the best paper in the world. It is generally regarded as a Prohibition newspaper. It is that, but it is more. It is as actual a necessity to the free institutions of our country—aye, to the country itself—as is the lighthouse to the mariner at sea. It points out the rocks and shoals, and it provides a way of escape. It is an inspiration to the weak and the disheartened wherever it goes. Subscribe to the New Voice." Price $1.50 per year. To new subscribers 50c. Address The New Voice Company, Hyde Park, Chicago, Ill.

Our National Superintendent of Legislation, Mrs. Margaret Dye Ellis, will be at 522 Sixth street, N. W., Washington, D. C., during the session of Congress. Mrs. Ellis is the medium at our National Capitol through which the W. C. T. U. gets official information. She is doing a wonderful work for the temperance cause.

OUR VICE-PRESIDENT.

She served us long, and she served us well,
Always glad the good tidings to tell;
Faithful to Local, County and State,
Always moving at the same easy gait;
But now of her wedding we must tell,
And how in the future she'll help, none can tell.
Only yet to-day we may call her Miss Hadley,
To-morrow—Hall it will be;
But Hadley, or Hall, or whatever it will,
She is our own dear Mary still,
And, knowing the Doctor as we do,
We are quite sure that the W. C. T. U.
Band has not lost Mary, but gained him too.
So, much joy to Mary and Doctor Hall,
This I can say in behalf of us all.

—ETHEL E. BAIR.

PRIZES OFFERED IN MERCY DEPARTMENT.

How many are ready to begin the new year with a resolve to do just a little to teach the world to be kinder, to usher in His Kingdom? Just a little effort on your part may start a wave of influence that may be felt for years to come, for it is the small things of life that count for so much. When we are making our resolves for this year of 1903 let us all say, "I will be kinder than I have been, and I will try to spread the gospel of kindness." Then let us be on the alert for opportunities to carry this into effect, for resolves are worthless unless put into action. Shall I give you a hint how to do this? First, have a Superintendent of Mercy appointed in your Union. If you feel like doing the work, offer yourself. There is nothing like willing service. Then send the name and address to me and I will send you some sample literature. Next try and get some of your ministers to preach a sermon on "Kindness to God's Creatures." See how many you can get to preach, and go to hear them and ask others to go. To the Superintendent who has the largest number of sermons preached I will give as a prize one dozen "Black Beauty" books.

Then try earnestly to get signatures to the Bird Pledge. To the Superintendent securing the largest number of names I will give six "Dicky Downy" books. These books can be given out during the next year's work, and will help wonderfully in spreading the gospel of kindness. Send to me for a Bird Pledge at once and begin. Oh! if we could only teach women that the adornment of a loving and kindly soul is far more beautiful than the wings and bodies of dead songsters, what a song of rejoicing we could utter. Every sad cry of a murdered bird or moan of pain uttered by one of our dumb fellow creatures retards the coming of Christ's kingdom here on earth.

Dear sisters, let us be first in wiping out sorrow and suffering and ushering in a reign of love.

LOU E. RALL,
State Superintendent.

The W. C. T. U. of Lancaster County, Pa., publishes a four page monthly paper, Our Message, which is a great help to the constituency. Will one of our Indiana counties soon need a paper of its own?

Dear Sisters—I hope you will read my report with much interest, and if you and your Union has not sent donation please do so and be reported next month. We have been compelled to borrow money to make some settlements. We hope we will not have to do this again. Let each Union do her part this year by holding a contest or sending donation of some amount. Let us begin this New Year of 1903 to do more active work for our Industrial School. If each Union will promise to help, we will close the year's work successfully. May the Lord help us all to do our part.

Yours for service,
REBECCA HESSONG.

FIELD NOTES.

Greencastle Union held a non-alcoholic meeting on the evening of Feb. 3 at the home of Mrs. John B. DeMotte. Mrs. A. T. Whitson, State Superintendent of the department, was the guest of the evening. She read an excellent and most practical paper on Non-Alcoholic Medication, followed by a conversation led by Miss Minnetta Theodora Taylor. Much interest and enthusiasm was manifested in the discussion of the per cent of alcohol in patent medicines. Hon. Charles Newlin was present and made some very happy and helpful remarks. The singing of White Ribbon songs was led by Mr. Roy Naftzger, cornetist, and Mr. Ross Baker, violinist. Chorus singing by young men, Miss Badger pianist, was enjoyed. John B. DeMotte, Jr., as literature distributor, supplied each guest with two leaflets on the subject of the evening and for a souvenir gave each person a picture of Lady Henry Somerset printed on enamel paper. Refreshments were served, seven new members secured, and although it was very dark and rainy, about seventy persons were present. Mrs. Whitson's coming was beneficial to the Union.

On Sunday evening, February 15, Dr. Homer J. Hall gave an address for our Union, in the Christian church, on "The Gospel of Health." Notwithstanding the terrible blizzard a goodly number of people were present. The doctor speaks on "No Alcohol in Medicine" from a practitioner's standpoint. His lecture was fine, convincing and strong. The following Tuesday evening, February 17, Miss Willard's heavenly birthday, the regular meeting of the Union was held at Woman's Hall (college boarding hall for girls.) Mrs. Hattie Wright Brand, our State Corresponding Secretary, was present and in an appropriate and beautiful manner paid tribute to Miss Willard and then gave out an address on the "Fulcrum of Success," which did great credit to the cause she represented and won for herself strong words of commendation. The Union reports over one hundred regular and about thirty honorary members. In less than one month many of these were secured, one member securing thirty-two regular and eight honorary members.

We are proud of our public school system, the grandest in the world. Yet for every dollar we spend for education, we spend fully $25 for drink. If some vile fiend should land at Portland, Me., to-night at midnight, and with a torch should ignite every school building as far west as Portland, Ore., so that when to-morrow morning's sun arose it would behold nothing but ashes in the spots where our citadels of learning stood to-day, it would be a sad calamity. And yet the drink money of this Christian land for fifty-two weeks would rebuild every educational structure better than it was before.—Geo. F. Hall.

Mrs. Jennie Bradford, President of Jonesboro Union, is planning a scientific temperance meeting, as Superintendent of this department, to be held at night in one of the churches. There will be many special invitations. A good program will be rendered.

The Martinsville Union has finished a most successful year's work. Since its organization in 1888 great interest and growth have been manifested in many lines of the temperance cause. There is a membership of 48 earnest workers—persons of high ideals, with the stamina to carry them through any difficulties. While this organization is conscious that it fails to accomplish all it would like, yet the marked degree of success achieved is sufficient to repay for all the time and energy spent, and sufficient to inspire greater efforts in behalf of the future.

The success of the meetings is due to the arrangement of an interesting and instructive program. These programs are planned a year in advance, two for each month. At each meeting, well prepared papers are read and freely discussed by those present, and important points of the work carefully considered—in short, the Union is a society where all enjoy the social privileges and secure to themselves and their friends that whetting of mind against mind which has so much to do with mutual culture and enlightenment. Well do they realize that the work of the members is an important part of their school life, affording opportunities that make their lives broader, more responsive to the interests of others, more truly womanly. While credible work has been accomplished in the different departments, time forbids particular mention of any save a new feature of the work undertaken several months ago. Thoroughly imbued with the missionary spirit and realizing the conditions and needs of many who are outside the ordinary means of grace, the Union conceded the idea of establishing a mission on the West Side. Since the story of any mission is a history of God's method of saving souls, the knowledge of the work opened the hearts of these workers to their new duty. For this purpose a three-room cottage was rented in this locality and a large Sunday School organized under an able Superintendent, supported by a consecrated body of teachers. Mid-week services are conducted by friends and the several pastors of the city. Surely the inspiration to live for others and seek to incarnate the life of Jesus in every heart, home and locality is plainly visible.

This school, known as the West Side Mission, has been the means of reaching out and gathering in the children of this part of the city and creating within them more love for, more sympathy with and the desire to know more of Sunday School work and church. The classes are large and interesting, and recently the enrollment reached one hundred. A motherly kindness is shown the children and much happiness is added to their lives by taking them, in summer, a day into the country with well filled baskets of luncheon. This winter an interesting program and a Christmas treat were prepared for them. Great progress marks the work, and the results have been helpful and influential to the best interests of the community. A very strong statement in regard to the work was made by a minister, who said that this work was accomplishing more good than all the churches in the city. Great earnestness and fixedness of purpose are the characteristics of the Union, and the resolution of the present is to do better work during the new year than ever before.

JOSEPHINE MAXWELL.

The Richmond Frances E. Willard Union held memorial services at their temple, on the 13th of February, in honor of our dear beloved sister, Frances E. Willard. There was a good attendance. The meeting was opened by reading a selection of Miss Willard's. After singing, "Some Glad Day," and a season of prayer, the roll was called, and most all responded to some beautiful quotation of her life. Two dollars will be forwarded to the Willard memorial fund. Our Union has arranged a program so that each Superintendent will hold a special meeting once a month, to be made interesting by songs, recitations and a special prepared paper on the subject given. We think this a wise plan, and see many unions are doing the same. We are happy also to announce that we are to have a matron's contest soon. It will take place on the 25th of February at Rhoda Temple. Also a jubilee meeting, to be held on the 20th of February. This meeting is to be a rejoicing together, because the last debt on our temple has been paid. A special program has been prepared. A review of the work will be given and an explanation of the great work being done now by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. We hope for a long list of new members. Refreshments will be served.

The Wabash W. C. T. U. held a very profitable meeting at the home of Mrs. O. P. Lines. The first half hour was spent in song and prayer for a revival of Christian activity in our city, after which considerable business was transacted.

The Howard County officers of the W. C. T. U., President, Secretary and Treasurer, together with the Board of Superintendents of all the departments, met in all day session Tuesday, February 3, in the local W. C. T. U. hall in Main street, discussed plans of work and decided to hold the next County Institute at New London, March 19 and 20.

The Plainfield W. C. T. U. held a most successful mass temperance meeting Sunday evening, January 18, at the Friends' church. All the local churches united in making the temperance meeting a success and had a crowded house. Services opened with a song by the audience, followed by a solo by members of Baptist church. Scripture reading, followed by quartet from the Methodist church. Prayer service next followed, preceded by singing by a quartet from the Christian church. The Rev. Peter W. Raidabaugh lectured on temperance in a most interesting and impressive manner, after which a duet was rendered by representatives of the Friends' church. A liberal collection was taken. All felt it had been a helpful meeting.

The Kokomo W. C. T. U. held a very interesting meeting at the residence of Mrs. Emma E. Dixon. About twenty ladies were present. A Bible reading was given by Mrs. Emily Ellis on the "Equipment for Christian Work." First, one needs physical strength. Second, knowledge of the truth. Third, the illumination of the Holy Spirit, and, last, love or charity. It was very helpful and instructive. The ladies feel that these Bible lessons are a source of great strength.

The Fowlerton W. C. T. U., organized by Mrs. Cammack-Gibson in December, is steadily growing, and they are ready to organize an L. T. L., and she is going on the 7th of February to so organize and give her lecture on "Five Boys in Knee Pants."

Deer Creek observed their anniversary February 10, and Mrs. Cammack-Gibson gave a reading from Miss Willard's "How I Learned to Ride the Bicycle." She gave this, with comments, at the Grant County executive committee meeting with County Superintendents present and it was so acceptable she was asked to repeat it.

Dr. Bronardel, dean of Paris Medical Faculty, says there is high authority that most of tuberculosis is due to alcohol.

By request of the National Superintendent of Non-Alcoholics, Mrs. Martha M. Allen, I have just mailed to every Superintendent of this department whose name and address I have, a copy of her circular letter. She requests that this circular letter be read in your Union at its next meeting. Where no name has been given as Superintendent of this department, I have sent it to one of the officers of the Union. I enclosed to each Union a quarterly blank, to be filled out by the Union if there is no Superintendent. Will you please note premium offer in February MESSAGE, and I am sure you will return the blank well filled out by March 25. Blanks were not received in time for me to send them out last quarter, so please make this report cover six months instead of three. I also enclosed to you a copy of "The Doctor's Day Off." You will find this quite entertaining, and I hope each Union will give it. A door fee will provide funds for carrying on the work. Try it and report success. We owe it to ourselves, we owe it to our communities, to be informed on this subject, and then push the work. Dr. Chambers, physician to the Prince of Wales, says that "with the common wine treatment in typhoid fever the deaths are one in five; without wine, one in forty."

AMANDA T. WHITSON,
State Superintendent.

The Huntington Union has made arrangements to have Mrs. Maria Weed, of Chicago, with them for three days to help crystallize public opinion on the anti-polygamy measure to come before Congress.

A week's temperance revival, with Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley as the drawing card, will shake the citizenship of Huntington in February. Andrews, College Park Union and, perhaps, Roanoke also will engage her.

A temperance revival at Farmington, Wash. Col. Holt, the national W. C. T. U. lecturer and organizer, has been conducting a series of lectures with great success, having received over 200 signers of the pledge and organized the W. C. T. U. with nearly 50 members. One saloon keeper has left for parts unknown and the new mayor has ordered the other saloon keeper to close his place. The saloon element hung Col. Holt in effigy a few nights ago and placed a card upon same, warning him to leave town under penalty of death, but Col. Holt wasn't bluffed.

Benton County held their annual convention September 23 and 24 at Otterbein. Miss Ruth Palmer rendered valuable service by the delivery of a fine address to a large audience the first night. The second night was given to a gold medal contest; proceeds, $15.06. Following were the officers for the year: Mrs. Amanda Smith, County President; Mrs. Mattie Kiger, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. Sadie Lewis, Recording Secretary; Mrs. Violet Shettle, Treasurer; Mrs. Phoebe Kolb, Superintendent of Evangelistic Work, Oxford; Mrs. Geo. Jennings, Purity, Templeton; Mrs. Anna Eberly, Non-Alcoholic Medication, Boswell; Mrs. Sadie Lewis, S. T. L., Oxford; Mrs. Bettie Smith, Contest, Boswell; Mrs. Lon. Alexander, Systematic Giving, Talbot; Mrs. Bugbee, Mothers' Meetings, Lochiel; Mattie Kiger, Christian Citizenship, Oxford; Mrs. Wachtol, Otterbein; Mrs. C. Madox, Sabbath Observance, Otterbein; Mrs. Florence Smith, Parliamentary, Otterbein; Mrs. V. L. Anderson, Franchise, Oxford; Mrs. McKinney, Anti-Narcotics, Otterbein; Mrs. Geo. Jennings, L. T. L., Templeton; Mrs. A. Pelham, Flower Mission, Oxford.

Side by Side for Fifty Years.—Dr. and Mrs. Lewis Kern celebrated their golden wedding Tuesday, January 20. Many relatives, neighbors and friends called at their beautiful home in South Kokomo during the day and evening to congratulate them upon the attainment of the fiftieth year of happy domesticity and to leave with this venerable and widely esteemed couple some token in remembrance of their golden wedding anniversary. Mrs. Kern has been a member of the Kokomo Woman's Christian Temperance Union ever since its organization. She was at one time President of the County W. C. T. U., and is now President of the South Kokomo W. C. T. U. The North Kokomo W. C. T. U., through its President, Mrs. Ida Mix, presented to Mrs. Kern a beautiful framed picture of Miss Frances Willard, and the South Kokomo W. C. T. U. presented her with a golden brooch.

Bloomington has a Superintendent of Literature, Mrs. Amelia Gilmore, who has served for eighteen years, sowing the temperance gospel in Monroe County. One woman's efforts mean much, especially when working systematically along definite lines.

The Indianapolis Frances E. Willard Union held a memorial service in memory of Frances Willard at the home of Mrs. Dr. Williams, February 10. The meeting was opened by singing her favorite hymn, "Kindly Lead Us." Mrs. Medermeil read a paper on the earliest part of her life, followed by a paper by Mrs. Loftin. Program consisted of music and recitations. Refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

The Mary Hadley Y. W. C. T. U., of Terre Haute, was organized on Easter Sunday, 1902, by Miss Mary Hadley at Trinity M. E. church, Terre Haute, Ind. The society began work with 9 members, but they were all determined to make it a success. The growth of this Y has been slow, but we have sought the guidance of God in all we have done and he has blessed us in many ways. We have held one gold medal and one silver medal contest and both were very successful. We have held several gospel temperance meetings in and out of the city, and at present we hold a meeting on the last Saturday evening of each month at the Light House Mission. Our meetings are well attended and we believe we are doing some good. Our literature department is distributing a great deal of literature over the city, and at present they are visiting the barber shops and leaving some good temperance literature in each shop.

Our membership is growing slowly but surely; we now have twenty-five members and hope to double the number very soon, as a great many young people are becoming interested and expressing a desire to become members. Our Y has taken a stand against raising money by giving paid entertainments or socials and all our contests and meetings are free to every one, and we depend on free-will offerings for our expenses, and you would be surprised to know how well this plan works and how much more good we can do. We, as a Y, do not believe in raising money to carry on God's work in any way except by free-will offerings. All our departments are working as far as possible and we promise to let you know more of our work in the future.

Burlington W. C. T. U. meeting is held the first Thursday in each month at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. With Mrs. Alice Haneon as President, the Union is in a flourishing condition. We sent a New Year's box to Hadley Home, which contained many useful articles. No doubt it was greatly appreciated by our girls. The Lord bless the Home and every Union throughout the length and breadth of the land.

Mrs. Maria Weed, of Chicago, spent three days in Huntington the first of February and gave some interesting talks on Mormonism and Polygamy. Those who heard her were much pleased with her, and as a result the W. C. T. U. has obtained a vote on the seating of Elder Smoot and the proposed anti-polygamy amendment from every church in the place.

The Deer Creek Union celebrated its 12th anniversary at West Branch last Tuesday. Mrs. Gulie E. Shugart has been President since its organization and has presided over every meeting with the exception of one. The reunion was well attended and a fine program, consisting of speeches, solos, question box and recitations, was given. Rev. Harvey Ratliff gave the forenoon address, speaking on the subject of "Prohibition Twenty-five Years Ago." His address was very interesting and was discussed by Mrs. Robert Wilson, of Fairmount. Next on program was the opening of the well filled baskets, the contents of which were enjoyed very much. At the afternoon session the West Branch school attended in a body and sang two songs. They, with many others, were addressed by the State President, Mrs. Eunice Wilson, of Fairmount, giving a very interesting talk of her trip to the national convention. We were then favored with an address from our County and also Local President, Mrs. Gulie E. Shugart, which was very beneficial. There were several short speeches by Rev. Harvey Ratliff, Robert Wilson, Bennett Shugart, Rev. Couch, of Roseburg, and others. We also added one new member, Mrs. Hill Thompson. The entire program was a complete success.

Gas City Leads.—The Gas City Union had twelve members in 1901. In 1902 they gained eighteen, and now have thirty-one. Besides subscribing for the Union Signal ten weeks for all the members who were not taking it, they added to the club the ministers, doctors, editor, superintendent and principals of the schools, the mayor and councilmen and some others. We know of no better literature to distribute than the Signal. We held a mothers' meeting on the 10th at the home of one of the members. Twenty-five ladies were present. A good number joined in the discussion, "The Bible in the Home."

The Hartford City Union held a Frances E. Willard memorial service on the evening of the heavenly birthday of our promoted comrade. An interesting and pleasing program was rendered, consisting of music, recitations and songs by the children, short addresses and an excellent paper by Mrs. B. R. Waite. On the walls for decoration were the pictures of Miss Willard, which the Union has planned to present to the Hartford City public schools. The girls met every one at the door, and for a souvenir a little bow of white ribbon was pinned on. It was quite an inspiration to see an entire audience with the white ribbon on. We have been having a friendly contest for members. Last evening was the time for its close, and in the near future the finish of the plan will be carried out. The section that secured the most members with dues paid will furnish a parlor literary entertainment, and the defeated section the refreshments. As a result of the contest and a little hustle on the part of three or four women (for one woman secured seven members and one other twelve), we have an increase of membership of twenty-two.

LaPorte Union, at its last regular meeting, was made, by the reading of a letter from Miss Hobart, to rejoice over the welfare of its wards, who have been so kindly cared for at the Hadley Home for several years, and who have now been placed in Christian homes. As one sister expressed herself, "I knew that some of the many prayers offered for those dear girls would be answered." I, the writer of this item, will say, "Dear sisters of the W. C. T. U., let us not weary in well doing." The Union also observed the heavenly birthday of Frances E. Willard, February 17, and carried out the program, as given in the MESSAGE, as near as it could. It also raised the two dollars for the memorial fund for state and national work.

Memorial services on Miss Willard's heavenly birthday were held by four Terre Haute Unions—the Mount Rose, Mary Hadley Y, West Side and Frances Willard Y. Mrs. L. M. N. Stevens, our beloved National President, and Miss Anna Gordon, National Vice-President-at-Large, will be at Terre Haute in March.

IN MEMORIAM.

MARY I. STEVENSON—The Logansport Central Union has lost in Mrs. Mary I. Stevenson a true, tried and tested co-worker and the temperance cause a fearless, faithful, valiant, steadfast friend.

Mrs. Stevenson was called into the higher life the 7th of February, 1903, after a life of active Christian and temperance work, being one of the Crusaders that brought the temperance cause into such prominence and advanced it so much in public estimation. She was the first President of our Local Union, and continued through her life active in all works of righteousness.

A noble, conscientious mother, a kind and loving friend, and one who discharged all duties fearlessly and well, she has been called away from all sorrow and trouble into everlasting love and life eternal.

MRS. CHRISTENIA MONTGOMERY—Our beloved sister and former President, Mrs. Christenia Montgomery, fell asleep September 1, at her home in Edwardsport, Ind. We deeply feel the loss of her wise counsel and aid in our work for the Master. She was a charter member of our Union, which was organized in 1891. It can well be said: "She hath done what she could."

WALTER B. GEIST, the husband of our sister, Libbie Geist, and an honorary member of the LaPorte W. C. T. U., was laid to rest February 12th. God giveth his beloved sleep.

THE MESSAGE.

"Not by Might nor by Power, but by My Spirit."

VOL. VIII. No. 4.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., APRIL, 1903.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR.

CALL.

The Executive Committee of the Indiana Woman's Christian Temperance Union will meet in the city of Franklin, April 16 and 17, commencing at 2 o'clock P. M.
EUNICE P. WILSON.

The World's W. C. T. U. Convention will be held at Geneva, Switzerland, June 9-11. Indiana is entitled to five delegates. Will any Indiana White Ribboners in good standing, who anticipate taking this delightful trip and attending the great convention, please send their names immediately to the State President, that the delegation may be filled at the Mid-year Executive, which meets at Franklin, April 16 and 17.

INDIANA PRIZE WINNER.

The editors of the Union Signal offered three prizes for the best answers to ten questions in regard to the most pleasing and helpful features of the Signal. Of course Indiana carried off the first prize, which was $5.00. The winner was our "old reliable" in DuBois County, Mrs. M. L. Hobbs, Jasper, Ind.

Maine Legislature kills Resubmission of prohibitory amendment by a vote of two to one—Liquor interest relegated to oblivion.

The brewers played a sharp game when they caused the Lühring bill to be introduced in the Indiana legislature and were loud in their announcements of enough votes to carry, etc. This was a fine game. They did not expect it to pass, but to arouse our temperance people to action to save the remonstrance with power of attorney feature of the Nicholson law. We all worked. The churches worked everywhere. While thus busily at work on it, no aggressive amendments or temperance bills would be introduced. This fact was laughingly and exultantly admitted by one of the prominent men of the liquor league.

War of extermination continues against the Tennessee liquor traffic. Nine towns during the past week voted out the saloon by overwhelming majorities and with a vehemence that leaves no doubt as to the Tennessee mind. There were demonstrations rivaling presidential campaigns. The floodtide of prohibition is destined to sweep the entire State.

The statistical abstract of the United States, just published by the Bureau of Statistics of the Treasury Department, shows a remarkable increase in the consumption of intoxicating liquors during the past fiscal year. There was a great increase in the per capita consumption of malt liquors and in the per capita consumption of wines. The total consumption of intoxicating liquors in the United States has now reached almost twenty gallons per capita! This means an average of about twenty gallons per annum for every man, woman and child in the United States.

LIQUOR SELLING IN OUR NATIONAL CAPITOL BUILDING PROHIBITED.

During the closing hours of the fifty-seventh congress, which has just adjourned, the immigration bill was passed, with two prohibitory amendments which our temperance people have been advocating for years—the amendment forbidding the sale of liquor in immigrant stations, and the Landis amendment forbidding the sale of liquor in the capitol building. Much importance is attached to the passage of these prohibitory measures. They are two decisive steps towards divorcing the national government from its complicity with the liquor business.

Indiana temperance people delight to pay tribute to Hon. Chas F. Landis, one of our representatives in congress, through whose personal influence and work, liquor selling in our capitol building is prohibited. Mr. Landis led the forces against the seating of the Mormon Roberts. He made one of the ablest speeches ever heard in congress in defense of our American homes.

OF INTEREST TO LOCAL UNIONS

The Treasurer has on hand a number of large cards on which is printed the anti-tobacco law. These are on sale at 25 cents by the dozen. Please order. There are a few Willard stick pins at 10 cents each. Please order. Also a number of copies of the State song, words only, and the song named "A Call to Service." Membership cards are 25 cents a hundred. Please order of
ALICE RUTH PALMER.

"Whatever the weather may be," says he,
"Whatever the weather may be,
It's the songs ye sing, an' the smiles ye wear,
That's a-makin' the sun shine everywhere."
—James Whitcomb Riley.

Do not fail to hold at least one contest on the subject of Non-Alcoholic Medication. Suitable recitations can be found in this issue.

Y. W. C. T. U.

Miss Sears visited the Goshen "Y's," going February 24 and returning March 3, reorganizing the Goshen "Y's" into a "Somerset Y." We trust they will now be able to double their membership.

We hope every Y Union in the State will observe Mrs. Frances J. Barnes' birthday. Have a public meeting, song, recitations and a sketch of Miss Kara Smart's life, who is now our Y missionary in Japan. Take up a free will offering for the work, so we will be able to help do our part. Send this money to Miss Clara M. Sears and then it will all be forwarded to the custodian. If you want plans and help in regard to the meeting, write the Y secretary.

We hope every local treasurer has done her duty in trying to collect the dues and forward them promptly to the County Treasurer. And now only six months left for aggressive work. What will you do, dear Y, to push our cause and gather new forces for our beloved temperance work?

New Y organized at Oxford. Miss Bertha Howarth, Y Secretary; President, Miss Fannie Birt; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Edna Stambel; Recording Secretary, Vera Anderson; Treasurer, Miss Gladys Jarbough. Let us pray for them that God will bless the efforts put forth in His name and bring victory to those who engage in the work.

It was the pleasure of the Y Secretary to visit the Otterbein Y while in Benton County. An afternoon meeting was held by the W's in the home of Mrs. Florence Smith, quite a large number attending, also two ministers. The saloon problem was discussed, the women showing that they were willing to help.

Friday evening the Y's met at the home of Mr. Arthur McKims, where Miss Sears gave a talk on the popular evils of the day and departments of work most helpful to our cause. Elegant refreshments were served and the evening passed away all too quick. We trust the Y's will be more prompt in sending in their reports after this.

CLARA M. SEARS,
State Y Secretary.

OUR NATIONAL GUESTS.

Indiana is visited by our National President, Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens and Vice-President, Miss Anna A. Gordon. Great mass meetings are being held in their honor in the prominent cities of the State. Mrs. Hattie Wright Brand, Indiana's capable and energetic Secretary, arranged for their coming and accompanies them. Everywhere cordial and most enthusiastic welcome has been extended by the temperance people. The audiences have been large and representative.

Our queenly president has received an ovation wherever she has been. Her stateliness and splendid dignity have won the admiration of thousands of our Indiana people. As a speaker she is forcible and reliable. Her clear cut statements are always convincing. "Sweetness and strength, steadfastness and pliability are beautifully blended" in Lillian M. N. Stevens.

MRS. LILLIAN M. N. STEVENS,
President National W. C. T. U.

Miss Anna A. Gordon, our sweet-spirited Vice-President, has rare gifts of soul and mind. For years she was Miss Willard's private secretary and loved companion, accompanying her in her tour of the United States when she visited every city of 10,000 inhabitants and over, speaking for and organizing W. C. T. Unions. Many times also she accompanied Miss Willard in her tours abroad. She is our World's Secretary of the Loyal Temperance Legion. Miss Gordon is the author of the "Marching Songs" used so extensively in our L. T. L.'s all over the English-speaking world. She wrote "The Beautiful Life of Frances E. Willard" and numerous booklets and poems. Miss Gordon is the children's friend. She is the best loved of all White Ribboners by the boys and girls. Everywhere her coming is hailed with delight. Miss Gordon has a youthful appearance and carriage, and always dresses becomingly. When speaking to an audience she wears a gown of dainty color and texture and appears girlish. Her appearance and her charming personality is wonderfully attractive.

The coming into our State of these blessed women has stirred our hearts. We are anxious for more determined, aggressive warfare. It is a long and terrible war. Our soldiers are falling, many more must fall before it is won, but won it will be. The time depends upon the faith, courage and effort of each soldier. One by one the victories come. God help us to march on, fighting, until exultantly we hear the shout of victory over the closing of the last saloon in our land. Then may we all be able to join as victorious fighters in that glad hosanna!

PRESIDENT'S LETTER.

We have been expecting good results from our Institute work this spring. The youngest Union in Grant County entertained the convention, gained new members and helped a drinking man to find Christ. If each county could do as well, more than 700 new members would be added to our ranks. Our faithful Corresponding Secretary writes me "nearly every available field worker is in the field, besides the foreign talent we are using. Reports from the workers are encouraging. We will make a good gain in Indiana this year, if the local Unions will be careful to hold our present membership and try to gain more." I believe, dear hearts, the time has come that we should put forth our best efforts all along the lines. I feel sure the past years of seed sowing will reward us with a good harvest if we are faithful, but, dear ones, is not our cause worthy of our best?

The liquor dealers are not asleep. They are wide awake to their own interests—enticing our boys, using every method known to the trade, to create appetite in the unsuspecting and at the same time holding those already caught in their net.

A good mother said to me: "I am not uneasy about my son," and yet I knew the son worked in an office next door to a saloon, is employed by a man who rents the rooms to a saloon keeper. I know other mothers who are church members, but cannot be persuaded to join the W. C. T. U. and help to put temptation out of the children's way, yet some of the sons of those mothers have already started down the broad way, mother and son asleep to his danger and must be awakened. Have you and I time to try again? Let us feel that no sacrifice is too great; that we may have opportunity to speak out our protest against the worst enemy of our homes and country. While our lawmakers have not done all they should have done, we have gained some victories the past winter along reform lines in our State and Nation. Let everyone take courage; with God for our leader, we shall be more than a match for our enemy.

EUNICE P. WILSON.

GENERAL OFFICERS AND BRANCH SECRETARIES.

OFFICERS, 1902-1903.

President—Mrs. Eunice P. Wilson, R. R. 16, Jonesboro.
Vice-President—Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, Richmond, R. R. 1.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. Hattie Wright Brand, 1403 Ashland avenue, Indianapolis.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. Mattie Cammack-Gibson, Jonesboro.
Treasurer—Miss Alice R. Palmer, Franklin.

BRANCH SECRETARIES.

General Secretary Young Woman's Branch—Miss Clara M. Sears, 222 West 14th street, Anderson.
General Secretary L. T. L. Branch—Mrs. Ida Mix, Kokomo.

July 4 comes on Saturday this year. Plan now for your annual temperance picnic. Secure grounds, speakers and musicians very soon. This is the month to make all the arrangements. Do not delay. Offer prizes for the best orations on a given subject. Work hard for success. At Eaton, under the leadership of Mrs. Lydia Carmichael, and in Union County, under the leadership of Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, great work has been accomplished through the picnics. The famous temperance speakers of America have been on their programs. How did they do it? Write and ask them.

A person who has strength of character has an influence. A discreet, sweet-spirited Christian woman, who is informed as to the extent, plans and purposes of the organized liquor forces has great influence in her home, her neighborhood and in her church.

Does your Union hold interesting and instructive meetings? If not, you cannot hope to receive the support of thinking people. The time is past of the W. C. T. U. meetings being held without an educational program. The W. C. T. U. membership must be informed upon the great departments of our organization and upon the extent and power of the liquor dealers' organization and its relation to our civic, State and National government. In order that the liquor traffic be overthrown, the individual effort of every Christian woman is in demand. To be of service to her home, her church and her country, in this awful conflict, she must have intelligent enthusiasm. How can she secure this? By reading the Union Signal, the New Voice and the Patriot Phalanx. "But," she says, "we take so many newspapers now that I just cannot read them." Yes, she does. Look at the matter squarely, please. Every Christian woman believes that the saloon ought to "go." When this belief deepens into conviction, then she will seek information and according to the amount of her information will she be interested and wield an influence.

SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

I regret that this, my first letter, comes to you so late in the year, but sickness prevented an earlier communication. Last year's report for this department was especially satisfactory, and your hearty co-operation enabled us to take the prize offered by the National Superintendent.

Love for God will be our central thought this year, and our special effort will be to induce others to join with us in obeying the commandment, "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy."

In their mad rush for pleasure seeking and money getting, men are unconsciously losing one of the greatest privileges of this civilized country, that of a guaranteed right to one day's rest in every seven.

If it were not for the knowledge of serving God we could do no greater service for man than to keep for him this privileged day. Doing for others makes us forgetful of self and our hearts tender and loving toward the Father.

The Sabbath Observance Department is a pleasure, therefore, as well as a service. It is not our province to compel others to be good, but to help the thoughtless to do better and to assist those who are denied this God given day for rest and worship.

Organization strengthens the weak and develops the talents of those who are strong. "In union there is strength" is an old but true saying, since one has a genius for organization, another for leadership, another for service, etc. When combined, these forces make a mighty host. Many a general in the army, who has led a gallant charge upon the enemy because he was supported by the regiment, might have been utterly helpless had he been left to the task alone. Our talents complement each other, so that, working together, we can do much better than it would be possible for each to do alone.

As a special work this year, an effort will be made to counteract the effect of Sunday excursions, which are now so popular everywhere. On one Sunday, last summer, excursion trains leaving South Bend took 1,500 persons to Indianapolis, 400 to Chicago and 500 to St. Joseph, Mich., while about 500 more were unable to go for lack of car service. On the same day, of five leading churches visited, two were found closed and the other three had less than 600 worshippers. Is it any wonder that a leading railroad president (who, by the way, is a church member and a professing Christian), became indignant and refused to heed the request of Sabbath Observance workers who desired of him not to have his road run Sunday excursions? Public sentiment must be educated up to the point of non-patronage before the roads will heed our requests.

In the north of Ireland there is a society of 27,000 members all pledged not to travel on Sunday unless under compulsion. If Indiana had such an organization what a mighty work we could do. Literature, showing the evil effects upon the individual, the punishment for disobedience to God, and the reward for faithful observance, should be freely distributed. Short sighted railroad officials, eager to declare large dividends, forget that men who are compelled to labor without taking the natural one day's rest in seven (and God's law is only the natural law), become incompetent because of broken down constitutions and shattered nerves, and cause so many of the great disasters which result in the loss of life and property. The gain by Sunday traffic is thus frequently offset by loss in damages. Merchants, too, who welcome the ingress of people by Sunday excursions, fail to realize that the egress is correspondingly great, with the result of always a moral loss to the community and no financial gain to any one. At the same time, the earning power of the excursionist is lessened because of the lack of the necessary Sunday rest. We should impress upon the public mind the truth that a God loving and a God serving people are a prosperous and a happy people.

The other special work that we would urge for this year is Sabbath Observance pledge signing in the Sunday Schools. Since we have been Superintendent of the Department upwards of 2,400 persons have signed the Sabbath Observance pledge, including the clause "not to travel on Sunday." We urge the importance of this work. Enlisting the children of to-day will insure us the men and women of the future.

Always keep the State Sabbath laws before the public, for the State law should go hand in hand with the Divine law, and should educate the people upward instead of downward. Everybody believes in Sabbath observance, but still it is necessary to have a State law against Sabbath desecration.

In every great educational work literature has an important part. My final word, therefore, is, distribute much literature.

Our lecturer, Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, is doing excellent work. Write her for terms and dates. Her address is Liberty, R. R. 1. She needs no introduction to Indiana people. KATIE WERT HOLLER.

NOTES FROM THE STATE SUPERINTENDENT.

It is an established fact that the physicians who do not use alcohol seldom lose a case of typhoid fever. Dr. Homer J. Hall, of Franklin, has made a fine record in the treatment of this disease.

The prescribing of alcoholics by physicians can be described by no weaker word than laziness. It does not cure, but acts as an anesthetic.—Elmer Kee-ler, M. D.

Every Union should own a copy of "Alcohol a Dangerous and Unnecessary Medicine." You will find it an invaluable aid in your work. Extracts or chapters should be read from it at your meetings. Write to your State Superintendent for a copy. It only costs $1.25 and you would not be without it for twice that amount.

Try the suggestive programs in this issue and report success. The report of a meeting is an encouragement to those that read it. Every meeting is worth reporting.

Have you a Superintendent of this department in your Union? If not, will you please appoint one at your first meeting and report name and address to me at once, that I may send her supplies?

Appoint one of your strongest and best members as Superintendent; one who is interested in this special department.

Have you asked your physician not to give you medicines that contain alcohol? If all temperance people would refuse medicine containing alcohol, physicians would soon cease to prescribe it.

Read these questions carefully and see what line you can best work. If you do not receive a blank, write me at once and one will be sent. If any work has been done during the past quarter, send me a letter or postal card by first mail. I want to report it in the next issue of the MESSAGE and in the Phalanx.

Begin the study of the question of non-alcoholic medication and of the use of wines and brandy in the kitchen and you will quickly see the importance of this work.

If you have a Superintendent, either in county or local Union, who for any reason cannot or does not work this Department, kindly suggest a change and select one who can work. When you have made a special study of this work you will see the importance of it and more fully realize what the giving of alcohol in medicines is doing for our homes.

Can an honorary member serve as a Superintendent? Most assuredly, yes. A physician who does not use alcoholic medicines will make a fine Superintendent.

A taking entertainment at the California State Convention was, "The Doctor's Day Off." Try it.

IN THE INSTITUTE.

To date, four counties in the eastern half of Section 2, Delaware, Boone, Grant and Wells, have held their spring Institutes. These sessions have been held through fog, rain and mud, and yet the representation from local unions has been good, the programs well carried out, and the results along many important lines better than has formerly been an average. The discussion of general and vital topics has been able and enthusiastic by local citizens and others, and a better insight into helpful and correct methods of work is shown by our members.

In these four Institutes a total of 123 souls have been added to our ranks. Eighty-six of these are pledged Legioners whose parents approve their membership, and form the newly organized L. T. L. of Eaton, which, best of all, has an able and willing leader in the person of an ex-county president.

Fifty-one subscriptions to our periodicals have been taken. The Union Signal leads in these, followed by the Young Crusader, American Mother and Contest Journal. All of these are annual subscriptions excepting those for the American Mother, which are for six months.

Some pathetic and heart-rending incidents have come before these meetings, but as reports of them have been arranged for, details need not here be given.

There was not a single day of continuous sunshine during the foregoing Institute sessions, but white ribbons know how to glean in the shadows and they have gone forth rejoicing, bearing sheaves with them.

MARY HADLEY HALL.

PARLIAMENTARY LAW.

In the February issue of the MESSAGE the State Superintendent offered to conduct a six months' course of one lesson per month, by correspondence, each member to pay 10 cents to partly defray expense of card of Parliamentary Rules and postage. In a very short time forty names were enrolled. The result is gratifying to the Superintendent and proves the inestimable value of the MESSAGE as a means of communication and for the promotion of our work.

ANTI-NARCOTICS.

If for any reason you fail to get your report blanks, please notify me at once, giving your full name and address. I have the names of about twenty-five County Superintendents, but doubtless there are more. If you are working in the anti-tobacco pledge signing campaign, please do not fail to send the coupons to me. Much is being done over the State, but the fate of the bill before the Legislature proved that we are not bringing the force to bear against this evil that we should. Let us work for victory.

MRS. ELIZABETH SMITH.

1907 Highland Place, Indianapolis.

JAIL AND PRISON.

Being appointed State Superintendent of Jail and Prison work, I will endeavor to do the best I can, with God's help and your prayers. I feel the great responsibility resting on me as a leader, knowing the fountain never rises higher than the head. I would especially urge the signing of pledges, as I have seen through this agency, some very bright conversions. I desire to be in touch with the workers in every county in the State and have written and sent blanks to the following: Blackford, Steuben, Huntington, Martin, Marion, Hamilton, Marshall, Vanderburg, Tippecanoe, Miami, Grant, Clinton, Wells, Hancock, Wayne, Delaware, St. Joseph, Morgan, Whitley, Vigo, DeKalb and Washington. Would like to hear from County or Local Superintendent on Jail and Prison work, County or Local President from the following counties: Adams, Allen, Bartholomew, Benton, Boone, Carroll, Cass, Clarke, Clay, Daviess, Dearborn, Decatur, DuBois, Elkhart, Floyd, Fountain, Franklin, Fulton, Gibson, Greene, Hendricks, Henry, Jefferson, Jay, Jennings, Johnson, Knox, Kosciusko, LaGrange, Lawrence, Lake, LaPorte, Madison, Monroe, Montgomery, Newton, Noble, Parke, Pike, Porter, Posey, Pulaski, Putnam, Randolph, Ripley, Rush, Shelby, Spencer, Tipton, Union, Vermillion, White and Wabash. Kindly address me and I will send you blanks.

MRS. ELLEN DAVIS,
State Superintendent.

SUPERINTENDENTS OF MOTHERS' MEETINGS.

I want to appeal to you again through the MESSAGE for an awakened interest and renewed diligence along our lines of work, of which all must confess there are none of more importance. That nation builds upon a sure foundation whose children are trained in righteousness and purity. Remember, sisters, there are so many homes, even in this Christian land, that know not Jesus, and it must be our duty, as well as our high privilege, to carry to those homes the gospel of love and truth and purity. I get many letters saying "I have been appointed Superintendent of Mothers' Meetings and write to you for information how to begin and how to conduct a Mothers' Meeting." I am always glad to respond to any appeal for help, to the best of my ability, in any way. First, we must have the Holy Spirit to help us to help others, and we must have some literature. Send special invitations to young mothers; ask them to assist with the program by reading a leaflet, or a selection from the American Mother, or some good book; you make the selection. Have your program well arranged; begin on time; the Bible your text book, the Holy Spirit your guide; make your meetings so spiritual, so interesting, that it will create a demand for others. Mothers who look into the faces of their sweet little innocent babes and then out into the broad world of sin, and knowing that it is only a short time, so short, until the dear little ones will be out from the home nest, and in a measure from mother's protection, it seems would be anxious to fortify these children against the oncoming tide of sin and impurity.

Our watchwords, "Agitate, Educate and Organize." Since we know that every day some mother's boy, some mother's girl, is being debauched and ruined by lust and liquor, it is absolutely necessary that we push this agitation, education and then that you organize a W. R. C. R. Sisters, I believe that now there is no more effectual way of arousing the motherhood of this nation than with the influence that will go out through the Mothers' Meetings and with the W. R. C. R. So many of the reports when returned to me with the question, "Have you organized a W. R. C. R.?" say, "No." Sisters it is my ambition to have a White Ribbon Cradle Roll in every Union. Will you help me? You have timber to work on everywhere. Every community has the dear little babies.

Six months of our year is past. What will we do in the next six months? I pray that they will be full of good works. I have sent the blanks to every County Superintendent and she will send to local Superintendents. Will not every local Superintendent be prompt to report to County Superintendent and she formulate her report and send it to me? Every community ought to have a circulating library of books that will be helpful to mothers. The money you get through the White Ribbon Cradle Roll will help to start the library. May the dear Lord help us all to do our very best to bring the truth of the Gospel home to the hearts of the motherhood of this nation.

MRS. S. M. STAHL,

Hartford City. State Superintendent Mothers' Meetings.

FAIRS AND OPEN AIR MEETINGS.

Looking back over the work of last year, I find much to commend, and looking forward, much to hope for in the future. I wish to express my appreciation of the faithful workers in nine counties who all report greater interest in the work of this department and many friends gained for the cause at fairs and open air meetings. New members, active and honorary, have been gained and I regret that a record was not kept and all the pledge cards returned to me, so that the members gained might have been counted in the contest for the national banner of this department. Three cash prizes of $5.00 each, in gold, is offered by our National Superintendent, Hannah T. Guild. Begin work now by supplying workers with department cards. Send me a quarterly report, as increased membership will be the key note of this department this year, and will be an important factor in the contest for the prizes offered. Appoint your committees at once, so they will be prepared to wait on fair directors. Now is the time to secure a place on the program of the meetings to be held in the open air; then engage your speakers for the dates given you. Organizations are rapidly multiplying in numbers. Each one has its annual reunion, when thousands assemble. At such times your opportunity comes to interest the masses of the people in our work. Responsibility follows opportunity, and if you fail to send the MESSAGE to these people, you lose the chance to sound a note of warning to a class you can reach in no other way. Organizers, lecturers and evangelists say this is the only department where they are sure of a large audience and where men are in the majority. It is high time we put forth special effort to enlist greater numbers of men in our work, for we need their influence and votes in legislative bodies, in the church, in state and local circles. Rally your forces and win the cash prize offered for the greatest number of honorary members gained this year. Put forth special effort to have laws passed prohibiting the sale of intoxicants on fair grounds and in parks. Spend more money for permanent buildings where "rest rooms," "day nurseries," "check stands," and where a "cozy corner" can be fitted up for an "emergency hospital." You can make such accommodations a source of revenue by charging the small sum of 10 cents per hour, for a cot, or for the care of a child. Look carefully after the illegal sale of liquor, gambling devices and the sale or distribution of impure literature. Interest the L. T. L.'s and pledged Sunday School children, Anti-Cigarette Leagues, Bands of Mercy and School Savings Banks. Children can march and sing Mrs. Oberholzer's Marching Songs; when possible, have a juvenile band; keep the banner of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union aloft; it should float from the daintiest and most attractive building at fairs and expositions and at other great assemblies. When clouds appear and your way seems hedged about, remember the passage in the first chapter of Joshua: "Be strong and of good courage; be not afraid, neither be thou dismayed; for the Lord, thy God, is with thee whithersoever thou goest." Make this the best year as a seed sowing time. Let no opportunity pass to carry the message to the masses of people. I appeal to every County President to urge the work of this department. Why should we delay? A year hence the presidential campaign will be on and we cannot gain the ear of the people then as now. So I entreat you to begin work at once. If new superintendents have been appointed, do not fail to notify me. Enlist more workers; appoint superintendents—county and local; then supply them with plan of work, etc. It means hard work to carry out successfully this line of work, but it pays. I wish to impress on you that we want members. You can secure ten pledge signers with greater ease than one new member. Keep a record of new members and report to me. In this way your work will count in the contest for prizes. Write to me for cards, suggestions and plan of work.

MRS. A. B. LECK,

1801 N. Capitol ave., Indianapolis. State Superintendent.

ORGANIZATION.

As I begin this statement of the condition of the department of organization, I am wondering which good thing to tell you first. Every plan has been responded to with such a spirit of enthusiasm and determination to do great things that the reading of my mail is a delight, because each delivery brings some good thing.

Early in December the National Secretary wrote asking if Indiana would take part in the anti-polygamy campaign, and could we take the national speaker on this subject, Mrs. Maria Weed, for two weeks. The work was arranged, and almost immediately after the nomination of Reed Smoot as Senator from Utah, Mrs. Weed began her series of meetings in Indiana. She was with us three weeks, speaking six days in the week, and was most acceptable, both as a cultured woman and a talented speaker.

As I write this letter I am just about to start out with our National President, Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens, and Vice-President, Miss Anna Gordon, who are to spend two weeks with us. They will visit eight or ten leading cities. Oh, how busily and enthusiastically our women are planning for their coming! Every detail is being carefully arranged, and as the letters have come, explaining plans and asking for suggestions, I have been reminded of Mrs. Weed's compliment when she said, upon leaving us, that she had found the best executive ability in Indiana, in both state and locals, of any place she had visited.

Mrs. Lillian Phelps, who is considered one of the best temperance speakers in Canada, has just completed a tour in the northeast part of the State. She has talent and enthusiasm. Letters of appreciation and requests that we bring her back for a longer stay are evidences of her acceptability. She is successful in securing members and large collections.

The National Assistant Recording Secretary, Mrs. Frances Beauchamp, has been engaged to speak at our Mid-Year Executive, which meets at Franklin, April 16 and 17. She will also lecture at Bloomington and Bedford. Both of these places are carrying on a vigorous fight against saloons and intemperance. Mrs. Beauchamp will probably fill several other dates, but arrangements are not completed at this time. She is so well known to Indiana white ribboners that comments upon her marked ability on the platform and in detail work are scarcely necessary.

Miss Marie Brehm, President of Illinois, who led her women on to the greatest victory in membership in the nation last year, will give two weeks to Indiana in June. By securing a date through me, the expense to local unions will be less than otherwise. Many requests have come for her services, and this will be our only opportunity this year. If you desire her, write to me immediately, as the route is now in process of construction.

Our beloved ex-President and editor of the MESSAGE, Mrs. Luella McWhirter, has promised us a week's work in April, and we are begging for more time later on. Her tour will probably be on the east side of the State.

Nearly every available State field worker is afield. Mrs. Mary Hall, Miss Alice Palmer, Mrs. Rose Pearce and Miss Clara Sears are busy with the Institute work. Mrs. Elizabeth Haughton, Mrs. M. A. Tompkins and Mother Trish have spent much time in revival meetings. This has been largely through the churches, but they have in each case presented the temperance cause. Mother Trish has secured many signers to the pledge.

Our Recording Secretary, whose consecration and ability as preacher and lecturer is so well known throughout Indiana, has made no extensive tours because of ill health. She is much improved now, and will give all the time possible to the field this spring. Write to me for dates.

Our Vice-President, Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, has been in the field almost constantly during the winter, and there are more calls for her than can be met because of conflicting dates. She has conducted some very successful temperance revivals, and her lectures and recitations always give satisfaction. She recites, "At the Mercy of the State," and "Who Killed Joe's Baby?" with telling effect for our blessed cause.

I could tell more and more, but there are others who would like a little space in the MESSAGE, so I forbear. Dear hearts, rejoice and pray and work and victory will come.

HATTIE BRAND,
Chairman of Organization.

HADLEY SCHOOL.

The terror of contagious diseases can hardly be realized until one has witnessed its work among a number of children. The days and nights of anxious solicitude for more than two months, through which those in charge of the school passed, cannot be told in words. Scarlet fever, closely followed by mumps, were the diseases which most affected us, and the board of health pressed us until twelve were vaccinated. Some one or two stricken almost every day until all, who were not immune, either had the fever or were convalescing from it. Some were sent to their homes to escape the contagion and a few have gone to friends while convalescing, so that the present number in the school is only twenty-three. All are now able to be up, and most are attending day school in the chapel. Now, the heavy siege of cleansing the dwelling of all disease germs must be pushed. All housekeepers will know something of the great labor to accomplish this, and the corps of workers in the home are few in number. Mrs. George Randolph and husband, with her mother, Mrs. Shipps, are now in charge. They are full of zeal to make this school a success, but must be ably supported by all the friends, or they cannot do it. The seed time is near at hand. If any can send in seed, it will be highly appreciated.

Now let us all help a little by sending money to our treasurer, that workmen may be secured to calamine the walls and extra help for cleaning floors and bedding may be had. We thank you for the many boxes of clothing sent. We are, for the present, abundantly supplied with wraps. Rugs and carpets would be more than acceptable.

L. HOBART.

WHY THEY DO NOT GET THEIR MESSAGE.

1. We have among our large constituency the names of Amelia Graham, Lizzie Baker and Lettie Ogden, but only an inadequate postoffice address. They are not getting the MESSAGE, though the papers go out from the Indianapolis office. Can anybody tell the State Treasurer definitely where these women live? There are several more such cases.

2. The treasurers making out the lists, in a few cases, have misspelled the names. Please be sure to get the correct name and address of your subscribers written plainly enough for the State Treasurer to find it impossible to copy them incorrectly.

3. Please remember that the State Treasurer does not mail the paper. It is sent out by machinery from one of the oldest and best printing offices in Indianapolis. She would be delighted to replace all copies that are mislaid in delivery, but she does not have personal supervision of mailing the papers. Rather try to trace and secure the number that is lost.

In a decision handed down recently, Judge Fruit, of the Wisconsin Circuit Court, decided that shaving on Sunday was not a necessity, if it was done in a public shop.

Marion Central held a memorial service on March 3. Mrs. Cammack-Gibson and Rev. Frazier were the speakers. Mrs. Lucy Lenfestey White read a fine selection from "Glimpses of Fifty Years," and Miss Waltz gave a recitation from "Lucile," which were very appropriate for the service. Ice cream was served and a fine collection taken. Marion Central and the West Side Union held a joint gold medal contest in the First Friends' church, March 4. Mrs. Rena Smith, of the Central class, won the medal and a young lady of West Side class (name forgotten) also won.

FIELD NOTES.

Fowlerton has an L. T. L. of 125 members.

Grant County has fourteen good working W. C. T. U.'s, and a growing Y. at Jonesboro.

Miss Ina Coggeshall organized a strong L. T. L. in Swayzee, which is showing great promise.

Mrs. Emeline Hill, of the "Quaint and Ancient" class of Jonesboro, won the medal on March 8. She is past 60.

Upland Union will furnish a carpet for one room at the Hadley Home and is distributing non-alcoholic medication literature.

Mrs. Cammack-Gibson organized a Y. in Jonesboro the 26th of December, with Miss Rena Day as President, Miss Lola Bradford Secretary and Miss Alta Day Treasurer.

Mrs. Culla Vayhinger, President of Dearborn County, has organized a Union of fifteen members at Aurora. Mrs. H. D. McMullen was made President. We wish the new Union unbounded success.

Boone County has just closed an interesting Institute session fruitful of good results. Much of this is due to the energy and tact of the County President, Mrs. Hendricks. Mrs. Mary H. Hall was the leader.

Peru Union sent ten subscriptions to the Union Signal. Among them was one for our fine new Y. M. C. A. building that will soon be completed, and one for our new library, which Mr. Carnegie helped us build and which will soon be completed.

Fairmount Union observed Willard Memorial Day with a very interesting meeting. The State President was present and made a short address. The $3 asked for in the Plan of Work for Hadley Home was ordered sent immediately and more will follow.

A hint for young people's societies. The Y. P. C. E. Society, of the Congregational Church, Hammond, recently sent a letter to the W. C. T. U. expressive of their appreciation and sympathy and offering their services to the Union in any form in which the two societies might co-operate in temperance work.

After March 1, Mrs. Lida Outland's address will be Upland, Grant County, Indiana. Mrs. Outland is the Howard County W. C. T. U. President. While her new residence takes her out of Howard County, by the earnest request of the members she has consented to remain President of this county until the end of the present year.

Mrs. Alice O. McDaniel, President of Vigo County, has organized a Union in Terre Haute with fifteen members, called the Loyal; and a colored Y. through the influence of the Mary Hadley Y. In Terre Haute Mrs. Elizabeth Curry has a fine L. T. L. at Maple Avenue Church, which has given a fine cold water concert.

The Nappanee Union, Elkhart County, held a very enjoyable parlor meeting at the home of Mrs. J. L. Ernest, First Vice-President. County President Mrs. H. P. Daub gave a very interesting account of her trip to Portland, Me., and the doings of the National Convention. There was a good attendance considering the inclemency of the day.

Franklin Union is anticipating with enthusiasm the privilege of entertaining the Mid-year Executive meeting. They hope for a visit from Mrs. Stanley this month. Miss Palmer speaks in the Presbyterian Church April 5, Sunday, in behalf of the State Union. The co-operation of pastor and people seems to be with them and their plans for helpfulness are widespread.

Some time during the last two weeks of March, Mrs. L. M. N. Stevens, National President of the W. C. T. U., and Miss Anna Gordon, World's Secretary of L. T. L. Work, will be in Kokomo. It is the intention to make their stay one of great benefit to the two organizations they represent, and the opportunity to hear two such famous women will doubtless be made the most of by the people of Kokomo and Howard County.

At the home of Mrs. Collins, on North Illinois street, the Indianapolis Frances Willard Union held a Martha Washington tea and a matrons' oratorical contest. Four matrons participated. Mrs. Wardella was awarded the medal. Refreshments were served by the committee, who were dressed in dainty caps and white aprons. The flowers for the occasion were presented by one of our members, Miss Mina Alley, and were appreciated.

Miss Martha Gilmore, Corresponding Secretary of the W. C. T. U. of Indian Territory, is spending several weeks in Indianapolis. Temperance work in the Territory is on the upgrade. They are planning for better organization and have adopted Indiana's plan of dollar dues covering subscription to the State paper, The Helper. Miss Gilmore is editor of the paper and is a bright woman, with time and talent consecrated to the temperance cause.

Fairfield Union held a mothers' meeting at the home of their pastor, Sarah M. Woodard, early in February. They had as their guest Miss Alice Ruth Palmer, who gave a very instructive talk, answering many questions of the new Superintendent of Departments. She also lectured in the evening. The March meeting is to be held at the home of Melissa Kellum. Written invitations have been sent to the husbands of the members and an interesting program has been arranged for the occasion.

Frances Willard Union, of Fort Wayne, will place a memorial window in the new M. E. Church. The design is to be the world encircled by the white ribbon, on which is the motto, "For God, and Home, and Every Land," and underneath the name, "Frances E. Willard W. C. T. U. of Fort Wayne."

Our dear Mother Trish is at present disabled, having had a fall which sprained her back. Mother Trish has been in revival service, speaking every night for five consecutive weeks. Sixty-five conversions. She is a consecrated worker and never fails to press the temperance cause, and has secured a large number of signatures to the total abstinence pledge.

Hendricks County presented a framed picture of Miss Willard to the Reform School at Plainfield. The chaplain wrote as follows: "The boys gave a unanimous vote of thanks to the ladies who presented the picture of Frances E. Willard, and desired me to express their thanks to the donors. The picture hangs on the wall of the chapel. Personally I am glad to have it, and I believe the good it will do the boys cannot be measured by the mere intrinsic worth."

Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley held a series of services for the Bluffton Union which resulted in a great revival. Over twenty new members secured. The weather was severe, but Bluffton's blessed corps of workers cannot be daunted by storms. Under the leadership of Mrs. Mary McBride, and her helpers, our work there continually gained momentum. Our cause advances and all Wells County feels the influence of the consistent, discreet aggressiveness of Bluffton White Ribboners.

State Minutes—A large number of State Minutes are still in the hands of the Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Hattie W. Brand 1403 Ashland avenue. These ought to be in the hands of county and local officers and members. They are sold at 10 cents per copy, you to pay express, or 15 cents per copy by mail. This is less than they cost the State and it is a financial loss, as well as a loss to the work, to have them unsold. How many in your Union are supplied? Please send orders at once.

HATTIE W. BRAND.

Northeast Indianapolis Union held an anti-cigarette contest, March 9, at Howard Place Church. Three young men and two young ladies took part in the contest, which was pronounced fine. Miss Artie Henderson won the medal. Miss Hunt, of Amboy, sang a solo and helped in a duet which was highly appreciated. Miss Edna Young gave two solos, playing her accompaniment on a guitar. After the judges' report a number of boys, girls and grown up people signed the anti-tobacco pledge. About $4.50 was taken in at the door.

Peru—Frances E. Willard memorial meeting was held at the home of Mrs. J. O. Ward. Meeting was opened by President Mrs. Grace Oswald with Miss Willard's favorite Scripture texts, the singing of her favorite hymns. Recitations by Paul Jordon, Gertrude Cain and Marjorie Miller. Prayer by Mrs. Cloud. Mrs. Carrie Campbell Pike favored the ladies with two beautiful solos. Mrs. Ward gave a brief statement of memorial day and thank offering fund. Mrs. G. C. Miller spoke of the life of Miss Willard, closing with the Lord's Prayer. The memorial day and thank offering fund was $3.55.

At Lake County Institute, held March 9 and 10, all the local Unions were represented. Reports show good, genuine work being done by all. Hammond, especially, is increasing in members and in the attendance and interest taken in her regular and public meetings. The Local and County Unions are well officered. In her opening address Mrs. Mudge, County President, asked a very pertinent question that might well be answered by all who ever think the society is not accomplishing anything: "Have you ever stopped to think what would-to-day be the status of the temperance question if there never had been a Woman's Christian Temperance Union?"

Membership Envelopes—Many gains in membership are reported which do not materialize when the Treasurer's report is received. No woman is a member with the right to vote and hold office in either the local, county or State organization until she has met the requirement of signing the total abstinence pledge and paying $1.00 annual dues. The envelopes have the pledge printed on the outside and the promise to pay the dues. Let us use them and so far as possible collect dues when the names are given. These are excellent for use in public meetings, as the money can be placed in the envelope and sealed up and the name and address written on the outside. Order of Mrs. Brand. Price, 15 cents per hundred.

Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley spent a week with the Huntington Union the latter part of February. Despite a severe cold snap, she was greeted by large audiences and made many very warm friends. Twenty two names were added to the membership, nine of which were honorary. The subscription pledge cards brought $13 50, and with cash collections, nearly $50 were taken in. One afternoon was given over to the L. T. L., and fourteen new members were taken into this organization. Huntington is hustling. From Huntington Mrs. Stanley went to Andrews in the same county and gave two addresses. A party from Huntington attended these meetings and the entire party was entertained at supper by the Andrews Union. Several new members were added and much interest aroused in the work.

Bremen—Those who were unable to breast the storm do not know what a treat they missed in the Frances E. Willard memorial service at the Congregational Church. Three ministers—Messrs. Braeckly, Oyler and Davidson—took part in the service. Mr. Oyler delivered the principal address, which was an eulogy upon the life and services of the greatest worker for temperance the world has ever known. Several of Miss Willard's favorite hymns were well rendered by the Congregational choir.

Salem Union held a Willard memorial meeting at the home of Edna Pearle Menaugh. A special program had been arranged and invitations extended by our President, Mrs. Emma Faulkner, and the hostess, to all the ministers of the city and their wives, with a few other especial guests. The ministers each gave a five minutes' talk upon Frances Willard's noble life, and each talk was characterized for its excellent thought and beautiful comparisons. The members of the Union responded to roll call with a quotation from Frances Willard's noble expressions. "Some Glad Day" was sung. The closing hymn was her favorite song, "Nearer, My God, to Thee." The Union will soon place Miss Willard's picture in the auditorium of the public school. The Union sent two dollars to the memorial fund. A social hour followed. The meeting was most helpful and interesting.

Mapleton W. C. T. U. held its anniversary meeting, February 20, at the home of Mrs. Amanda T. Whitson, its honored and loved President. Rev. Albert J. Brown, pastor of the Indianapolis Friends' Church and an honorary member, spoke forcefully and effectively on Alcohol and the Lord's Prayer. Dr. Homer J. Hall, of Franklin, in his accustomed interesting manner, spoke on Frances Willard and George Washington on the Liquor Question. Hon. Charles L. Newlin, with enthusiasm, spoke on Alcoholic Medicines as shown by Sanatorium Patients. There were present more than one hundred people, who eagerly listened to these able and convincing speakers with an unusual interest. New members were secured. During the social hour refreshments were served by the genial hostess, whose influence along temperance lines is being felt more and more among her neighbors and church affiliates.

Richmond—Frances Willard Union held a matron's contest recently, which was a success, very encouraging for the first. A good crowd was present. The program was as follows: "The Saw Mill," by Eliza Mendenhall. "A Prisoner of Intemperance," by Elizabeth Mayhew. Singing—"Some Glad Day." "A Plea for the Children," by Marietta M. Overman. "Poor House Nan," by Mrs. Dr. Hopkins. Vocal solo—"Mother's Bow of Ribbon White." "Young America's War Cry," by Rachel Hodgins. The medal was won by Eliza Mendenhall. On the 15th of March we had our beloved National President, Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens, Miss Anna A. Gordon and our Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Hattie W. Brand, with us. It was a day long to be remembered. I am sure we all felt enthused and more determined to fight on as we heard words that sank deep into our hearts and felt the grasping of the hands of our noble workers. A mass meeting for children was held in the afternoon, addressed by Miss Anna Gordon, and a meeting at the First M. E. Church, addressed by the National President. Mrs. Brand made a plea for new members.

Grant County Institute, held at Fowlerton, was a decided success. Mrs. Mary Hadley Hall was leader. The attendance was good, interest intense, and the result a deepened determination to fight the battle to a successful ending. Fowlerton is a new town, with a population of twelve hundred, two churches and nine saloons. There was a surprised look on many faces when between forty and fifty White Ribbon women stepped from the train the first morning of the Institute. Near the church where the meeting was held a bottle factory was located, employing a great number of men and boys. They sang religious songs while the women passed the factory, showing the influence of the Institute. During one of the sessions a dissipated looking man came into the church, walked straight to the leader's desk and laid down a piece of money, desiring to become a member. Mrs. Hall at once pinned the white ribbon on him, and in a frank, intelligent way he told how he had come to that town two weeks before, a sober man and a consistent church member. But the open temptation on every hand aroused the appetite from which he thought he was saved and he yielded and had been drinking ever since. He came to ask help. Business was suspended, and for nearly an hour every heart was enlisted to help the pursued and fleeing man. It was beautiful to see our State President and Mrs. Hall kneeling beside this unfortunate brother, helping him to put his hand in his Father's and try again. He went away with a lighter heart and renewed strength. Mrs. Hall sent a staunch prohibitionist to escort him past the danger points, for there were several saloon men waiting for him. The Fowlerton Union was strengthened by nine new members.

IN MEMORIAM.

MRS. RUPLE, of South Bend, is gone. Only those who have drunk of the bitter cup can know the keenness of the sorrow experienced by Brother Ruple in giving up his life companion. He and family have the tenderest sympathy of the Frances Willard W. C. T. U., of which she was a charter member. While we miss her from our circle, we believe her work on earth was done, and the Father above granted her release from pain and care and an admittance to that home of the soul prepared for the blest.

THE MESSAGE.

"Not by Might nor by Power, but by My Spirit."

VOL. VIII. No. 5.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., MAY, 1903.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR.

PARLOR MEETING.

A house is built of bricks, and stones, of sills, and posts, and piers;
But a home is built of loving deeds, that stand a thousand years.

A house, though but a humble cot, within its walls may hold
A home of priceless beauty, rich in love's eternal gold.

The men of earth build houses, halls and chambers, roof and domes,
But the women of the earth—God knows the women build the homes.

Ever could not stray from Paradise, for oh! no matter where Her gracious presence lit the way, lo, Paradise was there.

MISS MARIE BREHM IN JUNE.

Miss Marie Brehm will make a tour of Indiana, beginning June 14 and closing on the 28th. Her route will be through the north and east sections.

Sir Wilfred Lawson, the great English prohibitionist, has been returned to parliament. Thus returned to parliament one of the best known temperance advocates in the world.

COMING IN MAY.

Miss Carrie Lee Carter, one of our national workers, who is remarkably successful, will spend the latter part of May in Indiana. Her route will probably be through the southern part of the State.

ALARMED OVER THE ACTIVITY OF THE W. C. T. U.

The following quotation, copied from an article which appeared March 16 in the Knights of Fidelity News, a national liquor paper published in Indianapolis, will be of interest to Indiana workers: "The National President of the W. C. T. U., Mrs. L. M. Stevens, and Vice-President, Miss Anna Gordon, will tour Indiana this week, and be in Kokomo March 23. Greentown, Connersville and Shelbyville, and many other places, will be visited by these agitators. They have the national treasury at their command, and they will be a most formidable enemy. Again we say, there is but one salvation for the liquor interests of Indiana—organize under the banner of the Knights of Fidelity and raise a defense fund. The enemy is organized and has an almost unlimited defense fund. Flood Indiana with good wholesome literature, and expose these fanatics. Show by facts and figures that they are frauds. The columns of the Knights of Fidelity News are open. Flood Indiana with them. Organize, educate, fight."

INTERNATIONAL ANTI-ALCOHOL CONGRESS—ADDRESS BY MRS. HUNT.

The United States delegate to the Ninth International Anti-Alcohol Congress, now being held in Bremen, Germany, is Mrs. Mary H. Hunt, of Boston, Mass. Mrs. Hunt, addressing the congress on the significance of scientific temperance instruction in the public schools as a preventive of alcoholism, said:

"The thralldom of alcoholism can be overthrown only by making the masses intelligent in regard to the true nature of alcohol and its consequent effects upon the human system. This requires, first, thorough scientific investigation of the alcohol problem, and, second, the widest diffusion of truths thus learned.

"The people of the United States, believing that such diffusion could best be effected through public school instruction, secured, between 1882 and 1902, the passage of State and National laws by which the study of physiology and hygiene, including special instruction as to the nature and effects of alcoholic drinks and other narcotics, became mandatory for all pupils in all schools of the republic.

"Temperance physiology has thus been very generally taught for ten or fifteen years, and it is significant that during this time the rate of increase in the per capita consumption of alcoholic liquors has diminished materially; also that there has been a gain of four and one-tenth years in the average length of life. Thorough investigation in New York, the most populous State, shows that the study is restraining children from forming alcohol and other narcotic habits and influencing their parents against alcohol and tobacco."

The teachings that have secured these gratifying results are, first, the nature of alcohol and its effects upon the human economy; and second, the physiological reasons for obeying all laws of health, since unhygienic habits often cause a craving for narcotics.

Careful grading shows that the subject can be adequately covered by a minimum of three oral lessons per week for ten weeks in each primary year, and four text-book lessons per week for ten weeks in each of the five grammar years and the first year of the high school. Thus with 330 lessons a progressive development is attained without crowding other branches during years in which the formation of habit is especially active. The text-books used by pupils of all grades above the primary are supervised by a committee of physicians and educators. At the headquarters of the Department of Scientific Temperance Instruction, in Boston, are kept on file records of all scientific investigation of the question, free of access to authors and others interested.

Objection is sometimes made to scientific temperance instruction on the ground that by injuring the brewing traffic it will decrease the national revenue. Figures show, however, that every dollar of tax on fermented and distilled liquor paid into the national treasury costs thirty dollars in the cost of consequent crime and poverty. The same is doubtless true in other countries.

This congress is to pass no resolutions, but there is nothing to prevent any individual from personally resolving to use his utmost influence to secure for all the children of his own country the blessings of a scientific temperance education.

MANAGING EDITOR OF THE

is distinguished for the essential qualities of the successful journalist: close observation, correct judgment and boundless courage. Active, alert and resourceful, Mrs. Jewett is equal to the emergencies that arise in a newspaper office. Nothing less than the latest and the best in news, typography and illustration can satisfy the exacting demands of this literary enthusiast. To her ambitious spirit is due the many successes enjoyed by the paper which she so ably conducts.

Dean Farrar, compatriot of Caire and with him for forty years in the first rank of British prohibitionists, has died, aged 72 years. He was known the world over for his championship of two national reforms—the abolition of the drink evil and of the slave trade. The national position on these questions he could not tolerate, and to his influence is indebted in a large degree the trend of English destiny on these two great questions. Dean Farrar's voice was heard on every temperance platform in Great Britain. He declared "You might as well talk of protecting the vested interests of a cancer as protecting the existing conditions of a system which licenses houses of which most are seething hells of vice, immorality and crime."

Y. W. C. T. U. COLUMN.

I am still expecting reports of your meetings so I will have something new for our Y. column in the MESSAGE.

How many observed Mrs. Frances J. Barnes' birthday, April 14, and took the free will offerings for the World's Y. work? Please report to me as soon as possible.

Miss Arletta Holston, 1404 Third Avenue, Terre Haute, is the new Vigo County Y. Secretary, and trust she may prove a power in that county and help plan for organization in the county.

Anderson Y.'s are planning for a public meeting April 27. Musical and literary program representing the World's Y. work. Mrs. R. W. McMahan will deliver an address on "The Relation of the Physical Life to the Morals."

Again I urge the girls to double our membership this year. We can do it, when we say we will. Now let us will to do it.

The third quarter's blanks will be sent you the first of June. Let the Treasurer begin to plan and collect dues.

Read the Union Signal; get a copy of the State Minutes and study them; pray and work for the overthrow of the liquor traffic in this State.

CLARA M. SEARS.

FROM OUR NATIONAL PRESIDENT.

DEAR WHITE RIBBON COMRADES OF INDIANA—Miss Gordon and I were very glad that we could accept the invitation of your State Corresponding Secretary to come to Indiana.

The local Unions co-operating with Mrs. Brand's plan, made excellent arrangements for the meetings. We regret that we could not visit a larger number of Unions, but during the two weeks and three Sundays we reached different sections of the State and were thus enabled to learn much of the W. C. T. U. situation in Indiana. In no State have we found more wide-awake, well informed co-workers, and we judge that the W. C. T. U. in Indiana has, in a large degree, the respect of the people and the co-operation of the churches, for the people came out in large numbers and the clergymen were most friendly and helpful. We were pleased that everywhere we found such a lively sentiment in favor of prohibition. It is encouraging that the liquor organ, known as the Fidelity News, took note of our tour in Indiana. This paper referred to us as a most formidable enemy, intimating that we had joined hands with the Anti-Saloon League and were to make great havoc with the liquor interests of Indiana. The W. C. T. U. has not "joined hands" with any organization, but our hearts are joined to all who are working to overthrow and outlaw the liquor traffic. We bid God-speed to the prohibition party, the Anti-Saloon League, to any organization working for the promotion of our two fundamental principles—total abstinence and prohibition. The W. C. T. U. does not need to adopt plans or methods of any other reform or temperance society, because we have such well defined, clear cut plans and methods of our own.

We think all temperance people should be glad that the saloon is moved a mile away from the Soldiers' Home at Marion, Ind., although our gladness is nothing like as rejoiceful as it would be were the saloon moved altogether out of the State, out of the nation. We are glad that the Supreme Court upheld as constitutional the Indiana remonstrance law, although we should be far more exceeding glad for a law which would go farther and mean more, but we believe the best use possible of these bits of prohibition (which the liquor fraternity does not like) will prove as stepping stones to that for which we work and pray, State and National prohibition.

I most heartily recommend White Ribboners to read the National Leaflet No. 92, published by the W. T. P. A., written by Mrs. Katherine Lente Stevenson on "The Relation of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union to Other Organizations."

It was a highly prized privilege to have with us at our meetings so many of the rank and file, the local members, the important part of our great army, and also to meet many who have been and are officially connected with our organization. Mrs. Haughton and Mrs. Cammack-Gibson, National Evangelists, graced our platform; Mrs. Wilson, State President, arranged a delightful public meeting for us near her home; Mrs. McWhirter and her company of beautiful young people brought cheer to our souls. I would like to record the names of all our hospitable hosts and hostesses, all who contributed to make our tour in Indiana so pleasant and successful. Mrs. Brand deserves great praise for the painstaking way in which she attended to all of the details and her able participation in the meetings. We shall be greatly disappointed and shall feel that "all signs have failed" if Indiana does not come up to the National Convention next fall with a gain of five hundred and more new members.

We shall ever gratefully remember this visit to Indiana, and hope to meet hundreds of Indiana White Ribboners at Cincinnati, which is but next door to the Hoosier State. LILLIAN M. N. STEVENS.

A tidal wave against the saloon is rolling over Tennessee, where county after county is voting for prohibition under the local option law. Other Southern States are coming under prohibitory law very rapidly. Kentucky, in more than two-thirds of her counties, has prohibition. Among the recent surprises is the activity of the Ohio people in voting saloons out of their towns.

The Topeka Herald says: "The cities of the State gave more satisfactory evidence of their belief in prohibition at the recent elections than ever before. In some quarters there has been considerable talk lately about the people being dissatisfied with prohibition, but there is mighty little comfort for the brewer and his gang in the evidence given by Kansas on that point during the past three months. * * * Considered as a whole, the result of the elections is a splendid tribute to the sanity of prohibition and is a hearty recognition of its merits by the people. The antis, who would like to see things otherwise in Kansas, are welcome to such cold comfort as they may get out of these elections."

FLOWER MISSION DAY, JUNE 9.

Every Union should observe this day by a visit to some institution or by special program and collection for use of the department.

This is the month to engage speakers for July 4, and to arrange for a grand rally on that day. To advertise the rally now, means to preempt the ground and to win the day for temperance. Be earnest and active. A few hours' work in definite planning now, will bring victories for our cause on July 4, which, if delayed for a while, may cost much anxiety and result in failure.

Public meetings, either in the churches or homes of the community, are an absolute necessity to the best interests of the W. C. T. U. At these meetings the gentlemen and the young people become interested because they get information concerning our great organization. Refreshments should always be served at an evening meeting held at the homes. By special invitation the boys and girls will serve for the Union, and wonderfully well they will do their part, too, if the older women will not do too much telling and helping. It is a mistake for a Union to meet at the same place and same time one year after another. An occasional meeting in a home of an evening, with a good, short program after the business, will interest many persons who come as a courtesy to the hostess. Public meetings always help if an agreeable and interesting speaker is on the program.

OUR CAUSE MARCHES ON

Where the Union Signal, our National organ, is read by the ministers, school teachers and intelligent women of the community. It is absolutely necessary for the best interests of the W. C. T. U. that our officers and superintendents read the news of our work in the United States and in the other countries of the world. All should be regular subscribers to the Union Signal.

"Numbers count" is an oft repeated quotation, but, dear sisters, intelligence counts. One discreet White Ribboner, with definite information on the phases of the W. C. T. U. work, is of more force in a community than several who have only a limited knowledge of the effect of the saloon business in their immediate vicinity.

Urge the members to subscribe for the Union Signal. The time has come that thoroughly informed temperance workers are in demand as never before.

No Christian home can afford to be without a temperance paper. Woe unto the parents who fail to provide definite information for their households on temperance, purity and narcotics.

EVANGELISTIC.

It was my purpose to have had a letter in the March MESSAGE for you, but being very busy in revival work at the time the letter should have reached the editor, I failed to carry out my purpose. As the report blanks did not reach me in time for the December reports, I have requested the March report to include all work done in the first and second quarters. I sent a postal card with each package of literature with careful instructions to the County Superintendent, where there were any, and where no Superintendent was known, to the County President. I sincerely hope, dear co-workers, that you will do your best to aid me in reaching every Local Union. Please do not fail to send out the blanks and insist on their return as soon as it is possible to fill them out. I have received very few reports at this date. Have you carefully read my "Plan of Work" and Miss Greenwood's "Recommendations for 1902 and 1903?" I have been very anxious for each Union to hold a two or three days' evangelistic conference. One was planned and the date set, but had to be deferred to a later date on account of other work conflicting. If you fail to receive my question blanks, please notify me immediately and I will promptly send them to you. I feel very earnest for you, that you may not fail in doing your best to advance the interest of this most important department. Remember that you, as Superintendents, are not expected to do all the work yourselves, but to see that the work is done and to gather up the results and send them to your State Superintendent. I would be glad to visit every Union and thus come in close touch with all the workers, but this is hardly possible. My heart goes out to you in sisterly love and sympathy and I greatly desire to be helpful to you. I endeavor to answer, promptly, all requests for help and I am glad to go to you whenever you can arrange meetings in which you desire my assistance, if it is possible for me to do so. I trust that you are growing in spirituality and using helps thereto. Feel free to write to me at any time for instructions and I will do my best to help you. My heart says, "God bless each one of you and make you a blessing."

"Take courage, temperance workers,
You shall not suffer wreck,
While up to God the people's prayers
Are rising from the deck.

Wait cheerily, temperance workers,
For daylight and for land;
The breath of God is in your sails,
Your rudder in His hand.

Courage; your work is holy—
God's errands never fail.
Sweep on, through storm and darkness,
Through thunder and through hail.

Work on! Sail on! The morning comes,
The port you yet shall win;
And all the bells of God shall ring
The ship of temperance in." —Whittier.

ELIZABETH M. HAUGHTON.

PRESS.

I hope to receive many more reports for the second quarter. Some have reached me which show that good work has been done in some places. There seems to be some misunderstanding about the blanks. I send the blanks to the County Superintendents, they to the Local Superintendents, who are to report to the County Superintendent and she to me. I hope that the County Superintendents to whom I sent the blanks will see to it that the Local Superintendents are supplied so that they can report what they have done. Inquiries have also come to me about the kind of articles to be used in the scrap books. Our National Superintendent of Press Work says this in regard to the articles to be used: "Anything they furnish; anything about the W. C. T. U., whether written by them or not, in their papers." The idea is to see how much space the press gives us. Urge the press work. You will get splendid results from it. Let the public know what you are doing. If you have a good meeting, write it up. Give notices of all meetings and reports as well. From our best working counties in the State I get the best press reports, and the Superintendents realize the importance of the press work. Plan a Press Meeting at an early date and don't forget, please, to keep a report of all work done, so that it can be reported. Use any and all Y. and L. T. L. items with the others. They come under the head of our work, of course, and should be used.

Converse, Ind.

LAURA CAMMACK,
State Superintendent.

FRANCHISE.

Just a moment of your time and attention, please. Are you interested in the enfranchisement of women? Surely you can see that with the ballot much time, money and physical tissue would be saved in settling some public questions of interest to us all. If you do not believe thus, all I will ask is that you study the subject thoroughly before passing final judgment.

But you who have already decided that it is right and must come to pass, will you help your superintendent to spread some of the tidings among our own ranks? I desire to give you a four-page supplement on the subject for August, and for this privilege I must pay. Now I am not acquainted with your workers over the State, and hence I ask you, through the pages of our MESSAGE, to make yourself known to me. If you feel the need of this work, will you kindly send to me, pledging a sum, certain? And every little counts. Some, knowing my desires, have already done so. Who will volunteer? The money should be in my hands some time in July, but I must know whether you will back me. Come, let us make this a success.

If there is any particular phase of this question you would like to hear discussed in this sheet, any question you wish answered, or any suggestion you have to make, will you drop me a line? I want this to be for your benefit and pleasure.

I have written personal letters to many of my county, and some of the local Superintendents of this department, enclosing report blanks, and literature in some cases. Will you kindly answer, so I may get in touch with you? And you who have not received word from me, will you drop me a line? I want you, first of all, to feel a friendly interest in me. We will then try to show you what a very interesting phase of work you have chosen to work with. It is a subject which is living, bound up in the sympathetic blood of our fellow women. Can you not read the signs of the times? Will you not make ready for the issue when it reaches a climax? Now, please let me hear from you, and God bless you, dear reader. Who will be the first to answer? Sincerely,

PEARL RALL.

SCIENTIFIC TEMPERANCE INSTRUCTION.

Twenty-four years ago, in 1879, the National Superintendent of Scientific Temperance Instruction presented to the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union Convention a resolution which passed, committing the organization to work for the study of scientific temperance by all pupils in all public schools of this country. Three years later, in 1882, in Vermont the first scientific temperance instruction law was passed. Twenty years later, in 1902, the National Congress and every State in the United States had passed laws making temperance physiology a mandatory public school study for the 22,000,000 children over whom our flag floats. An abundant, well-graded, indorsed school literature is now in the hands of all who use text books in other subjects. Progressive courses of study and suggestive methods of teaching are ready. Thus far the Lord has led us on in perfecting the machinery for this study. Already its results are making us the most abstinent and consequently achieving of nations. The same divine aid that has been ours is pledged to help us in pressing untiringly on until ours is a nation of strong, clear-brained, total abstainers whose school houses on every hill top have expelled the saloons in the valleys.

Four points we need now especially to work for:

1. The adoption not only of indorsed books for the use of pupils who use books on other subjects, but of books which the children who are to study them can understand. In other words, the books used must be adapted to grade.
2. The introduction of the Oral Lesson Book of the New Century Series for use by primary teachers.
3. The preparation and adoption of courses of study in temperance physiology for the guidance of teachers, showing what topics should be developed in each school year, so as to have the study always progressive and adapted to the pupil's constantly increasing ability to acquire and use knowledge.
4. The regular systematic study of this subject in the lower grades, where alone we are sure of reaching all the children.

The following suggestions are gathered largely from the letters and reports of Superintendents in this department throughout the country as methods which they have found helpful. They are not intended to take the place of the regular plan of work for securing definite systematic instruction in temperance physiology in the schools as outlined in the Co-Worker's letter, but to indicate some ways by which the interest in the work in the Union, the school, the home and the community may be quickened.

THE MID-YEAR EXECUTIVE.

The Mid-Year Executive Committee meeting was held at Franklin. Two half day sessions were devoted entirely to officers' reports and miscellaneous business. Never have our women attended more strictly to the business before the committee than at this meeting and a spirit of harmony, hopefulness and earnestness prevailed. Perhaps the most important action of the committee was the decision to adopt a more aggressive policy and to systematically plan a campaign for statutory prohibition in Indiana. The resignation of Mrs. Luella McWhirter as editor of our column in the Phalanx was accepted with regret. Mrs. Mattie Cammack-Gibson, of Jonesboro, was made editor of this column, with Mrs. Hattie W. Brand as assistant. All communications are to be sent to Mrs. Gibson. Miss Ina Coggeshall, of Marion, was chosen to represent Indiana in the Grand Diamond Contest to be held at the National Convention. The Treasurer's report for Hadley Industrial School showed that our indebtedness is about the same. Many helpful donations of articles and provisions have been received, but many Unions have not yet met their obligations. The Cox farm has been sold and the money will soon be placed in endowment fund. Delegates to the World's Convention were chosen. Owing to the illness and probable removal of the President of Vigo County from the State, it was decided not to hold the State Convention at Terre Haute. The date fixed for the convention is October 16 to 23. If Richmond, which had previously invited the convention, does not now desire it, the place of meeting is to be left to the Central Committee. Friday afternoon an interesting program was given, to which the public was invited and in which local talent took part. It was enjoyable and helpful. Mrs. Frances Beauchamp gave an able address Thursday night and the local women conducted a contest Friday night. The class was trained by Miss Roberts, of Indianapolis.

STATE MINUTES.

Many counties and Unions are planning vigorous work for the next two months. You will need the State Minutes. Order of Mrs. Brand at once.

WORKING FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

While we are enjoying the return of buds and birds, let us rejoice that the first month of spring was a time of temperance seed sowing in the hearts of hundreds of children in Indiana, and that the sower was our beloved Anna Gordon. During the recent tour of Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens and Miss Gordon, a children's meeting was held whenever we could reach the town early enough.

At Richmond, a children's mass meeting was held Sabbath afternoon. The large church was about half filled with children and interested grown people made a fitting back ground for the little ones. Our own Mrs. Haughton presided and after some special music, Miss Gordon was introduced and addressed the children. As I watched the faces of the audience, grown people and children seemed equally interested. The hearty response of the children to Miss Gordon's questions showed how alert they were and how quickly they grasped the idea of the evil of drinking or selling liquor. In chorus they repeated, "If you never take the first drink you'll never take the second," and promised to work for the temperance cause. Monday morning we visited Earlham College, where Mrs. Stevens and Miss Gordon both addressed the several hundred students at chapel service. At the High School the principal had assembled seven hundred pupils to see and to hear our beloved leaders.

The next meeting was at Muncie. Children's hour was preceded by an informal reception, but at 4 o'clock they came trooping in from school. Such a lively lot they were. So full of fun and frolic we wondered if they could keep still. But Miss Gordon has made a life study of child nature and soon had their thought and interest centered upon the things they could do for the temperance cause.

Goshen could not be reached in time for the great children's meeting which Mrs. A. P. Daub so desired to have, but many little ones came to the church early and Miss Gordon talked to them in the down stairs room while the crowd assembled above. Then the children filled the gallery at the general meeting.

The Sabbath at Marion will long be remembered. In the afternoon the M. E. Church was packed to overflowing to hear Mrs. Stevens, and just across the street, in the Christian Temple, a children's mass meeting was held. The day was beautiful and they came out like spring flowers. Brother Coggeshall drove up with a whole wagon load of these "spring beauties" whom we are trying to save from the blight of the rum curse. After introducing Miss Gordon, I had to leave and go over to the other meeting, but the sight of that large church filled with little people listening so intently to the gospel of temperance will continue to be an inspiration.

As the largest L. T. L. is at Kokomo, of course the reception was most enthusiastic. The Legions came marching in, waving their banners and flags. They occupied the choir loft and sang merrily. Mrs. Mix and Miss Hillis had the program in charge. A heavy wind storm came up suddenly just at the hour of meeting, but Miss Gordon said it seemed to blow the little ones into the church. They were deeply interested in Miss Gordon's talk, and each child carried home an envelope to be returned with name and contribution if they wish to become little workers in this great fight against wrong.

At Terre Haute there were more grown people than children out to hear Miss Gordon. The largest distilling interests in the State are at this place, and the efforts of our faithful workers there do not meet with the encouragement they ought to receive. However, the work is growing, and some day the public will awake to the importance of this work for the children.

Evansville made the most of every moment. From the train Miss Gordon and I were taken to the High School, where 800 students were assembled in one large room to hear Miss Gordon. From the school we went immediately to Howell, a suburb, where we found a church literally packed with children. A few grown people who came had to give up their seats, and the little ones sat on the pulpit and everywhere. For weeks the school teachers had been teaching them to sing Miss Gordon's songs, and how they did sing! The L. T. L. marched in last, singing a song of welcome. The first thing we noticed was that there was an L. T. L. window in the church.

Moore's Hill was reached too late for an afternoon meeting, so the children were given the front seats at night, and Miss Gordon addressed them before Mrs. Stevens spoke. The large church was most beautifully decorated, and it was the work of the college boys and girls done in honor of our national officers. The next morning we were invited to the college to chapel service, and the first hour's lessons were set aside that the students might hear more of our all-important cause. In the afternoon Miss Gordon spoke to the children in the grade school.

The last meeting was at Bluffton. Here, as at all other points, the children received enthusiastically the message Miss Gordon had to give. At nearly every point steps were taken to organize L. T. L.'s, and as is so often the case, we found that lack of conviction in regard to leadership for L. T. L. work is the only obstacle in the way.

Aside from these direct meetings with the children, Miss Gordon always followed Mrs. Stevens in the night meetings with a plea for the work of the Loyal Temperance Legion. HATTIE WRIGHT BRAND.

MRS. HUNT INVITED TO BREMEN CONGRESS—HAS RECEIVED LETTERS OF CREDIT FROM THE STATE DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON.

The relation of alcoholism to national, as well as to individual well-being, is agitating Europe.

The International Anti-Alcoholic Congress, made up of representatives of the governments and universities of Europe, held its ninth biennial meeting this year, in Bremen, Germany, during Easter week.

The official invitations on behalf of this congress are issued over the signatures of the Secretary of the Home Department of the German Empire and the Mayor of Bremen, the honorary Presidents.

As a preventative of alcoholism, scientific temperance education in the public schools, although better developed and more universal in the United States than elsewhere, has in reality become a world question as its relation to abstinence and consequent national power is observed. It is to be a pronounced feature of the Bremen Congress. Hence a special request has been sent by the officers of that Congress to President Roosevelt asking that Mrs. Mary H. Hunt, of Boston, Mass., well known as the leader of the scientific temperance education movement in this country, be appointed to represent the United States at the Congress to present what has proved here the best methods for such education.

In response to this request, letters of credit have been issued to Mrs. Hunt by the Department of State at Washington, signed by Secretary Hay, and the courtesies of the Congress have been bespoken for her by Baron von Sternburg, the German Minister at Washington.

Dear Local Treasurers—If you have occasion to send me stamps for small sums, please send one cent stamps. I use more of that kind. In writing names for the MESSAGE please do not forget to write them plainly. If there are several postoffices, put the names in groups under the name of the office. It would help, to arrange both towns and names alphabetically. Remember, sixty-five cents for each woman should come to me at the end of the quarter when she pays, and this includes the cost of the MESSAGE, leaving forty cents for State, National and World's dues. Also her name and address accompanies this. ALICE RUTH PALMER.

ANTI-POLYGAMY.

Mrs. Maria Weed, of Chicago, National speaker in the anti-polygamy campaign, who is so pleasantly remembered in Indiana, will spend the month of May in the Indian Territory. The election of Reed Smoot to the United States Senate from Utah, and the failure to get a report on a constitutional amendment forever prohibiting polygamous marriage, has in no degree lessened the determination of Christian people that this great evil shall be overcome. A partial defeat has no power to discourage those who contend for the right.

SUPERINTENDENTS' REPORTS.

Each State Superintendent has the blanks for reporting her department work. If any county or local Superintendent has not received blanks on which to report, write at once to your State Superintendent. The dropping of the blanket reports and the return to the old established way of reporting, from local to county, and from county to State, getting blanks from the State Superintendents, has necessarily made some confusion.

KITCHEN SHOWER FOR HADLEY HOME.

Greensburg Union, at its last evening meeting, requested the members to each bring a piece of tinware for Hadley Home as an admission fee. About fifty responded at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Crooks. A fine program had been carefully prepared. A brief outline of Hadley Home was given, some excellent music and recitations, refreshments were served, and a general social good time followed. A barrel of nice graniteware, tinware, toweling, etc., was the result. The Union combined recently with the Alliance and held memorial services for Miss Wilford and Neal Dow, and sent their contribution of $2 to the National Memorial fund; also the same amount to the Collegiate Contest to come off at Upland May 1. An effort is now being made to secure Elizabeth Stanley for several days' revival work in May. Greensburg Union is not dead by any means.

PROBABLE GAIN BY JUNE.

From the many favorable reports coming in, it seems probable that by time the June reports are in our Treasurer's books will show a gain in membership. Let us all work to this end not for the sake of gain in members, but for the gain in power it will bring to the cause. If each union would make a net gain of five, it would place Indiana on the honor list at the National Convention.

INSTITUTES.

Marshall County Institute was held at Culver. The State Superintendent's request to hold the meetings in unorganized towns has proven a blessing to us. Through the discussion of methods new life seemed to be instilled, from which we hope for good results throughout the county. A temporary organization was effected whose members are earnest, consecrated women. Mrs. Hall's lecture on the "Gospel of Health" was listened to by a large and interested audience. A social meeting was held the second evening. The paper on Sabbath Observance by Mrs. Minnie Hale, of Bremen, was so well received that a request was made to have it published in the Phalanx. Be sure and read her article. You may expect to hear again from Marshall County and Culver.

Wells County Institute was held at the Six Mile Christian Church, Mrs. Mary Hadley Hall, leader, Mrs. Dr. Goodin, of Bluffton, County President, presiding. On account of the terribly bad roads and rainy weather, the attendance was small, but a good interest was manifested. The various topics were presented in an able and interesting manner, followed by most helpful discussions. "Woman Suffrage," by Mrs. A. T. Studebaker, and "How can the Church Make an Aggressive and Successful Warfare against the Saloon," by Rev. Bolton, followed by enthusiastic discussions, participated in by Messrs. Berne, Reynolds and others. Mrs. Hall's lecture, the first evening, was appreciated and the gold medal contest, on the last evening, was a success. Miss Eleanor King won the medal on "Yacob und der American Wimmins."

Steuben County's Institute was held at Fremont. Local Unions of county were fairly well represented and several visitors were present from Michigan. Most of those on program were on hand to respond, the gentlemen especially being present with one exception, and as some of them came in spite of really serious hindrances, their presence was highly appreciated. We think every minister in town, with possibly one exception, was present and gave us help and encouragement. Mrs. Williner, our County President, sustained herself high in our esteem, as she has ever been. Miss Alice Ruth Palmer is too well known in the State to make mention of her work necessary, but in duty to her, we must say she was ever ready to help, advise and instruct us whenever there was need. Her earnestness is too apparent to question. The women of the Union at Fremont, under many difficulties, did their work nobly and uncompromisingly, and we trust that they may in the near future, in an awakened interest, reap the fruits of their labor.

Lake County recently held a splendid Institute at Hammond, under the leadership of Rev. Alice Ruth Palmer. The departments of Sabbath Observance, Prison and Jail, Franchise, Temperance Literature, L. T. L. and Press were presented and many helpful suggestions were made and encouraging features brought out. "How can the Church Make a More Aggressive and Successful Warfare against the Saloon?" was the topic for the free parliament and it was discussed in a broad and helpful manner. "Financial Questions of the Day," an illustrated talk by the leader, was very impressive, as the contrasts were shown by different colored ribbons of different lengths. The amount our nation spends for all missionary work was represented by the shortest piece; the green ribbon, which represented the amount spent for chewing gum, being several times longer; and those which represented the cost of war, of tobacco and the liquor traffic, were so long that they presented a startling object lesson. Miss Palmer gave an excellent address, the first evening, and a medal contest was held on the second one.

The Normal Institute of Huntington County, held at Markle, March 19 and 20, proved a success in every way. Weather, fair; attendance (both as to White Ribboners and visitors), good; finances satisfactory, and result, as anticipated, a Union of ten members and an L. T. L. organized. Every Union in the county represented—five in all. Our sweet singer of Huntington, Mrs. Wheeler, added much to the interest of the occasion, especially at the evening meetings, when the Markle people, who turned out in great numbers, were especially pleased. The day sessions were held in the Evangelical Church, where the pastor, Rev. Greiner and his pleasant little wife, made everyone feel more than welcome. Mrs. Hall's address on the "Gospel of Health" was delivered to a large audience on the first evening, in the Christian church, and was highly appreciated, the Pastor, Rev. Long, lending his aid very cheerfully at various times during the Institute. Rev. Semens, of the M. E. Church, also gave a short talk during the free parliament. A silver medal contest with a class of seven ladies from various parts of the county was the closing feature, and Mrs. Eichorn, or Warren, captured the prize.

The Henry County W. C. T. U. Institute was held March 26 and 27, at Spiceland, with Mrs. Rose Pearce as leader. While not all of the Unions of the county were represented, the interest was well sustained throughout, and it was certainly one of the events that are "worth while." The program was mostly carried out as arranged by the officers and a contest was held on Thursday night in which Miss Claire Hoover won the medal. In the opening of the Institute, the President, Mrs. Emma Hedges, spoke of the great need of work in the county and especially in New Castle, the county seat. Mrs. Pearce carried out her part of the program with efficiency and the workers were well pleased with the plans as presented by her. She emphasized the idea that each member should take a pride in our organization, read along these lines and attend each meeting, feeling that it is her duty to help make the meeting a success. One of the most helpful and inspiring features of the Institute was the free parliament. How can the church make an aggressive and successful warfare against the saloon? Two or three persons who were appointed to discuss this topic were not present, but our "minute women" filled in the breaches and the time was profitably spent in the discussion. We are encouraged with the thought that the members present from the different Unions received an inspiration that will enable them to encourage the other members of their Unions to more aggressive work throughout the remainder of the year.

The Wabash County Institute was held in North Manchester, Mrs. Hadley Hall leader. The work was unusually interesting, and all subjects were discussed at length. Symposium: What we expect to accomplish through this institute, was helpful to all interested, and showed much thought and deep feeling. Literature: Mrs. Haupt presented this subject, and seven names were added as subscribers to American Mother. Singing and devotional were a great inspiration throughout the sessions. The illustrated lecture by Mrs. Hadley Hall at 7:45 was listened to by a large audience, and Mrs. Hall held the interest from start to finish. She was invited to return at some future date and give the lecture before the city schools. Mrs. Hadley Hall presented the needs of Hadley Home. Mrs. Unger spoke on "What is the work of the W. C. T. U.?" First, a preventative. Second, a reform; and last, though not least, organized mother love. Mrs. Cynthia Jones talked about Sabbath Observance. She urged more self-sacrifice for the special service of God. Evangelists' hour was led by Mrs. King, of South Wabash. Mrs. Maggie Brown, of Manchester, read a most able paper on Non-Alcoholic Medication. Mrs. Cooper, of Farmers' Union, read an interesting paper on L. T. L. work. Parliamentary drill, by Mrs. Hadley Hall, was highly instructive and much interest manifested.

Free Parliament: How can the church make a successful warfare against the legalized saloon? Discussed by Rev. Shaffer, of the U. B.; Elder Burton, of Elkhart; Rev. Rowand, of the First M. E.; Rev. Frierbarger, of the Lutheran; Rev. Snyder, of South Whitley, and Rev. Thomas, Presiding Elder of the U. B. The subject was most ably handled and points made in a masterly way.

The oratorical contest was successful. Mrs. Zoia Thomas won the medal. Eleven or twelve new members were added to our ranks, including all ministers of the city and one from South Whitley.

FIELD NOTES.

At the home of Mrs. Moore, 1902 North Senate avenue, Indianapolis, March 10, the Frances E. Willard W. C. T. U. held a matrons' oratorical contest. Six matrons participated. Mrs. D. Collins was awarded the medal.

The Marion Central W. C. T. U. will have charge of the entire editorial management of one issue of the News Tribune, a daily paper of Marion. All persons desiring a copy of this W. C. T. U. issue will please send to Mrs. Mattie Cammack-Gibson, Jonesboro, Ind.

The Mary Hadley Y. W. C. T. U., of Terre Haute, is adding new members every meeting and the meetings are becoming more interesting and instructive. We are expecting to hold several gospel temperance meetings during the spring and summer and endeavor to get a large number of pledge signers. We have already begun to plan for our part of the great State convention to be held here, and you will hear of us when you attend the convention.

Boone County held a medal contest February 2, at Lebanon, to increase the county funds. The class consisted of two young men, seniors in high school, two young ladies, graduates of the high school and two married ladies. It was the strongest class we have ever had and the best contest with great interest manifested. The receipts were $9.75.

Broad Ripple Union held its February meeting in the beautiful new home of Mrs. White, which was in an appropriate and impressive manner dedicated by the officers. Much spiritual power was manifested and all present felt it was a blessed privilege to serve God and to work for humanity. Temperance Sunday was observed and about thirty signers to the pledge were secured.

The Greencastle Union will observe May 5 as Union Signal Day. Mrs. Cornelia T. Jewett, of Chicago, the Managing Editor of the Union Signal, will be a guest of the Union at this time. The meeting will be in the evening, after which an informal reception will be held. For the next day a W. C. T. U. pic-nic at Fern Cliffs has been planned. The Cliffs are about nine miles from Greencastle, reached by one of the most picturesque creek roads in this part of the State. It is hoped that the Cliffs will put on their most beautiful attire to greet this brilliant lady from the great, noisy, hustling city.

Jonesboro Press Department was profitably observed in a parlor meeting held at Mrs. Maggie Ruley's on March 26. About fifteen members were present, and several guests, among them being the County Press Superintendent, Mrs. Sarah E. Thomas, who brightened our prospects by telling us of the convenience and value of the press in our work. A prepared program of papers and music, all instructive and inspiring, was followed by a short season of sociability, enhanced by sherbet and cake, delicately served. The Jonesboro Union is growing in numbers and interest, and we hope to make our influence for good felt.

The Gas City W. C. T. U. conducted a union temperance meeting on Easter Sunday evening at the M. E. Church. The program consisted of singing "America," devotional exercises by the Christian minister, S. D. Watts (who joined the Union at the close of the services); an anthem by the choir; reading by Miss Blanche Dill; solo, "Think of What Mother Has Said," by Mrs. Alexander; an address, "Alcohol in Medicine, from a Physician's Standpoint," by Dr. Homer J. Hall, of Franklin, Ind.; reading, "Only Sixteen," by Mrs. Welbourn. The program was well rendered, and the large audience was attentive to the end. Five dollars was received in thank offerings. Mrs. Cammack-Gibson is to deliver an address here soon.

Bedford Union wields an immense influence. Through their Mothers' Meetings much interest and enthusiasm has been aroused. Public sentiment has been greatly changed there during the last few years under the able leadership of Mrs. E. R. Braxton and her efficient co-laborers. This Union recently held a very successful parlor meeting, and later a silver medal contest, in the Baptist church. The plan and purpose of the contest department was explained. The contestants were Will McKinley, George Reed, Shirley Sears, Zeno Bailey, Park Denman, Ralph Voyles and Wm. Irvine. Zeno Bailey received the medal. The musical numbers were fine, the audience most appreciative and the entire entertainment a success.

Six Mile Union, instead of Bluffton Union, should have had the credit for the splendid revival services held by Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley. The editor got her information mixed, hence the mistake. Bluffton Union has for years done such splendid work and wielded such a wonderful influence in Wells County, that it was easy to think great things had been done there. Six Mile Union celebrated its first anniversary. Mrs. Gooden, County President, Mrs. Cora McBride, Mrs. C. W. Hawker, and Mrs. Rieff went out from Bluffton to Mr. and Mrs. Markley's, where they partook of a sumptuous dinner and then attended the anniversary meeting in the afternoon. The Union has done excellent work all during the year. All of the officers and Superintendents made good full reports, showing that much time, money and ability had been given by the members to accomplish the work. Every member realizes that she has a work that no other can do, hence the splendid success of the Union. Work, Six Mile Union! Work on!!

IN MEMORIAM.

MRS. NANCY BEBOUT—In the death of Mrs. Nancy Bebout, March 19, the Morocco W. C. T. U. has lost one of its most earnest members, who was at all times a wise counselor. She had been identified with the work in Newton County for many years; first at Mt. Ayr, and then for about twelve years at Morocco. She will be greatly missed in the Union, in the Church, and among a large circle of friends. Suitable resolutions, passed by the Union, were read at the funeral.

JOHN FERGUSON—John Ferguson died at his home in Broad Ripple, of pneumonia fever. John Ferguson, husband of Sister Anna Ferguson, a very much beloved and esteemed member of our Union. Our members all sympathize deeply with our bereaved sister and her two daughters.

MRS. MARTHA J. CONNELLY—Mrs. Martha J. Connelly, of the Frances Willard Union, of Evansville, has been called to heaven. She was 86 years of age, a beautiful Christian character from her youth, and an earnest White Ribboner, being a pioneer W. C. T. U. worker. Members of her family will carry on the temperance work laid down by her. In death she wore a little white ribbon bow and upon her casket amid the floral tokens was seen an elegant large white ribbon bow, emblematic of the pure, unselfish, white life of our beloved sister and the cause she honored.

THE MESSAGE.

"Not by Might nor by Power, but by My Spirit."

VOL. VIII. No. 6.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., JUNE, 1903.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR.

PRESIDENT'S LETTER.

I had hoped to meet a large number of County Presidents at our Mid-Year Executive Committee Meeting at Franklin and learn more about the condition of our work in the State. I am sorry to say, in this I was very much disappointed, as so few were present. But from a very large majority of letters received from Presidents and workers, I must conclude the work is in fairly good condition over the State.

But for all that a real desire lives in my heart to visit each local Union and meet every woman who wears the white ribbon. But while this privilege remains an impossibility I must content myself with this little greeting going to each one by our faithful little visitor, the MESSAGE.

The reports from the Institute Leaders are encouraging, and I hope many of you have gained knowledge and strength of purpose by attending the Institutes, and meeting our State workers. Only those counties that have dropped out, and those that, for good reason—a poor excuse, or none at all—did not attend the meetings, will fail to receive the benefit that the State hoped to give each one by this especial endeavor.

The coming to our State of our great hearted National President and Vice-President will be to me one of the most grateful remembrances of the year, and I only regret that each one of you did not have the opportunity to see and hear them.

Our dear Mrs. Brand is leaving nothing undone that can be done to build up and strengthen our organization. Our workers are in the field, new Unions are being added, and I am looking hopefully toward the future. Our friends are expecting great things of us. So, also, are our enemies. Let us not disappoint the one or retreat before the other, for our cause is worthy of our best effort. Our country's peril calls for our united prayers, and the danger to our homes by the saloon power demands a full consecration to God of all we are or ever hope to be.

It is in my heart to urge each Superintendent to attend the Superintendents' Board Meeting at Muncie, in June. No one can afford to be absent. "In union there is strength." Tell others how you have been helped in your department and they in return will give you good plans. I have received a very kind invitation from your President to be present, and am expecting to meet with you.

I shall be looking in the MESSAGE very soon for some information from our Superintendent of Transportation about going to the National Convention, to be held in Cincinnati. Because the convention will be held so near by is a good reason for beginning to plan so early for our going. Already quite a number of our friends have been asking about it, and expecting to go. I think a much larger number of both delegates and visitors from our State will attend this convention than any in the past. Mother National may not come so near to meet us soon again, so let every one, including our honoraries, be ready when Mrs. McWhirter says it is time to go. Look for items in the MESSAGE and Union Signal.

EUNICE P. WILSON.

In the March issue of a medical journal an article appears under the following heading, "Why do Not the Temperance People Fight the Patent Medicine Enemy?" It says "that this is a question we would like to have any member of the W. C. T. U. or other similar organization to answer. If it is admitted that the army canteen caused drunkards, surely the patent medicine syndicates make a thousand times as many. No one is ignorant of the fact that there are many million dollars worth of these nostrums sold each year, and that multitudes of people are thus secretly and ignorantly turned into drunkards." Dr. Bumgardner (transactions of the Colorado State Medical Society, 1902), says that the following patent medicines contain the percentage given of alcohol:

Green's Nurvura 17.2, Hood's Sarsaparilla 18.8, Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic 19.5, Brown's Iron Bitters 19.7, Kaufman's Sulphur Bitters 20.5, Paine's Celery Compound 21.0, Burdock's Blood Bitters 25.2, Ayer's Sarsaparilla 26.2, Warner's Safe Tonic Bitters 35.7, Parker's Tonic 41.6, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters 44.3. Think of a crusade against beer which contains only from 2% to 5% of alcohol, while allowing a free sale of "bitters" containing ten times as much. The bitters are stronger than whisky, far stronger than sherry, port, etc., and claret and champagne are far behind. It is beyond the truth to say that alcohol causes from one-third to one-half of all the criminals, defectives, insane and dependents which the State is compelled to support. What proportion of these are the products of the patent medicine syndicates, no one can tell. It is surely large. It is only by government protection that the alcoholic nostrum traffic is carried on. This is a profitable business for the syndicates so long as the States will care for their pauperized victims. How long will it continue to do so?—American Medicine.

LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION.

Long, long ago, some dear heart left this beautiful message for us:

"Flowers are the alphabet of angels, whereby they write on hill and vale beautiful truths of God."

I know not the author's name, but how grand the thought. How it lifts us into a higher and better atmosphere, even into the land where the angels dwell. How fitting the deed to carry this message of love everywhere. Into lowly homes and homes of sadness, prisons and jails, orphans' homes and prison cells take "beautiful truths of God. The woods are aglow with this heavenly message. Let us not forget nor neglect those who may never see the shady groves that were "God's first temples." Those of our L. T. L. workers who live where they cannot get the wild flowers may, perhaps, manage their "green house man" like we have ours, coax him to give or sell at a low price, scrap flowers that may not be put on the market. They bring sunshine to the poor, lonely "shut in" and set one more star in the crown of those who are "not weary in well doing." Decoration Day (day of sad memories) will soon be here. Let us not forget our loved and lost, and let us not forget to go, the day before, with flowers tied with white only, for the graves of those of our very own fallen heroes, those who have helped to carry our temperance truths through the enemies' camps, and those, too, who have helped to "free the slaves," those who are bound with the saloon chain. June 9th is coming on wings of love, with roses, beautiful roses. Visit my home, all of you, and take away your arms full of them, in memory of our "angel leader," and remember to take some to everybody, who cannot get them for themselves.

KIZZIE Z. HOLLOWAY,
State Secretary Flower Mission.

Hon. Oliver W. Stewart, the Prohibition Representative in the Illinois Legislature from the Hyde Park District, Chicago, says: "I was treated with uniform kindness and courtesy. This was especially apparent in the consideration of what was known as the Local Option Bill, when, by motion of a member, the rules of the House were suspended and I was permitted to explain my vote on that bill. I explained that while the bill was not satisfactory to me and was not one that my party would stand for, and that while the plans of the Anti-Saloon League were not identical with those of my party, yet I was willing to support any measure that proposed to move upon the liquor traffic, even to a small degree, provided it did not ask me to consent to the license of the liquor traffic on the other hand, and for that reason I voted in the affirmative. The bill passed the House by a clear majority, but was killed in committee in the Senate. The Legislature failed to respond to the appeal of the tens of thousands of good citizens of Illinois to enact the Anti-Saloon League bill, just as all party prohibitionists expected it would fail. In my judgment there will be no advance move on the liquor traffic by the Illinois Legislature until a group of prohibitionists are elected to seats in that body. The average legislator is anxious to do what he believes his constituents want him to do. He knows that his saloon constituents are opposed to any action on the saloon question. He is equally sure that the average decent citizen is indifferent on the subject. The result is that it is impossible to make members feel that there is any strong demand that they legislate against the saloon."

The Illinois Legislature adjourned May 8. Altogether it was a very remarkable session. The most striking event during the entire session was the revolt of the "97" against unconstitutional use of the gavel by the Speaker. It occurred in connection with a Chicago traction bill, and many believe marked the end of what is known as "gavel rule" in Illinois. A convict labor bill, with sweeping changes in it, was passed. A child labor law was also passed which puts Illinois well to the front in child labor legislation. The civil service bill, which many hoped to put through, failed on account of the opposition of many of the strong politicians of the State. The compulsory education act was amended in order to make it more effective.

CINCINNATI.

The next National W. C. T. U. convention will be held in November in Cincinnati. From every county in Indiana visitors will be expected to attend the convention. Special arrangements will be made for our Indiana people to go together. At Cincinnati we expect to have Indiana headquarters. All friends of temperance are invited to attend this great convention. Low rates—wonderful opportunities! Plan now to go to Cincinnati.

LUELLA F. MCWHIRTER,
Supt. Transportation.

STATE SUPERINTENDENTS, LECTURERS, ORGANIZERS AND EVANGELISTS.

The dates for our fifth conference are June 19th, 20th and 21st. You remember at our fifth board meeting we decided to try a new plan, holding over Sabbath in order that we might reach more people. It is not necessary that each Superintendent should remain over Sabbath, but it is greatly desired that all who are willing to speak will do so. The Muncie Unions are enthusiastic in regard to the conference and will do all they can to make it a success. Muncie is a convenient location for most of the Superintendents, and, as President of the Board, I urge you to attend, if you can possibly do so. Let us make it the most successful conference we have ever had. Miss Brehm will be our speaker on the first night and a medal contest will be held the second night. You will be on the program. If you cannot attend, delegate some one to fill your place. As we will only have two days for our business session, please be on hand ready to begin promptly at 9 A. M., June 19. Let us pray earnestly that the Holy Spirit may be manifestly present and that our labor may result in arousing a greater interest in our holy cause and real good to ourselves. Please send your names to the committee in ample time, so that they may know how many to prepare for. The programs will be sent you as soon as they are out, which will be about the first of June. The conference is not so much for reporting our work as setting forth the aims of the various departments and exchanging ideas concerning the best way to make them more effectual in advancing the interest in our organization. Come, bringing your best thoughts and plans. We hope to have with us all the State officers.

ELIZABETH M. HAUGHTON,
President of Board.

ENTERTAINMENT COMMITTEE—Mrs. Amy A. Masters, Chairman, 651 Berlin street, Muncie; Mrs. Jessie Street, 1215 Monroe street, Muncie; Miss Jennie Thorpe, 1215 Monroe street, Muncie.

NON-ALCOHOLIC MEDICATION BLANKS.

The blanks for the Department of Non-Alcoholic Medication have just been sent out to the Superintendents. Will you kindly fill them out and return to me by the 15th of this month. Dear sister, this is the Lord's work, and it requires haste. Last quarter a blank, together with other literature, was sent to every Union with a request that if no Superintendent of this department had been appointed, that one of the local officers would fill out the blank and return it to me. If a report, be it ever so small, be received from every Union, the State Superintendent's report would be a report of a magnificent work done by you, and I believe Indiana would lead in this department at the next national convention. Last year Indiana received half of the prize offered for best work done. By your kindness in sending in a full report of work done, we may rank first of all. I do not hesitate a moment in saying this is one of the most important departments of our work. Scarcely a family that does not use more or less patent medicines. Peruna, so widely advertised, contains 26.43 per cent alcohol. Vinol contains 16.77 per cent. Jamaica ginger, 90 per cent. Other patent medicines contain a similar amount. This subject is anything but a dry one. Hold a meeting in the near future and report success. Give "The Doctor's Day Off," and you will create much sentiment. Again I kindly ask you to fill out report or blank and return to me by the 15th.

AMANDA T. WHITSON,
State Superintendent.

HADLEY SCHOOL PICNIC.

Let us all lay everything aside and spend a day, June 18, with our girls at Hadley Industrial School. A silver medal contest will be given by a class of six of the girls, with short talks by many of our State workers. Bring lunch enough with you for yourself and one more, so that the girls may enjoy a real picnic dinner, after which a treat of strawberries and cream will be served free to all. Train leaves Indianapolis at 7:20 A. M. Hadley at 4:41 P. M. Round trip for 75 cents.

Bloomington held a contest and realized $17 for Hadley School.

Vincennes gave a dinner, and raised $25 for the school.

Indianapolis Meridian donated $46, which was used in furnishings.

Mooreville W. C. T. U. and Missionary Society sent $11, to be applied on new cook stove.

Grant County sends something each month from some of its Unions.

GENERAL OFFICERS AND BRANCH SECRETARIES.

OFFICERS, 1902-1903.

President—Mrs. Eunice P. Wilson, R. R. 16, Jonesboro.
Vice-President—Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, Richmond, R. R. 1.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. Hattie Wright Brand, 1403 Ashland avenue, Indianapolis.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. Mattie Cammack-Gibson, Jonesboro.
Treasurer—Miss Alice R. Palmer, Franklin.

BRANCH SECRETARIES.

General Secretary Young Woman's Branch—Miss Clara M. Sears, 222 West 14th street, Anderson.
General Secretary L. T. L. Branch—Mrs. Ida Mix, Kokomo.

Hereafter the editor will greatly appreciate having condensed reports of the public meetings held. To send the local newspaper clippings, sometimes a half or full column in length, instead of a write-up, is hardly just to the Union, for the editor cannot re-write and condense the article as well as some one who was there.

On July 4th every Union should hold a picnic or a medal contest. We must encourage our young people to be patriotic from a sense of love and responsibility. Let no time be lost in engaging grounds, speakers, musicians, etc. There is no reason why the very best groves in Indiana should not be used for great temperance picnics.

If there are saloons in your community urge remonstrating. Get the voters to work at this. Many saloons are closed as the result of the present law. Many more can be closed. Of course it is tiresome, but it is educative, and our people must be educated to a desire for the entire overthrow of the saloon. When they really are rid of them for awhile and the tax payers count the cost of their maintenance there will be a united effort in Indiana to abolish saloons. This will be successful, just as it has in a large portion of our southern States. Texas, with 142 counties, at this writing has only 17 with open saloons. In all the others the saloon is outlawed. Consider, if you will, what this means to the young people of that great commonwealth. Yes, what it would mean to have the counties of Indiana under such prohibitory law. To have all Indiana under constitutional prohibition is what we must strive for. To this end we must educate and agitate.

SUPERINTENDENTS. FRANCHISE.

Dear superintendents and friends, I wish to ask you, how are we going to work if no reports are sent in, nor any communication between the workers?

The politician, before election time, knows the situation so surely that bets may be quite safely made upon the probable results. That is work that counts. How can your State Superintendent know what can be done if she is left in ignorance of the situation, or, as bad, to guess at the results of a movement? A good chess player or a good general may close his eyes and see the board or the field; anticipate the moves of his opponent and meet them successfully. Why? Because of his perfect knowledge of every piece on the field.

Let me urge you that if you are doing any work, report it to the State Superintendent. If you are not doing anything, write her a friendly letter telling her your opinion of the work, the situation at your place as you see it, why you have done nothing, how many local Unions in your County, and the way the work is met. A few lines will be appreciated.

Now, will we have our franchise supplement for August? I must know whether you will support the project and how much you or your Union are willing to give toward this. Remember what an important department this is, how much the issue contains.

Frances Power Cobbe says: "I think women are bound to seek the suffrage as a very great means of doing good." This is a step toward the end. Have sent out many personal letters, but have not received replies. I must have a more definite idea of your will and your contributions. Let me hear from you at once.

Shall we have the supplement? How much will you contribute?

PEARL RALL,
State Superintendent.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS.

I regret that my first letter comes to you so late in the year. But delay of blanket report blanks prevented an earlier communication. I have just received my blanket report blanks, also several hundreds of pledge cards and tracts on Sunday School work. I can readily supply all needs in Sunday School work by return mail and would send them if I knew just who to send to. I want to appeal to you again through the MESSAGE for an awakened interest and renewed diligence along our line of work, of which all must confess there is none of more importance. That nation builds upon a sure foundation whose children are trained in righteousness and purity. Remember, sisters, there are many homes even in this Christian land that know not Jesus, and it must be our duty to carry to those homes through the Sunday School the gospel of love, truth and purity.

Let our watchwords be agitate, educate. Since we know that some mother's boy or girl is being ruined by lust and liquor, it is absolutely necessary that we push this agitation and education. Six months of our year has past. What will we do in the next six months? I wonder what County Superintendent is striving to win the banner this year. The State Sunday School Convention is to be held the last week in June at Winona Park, Warsaw, Ind. Try and have a strong temperance person as delegate from your county. Let us see what we can do in the way of trying to take the temperance department as the home department. Won't you help me in this way? May the dear Lord help us all to do our very best to bring the truth of the gospel home to the hearts of the Sunday School Superintendents and Officers of the State of Indiana.

CYNTHIA M. JONES,
State Superintendent.

HEALTH, HEREDITY AND PHYSICAL CULTURE.

I desire to create new interest in this department this year and with this object in view I have sent for more literature bearing on this subject than any year I have been your Superintendent. So all Superintendents will please send to me for literature at once and get it out before your workers. If you can best work this department in connection with mothers' meetings, do so. But whatever you do, get this work before the people. Literature will help you greatly. If you have no Superintendent, will you not hold one meeting, any way? Get health columns in the papers and health books in the libraries. Make improvements in sanitary conditions of the home, school and community. Put the work before societies and clubs. Interest physicians in the work and get them to give talks and discuss the department. Give physical culture drills. Teachers will be glad to assist in this work. Watch the health of your school children. Send for literature even if you belong to any Union, and get every Union interested in the question of health.

CLARA AGNES BOYD,
State Superintendent.

MERCY.

L. T. L. Superintendents who have not already done so, should appoint for the Mercy Department local Superintendents, who should endeavor, by holding medal contests, by enlisting the aid of ministers, by having kindness to the lower creation taught in the L. T. L.'s, by the circulation of proper literature (good literature can be obtained from the Humane Education Committee, No. 61 Westminster street, Room 20 (Elevator Exchange street), Providence, R. I., and from C. A. Hamlin, of Syracuse, N. Y.), and by various other means, to create a kindly sentiment toward God's dumb creatures. It is especially requested that each local Superintendent report to me the work which is being done.

College Corner, Ohio.

EARL BOWMAN,
State Superintendent.

MINUTES OF EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MEETING.

Committee convened in the M. E. Church, Franklin, 2 p. m., Thursday, April 16. Devotions were conducted by Miss Clara Sears. Mrs. Amanda Whitson, Mrs. Sarah Lenfestey, Mrs. Dr. Mary H. Hall, Mrs. Tarlton and Mrs. Hessong were visiting members of the committee.

The Treasurer gave the standing of the office to be about the same as the corresponding quarter of last year. About $500 had been received at the last quarter, while $600 is needed to pay the demands. The Corresponding Secretary gave a condensed report of the work of the office.

Mrs. Weed, Mrs. Phelps, Mrs. Stephens and Miss Gordon have made successful trips through the State and many new members have been gained. Mrs. Brand also gave an encouraging report from the 5,000 pledge cards printed. Unions were eager for them.

Mrs. Hessong, Treasurer of the Hadley Industrial School, gave the following report: Unions, $385.41; individuals, $456.01; farm products, $213.91; solicitors, $123.98; total, $1,179.31; total expenses, $1,155.88; balance, $23.43.

Besides the money turned into the treasury, many useful articles in the way of bedding, table linen, kitchen utensils and other useful articles were contributed.

The farm known as the Cox farm, having been held in trust for the School by Mrs. Maggie Cox, of Westfield, has been recently sold and the proceeds will be placed for an endowment fund.

Mrs. Beauchamp, President of the Kentucky W. C. T. U., was introduced and made a most excellent speech of greeting and urged the wearing of the white ribbon as a silent power for good.

Madison County reported having donated $5.00 to the Department of Franchise.

The Corresponding Secretary was directed to write a letter to the Superintendent of Franchise recommending her to make an effort to collect sufficient funds to publish a supplement to the MESSAGE in the interest of her department.

On motion of Mrs. Stanley, the committee endorsed the following resolution:

"That we protest against the publication of all papers read before County W. C. T. U. Institutes of the State, the sentiments of which are not in harmony with the convictions of the W. C. T. U. in any Department of its work."

The time for holding the State Convention was fixed for Oct. 16-20.

Owing to sickness of Mrs. McDaniels, of Terre Haute, President of Knox County, the State relieved that place from holding the State Convention, and it was recommended that Richmond be given the preference.

The committee recommended that Miss Ina Coggeshall be chosen to represent Indiana in the grand diamond contest at the National Convention, to be held in Cincinnati in November. Carl Butler and James Gipe were chosen as alternates.

The following delegates to the World's W. C. T. U. Convention, to be held in Geneva, Switzerland, were appointed: Mrs. Dr. Hall, of Franklin; Mrs. Ada B. Leck, of Indianapolis; Mrs. Roberts, of Pendleton; Mrs. Jennie Ridgway, of Amboy, and Mrs. Elizabeth Haughton, of Richmond.

The printed annual reports of last year that remain unsold were directed sent to County Presidents who were willing to pay express on them, that they might be distributed as free literature.

It was also recommended that County Presidents come to the next State Convention prepared to give in the number of copies of the annual report desired in her County, so that the State may better understand the number to have printed.

It was moved by Mrs. Brand that the Indiana W. C. T. U. begin a campaign for statutory prohibition. This question was discussed at great length, and most excellent suggestions as to the plan were given. Mrs. Beauchamp encouraged Indiana to go into the fight.

Mrs. McWhirter had previously tendered to the central committee her resignation as editor of our columns in the Phalanx, to take effect at the mid-year. It was regretfully received, and Mattie Cammack-Gibson, with Mrs. Brand as assistant, were appointed to take charge of the work.

MATTIE CAMMAK GIBSON,
Recording Secretary.

QUESTIONS.

Ten questions on Indiana W. C. T. U. Annual Report, including the Constitution:

1. What constitutes the Board of Trustees of the Indiana W. C. T. U.?

2. What are the officers and solicitors of Indiana W. C. T. U. Hadley Industrial School together called, and what constitutional obligation to this school has each local Union annually?

3. If a premium offered in the State Plan of Work is won by a local Union, when should it be claimed?

4. What prize, etc., has been offered in W. C. T. U. Institute work? How many State Superintendents have offered prizes in their departments?

5. What is the object of the Annual County Convention and the Annual County Institute which each organized county is expected to hold? What are the distinguishing features of each?

6. What part of each active member's dollar dues is retained in her local and in her county Union, and what part of it comes back to her individually and in what way? What becomes of the remainder of it?

7. What is done with the 10 cents each L. T. L. member is asked to contribute annually? How much is each child invited to bring to all regular meetings for local and general expenses?

8. When should a local Treasurer forward dues to the county Treasurer, and what amount per member? When should a county Treasurer forward dues to the State Treasurer, and how much per member? What list should accompany these amounts?

9. To what are honorary Y. W. C. T. U. members eligible in Indiana? Can all honorary members be Superintendents of departments?

10. Do you regard the individual ownership and study of our Annual Report indispensable to the most desirable results in our work?

The aim of Frances E. Willard National Temperance Hospital, Chicago, is to induce physicians to treat patients wholly without the use of alcoholics, internally or externally administered, and so firmly establish the principle of total abstinence from everything which can intoxicate or awaken a slumbering appetite for liquor.

Prof. Ogg, Superintendent of the Kokomo, Ind., schools, reports that out of 1,300 boys in the city schools, 400 addicted to the cigarette habit, appeared to be about two years behind the non-smokers in their studies.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Will you kindly observe that, comparing the money received for the MESSAGE with the membership of the State, one hundred and twelve and four fifths women who have paid State dues have not paid for the MESSAGE. If every regular member had had her dues paid correctly, sixty-five cents at the end of the quarter sent from her County or local Treasurer to the State Treasurer, this sum would have been augmented from $256 53 to $284.75. Some of these papers are extra subscriptions, so the disparity is even greater than appears in the report. Are you reading this? Does it mean anything to you? Do you know if your name and address and money has correctly reached the County and State Treasurers? Do you know if your post office or mail delivery is not at fault if you do not receive your paper promptly? Treasurers, please note this. If the Treasurer would kindly send to me the list of members, with correct post office address, who are entitled to the paper, and the date when subscription expires, I could make corrections easily and surely with a great saving of time and postage. This is now constitutionally a part of the Treasurer's work. ALICE RUTH PALMER, 398 Kentucky St., Franklin, Ind.

IT MIGHT HAVE BEEN.

"Too bad we have lost Vermont," the temperance people are saying to each other all over the country. "The real reason for that majority against prohibition is the love of liquor," said a gentleman, a close observer, who has spoken several times against license in that State during the late campaign.

"How does it happen that the people of Vermont, the first State to enact a Scientific Temperance Instruction Law, had not learned better than to vote for liquor?" I am asked.

It is true that Vermont, in 1882, passed the first law ever enacted requiring the public school study of the nature and effects of alcoholic drinks and other narcotics as a part of physiology and hygiene, but it was a very weak law, which practically resulted in putting the study into the high schools only, thus reaching a fraction of the pupils, the voters of to-day.

Four years later, the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of that State, led by their President, Mrs. A. J. Perkins, realizing that the scientific temperance education of only about five per cent of the coming voters (the number reached by the high schools) would not educate a majority of Vermont's future voters to personal prohibition and thus strengthen legal prohibition in that State, petitioned for and secured, in 1886, a stronger scientific temperance instruction law. This new law required the branch in question to be taught orally to all pupils unable to read and with graded text-books in the hands of all pupils who had books on other subjects, with a penalty for non-enforcement. The same forces that were then and always have been working against Vermont's prohibitory law, opposed with utmost venom the passage of this strong temperance education law. The opponents evidently foresaw that it meant prohibition for the State forever. Nevertheless, the law passed.

Two years later the defeat of this measure, which open opposition could not accomplish, was secured by accident, mistake, or —. The legislative bill for the consolidation of the school laws of the State, through a mistake, or otherwise failing to enumerate the new scientific temperance instruction law with those to be retained with the other codified laws, at the end of the bill specially cited the number of this new law as one of those which "are hereby repealed." Not a member of the legislature heard from nor the governor who signed the bill knew that the new temperance education law was thus repealed until months after, so it is said.

The next legislature restored the first old law, with no requirements of the study in the lower grades, of text-books for pupils' use, and no penalty for non-enforcement. The sequel to all this recorded itself on the ballots that were cast on February 3, 1903, which made the Green Mountain State a commonwealth that gives its towns and cities the right, if they so choose, to make "a covenant with sin and death" in licensing the sale of the greatest of all causes of degeneracy and crime.

Blackstone says, "law is embodied sentiment." Prohibitory law is embodied sentiment against alcohol. Such sentiment must be made by education before it can be embodied into statutes, and when once secured, if prohibitory statutes are to be perpetuated, the same sentiment must be maintained by education that will teach each succeeding generation that alcohol is by nature an outlaw that should be outlawed. The chief source for anti-alcohol sentiment in the 20th century is the schoolhouse. States that year after year are teaching their public school children, especially in lower grades, where alone the larger cities can be reached, the physiological reasons for obeying the laws of health, including those that teach total abstinence, are the nearest to the overthrow of the awful dominion of alcohol within their borders.

INSTITUTES.

At Hartford City the Blackford County Spring Institute was held April 28 and 29 with most gratifying results. It began with a matron's contest Tuesday evening, which was well attended and very interesting. The recitations were fine and were listened to by an appreciative audience. Mrs. Roberts gave a selection entitled, "Who will Roll Away the Stone," which won her the medal. The music by the Presbyterian choir, at which church the evening services were held, was greatly appreciated, as was also the mandolin club. Much advertising was done through the papers, in the churches and by letters throughout the county. This cost us no money except the postage, but it did take quite a little time to advertise. Our efforts brought success and our hearts were cheered by the presence of a large audience. We discussed the subjects of fees at the door, tickets, etc., at our Local Union, but as there is much honest opposition in this city to either method, we finally concluded to have open doors and depend on our collection, which we did, with the result—overran our expectation. Let us endeavor to keep peace and harmony within all our borders. We might have pressed the matter, sold tickets or charged admission, thereby causing dissension, but I am sure all who submitted their own wish, yielding to the opinion of the other side, felt well rewarded by the success of the Institute.

Wednesday morning we met at the Grand street church with the Frances Willard Union. The attendance was good at the day sessions, which were lively and interesting throughout. "What is the Work of the W. C. T. U.?" was ably handled by Mrs. Stahl, and "The Plan for Dealing with the Saloon," by Rev. Woodruff. "Alcohol in the Home as a Medicine" was discussed by the Institute, led by Mrs. Shannon. Mrs. Stahl's lesson on parliamentary rules caused some amusement, as a matter of course. Papers on "Why Annually Observe a Memorial for Miss Willard?" by Mrs. Lee, and "The Boy and the Cigarette," by Mrs. Inman, and "Our National Sin," by Mrs. Likely, were well received. Rev. Durfey spoke enthusiastically on "What Part should the Church take in Moral and Social Reform?" in which he placed the church as a soul saving institution and the W. C. T. U. as a means to an end.

In the evening Rev. Watkins, of Montpelier, lectured on "Christian Citizenship," which was pronounced very fine. Thus closed a most successful Institute and we are encouraged by the statement of those who are in a position to know, they just get better and better.

Howard County W. C. T. U. Convention was very interesting and instructive. The subject of "Sabbath Observance" was discussed in all its phases. Miss Sears spoke on "Whither Are the Young People Drifting?" Miss Edith Hillis read an excellent paper on "The Possibilities of the L. T. L." This is the young people and children's branch of the work. Mrs. Ida Hopkins, who, in former years, was President of the Kokomo Union, had charge of the devotional exercises. Miss Rebecca Street read an able paper on "Alcohol in the Home as a Medicine or Used in Food." The subject was discussed in a very interesting manner by Dr. Harrison and others. One of the best papers during the day was by Mrs. Nora T. Gause. Subject, "Benefits to be Derived from the Full Enfranchisement of Woman." This subject was fully and freely discussed. We think if any doubting Thomas was in attendance who might be uncertain about women wanting to vote, he must have been convinced that there was no doubt about it, but that the whole convention was unanimous in claiming the right to citizenship. The subject, "How Can Christians Make an Aggressive and Successful Warfare Against the Saloon?" was ably handled by Mrs. Allen, of Sycamore; Rev. Murray Kenworthy and Hon. A. B. Kirkpatrick. After the adjournment Miss Sears addressed a meeting of the young ladies of the high school.

St. Joseph County Institute was held at the Christian Church in South Bend. Rev. Alice Ruth Palmer, leader. Mrs. Shoutz and Mrs. Holler added much by their presence and helpfulness. Mr. Bassett spoke with enthusiasm on "Literature in the Home." A paper on "The Possibilities and Educational Advantages of the L. T. L.," by Mrs. Weld, was greatly appreciated. Papers by Mesdames Bernbard, Baxter, Fasnacht and Miss Haines were of great interest. On the first evening there was an excellent address by Miss Palmer. On the second evening, an oratorical contest was held, Miss Ethel Ruth Barker winning the medal. The musical program was fine. While the judges were out, Miss Palmer gave a chart talk which was very interesting. During the Institute Miss Palmer won many friends for herself and the cause.

Elkhart County Institute closed last Friday night with a very successful Gold Medal contest, at which Miss Pansy Kantz, of Nappanee, was winner. The Institute was held at Elkhart by Mrs. A. P. Daub, County President, assisted by Mrs. Katie Wert Holler, of South Bend, and was a success throughout. Ministers, doctors and teachers of the County were on the program and took an active part, and the music was fine.

Delaware County Institute was held at Muncie, in the new M. E. Church at Eaton, with Mrs. Mary Hadley Hall as Leader. Although it rained almost continuously on both days, the attendance was fair and the enthusiasm greater than usual. We all enjoyed Mrs. Hall very much. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers and palms, and the pastor did everything to make it pleasant for all. A Loyal Temperance Legion was organized with 86 members, with Mrs. Lydia Carmichael as Leader. The week following we had the pleasure of entertaining and listening to our beloved National President, Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens, the Vice-President, Mrs. Anna Gordon, and Mrs. Brand. To Mrs. Brand we owe our most sincere thanks for bringing the national officers to us. Miss Gordon spoke in the afternoon to the children, and from the enthusiasm she created a Loyal Temperance Legion was organized, which meets every two weeks and is doing good work.

FIELD NOTES.

Tippecanoe County Normal Convention was held in the Free Methodist Church at LaFayette. Attendance good. The County President, Miss Eliza Baker, and the Presidents of the three Unions of LaFayette were present, and the County Superintendents of the various departments. The topics presented brought forth some interesting discussions, and each subject was ably defended by the party presenting it. The subject of intemperance has been greatly agitated in our city in the past year, therefore gave a broad opening for all interested therein, and it was encouraging indeed to the W. C. T. U. to note how many who heretofore had seemed so indifferent to the work take a deep interest. Mrs. K. T. A. Straw, after heating a spoonful of lemon extract, allowed the audience to watch how long it took the alcohol to burn out. It is surprising how many are ignorant as to this fact. She spoke earnestly on the subject of giving children the various "patent medicines," supposed by many mothers to be a necessary article for the infant; how the "soothing syrups," etc., with their morphine and other poisonous substances, were resorted to, thereby bringing the child up to the morphine and whisky habit, as it had been instilled into it from infancy.

This was one of the most interesting conventions ever held in LaFayette, and besides the added membership, it strengthened the members of the W. C. T. U., and each one concluded to work more diligently the coming year in the great cause. The only drawback to the perfect day was the lack of time, and each felt that if the day had been as much longer it could have been improved. Mrs. Wm. Vaughn, President of the Central W. C. T. U., gave an interesting talk on the way to treat the liquor traffic. There was only one way of treating the saloon, and that was "a death dealing blow at the beginning." There were too many talking against the saloon and then voting for it. Her recitation was along this line also, and received applause. It was decided to accept the 22d and 23d of July for work at the Battle Ground camp meeting, also the evening of the 22d, and we hope to make the time occupied as interesting and helpful as possible. A committee was appointed to look after the same. Rev. F. B. Lutz, of the Free Methodist Church, who is heart and soul in this great work, gave some interesting and beneficial talks along the different lines. In the evening Rev. Rippetoe held a temperance meeting at the Congress M. E. Church. He, too, is an earnest worker in this cause, and his sermon was deep, educational and to the point. The pulpit and press are among the W. C. T. U.'s greatest workers. The day was glorious. Likewise the work of the convention.

Indianapolis Mapleton Union held a fathers' and mothers' meeting Friday evening, April 24th, at Mrs. Sarah Rodman's, corner of Thirty-fourth and Salem streets. Despite the heavy downpour of rain at half past seven, and the continued threatening weather, a company of more than twenty-five persons gathered to listen to an address by Rev. Beck, of the M. E. church, on "The Attendance of Children at Churches," and to an address by Mrs. Kate Carr on "The Moral Training of Children." Both subjects were ably handled. The discussions following the presentation of each were exceedingly interesting and enjoyed by all. Light refreshments and a social hour followed. Every one felt repaid for coming out, even though it was dark, muddy and rainy.

Saturday, May 16, was a day of unusual interest on the subject of Temperance at Princeton. The Union arranged to have Mrs. Hattie Brand and Miss Carrie Lee Carter, National Organizer. Most heartily did the ministers of the city co-operate and the entire day was given over to these workers. In the morning they occupied the pulpit of the First Presbyterian church. In the afternoon Miss Carter addressed a mass meeting in the M. E. church, and at the same hour Mrs. Brand spoke in the colored M. E. church. At night there were two union meetings, one in the U. B. church (a down-town church), and the other in a distant part of the city. Both churches were crowded and 49 members added to the Union. The speakers were invited to appear before the ministerial association Monday morning. The people of Gibson County are actively at work against the saloon. They have been banished from several towns and we hope to see the county seat free from the curse.

Franklin Union held a non-alcoholic medication meeting May 19th at the home of one of its members. Dr. H. J. Hall, Superintendent of this department, had charge of the meeting and during his talk brought out many facts beneficial to those present. Many questions were asked by the members along the line of non-alcoholic stimulants. The meeting proved to be one of the most interesting and profitable held for some time. One member was added to the Union at the close of the meeting.

As a result of the Institute in Huntington County, a little Union and a flourishing L. T. L. was left as a reminder of the occasion in Markle. Huntington local Union now comes forward in the proper spirit of helpfulness and has engaged Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley to give Markle the benefit of her forceful thought.

Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley spent a week at Moore's Hill and several days at Greensburg and Huntington. Great results followed.

South Kokomo Union is to be congratulated on having secured Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley's services for Sunday, May 17. Mrs. Stanley spoke earnestly both morning and evening and addressed the Sunday School at Markland avenue M. E. church in the afternoon. Ten new members were added to the Union.

At Owensville Mrs. Brand and Miss Carter held meetings on May 15th. Five new members were added to the organization. Owensville has put away the saloons and the people are alive to the interest of the home and church.

The Minnehaha sailed May 16 with the national officers and delegates to attend the world's W. C. T. U. convention, which meets in Geneva, Switzerland, June 9th. Mrs. Ada B. Leck, of Indianapolis, our Indiana delegate, was in the party and we will expect to learn from her much in regard to the great convention.

Picnic at Hadley Home June 18. Be sure and arrange to attend and bring plenty of lunch. Everybody must plan to go who is interested in our Hadley Home. Be sure and take some present with you from yourself and neighbors for the Home or for one of the dear little girls.

In Texas the wave of local option still rolls on. Four more counties have called for elections and it is prophesied that they will vote for prohibition.

Shugart Union, Marion, mourns because death entered two of its homes. Mrs. Haines, mother of Henry Haines, an honorary member, died April 26, and Gerard Cunningham, son of E. B. and Ida Cunningham, went home April 23. Mrs. Cunningham is Superintendent of the Loyal Temperance Legion, and Gerard was a devoted member. His bright, sunny face will be sadly missed. The most pathetic scene in the funeral service was the marching of the Loyal Temperance Legion past the open casket and a white carnation being dropped in by each member. Tears were in every eye and a wound in every heart for their dearly beloved playmate. The floral offerings were the most beautiful ever seen at any child's funeral in the city. Both the family of Mr. Haines and Mr. Cunningham have the heartfelt sympathy of Shugart W. C. T. U. We commend them to our Heavenly Father, who alone is able to heal broken hearts.

The Novel Entertainment, "The Doctor's Day Off," was given to a full house by the Indianapolis Mapleton Union, in the University Place Baptist Church, on North Meridian street, on the evening of May 19. The entertainment was quite pleasing and instructive, which was quite manifested by the frequent applause. This is a happy way of presenting this subject and has made quite a bit. It has fixed the truths of the great harmfulness of medicines containing alcohol, and other dangerous drugs, upon the minds of the people in a way that nothing else has done. An original story on this subject by Mrs. McDermid, two recitations and good music by three little tots and a quartet completed this most interesting entertainment. No one who attended this meeting will say that the subject of Non-Alcoholic Medication is a dry subject. The door receipts, as well as the entertainment, was quite pleasing to the ladies of the Union.

The South Bend Frances Willard Union held a very interesting meeting recently at the home of Mrs. F. L. Axtell. The entire meeting was given over to the department of parliamentary usage. A parlor play entitled, "A Business Meeting," was presented by ten members, portraying in a very amusing way a business meeting where parliamentary laws are not observed. A drill was also given, after which there was a general discussion on the work of this department. The County President and all the local Presidents were present. Some time was spent hearing what is being done along the line of this department in the different Unions. So much enthusiasm and interest was shown that it was decided to hold a similar meeting in two weeks, to which all Unions in the county are invited.

Fredericksburg Willard Union held Frances Willard Memorial Services in the M. E. Church. "America" was sung, followed by members reading Scripture texts in response to roll call. Prayer by Mrs. Royce; Readings and recitations by Maggie Williams, Annie Moore, Edith Denrees, Mamie Brown; also by Wilson Gresham, a beautiful recitation, "It is God's Battle and He Calls You." (If every Christian would respond to God's call, what an army he would have in the battle against King Alcohol.) H. L. Sieg spoke of the origin of great events, especially of the W. C. T. U. Mr. Sieg is an able talker and we hope to see him afire in the temperance work in the near future. After a few remarks by the President concerning our work, a collection was taken amounting to about $3.00, which was forwarded to the National Treasurer for the Willard memorial fund.

In Boston, Mass., the Prohibitionists of the city have endorsed the plan of Mr. Fred. E. Britten to have preaching services Sunday afternoons in Tremont Temple. A strong committee on preliminary organization has been appointed. Mr. Britten expects to hold his first service the last Sunday in May and to continue indefinitely after that.

At Fairmount Union, in a recent meeting, Hadley Home and its needs were discussed, and it was decided that all who wished to contribute anything that would be useful might do so. As a result, a box valued at $18.00 and $10.00 in cash were contributed and forwarded, with more to follow.

Moore's Hill W. C. T. U. had the pleasure of having with them Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens and Miss Anna A. Gordon. They lectured on the evening of March 26th in the Methodist Church to a large and appreciative audience. The church was beautifully decorated by committees from each of the college societies. A collection was taken amounting to $24.42.

Mrs. Elizabeth Houghton will be at Nevada, in Tipton County, on Saturday and Sunday, the 13th and 14th of June, and can fill any appointments in that part of the State just prior to those dates or between them and the 18th.

The Huntington L. T. L. gave a most interesting Mercy contest at the Christian Church in April. Miss Hilda Deighton won the silver medal and Miss Fern Spangler the second prize. All the contestants did well. This for the Hadley Home offering.

IN MEMORIAM.

MRS. LYDIA E. MOORMAN, of Phlox Union, was called home on April 8, aged 75 years. She was a faithful, earnest Christian, a member of the Friends Church, and a loyal White Ribboner. As Superintendent of Mothers' Meetings she was most helpful to the Union and to the cause. Loved by all who knew her, although we miss her, still her influence lingers with us.

"Not by Might nor by Power, but by My Spirit."

VOL. VIII. No. 7.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., JULY, 1903.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR.

SUMMER ASSEMBLIES.

ISLAND PARK—ROME CITY, IND.

Every White Ribboner who can do so should spend a week at Island Park. Our temperance clans will gather there. July 30, lecture by Col. Geo. W. Bain; July 31, W. C. T. U. entertainment; August 4, W. C. T. U. Day; August 5, Temperance Day—Hon. Oliver W. Stewart, orator, and Miss Eva Marshall Shoutz and Miss Maud Baker, readers; August 6, Mrs. Ormiston Chant. In the parlor of the W. C. T. U. House mothers' meetings and a W. C. T. U. council will be held daily. Prohibition sentiment fills the air at Island Park.

BETHANY PARK.

Bethany Park is beautifully situated and of easy access for Indianapolis people. The cool breezes and fine water make it a delightful place. Mrs. Frances E. Beauchamp, Oliver W. Stewart and Mrs. Carrie Nation will speak on July 27. Plan now to go to Bethany Park. Our temperance forces will be there. Dr. and Mrs. Homer J. Hall and the splendid committee will welcome all who go. Railroad rates very low. Morgan County White Ribboners and their families will be there and give all who go a cordial greeting. Spend several days at Bethany Park. If this is impossible, take your lunch basket well filled and spend W. C. T. U. Day. Let the white ribbons be as numerous there as the snowflakes that helped defeat Napoleon at Moscow.

BATTLE GROUND—LAFAYETTE.

W. C. T. U. Days July 22 and 23. The temperance people of this part of the State are urged to attend. See program elsewhere. These days will be provided with speakers who pay their own expenses and work for the cause. Please rally to their support.

SHAME!

Dr. Francis E. Clark, President of the great Christian Endeavor organization, has lately been traveling in India, and in conversation with a party of Brahmins on the subject of intemperance, the following statement was made to him by one of the party: "We Brahmins are teetotalers by religion, custom, birth and tradition; but the government under which we live, Great Britain, is forcing the liquor curse upon us against our will. Even when we struggle to free ourselves it is no use. Our rulers think more of revenue than they do of our souls and bodies. They would send us all to perdition for the sake of raising the taxes more easily! We are trying to get a law passed prohibiting the sale of liquor in any district where three-fourths of the people of the district or city ward petition against it. But even that the officials will not allow, and our country will be cursed by liquor, we fear, in spite of all."

The recent reports of increased liquor sales in Manila under the beneficent rule of our own enlightened government point in the same direction.

DO YOU KNOW

That 50 per cent of every dollar tax you pay is because of the liquor traffic?

That we have 1,250,000 drunkards with will, mind, character and hopes for this life and that of the future gone?

That we have another army equally as large approaching drunkenness, swelling the whole army to 2,500,000?

Who is responsible for these appalling facts?

License is not intended to stop the liquor traffic, but to perpetuate it.

If you vote with the liquor dealers, you vote for their business.

The saloon curse will not be destroyed until the government and the people dissolve partnership with it.

The battle must be desperately fought and the field of battle is the field of politics, and the foes of the saloon must unite against its friends.

There is but one power in the land stronger than the saloon and that is the church. In some of the States the State Boards of Statistics show that 81 per cent of criminals, 80 per cent of paupers, 55 per cent of insane and 44 per cent of idiots and feeble minded are traceable to the use of intoxicating liquors. Besides the drunkards who perish annually, multitudes of the innocent lose their lives by accident and women and children without number are heartbroken and homeless.

Is it not time for a union of forces against this giant of all evils? Are YOU for or against it?—Ex.

The saloon keepers of Bedford organized a lodge of Knights of Fidelity last night—a secret order composed exclusively of liquor dealers. The lodge from Seymour came over and started things going. It is said the K. of F. will make it hot for the Nicholson law and the W. C. T. U. when the next Legislature convenes.—Bedford Daily Mail, June 16.

FROM OUR PRESIDENT.

The month of roses will be past and gone before this little message of my love and remembrance shall have reached you. The pleasant June days! What have they brought to us? A more deeply settled conviction that our cause is right. That our plans have been tried and found practicable. That the womanhood of our country will not keep silent while the work of death committed by the saloon goes on. This, and much more, has helped me to seek to give my best to the work of the W. C. T. U., and I have been glad many times since joining the White Ribbon army that we should not be held responsible so much for great results growing out of our efforts to serve home and country, but rather for our faithfulness in little duties near at hand.

Many new women have joined our ranks this year, and their help will be much appreciated in the State, especially so now when some of our tried and true workers feel that they must have a little vacation in the hot summer months. I hope, however, that very many of our workers may find at least a few days of rest and recreation at our summer assemblies and at the same time keep the temperance work before the people.

I think it is not too soon to commence planning for our annual day of prayer and thank-offering in August. A suggestive program, with envelopes containing a note of explanation, will be sent out in time for the meetings, but let us be talking about it, and get our friends interested so that all our preparations will not have to be made in the last few days. I sincerely believe if this day of prayer and thank-offering is observed in our organized counties we will receive in return a great revival of spiritual life in our local Unions, as well as the wherewithal to carry on our work.

I can hardly realize we are now in the last quarter of this year's work. How much it suggests to all of us so much to be done in the time left to do it. But I know every loyal heart beats in unison with mine that this year may be our best year "for God and home and native land."

EUNICE P. WILSON.

LIGHT FROM A LAYMAN.

The British Medical Journal contains some striking prohibition arguments. This is the leading British medical journal; it is in no sense a teetotal publication; it is not written for nor addressed to abstainers; indeed, few of the readers take any interest in the total abstinence movement. In a leading article, which is not the work of an abstainer, nor is it written in the interest of the teetotal party, nor intended to promote total abstinence, the following statements are given prominence as quotations from leading medical authorities:

"Were it not for alcohol, we might close nearly all our hospitals, prisons, orphanages and asylums, as there would be practically nothing for any doctors to do."

"Alcohol is a deadly poison, only to be classed with arsenic, strychnine, belladonna and henbane."

"If you cut off the moderate supply of alcohol entirely, you diminish the death and sick rates one-half, and abolish crime and poverty."

Y. W. C. T. U.

On May 24th Miss Sears organized a most promising "Somerset Y" at Indianapolis at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Fox, with Miss Burris as President and Miss Holliday as Vice-President. The home of Miss Mabel Benson, the county Y. W. C. T. U. Secretary, is near this Y., and we know she will help to guide them. They have gone to work in earnest. Let us pray for these noble girls, and that their brothers may come and help. Saturday, June 20, they held their social at the home of the Vice-President, Miss Holliday.

On June 13, at Phlox, Howard County, a splendid Y. was organized, with fourteen active and three honorary members. Miss Bessie Fox, President; Miss Adah Overman, Vice-President; Katherine Hinshaw, Corresponding Secretary; Miss Nellie Howard, Recording Secretary; Miss Maude Miller, Treasurer. We hope they will name their Y. the Ellis Y., of Phlox, for one of the grandest Christian characters any community can be blessed with. This Y. will plan a grand gold medal contest and ice cream social to be held on the lawn of Mr. Shockney. Everything is in their favor for splendid work. Pray for them, dear Ys., in this State.

Otterbein Y. reports 20 active and 9 honorary members. They are filled with enthusiasm, for, at their county seat, Fowler, Benton County, recently was witnessed a wonderful demonstration when the people carried banners into the auditor's office, which read, "We signed it, and we are going to stay with it," "Yes, we are willing to go to Fowler," etc. License was refused three men in Bolivar. Just to think, in this large crowd no liquor taint on their breath. In that crowd were young men, white haired men, some who fought for our country. They went there for a purpose. God bless Benton County.

Oxford Y., organized in March during the County Institute, held an ice cream social, and has plenty of money in its treasury to pay its dues this third quarter. We expect great things from it.

Fredericksburg Y. is doing good work, five active members paying dues for the third quarter. Miss Palmer was the leader of the County Convention, which met on the 11th and 12th of May, and the instruction given by her was considered a great help by the Ys.

Goshen Y. reports 16 paid members on the active list and two honoraries. The organization is in splendid condition under the faithful leadership of its Secretary, Mrs. Amanda S. Kauffman.

Anderson Y. will have a demonstration in Health Dress at the home of Superintendent of Physical Culture, Mrs. Dr. Bush. Seventy-five invitations were issued to Anderson ladies. The event will prove one of the most helpful of any afternoon which has been given in the city for a long time.

Anderson Y. has had the pleasure of sending one of its members to Muncie for the gold medal contest held in connection with the State Superintendent's meeting. Miss Janet Fenimore is wonderfully gifted, and Anderson Y. is very proud of her.

Indiana Ys., hold up your hands. Come to our help. We need your best talent, brains and strength. Give it to the Lord in this branch of his work and you will be blessed. Pray for your Secretary and for one another. Try to double your membership by next quarter, September 15, the last of the year.

CLARA M. SEARS.

AN INDIANA WOMAN HONORED.

Floy Gilmore, of Indiana, has been appointed assistant attorney-general of the Philippines. She is the first woman to be honored with so high an office in the islands. She is a native of Indiana, and for several years was private secretary to Prof. E. Finley Johnson, instructor in law at the University of Michigan. During that time she showed an aptitude for law, and took a course in the university under the direction of Professor Johnson.

When Professor Johnson was appointed judge of the Court of the First Instance in the Philippines, Miss Gilmore accompanied him to Manila, and remained in his employ as private secretary. She learned Spanish and took the examination for stenographer and typewriter in the civil service in the islands. Miss Gilmore was assigned to the office of the attorney-general in September, 1901, and showed such aptitude for the work in connection with the office that she has now been made assistant to the attorney-general.—Washington Dispatch.

Floy Gilmore is a Greensburg product. She was born in Greensburg, educated in our city schools and graduated from our high school. As a school girl her ability in declaiming attracted attention, and on several occasions the public was entertained and instructed at prohibition rallies by her when competing for medals. It is my recollection that she was universally successful over all competition. She won a gold medal at a rally in Court House Park in 1892 on the occasion of a speech by Indiana's "grand old man," Aaron Worth. This was a Congressional District contest, several counties contesting. Subsequently she won another gold medal, and as at that time there was no chance for a diamond one in the State, her efforts in the medal line ceased. She removed with her mother, who was a very earnest, active W. C. T. U. member, to Elwood, where, with her mother's assistance in part, but principally by her own efforts, she became an expert stenographer and typewriter, reporting for the court and press, and finally successfully taking a law course at Ann Arbor, paying her way by her own efforts. Miss Gilmore is about twenty-five years old now, and I believe her career is without precedent in the nation. It is remarkable what a woman can accomplish in the present day and age, as this imperfect sketch of Miss Gilmore proves.

S. V. WRIGHT.

Greensburg, Ind.

Chancellor Day, of Syracuse University, declares the greatness of the cause of prohibition is apace with organized opposition. In a letter to Mr. Woolley he says: "The cause of prohibition is greater than ever before, because our country is greater and because the tremendous forces of organized brewers and rum-sellers are greater, and because the sophistries put forth by a secular press, which confuse the issue, never were greater. God bless you with great wisdom. You could not have greater devotion and courage."

GENERAL OFFICERS AND BRANCH SECRETARIES.

OFFICERS, 1902-1903.

President—Mrs. Eunice P. Wilson, R. R. 16, Jonesboro.
Vice-President—Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, Richmond, R. R. 1.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. Hattie Wright Brand, 1403 Ashland avenue, Indianapolis.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. Mattie Cammack-Gibson, Jonesboro.
Treasurer—Miss Alice R. Palmer, Franklin.

BRANCH SECRETARIES.

General Secretary Young Woman's Branch—Miss Clara M. Sears, 222 West 14th street, Anderson.
General Secretary L. T. L. Branch—Mrs. Ida Mix, Kokomo.

The desperate efforts of the saloon element is shown in its splendid organization. Our people must think and they must act.

If you know of a loyal White Ribboner who will move to another city, please send such item to the MESSAGE. All the Unions need the inspiration and help that comes from those who have worked elsewhere. Send a postal with such information and it will be gladly received.

Perhaps your Union is not holding contests because the dear faithful workers cannot do the work. If so, why not regularly appoint some young woman as Superintendent of the Contest Department? If wisely selected, a young woman will succeed wonderfully well in getting young people interested. Try this plan.

A copy of the Union Signal should be on the library of sitting room table in every temperance woman's house in our country. Because she needs the news it contains. Because those in her home will read it. Because no Christian temperance woman can afford to be ignorant of the temperance work carried on by the women of the world.

Now is the time for agitation for a prohibitory law for Indiana. You can do much to arouse your household to thinking along this line if you will show them the results of the prohibitory law (local option) in the Southern States. Read up on these. It means much to have 17,000,000 of people and more in the Southland, out of 27,000,000 population, under prohibitory law.

The National W. C. T. U. convention will be held just across our border line this year—at Cincinnati. Headquarters will be secured. We expect that hundreds of Indiana people will attend this convention. Now is the time to plan for the trip. Arrange to take your son or daughter with you with the understanding that it is to attend the convention and not to spend the time sight seeing.

Oliver W. Stewart, National Chairman, made a fine record as a member of the Illinois Legislature. He is a highly educated and cultured Christian gentleman who lives above the clouds in moral thinking—a sun crowned man. As an orator Mr. Stewart has few equals. His services are in such demand that but few dates for the entire summer are open. We are to have him in Indiana, at Bethany Park, July 26 and 27, Island Park (Rome City) August 5, Remington August 9 and 10. The temperance people should not fail to arrange for large delegations from their towns to go to hear him. Plan now for this.

MRS. NEFF'S ANTI-CRUELTY PRIZE.

To the boys and girls of Cass County under sixteen years of age, I hereby offer three prizes—five dollars to the first, three dollars to the second and two dollars to the third—for the best eight-line rhyme incorporating three reasons why one should not ride or drive a docked horse. The manuscripts must be written in ink, come by mail and be ready for the judges by July 1, 1903.

MRS. FLORA T. NEFF, Logansport, Ind.

Since the above announcement, Mrs. C. L. Berry offers two hand-painted plates as fourth and fifth prizes. Who's next?

A nice picnic with luncheon is promised those who participate in this mercy contest.

Dr. Chambers, physician to the Prince of Wales, says that "with the common wine treatment in typhoid fever, the deaths are one in five; without wine, one in forty."

KNIGHTS OF FIDELITY.

The liquor dealers are organizing. They have laid plans for aggressive work by forming a secret organization, the Knights of Fidelity, limited to members of the trade. They have their official organ. Consider what this means.

Every Christian is needed now in the ranks of temperance organization. The crisis is coming when it will no longer be safe or practicable to stay on the fence. Every man will be expected to get into a congenial camp, if it is with the temperance people or with the saloon element. He will have to take sides. Christian men and women, get information, buckle on the armor of God and throw yourselves into this warfare until you die or the saloon dies.

THE NEW MOVEMENT.

A year ago liquor dealers established a protective bureau. The work accomplished shows the determination, plan and effectiveness of this new movement. It has reached into 22 States, with actual participation in 181 local contests where local option was at issue. It has collected names of voters at such places and distributed 2,515,000 tracts and other forms of literature, and at the recent session of the National Association it proposed to cover all sections with literature which shall "lay the prohibitory idea at rest." "A model license law" is to be devised within the next year, which is pronounced to be one of the most important undertakings before the bureau.

A claim is made that the literature campaign has defeated temperance in 125 local contests and has "thrown off the yoke of prohibition from Vermont and New Hampshire." The report further contains this significant paragraph:

"Where possible a representative of the bureau has visited troubled States, ascertained definitely and fully the situation and consulted with the local people as to the best means of procedure. This has brought the bureau in touch with our people throughout the country, resulting in the establishment of mutually advantageous relations."

From all this the impending crisis seems to be rapidly approaching. Very soon every man and intelligent woman who loves temperance and whose opposition counts for God and home and native land must take up the battle and meet this formidable enemy.

A DAY WITH OUR GIRLS.

On June 18 the annual picnic was held at the Hadley Industrial School. Among the Unions represented were the following: Westfield, Indianapolis Central, Indianapolis Palmer, Indianapolis Tarlton, Broad Ripple, Monrovia, Mooresville, Danville, Plainfield, Greencastle, Brazil, Campbellsburg, Bedford, Franklin, Avon. The program in the morning consisted of vocal and instrumental duets, songs, choruses and recitations by our girls and an address by Mrs. Mary Hadley Hall, of Franklin. In the afternoon a silver medal contest was held and Katie Collins won the medal. All the speakers did well.

While the judges were out Miss Ida Kurney, of Taylor University, at Upland, recited "Patsy." She is one of our Hadley girls, who has finished the work of our school and now is a student at Taylor, with bright prospects. Ida has unusual ability as an elocutionist.

After the contest Mrs. McWhirter made a short address, closing with an appeal for furnishings for the beautiful Home.

The visitors brought well supplied lunch baskets and shared the contents with the girls. At noon groups of picnickers were everywhere to be seen in the beautiful grounds, enjoying the rare day in June under such favorable circumstances. In every group could be seen sweet faced girls who were eating with guests.

The weather was ideal, and everything possible for the convenience and enjoyment of the guests was provided by our splendid Superintendent, Mrs. Randolph, and the faithful trustees, Miss Hobart, Mrs. Tarlton and Mrs. Hessong.

SUPERINTENDENTS.

JAIL AND PRISON WORK.

Mrs. Ellen Davis, of Indianapolis, State Superintendent of Jail and Prison Work, is a tireless worker in her department. She is a member of the Indianapolis Central Union. At the last meeting of the Union her report as local Superintendent was as follows: Meetings at the work house for men, 10; meetings at the work house for women, 9; meetings at State prison for women, 5; Home of the Friendless, 5; Door of Hope, 12; 1,900 pages of literature distributed; 1,500 tracts; 100 Bible texts; 2 Bibles; 2 Testaments; wrote one letter for prisoner, and secured 82 signatures to the pledge. Mrs. Davis is a welcome visitor at all of these places, and her work and words are much appreciated.

ANTI-NARCOTICS.

Dear Sisters—I received only three reports for the quarter ending March 15. All County Superintendents of this department were sent supplies of report blanks, sufficient for three quarters, in February. I know much work is being done in the State. Will not each Anti Narcotic Superintendent endeavor to send me a report for the nine months ending June 15? If it is only to tell of a few signatures to the anti-narcotic pledge. Those reports, if sent in, might cause Indiana to be the Banner State in this most important department. I wish each local superintendent would send to Miss Palmer for the "Tobacco Laws of Indiana," which she furnishes in card form for twenty-five cents a dozen cards. Try to place these placards in public school corridors, in drug stores and all public places. So many of our boys try hard to overcome the tobacco habit only to fall, and fall again. We must help them by making it impossible to procure either cigarettes, cigarette paper or tobacco or our efforts will be futile; not because the boys want to continue smoking, but because the habit is too strong for their weakened will power. Let us work for the boys in the time of their greatest temptation, the long, idle summer days. Do help me to have a good report at the next State Convention. Remember that every little helps.

ELIZABETH SMITH.

1917 Highland Place, Indianapolis.

MERCY.

I have not sent out report blanks quarterly this year, but will send them to each Superintendent the latter part of July, and trust there will be prompt returns from each. Enough time still remains to do much work, and let us each one try to improve it to the best of our ability. Remember the two prizes offered, and try to win them. You can win one at least if you try, and what a help that will be for next year's work. One dozen copies of "Black Beauty" for the most sermons preached on kindness to dumb animals, and six copies of "Dickey Downy" for the largest number of signatures to the Bird Pledge. If any one will send to me at once I will supply copies of the pledge. If names of ministers who will preach a sermon are sent to me I will mail them roll of leaflets as helps. Please try, dear sisters. You never know what you can do till you have tried, and every effort we put forth in behalf of humanity repays us a hundred fold in the thought of duty done.

"It is not the thing we do, dear,
But the thing we leave undone,
That gives us a bit of a heart ache
At the setting of the sun."

So, if we have idled till now, let us up and be doing, and we may yet have a record we may be proud of at the close of this year. Write me for helps.

LOU E. RALL,
State Superintendent.

MEDAL CONTEST.

Mrs. Cora Steele, of Muncie, is our State Superintendent of Medal Contest Work. Medals and supplies should be ordered from her. Mrs. Steele reports the work as encouraging, and we hope to bring the contest banner to Indiana next fall. Too much cannot be said in regard to the value of these contests. They teach both speaker and hearer. Let us have a regular contest campaign during the next three months.

PARLIAMENTARY USAGE.

The State Superintendent, Mrs. Hattie Brand, has a class of sixty-five members which she conducts by correspondence, sending out one lesson each month. A number of the students are in turn forming classes, and some are reporting most satisfactory results.

WORK AMONG COLORED PEOPLE.

Miss Susan Clark, State Superintendent of Work Among Colored People, has published a leaflet entitled, "Some Facts About This Great Organization—An Appeal to Colored Women," which is very fine. We hope that all who feel interested in this department will supply themselves with these valuable leaflets and distribute them among the colored people. Send to Miss Susan Clark, 706 E. 11th street, Indianapolis, for sample copy. Remember that the blanks for Department Superintendents' reports are in the hands of the State Superintendents.

The Physician in charge of the Washingtonian Home, Boston, said he had patients all the time who were ginger-curse victims to alcoholism from the use of Jamaica ginger. Ginger requires the strongest alcohol to hold it in solution, and quickly destroys the tone of the stomach.

ORGANIZATION NOTES.

"In union there is strength," and because united effort will most speedily bring victory over the rum curse, we are banded together in the great white ribbon army. The Department of Organization seeks to increase our numbers by building up old Unions and adding new ones.

Our conditions of membership are, signing the pledge and paying one dollar a year dues. No one can be counted a member who fails to do this. Let no one who was a member last year weaken the organization by dropping out now. The conflict was never more fierce, the prospect of success never more bright, and we urge every member to stand loyally by our standard.

The Greencastle Union is the largest in Indiana. Last year they paid for 22 members; now they are nearing 150. Greencastle is not a large town and conditions are not more favorable there than elsewhere, but our beloved ex-President, Mrs. McWhirter, lives there and has been a source of inspiration and help to the Union. As State President or as a local worker, her loyalty to the cause is the same.

Grant County has at last reached her long-sought goal and has 500 members. They will send their own delegate to the National convention. They have organized three new Unions since the State convention and we would not be surprised if they were now working toward a thousand members.

Dearborn County has also reported three new Unions. They are all large Unions and very promising. The talented County President, Mrs. Culla Vayhinger, is giving much time to the work. She has been of great assistance to the State Superintendent of Organization in her effort to reach unorganized counties near Dearborn.

The following counties have reported new Unions since the State convention: Marion County, Y. at Indianapolis; St. Joseph County, Frances E. Willard Union at South Bend; Huntington County, a Union at Huntington and one at Markle; Randolph County, a Union at Farmland; Allen County, a Union near Hoagland, called Crescent Union; Grant County, Y. at Jonesboro and Unions at Linwood and Fowlerton; Dearborn County, Unions at Aurora, Lawrenceburg and Bright; Marshall County, a Union at Culver; Benton County, Y. at Oxford; Vigo County, a Union at Terre Haute.

Miss Carrie Lee Carter, a National organizer and lecturer, was in Indiana from May 15th to 28th. Her route was in the extreme southern part of the State. She was accompanied by your chairman of organization, and together we held meetings in Owensville, Princeton, Oakland City, Rockport, Petersburg, Loo-gootee, Salem, Osgood, Milan and Versailles. The meetings were well attended, good interest was manifested and in most of the places the results were gratifying. The Owensville Union, which numbered only five, was doubled in membership. Last year Princeton paid for four members. Through our meetings 25 active and 24 honorary members were secured. Five members were added to the Rockport Union and a large number of names given for membership in the towns where there were no Unions. Only one meeting was interfered with in any way. At Versailles a terrific rain and hail storm spoiled the meeting. A dozen people ventured out and we held a little meeting with them. Aside from these meetings we arranged to spend several hours in Washington and North Vernon, where our work seems practically dead. I called upon some of the old members and in each case came away somewhat encouraged. Also succeeded in seeing a number of our members at Jeffersonville. The conditions generally in the southern part of the State are most encouraging. Miss Carter is one of the younger National workers. She is well informed in our work, is a good speaker and gave satisfaction wherever she went. She will rejoice with Indiana if we come up to Mother National with a large gain in membership.

Miss Alice Palmer, Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley and Mrs. S. M. Stahl were all working in the southern part of the State the latter part of May.

Miss Marie Brehm, President of Illinois, began a lecturing tour of Indiana, June 14. Her dates were as follows: Crown Point, June 14; Nappanee, June 15; North Manchester, June 16; Rochester, June 17; Kokomo, June 18; Muncie, June 19; Winchester, June 21; Decatur, June 22; Eaton, June 23; Auburn, June 24; Ashley, June 25; Logansport, June 27; LaFayette, June 28. From Indiana Miss Brehm went to Kentucky to attend a summer assembly.

A County President is chairman of organization for her county. Every organized county ought to add at least one Union each year until there are no towns in the county left to organize. Let "organization" be the motto for the month of July.

HATTIE WRIGHT BRAND,
State Chairman of Organization.

Public sentiment against the saloon is growing so rapidly throughout Indiana, and the entire United States, that the liquor men are beginning to "hedge." In some places they are closing on the Sabbath day, thinking in this way to stem the tide of public disapproval. We rejoice over every saloon so closed, but the tide will go rushing on until the saloon is swept away root and branch.

OFFICIAL.

I.

The President of Vigo County, Mrs. Alice McDaniels, has won the two dollars in cash, a prize for organizing a Union of ten paid-up members. Eleven women joined and eleven dollars were at once paid into the treasury, and the report, with State and county dues and correct list of the members, forwarded to the County Treasurer. It will be remembered that last year Mrs. McDaniels took a premium for neatness, completeness and accuracy in reporting her County Institute.

II.

Mrs. Rose Pearce delivered the premium lecture before the Indianapolis East Side Union for a clear gain of ten paid-up members in one quarter. Two other Unions in the State came very near getting the required ten, but not quite. Huntington shows nine. They have an actual gain in membership of twenty-six within a year, but not quite ten in any one quarter.

III.

In regard to the gains in membership, will the County Treasurers and Local Treasurers please study the explanation given in full by the Plan of Work Committee, as found in our Annual Report for 1901? Here is an example: "Try-Again" Union, in "Come-to-Stay" County, is organized the first quarter of 1902, Dec. 1, 1901, with 12 members. On the 16th of that month the new Treasurer sends the County Treasurer dues for ten members—eighty cents per member. Two have not yet paid. The second quarter the Treasurer collects from those two, and nine more have joined the Union, giving an actual membership of 21. March 16 this Union pays dues for eleven members to the County Treasurer, who always promptly forwards to the State. "Try-Again" Union is entitled to a premium lecture, although one of the original ten members has died and two have transferred to another Union. Their money was paid into your Union and has been sent to the State, and they are counted to the "Try-Again" Union. There is no other basis on which to compute, though you are actually left with but eighteen working members. Here is where your trial will come next year. Now, in the third quarter (June 16) you forward dues for four members and in September for seven. You are credited with a membership of forty-two and go up to the State convention with three delegates and your President. You return home greatly encouraged. You have a nice meeting of "Convention Echoes" and obtain ten new members, who pay dues on the spot, besides honoraries, but they cannot be counted for the State. You go about to collect from your ten charter members, but one is translated and two are paying in a neighboring State. Of the seven left, two say, "I don't see that you are doing much," and refuse or delay payment. You send the County Treasurer on Dec. 16, 1902, dues for fifteen members. This is an actual gain of ten members, but you paid for seven members in September, and the books of both County and State Treasurers will show that fifteen is not a gain of ten over seven. You would have had to gain twelve to earn the premium.

Beloved, if you had only paid for five members the last quarter of 1902, you would have won the prize lecture. But you would rather have those two living exponents of the principles of your Union, your additional delegate to the convention and the consciousness of the power of effort among yourselves, than all that the most eloquent prize lecture could do for you.

"The reward of work is more work." Sometimes a premium may be awarded as a kind of happy "good luck," the result of a combination of circumstances that no man could foresee, but as a general thing a premium is the result of honest effort, even though it cannot be given at another time where an even greater effort has been put forth. It is well for us to remember in such a case that the greatest prize given is that which the One who never misjudges will bestow when all earthly judgments are laid down.

There is just one more quarter of this year. Let us all try for a growth in membership that will win so many premiums that our force of available speakers shall be taxed from September 25th to December 15th.

IV.

INDIANA FREE-WILL OFFERING.

When we have reached the last analysis, the Indiana plan for procuring funds, State and local, to push our battle to the enemy's camp, is the sensible and Christian plan. "The silver and gold is mine," saith the Lord. It remains for us to exercise wisdom in applying it.

First. "Let him that lacketh wisdom ask of God who giveth to all men liberally and upbraideth not." That means us all. We want to push plans, but certainly we want them to be His plans. Hence the all day of prayer and praise and waiting before God.

Second. "Let each of you lay by him in store as he may prosper you." "Honor the Lord with thy substance." This does not mean alone your gift of money. If you have given your neighbor an opportunity to make a gift for His service, if you have won your neighbor to meet with you for a blessing and to bless another by his offering, you are honoring God.

Each Local Treasurer in the State will receive from the State Treasurer by the middle of this month (July) envelopes and calls to a consecration and thank-offering meeting. These the Treasurers are to send out to members of the Unions and their friends, filled out with the time and place of meeting and any local information advisable. These meetings are to be held in August or within the first two weeks in September. The funds collected will be equally divided between State and Local Union treasuries, except in cases especially mentioned in plan of work for 1903.

Presidents of Local Unions, please appoint committees at once to co-operate with the Treasurer in making these meetings a success, and the God of all truth be with you.

If your Union requires more envelopes and circular letters than you receive, please apply promptly to

ALICE PALMER,
398 Kentucky St., Franklin, Ind. State Treasurer.

FIELD NOTES.

Mrs. Culla Vayhinger will speak at Dillaboro, July 4.

Brazil Union does much work that counts in the great reform movement.

The Mary F. Thomas Union held its thirtieth anniversary meeting May 26.

We regret to know of the death of infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Spoul, of Bedford.

Monrovia Union is doing excellent work. Mrs. Rhoda Wilhite is pushing the contest work.

Wayne County convention was held in May at headquarters of Frances E. Willard Union.

Kokomo has the wisdom to seek out the young girls and win them for definite, aggressive work.

Mrs. Hattie Brand will be one of the speakers at a Fourth of July celebration in Elkhart County.

Franklin Union has encouraged the good citizens to push the remonstrance work. Success has been achieved through the combined efforts of the good people.

Lebanon W. C. T. U. observed flower mission day, June 9th, distributing flowers with text cards to all the sick in the city and to Orphans' Home and County infirmary.

Many of the members are subscribers to the Union Signal and American Mother. Mrs. Florence Martin is always working for these important things as well as many others.

Mr. C. E. Newlin, prohibition State Chairman, will give a temperance address before the Bible School Conference of Western Yearly Meeting, to be held at Earlham College, Richmond, in July.

A dozen copies of the State Minutes will be sent to any one who will pay the express and use them to advantage. This offer is good as long as the Minutes last. Order of Mrs. Brand at once if you desire them.

Mrs. A. T. Whitson, as a member of the temperance committee of the Western Yearly Meeting of the Friends' Church, has sent out about 50,000 pages of strong temperance literature during the last month. As ye sow so shall ye also reap.

Mrs. Clara Balch will represent Kentucky in the Grand Diamond Contest at the National Convention. Mrs. Balch is following in the footsteps of Mother Balch and is devoting all her time to contest work.

Hon. Oliver W. Stewart gave the commencement address at Penn College, Oskaloosa, Iowa. He is engaged to give the temperance address at the Plainfield Yearly Meeting of Friends on the evening of September 21, temperance evening. He will also address the Indiana Yearly Meeting to be held in Marion in the early part of October.

Mrs. Mary E. Evertson, who is well known in Indiana, has returned from California and is now in Louisville. She has been made a State Organizer in Kentucky and is meeting with success. Indiana's loss is again Kentucky's gain.

Indianapolis Palmer W. C. T. U. observed Flower Mission Day at the State Women's Reformatory. A literary and musical program was given and 248 bouquets were distributed. Twenty members and several visitors constituted the delegation.

Auburn Union held an open meeting at the home of Mrs. Bertha Werrick. "The Doctor's Day Off" was given by the Union and music by the Hoosier Quartet. Refreshments were served to seventy invited guests, and a very enjoyable evening was spent by all.

Sedalia Union held a Flower Mission meeting at the home of Mrs. Sarah Magart, Superintendent of the Flower Mission, June 3. The room was tastefully decorated with house plants and roses. The program consisted of songs and select readings. Three beautiful bouquets were given.

June 9 was observed by a committee from the Mary F. Thomas and Frances E. Willard Local Unions as annual Flower Mission Day. Lovely bouquets, with scripture texts attached, were given to each inmate of Old Ladies' Home, Home for the Friendless, City Hospital and County Jail.

Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley visited Willard Memorial Union, at Bath, May 23 and 24. She delivered two addresses, in the form of readings, in the M. E. Church. On Saturday evening her subject was: "Who Killed Joe's Baby?" and on Sunday morning, "At the Mercy of the State." A large and appreciative audience listened attentively to both lectures.

On May 26 and 27 very interesting and instructive meetings were held by Miss Clara Sears under the auspices of Palmer Union. On Wednesday evening, May 27, a Y. of ten members was organized. Miss Retta Burroughs, President; Miss Edith Holliday, Vice-President; Clarice Metz, Recording Secretary; Cecil Toner, Corresponding Secretary; Daisy Ramsey Treasurer.

Miss Marie C. Brehm spoke on the evening of June 15, at Napanee, to a very appreciative audience. She also addressed about fifty ladies at a parlor meeting in the afternoon. As a result of her visit ten new members were added to our Union. The localities which have secured her services during this tour of our State are surely greatly favored, and those who miss hearing her will suffer great loss.

Flower Mission Day was appropriately observed by the ladies of the W. C. T. U. at Crown Point, Ind., by holding an all day's session at the home of Mrs. J. P. Merrill. One hundred and fifty bouquets of flowers were distributed among the sick and afflicted ones. Mrs. E. Mudge, our County President, of Hammond, gave an interesting talk in the afternoon. Much of the success of this meeting was due to Mrs. Merrill, who entertained so hospitably.

Burlington W. C. T. U. held a matron's contest for silver medal on the 16th inst. There was a class of 8, which did well. Mrs. Edith Johnson, wife of Dr. Johnson, of Burlington, was the winner of the medal. Ten cents admittance was charged and $6.60 was taken at the door. We hope to have another in the near future. Success to the contest work and the MESSAGE. Our Union meets the first Thursday in each month. Anyone wishing to visit us is cordially welcome.

Mrs. White, of Broad Ripple, writes: "Our W. C. T. U. met at the country home of Sister Hessong for an all-day meeting. After partaking of a very sumptuous dinner the meeting was opened in due form. There were twelve members who responded to roll call and about twenty or twenty-five visitors. A very interesting meeting was held and we passed a day that will long be remembered by all who were there. The next meeting will be held at Broad Ripple Park, in the pavilion, with our President, Mrs. Kelso. A very delightful day is anticipated."

At Roll, Purity Union met in public session in the M. E. Church one evening recently. Woman Suffrage was the subject. The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Lillian B. Palmer, and was a decided success. Much interest was manifested. A complete program was carried out in full. An enjoyable feature of the program was the music rendered by the ladies' quartette. At the close of the meeting four men joined the Union. So you see our meeting was not in vain. I say hail to the day when women, knowing their rights, will dare maintain them.

Mrs. Dr. Jones, of New Albany, writes: We had with us last week Miss Alice Ruth Palmer, our State Treasurer. On Sunday, May 17th, she spoke for us at Y. M. C. A. hall. We enjoyed her helpful talk very much. Every one went away with more courage and determination to do more, rekindled by her sweet spirit. On May 20th, Mrs. S. M. Stahl spoke at Galena, adding 21 members, at New Albany 5 members. Our women felt she was a mighty woman wielding the power born of God. We feel our sisters have done much good in this part of the State.

Auburn Union held an open meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Warrick one evening recently. About 75 persons were present. Mrs. Lewis presided and a beautiful program was rendered. The musical numbers were fine and the Hoosier Quartette was especially appreciated. Recitations by little Miss Florence Buss were enjoyed. This little lady won much praise for herself. The "Doctor's Day Off" was given by members of the W. C. T. U., much to the amusement and edification of those present. A social time followed and refreshments were served to all.

Every member of every Union cannot afford a year's subscription to the American Mother ($1.00.) The publishers have, therefore, made a special mid-summer offer of six months for 25 cents to all new subscribers, and will send two yearly subscriptions free to any address who will secure ten trial subscriptions at the above rate. If every Union would circulate the American Mother this summer, as stated above, there would be a decided increase in attendance and interest in mothers' meetings when this important work is taken up after vacation. Send subscriptions to the American Mother Co., Ltd., Battle Creek, Mich.

Miss Susan Clark says: "I will speak of a plan that we tried in our Union. If well carried out I think it good. I suggested that the Superintendents bring an envelope to each Union meeting. During the intervening time let every member cut out and preserve any article bearing upon our work which she might find in print and bring what she has gathered to the meeting. In two minutes every Superintendent can have in her possession what relates to her department. These clippings, carefully preserved in a scrapbook, will give each Superintendent a fund of knowledge and will become tools in her hands to work with."

Greencastle Union observed Flower Mission Day at the home of the much loved Superintendent of the Department, Mrs. Hattie Moore. The house was beautifully decorated with flowers and plants. A very interesting program was rendered; at the close, a beautiful Flower Exercise was given by fifteen little girls wearing wreaths of flowers on their heads. After the collection, ice cream and cake was served to the company present. This Union is active in Evangelistic work, Jail and Prison and Flower Mission, besides doing much along the line of literature. At the poor farm, six meetings have been held, also several at the South Mission.

Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Chaffee have done much in the Flower Mission work. During this quarter they have distributed 100 growing plants and 200 bouquets. Have secured 200 signatures to the pledge; sent out seven pieces of furniture; taken thirty-five out riding, and spent seven hours reading to the sick.

Through the efforts of Mrs. Masten, the work in the Evangelistic Department is carried on faithfully. Miss Mattie Harleman, Superintendent of Jail and Prison, has held eleven evangelistic services the past quarter. About seventeen men have heard the gospel message. Some have signified their desire for better things and have promised to try to attain to better lives. Two Sundays during the past quarter the jail has been empty; a very unusual occurrence in Putnam County. Our needs are many and we need the prayers and help of the whole Union.

The Eunice Wilson Union, of Upland, enjoyed a delightful outing at the home of Miss Jennie McVicker, June 11. It being the regular meeting day, a very interesting program was rendered, after which, we were permitted to partake of a most sumptuous feast spread for us by our hostess. It was a great pleasure to meet in the home of this sister and her dear old mother and their kindness will not soon be forgotten. The Union recently sent fifty yards of carpet to Hadley Industrial School. We are delighted to have Mrs. Outland, County President of Howard County, with us in our work. She has already been a great blessing to our Union.

North Kokomo Loyal Temperance Legion held a silver medal contest on the evening of June 9, in connection with a Flower Mission service held in honor of the birthday of Jennie Casseday. Because of various and unforeseen hindrances only four contestants were present, but they did well indeed. There has been no contest work done in Kokomo for years, and we are glad to notice an interested awakening along this line as the result of our little contest. The contestants were Lloyd Thomas, Lewis Terrell, Kenyon Gregg and Frank Logan. The medal was won by Frank Logan. The L. T. L. book was used in selecting the pieces. We are expecting to hold other contests during the summer.

The W. C. T. U. of Bedford celebrated its annual Flower Mission day, June 14, by visiting the county asylum, where they were kindly welcomed by Mr. and Mrs. Dodd in their usual hospitable manner. A short service of Bible reading, gospel songs and prayer was conducted by Mrs. Wm. Holcombe. A social half hour followed, where each one was taken by the hand and words of loving cheer given them, leaving little tokens of flowers, literature and scripture cards tied with our badge, a bow of white ribbon, with each one. Miss Adie Smith, of Campbellsburg, solicitor for Hadley Industrial School, was in the city and kindly assisted. We are sure all who were present realized the truth of the Savior's words, "It is more blessed to give than to receive, and inasmuch as you do it unto the least of my little ones, you do it unto me."

The Union Signal is making a very special offer which interests all our readers. The paper will be sent from the time your subscription is received until November 26 for fifty cents. This includes the convention number this fall, which will be by far the best number ever issued. Send your subscription at once and read about the World's Convention in Geneva, Switzerland. Every Union in the United States which, under this offer, brings its subscription list up equal to its membership will be listed, with its President, in a Roll of Honor in the Union Signal. We hope many Unions in our State will be on the roll to greet Mrs. Stevens, our National President and Editor-in-Chief of the Union Signal, when she returns from Europe, July 1. Of course you know of this offer, for it has been sent to the president of every Union in our State.

Friday evening, June 12, under the auspices of the Indianapolis Mapleton Union, seven of the High School students participated in a very interesting silver medal contest. The members of the class acquitted themselves well and merited the enthusiastic applause given them. The musical numbers by the McDermid brothers, the duets by Miss Jocelyn and Mr. Wells, and the solo by Mr. Wells were well rendered and greatly enjoyed. While the judges were out, Miss Maud Baker, of the Blood's School of Oratory, Chicago, who had trained the class, recited, "That Brown Baby" with very fine effect. A loud and prolonged applause brought her back to the platform, when she gave "I Won't Cry Any More." The continued applause showed how very much the audience appreciated the recitals. By decision of the judges Miss Florence Moates was awarded the medal. The door receipts were fine. Many people pronounced this the best contest yet held.

At Howell was held the County Institute, in April, with Miss Palmer present. On the Sabbath she spoke in the G. B. Church in the morning and the M. E. Church at night to a full house. The Institute was held on Monday, with a fair attendance. We feel as though good was accomplished. Four new members were added to the Union. The Loyal Legion, with seventy-five members enrolled, is doing fine. It meets every Sabbath afternoon. We have held six contests since March, the following persons receiving medals: Helen Gymer, Golden Gymer, Flora Sutter, Clyde Burns, Leslie Brown, Elsie Barrett. These will soon form a class for a gold contest. The Union has decided to pay for a window in the M. E. Church in memory of Frances Willard. The Senior and Junior Legion each has a window in the church, and paid for; also one in the G. B. Church. Mrs. Asbury Cox, one of the W. C. T. U. members, has secured a nice list of subscribers for the Phalanx. We expect to have Mrs. Balch with us June 29th.

Two applications for saloon license at Thorn town were defeated in the Boone County Commissioners' Court recently. Something like four hundred citizens of Thorntown and Sugar Creek Township went over to serve as witnesses and to attend the trial. Most of the delegation went on morning train. Both day coaches were crowded to their utmost capacity, every foot of standing room being taken. The baggage coach was also used to accommodate the passengers, and it also was crowded. Two ministers, Rev. A. H. DeLong, pastor of the Methodist Church, and Rev. U. L. Montgomery, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, of Thorntown, rode in the engine cab. Quite a number of people could not even find standing room in the coaches, and were forced to wait for the afternoon train. Many people made the trip overland in vehicles of every description. It was the largest delegation that has ever appeared in the Commissioners' Court. It was an enthusiastic crowd, confident of victory in its fight against the saloon. The court room was crowded to the doors, and when the announcement was made that the remonstrance had been sustained and that the applicants were barred from making application for license in Thorntown for two years the whole audience arose and sang the doxology.

Each meeting of the Indianapolis Mapleton Union increases in interest and attendance. The last meeting was held May 22 at Mrs. Dr. Magel's, 3311 North Capitol avenue, and was a great inspiration to all present. The double parlors were well filled with members and visitors. Rev. Beck, of the Mapleton M. E. Church, conducted the devotionals, Mrs. Waddle, of the Friends' Church, offering prayer. A piano solo by Miss Jordan and a vocal solo, "The Holy City," by Miss Irene Thompson, were well rendered and highly appreciated. Rev. Hannah Pratt Jessup, of the Friends' Church, presented the subject, "Sunday Picnics and Their Attendant Evils," and Rev. C. E. Foreman, of the Grace Presbyterian Church, "The Sunday Drug Business." Both presentations were excellent, showed deep thought and earnestness, and were listened to with deep interest. The discussions following each presentation were animated and very helpful, nearly every one present taking part in them. The presence and helpfulness of several young girls and one boy called forth many compliments from our visitors. We love to have them come. Their bright active lives affect our own. Mr. Will Beck and Mrs. Josie (Lewis) Jones favored us with some beautiful solos, which were very appropriate for the occasion. Cream and cake were served by our genial hostess during the social hour. Although it was a busy time of the year, no one regrets the laying aside of work and attending this meeting.

The Fort Worth Brewing Company fears to stay in Texas because of the advance of temperance. A Paris, Texas, dealer offers to sell his interest in a whisky business which has no rivalry within 290 miles from north to south or for 80 miles from east to west.

THE MESSAGE.

"Not by Might nor by Power, but by My Spirit."

VOL. VIII. No. 8.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., AUGUST, 1903.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR.

OFFICERS OF THE WORLD'S W. C. T. U.

FROM STATE PRESIDENT.

The year of 1903 has been one of vigorous campaign and self denial of the members of the different temperance organizations. But looking over the field from a human standpoint, one might conclude that our enemy is gaining ground. To an organization like our own, born of faith and prayer, with God as leader, the safety of the home our watch-word, down with the saloon our battle-cry, defeat is not to be considered. Reforms are not born in a day, neither do they grow up in a night. It takes the slow, persistent effort of a dauntless spirit to bring about results that count for anything.

I do not know what disaster may be permitted to come upon us as a nation before her people shall arise in their might and divorce her from the saloon, or how the church can be awakened out of sleep, or how or what will be needed to electrify the W. C. T. U. to greater energy, but it must and will be brought about.

So much depends upon our individual faithfulness that I feel sure each one of you will try very hard to give your best to the cause so near your heart. So long as the liquor dealers' associations resolve that the W. C. T. U. is their avowed enemy and one to be feared, we should take courage and "press the battle to the gate."

I am still hopeful that our State will make good gains this year if we each one enter the contest for new members.

Let each Local Treasurer see to it that dues are collected on time and forwarded to the State Treasurer before the books are closed. The loss of but one member in each Local Union would be an incalculable one to the State.

Let each Local President keep her forces together and the good and faithful work done well reported. Then I feel sure that He that sees a sparrow fall will help us direct each effort aright.

Then, when we meet in our annual convention next October in the beautiful little city of Hartford and gain new enthusiasm by the heroism of so small a county to undertake at this late date to entertain our State Convention, I know it must make us feel that whatever needs to be done we can and will do it.

EUNICE P. WILSON.

Election of Officers—According to the local constitution in the State Minutes, officers of Local Unions should be elected the first or second week in September. This should be prior to the County Convention. We trust that no county will fail to hold its convention and election of officers prior to the State Convention, and that both Local and County Unions will immediately send the names of the Officers and Superintendents to the State Corresponding Secretary. The directory for 1904 ought to be complete before the State Convention convenes.

Y. W. C. T. U.

Please send the names of the members of your Y who are ready, either for a grand gold or diamond medal, as your State Y Secretary is arranging for her program on Y night, Saturday, at Hartford City.

It was the pleasure of your Y Secretary to visit the Mary Hadley Y at Terre Haute the 23d of June, returning home on the 27th. The four days were most delightful, and if any lack enthusiasm we would advise you to visit this Y and catch the spirit they have. On Friday afternoon we held the most delightful meeting with the colored Y's and believe they have a bright future. Let us remember those consecrated young men and women in our prayers.

To the Local Treasurers. Collect dues. Begin now, because many of our girls, if their attention was called to the fact that their dues must be paid by the 15th of September, could meet their obligation. The United States received the world's Y banner for having the largest gain of paid members over any other country, so let us do all we can to keep it in our country.

Mrs. Clara Parrish Wright was elected World's Y Secretary. Our beloved Mrs. Frances Y. Barnes' health was too poor to serve us longer.

Girls, plan to go to the National W. C. T. U. convention at Cincinnati, Ohio, in November. It will help you to be a better worker.

The new Indianapolis Y is doing well and very encouraging reports come from the other Unions. Again I urge you to work and pray. Let this be our very best year.

CLARA M. SEARS,
State Y Secretary.

THE MILLENNIUM NOT HERE.

Notwithstanding the assertion that this is the "woman's age"—and it probably is by comparison—we have yet a long way to go before we find our millennium. We still receive far less compensation than men for the same work; we are not permitted a voice in making the laws that affect the welfare of our families; and in the church itself matters are not much better. In the great Christian Endeavor Society, which claims over 4,000,000 members, and has its organizations in every country on the globe, women, young and old, form two-thirds of this mighty host; but they have no official voice in the administration of its affairs. In fact, the sex is scarcely recognized in the roll of 150 trustees representing the various churches and organizations of which it is composed.—Exchange.

INVOKING THE PRESS.

At the annual State convention of the W. C. T. U. Superintendents and Organizers at Muncie, Indiana, Miss Laura G. Cammack, speaking on "The Press," said that if the Woman's Christian Temperance Union expects to win a victory over the liquor interests or to advance its own cause, it will be only through an alliance with the newspapers, which, Miss Cammack declared, "are the most powerful influence in existence upon the public mind."—American Press.

Lady Henry Somerset felt it necessary to resign the leadership of the British White Ribbon Host if she acceded to the wishes of the world's W. C. T. U. workers to serve as the World's President. The Countess of Carlisle, Naworth Castle, Carlisle, England, a valiant, earnest temperance worker, has been chosen as Lady Henry's successor. Success to our English sister organization.

MISS PEARL RALL,
"Sunnyside," Huntington, Ind.

The MESSAGE readers of this issue are introduced to Miss Pearl Rall, our State Superintendent of Franchise, not only to greet her sweet young face, but to be interested and enlightened by her splendid ability as editor of this Supplement. Miss Rall is the only daughter of our Mrs. Lou Rall and our friend, Mr. Rall, of Huntington. She has been reared in a W. C. T. U. home, with unusual opportunity for culture and refinement. For years Mrs. Rall has been officially connected with our State organization as Superintendent of the Mercy Department and as President of Huntington County. Miss Rall has rare qualifications of mind and heart. To a good education she has added a pro merito degree from the Indianapolis Law School, being the only lady in the graduating class. Her scholarly attainments and energetic enthusiasm are enlisted for God and home and every land.

CALL.

The annual convention of the Indiana Woman's Christian Temperance Union will be held in Hartford City, Grace M. E. church, corner Washington and Walnut streets, October 16 to 20, inclusive, 1903.

EUNICE P. WILSON,
President.

CINCINNATI, NOVEMBER 13-18.

Many hundreds of Indiana temperance people will attend our National W. C. T. U. convention at Cincinnati, November 13-18. The railroads are expected to announce very low rates from Indiana points to Cincinnati. Now is the time to make your plans to take advantage of this rare opportunity of attending a great National Convention.

NEWSPAPERS.

To be informed upon the needs of the temperance cause a man must read a temperance paper. If you really want your husband, sons and brothers to be interested in temperance, subscribe for our State or National paper for them. The Patriot Phalanx is ably edited and will wonderfully interest every man who has not too deep-seated prejudices. Send for it. Address, Mr. Wm. F. Clark, 119 W. Maryland St., Indianapolis.

For our National Prohibition organ, The New Voice, send subscriptions to the New Voice Publishing Co., Hyde Park, Chicago, Ill.

Every White Ribboner should read the Union Signal. You simply cannot afford to be without it. In your home you need the influence it will bring. For 2 or 2½ cents a week you cannot do without it.

Of course we all take so many papers, magazines, etc., almost every one of which contain liquor and tobacco advertisements. Even root beer ads. get into our church papers.

For the young women and young men of your home, temperance newspapers are greatly needed if you expect them to be fortified with temperance information.

SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

Cannot Indiana have 20,000 Sabbath Observance pledges distributed and signed this year? Several cities and towns have already made an excellent start. Many good reports come from the districts visited by our faithful and energetic Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Hattie W. Brand, who never fails to urge the department work of the W. C. T. U. Greencastle Union will district the city and distribute Sabbath Observance literature from door to door. Their most excellent plan is to make several distributions and to use a different leaflet each time. Central Union, of Indianapolis, has had 10,000 pledges printed for distribution in the eighth ward.

The wise plans of these women must be fruitful in results and other Unions, we know, will catch the inspiration to move forward and advance the much needed Sabbath Observance work. Is your Union in line with this advanced movement?

South Bend.

KATIE WERT HOLLER,
State Superintendent.

THE PRESS.

Indiana stands a fair chance of winning the "Press Star" again if all Unions will promptly report all work done. Every report should be in by September 15, Local Presidents, if you do not have a Superintendent, will you please gather up reports of press work done by your Union and send in to me. I am so anxious for information concerning all the work done.

MISS LAURA GENEVA CAMMACK,
Converse, Ind.

SCIENTIFIC TEMPERANCE INSTRUCTION.

The time is now ripe for the beginning of the harvest, and as soon as a Superintendent's eyes fall upon this article, let her begin to cast about her for the work done in her locality and get it in hand ready for the County Superintendent, and let every County Superintendent hastily compile her report and send it on to the State, and now, dear State Superintendents, the constitution says reports shall be in the care of the Recording Secretary five days before State convention. Now five days is not enough to have advance sheets printed, which we hope to have this year. So send in your report as soon after the 15th of September as possible.

MATTIE CAMMACK-GIBSON,
State Recording Secretary.

During a recent meeting of bankers at Topeka, Kan., Captain Joe Waters said: "Between the business exactions of great employers and the prohibitory law, I care not which or both, or when or where or whom, the habit of drinking whiskey in Kansas has been degraded. When a man on tip-toes goes after dark, down a dark alley, in a stable, closes the door, locks it, put the key in his pocket, then moseys up the ladder, pulls the ladder up after him, closes the trap door, goes to the darkest corner of the hay mow and takes his nip from behind a pile of hay, education beyond the kindergarten period or primary class has got its work in on that man."

MRS. ELIZABETH T. STANLEY.

IF WOMEN COULD VOTE, WOULD CONDITIONS CHANGE?

The above question seems to be the only thing in way of the immediate enfranchisement of women, at least that is what they tell us, but the truth is that if the politicians of this country were perfectly sure that conditions would remain the same and ballots could still be bought and sold, like misfit garments at a rummage sale, they would at once grant us the ballot. We are sure they want somebody to share the responsibility for the crime and lawlessness and corruption in high places, and anarchy in low places, that threatens our national life to-day, and they realize that no woman has figured in this business which heretofore has been considered the exclusive right of man, yet they fully realize that with the ballot in woman's hand the day of machine politics and rum-soaked politicians is at an end. They say we are not to be trusted; by this they mean that they cannot depend on us to swallow a whole gin mill in order to carry a few good men into lucrative positions.

The history of Colorado and every other State and nation where women have full suffrage fills their souls with terror, for even now many politicians, minus the rare quality of patriotism to fit them for service, are out of a job and have nothing better in sight than to deal out beer and boodle in an effort to purchase places for their friends who follow after. It is this class of officials (?) who declare woman's enfranchisement a failure.

I happened to be in Denver on the eve of election during the campaign of 1900, and there I saw for the first time the practical workings of equal suffrage, and I am glad to say that I found the homes of Colorado all standing and to all appearances they were objects of just as much love and care as the homes of Indiana or any other slave State. I saw the candidates of the various parties in church and Sunday School, and the gallant manhood of that proud young commonwealth out for drives and social outings with their lady friends and I failed to see that woman's broader sphere had in any way lowered man's respect and admiration and love for her—indeed, she held a higher place on the plane of his intellectual reverence, for he realized that her opinions were worth something and her convictions will regulate her ballot on election day and she dare not be ignored.

I also failed to find loafers and bums on the streets of Denver; and on the eve of the battle when all the saloons of Indiana, New York and the rest were given over to political caucuses, the citizens of Denver were holding a social in their great city hall and the various candidates were present, making pledges to the people of loyalty and fidelity in regard to enforcement of law in the event of their elections. A lady of Denver, who had been many years connected with city schools, said to me, "Some of our women, like the men, are too busy to vote to-day, but the very fact that they have the ballot is a safe-guard to clean citizenship in our State, for politicians of all parties know better than to pad a ticket on any sort of a platform with corrupt men. They know their candidates must be acceptable to the women."

The brightest omen of victory I see now lies in the fact that good men everywhere realize the impending perils of our civilization, and they are ready for the enfranchisement of intelligence in this country, regardless of sex. Let us try a crusade for a restricted ballot. I believe too many people vote already, but let us draw the line on character and intelligence, instead of sex. And again, we would recommend a uniform federal franchise law in this country that would forbid anybody voting upon our shores until he has been duly naturalized, after a residence of at least five years under the flag. Then let naturalization depend on his reverence for that flag and intellectual attainments in regard to our republican institutions. Make the ballot something to strive for, a badge of honor from the State, and above all disfranchise every man who would offer to buy or sell a vote. This done, the day of our redemption draweth nigh. If our own boys must live twenty-one years in America and spend fifteen years in school before they can be trusted with the ballot, it is the climax of injustice to match their intelligence and patriotism against the ignorant horde of southern Europe, that swarm like flies around the foul pool of beer and boodle used to purchase votes in every election.

We will never get prohibition until we get good men everywhere up to this standard of justice, and the sooner we face the problem and win, the sooner will dawn the glad day of universal peace and sobriety and prohibition for which we pray. On to victory.

ELIZABETH T. STANLEY.

Get your reports ready. We know that much good department work has been done this year, and we urge every Local President to look after the reports of her Union, and every Local Superintendent to finish up the work of the year and send her report to the County or State Superintendent promptly. Remember each State Superintendent sends out her own blanks. If you do not receive one, write early, that there may be no delay. If you want Indiana to have the best report for the department you are interested in and have been working for, don't fail to report what you have done.

The State Convention will be held this year at Hartford City, Blackford County, October 16-20. It promises to be one of the most enthusiastic conventions we ever had, for it will mark the close of a year during which the temperance cause in Indiana has made great advances, and the beginning of a year of great opportunities. We trust that each Union in the State will send its full quota of delegates—the Local President, one delegate-at-large and one delegate for every twenty paid members. The President of Blackford County, Mrs. E. A. Willis, together with her co-workers, is busily at work planning for our comfort and pleasure.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., AUGUST, 1903.

INTRODUCTORY LETTER.

When we look about us in this beautiful yet curiously awry world of ours and think of all there is to be done to improve conditions, not looking for perfection even, and then sense our own only too small power to help to bring about those conditions most desirable, we are abashed and feel it is scarce worth while to try. The situation looks so hopeless; the tangled ends lie matted; the pattern seems beyond restoration.

But we know, when we look at the past and note that conditions have, to a great extent, brightened; that numerous wrongs are gradually being righted; that some one's great love and sympathy for the human race has set each idea in motion, has given of his best life blood for the truth, and dying, left the praise and pleasure of victory, mayhap, to others. These are nature's true nobility.

I scarce need to mention the numberless grand souls whose lives and thoughts, to a degree, lie open that our wondering, admiring eyes may read. These lives of real men and women are far more fascinating than any work of fiction, and give us all strength and comfort. And, while we may not all be able to leave as great names or as wonderful records, we may at least do the little things that lie about us. Who knows but that the finer clay may be there discovered? If not, it may said she hath done the best she knew.

The greatest discovery of any time is the discovery of woman by herself. Woman is generally beginning to awaken to a sense of her true womanself—that she is not properly the pedestalled creature of the past. She hath taken sterner, more womanly duties upon her, sharing in the world's work, the world's hopes and fears. To day she is becoming aware of her new hope, enfranchisement, and senses its not far distant fruition. Indeed, there is strong reason for the hope that is within her. "He who runs may read." Woman's broader sphere and her ability to fill it with grace and honor is being recognized daily. It has been said you may read the history of a nation in its words. Such is the case, as, undoubtedly, even words show the direction modern thought is taking. Professional women are no longer distinguished from professional men by a suffix, and a great many examples might show this tendency. Speaking of language, I have no doubt that much misunderstanding has arisen because the masculine word "man" has been used in speaking of both men and women collectively, there being no general word exactly designating such a group. Much trouble has arisen out of the use of this word, and a distorted idea of it by narrow minds. I, for one, object to the idea of antagonism frequently set forth. No such idea was in the minds of those first using the word. But this wrong interpretation is giving way to a higher and nobler one, and we stand on the threshold of an era, the which there has been no equal. Let us step forward and hasten the glad day.

In conclusion, let me add that in sending forth this little paper I am not expecting to give the great tide of public thought a marvelous, far-reaching impetus, but merely to greet you and ask that you keep the ball of thought rolling for the uplifting of womanhood, the broadening of humanity. I will doubtless say things you have seen and read and heard oftentimes. It is rather difficult to be original about a subject upon which so many able minds have expressed an opinion. It were quite impossible to secure productions you had never seen, and after all, a good opinion, well expressed, improves with age and re-reading, just as we read, and re-read some books and find pleasure and profit in each perusal. He who in giving a thought awakens one or more new ideas or combinations of ideas has not spoken in vain. And if I do this much, and you pass these ideas along, I shall count this edition highly successful—beyond my highest expectations.

PEARL RALL,
State Supt. of Franchise.

Huntington, Ind.

The experience we have had in Colorado ought to demonstrate to every one that woman suffrage is not only right but practical. It tends to elevate. There is not a caucus but is better attended, and by better people, and held in a better place. I have seen the time when a political convention without a disturbance and the drawing of weapons was rare. That time is past in Colorado, and it is due to the presence of women. Every man now shows that civility which makes him take off his hat and not swear, and deport himself decently when ladies are present. Instead of women's going to the polls corrupting women, it has purified the polls.—U. S. Representative Shafroth.

The improvement that women's presence has made in the localities of primary meetings and polling booths is characteristic of western chivalry. In many precincts where formerly they were held in stables or drinking saloons, primaries are now convened in home parlors, and polling booths are arranged in respectable buildings, and voting is invariably conducted with decorum.—Mrs. Susan M. Hall, Denver, Col.

MRS. ZERELDA WALLACE.

ZERELDA WALLACE.

Not only among Indians does Zerelda Wallace take her place among the noted, but with the world's noblest and best.

In Millersburg, Kentucky, on August 6, 1817, this gentle spirit first had being, and while little is to be learned of her parentage aside from the fact that her father, Dr. Saunders, was a prominent physician of Indianapolis, it is safe to conclude that it must have been of the finest extraction.

Her father removed to Indianapolis in 1830, while she was yet a slip of a maiden. A good practical education was given her, fitting her to assume the prominence which was to be hers later in life. Possessing rare grace of mind and manner, she became the helpful wife of David Wallace, then Lieutenant Governor of the State, and later the Governor. He proved one of the State's greatest chief executives. Although but nineteen years old, she assumed the responsibility of rearing and training three lads, the sons of her husband by a former marriage, and an ideal companion she made. From her father she inherited a great love for books and literature, and, while eminently fitted for leadership in the gay society circles of the capital, she preferred rather to devote her time to her family. She was a most devoted mother, sharing with them the richness of a fine intellect, studying the books they studied. In fact, she completed law with them, interested in the things which interested them, in all things one of them, thereby winning a deathless love and admiration. Her step son, Gen. Lew Wallace, has made for himself a noble name and left the highest tribute to her beautiful character in Ben-Hur's mother, one of the sweetest and noblest types of motherhood in life or fiction.

Her union with Gov. Wallace brought her into close contact with the brightest and most distinguished minds in the State, and she imbibed a wide knowledge on all the great questions of the day—religious, political, social and scientific. Being a fine conversationalist, her company was delightful to all who knew her, and evidenced the broadness and liberality of a great mind.

She was of a deeply religious nature, and in 1833 she became a charter member of the first Christian or Disciple Church established in Indianapolis, remaining a devoted member to the time of her death.

Up to 1874 her life was of a more or less retired character, but with the organization of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union in September of that year Mrs. Wallace stepped before the public as the moving spirit and its first president. For seven years she retained the presidency, organizing and inspiring her comrades, then but untrained workers with little or no financial backing. By her judicial and sweet motherly character she received the name of "Deborah" of the State Union. Under her leadership to a great extent its thought was guided by her matchless brain, and her heart beats measured its pulse, and when she laid down the gavel she left it in healthy growth and action. While not an advocate of equal suffrage at the opening of her temperance work, she learned the lesson that all such workers must learn sooner or later, that without the ballot woman's effort is almost futile. While the constant dropping of water on a stone may wear it away, it is a long and tedious process and exceedingly trying on the nerves. She served as president of the Equal Suffrage Association for a time and became one of the ablest champions of its cause.

Having a talent as a lecturer, by her keen logic she won many politicians and statesmen of the country to the cause of temperance and equality of the sexes. Of her conversion to the latter view it is told that, believing that woman's voice and hand ruled the world—that pretty little blind so long held out by man to his sister, that she had occasion to test his chivalry and have her ideals shattered. The petition which she had labored for she was shocked to find crushed in the legislative waste basket much besmirched with the juice of the filthy weed. Such treatment worked a speedy turn of thought.

For several years she lectured extensively in many States in the Union on topics of social reform, and during this time gave much time and thought to equal suffrage, pleading earnestly for its adoption. Unmoved by public opinion, she held to her course, strong in her sense of right, waging "her peaceful battle with the eloquence of a Phillips, the resolution of a Sherman, and the suavity of a Sumner."

She was the first to introduce a resolution in the W. C. T. U. convention favoring giving the ballot to women; also a resolution against the use of fermented wine at the communion table.

On March 19, 1901, she was called to the other shore to take up a higher work, full of honors, full of years. This message she sent to the sisters on June 19, 1896:

"We all should rejoice at the advance and the present outlook for woman's progress, as it means human progress. Her freedom lies at the base of all true racial growth and development. If it be true, as Gladstone and many other wise men have said, that America is become the world's educator in free institutions, it is time the ballot should be put in the hands of all citizens without regard to sex limitations. Let it be the determined and persistent purpose of all women to work to this end."

This language is unequivocal. Her position was pronounced, as is that of nearly every great mind, in favor of the whole equality.

Again she has said: "The moral forces of the race are in the hands of the women; the lack of moral force is what makes weakness in government. Your first great duty as good citizens is to govern yourselves. Women are born governors by virtue of their motherhood."

Not without humor does she comment on the common objection that "politics are too dirty for women to mingle in."

"But this is no argument against woman suffrage; it is one against male suffrage. Men have always had control of politics; if they allowed them to become dirty it is time women came to the rescue and cleaned things up; just the work in which they are adepts."

Right to the point is the following: "Consider the developing power of the ballot; look at the men of this nation—descended from a long line of voting ancestry; the world shows no nobler specimens of mankind. Compare them with the thousands landed every month at Castle Garden, coming from the disfranchised classes of Europe, and you can form some idea of the developing power of suffrage. You cannot develop a slave. Development comes only with freedom, and keeps pace with it. Our wildest dreams have not pictured what God intends to do for this nation when all its people, instead of half of them, are really free."

To read and ponder over these lines, then look at that calm, cultured face, the silver hair rippling back from a broad noble forehead, and then condemn them as the "wild dream of a crank" is rankst folly. Mother Wallace, as she has been lovingly denominated, was, above all things, womanly and generous, yet keen and highly and truly patriotic.

WYOMING SPEAKS FOR HERSELF.

The Wyoming House of Representatives of 1893, just before adjournment, passed by a unanimous vote the following concurrent resolution:

Be it resolved by the Second Legislature of the State of Wyoming, That the possession and exercise of suffrage by the women in Wyoming for the past quarter of a century has wrought no harm and has done great good in many ways; that it has largely aided in banishing crime, pauperism and vice from the State, and that without any violent or oppressive legislation; that it has secured a peaceful and orderly elections, good government and a remarkable degree of civilization and public order; and we point with pride to the facts that after nearly twenty-five years of woman suffrage not one county in Wyoming has a poor-house, that our jails are almost empty, and crime, except that committed by strangers in the State, almost unknown; and as a result of experience we urge every civilized community on earth to enfranchise its women without delay.

Resolved, That an authenticated copy of these resolutions be forwarded by the Governor of the State to the Legislature of every State and Territory in this country, and to every legislative body in the world; and that we request the press throughout the civilized world to call the attention of their readers to these resolutions.

The advocates of woman suffrage have often publicly challenged its opponents to find two persons in all Wyoming who will assert over their own names and addresses that woman suffrage there has had any bad results. The opponents have failed to respond.

THE VINE THEORY DISPROVED.

My husband is very fond of beans, and as I was out one day putting up the poles I thought how often he had compared women to vines and men to the supports on which they climb. As he is very fond of poetry, too, and the next day was our wedding anniversary, I thought how nice it would be to surprise him with a pretty little poem about it. But I want to tell you what trouble I got into before I finished. Here is what I wrote:

As the vine unto the tree is,
So unto the man is woman;
He the strength which doth support her,
She the beauty which adorns him.

In the gentle blushing springtime,
See the tender vine uprising
From the warm, protecting bosom
Of the earth, her gentle mother.
Timidly she rises upward—
Suddenly she feels her weakness,
Throws aloft her clinging tendrils,
Stretches out her tiny fingers,
Till she finds some sturdy oak tree,
And her gentle arms entwine it.

Now, here came my first difficulty. I was writing to please John, and of course I had us in my mind all the time, and you cannot imagine how funny and shocking it seemed when I began to tell about John standing there like a tree, and of my going to him first and stretching out my arms instead of—well—it was so funny that I laughed till the tears rolled down my cheeks. But I never saw a tree go out of its way after a vine, so I had to let it go.

Straightway then she rises upwards,
Seeks the heights he has attained to.
In a few short weeks she reaches Heights he has been years in gaining.
Twines about his topmost branches—
Throws her long clinging tendrils;
Finds—that her support has failed her;
Finds—that if she mounts still higher
She must leave him far behind her.
Then, with gentle woman's pity,
Seeing that he cannot follow,
Leaves the goal of her ambition
Unattained, and backward turning,
Falls again to seek his level.

I did not like the sound of those last lines, but they were true of the vine, and I couldn't help it. So I thought I would make up for them by some really pretty lines about him supporting her in the rude blast of affliction. There was a strong wind blowing about this time, so I thought I would go out and look at the bean vines, and the poles would figure as the trees, and perhaps I could get an inspiration from them. There were two rows, one in which the vines were twined all about the poles, and another in which the poles had just been set out and the vines had not yet begun to cling. Well they were struggling beautifully with the wind, and the harder it blew the tighter the vines seemed to cling to the poles, and I had just begun to feel the inspiration creeping over me when there came a sudden gust of wind and blew over every single one of the poles which didn't have vines on them and left the others standing as straight as ever. They had spoiled it all, for, after that, no matter how I looked at them, those vines always would seem to be holding up the poles instead of the poles holding up the vines. I went into the house disgusted, and made up my mind that there was no use in trying to write a poem about it, and that there must be something wrong with the vine theory, though I wouldn't have John know it for the world; he is so fond of it, you know, and I don't suppose I should ever have discovered it if I hadn't tried to write a poem about it.

—Arabella Smith, in Contest Journal.

An interesting meeting may be made after the plan of medal contests, with recitations taken from the National Educator. Another plan is to have a contest in which speakers are limited in time. Have the contest open to all women who will enter. Advise the topic, "The Reason Why" women want to vote. Have each woman give her reason for wanting the ballot in a speech from three to ten minutes, according to the number of speakers; appoint a time-keeper, who taps a bell at the expiration of time. Allow the audience to vote, awarding a prize to the best speaker. A small admission fee will cover all expenses. Work up a debate in the young people's literary and debating societies, in the Y. M. C. A. and in the lyceums. See that persons appointed to take the affirmative are well supplied with literature. Offer a five dollar prize for the best essay in favor of woman's ballot by any of the high school students, or by any young person in the town or village under the age of twenty-one. Let the jury of award consist of the president of the Union, the ministers, the master of the high school and the mayor, or any of the local magistrates who are willing to serve. Have the successful essay read at a public meeting and published afterward in the local papers.

Parlor meetings are often more valuable than public meetings, inasmuch as conservative people who would hesitate to attend the latter are willing guests at the former. The lawyer, the clergyman, the teacher, or some cultivated woman in the community, may be secured to prepare a biographical essay on any one of the conspicuous advocates of human rights, and thus educate in a social way and win workers to the cause.

All meetings of the Union devoted to this department should be announced in advance, and reported afterwards. Make reports short and newsy. These two words—"short" and "newsy"—are the "open sesame" to the columns of the American press.

THE JUSTICE OF WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

The W. C. T. U. asks for the enfranchisement of women on the unanswerable ground of simple justice. It is right. It is just. It is in harmony with the spirit of our government.

I believe that the colonists who laid the foundation of this representative republic were inspired. But, like all inspired characters—prophets, apostles, poets and statesmen—the idea which they projected was too great for even them to comprehend.

The truth was universal. Their application was particular. They said, "All men are created free and equal," but they owned slaves, and it took years for humanity to gain the proper perspective and apply that maxim to the colored man. They said "governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed," and then, by the insertion of one adjective in the constitution they denied to one-half their citizenship the cherished right of official consent or dissent.

Like the famous general who gave orders to be reminded daily that Carthage must be destroyed, these prophets of freedom saluted each other with the stirring reminders that "Taxation without representation is tyranny," and "No man can be justly taxed by, or is bound in conscience to obey any law to which he has not given his consent, either in person or by his representative," yet they imposed this injustice upon women.

But some one will say, "Women are protected by society—their lives and property—and they ought to pay for this protection, so their taxation is legitimate, although they are not represented."

But our forefathers saw through this very nonsense and fallacy, when they objected to the Stamp Act, which was passed solely to raise money to protect them and was to be used entirely for their benefit. They declared this act, if unresisted, would establish the fact that the colonists were the slaves of the Britons. They preferred to decide for themselves what protection they needed and what they were willing to pay for. And why should not women be allowed the same right?

Then those strenuous advocates of liberty not only felt that they would be degraded and enslaved by this act, but that they would also be robbed. Lord Camden said, "Whatever is a man's own is absolutely his own. No man has a right to take it from him without his consent, expressed either by himself or his representative."

The women of Indiana bear a large burden of the taxation. They have paid millions of dollars into the coffers of the State. Their money helps support the public schools—the bulwark of our civilization. It goes to the institutions of charity—those features of the State whose spirit embodies the feminine qualities and the management of which to-day needs woman's counsel. They help build streets and highways and public buildings. Their money goes to defray the expenses of Legislatures, pays the salaries of the Governor and public officials, and all the expensive machinery of the State.

Is this fair? That is the only question of weight. Any hypothetical objections as to precedent, inconvenience, cost, speculations as to whether all women would avail themselves of the privilege, etc., should count for nothing.

With so great a principle at stake, if only one woman in Indiana asked for this privilege, twentieth century chivalry should burst into bloom and her appeal should not be denied. However, not one, but thousands of women, are asking. On no other subject have so many petitions been submitted to Congress and Legislatures as this. And in all reform movements those who actively work are only a small fractional part of those who believe, but are passive, but who enjoy the fruits of the victories.

When we remember that all moral reforms move slowly we are amazed at the progress of this movement, which at first had arrayed against it the prejudice of nearly all the people and the custom of ages.

Forty years ago woman suffrage was a joke. Now it is one of the most prominent subjects of discussion.

Daily papers have numerous editorials on the various aspects of the case. The leading magazines publish articles on this subject.

Twenty-eight States and Territories in the United States have given women some sort of suffrage. Four States have given them full suffrage.

These victories will beget new ones, for they are practical object lessons. This is the great question of the age. It looks all others out of countenance. It involves the liberty of millions. No fairminded thinker should hesitate to give allegiance to it. Remember that justice is always expedient, and the denial of a right is tyranny.

Indiana white ribboners should spend more time developing sentiment for this department.

The ballot is at the root of every tax, every law, every choice of officials. Women cannot protect their interests and their homes without it. There is only one power that can shake the Gibraltar of the legalized liquor traffic, and that is the ballot of an American citizen. Let us help our nation to take the next two steps in civilization—the enfranchisement of its women citizens and the destruction of the saloon.

ELLA S. STEWART,
Supt. Franchise Dept., Nat. W. C. T. U.

A PLEA FOR JUSTICE.

It is very generally conceded that if woman is to be taxed to support the government, the same as man, that it would be only common justice to give her the same right as man, to vote how the tax money is to be expended. And, if women are held amenable to the laws the same as man, it is only just to allow them to vote for those who make the laws and administer them the same as men. All fair minded persons will agree to these propositions. What shall we say then to the conditions which confront us to-day? Women go down to the gates of death and experience the Gethsemane of suffering to give the State a child. That same State gives governmental consent to the liquor traffic to set in the pathway of the child traps and snares to lure it to destruction. The mother desires to express her opinion at the ballot box, the only place where government hears prayers or counts opinions, and she is denied, because she is a woman, and to vote is a privilege granted to men only in the State of Indiana!

Men may protect the liquor traffic by all the power the Constitution gives them. Women may carry remonstrances for men to sign for many weary miles and put in their best persuasions for many weary hours, but may not have their own names counted on the remonstrance to keep the saloon away from their loved ones. What ought women to do under such circumstances, keep silence in the churches? Nay, verily, let their protest go up from every hamlet and every town and city, in the churches and out of them, until the combined forces of woman's cry shall penetrate the walls of legislative halls and men shall grant to them the "inalienable" right of every human being—the right of self-defense.

If I lived in Indiana I would set in motion a Woman's Remonstrance against every saloon in the State. The moral effect upon men of such remonstrance would justify all the effort required to make it a success. Its effect upon women would awaken them to an active campaign for their own enfranchisement. A generous scattering of woman's suffrage leaflets in every home canvassed would result in such a change of public sentiment on the question, that if turned toward the State Constitution, would wipe out the word "male," as a qualification for voting, from that time honored document. When we think how men fought and bled and died to secure the right of self-government, and how they would fight to-day to defend that right were it in danger, surely we ought to be able to convince them that women ought to be permitted to give their consent to be governed.

The Fourth of July is come and gone. The din has ceased and the smoke of the fire cracker, toy pistol and cannon has cleared away. Nothing remains but a few reflections. Not even the foreigner newly landed, the Chinaman, the Jew or the colored man, has been able to out-do us in patriotism on the glorious Fourth. They may have made more noise and disturbed the peace to a greater extent, but as for hours of service over a hot cook stove and the monuments of lemon pies, cakes and ice cream we manufactured to help in the celebration, to say nothing of the boy and girl orators we trained, they have not been able to hold a candle to the blazing efforts put forth by women. Yet woman's citizenship is nil, except for taxes, their opinions on public questions are scorned, their right to vote denied. Oh, for the day to come when a new declaration of independence shall enable women to put to rout King Alcohol, whose tyranny in one year was not outdone by King George in all his lifetime. Rally for the home cause and declare for independence for its queen.

MARIE C. BREHM.

To secure a Woman's Edition of the local paper is another way to make this department prominent and make money for the work. Every local Union should, if possible, have at least one franchise lecture in the town every year, and as many more as practicable.

Good meetings may also be held with local talent. Get your minister to preach on "Woman's Work," or "Women of the Bible," or "Women in the Church," and persuade him to put in a strong plea for the enfranchisement of women.

Why Women Should Vote—And Why They Should Be Well Educated.

When the editor of a powerful daily newspaper so widely read as the Chicago American speaks in so fearless a tone, it is well to note the fact. The following editorial appeared in Hearst's Chicago American, October 9, 1902. Straws show which way the wind blows:

Every year in this country and throughout the world women progress toward the full possession of the ballot and toward equality with men in educational facilities. In one State after another women are beginning to practice law; they are obtaining new suffrage rights; they are flocking to newly opened schools and colleges.

In England and Scotland, but a few years ago, only a few men in the population were allowed to vote—money was the requisite quality. To-day, in those countries, women vote at county elections, and in many cases at municipal elections. In Utah, Colorado and Idaho women, as voters, have the same right as men. They have certain rights as voters in nine other States. In the great commonwealth of Australia, so far ahead of all the rest of the world in humanity and social progress, the wife votes absolutely as her husband does.

The woman who votes becomes an important factor in life, for double reasons. In the first place, when a woman votes, the candidate must take care that his conduct and record meet with a good woman's approval, and this makes better men of the candidates.

In the second place, and far more important, is this reason:

When women shall vote, the political influence of the good men in the community will be greatly increased. There is no doubt whatever that women, in their voting, will be influenced by the men whom they know. But there is also no doubt that they will be influenced by the good men whom they know.

Men can deceive each other much more easily than they can deceive women—the latter being providentially provided with the X-ray of intuitional perception.

The blustering politician, preaching what he does not practice, may hold forth on the street corner or in a saloon, and influence the votes of others as worthless as himself. But his home life will more than offset his political influence among women.

The bad husband may occasionally get the vote of a deluded or frightened wife. But he will surely lose the votes of the wives and daughters next door.

Voting by women will improve humanity, because IT WILL COMPEL MEN TO SEEK AND EARN THE APPROVAL OF WOMEN.

Our social system improves in proportion as the men in it are influenced by its good women.

As for the education of women, it would seem unnecessary to urge its value upon even the stupidest of creatures. Yet it is a fact that the importance of thorough education of girls is still doubted—usually, of course, by men with deficient education of their own and an elaborate sense of their own importance and superiority.

Mary Lyon, whose noble efforts established Mount Holyoke College, and spread the idea of higher education for women throughout the world, put the case of women's education in a nutshell. She said:

"I think it less essential that the farmers and mechanics should be educated than that their wives, the mothers of their children, should be."

The education of a girl is important chiefly because it means the education of a future mother.

Whose brain but the mother's inspires and directs the son in the early years when knowledge is most easily absorbed and permanently retained?

If you find in history a man whose success is based on intellectual equipment, you find almost invariably that his mother was exceptionally fortunate in her opportunities for education.

Well educated women are essential to humanity. They insure abler men in the future, and incidentally they make the ignorant man feel ashamed of himself in the present.

WOMEN IN THE PROFESSIONS.

Less than a century ago there was not a woman in any of the professions; and, truth to say, many of the so-called professions were not known to man a century since.

Liberty, perching on America's banner for a hundred years, has produced not only new professions but a wondrous change in the legal status of women.

The first woman to graduate in medicine was Dr. Elizabeth Blackwell, at Geneva, New York—the first graduated woman physician in the world. Upon her application for admission to Oberlin College the faculty agreed to leave the matter to the students, fully expecting and hoping they would say "No." But they voted unanimously to admit her, greatly to the chagrin of the faculty. About this time, 1840, Harriet Martineau visited the United States, and reported seven occupations only open to women—teaching, needle work, keeping boarders, working in cotton factories, type setting, book binding and household service.

Rev. Antoinette Brown Blackwell was the first woman who had the temerity to graduate in theology. This was in 1850 at Oberlin. The pulpit at this time gave frequent expositions of the necessary subordination of women. "Let women keep silence in the churches," was often quoted, and the cruel persecution of Ann Hutchinson, a godly woman who had dared to preach the gospel to men, was brought forward as a reason why women should keep silence. So universally was this movement against her approved that the voices of women were silenced everywhere.

Woman's sphere has enlarged vastly within a recent period. Her success in spheres analogous to the pulpit may be fairly quoted as an indication of her fitness for many branches of the sacred profession. No one thinks of denying woman's right to preach in print. Why may it not be that some women have a divine call to preach in the pulpit? Woman as lecturer has won a high place in great reformatory movements. If the womanliness and queenliness of a Frances E. Willard, a Mrs. Leavitt, a Mrs. Hunt or a Mrs. Livermore have not been diminished but rather ennobled and glorified by their prolonged and varied work on the platform, why should it be by the work of the pulpit?

What Scriptural authority can be quoted of greater weight than the divine command not to keep a light under a bushel, or a talent in a napkin? Antoinette Brown began and closed her theological course with the disapproval of both faculty and trustees. After she had graduated (with honor) the charter of the college was amended so as to prevent other women from entering the theological department. Miss Brown's name was not printed in the list of graduates for forty years after her graduation. But of what avail? To-day there are some eighteen denominations which permit women to preach. Several hundred women are occupying pulpits with credit to their sex and denomination. But those churches whose policy is determined by large representative bodies, such as the Methodist Episcopal and Presbyterian, still refuse to ordain women, and while there are Baptist women ministers, as a whole, the church is extremely conservative upon the general question.

Permission to practice law in nearly all countries can only be obtained by decree of a court. In several States the courts threw off the responsibility of passing upon the application of women candidates by the decision that a special act from the Legislature must first be secured, making women eligible to the profession of law. In 1864 Belle Mansfield was admitted to the bar in Iowa. That same year Myra Bradwell made application for admission to the bar in Illinois, and was refused. To-day over eighty women are practicing law in Illinois, having been admitted to the bar one after another, notwithstanding the first applicant was refused. Several hundred women have graduated at law schools, and many are engaged in honorable and lucrative employment.

Women have been in the schools as teachers since 1789. As late as 1840 one dollar a week with "board-ing around" was accounted good wages for a woman. In some States four-fifths of the teachers are women, and for the whole United States over half the teachers are women. The highest grades of positions are usually reserved for men, and there is still unequal pay for equal work in most States. Many professorships in colleges and universities, representing every phase of scholarship, are held by women. The universities of Sweden, Italy and Switzerland have employed women in responsible positions as instructors.

In journalism, women are as numerous as men. Every city newspaper has its coterie of women reporters and its department superintendents. Magazines and papers are owned and edited by women, and some of the best paid contributors are women. A woman with talent is as free as a man to make a reputation and to secure satisfactory remuneration.

At the beginning of the nineteenth century higher learning for women was quite as bitterly condemned as developed in later days against political rights, but popular opinion was not vested with authority to grant or refuse the right of education. The entering wedge was a brave woman who established a school for girls on the new lines and a few parents with good common sense to support it.

Individual women, anxious for an education, knocking at college doors, drove the wedge further in, while the teaching, and speaking, and writing of women being educated by their own efforts effectually opened the way to the schools, colleges and professions, one by one, until, at the close of the nineteenth century, women have perfect freedom to achieve in any direction for which they are able.

So a few women, great enough and courageous enough to bear the humiliation of popular disapproval, fitted themselves for medicine, law, the ministry, and a few liberal minded people patronized them, and lo! the professions were opened to women.

But the popular will must be obtained in the United States in order for women to gain political privileges, consequently the department of rights presents the greatest resistance, but we see the shadows melting before the sunlight of Christian equality, and it doesn't matter how hot the battle. It did not matter in the long run that the doctors boycotted the women physicians, that the pulpit denounced the women ministers, that the judges frowned upon the women lawyers, that the newspapers condemned such undertakings, and that the average man and woman shared these opinions. God is behind the movement, and "that which was lost" to women in the Garden of Eden will finally be restored. Perfect equality in the home, in the church, in the state. How will it be in the moral and spiritual? Behind the swinging gates of this swift passing century there comes to my vision the dawn of the "thousand years" of universal brotherhood and sisterhood, when every one's prosperity will be every other person's desire.

SWEET CICELY FAVORS SUFFRAGE.

But Josiah was more sot than usual that mornin' aginst wimin's votin' and he begun himself on the subject to Cicely—had talked pow'ful aginst it, but gentle; he loved Cicely as he did his eyes. He had been to a lecture the night before, to Toad Holler, a little place between Jonesville and Lovetown. He and Uncle Nate Burpy went up to hear a speech aginst wimin suffrage, in a Democrat.

Josiah said it was a pow'ful speech. He said Uncle Nate said, "The feller that delivered that ort to be President of the United States. That mind ort to be in the chair."

I said I persumed, from what I hearn of it, that his mind was tired out and ort to set down and rest. I spoke light because Josiah Allen acted so high-headed about it; but I do s'pose it was a pow'ful effort, from what I hearn. He talked dretful smart, they say, and used big words. The young feller that give the lecture and his sister was left orphans and poor; and she was a good deal the oldest and she sot her eyes by him. She had took care of the old folks, supported 'em and lifted 'em 'round herself and took all the care of 'em in every way till they died. Then this boy didn't seem to have much faculty for gittin' 'long, so she educated him—sewed for tailor shops and got money and sent him to school and college, so he could talk big.

And it was sich a comfort to that sister to sort o' rest off for an evenin' from makin' vests and pantaloon cheap to furnish him money. It was so sort o' restful to her to set and hear him talk large aginst wimmen suffrage and the weakness and inefficiency of wimmen. He said, this young chap did, and proved it right out, so they said, that the franchise was too tuckerin' a job fur wimmen to tackle, and that wimmen hadn't the earnestness and persistency and deep forethought to make her valuable as a franchiser—or safe! You see he had his hull strength, the young chap had, for his sister had clothed him, as well as boarded him and educated him; so he talked pow'ful. He could use up quantities of wind and not miss it, havin' all his strength.

His speech made a deep impression on men and wimmen. His sister, bein' so wore out workin' so hard, wept fur joy. It was so beautiful and affected her so pow'ful! She said she never realized till that minit how weak and useless wimmen really was and how strong and pow'ful men was.

It was a great effort and she got an extra good supper for him that night, I hearn, wantin' to repair the waste in his system caused by eloquence. She was supportin' him till he got a client. He was stud-yin' law.

Wall, Josiah was jes' full o' his arguments and he talked 'em over to Cicely that mornin'. But she said, after hearin' 'em all, that she was willin' to vote on the temperance question, and she had thought it all over, she said—thought how that race of slaves were freed, and she believed that when wimmen, who were now in legal bondage, were free to act as their heart and reason dictated, they who suffered from intemperance, would be the ones to strike the blow that would free the land from the curse. Curious that she should feel so, but you couldn't get the idee out o' her head. She had pondered over it day and night, she said—pondered over it and prayed over it.

And, come to think it over, I don't know as it was curius after all, when I thought how Paul had ruined himself, and broke her heart, and how her money was bein' used now to keep grog-shops open, four of her buildin's rented to liquor dealers, and she couldn't help herself.

Cicely owned lots of other landed property in the village where she lived, and so, of course, her property was all taxed accordin' to its worth. And it bein' the biggest property there, of course it helped more than anything else did to keep the streets smooth and even before the saloon doors, so drunkards could get there easy; and to get new street lamps in front of the saloons and billiard rooms, so as to make a real bright light to draw 'em in and ruin 'em.

There was a few—the doctor who knew rum ruined men's bodies; and the minister, he knew how it ruined men's souls—they two and a few others, worked awful hard to get the saloons shut up.

But the executor, who wanted the town to go license, so's he could make money, and thinking it would be for her interest in the end, hired votes with her money. Her money used to hire liquor votes! The idee!

So her money, and his influence and the influence of low appetites, carried the day; and the liquor traffic won. The men who rented her houses voted for license to a man. She labored with these men with tears in her eyes. And they liked her.

They listened to her respectful, stood with their hats in their hands answerin' her soft and went soft out of her presence—and voted license to a man. You see they was all willin' to give her love and courtesy and kindness, but not the right to do as her heaven-learned sense of right and wrong wanted her to.

Wall, Cicely didn't think it was right. Curius she should think so, some folks thought, but she did. But all this was as nothin' to what she felt about the boy—her fears for his future. "What could she do—what could she do for the boy, to make it safer for him in the future?"

And I had jest this one answer, that I'd say over and over agin to her:

"Cicely, you can pray! That is all that wimmen can do, and try to influence him right now. God can take care of the boy."

"But I can't keep him with me always, and other influences will come and beat mine down. And I have prayed, but God don't hear my prayers."

And I'd say, calm and soothin', "How do you know, Cicely?" And she says, "Why how I prayed for help when my poor Paul went down to ruin through the open door of a grog shop! If the women of the land had it in their power to do what their hearts dictate—what the poorest, lowest man has the right to do—every saloon, every low grog shop would be closed."

She said this to Josiah the mornin' after the lecture I speak of. He sot there seemin'ly perusin' the almanac, but he spoke up then and says:

"You can't shet up human nater, Cicely, that will jump out anyway. As the poet says, 'Nater will caper.'"

But Cicely went right on, with her eyes a shinin', and a red spot in her white cheeks that I didn't like to see. "A thousand temptations that surround my boy now could be removed, a thousand low influences changed into better, helpful ones. There are drunkards who long, who pray, to have temptations removed out of their way—those who are trying to reform, and who dare not pass the door of a saloon; the very smell of the liquor crazing them with the desire for drink. They want help; they pray to be saved, and we who are praying to help them are powerless. What, if in the future, my boy should be like one of them; weak, tempted, longing for help and getting nothing but help towards vice and ruin? Haven't mothers a right to help those they love in every way—by prayer, by influence, by legal right and might?"

"It would be a dangerous experiment, Cicely," says Josiah, crossin' his right leg over his left and turnin' the almanac to another month, "It seems to me sumthin' unwomanly; sumthin' aginst nater. It is turnin' the laws of nater right 'round. It is perilus to the domestic nature of wimmin."

"Good land! I never heard of a old hen called out of her spear and unhenly because she would fly out at a hawk and cackle loud and cluck to try to lead her chickens off into safety. And while the rooster is a steppin' high and struttin' 'round and lookin' surprised and injured, it is the old hen that saves the chicks nine times out of ten."

"It is aginst the evil hawks—men hawks—that are ready to settle down and tear the young and innocent out of the home nest that wimmin are tryin' to defend their children from. And men may talk about wimmin's gettin' too excited and zealous, but they don't cluck and cackle half so loud as the old hen does, or flutter 'round half so earnest and fierce."

"And the chicken hawk hain't to be compared for danger to the men hawks Cicely is tryin' to save her boy from. And I say it is domestic love in her to want to protect him, and tenderness, and nature, and—and—everything."

I was wrought up and felt deeply and couldn't express half what I felt, and didn't care much if I couldn't. I was roused up; I felt fairly reckless about carin' whether Josiah or anybody understood me or not. I knew the Lord understood me, and I knew what I felt in my own mind, and I didn't care much for anything else. Women do have such spells! They get fairly wore out at tryin' to express what they feel in their souls to a gainsayin' world, and have that world yell out at 'em "Unwomanly! Unwomanly!"

I say Cicely wusn't unwomanly. I say from the very depths of her lovin' little soul, she was pure womanly, affectionate, earnest, tender-hearted, good. And if anybody tells me she wusn't, I'll know the reason why.

JOSIAH ALLEN'S WIFE.

SOME REASONS WHY THE W. C. T. U. STANDS FOR EQUAL SUFFRAGE.

Because God created humanity free and equal.

Because "governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed."

Because in a representative republic the ballot is the only direct, orderly and effective method of expressing the views of the people on governmental questions.

Because "taxation without representation is tyranny," therefore those who financially support a government and are amenable to its laws, should have a voice in their making.

Because the mere accident of sex is an unfair qualification for citizenship.

Because women possess the proper qualifications for citizenship, i. e., average intelligence, patriotism and loyalty to the best interests of the country.

Because an enfranchised womanhood would reach a higher plane of mental and moral power, since responsibility educates.

Because women have interests which need special representation. Men cannot fitly represent women. Women need the ballot to protect property, person and children.

Because the State needs the woman element. Government is now one-sided. The State should be an enlarged family.

Because the ballot is the only weapon that can kill the saloon, the chief enemy of the home. Prayers, moral suasion, social agencies and all other influences directed against the saloon are, in the last analysis, triumphant only as they crystalize in the ballot box.

SCOPE OF DEPARTMENT.

The object of this department is to educate and arouse public sentiment as to the justice of the enfranchisement of women. It aims to aid the various States to use any limited suffrage that has been conferred, to join in movements in the various States to secure any advance ground in enfranchisement, and finally to obtain the universal right of women to vote on equal terms with men.

METHODS—ORGANIZATION.

The department must be thoroughly organized, with a Superintendent in each State, district, county and local Union.

EDUCATION.

There are four principal ways of educating public sentiment: (1) Through the press; (2) by lectures and public meetings; (3) by franchise literature; (4) by personal influence.

PRESS WORK.

Press work is mentioned first because "the press is the university of the people," and in no way can we reach so many people at so small expense as through the newspapers. If there is one man above all others whom it is important to convert in every community, it is the editor of the local paper. If he is friendly, he may be induced to give the use of a column or part of a column weekly or monthly. Then fill it promptly with short, bright, readable paragraphs and articles. Bear in mind that editors are more ready to publish original communications than the best selected matter, and unless already strong believers they will be more ready to publish news than to commit themselves personally.

PAPERS.

The following papers are published in advocacy of equal suffrage:

The Woman's Journal, Boston, Mass. Regular price per year, $2.50. First year to new subscribers, $1.50. To libraries and reading rooms, $1.25.

The Woman's Column, Boston, Mass.; fortnightly; per year, 25 cents.

The Woman's Tribune, Washington, D. C.; weekly; per year, $1.00.

The Woman's Standard, Sutherland, Iowa.

Kansas Suffrage Reveille, Eureka, Kan.

Western Womanhood, Fargo, N. D.

A True Republic, Cleveland, Ohio.

National Suffrage Bulletin, No. 107 World Building, New York.

A cash premium of twenty dollars will be given to any Union or individual getting up a club of twenty-five new subscribers to the Woman's Journal at $1.50 per year. The paper to be sent to any address.

A series of useful leaflets is issued at the office of the Woman's Journal. They are by Frances E. Willard, Mary A. Livermore, Lucy Stone, Mrs. Wallace, Henry Ward Beecher, U. S. Senator Hoar, George William Curtis and other able writers. The prices vary from 10 to 80 cents per hundred. A full set of these leaflets, including forty different kinds, may be ordered for 10 cents from the Woman's Journal, at 3 Park street, Boston, Mass.

The Franchise Superintendent should study her subject, inform herself thoroughly as to the reasons why women should vote and the results where they do vote and be prepared for answers to the common objections, "keeping sweet" and good natured all the while.

One of the secrets of keeping an interest in the department is to give every one something to do. Get as many members of the Union to help you as possible. Make demands for your department. Remember that this is the reason that you were appointed to superintend.

Every Franchise Superintendent should communicate freely with her superior superintendent. Report your work to her frequently and never fail to answer a letter.

Put your wits to work, devise ways and means and pass them down the line.

Work cheerfully, persistently, enthusiastically, confidently.

ELLA S. STEWART
National Superintendent.

EMINENT OPINIONS.

When you were weak and I was strong, I toiled for you. Now you are strong and I am weak. Because of my work for you, I ask your aid. I ask the ballot for myself and my sex. As I stood for you, I pray you stand by me and mine.—Clara Barton to the soldiers.

Voting would increase the intelligence of women, and be a powerful stimulus to female education. It would enable women to protect their own industrial, social, moral and educational rights. . . . Woman's vote would be to the vices of our great cities what the lightning is to the oak. . . . I believe that this reform is coming, and that it will come to stay.—Joseph Cook.

I leave it to others to speak of suffrage as a right or a privilege; I speak of it as a duty. . . . What right have you women to leave all this work of caring for the country with men? Is it not your country as well as theirs? Are not your children to live in it after you are gone? Are you not bound to contribute whatever faculty God has given you to make it and keep it a pure, safe and happy land?—James Freeman Clarke.

One principal cause of the failure of so many magnificent schemes, social, political, religious, which have followed each other age after age, has been this: that in almost every case they have ignored the rights and powers of one-half the human race, viz., women. I believe that politics will not go right, that society will not go right, that religion will not go right, that nothing human will ever go right, except in so far as woman goes right; and to make woman go right she must be put in her place and she must have her rights.—Charles Kingsley.

I think women are bound to seek the suffrage as a very great means of doing good.—Frances Power Cobbe.

I take it America never gave any better principle to the world than the safety of letting every human being have the power of protection in its own hands. I claim it for woman. The moment she has the ballot, I shall think the cause is won.—Wendell Phillips.

You ask my reason for believing in women's suffrage. It seems to me almost self-evident, an axiom, that every house-holder and tax-payer ought to have a voice in the expenditure of the money we pay, including, as this does, interests the most vital to a human being.—Florence Nightingale.

To have a voice in choosing those by whom one is governed is a means of self-protection due to every one. Under whatever conditions, and within whatever limits, men are admitted to the suffrage, there is not a shadow of justification for not admitting women under the same.—John Stuart Mill.

I am in favor of woman suffrage.—Phillips Brooks.

With all my head and with all my heart I believe in woman suffrage.—Elizabeth Stuart Phelps.

It is very cheap wit that finds it so droll that a woman should vote. . . . If the wants, the passions, the vices, are allowed a full vote, through the hands of a half brutal, intemperate population, I think it but fair that the virtues, the aspirations, should be allowed a full voice as an offset, through the purest of the people.—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

If the principle on which we founded our government is true, that taxation must not be without representation, and if women hold property and are taxed, it follows that women should be represented in the State by their votes. . . . I think the State can no more afford to dispense with the votes of women in its affairs than the family.—Harriet Beecher Stowe.

Those who still deny to woman the right to the ballot upon the basis that she is now a protected class and not exposed to the hardships with which men have to contend, should read and mark well such utterances as this of United States Representative Thomas W. Phillips, of Pennsylvania, when in speaking on the Labor Commission, he said: "The rights of woman must be more fully recognized in the future than they have been in the past. She is constantly entering new industrial fields and meeting their requirements with fidelity and ability. Her advancement in intellectual and moral pursuits is without a parallel in history. She is beginning to dominate along all the lines that lead to the betterment of the race. She has built and endowed more institutions of benevolence and charity for the relief of want and suffering in the past fifty years than were established by both sexes in all preceding time. Yet, notwithstanding all this, many of her sex still toil in sweat shops, fighting an uneven battle for child and home with avarice and greed. This blot upon civilization must be removed, and woman's rights and influence be recognized in any future movement for the betterment of our industrial system."—Rachel Avery Foster.

Woman suffrage does not mean revolution, but evolution. It is the next step in the progress of the race.

In Wisconsin, New Jersey, Washington, Kansas, Oregon and Michigan women vote on matters concerning school expenditures.

In four States—Wyoming, Colorado, Utah and Idaho—women have full suffrage and vote on all matters and for all officers.

New occasions teach new duties; Time makes Ancient good uncouth.
They must upward still, and onward, who Would keep abreast of truth.

—Lowell.

The World's W. C. T. U. convention was held in Geneva, Switzerland, June 9. On account of the severe illness of Lady Henry Somerset, the President, Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens, of Portland, Maine, the Vice-President of the world's organization and our National President, presided. There were present delegates from Sweden, Norway, Belgium, Iceland, India, Victoria, Queensland, West Australia, New Zealand, Cape Colony, Syria, Maderia, Chili, Canada, Great Britain and the United States; also representatives of the work in Egypt and Japan. The meetings were held in Victoria Hall, which is commodious and richly furnished in gilt and crimson velvet. The banners and flags of all lands, suspended above and around the large platform, have been telling the people of Geneva that we are working "for God and home and every land," and that we want "purity in the home," "Peace between all nations," and that the Loyal Temperance Legion is saying, "we'll help lift the world to the light."

Frances Willard prophesied that "woman will bless and brighten every place she enters and she will enter every place upon the round earth." The strong women of other lands here present, representing so many phases of work and occupying places of influence, show that this prophecy is being fulfilled; also, that they are bearing in mind that "womanliness must come first, afterwards what will."

Among the beautiful and cordial welcomes expressed was that of Madam Hyacinthe Loyson, President of the Alliance of Oriental and Occidental Women. She said in part:

"What came ye here for to see? Not reeds shaken by the wind, and not alone this sublime environing Nature!

"Ah, no! a higher aim than these majestic mountains, a purer vision than their crowning snows, an incentive of beauty, peace and holiness, more powerful than these verdant valleys of limpid lakes have brought you hither.

"But you! what came you here for to do, strange women of distant lands and younger races? Under the leadership of the Divine Captain, who owes his human life and earthly mission to a woman, you have incorporated His sisters and her daughters, from the different parts of the world, into a grand marching army of rescue to protect, not only our women and children and all helpless people, but to protect our God-ordained protectors and governors—convincing them that to protect self against selfishness and to govern appetite is more difficult and more necessary than protecting frontiers or governing empires. And for them all you have started on one of the noblest crusades that mark Christian effort.

"You have established outposts throughout the world, beginning with Boston, Chicago, Washington, London, Edinburgh, and now you have chosen Geneva for an advance post; less, it may be, for recruits than for its splendid strategic position, it being a high radiating center of Light, Learning and Liberty.

"And you have come here not only to teach, but to learn.

"Behold her temples of science at the foot of her grand cathedral, for here, thank God, science and religion are wedded in holy union. And to the doors of these temples of learning flock the youth of all nations and all religions, young men and young women, for Geneva gives to the children of other lands what it gives to its native-born sons and daughters, what it gives to you ladies, a sincere and affectionate welcome.

"And also give you welcome the fair, blue waters of Lemane, gushing from the heart of the Swiss Mountains—reflecting alike the blue firmament, sunlight and storm-cloud, as does the genius of this happy land reflects the march of human events, carrying out into the the great sea of humanity something of its own for the welfare, peace and progress of all nations. And, as we believe, that in spite of the lust of empire, the future is for smaller States in federation (as in our beloved America, composed of all races and religions under the sun) and hearts must follow, no, they must take the lead. So this little democracy of Geneva was founded as was the greater republic of the other hemisphere, by valiant, believing foreigners, who esteemed conscience of greater worth than home or native land. And we believe that this commonwealth founded by stalwart Christians exiled from their homes, is chosen by the Supreme Ruler of nations to stand for an example of higher civilization in larger States—and a model for the future universal federation. And you, Christian women of the dawn of the twentieth century, are the forerunners of that Federation, as were those other women to announce to the Brotherhood and to the world the Risen Humanity in the Man Jesus—the Christ."

M. Bude, the Christ host, spoke for himself, and Mme. De Bude, the hostess, who is a most charming, cultivated, intelligent lady of Geneva, said in part:

"In the Epistle to the Hebrews it is written that through hospitality some have received angels without knowing them. But we to-day, to our great privilege, receive in our home a shining angel, under whose wings you are working—the Angel of Temperance. Welcome to Switzerland, to Geneva! Your faith will strengthen ours; your counsels will instruct us; and when you leave us to go over the seas, back to your homes, do not forget our old city which had the honor to receive you. Once more welcome!"

The Swiss people are radiantly responsive. Many of them attended all the sessions day and evening and the leaders were presented to the convention. We made it a business to become acquainted with one another and between the sessions many delegates were invited to partake of the dejeuner served in the aristocratic homes of the old part of the town, formerly the palaces of the nobility.

Each morning conferences on purity were led by Mrs. Bullock, who represented Dr. Mary Wood-Allen, and Miss Anna Gordon, assisted by Miss Tinling, with the leaders of the L. T. L. Miss Mary Gorham, of England, had charge of the Devotional Day and the devotional meetings of the convention and gave some most helpful Bible readings. Miss Christine Tingling was most untiring in her efforts to assist the World's officers. She is one who can do the humblest service and crown it with an excellent speech.

The people of Geneva were deeply touched and impressed with the memorial service. The convention reverently stood while the names of our promoted comrades and friends were read. The white silk star-spangled banner that had rested on the casket containing the form of our beloved leader, Frances Willard, was placed on the platform. Mrs. Stevenson led in prayer and Sarah Monroe Hall sang most sympathetically the beautiful song, "Face to Face."

The election resulted in an overwhelming vote for Lady Henry Somerset for President, Mrs. Stevens for Vice-President, Miss Slack and Miss Anna Gordon for Secretaries and Mrs. Sanderson for Treasurer. Cablegrams of hearty congratulations were sent Lady Henry and Mrs. Stevens' husband and daughter.

The mass meetings in the evening were of great interest and well attended, especially when "one hundred women made one hundred speeches in one hundred minutes," as Miss Willard once said, and sagely concluded that men would think "woman was made out of the jaw bone of Adam." Your correspondent had made her little speech in the afternoon, when she was introduced with her two sisters, Anna and Alice (Mrs. Gulick, of Spain), so she had the pleasure of witnessing from the floor the brilliant spectacle that the spacious platform presented.

Mrs. Stevens was happy in her presiding. It was a real treat. Your correspondent was proud she was a woman. Nearly 200 delegates filled the platform, dressed in their most becoming attire, and got off, one after another, sparkling, appropriate little speeches that kept the great audience in a constant state of applause. Miss Anna Gordon touched the bell at the end of a minute. It was an interesting study of human nature—that of the women people. Some in dignified composure utterly disregarded the warning signal until Mrs. Stevens arose. Others stopped short in a manner that amused the audience. Many countries were represented on the floor, as well as on the platform, and each one heard in her own tongue the gospel for which the white ribbon stands. There were minute speeches in French, English, Swedish and Norwegian. Mrs. Mary G. Stuckenberg spoke in German. Mrs. Stevenson and Miss Slack selected the speakers, bringing them forward rapidly one after another, so that not a moment was lost. One of the most dignified and representative of the English delegates caused a burst of laughter, for when she found herself facing the audience she was so utterly overwhelmed with the impossibility of telling all that was in her heart that she turned to Mrs. Stevens and exclaimed, "How can I ever do it in a minute!"

In front of the platform were the delegates, who were arrayed in the bright costumes of their countries: Olafia Johanasdottir, of Iceland, who has been so greatly enjoyed; Franken Jeistrup, of Norway, and Miss Olive Maltery, of India, the young and rarely gifted reciter and writer, who will soon go to the United States for a professional tour. She is a Y. and added much to the enjoyment of our meetings. When her name was called she gracefully presented to Mrs. Stevens $25, the proceeds of a recital she had given that afternoon. Mrs. Harrison Lee, of Australasia, a sweet-spirited and gifted lecturer, wore a white silk dress, over which was a broad blue sash bearing the inscription, "Advance, Australia. One People, one Destiny." The skirt was uniquely decorated in front with an artistic grouping in water colors of the typical products and emblems of that country, tied with the white ribbon. India was well represented by its energetic organizer, Miss Dunhill, who pleaded for help. "Three hundred million people in all and 80,000,000 taken to drink! New liquor shops are being opened in large numbers under British rule. In the central provinces the increase in the excise revenue is fifteen per cent."

Fru Helenius, of Finland, could not leave home, but sent this message: "I am sitting here having the crying ready, in my trouble that I cannot go to Geneva." Sweden was represented by its President, Frau Wretland, of Stockholm, who was accompanied by her young daughter, and by Miss Schroeder, Vice-President, and Miss Rogberg. Frau Hoffman, of Germany, gifted and gracious, has done splendid service and was of great help to Mrs. Mary H. Hunt in opening the way for a strong scientific temperance instruction law in the schools of Germany. Mrs. Hunt's most hopeful utterance about the congress at Bremen was in regard to the position that scientists took that alcohol is a poison, even in small quantities. Mrs. Sanderson and Miss Dougall represented Canada, which has so strongly stood for prohibition by its plebiscite. Japan was represented by Mrs. Mitchell, Chile by Mrs. Arms, Natal by Miss McGregor, Madeira Islands by Mrs. Smart, Belgium by Madame Keel-hoof, Ireland by Mrs. Richard Booth, Syria by Mrs. A. A. Hawley, France by Mrs. Armfield, and Madagascar by Mlle. Du Common. Nineteen of the fifty countries federated in the World's Union were represented. We wish it were possible to aggregate the number of miles traveled by the delegates.

The magnitude of such a convention made this occasion one of extraordinary interest. "I wonder how far she came," one could not help thinking. It made those minute speeches seem extremely valuable when one thought, not only of the financial cost, but of the expenditure of time and strength in the thousands of miles traveled. Many World's Superintendents were present. Mrs. S. L. Oberholtzer, Miss Bley, Miss Grayson, Mrs. Mitchell and Miss Lile. Mrs. Lile, of London, was introduced as a life member, made so by the payment of $100. Sixty-two of the delegates were from England, 35 from the United States, 21 from Scotland, 8 from Canada, 7 each from Sweden and Australia, 1 from Norway, 1 from Spain, and 1 from Cape Colony. There were not minutes enough to go around, so the remaining delegates from Great Britain sang their greeting, all joining with them in the national air. The Americans waving their flags, sang no less enthusiastically, "My Country, 'Tis of Thee," to the same air. It was like an electric spark to the great audience. These friends of a sister republic were at once on their feet and gave us a genuine surprise by singing their stirring national anthem to the same familiar and well-beloved tune.

Amy Swankie-Cameron made an earnest and beautiful plea for Y. recruits. She did this throughout the convention at the early morning conferences. Miss Marian Ferguson, of Scotland, who has 1,400 Y's in Glasgow alone, said there were many girls wishing to belong. The only trouble was to provide leaders. What can I say of Sarah Monroe Hall, of Maine, and her magnificent rendering of the splendid song, "Victory?" "Yes, yes, we march, we march to victory!" Clasp hands with one another and with our Geneva friends who came to the platform, we sang "God be with us till we meet again," closing with the benediction, "The Lord bless thee and keep thee. The Lord make His face to shine upon thee and be gracious unto thee. The Lord lift up His countenance upon thee and give thee peace."

LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION.

Our year's work is almost completed, and before long the summing up and reporting time. I will send out the report blanks by the first of August to all the County Secretaries that I have the names of, and if there is one of you that does not receive them by the 15th of August, please notify me by postal and I will send them to you. When sending blanks to your locals urge them to report all work done for the year and forward to me by the 20th of September. In counties where there is no L. T. L. Secretary and the Leader does not receive a blank, notify me and I will send you one. Let us have all the work reported this year. Urge the payment of dues. Remember the Legions paying 10 cents dues to the W. C. T. U. State Treasurer on all pledged members will be entered on the roll of honor and taken to Hartford City to the State Convention. You will all want to see your Legion enrolled. Then the graduates send 25 cents dues to our Senior State Treasurer, Nathan Lenfestey, at Marion. Remember the banners for the largest graduates' class, the Legion paying the most dues and the county organizing the most Legions. Work for them. Those having foundation blocks for the State L. T. L. quilt, get them done and bring them to the convention.

IDA M. MIX,
L. T. L. Secretary.

What have you done this year in the department of Anti-Gambling? I hope you have all done something. Of all the many forms of vice and sin which spring from a misuse of money, gambling is the worst and is the most destructive of personal manliness and national integrity and honor. To get money without working is always a perilous thing. I wait anxiously your reports. JAMES E. MIX,
State Supt. Anti-Gambling.

Medal Contest—I am glad to see some L. T. L. contests reported in the MESSAGE and hope there will be many more to report by the end of the year. Let each local L. T. L. Superintendent of Medal Contests report by the 15th of September.

MYRTLE COX LEE,
State L. T. L. Superintendent.

SENIOR LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION.

From every Senior Legion in the State I am hoping for a report of work done. These reports should be sent in by September 10. Presidents of the W. C. T. U. will confer a great favor if they will kindly attend to this for me. SUSIE McWHIRTER,
State Cor. Sec'y L. T. L., Greencastle, Ind.

TEMPERANCE IN SUNDAY SCHOOLS.

Through the influence and efforts of Mrs. Cynthia Jones, our State Superintendent of Sunday School Work, a resolution to create a Temperance Department was considered by the executive committee of the State Sunday School convention, and according to all such business action it was deferred until the next annual meeting. Prof. R. A. Ogg, of Kokomo, was chairman of the committee and helped to push it through. Mrs. Jones has kept her department workers doing aggressive work.

THE MILL THAT JACK BUILT.

This is the mill that Jack built—
'Tis a mill that pays ten per cent,
For 'tis founded, forsooth, on the labor of youth,
Where mules cost a heap, but where children are cheap;
And the stockholders' purses are both long and deep
Because of this mill that Jack built!

This is the mill that Jack built—
The spindles are calling within;
The weak and the small must answer the call,
And babyhood's chatter can't live in the clatter;
But the profits are big, so what else can matter?
In the wonderful mill that Jack built!

This is the mill that Jack built,
And Jack's a New England man.
He's fair, fat and forty and pious—not sporty—
And will give you, quite grave, rules on how to behave,
For of course he can't know that each child is a slave
In the wonderful mill that Jack built.

This is the mill that Jack built—
And it prisons the children all day;
And the wan-faced poor white slouches homeward at night
With its tiny strength spent, and with puny form bent,
For the stockholders must have that next ten per cent
From the wonderful mill that Jack built.

—Arthur Chapman.

ANNUAL FREE WILL OFFERING FOR INDIANA W. C. T. U.

Meetings to be held by the Local Unions any time from now on to the 25th of September.

Preparation—Read the suggestions in the MESSAGE for July. Follow them.

Program—This program is very flexible. The President or Evangelistic Superintendent may lead and by calling on some one to read the text under each topic, which shall be followed by one or two prayers, the service may be completed in an hour's time. But if the Union so desires, both a morning and afternoon service may be profitably held, a lecture or paper being given upon each scripture topic, followed by a prayer and song service. Leaders should then be appointed for different hours. It might be well to hold a social service in the evening, at which gentlemen and others who could not be present during the day could bring their offerings and increase their knowledge of the work of the Union at large.

We offer the following suggestive program:

Crusade hymn, "Give to the winds thy fears."

First season of prayer—Scripture text, Prov. xxviii, 4; Matt. xi, 24, 25, 38, 39; Joel iii, 3; Jer. xi, 17; Lev. xvi, 32-35. Pray that God will open up our understanding as to the sinful conditions in our State and community.

Second season of prayer—Scripture texts, 1 Kings viii, 33; Is. ix, 6. Pray that He will give to us and all men everywhere a desire and will that these conditions may be remedied.

Third season of prayer—Scripture texts, Eph. iv, 32; Deut. i, 16, 17. Pray that He may give to us and our friends wisdom in planning and executing for a safer and better community and State.

Fourth season of prayer—Scripture texts, 2 Tim. i, 5-8; Mark xvi, 9; John xx, 14-18; Is. xxxii, 9; Ps. lxviii, 2 (Rev. Ver.); Deut. xi, 18-21. Pray that He may show us, for our peace and spiritual enrichment, as well as for the advancement of our cause, that the W. C. T. U. is of His will.

Fifth season of prayer—Scripture texts, Gen. xiv, 20; Mal. iii, 8-11; Heb. vii, 2-9; Matt. xxiii, 23. Pray that we and our friends may have a convincing conviction of the fact that He uses money for His work.

Sixth season of prayer—Scripture texts, 1 Peter iv, 10; Rom. x, 14. Pray that He will touch the hearts of the people to give liberally to this work, and show us how much we can give.

Why we ask an offering: Our membership dues are small, in order that no woman need be deprived the privilege of joining us because of expense. We have no system of taxes or fines. The appropriation of the dues covers many privileges to the members. This leaves nothing for sending out literature for the general information of the people, nor for lecturers and organizers.

How much to expect: Five thousand dollars by means of these meetings is a reasonable sum to hope for. Certainly each pledged member can pledge herself for one dollar, either to pay it herself or collect it from friends. This does not include honorary members. That would bring the sum to much more than $5,000. God will grant us according to our faith as shown by our works. Write for envelopes and appeals to

ALICE RUTH PALMER.

A LITTLE NOTE.

I learn that many have not understood that our paper, the woman's issue of The News Tribune, was a 16 page paper. We contracted for only 8 pages, but the foreman in making up the paper placed some of our articles in the other sheet, and in giving out the paper it has been separated and 8 pages given to one and 8 to another, thus destroying the effects of the paper. Some have written us that their articles were not in because of this. We are sorry for this and any person or Union who wish another supply of papers, that they may keep a whole copy as a souvenir number, we will gladly supply them at reduced rates.

MATTIE CAMMACK-GIBSON.

FIELD NOTES.

Miss Jessie Ackerman, at one time W. C. T. U. missionary, delivered an address at Richmond, Ind., June 21.

Local and County Presidents are requested to bring orders for the State Minutes of next year to the State Convention.

Mrs. Frances Beauchamp is filling several dates in Indiana. She spoke at Evansville, July 17; Lebanon, July 22; Westfield, July 23; Martinsville, July 26, and Bethany Park, July 27.

Through the efforts of the temperance workers three saloons at North Manchester have been closed. How glad our White Ribboners of Wabash County should be for the privilege of helping in the victorious warfare.

Mrs. Mary Balch, of Louisville, Ky., writes: I have finished reading every word in the July MESSAGE and as I have no carrier pigeon, and it is most too far to phone, and a telegram is too serious, I must write a short letter to tell you the MESSAGE is so splendid bright, new, to the point, hits the mark; this is my bouquet with love.

At Indianapolis, Frances E. Willard Union observed flower mission day by going in a body to the Eleanor Hospital for Sick Children, where they distributed flowers. From there they went to the Katherine Home for Aged Women. After a short service of song and prayer and the presentation of flowers, Mrs. Hill, of Boston, quite an able speaker, made an address, which was appreciated very much.

At Winchester, Miss Marie C. Brehm spoke twice, June 22, in Friends' Church. In the evening the large church was packed, and the story, "From Jerusalem to Jericho," held the listeners still for an hour and a half. It is a wonderful lecture, and we are richer, mentally, spiritually and financially.

CARRIE TOMLINSON.

Central Union, Indianapolis, has had 10,000 Sabbath Observance pledge cards printed. At the top of the cards are the words, "Presented by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union." The Union has chosen the eighth ward (a section of about ten squares square) as their territory and the cards are being distributed from house to house. They will also be distributed through the churches in the ward.

Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, Vice-President of the Indiana W. C. T. U., delivered an address at the M. E. Church in Columbia City on Monday afternoon, June 22. Representatives were present from the other Unions of the county—Churubusco and South Whitley. It was one of the most magnificent and eloquent addresses ever delivered in the city. The Union greatly appreciated the work done by Mrs. Stanley, and hopes for her return at some future time.

Porter County Institute was held at Hebron, June 18 and 19, conducted by Miss Alice Palmer. The program was carried out as far as possible. Much interest was manifested and we feel that aside from the added membership, more good was done than we can estimate. The first evening Miss Palmer lectured to a large and appreciative audience. The second, we held a Silver Medal contest, making the third contest we have had this spring since April.

You can obtain a free ticket to the National Convention at Cincinnati next November by securing a certain number of subscribers to the Union Signal. Write at once to Miss Addie Austin, 184 LaSalle street, Chicago, for instructions. The number you must secure will depend upon the distance from your town to Cincinnati. We hope many will take advantage of this offer and thus do two good things—increase the circulation of one of the best temperance papers published and win for yourself a free ticket to the great convention.

LaPorte Union, besides holding its regular meeting every two weeks, has given two receptions and has had several special meetings. On April 16 a farewell reception was held for Mrs. Martha Talmage, who was going away to stay until September. June 16 another was given for Mrs. Mary Baumgardner, who expects to be gone a year. The Union misses these dear sisters very much, but our loss is some other Union's gain. This Union also planned to have Miss Marie Brehm on June 14, and was sadly disappointed when told it could not have her. It also donated $10 to the Hadley Home in June.

Churubusco Union secured the services of Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley for one week in June, from 17th to 23d. On Saturday evening, June 20, she lectured on the street to a very large audience; saloon keepers, drunkards, saints and sinners all paying the strictest attention to her lecture, many saying that it was the best ever given in Churubusco. On Sunday night she gave her famous lecture, "At the Mercy of the State," to a crowded house. On Monday afternoon she met with the Columbia City W. C. T. U. Churubusco Union gained ten new members. We expect to have her again sometime in the near future.

From Mt. Vernon. Mrs. Balch, State Secretary of the W. C. T. U. of Kentucky, accompanied by Mrs. M. E. Everton, formerly of Mt. Vernon, but now a State Organizer of Kentucky, were here from June 27 to 29, guests of Mrs. R. Sarles. On Saturday afternoon a reception was held at the home of Mrs. Eva McCallister, with quite a number of women present. Mrs. Balch's lecture and recitation were splendid and to the point. The meetings held at the churches on Saturday and Sunday nights were not so well attended. Such lectures as Mrs. Balch gives are just what are needed here, if we could only get the people out to hear them. We have but a small Union, but we are trying to do all we can with the persistent efforts of our President, Miss Inez McGregor, and Treasurer, Mrs. R. Sarles. Flower Mission Day was appropriately observed by the Mt. Vernon Union.

Winchester had a month of small pox in January, but the quarantine was lifted in time for the Willard Memorial, a union meeting, all the ministers helping. Fifteen ten-week subscriptions were sent to the Union Signal. Two very interesting parlor meetings were held, one for mothers, the other for over fifty fathers, mothers and children. The young people are always ready to provide fine music, thus helping very much. President Mrs. O. R. Baker, wife of the superintendent of schools, has her whole heart in the work, and all hope to hold up her hands and go forward.

Under the auspices of the North Kokomo W. C. T. U., Miss Marie C. Brehm, of Chicago, gave one of her popular lectures at the Grace M. E. Church, Thursday evening, June 18, to a large and appreciative audience. She discussed Alcohol, Appetite, Avarice and Apathy under the head of the "Four A's." She said if it were not for Avarice every saloon in Kokomo would be closed by the 4th of July. She dealt a few telling blows to the practice of card playing and gambling for silver spoons and cut glass and other tom-foolery. She declared that a wave of genuine religion must sweep over our churches to rid us of this cause for reproach in the eyes of the world. This class never have any time for genuine religion or temperance work. Miss Edith Hillis, the State President of the L. T. L., sang sweetly, as only she can, the temperance song, "What Is the Use to Deny It." A parlor meeting was held in the afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. W. Learner, on East Mulberry street, where Miss Brehm addressed a large number of ladies.

At the semi-annual convention of the Wayne County W. C. T. U., held at Economy, June 25, the following Superintendents of Departments were appointed: Peace and Arbitration, Mrs. Cyrus Hodgkin, Richmond; Franchise, Mrs. Mary Toms, Richmond; Mercy and Charity, Mrs. Hannah Taylor, Economy; Flower Mission, Mrs. Bertha Smith, Richmond; Evangelistic Work, Mrs. Elizabeth Haughton, Richmond; Sunday-school, Mrs. Eliza B. H. Mendenhall, Richmond; Purity and Rescue, Mrs. Elizabeth Candler, Richmond; Health and Heredity, Mrs. D. L. Hopkins, Richmond; Jail and Prison, Mrs. Mary Carman, Richmond; Law and Statistics, Mrs. Rena Randall, Richmond; L. T. L., Mrs. Sadie Eaves, Richmond; Fair Work, Mrs. Ruthanna Hunt, Richmond; Press, Miss Letitia Smith, Richmond; Mothers' Meetings, Mrs. Eliza Morris, Richmond; Scientific Temperance Instruction, Mrs. Ellen Clark, Economy; Sabbath Observance, Mrs. Susan Smith, Richmond; Temperance Literature, Mrs. Rachel Hodgkin, Richmond; Medal Contest, Miss Edah Hunt, Richmond.

Tuesday, June 9, the ladies of the W. C. T. U. of Kokomo celebrated the day at their hall as Memorial Day, in honor of Miss Jennie Caseday, of Louisville, a helpless cripple for thirty years, now deceased. It was Miss Caseday who originated the beautiful Flower Mission day which is annually celebrated by the W. C. T. U. everywhere. Tuesday evening was devoted to a silver medal contest at the J. E. Hillis home on East Sycamore street. Four boys of the L. T. L., Kenyon Gregg, Lewis Terrill, Frank Logan and Lloyd Thomas, were the contestants. The medal was captured by Master Frank Logan. Tuesday and Wednesday the ladies of the W. C. T. U. were busy making beautiful bouquets, tied with a little snow-white ribbon, which they distributed to the inmates of the county infirmary, orphans' home, county jail, police headquarters and at all three of the city fire departments. The work of distributing the flowers in this city was delegated to Mrs. Stockton and Miss Edith Hillis and their committees. The custom is indeed a beautiful one, as it brings kindly remembrance and the sweet sunshine of hope to many of life's unfortunate and less favored plodders.

The W. C. T. U. societies and Prohibition Alliance of South Bend celebrated the Fourth of July in true American fashion by holding an all-day temperance celebration and basket picnic at Springbrook Park. The program began at 10:30 o'clock in the forenoon with an oratorical contest, five contestants participating. These numbers were alternated by those who took part in the musical contest. Two sets of judges were selected, who were unknown to the contestants. When the judges brought in their reports (which were marked on a percentage basis) it was found that two of the competitors were a tie for the first prize of $5 00 in gold, and very wisely the winners, Miss Lillian Swanger, of Mishawaka, and Mr. Paul W. Cox, of Rockville, Parke County, divided the amount. The second prize of $2 50 was carried to Plymouth by Mrs. J. Eddison Miller and the third prize, of honorable mention, was awarded Miss Yoder, of Elkhart. In the musical contest, the first prize of $5.00 was awarded Miss Cleo Barnes, of South Bend; the second, of $2.50, to Mrs. J. Eddison Miller, of Plymouth; the third, of honorable mention, to Mr. L. D. White, of South Bend. The children's chorus, under direction of Prof. Eli Miller, sang patriotic songs. The Clayton quartette, the Maurer quartet and the Harrington orchestra rendered many inspiring selections throughout the day. The event of the day, however, was the oration by Hon. Felix T. McWhirter, of Indianapolis. The large auditorium was comfortably filled and round after round of applause greeted the speaker while he showered prohibition truths into our midst. Mr. McWhirter is an orator of marked ability. He is powerful in appeal, convincing in argument, pleasing in the presentation of his subject and his efforts cannot help but win votes for our cause.

THE PRESS.

The Press hath raised its mighty voice,
Aloud proclaims,
Ye nations of the earth rejoice
With higher aims;
Prohibition! awakes the cry,
The demon alcohol must die,
The white ribbon banner by and by,
Intemperance maims.

The Press goes forth where we but stand,
With words of fire;
They hear its voice of strong command,
And feel its ire.

"Place it not to your brother's lips,
Too deadly is the draught he sips,
And from your conscience never slips
His funeral pyre."

The Press will ask if in that day
Ye wish to stand?

When ye the voice of God obey,
Hear His command:

Depart from me, I know ye not;
This ye have chosen as your lot;
In life my commandments ye forgot,
Thus forever damned!

Then let the Press its work renew;
Both you and I,

With greater vigor life pursue,
The moments fly,
And soon, too soon, will come the call,
The journey reached by one and all.
Let no such words of anguish fall,
"They did not try."

THE PRESS.

(Read at meeting of State Board of Superintendents at Muncie.)

The wise man said, "Let me write the songs of a nation and I care not who makes the laws." Living in this, the twentieth century, he would rather exclaim, "Let me control the press of a nation and I will make the laws." So much mightier than any other influence is that of the strong, exultant, relentless press that makes human thought to-day. Rob our country of the press, and what mind could picture the results of such a calamity? The newspapers have become the very nerve centers of our civilization, while the telegraph and cable are the means, extending in every direction and forming a complete network about old mother earth.

The great problem with the Woman's Christian Temperance Union has been, and is now, to secure the use of this great force in our battle for "God, Home and Every Land." No doubt we are all convinced that we shall never come into our kingdom until we have laid under tribute the great teeming presses of the world, so that with every throb they will send out leaves which shall truly be "for the healing of the nations."

The Press department of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union has been the outcome of a wonderful evolution, and we, of to-day, are realizing what the members of the crusade worked and prayed for, and we know now that while our temperance lecturers and evangelists are addressing possibly thousands of people in one day, our fifteen thousand papers are speaking to at least twenty millions. Wonderful, but true, and oh! what it means to our blessed cause.

The editorial doors opened to us very slowly at first, but they were opened, thank God, and we entered and there shall we remain until the public is enlightened and educated to know, not that intemperance is a great evil, but that alcohol is poison and the liquor traffic a crime.

Editors who once refused to use our articles, announcements, etc., are now very glad to get them, since they see and know how very much alive and in earnest we are in our work, and the wonderful prestige we have gained, so that we are no longer suppliants. But the question now which concerns us is how we shall keep possession of the goodly land upon which we have entered, and so cultivate it that it will bring forth an abundant harvest.

I do not mean to say that all of the papers are converted to prohibition; far from it, for some do not always tell the truth about us, but the encouraging fact is that the general press has experienced a change of heart on the temperance question and are willing to give both sides a hearing, and what a wonderful victory that is!

The especial aim of this department of our work is to provide the general public with temperance reading matter, and let them know what we are accomplishing; and it is not that we may increase the praise of men that we want an organization reported, but that our influence may spread, and "an arrest of thought" come to the thousands who would never attend a temperance lecture or read a temperance paper. Some person may read of some great victory or achievement of ours, and naturally will want to know more of our organization and perhaps ere long becomes one of our most cordial supporters.

A physician may be led to investigate the subject of non-alcoholic medication by reading that the death rate in temperance hospitals is only one-half that in hospitals where alcohol is used, and so on we might mention several ways in which great good might be accomplished through the publishing of our work. All other departments are largely dependent upon the Press department for their presentation before the public, and they afford an almost exhaustless supply of facts, the publication of which is of the utmost importance to our members, as well as of general interest. A temperance column in every paper published in this land would mean the enlightenment of the people in every city, town or village, and if faithfully conducted would bring magnificent results.

Women of the W. C. T. U. claim the press for God and humanity, and demand that it raise its standard until its aim be so to tell the story of to-day as to make the world better to-morrow.

From the beginning the Temperance Crusade has had the power of the Christ-love in it. A child of consecration and prayer, it went forth to meet opposition and hatred on the threshold of saloons and in the slums of great cities, and met with enemies most cruel. But it has been about its Father's business, all these years going about doing good to all mankind. It has been a wonderful blessing to little children, and is making for them straight paths through scientific knowledge and protecting laws.

In our struggle against the one common enemy, the saloon, let our Press Department be a sort of an intelligence office for all those engaged in the battle of humanity.

LAURA G. CAMMACK,
State Supt. Press Work.

Converse, Ind.

PRESIDENT'S LETTER.

I have done very little since I laid down my pen, after writing the little for the August MESSAGE, but watch anxiously by the sick bed of my loved ones. The one is coming slowly back to health again, the other is gone beyond my reach, where the little ones are safe in His loving care. But, O, the comfort I am receiving from so many letters of sympathy from my dear white ribbon friends over the State, although I read them through my blinding tears.

"But who shall say that spite my tears,
I am not happier to-day,
Because a sweet soul came my way,
And that his image shall not stay
Through all the years."

It will be my purpose to reply to each one of your loving messages, but if I should fail to do so I hope any one thus neglected will forgive me.

The other State officers have so willingly taken up my work in addition to their own, and done all so well, that our cause has been greatly strengthened and built up. I have had reports of good work being done by County Presidents and others in their respective localities. New Unions are being added each week, and loyal, trusting hearts are coming to us. I know their help and presence will be appreciated by all, and in turn, you, dear hearts, who have just started, will receive a blessing also. Our dear National President has so wisely said, "No woman can come in touch with the W. C. T. U. without being educated."

Mrs. Culla J. Vayhinger and Mrs. Lee are doing good work in the southern and Mrs. Brand and Miss Sears in the northern and central parts of the State. Mrs. McWhirter and Mrs. Gibson have answered many calls for organization. The rank and file have been willing to lend a hand, so that I can but believe when we meet at Hartford City in a few weeks, in our State Convention, there will be much over which to rejoice, and let us hope very little to regret. It is not too soon now for local Unions to commence planning to send their full number of delegates to the State Convention. Very few women attend either State or County conventions who do not receive new inspiration and courage, and more than repay their home Union the price of their expenses. Our faithful Treasurer writes me she has already sent out a large number of the little envelopes, with instructions for holding public meetings for prayer and thank-offerings. If the proper effort is put forth for the success of those meetings they will not fail to bring about a great spiritual uplift to our friends, as well as our membership, and also give financial help for our work.

EUNICE P. WILSON.

HAVE YOU A BOY TO SPARE?

The saloon must have boys, or it must shut up shop. Can't you furnish it one? It is a great factory and unless it can get about 2,000,000 from each generation for raw material some of these factories must close out, and its operators must be thrown upon a cold world and the public revenue will dwindle. "Wanted—2,000,000 boys," is the notice. One family out of every five must contribute a boy to keep up the supply. Will you help? The Minotaur of Crete had to have a trireme full of fair maidens each year, but the Minotaur of America demands a city full of boys each year. Have you contributed a boy? Our boys, as well as their fathers and mothers, may well give serious thought to the question asked on a placard posted among the advertisements in some street cars. The placard reads as follows: "A saloon can no more be run without using up boys than a flouring mill without wheat or a saw-mill without logs. The only question is: Whose boys? Yours or mine? Our boys or our neighbors'?"

A part of the responsibility of answering that question falls upon the boys themselves. Are they willing to ruin themselves to help support a saloon-keeper?—Exchange.

CIGARETTES.

J. B. Millard, Superintendent of the city schools, Los Angeles, California, says: "Laziness, nervousness, loss of power, inattention, lack of ambition and inability to work are the general symptoms of this disastrous tobacco habit, which, in my opinion, has driven more boys from the public schools than any other one thing, and has been the ruin of hundreds of boys."

Dr. Hurbert E. Fisk, the eminent educator at the head of the preparatory department of the Northwestern University, has been investigating the results of cigarette smoking among the young students in that institution, and has become so convinced that the vice is a ruinous one, that he has asked all the boys now in attendance who cannot or will not abandon it, to leave, and offers, if they will do so, to refund all the tuition and fees that have been paid; he says that statistics covering several years show that of the students who rank in the first twenty-five per cent in scholarship only two in one hundred smoke cigarettes, while of those in the lowest twenty-five per cent in rank, more than half are addicted to the smoking habit. He declares, further, that the habitual cigarette smokers are entirely incapable of keeping up with their classes and passing the examination, and that it is useless to try and educate them if they will not reform.

This accords with the opinion of most medical men and teachers as well. A crusade against the habit, starting with the instructions of parents and teachers, and preceding with the education of the youngsters on the subject, is badly needed.

ANTI-CIGARETTE LEAGUE.

The plans of the Anti-Cigarette League were found to be very successful in New York in the memorable campaign of 1893-94, when Hon. Chas. Bulkley Hubbell, of the New York City Board of Education, introduced them to try to check the cigarette evil. Thousands of boys who joined the League at that time are now occupying positions of honor and trust and are free from the enslaving tobacco habit. The rallying cry in those campaigns was: "The cigarette must go. The public school boys say so." The boys themselves are easily enlisted as active workers when the right appeal is made to their good sense, their manliness and their patriotism.

In Norway, tax paying women and the wives of tax paying men have been granted full municipal suffrage, but the greatest single step of progress the world has ever made in the line of equal rights for both men and women was made in 1902, when Federated Australia granted full national suffrage to 800,000 women, not as a result of any single effort, but as a grand climax to many smaller victories.

FROM HARTFORD CITY.

My Dear Sisters and Co-Workers: As we have invited you to our little city to hold our State convention, I urge upon each one, let us begin now to plan to make this convention the best we have ever had. I do not say this simply because you are coming to us, not that alone, but because we must be on the aggressive or we will retrograde and die.

The stalwart foe against which we are battling is alert to its best interests, putting forth its best efforts to succeed in its nefarious business. Shall we do less in our righteous cause? Nay, rather shall not we betake ourselves to much prayer, realizing, as we do, that this is God's cause, and it is only through and by His omnipotent power we shall be able to accomplish anything? If we see the desire of our hearts—the rum traffic driven from our land—it will take self-denial and sacrifice. Is your boy and your girl worth it? What will you take for your bright-eyed boy and rosy-cheeked girl? Let the answer to this question measure our efforts from now until October, and you will go away from our little city hearing on every hand, "That was the best convention I ever attended," "What a vast amount of work has been done this last quarter!" Shall we have it so? God grant it.

E. A. WILLIS.

I cannot consent, as your queen, to take revenue from that which destroys the bodies and souls of my subjects.—Queen of Madagascar.

GENERAL OFFICERS AND BRANCH SECRETARIES.

OFFICERS, 1902-1903.

President—Mrs. Eunice P. Wilson, R. R. 16, Jonesboro.
Vice-President—Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, Richmond, R. R. 1.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. Hattie Wright Brand, 1403 Ashland avenue, Indianapolis.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. Mattie Cammack-Gibson, Jonesboro.
Treasurer—Miss Alice R. Palmer, Franklin.

BRANCH SECRETARIES.

General Secretary Young Woman's Branch—Miss Clara M. Sears, 222 West 14th street, Anderson.
General Secretary L. T. L. Branch—Mrs. Ida Mix, Kokomo.

The Indiana W. C. T. U. convention will be held at Hartford City October 16-20.

The National W. C. T. U. convention will be held in the Ninth-street Baptist Church, Cincinnati, O., November 13-18.

The Kentucky W. C. T. U. convention will be held at Lancaster October 2 to 4. Our Indiana women who live near enough or who have friends there should attend.

Every W. C. T. U. Union in Indiana is entitled to the following representation in our State convention: The local President and one delegate. Unions having more than twenty paid-up regular members are entitled to send, besides the two mentioned, one delegate for every twenty members. Please elect delegates immediately and arrange to pay their expenses to the convention. The Corresponding Secretary should send the full names and addresses of all delegates and alternates to Mrs. E. A. Willis, Hartford City. Places of entertainment will be assigned to all delegates whose names are sent in on time.

Literature wall pockets have been put up in railroad stations and elsewhere by the W. C. T. U. Strange as it may seem to some of our readers, these pockets are empty. Empty pockets greet the eye of the traveler in nearly all of the railroad stations. The letters "W. C. T. U." are plainly to be seen on the pockets, but they too plainly show an indifference to be at all interesting to the White Ribboner whose life is devoted to the W. C. T. U. cause. Women, if you have grown careless or indifferent in regard to the distribution of literature in this one very effective way, please give the responsibility over to some of our young people. Everywhere young people are courageous, and if they are interested will do much to help bring success. Do not allow the wall pockets to remain empty. Fill them and systematically plan to keep them filled.

A son has arrived to bless and brighten the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jackson Wright (Mrs. Clara Parrish Wright.) The MESSAGE joins with the great White Ribbon host of the whole world in extending congratulations to the parents. Mr. Wright is a temperance lecturer and Mrs. Wright is Secretary of our World's and National Y. W. C. T. U.

In the Southland there are 27,000 saloons, while New York State alone has 34,000 saloons. Some of the Southern States are almost wholly under prohibitory law through local option.

In the death of Mrs. E. E. Kennedy, of Wabash, our cause has lost a valiant worker—a crusader who led the forces. During the years which have passed she always worked and encouraged others. She hath done what she could.

An Uncrowned Queen.—The story of the life of Frances E. Willard, by Mrs. Bernie Babcock, recently published, was written at the suggestion of its publishers, F. H. Revell & Co., to fill a long felt need for a short, simple story of the life of the foremost woman of the past century. This fascinating life story will be enjoyed by all, and will soon find a place in nearly every college and school library in the land, as well as in the homes of our best people.

Five thousand dollars in free will offerings from our State will enable the officers to send out a hundred copies of the Annual Report to prominent people who would read them, and so be stronger to help the temperance work. It will keep two or three good speakers and organizers in the field most of the winter.

MONUMENTS TO THE SOLDIERS.

Dedicated to Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley.
By Mrs. Flora T. Neff, Logansport, Ind.

Monuments to the soldiers!
We're building them grand and high,
To Gray and to Blue,
The noble and true,
Who went forth together to die.
In memory of the soldiers,
Sleeping on hillside and plain;
But what of the one hundred thousand per year,
Which Uncle Sam's rum hath slain?

CHORUS.

Just as innocent, just as true,
Just as noble as Gray or Blue,
Just as sweet in their childhood hours,
Just as fragrant the spring-time flowers,
Just as dear was the slumber song,
Just as far from the pathway of sin,
Till our government said "walk in!"
Monuments to the soldiers!
Drunkard, come tell me, do,
When Uncle Sam's rum seller beggars your home,
Yourself and your family true,
Yes, when he has taken your very last cent,
How does he remember you?

Pensions for the kindred!
To keep the wolf from the door,
For widows who moan,
And orphans who groan:
"He'll never come back to us more."
Beautiful homes for the soldiers,
Aged and worn in the strife,
But where are the homes for the tottering wrecks,
Our rum traffic makes for life?

Our President goes a hunting,
Out on the mountains high,
For bear in his cave,
And lion so brave,
And, "oh, what a big boy am I!"
Protecting the sheep in the valley,
Lest one should be stolen away,
But has he the courage to strike at this foe,
This man-eating beast of prey?

LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION.

CALL TO CONVENTION.

The ninth annual convention of the Indiana Senior Loyal Temperance Legion will be held in Hartford City, Indiana, Saturday morning, October 17, 1903.

During the past year much good work has been done in our State. Every State officer and Superintendent has been urged to get full reports of this work, but they cannot do so unless every local Superintendent sees to it that her reports are sent in. Can we not have everything done for the year reported at Hartford City? If we do, the reports will have to be sent in to the proper officers before convention time. Send all Senior reports to Miss Susie McWhirter, Greencastle, Indiana, for the entire year.

We call not only for your reports, but we call you. Why not make our ninth convention a "rouser?" Come yourself and bring all your Senior Legioners with you. Would it not be glorious if we could have one convention with every officer present and a large voting convention? It would be inspiring certainly, if our mothers would be compelled to line up around the wall during our convention.

Remember that only Seniors are voting members of the convention, though we are always glad to have the Juniors with us. Come to Hartford City with your entire Senior Legion. They will get inspiration there that they could not get any place else. Learn the Indiana rally cry and let us give it in convention. Here it is:

"Rah! Rah! Rah!
Clover blossoms, we're a-field.
Why?
Saloons must die!
Hear their knell,
Indiana L. T. L."

Hartford City, 1903! Come. Bring big delegations and big reports.

SUSIE McWHIRTER,
Cor. Secretary.

EDITH HILLIS,
President.

IMPORTANT.

In order to make up my report for the State convention it will be necessary to close the books on the 25th of September, and all Senior local Treasurers are requested to mail their reports in time to reach me by that date, and oblige.

NATHAN LENFESTEY,
625 West 4th St., Marion, Ind. State L. T. L. Treas.

L. T. L. workers, please read Article 6, membership of State W. C. T. U. Constitution, and let us have a number of delegates to the convention this fall. Let as many Legions pay the $10.00 as can, and have your own delegate. Where this cannot be done, let the Legions in the various counties go together and pay it, and then select a delegate from the County. Remember, if we pay $50.00 as a State Legion we are entitled to a delegate to the National Convention. Let us all see that our dues are paid in time this year, as soon as possible after the 15th of September, as that is the day the year's work is done.

IDA M. MIX.

Dear Co-Workers in the L. T. L.: It is almost time for another State Convention, and I am feeling the need of arousing enthusiasm over the convention. We do not find fault with anyone or with the Senior Legion in Indiana, but we are anxious to work up our State conventions. Mrs. Mix and I, together with the other State officers, are very anxious indeed to have a big convention. I am sure you will remember how disappointing the convention was last year from the standpoint of numbers. Cannot we have larger delegations this year? and cannot we get our officers better distributed over the State? From the reports received by Mrs. Mix, I find that there are several good strong Senior Legions in our State, and they ought to make a showing at the convention. Sisters, are you making the L. T. L. work a subject of prayer? Are you interested as you ought to be? I beg that you turn your attention to our work and see to it that the State Senior Loyal Temperance Legion Convention at Hartford City is well attended, that we have our officers for the coming year well distributed over the State, and that we enlist new Legioners in the State work.

EDITH HILLIS,
State L. T. L. Pres.

Y. W. C. T. U.

Preparations are now in progress for the diamond medal contest, Saturday night of the State W. C. T. U. convention at Hartford City. Two more are desired to complete the class, and it is hoped names will be sent soon.

Indiana Y.'s will rejoice with Mr. and Mrs. Jackson Wright, of Paris, Ill. A son came to their home on the 7th, and we trust that he may live and carry on the beloved temperance work which his parents have so nobly been carrying on. Those who are not so well acquainted will know who we mean when we tell them the mother is our Clara Parrish Wright, the World and National Y. W. C. T. U. Secretary.

The love, prayers and sympathy of our Y.'s went out to Mrs. Eunice Wilson in her trouble at the loss of her little one and anxiety on account of Mr. Wilson's condition, but thanks be to our God, who answers prayers, Mr. Wilson continues to improve.

September 1 your Secretary will send out the last quarterly report blanks for this year. Now, dear Treasurers of the local Unions, try and collect the dues and be prompt in getting your reports out so we can send in the National on time.

The Y. conference will be held in the convention room from 11 to 12 on Saturday. We want every Y. delegate in the conference, bringing the report of the local Union she represents. Also plans for work will be submitted. Girls, if you think you will be hurried to your dinners on Saturday, we will take a little lunch to the church and have a Y. luncheon and visit together. We must be in earnest and plan to stay for the conference.

Send me the names of your appointed delegates very soon, and oblige the Secretary.

CLARA M. SEARS.

TREASURER'S CONFERENCES.

The State Treasurer is planning as many brief conferences with local and County Treasurers as possible at the time of the State Convention at Hartford City. There will be discussions on some topics, such as follows and are of practical value to the Treasurers: "How to collect dues," "Special duties of Treasurers," "A simple system of book keeping," "The value of the remittance blank." Think of these things. Be ready to make suggestions and to ask questions. All read our National Treasurer's leaflet called "Suggestions to Treasurers" in the meantime, and if you do not have it get a copy for three cents from the State Treasurer, who hopes to meet every County and local Treasurer in Indiana at Hartford City.

NATIONAL W. C. T. U. CONVENTION.

Mrs. Ella A. Roller, 4338 Beach Hill avenue, Cincinnati, Ohio, is the general chairman of local arrangements for our next National Convention, to be held in Cincinnati, November 13 to 18. The Ninth-street Baptist Church, in which the convention will be held, is conveniently situated and of large seating capacity, and there are other churches near by which will serve for conventions, overflow meetings, etc.

Hon. Oliver W. Stewart, the Prohibition orator, will deliver an address at the Friends' Western Yearly Meeting at Plainfield, on the evening of September 21. From all adjoining towns our temperance people should attend. Invite your friends and go to hear this great speaker. Hon. Oliver W. Stewart, as President of the Christian Endeavor Society of Illinois, was the champion of the young people, a tireless worker for that great State, speaking, working or organizing in almost every town in the State. Later he was chosen as State Chairman of the Prohibition party, and within two years he was elected to the State Legislature. As the only prohibition member of the House of Representatives of Illinois, Mr. Stewart won distinction as a worker and speaker. The greatest applause and enthusiasm during the entire session was after his speech nominating for United States Senator John G. Woolley. That speech was a masterpiece, so reported and commented upon by the great dailies. He had a great subject, that of the purpose of the prohibition party. It called forth the best of heart and brain and found a ready response in the hearts of men who sat for the time unprejudiced.

The St. Louis Christian Advocate devotes nearly all of the first page of a recent issue to a notice of the authoress, Mrs. Bernie Babcock, of Little Rock, who has come into considerable notice as a writer. It publishes pictures of her and her two little boys, Mac and Willie. She wrote "The Daughter of a Republican," a thrilling political novel which has had an immense sale. Her latest work, "The Uncrowned Queen," should be in every home where the MESSAGE is read. Only 75 cents per copy. Send for a copy to the New Voice Publishing Co., Hyde Park, Chicago, Ill.

EVANGELISTIC.

Dear County and Local Superintendents: How are you getting along in the work? It is not needful that I remind you that we are nearing the end of another year, and that your reports are due the 15th of September. I have made an earnest effort to reach each County with my report blanks. If any of you have failed to receive them, please inform me by return mail and I will send them immediately. I have heard from less than twenty counties so far. I am hoping that I will receive a large number of reports before the year closes. Possibly some of you are intending to send the year's report in the last quarter. I will be greatly disappointed if I do not hear from each organized County. If you have not done great things, do not fail to report the little. Many small reports will make a large one. If possible, let each County Superintendent arrange for at least a two days' evangelistic conference in the near future. I will gladly assist you in any way I can. We are not accomplishing what we should in our department. I am hoping to see many of you at the State convention, and am praying that we may have a fresh anointing for our work. Let us be filled with the Spirit, so that we may be ever ready for service.

"Somebody near you is struggling alone,
Over life's desert sand;
Faith, hope and courage together are gone;
Reach him a helping hand.
Turn on his darkness a beam of your light;
Kindle, to guide him, a beacon fire bright;
Cheer his discouragement, soothe his affright;
Lovingly help him to stand."

E. M. HAUGHTON.

SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

This is the season of the year when Sabbath observance work ought to have right of way, and we believe it has in many cities and towns throughout the State. At the present writing 22,396 Sabbath pledges are in circulation. Elkhart's energetic County Superintendent, Mrs. R. C. Travis, will have 2,000 Sabbath laws printed for distribution. In South Bend the leading churches are having pledge signing and the distribution of Sabbath literature in their Sabbath-schools. Colfax Avenue Union will take the first ward of the city for their field of labor, and will make house to house visits with literature and pledges. The Frances E. Willard Union will make a house to house distribution in the seventh ward. If Indiana wants to win the prize again this year we must have reports from twenty local Superintendents over last year who have not before reported. We know no Union will fail to do its part. Please, will you send in reports early?

KATIE WERT HOLLER,
South Bend, Ind.

NON-ALCOHOLICS.

Blanks have just been mailed to every local and County Superintendent of this department that has been reported to me. Doubtless others have been appointed that have not been reported. In order to reach these and to insure a report from every Union of work done during the year I have mailed a blank to every Union President who has not reported a Superintendent. Upon receipt of the blank will you kindly fill out and send to your County Superintendent, if you have one? If none has been appointed, please fill out and send to me by the 15th of September. If you have done but one thing, please report that, as that little, if withheld, may keep Indiana from being the banner State in the Nation. The increase in the amount of work done in the State during the past year and the great amount of interest and enthusiasm created in this department is indeed gratifying. Now, my dear sisters, report, and let others know what has been done. It is a great encouragement to read what others have done. So, do you not think it is a duty one Union owes to another? And is it not a duty we owe to the public to let our light shine to help others out of the darkness? In my annual report every Union will be given credit for work done. If you could but realize how much pleasure it would give a State Superintendent to receive a report from every Union, certainly no one would begrudge the little time spent in making out the report and the spending of two cents on postage.

Every Union has received a free package of literature. Please report what disposition has been made of it and the results of that disposition.

Lovingly yours for a full report of work done in this department.

AMANDA T. WHITSON,
State Superintendent.

3335 N. Meridian St., Indianapolis.

SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

All the forces of evil unite in persistent efforts to destroy the Lord's Day. The Sunday saloon is in itself a mighty power to take from us our one Home Day, the day of the heart. God's two first gifts to unfallen man were the family and the Sabbath; take the Sabbath from the home, and how soon the home ties are severed! The Vanderbilt engineers, in their famous plea for their rest day, said that their sons were often demoralized because of the influence upon the home life of the father's Sunday work. What pathos there was in the suggestion of a child in such a household, when the mother was reading of the days of creation: "Let us pray God to make an eighth day, so that papa can have a day to be at home with us." By our Sabbath desecration we are educating those coming to our shores in lawlessness and immorality. We pay immense sums every year to send missionaries to foreign lands, but neglect those coming to our own shores by our patronage of the Sunday newspaper, the excursion, the fruit stands, soda fountains and ice cream parlors, our tolerance of baseball, the theater and everything else that helps to destroy the Sabbath. Are we not uniting with the forces of evil in their efforts? Let us think on these things, whether we be the children of the King or his rebellious subjects.

MEDAL CONTEST.

As the close of the year draws near I feel that I must request the sisters to make the best of the time left. Do you know what a help it would be if every Superintendent would hold one contest? There seems to be more done right now than at any time in the year, but can we not put forth extra effort and have reports from all counties yet? The Lord is blessing our contest work, and He will continue to do so if we but do our part. I am wonderfully encouraged with the progress we are making, and I simply want you to join hands with me in pushing the work. Let us work and pray together and leave the results with our Heavenly Father, who has promised to bless all who put their trust in Him. I am still at 1322 E. Gilbert St., Muncie, and will be more than glad to fill all orders for supplies. May the Lord bless our noble cause.

CORA M. STEELE.

MUNCIE MEETING.

For some reason no report was given of the Board of Superintendents' meeting held in Muncie on June 19 and 20, hence this brief account of same.

As there were but few of the delegates present on Thursday afternoon, no business was undertaken. A grand gold medal contest was held that night, in which seven young people took part.

Friday morning, June 19, Mrs. Haughton called the house to order, and after devotional exercises by Mary H. Hall, reports were given of the different departments, beginning with summer assemblies. At four places we were to have a W. C. T. U. day and a contest. Miss Laura Cammack sent an interesting paper on press work, which was read and highly appreciated. She advised local workers to send all temperance news to the press, and short spicy articles to the State papers.

Mrs. Overman, Superintendent of Soldiers and Sailors, reported a signal victory in having the saloons removed from the vicinity of the Home in Marion.

Mrs. Hall read a splendid paper on Institute work, in which she said the public is favorably impressed with our progress in various departments.

Our State President and Miss Brehm, of Illinois, were greeted with the Chautauqua salute.

Noontide prayer by Mrs. Wilson. Adjournment. The afternoon session was opened by devotional exercises by Mrs. Ellen Davis.

Rev. Corkle was introduced and gave a short talk right to the point.

Miss Clark, Superintendent of Work Among Colored People, gave an interesting account of her work, and by request Mrs. Brand gave an account of her work among them in Princeton.

Mrs. Whitson was absent, but Miss Brehm gave an instructive talk on the origin of alcohol, its growth and effect.

Mrs. Stahl occupied a short time talking of mothers' meetings and the cradle roll, insisting that we distribute much literature.

The subject of anti-narcotics, by Elizabeth Smith, was ably handled, impressing us with the importance of her department.

Saturday morning was occupied in department reports.

Mrs. Davis, Superintendent of Jail and Prison, told of work done and successful meetings with convicts.

Mrs. Steele spoke briefly of contest work and the chance of success.

Mrs. Haughton then talked for a few minutes on evangelistic work and its importance.

Noontide prayer. Adjournment.

CORA M. STEELE,
Secretary Pro Tem.

ISLAND PARK ASSEMBLY.

From Island Park Assembly, at Rome City, this year comes word that under the able management of Mrs. Mary E. Balch much has been wrought for temperance and the kindred lines of work coming under the W. C. T. U. departments.

A large party of workers gathered at the commodious W. C. T. U. cottage. Mrs. S. M. Stahl conducted a series of mothers' meetings in the parlors, which were well attended and many visitors registered each day. From the literature booth on the main island thousands of pages of temperance literature were distributed and subscriptions to periodicals received.

Of the special talent at the cottage was Miss Harriet Swayne, of Indianapolis, kindergarten teacher; Miss Maude Baker, of Indianapolis, reader, and Miss Anna Quimby, of Ohio, physical culture teacher and reader. Miss Quimby is State Organizer of Ohio and a strong temperance advocate. Three of Indiana's State Superintendents were among the party and gave demonstrations on W. C. T. U. day. These were Mrs. Cora M. Steele, Medal contest work; Miss Pearl Rall, Franchise, and Mrs. S. M. Stahl, Mothers' meetings.

August 4 and 5 were W. C. T. U. and Temperance days. The L. T. L. and kindergarten classes were in troduced after the demonstrations, and were followed by a medal contest, in which honors were awarded for musical as well as oratorical excellence. Master Riley Nowles, of Rome City, captured the oratorical honors, while Miss Yager, of the same city, won the musical medal.

Rev. Anna Shaw spoke in the afternoon of the "Woman's Ballot as Essential to a True Republic." Her keen, polished logic was a rare treat and was listened to by a large audience.

The following day Eva Marshall Shontz, of Chicago, gave a reading from "Who Killed Joe's Baby?" She closed with an impassioned appeal to the manhood of the country to save the land from the horrible evil in our midst. A collection taken at the close amounted to over $20.

Hon. Oliver W. Stewart delivered a strong temperance lecture in the afternoon. His viewpoint was that of the practical politician and called forth much applause.

The children of the Assembly are reached through the L. T. L. and the kindergarten, while every day affords rich opportunities of seed-sowing among the friends until results are visibly increasing.

As the W. C. T. U. is made a department in this summer assembly, as in no other in the State, it would seem more support should be given it, and superintendents of departments might do much work for the departments here, as such ample opportunity is given for all who will. Several hundred signers to the pledge were gathered, several taken into the cradle roll by interested workers.

The W. C. T. U. may well be proud of its share in this year's Assembly program, and it was with regret the workers parted.

W. C. T. U. REPORTER FOR ASSEMBLY.

PHYSICAL LAW REGARDING RESTING ONE DAY.

The laws of hygiene show the necessity of one day for rest in seven. Thus we see that the Sabbath rest is not only a legal requirement and a spiritual duty, but a physical necessity as well. From expert testimony we learn that when a man is earnestly engaged in work of any kind he uses more oxygen than he breathes, drawing the excess from the bank of his own body. In a fair day's work he loses about one ounce of oxygen, five-sixths of which is restored during the hours of rest and sleep, so that each morning finds the toiler having one-sixth of an ounce of oxygen less than he had the day before. At the end of the six working days he will be six-sixths, or a whole ounce, short. To restore this loss requires not only the regular night's rest, but also the rest of the whole of the seventh day.

Statistics taken from patients in insane asylums and from other physical wrecks show the truth of these statements.

It is estimated that continued labor without the necessary Sabbath rest can only be performed for a period of twelve years, when the subject becomes totally disabled.

A Roman remedy for malaria is this: "Cut a lemon into a pint of water, peel and all, boil down to one-half. Take one teaspoonful before meals. Better than quinine." Hot or cold lemonade, with or without sugar, is very grateful at any time, or if one is feverish or has a cold. Fasting, rest in bed, and lemons would work wonders in many a case of cold and grip.

Dr. Lorenz was present at a certain banquet given in his honor. Bottles were passed around the table and many of the guests drank. The principal guest, however, pushed his wine aside untasted and asked the waiter to bring him a cup of tea. German ideas of temperance are less strict than ours, and some one asked him if he was a teetotaler. "I cannot say that I am a temperance agitator," said Dr. Lorenz, "but I am a surgeon. My success depends upon my brain being clear, my muscles firm and my nerves steady. No one can take alcoholic liquor without blunting these physical powers which I must keep on edge. As a surgeon I must not drink." Is there any occupation save that of a loafer in which we do not need the very best powers that God has given us? Surely, if this world-famous man dare not drink, how dare we, who have our living to earn and our reputation to make!—Classmate.

Miss Malvery.—A very attractive feature of the coming National W. C. T. U. Convention at Cincinnati, November 13-18, will be the presence of Miss Olive Christian Malvery, of India. Miss Malvery plans to reach America in time for the National Convention and to spend several months here, returning to London early in 1904. Miss Malvery is a charming young woman, with rare gifts as a recitationist and lecturer, and captivated her hearers at the recent convention of the World's W. C. T. U. in Geneva. Miss Malvery is an ardent total abstainer and member of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. Her English is faultless. For those who desire a varied program, Miss Malvery's stories, songs and sketches of Indian life written by herself will greatly add to the interest of an evening's recital. Mrs. Stevens and Miss Gordon took tea with Miss Malvery at the Writers' Club while in London, and were delighted with her enthusiastic spirit and bright personality. Will those desiring further information concerning Miss Malvery's plans and terms kindly correspond with Miss Gordon, addressing her at Evanston, Ill.?

LIQUOR ADVERTISING.

Probably there is not a man or woman who reads these columns who does not read one or more of the monthly magazines of the day. Has it occurred to you to ascertain whether the magazines which you support are aiding the liquor traffic by advertising strong drink? The monthly magazine used to be considered a higher class of publication than the ordinary weekly or daily newspaper. But the liquor dealer has at last obtained access to the pages of some of the high-class monthlies. No doubt this is a part of the "campaign of education" that is to be carried on by the Liquor Dealers' Protective Association, which has the promise of "unlimited financial backing," the money to be used in this "campaign of education." They can well afford to expend large sums of money in the advertising pages of our great periodicals. But are you going to help them to place their seductive descriptions of the "wholesome" and "delicious" qualities of their beers and liquors before your sons and daughters? "What can you do?" You can at once enter your indignant protest before the publishers of the periodical which so offends. If there is no sign of reformation you can cease to buy or subscribe for such periodicals. Certainly you do not wish to bring into your home that which is made a vehicle for placing before your children the most artfully worded inducements for using the poison which you are teaching them to avoid.

If the good mothers begin a systematic boycott of those periodicals which advertise liquors of any kind, their pages will soon be cleaned. If allowed to go on without protest, these liquor advertisements will trespass more and more, for there is "unlimited financial backing" at their command and the secular periodicals are published for money, not benevolence. Let every one who reads this investigate the columns of her magazine at once. Do not defer action, this is an important matter.

INDIANAPOLIS MAPLETON UNION.

The interests of temperance and municipal reform are by no means in the background in this part of the city, north of Fall creek. This is the home of our present Mayor, Mr. Bookwalter, who believes in and gives us a wide open city, by means of which hundreds of innocent boys and girls are daily tempted and many ruined.

Monday evening, August 17, our Union (Mapleton) gave a lawn fete at the residence of Mrs. Dovie McClintock and was addressed by the Rev. Orcutt of the Sixth Christian Church, on the subject, "Municipal Reform." The speech was a fine one from beginning to end. He paid glowing tributes to the part the W. C. T. U. was taking in the great reform and urged every one present to earnest action in helping to rid this city of saloon domination. He said every woman as well as every man should take part in "pure" politics—not partisan politics. The interests of the home and city demand it.

The attendance was large and great interest was manifested in the speech. At the close of the meeting ice-cream, cake and candies were sold and netted the treasury of the Union quite a nice little sum.

In the afternoon of June 26, the regular meeting of the Indianapolis Mapleton Union was held at the beautiful country home of Mrs. Mary D. Clark, on the Broad Ripple Interurban line. Between 35 and 40 were in attendance and listened to an excellent program. Three very fine papers were read, "The Duty of Fathers and Mothers in the Home," by Mrs. Ella King; "Saloons and Their Intended Evils as Pitfalls for Girls," by Miss Olive Peele; "The Saloon Question," by Mrs. Clara Evans. The papers were so thoroughly enjoyed by all that we wished everybody might have heard them and have taken part in the discussion following each paper. The vocal solos by Mrs. Josie Lewis, Jones and the Rev. Fudge, of the University Baptist Church, the piano solos by Mrs. Davison and young daughter and the recitation by Miss Scott, were highly appreciated by all and added greatly to the interest of the meeting. At the close light refreshments were served by our genial hostess and every one said, "how glad we are we came."

Mapleton Union has had no time for a vacation this year. The interests in the homes of our city and our land demand a continued war against the wide open saloons, wine rooms, saloon drug stores, etc. No church, nor christian or moral organization of any kind, anywhere, should take a vacation until the legalized saloons and dens of vice are wiped from the face of the earth. It is the duty of every christian and every moral person to be active in the warfare and fight to the finish the destroyer of our homes.

The regular meeting of our Union for July was held in the evening and at the home of our faithful and energetic Vice-President, Mrs. Dovie McClintock, North Illinois street, with between 75 and 100 present. We were greatly pleased to have with us Mr. Edward Clark, editor of the Phalanx, who gave us an excellent address on reform work and his recent trip to the Denver Christian Endeavor Convention.

Our Union has entertained many excellent speakers, both State and National, but never before have we had the very great honor and pleasure of having with us, one of the National officers. The fact that one of America's most honored and brilliant speakers, Mrs. Frances Beauchamp, President of Kentucky W. C. T. U. and Assistant National Secretary, could be with us was not known to us until five o'clock in the evening, too late for announcement in the city papers, which would have brought out a much larger audience. We cannot speak too highly of the speech she made that evening on the subject, "Letting our Light Shine;" the wearing of the white ribbon at all times and places, etc. Her coming to us won her many friends and admirers, won many to our blessed cause and won many members to our Union. Great applause greeted her appearance before our meeting and also at the close of her address.

The speech by Mr. Cowgill, the piano solos by Miss Hale, the vocal solo by Mr. Will Beck and the recitation given by little Miss Shafer, were greatly enjoyed by all and called forth applause. A social hour followed the close of the program, during which time ice cream and cake were served and many had the pleasure of meeting personally and becoming acquainted with our own dear Mrs. Beauchamp from the Southland.

CRIMES.

It is a crime to aid a man in committing a crime. Drunkenness is a crime. The man who sells the liquor aids the man to get drunk, and therefore commits a crime. The government that grants a license or permits the sale of liquor aids the liquor dealer in committing a crime, and therefore commits a crime itself. The voter who votes for a man he knows will commit a crime by licensing a man to sell liquor commits a crime; and so on. Rum, in the majority of cases, is the first cause of crime, sin, sorrow, poverty, the expenses of the city and State, the populating of all criminal and charitable institutions, and the support of a tremendous number of sixth-rate politicians. Is there no remedy for all this? The people are beginning to say, "Yes; try prohibition."

FIELD NOTES.

New Unions have recently been organized at Gosport and Spencer.

Star City Union is holding a series of non-alcoholic medication meetings.

In the early part of September every Union in the State should have an election of officers.

Otterbein Union held anniversary exercises on August 23. Mrs. McWhirter made the address of the evening.

Frances E. Willard Union, Indianapolis, held its annual free will offering meeting and an all day prayer and consecration service at the home of Mrs. Shadd, August 5. The meeting was largely attended, and all who were present felt that they were benefited.

Burlington Union held a matrons' silver medal contest at Middle Fork, Clinton County, August 14. There were five contestants. Mrs. Mercer won the medal. All spoke well, and much interest was manifested; $6.30 was taken in at the door. We feel greatly encouraged, and will press on and come out victorious in the end.

Shelbyville.—One of the State officers remarked not long since, "We have about given Shelbyville over." While the State may have "given us up to die," where there is life there is hope, and we are still alive; have a meeting regularly every month, and are preparing for aggressive work this fall. Doing so little, we are timid about telling it, but we are still here.

Mary Hadley Y. W. C. T. U., of Terre Haute, is adding new members at every meeting. Miss Clara Sears was with us four days the last week in June, and her talks were full of inspiration and were a great help to all our members and all who had the pleasure of hearing her. We hold gospel temperance meetings in different parts of the city, and expect to do our part in bringing about the time when Terre Haute will be a temperance city.

Bedford Union is doing grand work. At one meeting, held at the home of Mrs. Robert Reed, the subject was "Work, a Safeguard to Purity." Excellent arguments were put forth and a fine paper read on "Industrial Training in the Schools." A picnic was held at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Malott, about seven miles from town. About fifty ladies and their children spent the day unrestrained in the shady grove surrounding the home. Through the efforts of the Union much temperance sentiment is aroused and the men are working with remonstrances. May Bedford soon join the list of towns in Indiana with no saloons.

W. C. T. U. day at Maxinkuckee was a success in every way. Big crowds attended all the meetings. Forty children from Culver, drilled by Mrs. Addie Brown, the energetic President of Culver Union, assisted by Mrs. Hahn, sang "Saloons, Saloons, Saloons Must Go." The winner of the gold medal was Miss Bessie Cannon, of Argos. Mrs. Squier, with little Emma, was present, which fact is evidence of a good time. The management of the Assembly welcomed us heartily and were very helpful indeed. This is a beautiful place to go. We hope to have a cottage here very soon.

Annual Temperance rally was held August 15 at College Corner, Union County, under the management of Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley. Every township school in the County was represented by a pupil in the contests. The contestants were selected by the township trustees, and the contests were a great success. Mabel Phores won the gold medal and Ruth Conoway won the silver medal. The male quartet was fine. At 1:30 p. m. Hon. Oliver W. Stewart delivered an able address, which was greatly appreciated by the immense crowd of people. He was invited to return another year.

Hartford City Union is very actively organizing for the State Convention, which it will most cordially entertain in October.

Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley addressed an audience in College Corner, Tuesday evening, July 28, in view of the election August 4 to abolish the saloon on the Ohio side of the town. Dr. Moore, from Cincinnati, also delivered an address Friday evening, July 31. F. W. Emerson, of Topeka, Kans., addressed an enthusiastic audience on the street Monday afternoon, August 3, and again, with Mr. Jesse Taylor, cashier of the People's Bank, Jamestown, O., in the evening, the latter addressing the people from a business man's standpoint. In spite, however, of the convincing arguments of these able speakers, we are forced to admit that the liquor men won the election. The W. C. T. U. and others held prayer meeting in the Methodist Church all day until the polls were closed.

Hartsville Union held a silver medal contest August 11 in the Christian Church. The contestants were: Misses Nina Mobley, Blanche Galbraith, Dove Graham, Laura Sims, Messrs. Harry Fowler, Washie Spagh and Loyd Anderson. The class was under the efficient leadership of Mrs. M. E. Cummins, Superintendent of Contest Work for the Union. The medal was awarded to Harry Fowler, who recited "Dat Boy Fritz." The church was decorated with potted plants and two beautiful banners, one bearing the motto of the W. C. T. U. and the other the dates of organization of the Union. A large audience greeted the class and was enthusiastic in its praise of the evening's program. A small admittance fee was taken, which paid all expenses and left a neat sum in the treasury.

Eliza M. Mendenhall writes: Richmond Frances Willard is doing all the little things that come to us to do. We are making a carpet and filling a box for the Hadley Home, holding memorial services, visiting the sick, distributing flowers, holding our mothers' meetings and caring for our L. T. L. We have held two silver medal contests, both creditable performances. One picnic on July 4th where we had ringing temperance speeches, and two lectures under our auspices. The lecture entitled "The World Through a Woman's Eyes," by Miss Jessie Ackerman, was highly appreciated by an overflowing house, and could not but sow some good seed. We are glad to say that most of the ministers in our conservative city dismissed their congregations to attend this mass meeting. People are waking up everywhere to the necessity of laying down narrow prejudices, ignoring party lines and joining in a common cause to meet a common danger. God bless the preachers of the land, give them grace and zeal and backbone to deliver the prohibition message to the people.

Pulaski County convention was held at Star City in July. Miss Alice Ruth Palmer was with us during the entire session and gave a fine lecture to a large audience. The people were all delighted with her and wish her to come again next year. The following officers and superintendents were elected for our county work: President, Mrs. Ellen L. Potter, Oak; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Mary Blue, Star City; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Anna L. Rush, Francesville; Treasurer, Mrs. Linda Dilse, Winamac. Superintendent Department work—Evangelistic, Mrs. Cramer, Francesville; Scientific Temperance, Mrs. Reese, Francesville; Medal Contest, Mrs. J. M. Hanley, Winamac; Temperance Literature, Mrs. Mary Blue, Star City; Flower Mission, Miss Mae Blue, Star City; Sabbath Observance, Mrs. Sarah Dunn, Star City; Mothers' Meetings, Mrs. Sarah Dunn, Star City; Franchise, Mrs. Mary Graffes, Star City; Anti-Narcotics, Mrs. W. C. Gruwell, Royal Center; Mercy, Mrs. Blanche Smith, Winamac; Press, Mrs. Ellen L. Potter, Oak; Non-Alcoholic Medication, Ellen L. Potter, Oak.

At Sycamore, on August 6, a parlor meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held with Mrs. Della Allen. A very able paper was read on "Our Influence," and was followed by a discussion in which many took a part. At the conclusion of the meeting, light refreshments were served, and all went away feeling that they had spent the afternoon profitably and pleasantly. The contest department of this Union is very ably superintended by Mrs. Isadore Ball. To show what a hustler she is, I will say that since she has been Superintendent of this department she has held thirteen silver, six gold and one grand gold medal contests. On August 23 she held a gold medal contest, and a grand gold medal contest was held Sunday evening, August 9, at Swayzee, Ind. The winner of the grand gold medal was Mr. T. H. Allen, of Greentown. While the judges were out preparing their decision, the ladies of the Swayzee Union were not idle. The occasion was a sort of prohibition revival, and the ladies secured names of new members. A collection of over $12.00 was taken. The Union meets regularly every two weeks, and is very enthusiastically at work.

IN MEMORIAM.

WHEREAS, our Heavenly Father in His providence has seen fit to remove from our midst one who has been a member of our Union since its first organization, Mrs. Mary A. Scott; be it

Resolved, that while we deeply feel the loss of our dear sister, whose life has instilled within it the principles of virtue and truth, a mother and sister of unselfish love, we render unto Him, the great Healer of broken hearts, praise and adoration for such a life.

Resolved, that we render our heartfelt sympathy to those near and dear to her in this, their great sorrow. We recommend them to the Father of Love, who doeth all things well.

ACROSS THE SEAS.

From Mrs. Mary Hunt.

The civilized nations are looking anxiously for something that promises relief from the perils of alcoholism. Recognizing that prevention through education is the true solution of the problem, nearly all are turning to the school as the best instrumentality for teaching the people the nature and effects of alcoholic drinks, because the school reaches the largest numbers and at the most impressionable period of life. Our German friends wished to hear about this education in the United States at the International Anti-Alcohol Congress held in Bremen last April. Accordingly, as is already known, the officers of that Congress asked President Roosevelt that the United States be represented there and, if possible, by the writer. Although, owing to some technicality in the form of invitation, our government was unable to appoint a delegate as such, yet, through the kindness of our Secretary of State, the courtesies of the Congress were bespoken for me by the German Ambassador in Washington and the United States Ambassador in Berlin, and, in addition, the Secretary of State sent me a letter of introduction addressed to the diplomatic and consular officers of the United States requesting such services as they could extend in connection with my mission in Europe.

Upon the return of the writer, it seemed proper that grateful acknowledgments should first be made to the President and the Secretary of State, in view of the important practical results of their kindness, which it is hoped will be helpful in promoting international reform. The following facts are in substance those which have thus been laid before the President and Secretary Hay:

THE BREMEN INTERNATIONAL ANTI-ALCOHOL CONGRESS.

German scientists have made the world their debtor for their exact experimentations which show the character and effect of alcoholic beverages, but the results of these findings of science have not in that country, to any great extent, been matters of universal popular knowledge.

In the United States, first of all nations, laws have been enacted making instruction in this subject as a part of the laws of health compulsory for all pupils in the public schools of the nation. The facts concerning the nature and effects of alcoholic drinks have been put into simple language in text books adapted to the progressive grades of public schools. Our most effective laws specify that there shall be at least thirty lessons per year, from the first primary to the end of the first year of the high school, making, for the nine years, two hundred and seventy lessons in all in the whole subject of physiology and hygiene, a due proportion of which is devoted to the effects of alcoholic drinks and other narcotics.

The fact that the Bremen Congress numbered nearly fifteen hundred members from fifteen different nations shows the interest in this question in countries usually considered prejudiced in favor of alcohol. Five days were given to the profound discussion of every phase of the subject, including especially experimental and other research on the physiological and sociological results following the beverage use of alcohol even in what is termed "moderate amounts." The papers and discussions of these topics were chiefly by men from the universities and other institutions of learning of Europe. The facts against the beverage use of alcoholic drinks, facts which, disputed by the lovers of and dealers in those drinks, we are teaching in the public schools of the United States, were abundantly confirmed.

A marked impression, which is already reported to have stimulated action in five different nations, was made by facts derived from the last census and other official data presented at the congress by the writer. These facts show that this education has helped secure the increase of 4.1 years in the average length of life in the decade preceding the last census, the greater sobriety of the American workman, which is acknowledged to be one factor in the commercial success of the United States, and the decline in the rate of increase of the use of alcoholic drinks—the returns of the Internal Revenue department showing that during the last eleven years, in which this study has been quite generally taught in the schools, the gain in their per capita consumption was only one-third as great as in the preceding eleven years when there was little or no study of the subject. That there was even this gain was largely due to the enormous influx of alcoholic drinkers, as immigrants, during this time.

Temperance education in the schools is already so much of a world movement that great interest attaches to the inquiry why such gratifying results are following this educational method of preventing alcoholism in one country and not in every other. Thus the questions of what is taught and of methods are of live interest.

AN INTERVIEW WITH THE PRUSSIAN MINISTER OF EDUCATION.

After the adjournment of the Bremen Congress, Hon. Charlemagne Tower, Ambassador of the United States to Germany, arranged an interview in Berlin for the writer and Fraulein Ottilie Hoffman, president of the German Woman's Abstinence Association, with Dr. Studt, the Prussian Minister of Education.

Minister Studt, having issued an order "requiring school authorities to organize anti alcohol instruction in the schools under their charge," spoke of the need of co-operation by the teachers, and of failure without it.

The writer ventured to suggest that German experience was not unlike that of years ago in the United States, by which we discovered that the teachers did not know what to teach; that when graded text books for teachers and pupils, showing what is true and therefore what ought to be taught and studied according to the best methods were ready for use, American teachers could do their part, the study began to thrive, and its results to be evident; that the subject matter and methods in ordinary school branches are the results of centuries of pedagogical study, but in a new subject like this, a good school literature is absolutely necessary to its success. I asked if the fact that there are no school text books on this subject in the German language does not represent a need that should be met in order to ensure the success of the study and thus the education of the people away from alcoholic habits.

These suggestions were cordially received, not only by the Minister of Education, but by others whom I met, representatives of the government, of popular education, and of the court, all of whom manifested a deep interest in the subject.

THE INTEREST OF THE GERMAN EMPRESS IN TEMPERANCE EDUCATION.

In the midst of this general expression of concern that some effective method be devised for Germany to check the ravages of alcohol, a telegram summoned the writer and Fraulein Hoffman to "the Marble Palace at Potsdam, where Her Majesty, the Empress of Germany, graciously wished to receive" us. The royal carriage, which the invitation said would be in waiting at the station in Potsdam, was there, and took us to the favorite summer home of the royal family.

Her Majesty, the mother of six sons and a daughter, is a tall, slender, beautiful woman, with a youthful face under a crown of light hair. Advancing to meet us with the most gracious of smiles, and with extended hand, she welcomed us with entire simplicity and absence of formality. In response to her questions, I told Her Majesty the story of the origin and progress of the movement which has put temperance education laws upon the statute books of our National Congress and every one of our forty-five States; of the organized mother-love in the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, with its representatives in every town, village and city of the land, watching to see that the children get this particular education; of our great but successful struggle for well-graded text books on this subject; of what they teach; of the interest and good work of our public school teachers; of the importance, if the habits of the coming generations are to be influenced, of the study being progressive from the lowest primary grade; and, finally, of the results to individuals, to industry, and to the nation of this instruction. With these results it was evident that Her Majesty was not unfamiliar.

In the Hohenzollern Museum there is a picture of Queen Louise, who is represented as saying, when Napoleon I was advancing to take Berlin, "Whither shall I flee from him?" The picture showed the following lines from Goethe, cut by the Queen with her diamond ring on a window pane in the house in Tilsit, to which she and her husband, King Frederick William, had fled:

"He that with tears did never eat his bread,
He that hath never lain through night's long hours,
Weeping in bitter anguish on his bed—
He knows ye not, ye heavenly powers."

As the interview with the Empress, which lasted over an hour, was about to close, I ventured to say: "I saw yesterday in the Hohenzollern Museum a picture which represents Queen Louise, after the treaty of Tilsit was signed, which cost Prussia half her territory, as visiting Pestalozzi's school and saying: 'We must teach the people. What we need is better education to make a new race of men.' Sixty-three years passed and Napoleon III went down before Prussia and united Germany. 'A new race of men' had come upon the scene. German philosophers said it was Pestalozzi who did it. The defeated French said it was the German schoolmaster. Back of the German schoolmaster, back of Pestalozzi, was Queen Louise, the wise, far-seeing woman, who saved her nation by using her influence for the establishment of the system of public education that has made Germany great.

"What Napoleon was to the opening of the nineteenth century—the peril of the nations—alcohol is to the morning of the twentieth century. To another great woman on the throne of Germany has come the opportunity to extend a fostering hand to a system of education that will free the Germany of the future from the tyranny of alcohol, which enslaves both the soul and body of its victims. On this opportunity please allow me to congratulate your Majesty and the great country over which your husband, His Majesty the Emperor, reigns."

With quick intelligence, showing remarkable familiarity with the history of her country and of the world, and a statesmanlike comprehension of the forces that go to make a people great, the Empress responded with great sympathy. After the close of the interview refreshments were served in another room, and the royal carriage took the visitors to the station.

When, through the proper channels, I asked what I was at liberty to report of this interview to my countrymen who are interested to hear about it, I received the following reply:

"Her Majesty, the Empress, is, as a rule, very much against any publication of her sayings or doings; but as Her Majesty is much interested in your work, she will graciously consent to make an exception in your case, to the extent of allowing you to publish the fact of the interview and her pleasure in hearing of your experience with regard to this important work. Her Majesty has every sympathy with this movement and wishes it all success, and I have pleasure in assuring you that Her Majesty was very pleased to make your acquaintance."

This letter explains why the many gracious sayings of the Empress in the interview are not given here.

A GERMAN CONCEPTION OF THE RELATION OF TEMPERANCE EDUCATION TO NATIONAL PROSPERITY.

Said a man of affairs in Berlin: "Not until Germany has as good a graded system of public school instruction in temperance physiology as the United States will the Germans be able to compete commercially with the clear-headed Americans."

Time will tell how soon Germany will have such a system as a part of her public school education. A beginning has been made. A sense of need is awakened that will not rest until it is met. It took twenty years from the enactment of the first temperance education law in America before the study could be said to be an established part of her public school system. It will not take twenty years in Germany. America has blazed the way with results that are the envy of the nations.

AN AWAKENING INTEREST IN ENGLAND.

To every true American England will always be the mother country. The prosperity of her people is that of a large portion of the English speaking race of which we are a part. There also the writer was asked to tell how the United States is providing for coming generations of strong, sober citizens by requiring that they shall, in childhood and youth, be taught obedience to the laws of health, including those that teach abstinence from alcoholic drinks and other narcotics. Among several addresses on this subject made by the writer, three were before large gatherings of representative people at drawing-room meetings in the London homes of members of the House of Commons and the House of Lords, those of the Hon. T. P. Whittaker, Lord Michael Biddulph and the Earl of Carlisle, the meetings in the last two instances being presided over respectively by Lady Elizabeth Riddulph and the Countess of Carlisle. The idea of universal, systematic, graded study of temperance physiology in the public schools, as a method for preventing the drink peril, was cordially received by these people, who are in a position to make it a fact for their country.

In other ages nations have studied one another's weaknesses as points of attack. Twentieth century international relations are those of mutual helpfulness in the struggle of each for a higher civilization.

DEATH IN ALCOHOL.

Some startling facts in proof of this have been given to the public by the Registrar-General of Great Britain. He has been instituting comparisons as to longevity and reaches the remarkable discovery that men from the ages of 25 to 65, when during what ought to be the most valuable and useful forty years in the lives of men, there are two deaths of alcohol drinkers, and three deaths of alcohol sellers for every death that occurs among total abstainers.

Come, praying for a great Convention.

RAILROAD RATES TO STATE CONVENTION

At Hartford City of one fare and a third have been granted upon the certificate plan. A charge of 25 cents for each certificate signed at the convention is a new feature. This work is done by a special railroad agent who is sent by the Central Traffic Association for this purpose. The rate will be granted to all delegates and visitors attending the convention.

From starting point purchase ticket through to Hartford City at regular fare, and get a certificate from the railroad agent. This certificate will be signed at the convention. Then, at Hartford City, the railroad ticket agent will sell the holder of a certificate a return trip ticket for one-third the regular fare.

To complete two files of the MESSAGE for members of the editor's family ten cents each will be paid for the following numbers. Write the name and address of the sender on the upper left hand corner of the wrapper. Address to Mrs. Luella F. McWhirter, Rosabower, Greencastle, Ind. The kindness of those sending the missing numbers will be greatly appreciated:

FROM PRESIDENT WILSON.

We are at the close of another year in the history of temperance work, and I am very sure we all have very much for which to be thankful. Perhaps no one of us feels that we have done all we had hoped to accomplish when we started out at the beginning of the year, but no amount of regrets now will bring back lost opportunities or serve as a tonic for better service in the future. Let us note carefully the plans that did work well and continue them, or be looking out for still better ones for the coming year.

I believe there is much to encourage the temperance worker. Business men in their organizations of all kinds are becoming more rigid every year in their rules to enforce abstinence of their employees. In every department of the commercial world it has been demonstrated that tipplers, much less drunkards, cannot be trusted. There is no demand for clouded brains and weak will power, except that the saloon may grow rich on a nation's poverty and send every year 100,000 drunkards to the grave and a hopeless eternity.

The W. C. T. U. was born to help change all this. The safety and prosperity of every nation, depends on the safety and purity of the home. Then our work in and for our homes must eventually redeem and bless our beloved country. And we have found out long ago that we can do more and better work by "taking hold of hands."

In the quarter of a century that our organization has been on the field of battle in the defense of our homes, Indiana has not been found sleeping in the past. By our great-hearted leaders and the co-operation of the rank and file we have kept our place in the steady moving phalanx of aggressive workers that determine the saloon shall die.

Then let us come together at Hartford City, the 16th of October, in annual convention, to report work done; to plan well for the future; to receive new inspiration by mingling together and a fresh baptism of the spirit of the Lord for His service the coming year.

Dear hearts, let each one be willing to make sacrifice, if need be, that each Local Union may send their number of delegates to our State Convention. We will need them every one. No County or Local President should think of being absent, except for very good reasons, and County and Local Unions should feel it a duty to make it possible for their delegates to be present. If they be conscientious and diligent students, they will more than pay you back in efficiency for your outlay of money for their expenses.

But as I cannot hope to meet each one of you at Hartford City, I take this opportunity to thank you every one for your loyalty to our great and grand work and your love and kindness to me in the past three years. I have tried to serve you faithfully, and believing we will all work and pray until victory comes, I bid you each one an affectionate and loving farewell.

EUNICE P. WILSON.

STATE CONVENTION AT HARTFORD CITY, OCTOBER 16-20.

Send all names of delegates and alternates to the entertainment committee without delay.

Each local Union is expected to send fifty cents for convention fund to the State Treasurer, Miss Alice R. Palmer, Franklin, Ind. Let no Union neglect to do this little thing.

The following is the list of chairmen of convention committees: General chairman, Mrs. S. M. Stahl; entertainment, Mrs. A. E. Willis; hotel rates, Mrs. George Alsbaugh; music, Mrs. George L. Bonham; reception, Mrs. A. L. Dowell; decorations, Mrs. L. J. Hudson; finance, Mrs. Emma McVicker; courtesies, Mrs. D. H. Hollingshead; to receive packages, Mrs. D. D. Taylor; railroad secretary, Mrs. Jason Huggins; Sunday services, Mrs. S. M. Stahl; press, Mrs. A. E. Robson; usher, Mrs. Geo. L. Bonham; pages, Mrs. Emma McVicker; telegraph, Mrs. A. E. Lee; postmistress, Mrs. Ritta Roberts; sergeant-at-arms, Mrs. M. J. Thomas; bureau of information, Mrs. L. J. Hudson; cabs, Mrs. L. J. Hudson and Mrs. S. M. Stahl.

Y. W. C. T. U.

This is the last MESSAGE to you before the State W. C. T. U. Convention, but hope to see the President and one delegate from every Union in the State. If you are a Y. Branch, your Secretary and one delegate, with your report of the year's work as condensed as possible. We only have one hour on program in Convention Church—11 to 12 o'clock Saturday—and we expect to see everyone who represents the work present.

Let all the Y.'s get a little lunch and bring to the church, so we can spend the noon hour together in a conference and make plans for the coming year. We never have had enough time for our plans. This is an important request of your Secretary; please, girls, grant this one.

The Corresponding Secretaries have failed, some of them, to get the reports to me of the last quarter. The books are closed and this must be lost in this year's report. I think you will be pleased with the annual report this year—gains along many lines of our work and the most pleasing feature noted is the steady growth spiritually of most of the Unions.

Saturday night is Y. Night. We will have a Diamond Medal contest. There are ten contestants. Music and a good time generally promised. Help us make this evening a success.

Pray, dear girls, and answer your prayers with work. Come to help us in the convention at Hartford City, October 16 to 20. Love to all.

CLARA M. SEARS,
State Y. W. C. T. U. Secretary.

RAILROAD RATES TO THE NATIONAL CONVENTION.

The railroad reduction granted for the national convention is a fare and one-third on the certificate plan. The Central and Trunk Line Associations have published this rate, and the Western will probably announce it soon. When a ticket is purchased secure a certificate, which presented to the chairman of transportation at the convention, allows the holder to purchase a return ticket at one-third the regular rate. A fee of 25 cents is required of each certificate holder, which is paid to the railroad agent who issues the certificates. It is desirable that you notify your local railroad agent some time in advance that you will need these certificates, as they are not kept at all stations.

The excursion to Hillsboro will leave Cincinnati Monday morning about 7:30, returning in time for the afternoon session of the convention. Luncheon will be served in Hillsboro, and a brief service will be held in the Memorial Chapel, after which Mother Thompson hopes to receive the guests. The cost of the trip will be $1.25. Visitors as well as delegates are entitled to the reduction in rates both to the convention and to Hillsboro.

Be sure and send your Local President to the Convention and write your ministers to attend.

THE CONSCIENCE OF THE CHURCH.

We take the following extracts from an address delivered March 20, 1903, before the Wilmington Methodist Conference, at Easton, Md., by Rev. Alfred Smith, in support of a motion to appoint a temperance evangelist. The entire speech was printed in the New Voice:

"The fact that there are in the various Christian churches of this country, Catholic and Protestant, 28,000,000 communicants, 5,000,000 of whom are voters, and the legalized liquor traffic, with its record of death and ruin, still going on unchecked, is the greatest anachronism of the century and the greatest crime in Christendom. It could not be otherwise than true that leanness and dearth would come to the church from this long-continued tolerance of such an unspeakable evil. I do not mean to imply that all the loss of spiritual power of which the church is complaining at the present time is traceable to her failure to go forth in the majesty of her strength and trample under foot this wicked, boastful Goliath; but I do believe, with the deepest conviction of my soul, that the church must fail of the largest spiritual results till she rids herself of all responsibility for the continuance of this sin-producing business.

THE POWER OF THE CHURCH.

"That the church has power to overthrow the saloon there can be no reasonable doubt. Bishop Fitzgerald, in his recent Epworth Herald article, says: 'There is but one power in the land that is stronger than the saloon, and that is the church. If the saloon is to be overthrown, the church must overthrow it. Will she? The question is one of purpose and not of ability. She can do whatsoever she will in this all-important matter.' Then why, in the name of God and humanity, does she not destroy the saloon? Criminal indifference is the only answer that can be given. But the saloon must be destroyed. The very life of the church and of the nation are at stake. What can be done? Something must be done and something more heroic and radical than hitherto has been done.

FOR A FORWARD MOVEMENT.

"We have forward movements in other things and must have in this, and the pulpit must lead. It is the pulpit's legitimate, divinely appointed agency to mass the forces of the Christian church and lead them to victory against this foe.

TO WAKE THE PUBLIC CONSCIENCE.

"Undoubtedly the need of the hour is an awakened public conscience. We have the exhortation to total abstinence, including vivid descriptions of the horrors of intemperance, and this is all right, but does not go far enough. We have also the zealous advocates for the abolition of the liquor traffic through the Prohibition party, but against these the church doors are closed, and perhaps properly so. Not that I would imply that the Prohibition party is wrong; I believe with all my soul that it is right—absolutely and eternally right. But it is a political party and as such cannot expect to carry forward its propaganda in the church and through the church.

"There is a strategic position lying in between these two extremes that must be stormed and taken and held by the church before we can hope to achieve victory for this reform. I refer to the civic conscience. It must be emancipated from its slavery to mammon and party. The people must be made to see not only the dangers and horrors of intemperance, but also the awful crime of the license system and their relation to it. Political action is all right and I have not the slightest hope for the final settlement of this question apart from political action. Statutes legalizing the liquor traffic have been voted on to the statute books and they must be voted off, and this means political action. But the people are not ready for political action; they do not see as they should the sin of legalizing the saloon, or of remaining silent in the face of its legalized existence.

WHAT TO SHOW THE PEOPLE.

"We must show them that if saloon-sympathizing lawmakers are sent to make the laws of the land by their suffrage or by their silence, they are equally guilty with the lawmakers for the ravages of the saloon. They must be made to see that the saloon is so pernicious in all its bearings that it can never be legalized without sin—that license, high or low, is vicious in principle and powerless as a remedy. When the public conscience is aroused to this point then will prohibition, like abolition of slavery, become an accepted doctrine against which no political party will dare to act or speak. This work of making sentiment and arousing the people on the side of conscience can only be done from the pulpit, and under the auspices of an earnest evangelical ministry.

THE MASTER DUTY OF THE CHURCH.

"Indeed, to talk about soul-saving, while at the same time we consent to allow this soul-destroying business to go on undisturbed, is to my mind nothing short of a solemn mockery. Why, if the Christian church should do nothing else during the next ten years other than rid the land of the saloon curse, she would do more in the line of soul-saving than she is likely to do in the next century at the rate she is now going. I entirely agree with the recent editorial utterance of the Epworth Herald, which said: 'We need not look for a great, sweeping, all-pervading, all-conquering revival of religion in this country until the Christian church shall arise in its might and smite hip and thigh the monstrous, murderous legalized liquor traffic.'

SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

One of God's best gifts to man was the Sabbath. Take from this land the Sabbath and you have lowered the moral standard. Now, as the close of the year draws near, we feel that we have done but part, but we are praying that every one has been doing a little, so that in placing them all together it may do some good. We have had nearly two thousand Sabbath laws printed, and all given out but fifty. We had the State laws printed in some of our county papers, giving a circulation of nearly ten thousand. We are having pledge signing in some of our churches, and in distributing literature we have given out more than twenty thousand copies and hope to make it not less than twenty-five thousand before the books close for the year. We feel sure that public opinion is growing in favor of temperance. Let us remember the fourth commandment, "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy." A SISTER WORKER.

MOTHERS' MEETINGS.

Dear Superintendents: Need I remind you that the year is drawing to a close, and that my report must be in the hands of the State Recording Secretary by the 30th of September if it is to be printed? Will the local Superintendents please be prompt and definite with their reports to the County Superintendent and she to me? I will be glad to greet you at Hartford City. Would be glad to take every one of you into my home if its capacity was not limited. Remember there is a place in my heart for every one, and I bid you welcome before you get here. Will you all join us in prayer that this may be a blessed convention? MRS. S. M. STAHL.

FRANCHISE.

Dear Superintendents: May I ask that those who have followed any of the suggestions in the National leaflet, a part of which I deemed most useful and incorporated into the August MESSAGE, report the same, stating in what particular and with what success? Were any of the suggested topics for parlor or public meetings taken up? If any take franchise papers please let me know. This, in addition to the reports already asked for information for the National.

MISS PEARL RALL,
State Supt. of Franchise.

HADLEY INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL FOR GIRLS

Will open its school session on Monday, September 21, with Miss Florence Myers in charge. She is a highly esteemed young lady with a very marked Christian character. A full quota of girls in usual health are ready to commence their studies.

During vacation there have been several oratorical contests, and a number of the girls have received medals, doing credit to the Home by their work in that line. The Home is taking on new energy, first, under the superintendency of Miss Hobart, who has been here for a few weeks, and now our new superintendent, Mrs. Mary M. Shirk, a lady who has had nine years' experience in institution work for boys and girls, bringing with her a knowledge of methods which are valuable, and which she is capable of applying here to the advantage of the Home. She is a lady of kindly heart, but firmness and energy.

Mrs. L. D. Burnett Cowan has been here since the middle of August, and is Mrs. Shirk's assistant. The children already show marked improvement under the new regime.

On the farm new fences have been made and the barn moved nearer the house for the convenience of the girls who do the milking. It has also been greatly improved in its outward appearance and inward conveniences. We are indebted for seven days' work on it to the husband, two brothers-in-law and a nephew of our treasurer, Mrs. Hessong. These gentlemen, the Messrs. Hessong, who live near Indianapolis, donated their time to this work. Others who live near also donated some work.

No one but those who are intimately acquainted with the affairs of Hadley School can appreciate the amount of work done by our president nor the faithfulness of the secretary and treasurer of the board. Miss Hobart has given of her energy almost to the limit of her strength, and greatly to the detriment of her financial matters at home. Everything is being done to develop the very best in the characters of the girls, to make it a real home, the value of which they will realize more fully when they become capable and useful women of whom the W. C. T. U. will be proud.

ON TO HARTFORD CITY, OCT. 15-20,

Where our State W. C. T. U. Convention will be held. Every Union is expected to send its full quota of delegates. Pray that God will wonderfully bless the plans of this Indiana meeting of White Ribbon forces. We must gain great victories this year. The air is filled with agitation on temperance and now is the time to bring things to pass. Efforts for statutory prohibition will avail more now than at any time previous.

The names of all delegates should be sent immediately to the Chairman of Entertainment, that they may be assigned to the homes and cards returned to them, giving name and street address of hostess, so all may go directly from the station to their places of entertainment.

ROOSEVELT FOR EQUAL SUFFRAGE.

Theodore Roosevelt voted for woman suffrage in the New York Legislature, and recommended it in his inaugural message after he became Governor. He was the first Governor of New York to take such a step and it made a great stir. The reporters flocked around him to ask his reasons for believing in equal suffrage. As reported in the papers, Mr. Roosevelt gave them two reasons. He said his home town of Oyster Bay had long been badly in need of a new schoolhouse, but had never been able to get the necessary appropriation until the women were given a chance to vote. Then the mothers of the children voted the new schoolhouse at once. His second reason was that many women had a very hard time, working women especially; and that if the ballot would help them even a little he was willing to see it tried.

Later, Mr. Roosevelt attended the Minnesota State Fair. The Minnesota Woman Suffrage Association had a booth there, with a book in which their sympathizers were invited to inscribe their names. The President wrote his name in their book and took occasion to remind the ladies in charge that he had been the first Governor of New York to recommend equal suffrage in his message.

When the International Suffrage Convention met in Washington last February, President Roosevelt gave a special audience to the foreign delegates, and expressed himself most cordially. To Miss Vida Goldstein, of Australia, who told him that full national suffrage was about to be granted to women through Federated Australia, he said that it would be "a great object lesson." This has now come to pass.

WHAT SOME ILLINOIS JUDGES SAY.

O. H. Harker, Carbondale, Ill.—That the liquor habit has caused many divorces, increased court expenses and sent many to the penitentiary and poorhouse, every man who has held the position of circuit judge must admit.

A. K. Vicker, Vienna, Ill.—There is no doubt that a large per cent of crime is traceable, directly or indirectly, to the use of intoxicants to excess.

J. R. Hobarts, Cairo, Ill.—Most prisoners who confess their crime, charge the cause of their miserable and unfortunate condition to excessive use of strong drink.

A. N. Waterman, Chicago, Ill.—My observance is that one half of all fights, merely personal assaults, and murders, where no attempt at robbery or theft is made, are caused by the use of intoxicating drinks.

Charles Blanchard, Ottawa, Ill.—I regard the liquor habit as the crowning evil of the day. It is the proximate cause of more crime, pauperism and misery than all other evil habits combined.

Thos. F. Bloomington, Ill.—I have sent 300 men to the penitentiary, and it is my judgment that 250 of them committed the offense, directly or indirectly, from the use of liquor.

John C. Crabtree, Dixon, Ill.—Probably half of the divorce suits which come into our courts are traceable, directly or indirectly, to the liquor habit. More than that proportion of the criminal cases are attributable to the same source.

Jefferson Orr, Pittsfield, Ill.—My experience is that the drink habit causes divorces, family differences, brawlings, poverty, idleness, insanity and murder. It helps to fill our penitentiaries, poorhouses and insane hospitals. My opinion is that at least one-third of our court expense is due to that cause.

George W. Hardman, Jerseyville, Ill.—The traffic of the intoxicating liquors and the use of them as a beverage are the curse of curses, yea, the superlative curse of our country. From my observation of fifteen years on the bench of the Circuit Court of this State, I do not think I exaggerate when I say that at least one-half of the crimes committed and one-half of the causes for divorces are traceable, directly or indirectly, to the drinking of intoxicating liquors. The drinking of intoxicating liquors has increased all manner of crime—it begets crime. It has increased divorce litigation—it begets divorces. It has increased the number of inmates in our almshouses—it begets paupers. It has crowded the State asylum for feeble-minded children. It has overcrowded our asylums for the insane—it begets insanity.—National Temperance Almanac.

DR. ATWATER REPUDIATED.

The American Medical Association, which has just held its annual meeting at St. Paul, unanimously adopted the following resolutions:

"WHEREAS, The American Medical Association, the members of which are physicians and medical teachers who have devoted years to the study of alcohol and its effects, and who are conversant with the work done by scientific men the world over to determine the effects of alcohol when given in any quantity, have noted the teaching of Prof. W. O. Atwater, of Wesleyan University, upon the food and medical value of alcohol as set forth by him in the pages of the influential lay press, be it

"Resolved, That this Association utterly repudiates the pro-alcoholic doctrine of the said Prof. W. O. Atwater, as being contrary to the evidence deduced by scientific experimentation, and that his conclusions are unwarranted by the evidence resulting from his own experiments. Be it further

"Resolved, That this Association regards the teaching of Prof. W. O. Atwater as erroneous and a source of danger to the laity, inasmuch as such teaching contributes towards the increased consumption of alcoholic beverages by giving supposed reason for their safe use."

(Signed)

N. S. DAVIS, M.D., Pres., Chicago, Ill.
T. D. CROTHERS, M.D., Sec., Hartford, Conn.

INDIANA LIQUOR DEALERS IN 1900.

Rectifiers, 27; retail liquor dealers, 7,647; wholesale liquor dealers, 78; brewers, 47; retail malt dealers, 633; wholesale malt dealers, 334; distillers, 45—total, 8,821.

Compare the number of licensed dealers in your county with the number, January, 1900, and see the amount of increase.

NATIONAL CONVENTION NOTES.

The National W. C. T. U. Convention will be held in the Ninth-street Baptist Church, Cincinnati, O., November 13-18. The Rest Room, the Information Bureau and the Check Room will be found in the same church.

The all-day prayer meeting on Thursday, the 12th, will be held in St. Paul M. E. Church.

Overflow meetings will be held in Trinity M. E. Church.

Mrs. M. J. Booth, 3646 Eastern avenue, Cincinnati, chairman of the committee on entertainment, will also respond to questions about hotels and boarding places. During the convention she will have headquarters in the Y. M. C. A. building.

All banners must be addressed to Miss Ida K. Widrig, 1915 Hewitt avenue, East Walnut Hills, Cincinnati, and she be informed by letter the manner of transportation.

Mrs. Ella A. Roller, 4338 Beech Hill avenue, Cincinnati, is general chairman of the local committees.

The following meet in St. Paul Church: The official board, Wednesday and Thursday, November 11 and 12, at 9:30 in the morning; the executive committee the same days at 2 p. m., and one or the other at 7 p. m. as per announcement.

A purity conference, Y. and L. T. L. conferences, will be held, but time and place are not yet determined.

There will be no demonstration of departments, but the State Presidents will have one evening for one minute speeches.

One evening will be given to a diamond medal contest.

Miss Olive Christian Malvery, who captivated the World's Convention, and who is to speak at our National, will arrive in New York about the 7th of November. Those wishing to engage her for lectures, recitations, etc., will please address Miss Anna Gordon at National W. C. T. U. headquarters, Evanston, Ill.

SO TRUE!

"We live in deeds, not years; in thoughts, not breaths; in feelings, not in figures on a dial. We should count time by heart throbs; he lives most who thinks most, feels the noblest, acts the best."

The cigarette is now generally made by its smokers, so the number of cigarettes sold is on the decrease, but we must not forget that the use of tobacco in every form is increasing. This is the reason I insist that boys sign the anti-tobacco pledge when possible. If we work quietly, easily and keep at it, the cigarette will be driven out of existence in ten years, but what about the boys who are ruined while we are at ease? If half our membership work earnestly we will stop this vile industry in two years, but if every member will help, and help with a will, the cigarette trust will be out of business in a year. Which shall it be? Your national officers cannot do this; your State officers cannot; the Superintendents of the Department of Anti-Narcotics are helpless unless the local workers are active. To the rank and file I appeal. Is any woman so busy she cannot secure a few pledges? Is any woman so poor she cannot afford 5c for fifty pledge cards? If we have one woman who cannot afford to spend 5c for this cause, I will donate pledge cards if she will use them.—Exchange.

Consumption of 17.68 gallons of alcoholic liquors for every man, woman and child in the United States in 1900. From the United States Bureau of Statistics this table has been compiled, showing the per capita consumption of liquors in this country:

	Spirits, Gallons.	Wine, Gallons.	Beer, Gallons.	Total Gallons.
1891.....	1.43	.45	15.31	17.19
1892.....	1.51	.44	15.17	17.12
1893.....	1.52	.48	16.20	18.20
1894.....	1.34	.31	15.32	16.97
1895.....	1.13	.28	15.13	16.54
1896.....	1.01	.26	15.38	16.66
1897.....	1.02	.53	14.94	16.50
1898.....	1.12	.28	15.96	17.36
1899.....	1.17	.35	15.28	16.80
1900.....	1.27	.40	16.01	17.68

Considering the great number of total abstainers, this is an awful record.

"The hand that rocks the cradle is the hand that rules the world." So say men, but they don't believe it. If they did they would all be rocking the cradle, for we all know they want to rule the world.

LIQUOR LICENSES IN FORCE IN THE STATE.

Robert D. Machan, deputy in the office of Benjamin F. Johnson, chief of the Indiana Bureau of Statistics, has prepared an interesting table of the number of retail liquor licenses in force in Indiana for the year ending with January, 1902, and also the year 1901, showing the increase or decrease by counties. Ten counties of the State have over 100 saloons each and 21 counties have more than 50 saloons. Lake County has a saloon for every 140 persons, while Hendricks County has one for every 4,258, the smallest number in proportion to population of any county in the State, with the exception of Brown County, which has the distinction of being without a saloon of any description. Marion County has a drinking place for every 357 persons.

The following table shows the number of licenses in each county in 1901 and 1902, with the increase and decrease:

IGNORANCE IS NEVER INNOCENCE.

Ignorance is never innocence. Many children have been ruined, not because they were innocent, but because they were ignorant. Mothers, pardon me if I speak plainly. This is a subject I feel deeply on. You warn your children of the drink habit, but the worst vice on the face of the earth you keep silent on. You send your boys and girls into the world, where there is a terrible evil before them, and you send them blindfolded, trusting that some instinct may preserve them from danger. Is this right? You say that you cannot talk to your children on these things. Believe me, if you don't, some one else will. Your silence may prove the downfall of your child. Children who are given a mother's confidence are not likely to listen to idle stories from playmates. Why should they? There are no "secrets" for them to learn. Think of these things, mothers. Please God, when my girl goes out into the world she will not fall into the clutches of the evil one because her mother has not warned her. Ignorance can never be innocence.—I. M., in Home Magazine.

Mothers, if you feel incapable of imparting this knowledge to your child, get Dr. Mary Wood-Allen's "Child Confidence Rewarded," "What a Girl Should Know," or "What a Boy Should Know," let your child read them studiously, then discuss them with her or him. Modesty is a priceless virtue, but that sort of modesty, so-called, that deters the mother from performing the sacred duty of instructing her child in the delicate and mysterious relations of life, is basely false. The mother is the God-appointed agency for this revelation, and many a mother has been denied the sweet confidence of her children as they approached maturity, because failing to impart the knowledge sought in earlier life she had estranged them irrevocably. Dr. Parkhurst once said that almost every girl found in houses of ill repute testified to being led into lives of shame through ignorance. Mothers, if you have neglected this duty hitherto, let me beg you let not this sin of omission be laid at the door of your conscience any longer, but for the sake of the precious souls entrusted to you, do your best to fortify them against the "evils of the flesh." "I can do all things through Christ, which strengtheneth me." Having done your duty in the fear of God, you can safely trust Him with results.

THE UNION SIGNAL.

For the benefit of all subscribers to the Union Signal several things should be said:

1. The Union Signal is owned by the Woman's Temperance Publishing Association, a stock company separate and distinct from the National W. C. T. U., but was adopted by the National W. C. T. U. as its official organ. The Young Crusader, now the Crusader Monthly, and the W. C. T. U. literature are also owned by the W. T. P. A., as are various other publications. Two years ago the W. T. P. A. business was leased to the William Johnston Printing Co., of Chicago, Ill.

2. The National W. C. T. U. has, therefore, never had any control over the business management of the W. T. P. A., and has never received a cent of the subscription money for the Union Signal nor from the proceeds of any other of the W. T. P. A. publications.

3. August 5 the William Johnston Printing Company informed the general officers of the National W. C. T. U. that they wished the W. T. P. A. to release them from their contract, as they could no longer publish the Union Signal according to the terms of the contract. There being no other alternative, arrangements were made to issue the paper once in three or four weeks until the time of the National convention. But no Union Signal appeared from the time of the July 30 number until about the middle of September, and it is uncertain whether another issue will be published or not.

4. Several times during the past five years it has seemed that some very decided change must be made, but for a part of the past year indications pointed strongly toward the contract going on successfully to the end of its tenure—seven years. For this reason and because the paper was improved in several ways, appreciative words have been spoken of it and many will deeply regret its unfulfilled promises.

5. The question of an official organ for the National W. C. T. U. will necessarily be settled at the Cincinnati convention. It is probable that a plan will be formulated by which the National W. C. T. U. can own and control its paper. In the meantime it is hoped that the present deprivation will be borne as patiently as possible and that it may serve to bring about better conditions for the future. It is hoped that W. C. T. U. members will make these facts known to Union Signal subscribers as widely as possible.

The Frances E. Willard National Temperance Hospital at Chicago has, after nineteen successful years, demonstrated the fact that alcohol is not necessary in medicine; and more, that without the use of alcohol in any form the death rate is lower than in hospitals where it is used. A much needed building is to be erected at a cost of $75,000. The building will be five stories high and one of the wards will be dedicated to the Loyal Temperance Legion.

FIELD NOTES.

Anderson Union had a picnic at the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Franklin on the afternoon of the 9th. A short business session was followed by a talk by Mr. Franklin. Supper was served on the lawn and a long to be remembered afternoon was spent.

The Assembly W. C. T. U. held its annual meeting at Pine Lake, Chautauqua, July 28. Mrs. Van Petten, the President, having been called away by sickness, Mrs. L. T. Regan presided. There were members present from Chicago, Indianapolis, Michigan City, Kingsbury and LaPorte. An interesting program was given. Ten new members were enrolled. The officers elected for the ensuing year are: President, Mrs. R. G. Young, Michigan City; First Vice-President, Mrs. Seth Pease, LaPorte; Second Vice-President, Mrs. George Travis, Kingsbury; Secretary, Mrs. L. T. Regan, Chicago; Treasurer, Mrs. Sisson, Chicago.

Wabash Union held an impressive memorial service in honor of one of its pioneer workers, Mrs. E. E. Kennedy, who recently joined the heavenly ranks. Beautiful indeed were the tributes paid to the memory of this blessed woman, whose influence and example meant much for our cause and for Christ in the community where she lived. Mrs. Murphy spoke of Mrs. Kennedy as a Christian and citizen. Mrs. Ross very feelingly spoke of her as a crusader and of her years' service in distributing temperance literature. Miss Parrish told of her beauty of character as a neighbor. Mrs. Haupt told of her great interest and enthusiasm as a W. C. T. U. worker, and Mrs. Ebbinghouse spoke of her as a friend. The Wabash Union has lost a valued member and the church an earnest, devoted Christian.

Bartholomew County convention was held with Petersville Union, in the M. E. Church, September 10. The meeting opened with County President, Mrs. Jennie Guffy, in the chair. Devotional exercises were led by Mrs. Dick Jones, of Columbus. Local Presidents made good reports of work done by their Unions, as also did Superintendents of different departments. Each local Union reported one medal contest. Reports showed a slight increase in membership over last year. The following County officers were elected: President, Mrs. Jennie Guffy, Hope; Vice-President, Mrs. Alice Readman, Columbus; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. J. M. West, Columbus; Recording Secretary, Miss Ella Beam, Hartsville; Treasurer, Mrs. Mattie Steenbarger, Petersville. Much interest was manifested in short talks by members of local Unions suggesting plans for better work in our county. A very instructive and interesting lecture by Mrs. Mary Hadley Hall, of Franklin, was enjoyed, the subject being "The Past and Present of the W. C. T. U." All who listened to this lecture were greatly helped and strengthened.

LaPorte Union.—August 20 the Superintendent of Social Purity, Mrs. Seth Pease, had charge of the meeting. The following topics were presented and discussed: We May Learn Much by Practicing the Ways of Those Who Live Pure Lives. Led by Mrs. Jerome Adkins. Purity in Literature. Led by Mrs. Ellen Parkell. Timidity in Teaching Social Purity a Want of Courage. Led by the Superintendent. Teaching Purity to Our Boys and Girls was also one of the topics. Our County President, Mrs. Clara Van Petten, was at this meeting and took part in the discussions. Her help was greatly appreciated by all present, as was the aid of others who kindly took part in this meeting. Not only the Superintendent, but others felt very much encouraged, and ere long there will be another. September 17 the annual meeting was held. The following officers for the ensuing year were elected: President, Mrs. Sarah Peters; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Seth Pease; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Mary Bell; Treasurer, Mrs. Oscar Parkell. The Superintendents of last year are retained for the present.

Benton County convention was held in the M. E. Church at Boswell September 11 and 12. Miss Clara Sears, State Y. Secretary, was present. She is an earnest worker and her influence was felt throughout the convention. The gold medal contest on the second evening was conducted by Mrs. Bettie Smith, County Superintendent of this department. There were six contestants. Miss Ethel James received the medal. Her subject was, "The Brave Boy." The following officers and Superintendents were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. Amanda Smith, Oxford; Vice-President, Mrs. Kizzie Charles, Talbot; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Nelly McKinney, Otterbein; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Ella Maddox, Otterbein; Treasurer, Mrs. Estella Smith, Boswell; Anti-Narcotics, Mrs. Nelly McKinney, Otterbein; Evangelistic, Miss Phoebe Kolb, Oxford; Sabbath Observance, Mrs. Martha Orr, Otterbein; Flower Mission, Mrs. Alice Pelham, Oxford; Parliamentary, Mrs. Florence Smith, Otterbein; Mothers' Meetings and Purity, Mrs. Bugbee, Lochiel; Systematic Giving, Kizzie Charles, Talbot; Press, Mrs. Wm. Wachtel, Otterbein; Franchise, Mrs. H. Kelly, Boswell; Non-Alcoholic Medication, Mrs. Anna Eberly, Boswell; Christian Citizenship, Mattie Kigor, Oxford; Contest, Mrs. Bettie Smith, Boswell; S. T. G., Mrs. Sadie Lewis, Oxford; Y. W. C. T. U., Mrs. Maude Woodham, Otterbein; Sunday School, Mrs. Mary Simpkins, Boswell.

The Free Will Offering meeting at Franklin was held in the beautiful new Christian Tabernacle, afternoon and evening. The afternoon program was a Bible reading and prayer service, the pastors of the various churches and Rev. Alice Ruth Palmer participating. There was a very manifest leading of the holy spirit. The object of the meeting was plainly discerned by those who were present. The teachers of the county were meeting in Institute that week, so an evening meeting especially for their interest and instruction had been planned. Professor Webb, the County Superintendent of Schools, presided, and Mrs. Homer J. Hall spoke, giving her illustrated lecture, "The Gospel of Health." Quite a number of the teachers and young people availed themselves of the privilege of hearing Mrs. Hall, and many expressed themselves as highly pleased. We hope that every Union in the State that has not done so will make an effort to secure Mrs. Hall for this very helpful and pleasing lecture. Miss Palmer followed with an excellent but brief account of the work the World's W. C. T. U. is doing for children along moral, scientific and civic lines. She gave a fascinating account of some children of other countries whom she knows and their training to become temperance workers. The Franklin Union seems much encouraged with the result of its effort in observing this day.

THE MESSAGE.

"Not by Might nor by Power, but by My Spirit."

VOL. VIII. No. 11.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., NOVEMBER, 1903.

SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION, 35c PER YEAR.

CALL FOR 30th ANNUAL CONVENTION OF THE NATIONAL W. C. T. U.

The National Woman's Christian Temperance Union is hereby officially called to meet in its thirtieth annual convention at Cincinnati, Ohio, November 13, to continue through the 18th, in the Ninth Street Baptist Church, between Vine and Race streets.

The basis of representation is as follows: The ex-officio membership and one delegate-at-large elected by each State and Territory, and one delegate for each five hundred members for whom the National W. C. T. U. has received dues; also one L. T. L. delegate for every fifty dollars paid into the national treasury, and one delegate-at-large for every fractional part of fifty dollars received from the combined States, Territories and District of Columbia, all such delegates to be active members of the W. C. T. U. and active workers in the L. T. L.

At the close of another decade of earnest work and glad fruition, another ten years of "glorious discipline and blessed sorrow," it is appropriate that we gather with grateful hearts in the old "Crusade State" for our annual meeting. The past year has been, on the whole, one of splendid progress for the temperance cause, and the National W. C. T. U. will bring to this "Harvest Home" an encouraging report of work accomplished, of increased membership, and of an ever widening field of labor.

At Cincinnati we will remember particularly the inspiration of the crusade days, and, to the end that we, too, may be specially imbued with power from on high, let us reverently observe the day of prayer and consecration, November 12, preceding the opening of the thirtieth convention of the National W. C. T. U.

LILLIAN M. N. STEVENS,
President.
SUSANNA M. D. FRY,
Corresponding Secretary.

THE CALL TO PRAYER.

According to the official call, the National Convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union will be held this year in Cincinnati, Ohio, November 13-18, 1903. This means a return to the "Crusade State" and the immediate vicinity of Hillsboro, Ohio, the crusade town, which will be the mecca of delegates and visitors.

This fact can but arouse a universal desire for a renewal of the crusade baptism and power. That we may realize the desire, we issue with new emphasis the usual Call to Prayer.

On Thursday, November 12, 1903, at Cincinnati, Ohio, an all-day of consecration and prayer will be observed from 10 A. M. to 4 P. M. in St. Paul M. E. Church.

Will our local Unions set apart this day and join with us in the following program:

MORNING SESSION—10 A. M. to 12 M.

Singing—"Give to the Winds Thy Fears."

Prayer.

Reading crusade psalm.

Singing—"Rock of Ages."

Bible Exposition—"The Sources of Our Power," namely: The Holy Spirit (Acts 2:1-5), prayer (Acts 1:14), the word of God (Acts 6:4), consecration (Malachi 3:10), individual responsibility for service (Isaiah 6:6-9.)

Followed by an open consecration service.

AFTERNOON SESSION—2 TO 4 O'CLOCK.

Devotional exercises.

Ten-minute addresses by national evangelists, pastors and W. C. T. U. workers, interspersed with requests for prayer, seasons of prayer, hymns and sacred solos.

Remember the topics for prayer always appropriate: For our national convention, that Divine wisdom may prevail in our councils and harmony and love be manifested; for our president, general officers and executive committee; for superintendents, evangelists, lecturers and organizers; for the Y. and L. T. L. branches; for white ribboners everywhere; for the overthrow of the liquor traffic; for peace and arbitration and purity; for a baptism of Christ-like love and enthusiasm for humanity.

World's and Nat. Supt. Evangelistic Dept.

NATIONAL CONVENTION NOTES.

Mrs. M. J. Booth, 3646 Eastern avenue, Cincinnati, is chairman of the committee on entertainment. During the convention she will have headquarters in the Y. M. C. A. Building.

All banners must be addressed to Miss Ida K. Widrig, 1915 Hewitt avenue, East Walnut Hills, Cincinnati, and she be informed by letter of the manner of transportation.

Mrs. Ella A. Roller, 4338 Beech Hill avenue, Cincinnati, is general chairman of the local committees.

The executive committee will meet all day Wednesday, the 11th, beginning at 9:30 A. M. The official board will meet Thursday at 9:30. The afternoon of

Thursday and the evenings of these two days will be used by one or the other of these boards, according to announcement.

The excursion to Hillsboro will be made Monday, November 16. A special train will take delegates and visitors, leaving Cincinnati about 7:00 A. M. and returning about 2:00 P. M. The cost for round-trip ticket will be $1.25. Services are to be held in the new chapel dedicated to the crusade. Mother Thompson will receive the visitors and luncheon will be served. The pastors and people of this historic town are greatly interested in our coming, and it will be a great event.

The Purity department, the L. T. L. and the Y. branches will hold conferences on Thursday.

One evening is to be given to a great diamond medal contest; another to one-minute speeches by the State Presidents. The others will be welcome night, jubilee night and platform night.

There promises to be an unusual number of good things in this convention.

THE NATIONAL CONVENTION.

The National W. C. T. U. Convention will be held in the Ninth Street Baptist Church in Cincinnati, O., November 13-18.

Every person interested in the work of the W. C. T. U. is cordially invited to attend.

Our White Ribboners of Indiana should make great efforts to spend a few days in this convention if they cannot be present during the entire convention.

The husbands will, no doubt, make it convenient to visit Cincinnati with their wives at this time. Business men may, by so doing, find it to their financial interest. Many of our best men are planning to go on Saturday and remain over Sunday. If possible they should be there for Saturday afternoon. Every State in the union will be represented. The National Superintendents will be present, and fraternal delegates from the great Christian and philanthropic societies of this country will bring greetings to this convention.

Our temperance people should plan to attend this convention, and as far as possible our homes should send the young people. The high school boys and girls, as well as those a little older, will get much out of this convention, much more than the text book knowledge that would be gained in two or three days. Parents who desire that their sons and daughters shall be interested in the temperance work will find that they get an inspiration from our National W. C. T. U. Convention that must be realized to be understood.

Take the young people with you to attend the convention, not to visit Cincinnati. It may be a decade of years before the convention will be held so near to us again. The fare is one and a third for the round trip upon the certificate plan for all persons desiring to go.

The Indiana headquarters will be at the Burnet House, which will also be the headquarters for the national officers and for the States of Massachusetts, New York and Pennsylvania. It will be pleasant to live for a few days in the same hotel with the national officers and superintendents, and also to have access to their special headquarters, Parlor A.

Invite your ministers and the teachers in your schools who can do so to attend this convention. Arrange to attend yourself and to take a son or daughter with you.

The Big Four will be the official route for Indiana delegates and visitors going to Cincinnati. Through its many branches it will bring our people into Indianapolis and take them on to Cincinnati without change. The official train will leave Indianapolis Thursday, Nov. 12, at 2:50 p. m., arriving at Cincinnati at 6:00 p. m. All persons are expected to take a lunch with them for supper on the train.

The rate to the National Convention at Cincinnati will be one fare going, and one-third of one fare returning. Be sure to get a certificate with your ticket. The rate from Indianapolis, including return, will be for the round trip $4.40; and proportionate rates from all points.

ANNUAL STATE CONVENTION.

The Thirtieth Annual Convention of the Indiana W. C. T. U., held at Hartford City, October 16-20, was one long to be remembered. Nearly a thousand delegates and visitors were present. Every business session and public meeting was full of interest from beginning to end. A delightful feature was the song service Friday night. Many were not aware that we have such a wealth of good temperance music. Several selections were rendered by a choir of sixteen trained voices. A children's choir filled a large gallery at one side of the auditorium. The gallery was draped with American flags and the girls wore large white ribbon bows on their hair. The choir sang the "Legion's Red, White and Blue," which was made very effective by the waving of flags during the chorus. Miss Edith Hillis sang "The Knot of White Ribbon," composed by Mrs. Hattie Brand. A boys' choir sang "Long Live the King" (cold water king). Miss Lena Marley sang the solo part of "Some Glad Day," and the audience joined in the chorus, during which they waved their handkerchiefs. The usual addresses of welcome were delightfully responded to by Mrs. Culla Vayhinger.

The church was again crowded on Saturday night at the diamond medal contest. It was conducted by Miss Clara Sears. There were eight contestants. Mr. Albert W. Conn, of Landisville, Grant County, won the medal, and in a little speech of acceptance paid high tribute to the value of contest work.

Sabbath morning Mrs. Culla Vayhinger occupied the pulpit of the convention church. At the close of an excellent address she paid a beautiful tribute to the Union soldiers, and refuted a statement published in the Muncie Star that a Hartford City lady had said from the convention floor that the W. C. T. U. had done as much for the government as the union soldiers. No such statement was made.

Sabbath afternoon the seating capacity of the church was again tested, and for two hours our brilliant Vice-President, Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, held the audience spellbound as she gave "At the Mercy of the State."

Monday night standing room was at a premium, for over a thousand people assembled to hear the address of Mrs. Leonora M. Lake, the noted Irish speaker and vice-president of the Catholic Total Abstinence Association. The city papers stated that it was the most able address ever given in the city, and prophesied that if she were to speak again there would be no building in the city able to hold the crowd.

The business sessions were as successful as the public meetings. A great amount of important business was transacted, and a spirit of love and harmony prevailed throughout. Nearly every report showed an advance in the work. The State Treasurer reported all outstanding bills paid and a small balance in the treasury. Hadley Industrial School was reported in better condition financially. The total indebtedness at this time is about $800. Some necessary repairs have been made, and the children are in good health. Invitations for the next State convention were extended from a number of cities, but the largest vote was given to Columbus, Indiana, where the convention of 1904 will be held. For the past seven years the convention has been held north of the center, and the invitation of Columbus was accepted because of its southern location.

The prospects for the coming year are unusually bright, and an effort will be made to make a gain in membership of one thousand.

Mrs. Eunice Wilson, the retiring State President, who has the love and respect of every White Ribboner, was presented with a long black cloak. Perhaps at no previous convention has such a large per cent of the delegates remained until the close of the convention. At the close the delegates joined hands, making a great circle around the altar and the room, and sang "God be with you till we meet again." In a touching prayer the retiring President asked God's blessing upon us all, and we adjourned to begin another year's work in the Master's vineyard and against the drink habit and traffic.

MRS. HATTIE WRIGHT BRAND.

THE UNION SIGNAL.

We rejoice in the knowledge that the National W. C. T. U. has at last secured the oversight of its official organ, the Union Signal. All subscribers have this day received a copy of National W. C. T. U., which explicitly and definitely sets forth the entire situation. Every subscriber will receive her full quota of subscription, the first paper to be issued immediately after the National Convention.

W. C. T. U. LITERATURE.

Miss Ruby I. Gilbert manager, Miss A. A. Austin associate, have purchased from the Woman's Temperance Publishing Association the entire stock of books, leaflets, pictures, badges, and other W. C. T. U. supplies. New leaflets will be added at once and the stock greatly improved. Send your orders for any of the above mentioned supplies to Miss Ruby Gilbert, Room 915 The Silversmith's Building, 131-137 Wabash Ave., Chicago.

We are confident that orders will be promptly filled, as Miss Gilbert and Miss Austin are both thoroughly familiar with the publishing business after many years of practical experience, and we bespeak for these two white ribbon comrades the generous patronage of all white ribboners and other temperance friends.

OFFICERS OF THE BOARD OF SUPERINTENDENTS.

President, Mrs. Lou Rall, Huntington; Secretary, Mrs. Lillian Lines, Wabash; Treasurer, Mrs. Cora Steele, 1322 E. Gilbert St., Muncie. The annual meeting of the State Board of Superintendents, which has heretofore been held in June, will be held at the time and place of the mid-year executive. An evening entertainment will be given by the Superintendents and the profits placed in a fund for department work. Each State Superintendent is asked to send a donation of 25 cents to the Treasurer of the Board, Mrs. Cora Steele, to pay the postage of the Board officers.

STATE DIRECTORY.

Once again we urge every local Union and county Union which has not yet sent a complete list of its officers and superintendents for the year to Mrs. Hattie Brand, 1403 Ashland Ave., Indianapolis, to do so immediately. There are blanks, letters, etc., to be sent out which cannot be sent until we have the names of the proper officers and superintendents. Please do not fail to do this at once.

TO THE UNION SIGNAL SUBSCRIBERS.

A Message of Greeting and Explanation from the General Officers of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

For more than two months you have not received the Union Signal, the official organ of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union. The National W. C. T. U. is, however, in no wise to blame for the suspension of the Union Signal, since it has never had financial control of the paper. The National W. C. T. U. has had the editorial control of the Union Signal, but the Woman's Temperance Publishing Association, a stock company of Chicago, has owned the paper and has controlled its finances from the first.

The National Woman's Christian Temperance Union has just consummated the purchase of the Union Signal, thus coming into full financial as well as editorial control of its official organ. Not until today, when the subscription list of the Union Signal became the property of the National W. C. T. U. as purchased from the Woman's Temperance Publishing Association, could the National W. C. T. U. address the individual subscribers to its official organ, although we have sent an explanatory letter to each of our ten thousand local Unions, requesting them to inform subscribers as widely as possible of the exact situation.

Five years ago Mrs. Hannah J. Bailey, the heaviest creditor of the Woman's Temperance Publishing Association and a careful business woman, succeeded Mrs. Matilda B. Carse as President of this Association. Mrs. Bailey has made heroic efforts to save the stockholders and all the creditors from loss, and has succeeded in somewhat decreasing the commercial indebtedness. In acting for the W. T. P. A. she has left nothing undone that could be done by a high-minded woman and a true-hearted Christian.

The Woman's Temperance Publishing Association leased its entire business in March, 1901, for a term of seven years to the William Johnston Printing Company, of Chicago, who from that time until August 5, 1903, printed the Union Signal, but since that date (August 5, 1903) have failed to send out an issue of the paper to the subscribers, and have stated to the W. T. P. A. and to the National W. C. T. U. that they cannot longer continue the lease. This action was doubtless a surprise to most of the subscribers. Please bear in mind that the Woman's Temperance Publishing Association is a business corporation, distinct from the National W. C. T. U., and that the National has never received one penny of the subscription money for the Union Signal, nor from the proceeds of any other publication of the Woman's Temperance Publishing Association.

The Board of Directors of the Woman's Temperance Publishing Association met in Chicago recently and decided to retire from business. They offered the Union Signal and the Crusader Monthly to the National W. C. T. U. at a price which we have accepted and which we will pay in cash.

Having purchased the Union Signal so near the time of the National convention of the W. C. T. U., which meets in Cincinnati, Ohio, November 13th, and as there will be many details to arrange, it is deemed best not to issue the first number under the new management until immediately after the close of the National Convention, making this the "Convention Number" and one of especial interest.

We shall proceed carefully and economically (not purchasing printing machinery, etc.) and we trust that the W. C. T. U. members and all students and friends of the temperance reform will rally to the support of the paper and largely increase its subscription list.

All subscribers whose names are on the list will receive the new Union Signal dating from its first issue until the expiration of their time with the expectation that these subscribers will promptly renew.

All subscriptions sent in during the past few weeks since the suspension of publication by The William Johnston Printing Co. will also be honored by the National W. C. T. U., although these subscriptions must be added to the already long list of unexpired subscription as above referred to, for which the W. T. C. U. has received no remuneration.

May we not say that in view of the heavy expense of taking up a paper with a large list of unexpired subscriptions, we hope that all who can afford to do so will feel inclined to cheer and encourage the National W. C. T. U. by at once becoming a "new" rather than remaining an "old" subscriber. While the National W. C. T. U. in its Cincinnati Convention will settle price, etc., of the paper, we can emphatically announce that the price will not exceed $1 per year.

Pledges in new subscriptions and from all subscribers now on the list who will kindly help by immediately renewing, can be sent at once to the Union Signal, Rest Cottage, Evanston, Ill.

Please send names only, reserving money payment until you receive the first copy of the paper containing the exact subscription price and all other particulars.

All subscribers who have been receiving the paper and are owing the amount of their subscription will greatly aid the National W. C. T. U. by promptly sending to us the full amount due. Make all drafts and money orders payable to the Union Signal.

We shall aim to publish a paper having a high standard of literary merit, taking a world-wide survey of the temperance field, and invaluable to W. C. T. U. as well as to all temperance workers and specialists.

We again assure you that we have done everything in our power to bring about better conditions and that as soon as possible, and that we could not possibly communicate with you until to-day, when the subscription list became our property.

Although the National W. C. T. U. has been, as we have tried to show you, the greatest sufferer during this period of suspension of our official paper, we have no reason to be disheartened. The W. C. T. U. throughout all our country and other lands was never so large, so enthusiastic, so promiscuous as at the present time. Let us impart a spirit of good cheer, for we have reason to be cheerful, and let us hope that all loyal White Ribboners will be brought closer together because of this temporary deprivation. With faith in God and the righteousness of the cause we love, let us go faithfully forward.

LILLIAN M. N. STEVENS,
President.
ANNA A. GORDON,
Vice-President at Large.
SUSANNA M. D. FRY,
Corresponding Secretary.
CLARA C. HOFFMAN,
Recording Secretary.
FRANCES E. BEAUCHAMP,
Asst. Recording Secretary.

Treasurer.

Rest Cottage, Evanston, Ill., Oct. 10, 1903.

THE CRUSADER MONTHLY.

The Crusader Monthly has been purchased by the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union and will be continued without interruption under the editorial management of Miss Margaret Wintringer and Miss Alice M. Crimbill. This sixteen page paper is being greatly improved and should find a place in every home where there are young people. Especially should it be in the hands of every member of the Loyal Temperance Legion. The price is but 25 cents per year. Now is a good time to redeem your subscription pledges. Send all subscriptions addressed to the Crusader Monthly, Rest Cottage, Evanston, Illinois. Make all drafts and money orders payable to the Crusader Monthly.

The above names have been forwarded to the entertainment committee.

HARTFORD CITY CONVENTION NOTES.

Love Tokens—Small gold bow-knot pins—were presented to Mrs. Stahl and Mrs. Willis in behalf of the Convention, by Mrs. Lou Rall, in a very happy little speech. Mrs. Rall said if we loved one another to say, "I love you." Afterward many smiles, thro' tears, were the result of one sister saying to another, "I love you!" Thus the slogan went the rounds, while we all loved Mrs. Rall, our "Mercy Worker," of whom we always think when we see a bird or portion thereof on a hat or bonnet.

Mother Trish cheered us up by her presence. Her silvered hair shows that the frost deepens on her head, but the heart is in its May-time yet.

Mrs. M. A. Tompkins' presence was missed, and her counsel needed, as was also our dear Mrs. Elizabeth Haughton, whom we all love.

Mrs. Pearce, who has endeared herself so much in recent years to our workers, could not be present.

Mrs. M. L. Hobbs and Mrs. Harriet F. Kidd could not be present, but they sent their greetings.

Many were the faces that cheered us; Mrs. Caroline Edgerton, wearing her beautiful Quaker bonnet, reminded us of the very first State Convention we ever attended. Many have come and gone since then.

The younger people encourage us by their helpfulness. James Mix, the son of our State L. T. L. Sec'y, Mrs. Ida Mix, has grown to the size of manhood, and is enthusiastically working for the Anti-gambling Department in the L. T. L. His fine presence and splendid voice while speaking to the Convention caused many a heart-throb of joy. We need an army of such young fellows—to the L. T. L. we must look for them.

Our brilliant Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley gave "At the Mercy of the State" to a magnificent audience on Sunday afternoon. The close attention, the tearful eyes and the amens expressed clearly how the great truths presented were sinking into the hearts of the people, which would bear fruit ere long.

Mrs. Mattie Cammack-Gibson, in behalf of the Convention, presented a set of colonial silver teaspoons to Miss Laura Cammack, in appreciation of her persistent and fruitful work as Press Superintendent. Next year Indiana expects to lead the Nation in Press work, through which all other work is advanced.

The invitations for the next State Convention were received with great enthusiasm. They were from Columbus, Brazil, Elwood and Ft. Wayne. Because of the needs of Southern Indiana, and with the hope of an up-lift to follow the Convention, the invitation to Columbus was accepted.

Perhaps few realize the influence of the Convention. It meant much to be invited by the people of Ft. Wayne to that city, the seat of the Liquor Dealers' Association for the State, where Rum Rule is aggressive! Dear Mrs. McIntosh, we will not forget your invitation!

Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, in her inimitable manner, presented, in behalf of the convention, a most beautiful cloak to Mrs. Eunice P. Wilson, our retiring president. She "let the mantle fall" on her shoulders. In a happy manner Mrs. Wilson responded.

The Greencastle Union received the prize, the "Prohibition Encyclopedia," for the best local Union program. This same Union having made the greatest increase in membership of any Union in the State was given the custody of the "old State banner." This is a great victory for this Union, as it is in an unorganized county and far separated from the influence of other Unions. This "old State banner" has traveled tens of thousands of miles, carrying its influence into every national convention held since 1875. It has represented a silent protest of the organized motherhood of Indiana in countless churches and halls against the licensed liquor business.

A CUP OF COLD WATER.

Many and beautiful are the plans being made for the great World's Fair to be held in St. Louis in 1904, but none so greatly interests our folks as the iced water fountain to be erected by the W. C. T. U. of the Louisiana Purchase States, which will be in a very prominent place, and furnish cold, clear, pure water to the thousands who visit the fair. The fountain will be of bronze, to cost $3,000, and be modeled by a Missouri girl. The design is a woman carrying a lily, emblematic of purity.

The question of vital importance just now is, how can this $3,000 be secured? That it must be raised by our women goes without saying. We want the honor and credit of having furnished the money. It is our enterprise, and we would not be content to have it go out of our control. Of course we will be glad to have financial help from outsiders, but it is our privilege to manage all this. This is our project and our design. How much financial interest has each reader of this paper? Dear women, we can raise all the money for this fountain in two months. How? Organize a World's Fair Circle, and get every woman with push, tact, energy or brains into this Circle. I would invite women who are not members of our organization. Hold meetings and plan operations. Appoint committees on soliciting funds and on entertainments. Give open air meetings, medal contests, World's Fair teas. At all these meetings have short talks on the World's Fair in general. Impress upon the people that for the first time in the history of expositions we are to have a section relating to the liquor traffic in the Department of Social Economy. In this space the World's and National W. C. T. U. will have an exhibit. Is this not a great step in advance, one for which we thank God and take courage? Send to me for printed matter. Then, at your tea, have a talk about the blessedness of giving a cup of cold water to the weak and tempted. Is not the thought beautiful? Charge admission or take collections. Never forget that our object is to instill into the people the principles of our organization, and always ask for new members. Send all money collected to your State Treasurer through the regular channels.

Beloved, this is practical work. It is Christianity. How much are you interested in it? If a Union will not take this matter up, let one or more members begin at once to collect. Time is precious, haste is necessary. Will you help, you who read this page? Pictures of the fountain for sale at twenty-five cents. Address below.

Mrs. E. B. INGALLS,
Nat. W. C. T. U. World's Fair Com.

FOR TREASURERS.

Please send me your name and address if you are a newly elected local or county treasurer at once.

When you wish to send me small sums of money in stamps please send one cent stamps.

Please fill out the remittance blanks you receive quarterly carefully, and see that the figures in the blank correspond with those on your order or check. Please be sure, in sending State Treasurer money, that you enclose remittance blank.

Please do your best at once to secure orders for the new State Minutes and send to me promptly.

Do not fail to see that your list of paid-up members corresponds exactly with the list that is sent to me for the MESSAGE.

Pray and work so that this year of W. C. T. U. effort shall glorify God. ALICE RUTH PALMER, Franklin, Ind.

Says Alice Stone Blackwell, in the October Woman's Column: "New Jersey has just voted upon a series of important constitutional amendments radically reorganizing the judicial system. The bar of the State took a great interest in the question. 'Addresses were issued and newspaper articles printed by the hundred to arouse the electors to the vital nature of the issue. Yet only about one-fifteenth of the voters of New Jersey cared enough about the project so nearly affecting their interests as to take the trouble to cast a ballot for or against it. The amendments were defeated on this scandalously light vote, and the disgusted New Jersey lawyers denounced everybody concerned. None of them, however, point to the incident as a proof that all men ought to be disfranchised. The figures of the New Jersey vote are commended to Dr. Lyman Abbott.'"

STATE MINUTES.

The State Minutes will be ready very early this year. Much of the work is already done. They will be handled by the State Treasurer, Miss Alice R. Palmer, 398 Kentucky street, Franklin. Every union is urged to purchase at least ten copies. The price will be as usual, 15 cents per copy. This covers postage or express. You can order the minutes sent by express C. O. D. The minutes are placed in your hands for about half what we pay for them, and every copy should be used. Send your order immediately.

Mrs. Eunice P. Wilson felt that she could not again serve, and with loving regret from a great loyal constituency, she leaves the office of President of the Indiana W. C. T. U. No truer, sweeter spirit ever led a band of White Ribboners than our beloved Mrs. Wilson.

PLEDGE SIGNING.

There are 6,500 Sunday Schools in the State of Indiana. The fourth Sabbath in November (November 22, 1903), is World's Sunday School Temperance Sunday. New leaflets and a program in honor of the day are published each year by our National Superintendent of this department. We urge our workers throughout the State to observe the day by the distribution of the Sunday School Pledge Cards. Our aim is to secure 50,000 signatures to the pledge this year. You can secure the cards of the National Superintendent or of the State Superintendent. Let this be the first general effort for the new year.

Instead of rough or vicious men, or even drunken men, treating women with disrespect, the presence of a single good woman at the polls seemed to make the whole crowd of men as respectful and quiet as at the theatre or at church. To the credit of American men be it said that the presence of one woman or girl at the polls, the wife or daughter of the humblest mechanic, has as good an effect on the crowd as the presence of the grandest dame or the most fashionable belle. The difference in American and European deference to woman I have never seen so strikingly illustrated as in these throngs of people at the polls of this exciting and most serious election. The American woman is clearly as much a queen at the polls, in her own bearing and the deference paid her, as in the drawing room or at the opera.—Hon. James S. Clarkson, of Iowa, after witnessing Denver election.

PEACE AND ARBITRATION.

Please, dear workers for Peace, send in your reports promptly by the 15th of September. If nothing has been done, try and hold at least one meeting. Bring the matter before your Union, read an article on some phase of peace work or talk about it somewhere, hand a peace tract to some one who has not thought much about it, and be sure the good sown prayerfully will bring forth good fruit somewhere. We do not labor in vain.

I have sent report blanks, with a copy of my booklet, "The World's Court," to every known Superintendent, and to many County Presidents. Send for more if you need them, and let us speed the work for universal peace.

H. LAVINIA BAILY,
Superintendent.

THE CHIEF VALUE OF PROHIBITION.

The chief value of enforced prohibitory law to any State or community is the protection which it affords the young and easily tempted. It closes the road over which they would otherwise travel to reach a destination of shame. This is a matter of primary importance.

The boy twelve or fifteen years of age is easily led astray, but let the same boy grow to manhood away from the alluring temptation of the saloon and the chances are that even though his lot in after life be cast in a license community the saloon will have few if any attractions for him. The law has protected him during the thoughtless or "wild oats" period of his youth. The education of his environment has been against the saloon, and indulgence in drink. It is this fact which accounts in large measure for the sober habits and manly conduct which characterized the Kansas soldier-boys during the Spanish-American and Philippine wars.

The protection of the youth means the protection of the home and of the community. It means the prevention of two-thirds of all pauperism and crime. It means the averting of calamities, the magnitude of which is indicated in the fact that, according to conservative statistics, one boy in every ten in the average license community actually becomes, first, a moderate drinker, then a drunken sot; and it is out of the vast army of sots thus created that the majority of our paupers and criminals come. These are they who fill saloon communities with want and woe, who crowd the jails and almshouses, and who heap up taxes for the rest of the community to pay. And all to satisfy the greed of debased humanity and the appetites of weak-willed victims, both of which classes speedily degenerate into cruel brutishness—devoid, sooner or later, of moral sense—physical, social, intellectual and spiritual suicides. These are some of the unspeakable calamities which are visited upon licensed communities, but which Kansas prohibition, by protecting Kansas youth, prevents in a large part of Kansas territory.—National Advocate.

THE WILLARD HOSPITAL, OF CHICAGO—LAYING OF CORNER STONE.

Impressive exercises marked the laying of the corner stone of the new home of the Frances E. Willard National Temperance Hospital, which is situated on Lincoln street, between Polk and Harrison streets. September 28 was chosen for the ceremony, as that was the birthday of Miss Willard. The speakers on the program were H. B. Brown, president of Valparaiso College; Samuel Dickie, president of Albion College; Dr. N. S. Davis, Rev. M. A. Phillips, of the Park Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, and John G. Woolley.

Mrs. C. E. Bigelow, who was in charge of the ceremony, quoted the words spoken by Miss Willard at the dedication of the National Temperance hospital on Cottage Grove avenue, nineteen years ago, as follows:

"This hospital is the latest milestone on the highway of progress in American temperance reform. The principle of non-alcoholic medication must be accepted before Prohibition can be established on firm foundations. The growth of this enterprise is such that we must have a building, and measures to that end will doubtless be taken at an early date."

Mrs. Margaret Ingleheart, who has been president of the hospital association since 1890, superintended the laying of the corner stone.

Mrs. J. B. Hobbs deposited an iron box in the corner stone, in which is a large tablet bearing the name of the institution and the date of the ceremony.

The hospital occupies a site opposite the county hospital, and almost in the center of the great medical district of the west side. It was incorporated in 1884 by the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union. The hospital is now housed in the homestead of Jacob Biedler, of Jackson Boulevard and Sangamon street. The hospital is being constructed at a cost of $50,000. The project was aided by a bequest of $25,000 from William H. Bush. Contractor Henry Kies, in charge of the structure, promised that no intoxicating liquors would be used by his workmen while the building was under construction. He says the promise has not been violated.

The hospital will be five stories in height, with a frontage of ninety-five feet. It is thought the equipment will cost $20,000. The staff will include prominent members of the allopathic, homeopathic and eclectic schools of medicine. In the treatment of all cases alcohol is forbidden. The only similar institution is the famous London Temperance Hospital.—New Voice.

CLASSES IN PARLIAMENTARY LAW.

You have again given to me the department of Parliamentary Usage, and now I appeal to you to help advance the work throughout the State. Our adopted authority is Roberts' Rules of Order, which can be purchased at almost any book store; price, 75c. Joseph T. Roberts' Primer of Parliamentary Law, price 75c, is very helpful and easily understood. Lillian Cole Bethel's "Question Book" costs 25c; her address is 738 East Long st., Columbus, Ohio. Every one ought to have our National Superintendent's parliamentary card, price 5c. Order of Mrs. A. S. Benjamin, Portland, Mich., or of me.

During the past year I conducted a class of 66 members through a six months' course of one lesson per month. If members of this class wish to take another course I will receive them upon the same terms as last year—10c per member.

Any persons who did not take the course last year and wish to begin can do so by sending their names and 10c. This little charge is to help defray the expense of postage and cards. All names should be enrolled by December 15th. The first lesson will be sent out January 1st.

MRS. HATTIE WRIGHT BRAND,
1403 Ashland Ave., Indianapolis.

THE NATIONAL CONVENTION.

RAILROAD RATES.

The rate of one and a third fare upon the certificate plan for the round trip to Cincinnati has been granted. Delegates and visitors should secure a certificate when they purchase their tickets. These must be presented to the chairman of transportation at the convention and will entitle the holder to the reduction on the return ticket. At the convention the railroad agent will charge each certificate holder 25 cents for vising the certificate. Give your station agent timely notice that certificates will be needed as they are not always kept on hand. Secure a certificate for each road you travel over. The trip must be continuous. Tickets will be on sale November 7 and good until November 23.

All delegates are requested not to deliver their checks for baggage to any one at the depot. Arrangements have been made with the Cincinnati Railroad Omnibus Company for the delivery of trunks and valises for 25 cents each within certain limits, and for 50 cents and 25 cents, respectively, for delivery to the suburbs. An agent for this company will be stationed at the convention church door to receive the checks.

HEADQUARTERS.

The headquarters of the National W. C. T. U. will be at the Burnet House, corner of Third and Vine streets. It is a house much patronized by ladies, and is said to have the prettiest dining-room west of the Alleghanies. The proprietor has closed the bar in honor of his White Ribbon guests.

The Burnet House will also be the headquarters for the Massachusetts, New York and Indiana delegations.

By special arrangement, the Indiana people can get meals and room for $2.50 per day each, with several ladies in one room, and room can be had for $1.00 per day each, with several ladies in one room. Gentlemen with their wives will get advantage of the same rate. To secure this rate it will be necessary for it to be known that you come from Indiana.

The Burnet House is the best in Cincinnati. It has recently been renovated and furnished by Mr. T. J. Culen, manager, who was for years manager of the New Denison, in Indianapolis. It is through his courtesy that the people from Indiana, his own State, have the above rate. The rooms are very large and handsomely appointed. Bath rooms on every floor for the free use of all guests. Application should be made immediately for rooms.

In the vicinity of the Ninth Street Baptist Church there are restaurants and places where meals and a room or rooms can be secured. Where friends come in company they can no doubt find very pleasant locations in different places at rates that are very reasonable.

All Indiana people are cordially invited to come to the headquarters, Parlor A, at the Burnet House, and get an Indiana badge, price five cents. All are expected to boom Indiana.

THE CONVENTION CHURCH.

The Ninth Street Baptist Church is centrally located, about four blocks from the Burnet House, and is one of the most commodious church edifices in the city. The officers of this church grant the use of its very excellent auditorium for the convention, and all the elaboration of rooms for committees and conferences and whatsoever use the convention may require. The entire church organization is in full sympathy with the objects of the convention.

The present pastor is Rev. G. O. King. His two assistants are Rev. D. B. Richard and James R. Kirtley. It is the parent church of an active German Baptist church and of nine mission stations with buildings in various sections of the city. These operate free kindergarten, kitchengarten, sewing classes, physical culture and industrial classes, an employment bureau, a boys' brigade and a men's club, in the interests of which there are eighty different meetings weekly. There are nearly two thousand members engaged in these various Christian efforts, with a Sunday-school attendance of three thousand.

EXCURSION TO HILLSBORO.

The excursion to Hillsboro, O., will be made Monday, November 16. A special train will take delegates and visitors, leaving Cincinnati about 7 A. M., and returning about 2 P. M. The cost for the round trip will be $1.25. The train will arrive in Hillsboro about 9 A. M., and the party will go direct to the church. After the delegations are seated the Chautauqua salute will be given to the old crusaders, who will be seated in the memorial room. After the services, to be held in the new chapel dedicated to the crusade, the crusade room and the interesting memorials to be found there will be inspected, and luncheon will be served. A visit will then be paid to the home of Mother Thompson. It is hoped that Mrs. McCabe of Delaware, the first W. C. T. U. President of Ohio and Mrs. Bashford, wife of the President of the Ohio Wesleyan University at Delaware, will be present and many other distinguished guests, including ministerial brethren who aided in the crusade. The pastors and people of this historic town are greatly interested in our coming, and we will be greatly interested in going. It will be a great event. Visitors are invited to join the excursion.

SPECIAL FEATURES OF THE CONVENTION PROGRAM.

One evening will be devoted to a grand diamond contest, with nine contestants and a special program. Another to one minute speeches by the State Presidents, in which each is expected to name a victory by her State and tell how it was won. Welcome night, jubilee night and platform night will occur as usual. There will be no department demonstrations this year. The speakers for platform night, so far as selected, are: Miss Olive Malvery, India; Mrs. Mary H. Hunt, Massachusetts; Miss Belle Kearney, Mississippi.

The President's annual address will be the chief feature for Friday forenoon. It is too early to announce the speakers for welcome night, but we may expect brightness and the usual good time.

Mrs. Maria Weed, of Illinois, and Deaconess Sarah J. Elliott, of New York, will give short addresses on the general subject of polygamy in the United States. Mrs. C. C. Faxon, our W. C. T. U. Commissioner to the Philippines, will tell about her work for temperance in Manila. Miss M. L. Orr will show the needs of the immigrant station at Ellis Island, New York. Miss Olive Christian Malvery, who captivated the World's W. C. T. U. Convention at Geneva, and who is a brilliant speaker and charming reciter, will give us peeps into her native country, India, and temperance truths with dramatic fervor and power. There promises to be an unusual number of good things at the Cincinnati convention.

FIELD NOTES.

The Following Persons were made officers for the Newton County W. C. T. U.: President, Mrs. M. C. McConnahay; Treasurer, Mrs. E. D. Hardy; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Mary Cambie; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Anna Curren. Superintendents of departments will be the same as last year.

The Northeast Union, of Indianapolis, has elected the following officers and superintendents of departments: President, Mrs. Susan J. Taylor; Vice president, Mrs. Anna Clark; Recording Secretary, Mrs. George Henderson; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Nina Brigham; Treasurer, Mrs. Addie Dodge; Superintendent Mother's Meetings, Mrs. Emma Okey; Superintendent Medal Contest, Mrs. Nina Brigham, 1820 East 12th Street; Superintendent Literature, Mrs. Laura Patton; Superintendent Flower Mission, Mrs. Addie Dodge; Superintendent Sabbath Observance, Mrs. Teresa Harnshu; Superintendent Press, Mrs. Nina Brigham.

At the close of the year the prize, a beautiful picture of Frances Willard, offered by the President to the one receiving the largest number of new members, was awarded to Mrs. Emma Okey, 1820 East 12th Street.

The Blackford County convention was held at Fairview, and was a success throughout. The devotionals were led by Mrs. S. M. Stahl, and the Roll Quartet furnished the music, which was appreciated by all who heard it. The leading feature of the evening was the County Matrons' Contest. A class of seven contestants. The medal was awarded Mrs. Lillie B. Palmer, of Roll. Thursday morning the services were led by the County President, Mrs. E. A. Willis. Hartford City, Roll, Montpelier, Millgrove and Fairview Unions were well represented. The reports showed the officers had been untiring in their efforts to do good. A very interesting paper was read by the County President, entitled the "Model Union." The discussion by the local presidents on how to make our W. C. T. U. meetings more attractive ended the morning session, after which a splendid dinner was served by the Fairview sisters to all present. Well, now, we all did our best that time. The election of officers was as follows: Mrs. E. A. Willis was re-elected President, Mrs. Loring, of Millgrove, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. Bugh, of Fairview, Recording Secretary; Mrs. S. J. Emshammer, of Hartford City, Treasurer. Rev. Watkin and Rev. Valentine spoke encouragingly to our workers. Music was furnished by the Roll Quartet and the Fairview people throughout the convention. Miss Bernice Cunningham recited "What the temperance cause has done for John and I." Mrs. Stahl's lecture, which all enjoyed, closed the convention. All went away saying it was good to be there.

Burlington Union held a nice meeting, with good attendance and much interest manifested. The worthy President, Mrs. Alice Hanson, was named as delegate to the State Convention at Hartford City. Literature is being distributed by the Union. Miss Alice R. Palmer gave a lecture in the Christian Church at Burlington recently which was well received. Mrs. Edith Johnson had the program in charge. A good collection was taken for the benefit of the work.

Steuben County convention met in Angola on September 17 and 18. Mrs. Adah Unruh was in attendance at all the sessions, and gave a lecture each night. The election of officers left us with dear Mrs. Willenear still our President. The papers and speeches were of a high order, and the help rendered by our musical friends outside the society was much appreciated. We received a few new members, and are hoping for better things in the year to come. Mrs. Unruh has lectured at several places in our county, and we hear words of high commendation of her work from those interested.

The Annual Convention of Marion County W. C. T. U. was held in Howard Place M. E. Church on Wednesday, September 23. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Mrs. Ada B. Leck, President; Mrs. Hattie Wright Brand, Vice-President; Mrs. Nina Brigham, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. Ida Copper, Recording Secretary; Mrs. S. D. Lemon, Treasurer. Addresses were given by the retiring President, Mrs. Ada B. Leck; Rev. Ward, pastor of Howard Place Church, and Quincy Lee Morrow, prohibition lecturer.

Boone County Union met in the M. E. Church in Jamestown September 23. Delegates from Lebanon and Thorntown Unions were present. An excellent address by the President, Mrs. Hendricks, and a discussion of the same occupied the forenoon. Reports from the Superintendent and officers occupied most of the afternoon. Officers elected were: Mrs. Hendricks, Lebanon, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. Anderson, Zionsville, Recording Secretary; Mrs. Young, Jamestown, Treasurer; Mrs. Neal, Lebanon, Vice-President; Mrs. Peery, Thorntown, President. Mrs. Hadley Hall was present throughout and rendered valuable service. Her lecture in the evening was highly appreciated. All said, a good convention.

Randolph County Convention met in Winchester, October 9, at the Presbyterian Church, with the County President, Mrs. McCormick, in the chair; good attendance. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. McCormick, of Modoc; Treasurer, Carrie Mormon, of Winchester; Recording Secretary, Mary A. Baker, of Winchester; Corresponding Secretary, Jennie Gray. The program was very interesting. Rev. Geo. Hall, of the Main street Christian Church, delivered an address upon "The Church and the Saloon." It was voted to be published in the State and county papers. His supreme thought was, that when the church strictly righted herself by Christian principles, 250,000 saloons would be but a trifle in the race for power against the church. Mrs. Jennie Gray's paper upon "The Young Man of To-day" was also voted to be published. Mrs. Carrie Tomlinson conducted the Mothers' Meeting successfully, and Mrs. Wright's paper deserves special mention. At the evening session Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, of Richmond, lectured. The object lessons she presented were full of truth, and she impressed her audience favorably by her kindly manner. Mrs. Truby's and Miss Mona Baker's solos were very much enjoyed.

Thus closed a very successful convention.

Wells County Convention met in the Salem Evangelical Church, with the County President, Mrs. Dr. Goodin, in the chair. The devotional services were led by Mrs. French, of Salem. The morning was occupied by reports from the Unions of the county, all showing an interest and enthusiasm which was felt all through the convention. At noon all present were invited into the yard, where two large tables were loaded with things good to eat, and the visitors enjoyed the hospitality of the Salem ladies. At 2:00 o'clock the afternoon session began. Reports of Superintendents of the county were heard. The election of officers followed. Mrs. Goodin gave notice that she could not accept the presidency another year, much to the disappointment of the members. She has been a faithful worker, presides with grace and dignity, and with it all shows a sweet Christian spirit and devotion in the Master's service. The officers for the coming year are: President, Mrs. Josephine Walmer; Vice-President, Mrs. Cora McBride; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Ellingham; Recording Secretary, Mrs. D. T. Smith; Treasurer, Mrs. Bickel. The Union at Salem is small, but the meeting showed that a few women, with the help of their friends, can undertake a large thing and carry it through successfully. Mrs. French has the help of a number of young women, who are a tower of strength to her in the work. At 8 o'clock in the evening a large crowd gathered to hear Mrs. Culla J. Vayhinger, the State lecturer. She is indeed an able and interesting speaker and well posted in the work of the W. C. T. U. Under her able management and rich Christian experience she has wrought much for temperance. She has accomplished good work in the southern part of the State, and was pronounced a success by all who heard her. Very few women attend these meetings, either county or State, who do not receive new inspiration and courage. We are more than repaid for the effort of going. Mrs. Vayhinger lectured at Six Miles to an appreciative audience.

THE MESSAGE.

AT CINCINNATI.

The Thirtieth National Convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union was held at Cincinnati, November 13-18, with the largest delegations of any previous year. Especially was there a notable increase in the attendance of the Southern women.

The reports of the General Officers showed the organization to be in an unusually prosperous condition. The reports of the National Superintendents of Departments were most encouraging. In all of the various Departments much aggressive, effective work has been done. At no time in the past has there been such systematic work done by the Local Unions all over the country.

Thus County and State work has been strengthened, and the great organization has made wonderful strides during the year.

The same officers were elected to serve another year: President, Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens, Portland, Me.; Vice-President, Miss Anna A. Gordon, Evanston, Ill.; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Susanna M. D. Fry, Rest Cottage, Evanston, Ill.; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Clara C. Hoffman, St. Louis, Mo.; Assistant Recording Secretary, Mrs. Frances E. Beauchamp, Lexington, Ky.; Treasurer, Mrs. Helen M. Barker, Rest Cottage, Evanston, Ill.

An enjoyable feature of the Convention was the introduction of fraternal and visiting delegates and distinguished guests on Saturday afternoon. From Indiana the following friends of the W. C. T. U. were introduced:

Prof. Vayhinger, Moore's Hill;
Mr. Brunson Snyder, Waterloo;
Hon. Chas. F. Holler, South Bend;
Mr. F. T. McWhirter, Indianapolis, (Greencastle);
Dr. Homer J. Hall, Franklin.

THE SUNDAY SERVICES

in more than forty churches of Cincinnati were conducted by the White Ribboners.

THE ANNUAL SERMON

on Sunday afternoon at the Convention church was by Mrs. Katharine Lente Stevenson, President of the Massachusetts W. C. T. U.

The service on Sunday evening at St. Paul's M. E. Church was attended by about fifteen hundred people. The choir was excellent. Devotional exercises were led by Mrs. McClellan Brown, of whom the pastor, Dr. Blodgett, said, "she is known and loved all over Cincinnati."

The first speaker of the evening was Mrs. Viola D. Romans, of Ohio, who spoke of the achievements of the W. C. T. U. in a most interesting manner.

CONVENTION NOTES.

Mrs. Cornelia T. Jewett will be managing editor of the Union Signal for the present. This is very gratifying to those who know Mrs. Jewett and recognize her splendid ability.

En route to Cincinnati our Indiana party contained a number of the State officers and women from some other States. When the supper hour came we sang the Indiana song and our Illinois sisters sang their State song.

The trip to Hillsboro on Monday was greatly enjoyed by hundreds of White Ribboners and their friends, who were welcomed by Mother Thompson in the historic Hillsboro crusade church. This was Mother Thompson day, and five hundred delegates and hundreds of other friends from other points traveled sixty one miles to pay a tribute of love and honor to one of the heroines of the Crusade. The first event of the day was the service at the Presbyterian Church, which was built on one of the historic sites of the Crusade. Mother Thompson sat in the Frances Willard Chair. So great was the crowd that an overflow rally was held at the Methodist Church, where addresses were made by Miss Belle Kearney, of Mississippi, one of the National lectures, and Olive Christian Malvery, of India. At the Presbyterian Church the pastor, Rev. H. N. Faulconer, introduced Rev. W. C. McSurely, who was the pastor of the church at the time of the Crusade. He opened the meeting with prayer, and read the Crusade Psalm. Rev. Mr. Faulconer made a few remarks welcoming the ladies to Hillsboro. Short addresses were also made by Dr. McSurely, Miss Gordon, Vice President of the national organization; Mrs. Cox, Mrs. Frances Beauchamp, of Lexington, Ky., and by a daughter of Neal Dow, the famous temperance evangelist. Miss Malvery recited a poem that captured the large audience. After the services at the church the delegates visited the Crusade memorial room and examined the relics contained therein, and then formed in line and marched to the home of "Mother" Thompson, where they were received by her. All of the delegates were permitted to shake her hand, and to each she spoke some pleasant words of greeting.

MRS. CULLA J. VAYHINGER, Moore's Hill.
The newly-elected President of the Indiana W. C. T. U.

Mother Thompson was presented with an immense bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums, and the Cleveland ladies presented her with a Japanese silk shawl. In a short address, which Mother Thompson then made, she implored the workers "to remember Lot's wife, and never turn back." Several thousand people came from near-by towns and from the country, "Mother" Thompson, in spite of her advanced years and frail physical condition, bore the excitement incident to the occasion remarkably well.

Indiana was the first State delegation to wear badges bearing the name of the State. Now it seems to be quite the fashion. This year the Nebraska badge was of white satin ribbon with letters in gilt. The Indiana badges this year had on one end the first verse of the State song.

Mrs. Helen M. Stoddard, President of the Texas W. C. T. U., came for several years as the one representative of the "Lone Star State," but not so any more. For several years past she has had an increasingly large delegation. This year she had as fine women as ever represented a State. They wore white ribbon badges with a star on one end and the word Texas in black letters.

New York State has 25,000 paid members in the W. C. T. U., and has decided to make the number 28,000 by the next national convention. It will then have one White Ribboner for every one of its 28,000 open saloons.

"White Ribbon Remedies" are not manufactured, sold or indorsed by the W. C. T. U.

The Indiana delegation sent a large bouquet of white roses to Miss Coggsall the night she spoke in the contest.

A framed picture of Frances E. Willard is to be the gift of the convention to the Public Library of Cincinnati.

Miss Eva Foster, the talented daughter of Bishop R. S. Foster, is Press Reporter for the National W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Frances W. Graham, the National Music Director, who won the hearts of the National years ago by her beautiful voice and sweet manners, has been elected President of the New York State W. C. T. U., to succeed Mrs. Ella A. Boole, who has been called to another field of Christian work.

The following telegram was ordered sent by Mrs. Margaret Dye Ellis to President Roosevelt and Secretary Hitchcock on behalf of Indian Territory: "In behalf of the Indian Territory we appeal to you for a continuance of the prohibition law according to the treaty of 1897 and the act of Congress of 1898, and agreement with the five civilized tribes negotiated within the last five years, and in view of which we most earnestly urge their plea for separate statehood."

The Little Princess from India, Miss Olive Christian Malvery, speaks English faultlessly, and her flow of language and word picturings are wonderful and most poetical. Miss Malvery testified for Christianity by saying: "But I'm glad to be a Christian. Not all the philosophies of the East and the poetical literatures are half so satisfying. They turn into insignificance when I contemplate Christ and such noble works as are carried forward by the Christian women of this land."

A larger number of W. C. T. U. Institutes were held during the past year than ever before.

The canteen question elicited great interest. The Bartholdt bill was dissected and a vigorous campaign will be pushed against it. A telegram was sent to President Roosevelt to that effect, and urging him to support the present law.

Dr. Elliott, a deaconess from Salt Lake City, told how the Mormons have sent out 2000 missionaries into various states of the Union. She said that having any Mormon representatives at Washington would stand for the debasement of humanity and would work toward the breaking up of American homes.

Number of unions having this year taken up the work among lumbermen, 750; number of men employed in lumber camps, over 1,000,000; number of meetings held for the department, 600; bibles given out, 300; boxes of literature distributed, 1,500,000; reading rooms in towns or cities near camps, 251; circulating libraries, 10.

Many Department reports were given. Mrs. Helen L. Bullock—Purity work—announced that 3,000 towns and cities now have curfew laws. Mrs. Emilie D. Martin—Purity in Art and Literature—distributed 270,000 pages of free literature during the year. Mrs. E. B. Ingalls—Anti-Narcotics—urged the prohibition of opium in the Philippines, and declared that the use of drugs was startlingly growing, largely through physicians' prescriptions.

Miss Marie C. Brehm, President of Illinois W. C. T. U., delivered an effective address, on Sunday evening, illustrating her statistics by bright colored ribbons. The scarlet colored ribbon, 10 feet long, represented $1,200,000,000, the annual expenditure of the American people for intoxicating liquors. Different colored ribbons representing $700,000,000 spent annually for tobacco; $370,000,000 for bread stuffs; $175,000,000 for educational purposes; $10,000,000 for Home and Foreign Missions; less than $1,000,000 spent annually for all work done by the Good Templars, Sons of Temperance, the W. C. T. U. and the Prohibition party. Only $200,000 being expended for the W. C. T. U. with its 40 departments and extensive work in every state and territory.

EDUCATIONAL.

Our Oratorical Department is a great source of power in educating public sentiment.

The Medal contest offers much to the individual boy or girl. It gives opportunity for memory development, for experience in public speaking that is greatly appreciated by the ambitious youth.

If the age of the contestants was put at fifteen or sixteen years and older, we would find more young men and young women working for medals.

Where little children hold medals, the High School, Academic and College young people look upon it as "Children's Work," and decline to enter the contests. In Indiana let us raise the age and seek to enlist our young people who understand the meaning of the speeches used and who wield an influence now and are also among the class who will soon be citizens.

To hold contests among these older boys and girls is more difficult, but it means much in the ultimate outcome of our cause.

NATIONAL CONVENTION NOTES.

The resolutions, as adopted by the National convention, were as follows:

Recognizing to-day, as in the Crusade days, the divine call to the women of America to unite in organized and consecrated endeavor to free our fair country from the tyranny of the legalized liquor traffic, and relying in the Crusade spirit on the divine source of all good for strength and courage and patience in responding to this call, we, the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union, in thirtieth annual convention assembled, reaffirm our belief in and loyalty to the following fundamental principles:

1. Since our work is one of formation as well as reformation, we stand firmly for total abstinence for the individual.

2. Believing that the liquor traffic is morally wrong, and therefore can never be made legally right, we oppose all forms of regulation and again pledge ourselves to endeavor to secure such legislation as shall result in complete prohibition.

3. We stand for an equal code of morals for men and women and emphatically condemn every system for the regulation of vice. We rejoice in the closing of the grounds of the St. Louis Fair on Sundays, and other efforts that are being made to purify the city. That we memorialize the Mayor and the city council of St. Louis to make special effort to enforce the law against houses used for immoral purposes during the Fair.

4. As a matter of justice we believe that all the women of the United States should vote on equal terms with men, as in Wyoming, Colorado, Idaho and Utah.

5. We believe that polygamy is both taught and practiced in the United States, and that there is abundant proof to substantiate the claim that Utah has broken faith with the United States in this matter. We therefore ask the Fifty-eighth Congress to provide for an amendment to the Constitution of the United States forever prohibiting polygamy. We also believe that an apostle of the Mormon hierarchy cannot be a loyal citizen of this republic because of his vows to another organization separate and distinct from the United States of America and subordinate to it, but claiming superiority over it. We therefore ask that Mr. Reed Smoot be excluded from the United States Senate on the ground that his highest allegiance is given to a government other than that of the United States; therefore,

Resolved, That we believe this to be a civil question which should not be obscured by religious or ecclesiastical claims;

That we authorize our President and Secretary to memorialize Congress for an anti-polygamy amendment to the Constitution of the United States, in furtherance of which we urge educational methods in every state, as looking toward the confirmation of this congressional act.

6. Then followed a resolution favoring the Hepburn interstate liquor act, in which the convention pledged its efforts to secure the passage of that bill.

7. WHEREAS, At the request of the Chinese government, an article has been incorporated in the American-Chinese treaty which prohibits the importation into China of opium and of instruments employed in its use; therefore,

Resolved, That we memorialize the Congress of the United States to also prohibit the importation of opium into the Philippine Islands.

THE WHITE RIBBON VANGUARD.

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 14.—The annual convention of the National W. C. T. U., now in session here, is the anniversary campfire of the Church's vanguard, that bivouacs to-day, with evangelism combined with forty departments of applied Christianity, where the church will camp to-morrow. It is a long-coming to-morrow, for the main army has been content for thirty years to stay in its luxurious barracks far in the rear, singing to this their skirmish line, "Hold the fort, for I am coming."

No other convention of the year, whether civil or religious, takes such advanced ground. Why do not other Christian bodies learn from it how to develop together the two hemispheres of religion, love to God, and love to man, righting man's relation to God, and righting man's relation to man, personal salvation through the cross of Christ and social salvation by his crown; that is, by his law? No theological seminary teaches full orb'd Christianity so faithfully. The spiritual tone of the W. C. T. U. is as high as that of a holiness camp meeting, but unlike the holiness camp meeting that last year refused to petition against opium monopoly in the Philippines, lest it should turn aside the spiritual tide.

The W. C. T. U. combines Pentecost with a book of Acts. It does not rationalize away the gospel of Moses, Isaiah and Christ, as found in the 4th of Luke, as allegory of personal conversion only, but it means what it says, that "the Spirit of the Lord" in men is to eventuate in social justice by which every year shall be a jubilee year and so an "acceptable year" of righteousness expressed in the land. The W. C. T. U. is a union home missionary society, recognizing what women's denominational missionary societies have just begun to recognize, by uniting to fight Mormonism, that intelligent missionary work, in the words of the Salvation Army, must seek not only to change the man but also to change the surroundings. If it be a wise use of missionary effort and money to weed Utah of its polygamy that Christianity may be planted with a chance to grow, is it not also the duty of the church to include in its home missionary equally direct and official and persistent work to weed out Sabbath breaking, intemperance, impurity and gambling?

No church court from which women are excluded have I ever seen do its business at once so devoutly and in such perfection of parliamentary promptness as the conventions of the National W. C. T. U., and there are few conventions that bring together such a group of disciplined, independent thinkers and ready debaters. With it all, they are not masculine, but womanly, with the spirit of motherhood in every hour. The student in the Cincinnati Y. M. C. A., who has put on its blackboard pictures of coarse women, with hatchets, marching on the saloons of Cincinnati, was far astray in his caricature. If there must be a choice of evils I would honor more the mother and wife and sister, who, denied the ballot, attacked the saloons that had wrecked their homes as they would a burglar, than the mothers who would not even wear a white ribbon in protest against saloon piracies; but the white ribboners have learned in these thirty years that it is better to crusade in halls of legislation, where saloons are authorized, since prevention is better than cure. They have learned the lesson taught them roughly thirty years ago in one of the low dives, where they kneeled in the sawdust to pray, where the bartender exclaimed: "What are you doing here where we punch their tickets for hell the last time? Why don't you stop them up town before they get on the train?"

The white ribboners now know that the most sensible and effective place to work is among the children not yet on the train. The Loyal Legion is the best of all young people's societies, because with as much piety as any, it has what they all lack, systematic study of practical Christianity in all its forms. In the Loyal legion, boys as well as girls are trained. Why not let all such boys as they become men become active members of the W. C. T. U., and so make it in all respects what the church should be?

State, as well as church, might profitably copy this convention. No President would dare to put as much statesmanship into his annual message as did Mrs. L. M. N. Stevens.

The Supreme Court has declared, and the Republican national convention also, that morals are the "chief concern of government." Truly history proclaims that nations have not died of currency or conquest, but of moral cancer. If we confine the word laws to those enactments that bear the Gladstonian text "The purpose of law is to make it as hard as possible to do wrong and as easy as possible to do right," the W. C. T. U. is the greatest law-making body in the world. The International Reform Bureau has drawn more national laws, but the mail box petition vote that carries them is developed mainly by the W. C. T. U., and in state and local legislation there are few moral measures which they did not begin or end.

And yet only one per cent of the Christian women of our churches are enrolled. I have often said, in congregations where the white ribbon could be seen only on the breast of one or two, and they the lowliest in social station, "This one per cent of organized mother love and mother wit and mother courage is doing more to secure good laws for the protection of our homes and children than all the unorganized ninety-nine per cent." Especially should all women intelligently devoted to missions join the W. C. T. U., because the suppression of the liquor traffic and of impurity, gambling and Sabbath-breaking is essential to the success alike of city, home and foreign missions.

God bless the white ribboners, and may their tribe increase.—Wilbur F. Crafts in the New Voice.

PROTEST OF W. C. T. U. TO COMMITTEE OF FIFTY.

November 16, 1903.

The National Woman's Christian Temperance Union Convention in session in Cincinnati, this morning unanimously passed by rising vote the following protest against the attacks of the "Committee of Fifty" upon the present compulsory teaching of temperance physiology in the public schools of the country:

WHEREAS, Certain self-appointed persons under the name of "The Committee of Fifty for the investigation of the Liquor Problem," have made and circulated in one of their publications, and in press reviews of same, unwarranted accusations against the legislation which requires the study of temperance physiology by the pupils of every public school in the United States; against the school literature on this subject, and against the results of this study; and

WHEREAS, These unwarranted accusations are made with the avowed purpose of removing this study, as now required, from the public school system of our country; and

WHEREAS, We believe that such removal would be a national calamity; Therefore,

Be it Resolved, That the attention of the public is called to the following facts:

First. It is apparent that in seeking opinions upon which they based their objections to this study, the "Committee of Fifty" misrepresented the amount of time required for this subject, making it appear that two hundred and fifty hours are required in the study of alcohol, while in fact, only three hundred and thirty lessons (the equivalent of about 140 hours) distributed through nine years, is the maximum requirement for the whole study of physiology and hygiene, not more than one-fourth of which is ever required to be given to the subject of alcoholic drinks and all other narcotics.

Second. The Committee of Fifty charges that the laws restrict teachers as to the methods to be used in teaching this subject. This again is a misrepresentation. The most specific laws simply require that the subject shall be taught all pupils in all public schools; that teachers shall have adequate preparation and that teachers and pupils shall have the same helps, including well graded books, as in other required regular branches. The teachers are left absolutely unrestricted as to how they shall present the subject, just as in other branches.

Third. The Committee's main points of criticism of the school literature on this subject are, that it teaches that alcohol is not a food but a poison, and that it teaches total abstinence. An examination of the 800 pages of the report of the Committee shows that the Committee presents no evidence to prove that alcohol is a food in the sense in which this word is commonly understood. They claim that alcohol is a food because it is oxidized in the body and can furnish energy, but the conclusion that this proves it to be a food is contradicted by such physiologists as Professors Abel of Johns Hopkins, Von Voit of Munich, and Kuhne of Heidelberg Universities, who point out in this very report of the Committee of Fifty that mere oxidation does not prove a substance to be a food. Other recognized poisons are oxidized in the body, yet are never called foods.

Fourth. The public was led to expect that the teachings of the indorsed school physiologies were to be tested by the experiments conducted under the auspices of the Committee of Fifty, but instead, they are compared, for instance, with the conclusion of Dr. Fothergill, an opinion written twenty-three years ago, which Dr. Fothergill left when he died fifteen years ago.

Fifth. The Committee of Fifty's recommendation that this instruction should be confined to the upper grades would be to postpone it until after cigarette and other bad habits, in many cases, have been formed and would deprive great numbers who have to go to work before they reach the upper school grades of any warning in instruction on this subject. Such a policy would be a cruel discrimination against the children of the poor and suicidal for a government of the people.

Sixth. Careful review of the experimental work of the Committee of Fifty shows that they have not proved that the beverage use of alcohol in amounts ordinarily termed moderate is safe. Professor Weber and others have shown that whether or not one is susceptible to alcohol cannot be told until it is too late. "He finds out only by playing a game of chance with his life, which is a dangerous experiment."

Seventh. The Committee of Fifty in looking for results of this instruction turn to old, so-called evidence, gathered from five to thirteen years ago, to sustain their claim that there are practically no good results. In doing so, they ignore the evidence presented by the last census, that during the preceding ten years, when the study of physiology and hygiene had become quite universal, the average length of life in the United States increased by 4 1-10 years, due in part, physicians say, to the better knowledge of hygienic and sanitary laws, imparted in the public schools.

It is admitted in our own and other lands that the teaching in our public schools that alcohol injures working ability has contributed to the greater sobriety of the American workman and his consequent increased productive ability, which is one factor in giving to our nation the commercial supremacy it now enjoys.

If the Committee of Fifty had examined the internal Revenue Reports before publishing their report last June, they would have found that in the last eleven years during which temperance education became quite general, the per capita gain in the use of alcoholic beverages was only one third as great as in the preceding eleven years, when the study was just being introduced. That there was any increase was undoubtedly due largely to the more than 400,000

THE MESSAGE—Supplement.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., DECEMBER, 1903.

EXTRACTS FROM NATIONAL PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

Several years before Frances E. Willard went to the Homeland she said, "In crusade days the sky of hope lay low above us, now its arch is boundless. Then custom's pinched lips declared, 'thus far and no farther' and we rebelled but yet obeyed; now nothing can restrain our ardent footsteps, save the loving,

MRS. LILLIAN M. N. STEVENS,
President National W. C. T. U.

'thus far and no farther' of God. Then we were raw recruits, now we are soldiers drilled and disciplined; then we crusaded in saloons, but now in halls of legislation; then we thought only of cure, now we are occupied with prevention; then we wept, now we rejoice. Then we said, 'God be pitiful,' now we say 'God be praised!' Then we called ourselves a National union, now we are National in every deed."

All this so beautifully expressed is true this morning as we come together from the east and the west, the north and the south, a National union in deed and in fact. Yet we were never more than at this hour deeply reminded of the blessed beginnings and gratefully and reverently do we recall the crusade leaders of those early days: Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. McNeil, Mrs. Carpenter, Mother Stewart, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. McCabe, and many others, some of whom we are to have with us during this convention.

We recall also that in this city and in this church in May, 1874, four months after the crusade fire was kindled in Hillsboro, was held a great crusade convention, the story of which has lately been given us by Mrs. Mary Bynon Reese, who was one of the "delegates" although it was a mass convention at which were present, with a large number of women, many distinguished men, among them Dr. William Hunter, editor of the Pittsburg Christian Advocate. He was the author of the Battle Hymn of the Crusade, beginning with the prophetic words:

"The light of truth is breaking.
On the mountain top it gleams;
Let it flash along the valleys,
Let it glitter on the streams,
Till all the land awakens
In the light of golden dreams—
Our God is marching on."

We recall also that six months later the organizing convention of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union was held in Ohio at Cleveland and that a second National W. C. T. U. convention was held in this city the same year. It is indeed fitting that at the end of the third decade we should come to Ohio, not so much to review what God has wrought during these thirty years, as to make plans for the further advancement of the cause of righteousness, for the redemption of the people from the people's greatest curse—the liquor traffic and its associate evils.

WORLD'S W. C. T. U.

The National W. C. T. U. of the United States whose beginnings were here, had existed nine years before Miss Willard proposed the organization of the World's W. C. T. U., and it has been but twelve years since her desire and plan took form in organization. The most notable event in the W. C. T. U. annals of 1903 is the holding of the world's sixth biennial convention at Geneva, Switzerland, in June. England had the largest representation in that convention and the United States came next. It was regretted by all that Lady Henry Somerset, because of ill health, could not be present, but she was enthusiastically continued as President. At the closing hour of the last evening, after sixty remarkable speeches in many different languages by sixty remarkable women from every section of the globe, there was a scene that demonstrated the harmony of our work, notwithstanding the diversity of languages. At an opportune moment the Britishers burst out into singing their national anthem, which was quickly followed by "My Country 'tis of Thee"; then, much to our surprise, the Swiss people who filled the magnificent Music Hall from floor to upper gallery, followed with their anthem to the same melody.

Before leaving the Swiss republic, which is like our own in some respects, we organized a Swiss W. C. T. U. (this making 59 nations in the W. C. T. U. federation) and at the present time our beloved comrade, Miss Christine Tinling, of England, is in Switzerland, assisting the president, Mademoiselle Rilliet, in building up the organization. We are glad that so many of the official reports of the World's W. C. T. U. convention are in circulation in this country, as the record therein gives a story of progress and achievement.

ANTI-ALCOHOL CONGRESS.

It was appropriate that during the presentation of the president's address at the Geneva convention the leader of the woman's temperance work in Germany should occupy the chair. The thought of the temperance world has of late been turned to Germany on account of the famous International Anti-Alcohol Congress held in Bremen last spring and about which we expect, during this convention, to hear from our superintendent of scientific temperance instruction, as she was an honored guest and speaker at the great meeting.

Of the many strong anti-alcohol speeches of leading doctors and scientists none is more hopefully significant of an intelligent awakening concerning the evil of liquor drinking than the speech of Dr. Delbrück, who gave some striking information concerning the injurious effects of beer drinking in Germany. He said at an inebriate asylum in the north of Germany out of 149 patients 41 had been sent there through drinking spirituous liquor, 30 through wine drinking, 78, or more than one-half, through injurious effects of beer drinking; and he stated that it was impossible to convey by statistics the extent of the misery caused by beer alcoholism. The Health Office of Germany has prepared a mass of material showing the injurious effects of alcohol, which is being circulated for the good of the Germans.

FRANCE AROUSED.

When in France a few months ago we saw the placards that were posted there by governmental order. This document was signed by experts who are competent to judge of the dangers of alcohol, the president of the Medical Faculty of Paris, the Chairman of the Institute of France and the medical director of the Hospital l'Hotel Dieu of Paris. This document declares that:

"Alcoholism is the chronic poisoning resulting from the constant use of alcohol, even if this does not produce drunkenness.

"It is an error to say that alcohol is a necessity to the man who has to do hard work, or that it restores strength. The artificial stimulation which it produces soon gives away to exhaustion and nervous depression. Alcohol is good for nobody, but works harm to everybody.

"Alcoholism produces the most varied and fatal diseases of the stomach and liver, paralysis, dropsy and madness. It is one of the most frequent causes of tuberculosis.

"Lastly, it aggravates and enhances all acute diseases—typhus, pneumonia, erysipelas. These diseases only attack a sober man in a mild degree, while they quickly do away with the man who drinks alcohol.

"The sins of the parents against the laws of health visit their offspring. If the children survive the first months of their lives, they are threatened with imbecility, epilepsy, or death carries them away a little later by such diseases as meningitis or consumption.

"Alcoholism is one of the most terrible plagues to the individual health, the existence of the home and the prosperity of the nation."

Scientists, educators, philanthropists, clergymen, did not object to this, but the liquor traffic, ever alert to protect its financial interests, was enraged and brought suit against the government for damages.

OTHER COUNTRIES.

In every civilized country the temperance question is receiving more or less attention. In Russia every town has its temperance committee extending into every country district, and every village has its temperance protector with special committees for prisons and for schools.

The influence of the W. C. T. U. is acknowledged throughout the world. The other day I clipped the following from a popular journal: "The W. C. T. U. is a strong organization in Iceland and has thoroughly instilled into the native Icelanders the benefits of abstaining from all intoxicating liquors. The first modern saloon established in Reikjavik met with a spirited opposition. Temperance people, including the ministers, organized a picket brigade and stood guard around the place, urging all who approached not to enter. It is needless to say that the saloon keepers' business could not go on. The outlook for the rum traffic in Iceland is not encouraging."

I could multiply illustrations and dwell upon the magnificent achievements of the W. C. T. U. in every land, but I need not do so in this presence. I cannot refrain, however, from alluding to the emphatic declaration in Canada in favor of prohibition, which sentiment may be resisted for a time, but which must before long take tangible legal shape.

We realize that in England the "rowing against the tide" is exceedingly hard, but the temperance people are rowing as never before.

If a fruit tree is shaken the bad fruit falls first, so when there is a great controversy we are likely to hear first and most of the bad things. It is refreshing sometimes to first take notice of the good. Even in England there are some encouraging features in connection with the temperance reform. Steps are being taken, with good prospects of success, to induce parliament to abolish barmaids, 80,000 of whom are employed in the British Isles. A few years ago such a movement was considered inexpedient, but to-day it is considered expedient because it is right.

The proprietor of the London News not long ago decided to exclude from the columns of that paper all betting advertisements. There was a protest to the effect that it was inconsistent to exclude betting advertisements and admit those concerning liquor, whereupon decision was made to exclude liquor advertisements also. We are reliably informed that what threatened to be a heavy loss has proved instead to be a great gain and that the names of subscribers for the London News poured in at the rate of a thousand a day. In view of such advance as this in a London daily, is it too much to hope that the journalism of our country may be purified and that questionable advertising which is now so current may be banished?

Recently 10,000 people assembled in Royal Albert Hall, London, to protest against further inroads of the liquor traffic. Among the protestants were Earls and Countesses, Bishops and Lord Mayors, Lords and Ladies, Physicians and Clergymen and members of Parliament in large numbers, and they all seemed to enjoy the sentiment. "While we cannot make people sober by act of parliament we can make parliament sober by act of the country."

WHAT OF OUR OWN COUNTRY?

Since in former years I have made a retrospective analysis to show our gains, I will at this time confine myself to the story of the past year only. Naturally enough there comes first to our minds the overthrow of the prohibitory law in Vermont and New Hampshire. This disaster came about by a combination of political trickery, the unstinted work of the liquor fraternity of the country, and the deceived and bewildered condition of some of the voters of these states. In a jubilant editorial in Bonfort's Wine and Spirit circular it is said, "Be it remembered that the Protective Bureau of the National Wholesale Liquor Dealers' Association had much, very much, to do with the work which did away with prohibition in Vermont and New Hampshire." This same editorial quotes from the report of the manager of the Bureau, figures to show that during the year the Bureau sent out "two million five hundred and fifteen thousand pieces of literature," more than one-half of which were mailed directly to voters in separately addressed envelopes. The report shows that one of the pamphlets circulated by the liquor Bureau is "The Theory of Prohibition by Rev. Sanford H. Cobb in the Princeton Review." It is a blighting shame that any one professing to be a minister of the gospel of our Lord and Savior should formulate a "theory" which could be used by the liquor interests of the country to promote its diabolical trade. But let me say in this connection that very few clergymen are thus distinguished. They are few in number who preach against total abstinence or prohibition, or who advocate the Sunday saloon or any saloon.

Referring again to Vermont and New Hampshire, we have good reason to believe that if a vote could be taken now or any other time after three months' trial of license it would result in the re-enactment of the Prohibitory law. It should be borne in mind that if the vote of one city alone could have been eliminated the state of Vermont would have had a larger vote for prohibition than was given against it. In this same city of Burlington there were in May, 1903, 65 arrests for drunkenness; during the same month the year before there were 19 arrests. In New Hampshire the number of arrests for drunkenness is increasingly large and the alms houses have an increased number of inmates. The temporary defeat in these two states need not have a depressing effect if we look away to the victories in other states, for in every section of our country temperance victories have been won.

I will speak of comparatively few of them. "Texas Prohibition—Testimony from Reliable Sources" indicates that the Lone Star state is fast getting ready to enact a state prohibitory law, and the same is true of several other states. Tennessee deserves heartiest congratulations upon the defeat of the dispensary bill, which the temperance people declared would put far off the day of state prohibition. The principle and law of prohibition was never more manifest in Kansas than at the present time. Where there is a failure on the part of officials to enforce the law there is a great tendency in favor of changing such officials instead of changing the law.

The effort made in North Dakota last winter to resubmit the prohibitory law was overwhelmingly defeated and we are furnished through a leading judge of that state with a mass of testimony which goes to prove that prohibition has greatly benefited the state both financially and morally.

And what of Maine which has had prohibition longer than any other state? Maine, the birthplace of Neal Dow and his home for more than ninety years; the birthplace and home of Congressman Littlefield who drew up the second anti-canteen bill, and drew it so skillfully that no Attorney General or any other General can fire through or destroy it; the birthplace and summer home of Ex-Secretary John D. Long, to whom we are largely indebted for the abolition of alcoholic drinks in the United States Navy; the state on which the attention of the liquor fraternity of the nation is now concentrated with a determination to destroy its prohibitory law.

Last March, after the great Legislative campaign, the bill to resubmit with a view to repeal the prohibitory law was defeated by a vote in the legislature of 115 to 54. About this time the Outlook stated editorially that a large proportion of the clergy of Maine desired a change from statutory prohibition to high license and local option. A careful investigation as to the truth of this statement revealed the fact that only three Maine ministers of the Congregational Church were known to be against prohibition, and only one minister of the Universalist Church; while all of the ministers of the Methodist, Baptist, Free Baptist, Adventist, The Christian, Friends and Presbyterian Churches were found to be solidly for prohibition and against resubmission. Moreover, all of the church conferences of Maine which have met this year, including the Congregationalists, have passed resolutions in accord with this belief, of which the following adopted by the Baptists a few weeks ago is a sample:

"This Convention has put itself on record repeatedly as being unalterably opposed to the saloon and repeatedly affirmed its belief that the true method of dealing with the saloon was not one of regulation, but extermination.

"We believe there is no present demand by the law-abiding citizens of the state for the resubmission of the prohibitory law, and a demand that originates with the lawless should meet with prompt and emphatic refusal. While we are confident that resubmission would result in a triumphant re-endorsement of the Prohibitory law, still we strongly disapprove of inviting a political campaign in which the ballot would inevitably be exposed to the infamous influences so familiar to the saloon."

Other good people in Maine and other good organizations are like minded with the clergy and the church. Less than a month ago in connection with the session of the Supreme Judicial Court, where several violators of the prohibitory law were sentenced to jail, a public meeting was held, called the court temperance meeting. The speakers were lawyers and ministers and all spoke pointedly against resubmission. Notwithstanding all these encouragements there is no doubt but that during the next year there is to be in Maine the hardest battle between the forces of evil and the forces of righteousness that has been witnessed in the history of the temperance reform, but I do not hesitate to prophesy that the righteous side will win.

Perhaps I have spoken too much along State lines, but since our nation is composed of States, each of which has an important relation to the other, I may be pardoned. From a strictly National standpoint we are able to speak of some victories of the year. No more encouraging or meaningful words have been uttered during the year than these from Carroll D. Wright: "The economic aspects involved in the treatment of the temperance question are having an influence which is spreading everywhere, and which is comprehended in industrial establishment and by government. The simple idea that a man with a clear brain is a better employe than the one with a muddled brain is carrying the question forward to success, and the sooner men learn that in order to secure employment at all they must approach their service with minds unclouded, the better for humanity. Religion teaches that the temple of God must not be defiled. Economic consideration now allies itself with religion, and insists that the welfare of the community demands that this temple of God shall remain undefiled."

Other students of economics and statistics are also giving valuable testimony, among whom I may mention Dr. Gould, Special Commissioner of the United States Department of Labor. All this testimony proving that aside from the moral aspect, self-interest and self-protection are now rallying to witness against the use of alcoholic beverages. The prohibition of the sale of intoxicants in the United States immigrant stations; the prohibition of the sale by Americans of strong drink and opium in the Pacific Islands, which have no civilized government; the sale of intoxicants in the United States immigrant stations; the prohibition of the sale of alcoholic beverages in the capital building at Washington, may all be recorded as victories.

I may also mention the appointment of women inspectors of immigration, about which, with all its modifications, our superintendent of legislation and petitions, Mrs. Margaret Dye Ellis, will report during this convention.

Among the measures which did not succeed in the last congress and for whose success I earnestly recommend continuance of effort, are the Inter-State liquor bill; the bill to forbid liquor selling in government buildings and the anti-polygamy amendment.

ANTI-POLYGAMY.

In accordance with a vote of our last national convention the W. C. T. U. has been faithfully at work making sentiment through the circulation of literature and many public addresses in favor of an anti-polygamy amendment to the constitution of the United States. In order to secure the submission of the constitutional amendment there must be an affirmative vote of two-thirds of both houses of congress, and to make it effective it must be ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the states. Inasmuch as we are to have at this convention addresses by those who are well equipped to speak upon this question I need not do so at this time.

A generous gift of $1,000 from one of our national superintendents, Mrs. Emilie D. Martin, to be used in anti-polygamy work, has enabled the National W. C. T. U. to do much that otherwise would have been impossible. We must all regard with profound admiration the energetic and capable work along this line of the Inter-Denominational Council of Women.

The W. C. T. U. is to-day, and if true to its heritage will ever be, arrayed against all forms of impurity and legalized vice. We painfully recognize that there are some evils that cannot be annihilated in this day and generation, but we evermore declare that these evils, if they exist, shall do so in opposition to law rather than by sanction of law. The record of the attempt made two years ago by the Mayor of Minneapolis to introduce a system of regulated vice should be a warning to others not to try to do likewise. The best element of the American people will always, if need be, unite in a protest as loud and as long as that which resulted in the issuance of the Order from the War Department, with instructions concerning its carrying out, which practically abolished the system of legalized or licensed vice which had existed for a time in the far away Philippines.

THE WORLD IS GROWING BETTER.

In the report of Dr. Arthur McDonald, the government expert in criminology, the reference to the increase in crime taken by itself would be depressing; but the report also indicates that the increase of crime according to statistics is not necessarily a proof that the world is growing worse. Carroll D. Wright, in a recent address speaking upon this point, said: "The difficulty is that we do not stop to distinguish what is crime-to-day and what was crime forty or fifty years ago; nor do we stop to consider the question as to the more perfect statistics of to-day brought into comparison with the very imperfect and crude statistics of half a century ago. The statistics comprehend not only the persistent crimes but those crimes which have been established by legislative enactment, and increasingly so during the last few years. If we look beneath the figures we shall find that the crimes that have remained persistently so under the criminal code during the last fifty years have not only not increased, but have relatively decreased. This is the true test.

"One illustration is sufficient. In the criminal statistics of fifty years ago crimes relative to liquor selling did not appear; to-day they constitute a large proportion of such statistics. In one of our commonwealths where there had been varied experience under the liquor laws, it is found that, while during a period of twenty years the total sentences for all crimes increased 70 per cent, and for crimes not including drunkenness and liquor offenses only 20 per cent, the sentences for drunkenness and other liquor offenses increased nearly 160 per cent as against an increase of over 50 per cent in the population."

Advancing civilization enlarges the sphere of individual life and liberty, but society has to defend itself by an increasing number of prohibitory laws.

The persuasiveness of the Beatitudes is a holy and mighty force in Christendom, but the "Thou shalt not" of the Decalogue will be required to some extent until the millennial day.

Notwithstanding the great spectacle of sin and misery which is ever visible to those who seek the world's amelioration there is manifold testimony that the religion of Christ is making its way. One indication of this is the multiplication of organizations and institutions for the purpose of caring and providing for the unfortunate, the defective and the dependent classes in the best possible manner, and the growing tendency to help those who are honestly needy and poor to help themselves without suggesting to them that they are dependents is a still stronger manifestation of the love which is always kind. The increasing interest in the Child Labor Problem, the establishing of Juvenile Courts, the organized work for the newsboys are all indications that the spirit of Him who blessed the children is flowing out through human instrumentalities to defend the weak and bless the innocent.

The divine element of equality and justice must and will enter more and more into the solution of the labor question. It is this element which has led to the organization of labor unions; it is the same element which further developed is destined to bring about a mutual recognition on the part of the employed and the employer of the rights of each and all.

THE COMMITTEE OF FIFTY.

The report of the physiological aspects of the liquor problem by the self-appointed Committee of Fifty has perhaps attracted enough attention to warrant a passing notice by us. A large part of volume one of this report deals with physiological instruction and gives due credit (or discredits according to their view) to the W. C. T. U. in securing legislation requiring temperance instruction in the public schools of the land. The conclusions of the committee as to the dangers of alcohol and the manner of teaching the same are not in accord with facts and knowledge carefully acquired by the W. C. T. U. through painstaking research and practical application, supported by the vote of intelligent legislators all over our country and by a public sentiment which does care for the right education for the young upon a question so vitally connected with their future well being. I trust there will go out from this convention a declaration of our strengthened belief in the wisdom of temperance instruction in the public schools, such instruction to be based on scientific and ethical truth.

The report of Professor Atwater's famous experiments occupies a large place in the second volume. This volume closes with a report from Dr. Welch on the pathological effects of alcohol, demonstrating that "alcohol in sufficient quantities is a poison to all living organism, both animal and vegetable." The sufficiency of quantity needed to kill and how to choose the victims may well be the subject of the next report of this famous Committee.

IS LIQUOR DRINKING AMONG WOMEN ON THE INCREASE?

The question, "Is liquor drinking among women increasing?" is hard to answer. We surely hear more about drinking women than formerly, perhaps from the fact that the drinking habit attracts more attention than it did in the days when nearly everyone used liquor in one form or another.

Speaking of intemperance among women and that much of it comes through the use of alcohol in medicine, Sir Thomas Barlow, physician to the King of England, is reported to have said: "The only remedy for the evil is total abstinence, half and half measures are useless; we must banish alcohol entirely."

It is not my purpose to even preface the report of our National superintendent of the department of non-alcoholic medication, but among the helpful documents bearing on the question of alcohol as a medicine I wish to make special mention of a paper written by Dr. Max Kassowitz, Professor in the University of Vienna and translated by our gifted comrade, Mrs. J. H. W. Stuckenberg. His final statement, after a careful, conservative analysis, is that "for the animal and human organism alcohol is not both a food and a poison, but only a poison."

The most pitiful dipsomaniac I have ever known is a woman, and she acquired the appetite by first taking alcohol as a medicine. Quite recently my attention was called to an inebriate who had occupied a good position in life and who had never tasted alcohol until he took it in the form of one of the many patent medicines which to-day flood our market, crowd our newspaper advertising and harm more than help humanity. The amount of alcohol that many patent medicines contain varies from 5 per cent to 41 per cent. This fact alone should be sufficient to lead all total abstainers to decide that they cannot use patent medicines themselves nor advertise their use for others.

WOMAN'S ADVANCEMENT.

Since "nothing can arrest the progress of a true principle on its way to the heart of intelligent people" it would be strange if we could not declare, as we can, that the question of the equality of woman "under the Gospel and under the Law," is gaining new ground and new adherents. There is a continually increasing number of women who feel concerned in regard to the legislation that affects all the people, whether or not all realize this to be so.

There is a proportionately large number of men who acknowledge the justice of the equality of the sexes of all of those matters which pertain to the interests dear to women's hearts, those interests which are connected with the home, the church, the school, the state and the nation.

As temperance women, we desire the right of franchise because we believe we could, thus armed, deal more effectually with the liquor problem, and the fact that the liquor element is always opposed to woman's suffrage furnishes ample proof that we are right in our belief. Those who think that women should have equal opportunity with men in the medical field have reason to rejoice as little by little the barriers built up by custom, prejudice and superstition are being swept away. Those who believe in woman's equality in the church may rejoice as one woman after another is being elected as a delegate to the general conference of the Methodist church, with no possibility of her being turned away because she is a woman. Those who believe in the equality of women in governmental affairs may well rejoice as they read the statements of fair-minded men living in those communities and states where the ballot, with all of its responsibility, has been granted to women. These are but a few of the encouraging prophecies of that better time toward which Christian civilization is leading.

MACEDONIA.

Our cause is linked with all other great reforms, and we are interested in every endeavor that is made to overcome "man's inhumanity to man."

We all remember how seven years ago the Woman's Christian Temperance Union rallied to the help of the persecuted, perishing Armenians. It is indeed terrible that the heart rending scenes of those days are now being re-enacted. The Turk is again using his diabolical power to crush out, in the cruellest ways, those whose greatest crime is that they are Christians. For the eighth time within a hundred years the awful wail comes forth telling of the massacre, the outrage, the torture of Christians by the Turks. Humanity loving people should everywhere unite and their verdict should be, the power of Turkey must be broken.

American women have appealed to the Queens of Christendom to use their influence in staying these shocking atrocities and in bringing to pass such legislative action, such public sentiment, as shall compel the Sultan to stay his hand. On behalf of the W. C. T. U. I placed my name to this appeal. Lady Henry Somerset is not physically able to do for the Macedonian sufferers what, with Miss Willard, she did for the Armenians at Marseilles; but the weight of her great influence, her facile pen and persuasive voice, are freely given for the awakening of England to its immense responsibility and an endeavor to deepen in the hearts of all good men and women a desire to help blot out for all time the terrible Turkish atrocities.

PEACE.

The National W. C. T. U. must be in hearty accord with the movement made by the American Peace Society for a stated International Congress to meet once in every five or seven years to deliberate upon matters of common interest to the nations and make recommendations to the governments. The board of directors have in mind the possibility that such an international body would in a few decades enable the nations to determine clearly whether it would be expedient for them to go further and to develop the organization into a World congress with legislative power. The list of the International Congress and Conferences of the last twenty years contains so much that is suggestive, I here append it:

1884. The Berlin West African Congress, which set up the Congo Free State.

1885. International Prime Meridian Conference at Washington, invited by the United States and attended by representatives from twenty-six nations.

1889. The Marine Conference of Washington.

1889. The first Pan-American Conference at Washington.

1890. The Brussels Anti-Slavery Conference.

1892. International Sanitary Conference at Venice, the protocol drawn by which was signed by the delegates of fifteen nations.

1893. International Sanitary Conference at Dresden, in which nineteen nations were represented.

1896. The Universal Postal Congress, held at Washington and attended by representatives from every nation on the globe.

1899. The Hague Peace Conference, which provided for the organization of the Permanent International Court of Arbitration.

1901. The Brussels Sugar Congress, which provided for the abolition of sugar bounties.

1901. The Second Pan-American Conference, held at Mexico City.

It cannot be justly said that I have in this address encroached upon the domain of the National superintendents, although it is very hard for me not to do so and to do it in relation to each and all of the departments, for in them all we have a hearty interest. A considerable part of the time of the convention is devoted to the presentation of the work by the National superintendents, who are specialists, able to edify and instruct. We deeply appreciate their steadfast, self-sacrificing work. We can say the same of the organizers, lecturers and evangelists. Their faithful work, often amid perplexities and discouragements, can never fully be described in earthly language.

The State and Territorial presidents will have an opportunity in this convention to speak for themselves and eleven of them will have a chance to speak twice, for eleven states have made a gain, above all losses, of more than 500 members. The fortunate presidents of these fortunate states are to appear on jubilee night, a larger number than ever before came up to a National Convention able to report such a gain.

APPRECIATION.

On one day of this convention the visiting members and their friends go to Hillsboro, there to walk the streets of the town in which the Crusaders walked thirty years ago, to hold services in the new Presbyterian Church which took the place of the Crusade Church and which has connected with it the Crusade memorial room; to visit the home of Mrs. Thompson, leader of the Hillsboro Crusade band, listen to her voice and the voices of some of her associates of those remarkable days. I wish that we might also greet Mrs. Carpenter and the other heroines of Washington Court House and Mother McNeil in her New York home, who still cherishes as deep an interest in the W. C. T. U. as when she led the first local union which bore the name that we now love so well and which name is known throughout Christendom. In the opening hours of this convention let us send to them a message of grateful remembrance and loving appreciation.

NATIONAL HEADQUARTERS

It has been proven that the establishment, five years ago, of National W. C. T. U. Headquarters at Evanston has been promotive of W. C. T. U. interests. Evanston is known in the educational world as the seat of Northwestern University, in the business world as the abiding place of many of Chicago's leading financiers and business men, in the social world as one of the most attractive cities in the country and in the world at large as the home of Frances E. Willard; and to her old home the people come. Sometimes a former pupil or schoolmate, sometimes a tourist who never saw her but now wishes to see Rest Cottage, sometimes large delegations from institutions and conventions, sometimes the friend from across the seas; and those of the White Ribbon sisterhood come daily. In connection with their visit to this home with all its sacred memories, they visit the other side of the house—the eight office rooms which constitute the National W. C. T. U. headquarters.

With less crowding than we have been accustomed to in former years, accommodations for the official paper and the Crusader Monthly force can also be provided for, and thus more than ever before our paper will seem to its readers like "a letter from home."

THE MEMORIAL FUND.

No philanthropist or reformer ever exemplified greater genius for organization than did Frances E. Willard in her efforts and achievements for the W. C. T. U.; and the perpetuation and extension of the work of this society is her most appropriate memorial. For five years many local unions of the country have been making an annual offering for this purpose, and through these gifts, which constitute the Memorial fund, much has been accomplished that without the fund would have been impossible. It is earnestly hoped that local unions will continue to make this offering and that an increased number of grateful friends will add their contributions. I have sometimes wondered if it might not be a better plan to have this offering made more directly individual by giving the opportunity to each member of the local union to contribute; but no plan should be approved which would tend to decrease the number of commemorative meetings on or near February 17th. These meetings should be faithfully held in order to keep fresh in the minds of the people—especially the young people—the story of the life of Frances E. Willard with all of its resplendent beauty, its heroic self-sacrifice, its noble incentives to holy endeavor and glorious achievement. I therefore most heartily recommend that there be increased effort to secure the holding of such meetings by every local union and also vigorous action to increase the amount of the Memorial fund.

IN MEMORIAM.

"We think that home is Heaven,
But we learn that Heaven is Home."

One by one are gathering Home those to whom we are united by the close bonds of friendship, kinship and comradeship. We cannot call by name all of ours who have passed on during the year; those brave souls who were the life and inspiration in the local, county, district and state unions. Tenderly and gratefully have they been spoken of in the memorial services held for them.

We place here, according to our usual custom, the names of those closely related to the National W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Dorothy J. Cleveland, President Oklahoma W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Alice Gordon Gullick, President Spain W. C. T. U.

Mr. William Platt, husband of the president of Washington W. C. T. U.

Prof. J. H. W. Stuckenberg, husband of the National superintendent of the department of Temperance and Labor.

Mr. Almon Dickinson, father of Mrs. Helen B. Harford, President Oregon W. C. T. U.

Bishop Randolph S. Foster, father of Miss Eva K. Foster, National W. C. T. U. Press Reporter.

Mrs. Emily J. Berry, mother-in-law of Mrs. Frances Beauchamp.

Mrs. S. A. Gifford, former president Massachusetts W. C. T. U.

The Oklahoma W. C. T. U. is sorely bereft through their earthly loss of the devoted, capable leader. Friends in Oklahoma have written us of the uplifting influence of her life; they have told us of the smile of triumphant hope with which she passed within "valley and the shadow." Her comrades say that from the Heavenly heights she seems to beckon them on to labor even more diligently. Her husband has sent a message to us that because she so ardently loved the W. C. T. U. he will do what he can to carry out her wishes for the work in Oklahoma. We shall not forget her strong words, her winsome manner, her loyalty to the W. C. T. U., expressed in so many ways.

At the last convention of the World's W. C. T. U. the three Gordon sisters, Alice, Elizabeth and Anna, stood together for a moment upon the platform. It was expected that Mrs. Gullick would give an address during the convention, but those who knew her well felt an inexpressible sadness as they saw her, and they prayed that the health she sought among the Swiss hills might come to her. No woman connected with the Woman's Board of Foreign Missions ever did a greater or nobler work than Mrs. Gullick. The International Institute for girls in Spain is her monument. At the present time 3,000 children in Spain are being taught by former pupils of the International Institute founded and directed by Mrs. Gullick. Some who are here to-day will recall Mrs. Gullick as she participated in the World's convention in Toronto; as she told us of the W. C. T. U. in Spain of which she was the president and introduced a member of the College W. C. T. U., a bright Spanish girl, who surprised us by showing so much knowledge concerning W. C. T. U. affairs. Mrs. Gullick was a great educator, a devoted Christian worker. Among the many eulogies that have been spoken and written by her grateful and admiring friends none have so deeply touched my heart as this line from one of her Spanish pupils, "It is not death to live in thousands of hearts; Mrs. Gullick is immortal."

FORWARD.

A few days ago we received a letter from Miss Anna Downey, National W. C. T. U. Evangelist; the line that lies between this life and the next was for her fast fading away. She seemed to see only one life, which was the Heavenly. She expressed her belief in the W. C. T. U. and her perfect confidence in the ultimate triumph of our cause; and these are the "wonderful words of life" she quoted for us: "Fear not, little flock" "More than conquerors." Christ-given words that ought ever to inspire Christian reformers; may they inspire us this morning, and deepen in our hearts that faith which will enable us to triumph over our fears; that hope which is founded on the belief of the all-conquering power of Christ; that love which is divinity itself. And so, beloved comrades, may we go forward with an ever brightening, ever heightening purpose to courageously help toward ushering in that better day for humanity, when the mists caused by intemperance and impurity shall be cleared away through the bright shining of God's glory.

RED-LETTER DAY FOR PEACE.

The third Sabbath in December will be our Red Letter Day for Peace. Let each local Union make an effort to secure its observance by requesting pastors and evangelists to preach sermons in the interests of Peace and Arbitration, or by holding a public meeting in the interests of this reform. Programs for such meetings and literature for distribution can be obtained at cost from the office of the National Peace Department at Winthrop Center, Me. (Send two cent stamp for sample copy of program.)

Although there are "wars and rumors of wars" upon the earth there is a steadily growing sentiment among thinking people in favor of settling differences among nations by arbitration. It is surely high time to relegate the cruelty and barbarism of warfare to the past. Let all White Ribboners take an active part now, more than ever before, in promulgating peace principles among the young as well as older people, and hasten the time so long ago foretold by prophets and sung by angels, when peace and good will and the Golden Rule shall be known and practiced everywhere. Do not forget December 20th, our "Red Letter Day," which so properly just precedes the Christmastide.

HANNAH J. BAILEY,
Supt. National W. C. T. U. Dpt. Peace and Arbitration.

A PRO-LIQUOR VIEW.

The following letter from the editor of the Texas Liquor Dealer explains itself, and gives the true situation of the liquor situation as viewed from a liquor editor's standpoint:

OFFICE OF TEXAS LIQUOR DEALER,
122 E. CROCKETT STREET,

SAN ANTONIO, TEX., Aug. 3, 1903.

L. G. Adams, Esq., Springfield, Mo.

DEAR SIR—I have your esteemed favor of the 20th ult. The L. D. was correctly quoted. Conditions in Texas may differ from those in Missouri. Texas has become a hot-bed of Prohibition fanaticism. The Democratic party is overwhelmingly in power, controlling every department of the government. Our "local option law," a Democratic measure, is a most nefarious act. The prohibs. are better equipped than the antis can ever expect to be in the education line; they have the pulpits, the preachers, women, Sunday schools and the press. The politicians are afraid of the prohibs. The leading religious papers take the ground that it is a religious and moral question and not a political one—that is their strongest card. Local option prohibition has already captured two-thirds of the State. Had the saloon men organized, as I advocated, eight years ago, the Democratic party would have been compelled to guard the cause of personal liberty.

The Republican party in Texas has openly declared against Prohibition. While in the minority, it still holds a check upon the Democrats. Prohibition has become a burning political issue; it can't be kept down much longer. Any question that must be settled at the ballot box is a political question. The Prohibition party occupies about the third place in the national fight. In Texas we are presented with the spectacle of mobs of women at the voting places, the "W. C. T. U." In almost all communities there are negro voters. In some counties, recently voting Prohibition, the negroes outnumbered the whites, and these women have no hesitancy in electioneering with negro voters. I am a Republican of the "Lily White" variety. I am a Southern man, a resident of Texas for over sixty years, and I can see no other way to stop this disgraceful business but to force it into party politics. I hold the Democratic party responsible for the condition of affairs in Texas. It may be different in your State. The very plan you approve of has been the one operated upon in Texas; we have lost out badly. In Vermont the question was forced into party politics, it split the Republican party, but it won out after fifty years of namby-pamby business. In New Hampshire, also, it was forced into politics and won.

Allow me to thank you for your kind letter.

Headquarters for Temperance Literature.

Room 915, the Silversmiths Building, 131-137 Wabash avenue, Chicago, Ill., in charge of Miss Addie A. Austin and Miss Ruby T. Gilbert. Send to these young women for supplies of leaflets, pictures, badges and other W. C. T. U. supplies. All orders will receive prompt attention. Miss Austin has attended a number of our Indiana State Conventions as a representative of the W. T. P. A., having in charge the literature table at our conventions. Many of us know and love her.

LIQUOR MEN NEED MONEY—A "WAR TAX" PLAN ADOPTED BY NATIONAL CONVENTION—TO GO INTO FORCE JAN. 1.

Truth, the well-known liquor trade champion of Detroit, Mich., describes at length the new stamp act "war tax" which the recent convention at Pittsburg adopted as the best means whereby to raise a $100,000 fund to fight Prohibition and defend the trade's interests. What Truth says is of vital interest. It is as follows:

"The plan is simply this: For the retailer to demand of the wholesaler that he place on each package sold to him a label issued by the National Retail Liquor Dealers' Association, and which will be sold to the wholesale trade at the rate of one cent for every case of whisky or domestic wine, two cents for every barrel of liquor and three cents for every half barrel.

"The money derived from the sale of these labels to go into a general defense fund for the protection of the trade at any and all points where it may be attacked.

"As we said before, the plan is a feasible one, and will rest entirely with the retailer whether it will be a successful way to raise a defense fund for the entire trade, for whatever is of benefit to the retailer must of necessity be a benefit to the wholesaler as well.

"The plan is in its infancy, and is still crude; it will not be put in force until January 1 next, and the committee having the plan in hand will undoubtedly smooth down any objectionable features that may present themselves.

"It is expected that this plan will realize at least one hundred thousand dollars a year, which will be used solely for the defense of the wholesale and retail liquor trade when attacked by temperance fanatics."

THE USELESSNESS OF THE SALOON.

The proof which any business must give of its right to live is that a legitimate demand by the people for what it produces has brought it into existence and contributed to its growth. The business that cannot bring this proof is either wasting the people's substance or is a natural enemy to their best interest. To put it in a shorter way, an industry has a right to the respect and protection of the law only when a need has created it. Not mere demand, but need, must create supply. When we bring the liquor traffic before this judgment bar it stands condemned.

First, take the milling business. The need of the people for cheaper and better breadstuffs has built the flour mills of the country. This need in turn has created a demand for a greater number of mills to grind the wheat. Suppose that every flour mill in the United States should burn down to-day. A cry would go up all over the land. Flour mills would spring up again as by magic. Why? Because bread is a necessity and wheat must be ground. In this case the need has created the business. This gives the mill the right to stand as a friend to man.

Again, take the shoe industry. We must have shoes. Every winter would bring intense suffering, and even death, to thousands, if people were compelled to go with naked feet. Burn down every shoe factory and millions of bleeding feet would cry out in mute appeal for protection. The shoe man, then, has built his factory to meet a real need, and so he has a natural and legitimate place in society.

Further, consider the mining of coal. The frantic cry of a half-frozen people as a result of the anthracite coal strike is proof enough that coal is a necessity.

Burn out every shaft and flood every mine and thousands of factories and homes would dig into the earth in a night. Why? Because fuel is a necessity. In this case, also, it was a need that digged the coal mine. This stands the test and must remain to bless mankind. And God's power is abroad to make strong the arm and true the heart of the man who digs and strikes and blasts at the peril of his life for the comfort and happiness of his brother.

Can the traffic in liquor prove its right to live by this argument? Let us see. It is plain that this business exists and expands, not by meeting a need, but by creating an abortive, unnatural craving for that which brings only mildew and death. Need had no place here. It was the cold metallic fist of calculating greed that built the distillery and the brewery, and only when life is distorted and prostrated can it enlarge itself. It reverses the order of legitimate barter and trade. It lives and grows fat, not upon merit, but by bribery. It feeds only the raving of a hellish mania. The people live not by or through it, but in spite of it. Raze every brewery and distillery to the ground and what would be the result? No real need or comfort or opportunity would be taken from the people. On the other hand, comforts and opportunity and power and happiness would be multiplied a thousand fold. The liquor traffic is not an industry, but a criminal. It has not one natural right—not one.

Could this prayer of ours for the extermination of the saloon but be a fact—a reality—what a day it would be!

The whole country would feel the change and new hope would be born in a day. Laws would be more easily enforced. Sober, reasonable men would work out the problem of capital and labor. Life would be prolonged and the church would go forward with strides of power.

It is possible to drive the liquor traffic to its last trench and end its life, and that within ten years. When it is once put down and three generations have lived down its hereditary influence, it can never be resurrected. When that day comes, and come it will, many other problems will have been solved by the universal sweep of conscience that caused its overthrow.

HOW ALCOHOL KILLS.

Mr. Nelson, the most distinguished of English actuaries, after long and careful investigations and comparisons, ascertained by actual experiences the following astounding facts:

Between the ages of fifteen and twenty, where ten total abstainers die, eighteen moderate drinkers die.

Between the ages of twenty and thirty, where ten total abstainers die, thirty-one moderate drinkers die.

Between the ages of thirty and forty, where ten total abstainers die, forty moderate drinkers die.

Or, expressing the fact in another form, he says:

A total abstainer twenty years old has the chance of living forty-four years longer, or until sixty-four years old.

A moderate drinker has the chance of living fifteen and one-half years longer, or until thirty-five and one-half years old.

A total abstainer thirty years old has the chance of living thirty-six and one-half years longer, or until sixty-six and one-half years old.

A moderate drinker thirty years old has the chance of living thirteen and one-half years longer, or until forty-three and three-fourths years old.

A total abstainer forty years old has the chance of living twenty-eight and one-fourth years longer, or until sixty-eight and one-half years old.

A moderate drinker forty years old has a chance of living eleven and two-thirds years longer, or until fifty-one and one-half years old.—Exchange.

HADLEY SCHOOL.

The new Board of Control for Hadley Industrial School is willing to sacrifice, to plan and to economize, but we need the support and help of every Indiana W. C. T. U. Our present financial condition is as follows: Five cents in bank and a little over $250 due now for work, hardware, etc. The girls all healthy and happy and doing good work in school.

MATTIE E. H. CHANDLER.

I promised you a history of our W. C. T. U. city missionary work. We found that there were so many people sick, sorrowing, distressed and poor that need to be ministered unto, that we wished and wished for a deaconess, but none came. Then we sighed for a city missionary and visiting nurse, for we busy housekeepers could not always "drop everything" and go.

A young lady who had some experience in hospitals, but who was hardly strong enough to take the training for a professional nurse, heard of our wants and made us an offer. Now she belongs to us. We pay her a salary. She conducts the L. T. L. meetings, visits the sick, spends an hour in bathing a patient, helping to re-arrange the bed, directing the preparation of food or doing what her hands find to do. She goes to the sorrowing, bereaved or shut-in, reads and prays, carries flowers, leaflets, magazines and delicacies. Needy cases are relieved or reported to proper authorities. Any one may notify her of need for her services, but where calls conflict, a committee of members of the union decide her duties. If she has time to spend a day or two with those who are able to pay a nurse, but cannot secure one, the money thus earned comes direct to the W. C. T. U., but we do not take such cases if anyone else can be secured. So far no money has been drawn from our treasury for her salary. Donations have been liberal for this special work and a number of people are contributing regularly 25, 50, 75 cents or $1 per month. I heartily recommend this work to all white ribboners, for she assisted in four departments: Flower Mission, Evangelistic, Literature and L. T. L. All her work in the first three is reported to the proper department superintendent.

As I am a native Hoosier, I send greetings to my sisters of the W. C. T. U. From my old home county—Dearborn—we have lately gained two staunch white ribboners, Mrs. Reiboldt and Miss Edith Shockley, late of Moores Hill, now with Ashland College.

LAFAYETTE UNION IS WORKING.

The W. C. T. U., united with two other organizations, are giving the Civic Lecture Course in West LaFayette. The Union has already sold more than enough tickets to pay their share for the course. The Menckley Quartette, first number of the course, was thoroughly enjoyed by all present on October 31. A number of the W. C. T. U. ladies met, with their husbands, at the Alliance Meeting, November 4th. Prof. Alford gave the evening's address, "The Liquor Question in Foreign Lands." The talk was very interesting, for Prof. Alford had made a careful study of the problem during his past summer travels. Prof. Greene afterwards gave a number of pointed facts and practical suggestions. The regular monthly meeting of W. C. T. U. was with Mrs. Snyder, November 6, and the report for the State Convention was heard by a large number of ladies. They expressed themselves as pleased with the good work that had been done, and are ready to begin the new year with renewed vigor. About twenty-two members were added to the roll during the past year, and they decided to hold another contest for gaining new members.

NOTICE.

Miss Alice R. Palmer of Franklin, our State Treasurer, has entire charge of the mailing list for the MESSAGE. If you do not receive your paper promptly, notify her and she will gladly investigate. Send all names of subscribers and all communications concerning the change of addresses to Miss Palmer.

immigrants who came annually during those years, the majority of whom used alcoholic liquors.

The Committee of Fifty, in claiming that there are no results of this instruction, has ignored testimony as to the beneficial results upon individuals, homes and communities, shown by careful canvass of one of our largest states (New York), which testimony was placed in the hands of every member of the Committee of Fifty nearly eight months before the publication of their report.

In conclusion, it should be said that the report of the Committee of Fifty is an unjustifiable attack upon the system of the temperance education that has helped make our nation the admiration of the world, and the charge that the teaching of the indorsed school physiologies is unscientific is unsustained by any evidence they bring forward. While there is much valuable material in the experimental work reported by the Committee, the attacks upon this instruction are unwarranted by the facts and unjustifiable from the standpoint of principle. The defense of moderate drinking made by the Committee of Fifty is subtle and sophistical. As representatives of the mothers of the children in the public schools under this instruction, who know the good it is doing, we utter our solemn and emphatic protest against any attempt to minimize or remove it. We agree with the Committee of Fifty that they will find it no easy task to do so and that in such an effort they will be compelled to reckon with the mothers and best citizens of the nation.

FRANCHISE.

I was so glad to meet so many of you at the convention at Hartford City and wish we might have had more time to talk and that more of you might have been there—but however it be, let us resolve to show the State what we can do. This department, more than any other, should develop women, and I hope I may have many rivals for the state superintendency next year. Let not your enthusiasm gained at these meetings bubble up while at convention and then settle down for the remainder of the year.

I would recommend this coming year:

1. That all county presidents appoint county superintendents of this department—that local presidents do the same, and that these names be sent to me. Will you do this, dear friend?
2. I would recommend that the wearing of the yellow ribbon with the white be urged—nay, insisted upon.
3. That each Union hold at least one franchise meeting a quarter, if at all practicable, using the topics suggested in the National leaflet for paper or discussion, so that we may meet the subject intelligently.
4. That county and local superintendents write to me for instructions.
5. That a diligent use be made of the press for franchise items and articles.
6. That a new and thorough canvass of the State be made preparatory to asking the elective franchise of the State Legislature at its next session.

Some suggested subjects for research:

1. Status of Women in Ancient Times.
2. Status of Women at the Present Time.
3. Women in the Professions.
4. Women in the Commercial World.
5. Women in Philanthropy and Reform.
6. Women and Christianity.
7. Women in the Home.
8. Legal Status of Women.
9. Women in Government.
10. The Proper Education of Women.
11. Why Women Need the Ballot.
12. Why the Ballot Needs Women.

A full set of leaflets on the subject may be secured by addressing the Woman's Journal, 3 Park street, Boston, Mass. Price, ten cents.

Let us keep account of everything we do, so that we may report it. I shall be very glad to hear from any friend regarding this work, that we may make it a great success. Any one desiring to subscribe to the Woman's Journal at $1.50 a year send your name to me.

PEARL RALL, L. L. B.,
State Supt. of Franchise.

"May our young women stand for the same code of morals for men and women, and we want them to create higher ideals of manhood and womanhood; to learn more about themselves and their personal value, that they may be stronger, morally and physically, and friends and companions to nobler, purer lives."

THE PRESS.

Now that the annual Convention, are numbered with the yesterdays, let us not lose any of our zeal or rest on our oars, but with Faith in God and our work let us press on and with renewed energy push the battle to the gates, and God will bless our efforts. Let us urge the County Presidents to see that there is an efficient County Press Superintendent in every County and please, somebody, send me her name, so that I may know to whom to send the blank reports, and let me urge the County Press Superintendent to see to it that there is an efficient, energetic Press Superintendent in each Local Union in your County. I wish I could impress upon your minds the great importance of the Press work. No influence is at present so persuasive as the printers' ink. The press of to day binds us into one great people, molds us into one plan and purpose. Let us educate the people in our work, tell to the world what we are doing and want to do, and by God's help will do. The aim of our Department is two-fold: First, to present to editors and the various press associations the importance of publishing temperance truth, and the progress of the W. C. T. U. as the largest and most representative organization of women in the world. Second, to supply all papers that would use them with suitable articles and paragraphs of this character. Sisters of Indiana, use the Press. Please send me names of Superintendents at an early date.

LAURA G. CAMMACK.

SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

DEAR SUPERINTENDENTS—Greetings to all of you, and success to your efforts for 1904. It gives me pleasure to report to the 151 Superintendents of this department in Indiana that we have gained more victories and made greater advancements in the State this year than in any year since I have served you as State Superintendent.

We not only won the National prize again, but there were distributed and signed more Sabbath Pledges in Indiana this year than in all of the States combined last year. These are encouraging facts, and should inspire us to greater efforts in the future for the success of this department.

To you, dear Superintendents, is given the task of arousing an interest in your respective communities. Please equip yourselves with literature and information, that you may enlist every union, church and young people's society in your county.

KATIE WERT HOLLER,
State Superintendent.

MISS ANNA DOWNEY, Evangelist of the National W. C. T. U., died in Ottawa, Kas., and was brought to Greencastle, this State, for burial.

Miss Downey's early life was spent in Greencastle, where her father was for fifteen years a professor in Asbury, now DePauw University. She became a Christian when quite young, and during her college life she and two other young women had a season of prayer with Mrs. L. O. Robinson, and each there consecrated herself to the service of God. Great indeed to the world has been the result of the work of that hour.

Miss Downey was a graduate of DePauw University and afterwards a teacher in it, which position she resigned to enter the Evangelistic work of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. She was the first woman in the United States to receive the degree of Doctor of Sacred Theology.

A woman of charming personality, fine education, a thorough Biblical scholar, deeply spiritual and a fascinating speaker, Miss Downey was a great power in winning souls for Christ.

A most beautiful and impressive funeral service was held in Locust Street M. E. Church, Dr. H. A. Gobin and Dr. J. P. D. John officiating.

The Kappa Alpha Theta Alumnae Club, of which she was a member, had charge of the arrangements, and the College Chapter attended in a body.

The casket was lavender colored—no black was used.

The floral gifts were magnificent. Upon the casket laid that from the local W. C. T. U. with its long white satin streamers.

Liquor Selling is prohibited in the following States by counties and towns:

- Alabama, fifty out of sixty-six counties.
- Arkansas, fifty out of seventy-five counties.
- California, 175 towns and cities.
- Colorado, fifty towns and cities.
- Connecticut, seventy-five out of 125 towns.
- Delaware, half the State.
- Florida, thirty out of forty-five counties.
- Georgia, all of the State except four cities.
- Illinois, 650 towns and cities.
- Indiana, 140 towns.
- Iowa, all of the State except twenty-five cities.
- Kentucky, ninety out of 119 counties.
- Louisiana, twenty out of fifty-nine counties.
- Maryland, fifteen out of twenty-four counties.
- Massachusetts, 125 out of 175 towns.
- Michigan, 400 towns and cities.
- Minnesota, 400 towns and cities.
- Mississippi, seventy-one out of seventy-five counties.
- Missouri, eighty-four out of 115 counties.
- Nebraska, 250 towns and cities.
- New Jersey, 200 towns and cities.
- New York, 700 towns and cities.
- Ohio, 500 towns and cities.
- Pennsylvania, 600 towns and cities and twenty counties.
- Rhode Island, twenty towns and cities.
- Tennessee, seventy out of ninety-six counties.
- Texas, 120 out of 246 counties.
- Virginia, fifty-five out of 106 counties.
- West Virginia, forty out of fifty-four counties.
- Washington, fifty towns and cities.
- Wisconsin, 300 towns and cities.
- Maine, Kansas and North Dakota are under State prohibitory law.
- The Carolinas have that infamous dispensary system.

LIFE MEMBERSHIP.

Mrs. Hattie Steckel becomes a life member of the Indiana W. C. T. U. by the payment of twenty-five dollars. How happy we are to welcome this sweet-faced, beautiful character into the ranks of life members.

(Concluded from page 1.)

Dr. Sarah Elliot, of Salt Lake City, then told of the degradation of women through Mormonism as seen in their homes by herself as a physician.

Miss Olive Christian Malvery, of India, spoke in excellent English, of the licensed liquor traffic of America, telling in an eloquent and thrilling manner of what she had seen in England and America, the Christian nations. In her own, her heathen land, she had never seen a drunken man or woman. In a most beautiful and pathetic manner she told how she looked not to the Christian, but to the Christ.

Mrs. Marie C. Brehm, President of Illinois W. C. T. U., was the last speaker. In a forceful and convincing manner she showed the comparative expenditures of this nation for alcoholic liquors, tobacco, churches and schools. It was amazing to know how much our people spend for drink and tobacco, and how little for religious and educational purposes. In closing she made an appeal for help for the National W. C. T. U.

Thus closed one of the most enthusiastic, interesting services of the Convention. The sympathy and co-operation of the Pastor, Dr. Blodgett, who stands with us for Prohibition, added much to the great success of the meeting.

GRAND DIAMOND MEDAL CONTEST.

On Saturday evening of the Convention, for the first time in the history of our Oratorical Contest Department, was held a Grand Diamond Medal Contest. Only those holding diamond medals were eligible. There were eight contestants: Miss Ina Coggeshall, Indiana; Mrs. Clara Balch, Kentucky; Miss Jean Boyd Starr, Mass.; Miss Daisy B. Kistler, Ohio; Earl Palma Daniel, Illinois; Clifton Fowler, Missouri; James P. Hughes, Michigan; Arthur Manuel, Minnesota.

Never has there been so great ability in a contest. The judges had an arduous task. Mr. Arthur Manuel, of Minnesota, was the winner of the medal. The great number of Indiana people present were very proud of Miss Ina Coggeshall, who is an orator of marked ability. She speaks with ease, grace and forcefulness most unusual in one so young.

STATE JUBILEE NIGHT

was greatly enjoyed by an immense audience. Eleven states had made a net gain of over five hundred regular members who had paid dues this year. In seven minutes each the Presidents of these states told of the greatest victories for temperance in their states during the year.

When some of the Presidents of states stopped speaking the delegation would arise and sing a verse of their State song. This was inspiring and much enjoyed by the convention, especially when Pennsylvania, with forty-one delegates and New York with over fifty delegates, sang enthusiastically of their victories.

The strong legislative work done in most of these states is surprising to those of us who live in rum cursed Indiana.

The following states made a net gain of five hundred or over: Virginia, Tennessee, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, New York, Ohio, Michigan, Missouri, California (Southern), Texas, and Washington (East.)

PLATFORM NIGHT

on Tuesday evening was of great interest on account of the prominent speakers, who were: Mrs. Mary H. Hunt, National Superintendent of Scientific Temperance Instruction; Miss Olive Christian Malvery, India, and Miss Belle Kearney of Mississippi.

LETTER FROM OUR STATE PRESIDENT

DEAR SISTERS—The State and National Conventions of 1903 are now matters of history. We have had our Harvest Home of the old year, and are entering on the work of a new one. If our coming together has made us stronger in the principles of our organization, brought us nearer Christ and made us more determined to "be strong and be of good courage," it has not been in vain. I trust that every Indiana woman will remember our call for this year—1,000 new members, 10,000 pledge signers, 650 medal contests—and each one work that this may be accomplished. The success of the year's work depends largely upon the local unions.

The National Woman's Christian Union has purchased the Union Signal, so now it belongs to us, which it has never done before. It will be printed weekly, in Evanston, and sent out from our own headquarters, Rest Cottage. The subscription price is one dollar per year, with no club or reduced rates of any kind. Our subscription list in Indiana is only six hundred and fifty-three. Let's add one thousand new subscribers for this year. We can do it if each Union will work for it. The Crusader, monthly, is ours, too, under the same conditions as the Union Signal. The price is 25c per year. Our children need this paper, so let's raise our subscription list for it to one thousand.

I hope each woman will get a copy of the Annual Report. Let each Superintendent of a department write the State Superintendent of that department for her plan of work, and begin work at once. The first quarter is about gone. Do not be idle. If the principles of the W. C. T. U. are right, they are worth working for. Place yourself upon the altar for service, and God will consecrate and sanctify the gift and send you out to do valiant work for him.

Yours for service,

CULLA J. VAYHINGER,
State President.

ANTI-NARCOTIC PLAN OF WORK.

I have good news for the Superintendents of this Department. Judge Stubbs of the Indianapolis Juvenile Court, has found that most of the unfortunate children brought before him are victims of the cigarette habit, and has decided that the habit has much to do with the increase in crime among children. Monthly meetings are to be held, that the matter may be discussed in all its phases; plans formulated for the enforcement of the law now in existence; if this law is not strong enough, a stronger one is to be presented to the next Legislature. I have been promised that an effort will be made to place the Placard with the tobacco law in the Indianapolis Public Schools. Much literature for distribution is to be published; in short, every effort is to be made to stamp this vice out of existence in Indianapolis. Now, dear sisters, can we afford to let this movement remain an Indianapolis local affair? or will you help to make this State a good place for boys? This is my plan of work for the coming year. Ask the editors of your daily or weekly papers to print the Indiana Tobacco Law; also something about the effect of tobacco on growing children; cut the article from the paper, paste it upon a petition paper, this paper to be sent to city officials, asking that the tobacco law be enforced. Procure the signature of every woman in your town, if possible. Ask your ministers, teachers, and all your women's clubs to co-operate with you. The sentiment must be strong if you wish success. Place copies of the laws in every school house, and all public buildings, distribute literature among the boys, have a pledge signing campaign; you will be surprised with the help given you by the girls and boys in securing signatures to these pledges. Organize Anti-Cigarette Leagues everywhere. You will find the League work helpful to boys who find the bad habit hard to overcome. Allow no boy in your city to contract this habit in ignorance of the effect it will have on his mind and body; hold Anti-Cigarette contests. If you have no Superintendent of this Department secure one at once, but remember, this is not one woman's work. The alarming increase of this vile habit, and its degenerating effect upon our children makes it a part of each department of W. C. T. U. work. I have confidence in your interest in this work and in your ability to help. Do not disappoint me.

ELIZABETH SMITH.

The National Liquor Dealers' Association has made a bold advance in hiring Senator Thurston, a brilliant orator and astute lawyer, as its Washington agent. He will be heard in committees of Congress as no agent of the liquor traffic has ever been before. He will send out abler editorials in defense of drink than newspapers ever before published. Let temperance men meet this move by endowing a lecturer equally eloquent and sending him out with no dependence on collections to speak everywhere his fearless words to such great crowds as greet him in his own Rochester. I refer to Mr. C. N. Howard, the Reform Bureau's "Platform Advocate Against the Saloon." The Bureau being non-partisan will get abundant hearings for him if the financial part is provided for, and all who know Mr. Howard and the Bureau know the message will be an uncompromising call to fight the saloon with votes as well as prayers. Every dollar contributed for this purpose will go to this work. At present Mr. Howard, as a business man, can give only spare hours to addresses for which remunerative opportunities are abundant. But he should be called to give up business entirely and speak every day to mass meetings, colleges, conventions. His address, "The National Problem," is one of the greatest temperance addresses I ever heard and should be heard not only where it is wanted, but still more where it is needed.—New Voice.

WILBUR F. CRAFTS,

Superintendent of the International Reform Bureau, Washington, D. C.

FIELD NOTES.

Swayzee, Grant County, is ready for a Premium lecture on account of a gain of ten last quarter.

Mrs. Elizabeth Houghton has been in Dearborn County at the expense of the State, doing excellent work among the new Unions.

The Presidents of Dearborn and Grant Counties are each entitled to a prize of $2.00 for organizing a Union of ten members.

Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley had secured twenty-three new members in four weeks after the close of the State Convention. O, that all of our workers could report as many!

Officers of the Edwardsport Union elected September 9: President, Mrs. Julia Hoover; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. A. E. Lee; Treasurer, Mrs. Flora S. Bartlett.

The Frankfort Union sold eight hundred copies of the Cook Books they compiled, and the calls for more were so urgent they are having five hundred more printed. They solicited advertisements to pay for the printing.

Morgan County Officers: President, Mrs. Lucy Walls, Martinsville; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Sophia Toner, Martinsville; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Malinda Rinker, Brooklyn; Treasurer, Mrs. Rhoda Wilhite, Monrovia.

St. Joseph County Convention was held in the First Baptist Church, South Bend. Excellent reports of the year's work were given and short talks by the Presidents of local Unions showed the work to be in excellent condition. A fine address on Sabbath Observance was given by Mrs. Kathryn Wert Holler, followed by the election of officers as follows: President, Mrs. C. Fassnacht; Vice-President, Mrs. Sharpless; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Weld; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Locke; Treasurer, Mrs. Barnard.

The Sunday School Department of the Guilford Union carried out a little program at the Guilford M. E. Sunday School on World's Temperance Sunday. In place of general exercises after the recitation of the lesson the following was given with good effect: Recitation, Miss Florence Smith; song by four little children; Recitation, ten-year-old Ruth Kroft; Solo by Mrs. Ella Kroft, the pastor's wife, and also our newly elected County President. Signatures were secured to the S. S. pledge and the anti-cigarette pledge.

Moores Hill Union held a double medal contest the evening of November 19th. The medal for oratory was won by Miss Ruth Edmonds. The one for singing was won by Miss Lottie Shultz, both of Moores Hill. The one boy on the contest, Clayton Mulford, deserves especial mention for the excellent delivery of his oration. It was his first appearance and we expect some day to see him wearing all the medals. Moores Hill expects to do her share in holding 650 contests in the state this year.

Lapel Union has recently revived and has elected the following officers: President, Mrs. W. H. Hopkins; Treasurer, Mrs. Mary S. Wright; Recording and Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Edith V. Cascadden. Mrs. Hopkins is well known to many of the W. C. T. U. workers, having at one time been President of the Kokomo Union.

Farmers' Union of Wabash County is holding public meetings once a month on Sunday afternoon. The second one held was November 8th at the Friends' Church, three miles southwest of Wabash. The report of the State Convention was given by Mrs. Cooper. The President, Mrs. Unger, read a report of the Liquor Dealers' Convention held recently. Rev. Lewis, pastor of the Friends' Church, then addressed the meeting. He is a firm friend of the W. C. T. U. and very helpful to the cause. The L. T. L.'s help to make these meetings interesting with songs and recitations. We believe great good may be accomplished by this method. Mrs. Cooper, Secretary.

Regular bi-weekly meeting of the Sycamore W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. Francis Gentry, Thursday, November 12. The subject for discussion was: Thanksgiving Day, and how shall we spend it? Led by Mrs. Della Allen and Franley Gentry. The Union decided that the best way for its members to spend Thanksgiving was to help others to be thankful. Plans were formulated to further this end Mrs. Lizzie Windsor was the guest of honor, as she is to leave for California in a short time. A delicious lunch was served. The favors were crystallized paper tulips, to which an appropriate Scripture text was fastened with a white ribbon. Sycamore W. C. T. U. has in its membership seven young ladies who say that they do not want a Y. branch, as they can work to a better advantage with the older women.

Frankfort Union held an old fashioned "Spelling Shule" in Willard Hall, November 20th. A splendid program of music and an original poem by Mrs. M. B. Thrasher. Recitations by Mrs. Emma Scryer furnished an entertainment alone that was well worth the ten cents admittance. The High School Octette was invited and rendered several selections which was highly appreciated, as was shown by the hearty applause given them. Rev. Ogden, pastor of the M. E. Church, pronounced the words for us, using McGuffie's Speller. In the spell down Prof. Mitchell, Principal of the High School, won the honors. We served rosy apples at recess. A large crowd of young people were present. Invitations were sent to all the teachers and their scholars in the public schools. A neat sum was realized for our treasury, and good seed sown for our cause.

Noble County W. C. T. U. convention was held at LaOtto.

Mrs. Mollie Gorrell welcomed the visiting delegates in behalf of the LaOtto W. C. T. U. Mrs. Etta Holferty, of Avilla, responded.

In the absence of the State worker, Rev. W. W. Clay, of Albion, kindly consented to present the subject, The Tobacco Problem. "Unity of Church and Temperance" was presented by Rev. E. Guthrie, of LaOtto, followed by Rev. W. E. Holopeter, of Avilla. Miss Maud Gorrell, of LaOtto, spoke on the subject, "The Company That Young Girls Should Keep."

The convention closed with an L. T. L. Oratorical Contest. It was conducted by the County President, Mrs. Nora Nowells. Mrs. W. C. Mummert, of Wawaka, sang two very fine solos.

Miss Rowena Fitch was awarded the silver medal.

Lake County held a successful convention in Hammond. The usual routine business was transacted. Mrs. Ada Lynch, of Lowell, read a fine paper on "Pointers;" the Y's had one hour of the program and received many compliments for the way in which they filled it; pastors of several of the churches were present with words of cheer and greeting; there was nice music and in the evening Miss Louise Hollister, of Evanston, gave a telling address on "The Flag and the Patriot." Miss Hollister is a choice speaker, and at the close of her address several new names were added to the membership roll of both the W's and the Y's. The following officers and superintendents will serve for the year: President, Mrs. E. H. Mudge, Hammond; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Edith Miller, Hammond; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Ada Lynch, Lowell; Treasurer, Mrs. Sarah Clark, Lowell; Superintendents—Evangelistic, Mrs. Ruth Williams, Hammond; Jail and prison, Mrs. Elizabeth Bruge, Crown Point; Literature, Mrs. E. C. Harrison, Lowell; Non-Alcoholic Medication, Mrs. Dr. Jackson, Hammond; Flower Mission, Mrs. J. P. Merrill, Crown Point; L. T. L. and Sunday School work, Mrs. Sarah Clark, Lowell; Press, Mrs. E. H. Mudge, Hammond.

At Lapel, W. H. Boles, the well known temperance orator, is conducting a series of gospel temperance meetings under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. The various churches where the meetings are held are crowded nightly, many being turned away. The meetings are enthusiastic ones, people of all parties and creeds applauding. Of course Mr. Boles makes hits in all directions, but his words carry weight, and the crowds continue to come.

Mrs. Elma Thayer Tribbley writes: "Knowing of your personal acquaintance with our dear friend, Mrs. Jennie Erwin, and of the many readers of THE MESSAGE who knew and loved her, I write to tell you of her going away from us to a better land. Dear Aunt Jennie went to rest October 22d, after many weeks of great suffering. She was so patient and brave, and so ready to trust all to God who has been so much to her. She left loving, hopeful messages to all W. C. T. U. friends. Her life was a life of noble deeds and her mind a store house of rich thoughts. We of Marshall County shall miss her more than words can tell. May her mantle fall on some one capable of carrying on her life work."

Mrs. Fanny J. Clary has again been nominated for the Massachusetts Legislature by the Prohibitionists of the First Hampshire representative district. She is so popular in the district that last year she raised the Prohibition vote from about 75 to 500, and defeated one of the Democratic candidates. Her supporters claim that, while the State Constitution debars women from voting, it does not bar them from being members of the Legislature. It is desired to make a test case. Mrs. Clary has written a very good letter of acceptance. There is no doubt that she would make a better member of the Legislature than some men who have served in that august body.

Frances Willard Union held its October meeting at the home of Mrs. Victor, 1502 North Missouri street, Indianapolis. Dr. Vest, pastor of Hall Place Church, also Dr. Henderson of the Fourth Christian Church, gave short but enthusiastic and encouraging addresses. Mr. and Miss Victor sang a beautiful duet, which, for its touching words, as well as the sweet voices of the singers—brought tears to the eyes of the listeners. There were other interesting features, after which our hostess served a most dainty lunch. The newly elected officers are: Mrs. Estelle Bennett, President; Mrs. Scott, Vice President; Mrs. Mary Schadd, Treasurer; Mrs. Zetta Bennett Keffer, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. Dotia Dougherty, Recording Secretary.

Huntington County Union held their County Convention with the members of the Warren Union October 1st and 2d. The meeting was opened with County President Mrs. Roll in the chair; devotional exercises led by Mrs. Newcomb, of Huntington. Local Presidents made good reports of work done by Unions, as did also Superintendents of departments. Thursday evening Mrs. Stanley gave an eloquent address. Friday morning the election of officers resulted in the following: President, Mrs. Lou E. Roll, Huntington; Vice-President, Mrs. J. L. Ray, Warren; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Alice Fry, Andrews; Treasurer, Mrs. O. W. Whitelock, Huntington; Recording Secretary, Martha Maron, Hunt. The afternoon was taken up with L. T. L. work and around the table talk on "what departments result in the most good to local Unions." The closing number was a consecration and song service. Friday evening a gold and silver medal contest was held. A large audience greeted the speakers. Mrs. Eichorn won the gold medal and Jessie McPherson the silver. The title of Miss McPherson's song was "He is a Drunkard To-Night." Both medals went to Warren.

Wells County Union held its annual Convention at Salem in September. The attendance was good, and the interest encouraging. Mrs. Vayhinger was with us, and by her prepossessing manner and heart to heart talks, gave inspiration to the work. Memorial services were held for Sister Todd, of Bluffton, and Sister Tuttle, of Six Mile. In this connection the sweet-faced boy of Sister Martha McBride was mentioned. Although not a member of our Union, he wore the white ribbon because his mother loved to see him wear it. Safely gathered home, he now has joined the angel band, and his going out has saddened the hearts of all who knew him to love him. Reports of work done were encouraging, and showed loyalty to the cause. Mrs. Goodin, our County President, has been untiring in her efforts to advance the work. Handicapped by poor health, at her earnest request she was not re-elected. The following officers were elected: Mrs. D. A. Walmer, President; Mrs. Fred McBride, Vice-President; Mrs. E. Ellingham, Recording Secretary; Mrs. D. T. Smith, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. Jennie Bickle, Treasurer. The hospitality of the ladies of Salem is worthy of more than a passing mention, for it was cordial and elaborate.

IN MEMORIAM.

MRS. SALLY A. MILLS, President of the Plainfield Union, has passed from labor to reward. This was her fourth year as President of the Plainfield Union. She had held the same position in the W. C. T. U. where she formerly lived. She was the County Superintendent of Medal Contests, and was energetic and faithful in every place where she was called to work. She never allowed herself to be discouraged by the difficulties in the way or by the indifference of others. She always wore her white ribbon, and urged others to do the same, and the little "Bow of ribbon white" was on her breast when she was laid away, as she requested it might be. The local Union and County have sustained a great loss, as well as the Church to which she belonged. Truly, "She hath done what she could."
